Vision:

The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy provides the best basic, specialized, and leadership training to Iowa peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators.

Mission:

“Professionalism Through Training.”

Guiding Principles:

- Service
- Teamwork
- Excellence
- Ethics
- Professionalism

Core Functions:

- Providing basic training to peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators
- Providing specialty and instructor training to peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators
- Providing leadership training to peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators, administrators and command staff
- Providing administrative functions, to include employment testing, oversight, inspection, review, and compliance.

A Year in Review: the Academy in Fiscal 2012

Approximately 6,000 peace officers in Iowa are currently certified, as well as about 1,500 reserve officers. Jailers (some of whom are certified peace officers, while some are civilian correctional officers) and about 1,300 telecommunicators in the state are also mandated by the Iowa Administrative Code, Section 501, to be trained at various levels.

In FY 2012, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy trained 158 officers to obtain their basic peace officer certification. The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy also oversees two intermediate and three regional academies, who trained 46 additional officers to obtain their peace officer certification. 11 officers became certified peace officers through examination in FY 2012, since they had been sworn officers in another state within twelve months of their hire date in Iowa. 263 reserve officers underwent training via online learning modules.

Additionally, 886 peace officers completed specialty, instructor, or re-certification of instructor qualifications in FY 2012. Furthermore, 117 command staff members from jails, telecommunications, or law enforcement received leadership instruction. In addition to the five basic law enforcement training schools, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy also provided 15 law enforcement instructor certification schools, 40 law enforcement instructor recertification schools, 23 law enforcement specialty training schools, and three leadership training opportunities at the Academy or at various locations throughout the state. 19 specialized law enforcement schools were conducted by ILEA for free through grants funds from GTSB and VAWA reaching out to 368 law enforcement officers.

A total of 1051 jailers and 348 telecommunicators obtained basic and specialty training in FY 2012. The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy hosted four basic jail training schools, and 7 specialized jail trainings in addition to 25 jail in-service schools. The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy held six basic telecommunicator training events, one telecommunicator specialist school, one telecommunicator training officer school, and 20 telecommunicator in-service courses.

In sum, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy provided 383 training opportunities for law enforcement, jailers, and telecommunicators for a total of 3584 individuals receiving training. The Academy remains committed to bringing cutting edge programming to law enforcement, jailers, and telecommunicators across Iowa, as evidenced by partnerships with the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the Secret Service, the Midwest Counterdrug Training Center, Northwestern University's Center for Public Safety, and many others. The Academy is looking forward to growing its presence within the law enforcement community as the "go to" resource by also serving as a bulletin board for training around the state.

Iowa Law Enforcement Academy

PROFESSIONALISM THROUGH TRAINING

A history of the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy

The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy was created by an act of the Iowa legislature in 1967 with the purpose to improve law enforcement to professional status. The specific goals were to maximize training opportunities for law enforcement officers and to coordinate training and set standards for the law enforcement services. The Academy establishes minimum hiring standards for Iowa peace officers and grants officer's certification. The Academy has the responsibility to decertify or to suspend an officer's peace officer certification when necessary. Furthermore, the Academy is responsible for providing basic and in-service or specialty training for all county and city jailers as well as telecommunication personnel. Finally, the Academy is also tasked with establishing standards and training requirements for reserve peace officers.

After ten years of work, in 1967 the legislature passed what is now known as Iowa Code Chapter 80B, which created the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy and the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy Council. Specifically, this code sets forth that the Academy must set standards, regulate law enforcement, and grant officer certification for those persons successfully completing training, as noted above. In the first three years, the Academy was under the auspices of the Department of Public Safety. However, in 1970, the Legislature made the Academy an autonomous department and placed it under the Office of the Governor, who appoints the Director. Since its inception, the Academy has been served by five directors: John F. Callaghan, 1968-1983; Ben Yarrington, 1983-1993; Gene W. Shephard, 1993-2002; E.A. "Penny" Westfall, 2002-2011; and current Academy Director, Arlen Ciechanowski, who was appointed in 2011. The Governor's Office also appoints members of the Academy Council for four year terms. Please refer to Appendix A for a list of the FY2012 Academy Council.

The first Academy building - what is known as the administrative building - was built on Camp Dodge property on nine acres designated to it from an Act of the U.S. Congress in 1969. The addition, which now houses the rest of the Academy, was built in 1974. Various remodels and updates have occurred over the years, but the building remains remarkably intact and functioning.

Currently, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy, located within Camp Dodge in Johnston, Iowa, provides residential training sessions varying in length from the current 14 week peace officer basic training to day long or four hour specialty and advanced in-service seminars. The Academy can provide housing for 112 persons at any time; often, while a basic peace officer academy is in session, others attending jailer or telecommunicator training events may be in residence as well. The Academy building itself consists of dormitory rooms, classrooms, a cafeteria providing three meals per day, a physical fitness room, photography and video production studio, and a library with computers, printers, and Internet access, as well as administrative offices. The Academy shares firearms ranges and tactical facilities with the Iowa National Guard on Camp Dodge. Additionally, the Academy has partnered with the Des Moines Area Community College to utilize its driving track in Ankeny for basic driving and skid car training, and travels to Newton's Iowa Speedway for additional skill courses.

Appropriations

Just as many other departments are facing budgetary constraints over the past few years, so too is the Academy. What is unique about the Academy, perhaps, is that it has three funding streams: general fund allocations from the General Assembly, revenues charged for specific training, and federal grants. The Academy continues to see that law enforcement and other agencies across the state continue to tighten their respective belts and delay or limit hiring of new personnel, which then negatively impacts the revenues generated by the Academy. Additionally, due to growing deficits at the national level, the federal grants received by the Academy may be decreasing in upcoming years.

As shown below, the appropriations made to the Academy by the Legislature has decreased over the past five years:

Fiscal Year	State General Fund Allocation
FY2008	$1,322,103
FY2009	$1,166,066
FY2010	$1,104,430
FY2011	$868,698
FY2012	$868,698

PROFESSIONALISM THROUGH TRAINING

Training Program Areas

The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy continues to be the foundation upon which peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators have come to trust. It is the agency to which the reserve and certified peace officers and approximately 500 police departments, Sheriffs' offices, and state agencies turn to not only for training events but also as a resource for advice and counsel.

Basic peace officer training events

The Academy normally conducts six basic law enforcement academies or "classes" annually. What began as a four week training program in 1968 has expanded to currently a 14 week program at the Academy. As many as 45 officers may be enrolled per class; however in FY2012, as counties and municipalities hire fewer officers, deputies, and county conservation officers, the Academy held five classes totaling 158 officers. The Cedar Rapids Police Department held a basic training academy during this time period as well, training 9 officers. Under the code, the Academy has oversight and review of this "regional training academy." Additionally, Hawkeye Community College and Western Iowa Community College, which are designated as "level II academies," similarly are under the purview of the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy, per the Iowa Code. In FY 2012 the colleges, through their eight week programs, trained 20 and 17 officers.

Through its online learning module system, the Academy also provided learning opportunities to 263 reserve officers in FY 2012. The reserve officers provide a valuable service to the citizens of Iowa, and the Academy is working in new directions to continue to effectively provide training. Over 400 reserve officers are certified, as of FY2012.

Jail Training Events

The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy is responsible for setting the minimum training standards for the training of city and county jailers. In FY 2012, the Academy held four 40 hour basic jail training events, with 118 individuals in attendance. Additionally, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy offered a jail medication management school, jail basic temporary holding facility school, cell insertion and extraction training, as well as in-service schools.

Telecommunicator Training Events

During the 1996 legislative session, the Academy was given the responsibility for providing training to telecommunicators, commonly known as dispatchers. A Telecommunicator Training Board was developed by the director, in accordance with Iowa Code Section 7E2.(3) to assist in the planning, coordination, and delivery of this training. In FY 2005, additional representation from the northwest, southwest, northeast, and southeast parts of the state increased the number of those serving on the board. In FY 2012, six 40 hour basic telecommunicator training events were held, with a total of 97 in attendance.

Additionally the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy held a telecommunicator specialist school as well as a communications training officer school.

Specialized or specialty training events

For peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy offers a variety of training opportunities. For example, a large portion of the training involves instructor certification or re-certification courses. These individuals are then certified to train in their subject area at their own agencies, and frequently return to the Academy to assist instructors. For example, individuals from over 100 agencies brought their expertise to the Academy and provided assistance as guest instructors in FY 2012. For this year, 886 individuals attended instructor or re-certification classes such as precision driving, standardized field sobriety testing, open sight rifle, defensive tactics, firearms instructor, TASER, sub-machine gun, and Radar/Lidar.

Other specialized training ranges from bicycle patrol officer, child abduction response and search protocols, ASP baton, crime scene photography, Mental Health First Aid, Media Relations, Oleoresin Capsicum, collision investigation, advanced telecommunicator, Verbal Judo, communications training officer training, Heartsaver AED, First Aid, and CPR. A large variety of topics are offered at the in-service level (typically four or eight hours, at a location outside of the Academy) to peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators. In September the United States Secret Service instructed a Principles of Protection class, which was attended by 56 participants. Additionally, grant funded areas of Violence Against Women and the Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau provides for instructors to teach domestic violence, sexual assault, strangulation, OWI, and other special in-service topics

Leadership training events

The Academy proudly introduced in FY 2010 and continued in FY2012 its Five Star Leadership Program. In order to provide leadership foundations for the advancement of innovational strategies in Iowa law enforcement agencies, the Academy developed a program which consists of five distinct leadership offerings, including the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center, the FBI-LEEDA, International Chiefs of Police, the National Sheriff's Association, and Iowa Law Enforcement. Each of these unique opportunities range in length between three and five days at a time, and costs may range between free and $650 per registrant, depending on the course. During FY2012, from August to October, 117 officers took part in the 5 Star Innovation Leadership Program in partnership with the Midwest Counter Drug Training Center and The International Association of Chiefs of Police. Additional leadership opportunities continue to be scheduled for FY2013, by popular demand from the field.

Upon invitation of the Academy, the Northwestern University's Center for Public Policy again held its 40-hour first line law enforcement supervision course on grounds. This highly regarded and requested course was attended by 29 officers and command staff from agencies across the state.

Iowa Law Enforcement Academy

PROFESSIONALISM THROUGH TRAINING

Administrative Program Areas

The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy provides a variety of other useful services to the law enforcement, jailer, and telecommunicator communities in Iowa.

Pre-employment physical fitness testing services

The Academy normally conducts six basic law enforcement academies annually; however, in FY 2011, only five academies were held due to low enrollments. Prior to each entry into the basic law enforcement training academy, all applicants (hired by their agencies or sponsored but not yet hired) complete physical fitness testing on the Iowa State University campus. Many agencies also send officers to assist in the testing of these large numbers of individuals.

Prior to the start of the regional academy classes or the Level II academies at the two community colleges, Academy staff travel to proctor the testing events. Additionally, some agencies also request that Academy staff test their candidates at the Academy, prior to their pre-academy physical fitness test at ISU. This individualized testing is a service performed between six and 12 times annually. In FY2012, this service was requested twenty four times.

Psychological Services

The Academy has a psychologist on staff who conducts POST cognitive testing, MMPI testing and evaluations for sworn peace officers, civilian jailers, communication specialists, and reserve peace officers. The testing is conducted at the Academy or off-site, upon request of the agency.

In FY2012, the psychologist, Cyndee Davis held two trainings to certify individuals as "proctors," that is, to be able to proctor examinations in their agencies. This same year, 55 POST tests and 564 MMPI-II examinations were processed by Cyndee.

The Academy makes referrals and provides a list of mental health professionals who are experienced in working with law enforcement officers in handling problems both on and off duty. This includes exposure to critical incidents, chemical dependency, relationship difficulties, and other challenges.

MMPI-2
(Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory -2)

Psychological Services

The Academy provides information about fitness for duty assessments including specific guidelines for conducting assessment and referrals to qualified mental health professionals. The Academy participates in critical incident stress debriefings and can provide information upon request about other debriefing teams across Iowa.

De-certification of Iowa officers

Under the Iowa Code, Section 80B, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy Council shall revoke a peace officer's or reserve peace officer's certification for the following reasons:

1. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer pleads guilty to or is convicted of a felony.
2. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer manufactures, sells, or conspires to manufacture or sell an illegal drug.
3. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer pleads guilty to or is convicted of domestic abuse or other offenses stemming from domestic abuse.

Under the Iowa Code, Section 80B, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy Council shall revoke a peace officer's or reserve peace officer's certification for the following reasons:

1. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer pleads guilty to or is convicted of a felony.
4. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer manufactures, sells, or conspires to manufacture or sell an illegal drug.
5. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer pleads guilty to or is convicted of domestic abuse or other offenses stemming from domestic abuse.

The Law Enforcement Academy Council may revoke or suspend a law enforcement or reserve peace officer's certification for the following reasons:

1. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer has been discharged for "good cause" from employment as a law enforcement officer.
2. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer leaves or voluntarily quits when disciplinary action was imminent or pending which could have resulted in the law enforcement officer being discharged for "good cause."
3. The law enforcement officer has failed to reimburse the employing agency for costs occurred by that agency in achieving certification training for the office when the officers leaves that agency and is employed by another law enforcement agency within a period of four years following completion of the certification training.
4. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer certifies to a material false statement in document required by the Academy.
5. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer falsifies or makes misrepresentation on an employment application.
6. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer testifies falsely in any court of law or administrative hearing.
7. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer fails to comply with in---service training requirements.
8. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer pleads guilty to or is found guilty of a felony or a crime involving moral turpitude.
9. The law enforcement officer or reserve peace officer is decertified in any other state where the officer may be certified.

The Academy Council has historically entrusted the duty of investigation into these potential de-certification matters to the Academy. At times, the Assistant Director or designee has completed these duties. On average, between 10 and 30 referrals are forwarded by the Attorney General's representative to the Academy for review and investigation. Components include review of the formal investigation reports, internal policy violations, and/or criminal law violations in concert with the requirement set forth by the Code. Once these steps are concluded, the results are forwarded to the Academy Council for their consideration. In FY 2012, eleven officers were de-certified by the Academy Council. In other words, they no longer have peace officer status in the state of Iowa.

Iowa Law Enforcement Academy

PROFESSIONALISM THROUGH TRAINING

Special Project Areas

The Academy is committed to partnering with other agencies, in order to increase service delivery and quality of training for Iowa's peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators. Here is a sampling of noteworthy new collaborations.

Iowa National Guard

Again, due to the retirement of full time Academy personnel in this area, in FY2011, the Academy began a partnership with the National Guard at Camp Dodge for assistance in the physical and systems maintenance of the Academy building itself. As a result of this agreement, and billing for services rendered as opposed to the salaries and benefits of a staff member, costs were limited and services have increased. For example, Camp Dodge maintenance workers replaced items ranging from air handling system filters to installing new thermostats throughout the building. Estimates for repair and replacement of the 40 year old roof have been ongoing, and leaks have been addressed in a timely fashion.

In FY 2012 snow removal and lawn care duties have also been taken on by the maintenance agreement, which has improved the look of the building overall.

The Iowa National Guard also allows ILEA to utilize their physical fitness training center and armory for their physical training and defensive tactics classes during the basic training academy. In addition, all firearms trainings are held at the ranges located on Camp Dodge.

Department of Transportation

The Academy increased the collaboration with the Iowa Department of Transportation during this time. In May 2011, the Director of the Motor Vehicle Enforcement Division within the DOT began to advise the Academy's Director of a possible transfer of seized forfeiture assets, to the Academy to be used to improve the training of law enforcement officers and DOT motor vehicle enforcement officers. Discussions began in earnest, and monies have been approved to renovate the classroom space known as "Classroom 3 and 4" to make one large superior training space, and provide for the update of classrooms 1 and 2, usually used most of the year for the basic law enforcement training academy classes. The planning, bidding, and contracting process for these projects will begin and be complete in FY2012.

Midwest Counterdrug Training Center

Also located on Camp Dodge, the Midwest Counter Training Center provides free counterdrug training to law enforcement officers in the Midwest and the Northwest United States. Specifically, their mission is to provide the highest quality training at the lowest possible cost to all those involved in the fight against illegal drugs. In terms of the scope of this federally--funded program, the Center provided courses and training to nearly 19,000 individuals in FY2011. In the spring of 2011, the Academy began to more closely partner with MCTC formally. Some of MCTC courses have been held in the classrooms at the Academy, and the Academy has benefitted from the use of their training rooms as well. In April 2011, MCTC provided much technical assistance and training to the Academy's administrative staff, as the Academy purchased and began to adopt the same sophisticated, online registration system utilized by MCTC. The Academy was able to go "live" with this new, easier, more streamlined online registration program in FY2012, increasing the ease of registration and viewing course selections for the thousands of Iowans served by the Academy.

PROFESSIONALISM THROUGH TRAINING

Conclusion: Strengths and Challenges

The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy provides a variety of other useful services to the law enforcement, jailer, and telecommunicator communities in Iowa.

Strengths

Based upon reviewing of past practices, the Academy has focused upon basic and specialty training opportunities for peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicators. Accordingly, in FY2010, the academy developed the First Star Leadership program, and has continued that program with an offering in FY 2012. More are scheduled for FY2013. The Academy is continuing to grow the program statewide. Future goals include developing similar multiple-step programming for jailer and telecommunicator command staff, in a much different format that which is currently offered to them.

The Academy continues to embrace technology to increase service to the Iowa peace officer, jailer, and telecommunicator communities, from projects such as the new online course catalog and registration system, to recommending the addition of wireless “hotspots” in the classrooms, especially for specialty and leadership training events. Additionally, current Academy staff are being tasked with determining the efficiency and possible utilization of web based educational delivery platforms. In FY 2012 this exploratory study on online learning by the Academy will be complete.

In the spring of 2011, new leadership at the Academy determined that a curriculum review of the basic peace officer academy training program must be conducted. As part of that early research process, the Director and others traveled to the Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center, in order to learn in depth about that similar training agency’s curriculum as well as program strengths and weaknesses. Continued collaboration on the project of the curriculum continued during FY2012 and will also carry over into FY2013.

The Academy collaborates with outside federal, state, and local agencies and participates in numerous teams, task forces, working groups, and conferences. Not only is the law enforcement, jail, and telecommunicator communities served by the results of these groups, but Iowans from different disciplines and the public both benefit from the cross-training, collaboration, and networking from the events

Challenges

Just as many other departments are facing budgetary constraints over the past few years, so too is the Academy. What is unique about the Academy, perhaps, is that has three funding streams: general fund allocations from the General Assembly, revenues charged for specific training, and federal grants. The Academy continues to see that law enforcement and other agencies across the state continue to tighten their respective belts and delay or limit hiring of new personnel, which then negatively impacts the revenues generated by the Academy. Additionally, due to growing deficits at the national level, the federal grants received by the Academy may be decreasing in upcoming years. As shown previously, the allocations made to the Academy by the Legislature has decreased in the past several years.

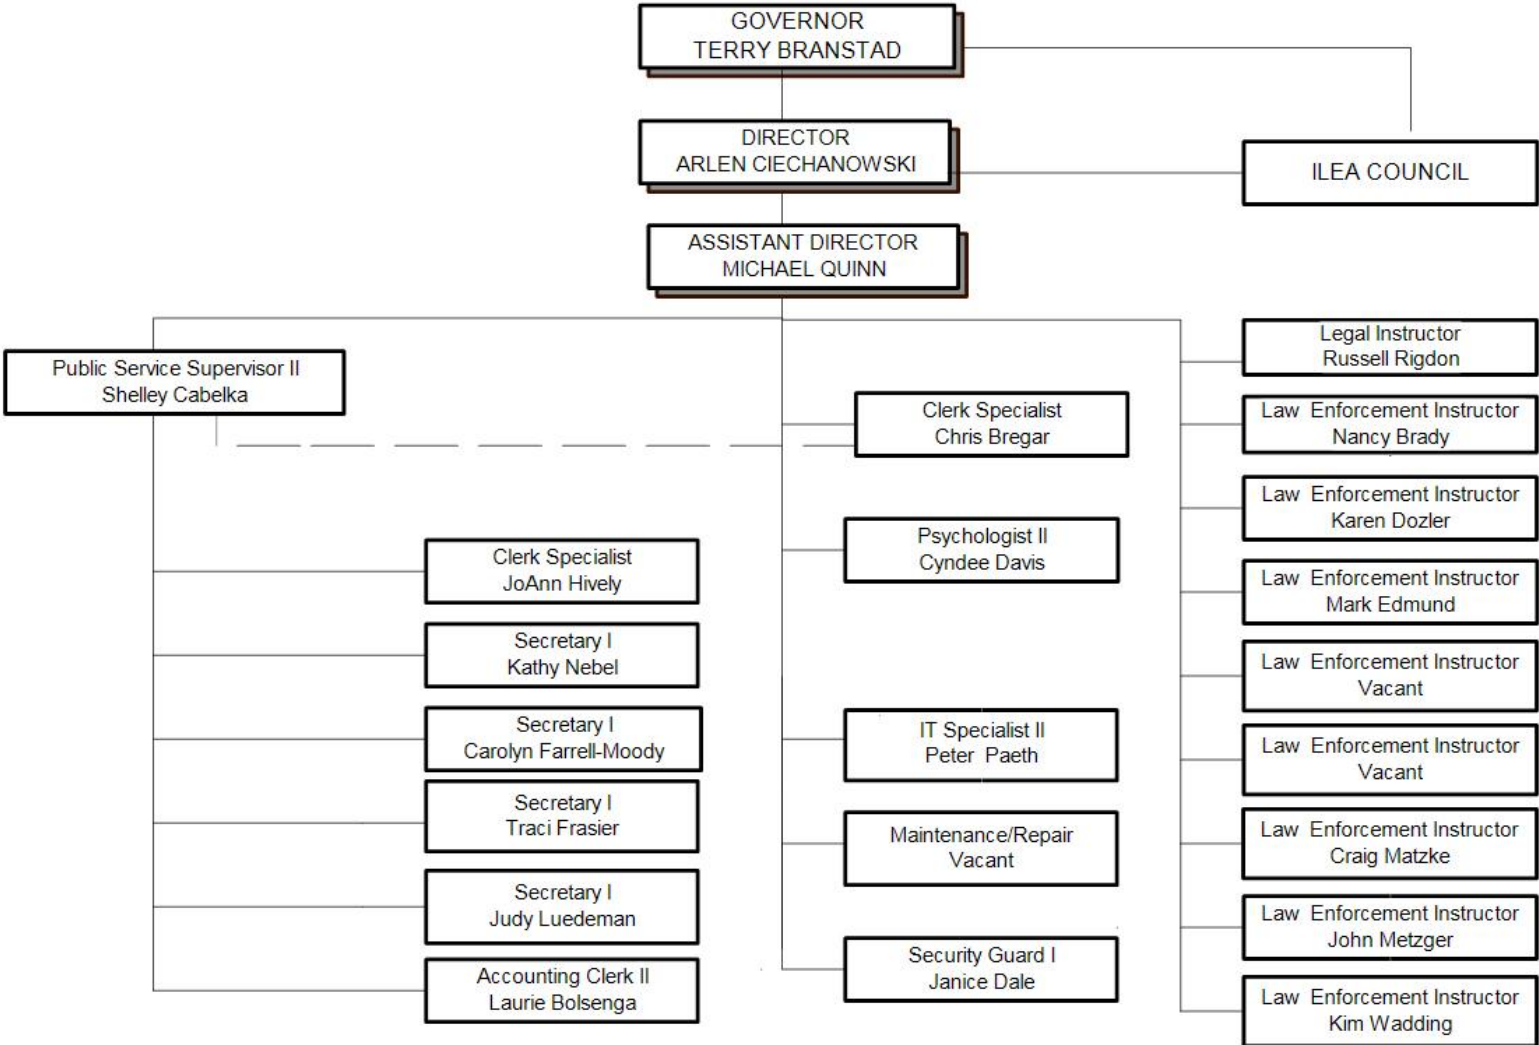

The agencies served by the Academy deserve an expanded cadre of highly trained, multi-dimensional instructional staff for basic, specialty, and leadership training across peace officers, jailers, and telecommunicator training events. Time and costs have been a barrier to increase the level of credentialing and certification for the current staff of Academy instructors.

The Academy's long range goal of a new facility would improve the transferability of skills in the learning environment.
