O'Connor liable in school case

The Commonwealth Trial Court ruled Monday that former Deputy Attorney General Robert O'Connor was personally liable in the civil suit brought against him by the Western Pacific Business College.

Chief Judge Robert Hefner also ruled that O'Connor, who was sued while he was still working for the government, was not immune from the suit.

On Wednesday, O'Connor, through his counsel Marybeth Herald, filed an appeal, claiming that Hefner's order denied him absolute and qualified immunity.

Hefner, in his ruling, cleared former Attorney General Rexford Kosack and the CNMI government of any liability in the case.

WPBC which offered computer courses in 1984 in its classrooms at the TransAmerica Bldg. in Garapan, was ordered by O'Connor on May 30, 1984 to stop operating after failing to respond to

Tsunami sends employees home

Schools, government and business offices were deserted before 3 p.m. yesterday following a warning from the Emergency Operations Center about the possibility that the Northern Marianas might be hit by tidal waves generated by an earthquake in Alaska.

At about 4:30 p.m., the EOC canceled the warning and declared the situation clear.

Yesterday morning the EOC received a tsunami (tidal wave) warning from the Pacific Tsunami Center in Hawaii. The telex message said an earthquake

INS finds fake working permits

Immigration inspector at the Saipan International Airport directed eight citizens of the Philippines attempting to enter the Commonwealth with forged immigration and labor documents.

The foreigners, prospective employees of Angel's Club and Restaurant, had in their possession, fraudulent entry permits and non-resident workers identification certificates.

Immigration inspectors initially detected the fake entry when they noticed an entry permit number that had been issued to an Angel's Club employee on March 7, 1986 and was duplicated on the permits held by the women attempting entry on May 4.

All of the women were excluded from entering the Commonwealth and returned to the Philippines. Investigation continues into the forgery of the Commonwealth documents

3 sweater firms get equal share of quota

The government is repealing the new rules on the division of the sweater export quota which would have closed two of the three sweater factories in Saipan.

Finance Director Rex Palacios said Tuesday that Attorney General Alejandro Castro was coming out this week with the new ruling to repeal the quota allocation regulations adopted by the Department of Finance last February.

The original regulations prepared by the Attorney General's office last year divided the 70,000-dozen quota equally among the three factories—American International Knitters Corp., Commonwealth Garment Manufacturing and Saipan Manufacturers, Inc.

Exports within the quota (officially known as the waiver) are exempted from duties in the United States.

The new rules adopted by the Department of Finance last February gave each company a starting export level of 10,000 dozens. The balance of 40,000 dozens was to be allocated to each company based on a set of standards, such as the number of local workers employed by each company and tax payments to the Commonwealth.

SMI President Richard Pierce said in an earlier interview that the new rules would enable AIKC and CGM, which were actively operating in 1985,

Man dies in road accident

A 21-year-old employee of E'SPN Motors became the fifth motor vehicle accident fatality this year when the car he was driving collided with a bus on Beach Road Wednesday.

The car which was totally destroyed during the collision Wednesday.

Raymond B. Camacho identified the victim as Peter Techur of San Antonio who works as a parts man at E'SPN Motors in Chalan Kanoa.

Camacho withheld the name of the bus driver pending completion of the investigation on the accident. The bus is owned by American International Knitters Corp. and is used to take its employees from their dormitories to the factory and back.

Camacho said the accident, which happened in front of Joeten Motors in Oleai, was reported at about 6:37 a.m. Wednesday.

He said the bus was going north while the car was going south when the head-on collision occurred.

Nude ad disgusts reader

Dear Editor:

Since the inception of your newspaper, I have always held a certain respect for the service you provide to your readers and the community. However, I am writing today to express my disgust at an ad run in your 4/25/86 featuring mostly nude "models".

Establishments of this type and their vulgar advertisement of the type of "entertainment and culture" they provide in the news media gives Saipan the appearance of being a sleazy, seedy dump to any visitor or resident who picks up your paper. This is quite the opposite of the pristine image of Saipan that our tourism people are trying so diligently to project.

More importantly, advertisements of this type have a horrible impact on our youth and our children. They are being given every opportunity to learn fast about the more vulgar aspects of some 'other peoples' society. . .not the society of the people of an island nation in a small rural setting. Do we need this junk on our own front step? Are we headed in the right direction? Do we want Saipan to turn into the same type of garbage dumps that exist in most large cities in Asia?

It is about time that the garbage and refuse from other countries is prohibited from entering the Commonwealth. We don't need it.

Sincerely yours,

s/Roberta K. Guerrero

For as far back as I can remember, we have given the small boys more than their share of red carpet treatment whenever they land on this tiny rock. These small boys who come from the land of the big boys (Washington) are usually out here on a junket though their visits are usually disguised under that official bureaucratic term—official trip.

We go out of our way to meet them at the airport with flower leis. Then we show them into our expensive limousine and cruise them down to either a plus government house or the Hyatt Regency. A number of government employees, including police officers, are assigned around the clock to provide security or chafeur services to these peons.

The venue for the conduct of official meetings are held in expensive hotels with lavish meals. More often than not, they are prepared to have us listen to their verbal garbage and demand that they are followed to the letter. In other words, they are usually here to tell us what to do. They have little or no respect at all to our aspirations.

On special or historic events, we also make the mistake of giving these peons from the land of the big boys the opportunity to keynote the occasion. The sad thing about all these elaborate salute to the small boys is that more often than not they do not serve as advocates for our concerns or aspirations. You find yourself sitting next to them getting whipped by members of the U.S. Congress for having differing views on i.e., budget ceiling—our figures and Interior's do not jive at all.

You ask for $50 million for a given fiscal year and Interior is there to say: "Listen boys, you can only have $20 million, okay?" You begin to dwell upon the validity of the Covenant Agreement. You begin to question just what "self-government" is all about—fact or fiction! You begin to find out the fallacies in the course you took in "Problems of American Democracy."

Recently, these small boys brought with them a small girl to address a conference on tourism. From 10,000 miles away, she got out all the way to the islands to preach about tourism—possible promotional programs about the islands across America. What they do not convey to us on straightforward fashion is the fact that just some short distance to the south is the Bahamas and Florida or Puerto Rico which offers something similar to our islands.

In short, their trip was a waste of taxpayers money. Our efforts should be concentrated on Pacific Rim nations such as Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, etc. It's the most logical thing to do in terms of proximity and economics. I'd rather listen to JM Guerrero with respect to tourism than to Ms. Kitty Baier's sales pitch that ended the minute she completed her sales talk.

I am reminded of an old adage: "After all is said and done, a lot more is said than done." The small boys and that little girl have returned home. I wonder when would we hear about them again—on another well orchestrated junket to insular areas? These are issues that our friends in the U.S. Congress must probe to determine whether the development of an economic base for these islands can best be attained from without or within! I say to the day I die that they can best be achieved from within.

About the only Interior official who nearly did something good for the islanders (Micronesians everywhere from Mili to Tobi) was former Secretary Walter J. Hickel. Remember when he said "equal pay for equal qualifications?" We heard that message clear across the island from the CNMI to the southernmost archipelago in the Marshalls. Only one thing went wrong—Hickel was booted from his job just as fast as he got in. It was a hit and a miss!

The minute the small boys and girls leave Guam, they are on their own. They get down in Honolulu without plane side transportation until they get to Washington. We know what we want and we know how to get them. Come on boys, let's get to the source of it all—the powers that be at the nation's Capital. No more dealings with peons. We've had more than our share of entertaining well trained small boys whose specialty is sanctimonious diplomacy!

Abolish Trade Counsel?

Dear Editor:

The Office of Trade Counsel should be abolished. It was obvious from Mr. Kosack's speech at this week's Chamber of Commerce meeting that the trade counsel is hopelessly tied to the garment industry. This should not surprise anyone since Mr. Kosack, as Attorney General spent plenty of time in Washington fighting against restrictions on the number of garments allowed into the United States.

The American garment industry is fighting for its survival. One out of every seven American blue collar employees work in the garment industry. Protectionism is very high since these workers are afraid of losing their jobs to cheap, foreign labor. We in the Northern Marianas embarrass ourselves when we asked to be treated equally with the rest of the United States and have all garments produced here admitted into the U.S. without quota. An examination of the garment industry reveals that very few locals are employed. The reason is simple: bad wages. The garment owners want to make as much as they can and one of the best ways is to pay little for labor. That is why they want Filipinos, Communist Chinese, Thais and others. Our local people will not benefit and these garment companies are almost all owned by foreigners. And, of course, our infrastructure is being drained to the point where we will all suffer shortly.

If we are to have an Office of Trade Counsel, it must not be involved with the garment industry. Let them hire their own attorneys. The trade counsel should be spending his time finding American companies that will open businesses that will hire local people at high wages. That way we will all benefit.

Very truly yours,

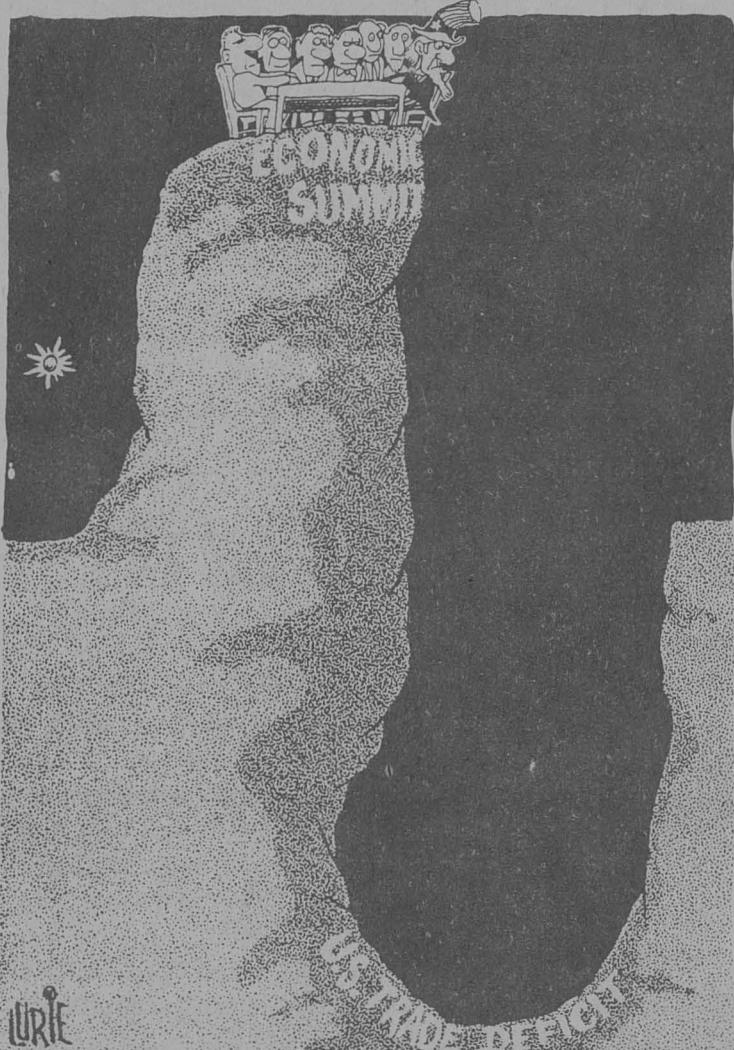

s/Bernard S. Guerrero

Kosack responds

Editor's note: Trade Counsel Rexford Kosack issued the following statement in response to Mr. Guerrero's letter).

To anyone who listened to my speech my theme was clear—that there is a need to halt the growth of the garment industry in order to study the extent of its contribution and effect upon the CNMI. I do not see how this shows that I am 'hopelessly tied

Benavente sworn in SAIPAN (CNS) — After what was the longest and most expensive House race in the history of the Commonwealth, Republican Luis A. Benavente is now a member of the Fifth Legislature.

Benavente was sworn in last Friday as the 15th member of the House of Representatives by Judge Jose Dela Cruz. The ceremony in the courtroom named after the late Judge Ignacio Benavente, the representative's father, was attended by the governor, members of the Legislature and Benavente's family and supporters.

At his swearing in ceremony Representative Benavente said, 'I'm happy it's over for my supporters. I'm proud they were so dedicated. It's been a long road to the House of Representatives.'

Benavente defeated Democrat Lupe P. Manglona 776 to 507 in a run-off election April 26 in Saipan's District I. It was the third such contest between the two candidates. The two tied with 664 votes each in the Nov. 3, 1985 general election.

Votes cast in a Feb. 1, 1985 run-off were never counted. The Board of Elections had enforced the provisions of controversial Constitutional Amendment No. 44, which eliminated the right of U.S. citizens to vote in the Commonwealth. Counting of the ballots was suspended until the amendment was thrown out in federal court at which time the May run-off was scheduled.

Associate Judge Jose S. Dela Cruz administers oath of office to Luis A. Benavente who will represent the villages of San Antonio, San Vicente and Chalan Piao in the House of Representatives.

JTPA gives priority to hotel jobs

The job placement program for the garment industry, which aims to gradually replace foreign workers in local factories with CNMI residents, will not be able to get full funding support from the Job Training Partnership Act program.

"We have to look into other industries to assess the supply and demand for workers," JTPA Administrator Vicente Guerrero said Monday.

"Our priority is tourism and service-related jobs because they are more attractive to local workers," Guerrero said in an interview. He added that there will be many jobs available in the tourism industry with the opening of new hotels, particularly the Diamond Hotel and the Hotel and the Hotel Nikko of Japan Air Lines.

Commenting on the garment industry as a job market, Guerrero said: "We don't want people to work and then just quit."

He said that Trade Counsel Rexford Kosack had not submitted his formal proposal for JTPA support for the job placement program in the garment industry. Guerrero said Kosack was requesting some $85,000 to pay part of the salaries of workers who would be trained in garment factory jobs.

JTPA has a total of $103,000 in federal funds to spend for local training programs.

The JTPA Council, composed of representatives from the government and private sectors, will decide which companies and programs would be funded and by how much.

During his speech Monday before the Saipan Chamber of Commerce, Kosack said the job placement program for the garment industry will go on, with or without JTPA funding. He said garment manufacturers have agreed to support the program.

The program, which is expected to start late this month with an initial batch of 150 trainees, was adopted because of concerns that the garment industry, one of the fastest-growing industries here, was depending too much on foreign workers.

MONTOYA IS REAGAN'S MAN

US, CNMI start non-financial meet

P.A. Tenorio

R. T. Montoya

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Assistant Secretary of the Interior Richard T. Montoya and Lt. Governor Pedro A. Tenorio agreed Monday to begin formal discussions next week to set an agenda and ground rules on formal negotiations as representatives of their respective governments on a number of non-financial issues.

A press release from the Office for Territorial and Insular Affairs (OTIA) said, Montoya was selected September 13, 1985 by President Ronald Reagan to be his special representative and Tenorio was selected by Governor Pedro P. Tenorio as the Northern Mariana Islands' special representative. Both men held similar positions in negotiations conducted last year on a new seven-year Covenant Financial Agreement which is currently awaiting approval by the United States Congress.

Montoya met with members of the NMI Legislature after his private meeting with Tenorio. Montoya said "misunderstanding" were apparently created by what he termed "my failure to formally notify your government of my appointment. I had assumed, I guess improperly, that my verbal notification was adequate. I will not make assumptions in dealing with the Northern Mariana Islands' Government in the future. I accept full responsibility for this misunderstanding and if an apology is necessary, I apologize."

Montoya said a formal notification from the White House would be forthcoming and that negotiations would be conducted in a formal manner. He said the negotiations between the United States and the Northern Mariana Islands "have no connection" with the issue of termination of the U.S. trusteeship agreement with the United Nations. "I recognize that Lt. Governor Tenorio and I are of a different opinion on this point."

Noting that Congress has not yet approved the new $228 million, seven-year funding agreement, Montoya said he had felt that the new non-fincial discussions should be delayed until Congress had acted on the financial agreement. "It was a political decision for which I accept full responsibility. I still think I was correct, as voicing differences of opinion on these additional subjects could be harmful to obtaining final approval of the financial document by Congress."

NMI may lose Headnote incentives

The Northern Marianas may lose the duty and quota incentives provided under General Headnote 3(a) because of the growing protectionism in the United States, Trade Counsel Rexford said

Monday. Actually, the incentives that attracted three companies to put up sweater plants here have already been withdrawn, except for about 81,000 dozens of assembled sweater exports yearly to the mainland. "We may lose Headnote 3(a) because it can be repealed or restricted," Kosack said in a speech before the Saipan Chamber of Commerce.

tion 603(c) which treats US imports from the CNMI the same way as imports from Guam are treated.

of 750,000 workers in 1993, down from about two million now.

To save the industry, manufacturers, through their congressmen and senators, lobbied for protectionist measures.

Hearing on fund agreement smooth

SAIPAN (CNS) — Gov. Pedro P. Tenorio says congressional hearings on the new $228 million seven year Covenant funding agreement appear to be going well.

resources, war claims and third country financial aid).

Administration officials are now working on position papers to be presented to the United Nations Trusteeship Council at a June hearing on the proposed termination of the last U.N. trusteeship.

"That is how tenuous our position is," he said.

According to Kosack, Congress enacted Headnote 3(a), which allows duty-free and quota-free exports into the mainland, to encourage investments in the territories, including the Northern Marianas. In a subsequent review of the program, Congress found out that it was working well.

Industrial advances in other countries resulted in more competition that US industries must face. Cheap cost of labor, the most important element of production, in other countries made their industries more competitive than their American counterparts. Kosack said hourly wages in Korea and Taiwan average 57 cents, in China 30 cents, in the Philippines 50 cents and in Hong Kong $1.08. In the US garment workers are paid $6.50 an hour.

Kosack cited the following measures which restricted sweater exports from the CNMI:

- Customs regulations issued in August 1984 which exclude assembled sweaters from the incentives under Headnote 3(a);

- Jenkins Bill, which rolled back the amount of imports from other countries to the 1983 level and treats the CNMI as a foreign country; and

- House Bill 2225 or the Blaz Bill, which requires 100 percent local labor content.

Lt. Governor Pedro A. Tenorio, is now in Washington with his staff and members of the legislature for House and Senate hearings on the agreement. He has informed the governor that 'the hearings went smoothly.'

Although the United States has approved the Compacts of Free Association for the Federated States of Micronesia and the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the agreement for the Republic of Palau and the new Covenant funding agreement are still before Congress.

In 1984, three companies set up plants here to assemble sweaters for exports to the US. These are Commonwealth Garment Manufacturing, American International Knitters Corp. and Saipan Manufacturers, Inc.

The lost of competitiveness (and of the market) to foreign manufacturers brought about a rise in protectionism in the US.

The lost of competitiveness resulted in the decline of US industries. The US trade deficit (excess in imports over exports) with Japan now amounts to $45 billion. Among the largest-hit industries was the garment sector, which is expected to have a total Kosack said the Jenkins Bill, which was vetoed by President Reagan last December, would be up for another vote in Congress in August. He expressed hope that the bill would not be able to gather enough support to override the presidential veto.

CJPA to act as statistics info center

SAIPAN (CNS) — The CNMI Justice Planning Agency was recently awarded a grant for $68,830 to allow it to act as a criminal justice statistical analysis center for the Micronesian region.

The grant is in recognition of the leading role the CNMI is assuming in technical services throughout the region. CJPA will be able to upgrade its statistics capability as a result, providing regular data on the flow of offenders through the criminal justice system.

Such data is a useful tool in justice system planning and in managing the flow of police, prosecutor and court services.

CJPA will accept data collected by other Micronesian jurisdictions and make the appropriate analysis of it, as required by the grant. The grant will also assist with some CJPA personnel costs and allow the acquisition of equipment in support of the statistical analysis center.

Guam students to visit Saipan

SAIPAN — A group of fourth graders from M.U. Lujan Elementary School in Guam will arrive here on May 22 for their annual field trip.

They will visit two schools and tour several scenic spots on the island before returning to Guam on May 25.

Elizabeth T. Cruz, coordinator of the trip, says the students will visit W.S. Reyes Elementary School and San Vicente Elementary School.

They will be accompanied by their parents and by various chaperones.

Students from M.U. Lujan Elementary have been visiting Saipan every year since ten years ago.

Ms. Cruz thanks Public Works, Education, the DOE bus drivers, W.S. Reyes and San Vicente elementary schools, students and parents of these schools for making the annual trips possible.

Palau is bound to follow Compact

By Henry M. Schwalbenberg, S.J.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — On April 18 in testimony before the House Public Lands Subcommittee a representative of the US Executive Branch stated that should the US approve the Palauan Compact the government of Palau would be bound by international law to comply with all the provisions of the new Compact regardless of any subsequent internal legal actions that might occur in Palau.

There has been some controversy concerning whether the new Compact required a simply majority vote or a 75 percent voter approval. On Feb. 21 the new Compact was approved by 72.2 percent of the Palauan voters. There exist the possibility that President Sali's certification of the Compact's approval could be overturned by a Palauan court. In his testimony, James R. Lilley, the Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for East Asia and Pacific Affairs, stated that on Feb. 24 "the Government of Palau had informed the United States formally that the Compact approval process was complete and was accomplished in full compliance with the requirements of the Palau Constitution." By giving such formal notice Lilley argued that "as a matter of international law and practice, Palau cannot invoke any subsequently stated reasons based upon internal Palauan law to avoid its compliance with the provisions of the Compact."

Lilley also stated that the US executive branch is prepared to approach the United Nations, starting with May's meeting of the Trusteeship Council, to seek termination of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands. Following the expected approval of Trusteeship Termination by the Trusteeship Council, the US will take up the question of termination with the UN Security Council.

Given the current state of US-Soviet relations and past Soviet opposition to Micronesia's new status, there exists the strong possibility of a Soviet veto of Trusteeship termination when it is placed before the Security Council. With respect to that problem Lilley stated that the American goal would be to achieve a degree of support for Trusteeship termination that will assure international recognition of the sovereignty of the Micronesian states as well as prevent any nation from disrupting the termination process and "denying the peoples of the Trust Territory their freely chosen political status desire."

Speaking on behalf of the Department of Defense, Philip Barringer outlined the principal military differences between the Palauan and the other Micronesian Compacts. First, the US will have a 50 year contingency option to develop and use specified harbor and airfield sites as well as storage sites and a training area. In FSM the rights while in the Marshalls it can use Kwajalein Missile Range for up to 30 years. Second, the United States would not legally be able to store any nuclear or other unconventional weapons in Palau.

However, the United States would have the right to operate nuclear capable or nuclear propelled vessels and aircraft without either confirming or denying the presence or absence of nuclear weapons. In FSM and the Marshalls the US has the legal right to store as well as transit nuclear weapons although there exist little possibility of developing facilities that would make the storage of nuclear weapons feasible.

Finally, because the US will only have transit rights and no nuclear storage rights, the Palauan Compact, unlike the other Micronesian Compacts, does not obligate the US to defend Palau as the US and its citizens are defended. Instead, the US defense commitment is equivalent to its defense obligations to its other Pacific allies.

Concerning economic assistance and other items the Palau Compact and the other Micronesian Compacts are "essentially identical" according to Lilley's testimony.

The House Public Lands Subcommittee had scheduled two additional hearings. On April 28 they will hear from Palauan government witnesses and on May 20 they will hear from the public. The House Foreign Affairs Committee has scheduled one hearing for the Palau Compact on May 8.

The UN Trusteeship Council is scheduled to begin its examination of Micronesia on May 12.

OURS does it longer

You may be surprised to see two competitive motor oils in the same ad, but we have something important to tell you and this seems the best way to do it.

When you replace the oil in your car you should use one that increases mileage, keeps your engine cleaner, gives better protection from wear, and performs better in Saipan's hot temperatures. According to available information both oils pictured here do these jobs... But because Mobil 1 is a 100% synthetic lubricant it will do these jobs far longer than its nearest competitor. On an average, Mobil 1 will continue giving you better gas mileage, keeping your engine cleaner, protecting it from wear and holding up to Saipan's hot weather conditions for up to 25,000 miles, or one year, whichever ever comes first.

We know this because we have road tested Mobil 1 for over two million miles and results have consistently demonstrated the fact that ours does it longer.

A complete line of quality easy pour funnel top Mobil motor oils available at all Mobil Service Stations.

SCC seeks full info on utilities

The Saipan Chamber of Commerce urged Governor Pedro P. Tenorio Tuesday to make a full and detailed public disclosure of the current and projected status of supply and demand for water and electricity in Saipan.

"The Chamber of Commerce is deeply concerned about the continued deterioration of the water and power supplies on Saipan and the severe negative impact this is having on business activity, economic growth and the quality of life of everyone," SCC President Antonio S. Guerrero said in a letter to Tenorio dated May 6.

Guerrero also asked that the proposed disclosure include possible solutions to the water and power shortage problem, resources available and constraints on the implementation of these solutions.

Guerrero offered the Chamber's assistance in coping with the problem.

"The Chamber will be working to facilitate dialogue toward the goal of solving the island's water and power problems and looks forward to working cooperatively with the government toward that end. . ." he said.

In another development, the Chamber has expressed concern over the current Beach Road improvement project. The Chamber has maintained the position that Beach Road should be a low-volume, light-duty scenic road ending at the south edge of the American Memorial Park. The Chamber said that Chalan Pale Arnold with an extension to Texas Road should be the main north-south artery.

The application for a CRM (Coastal Resources Management) permit for the project indicated that only the northernmost end of the project would be widened to three lanes to discourage heavy traffic flow. The Chamber found out, however, that the on-going project would widen the portion from Quartermaster Road southward to three lanes.

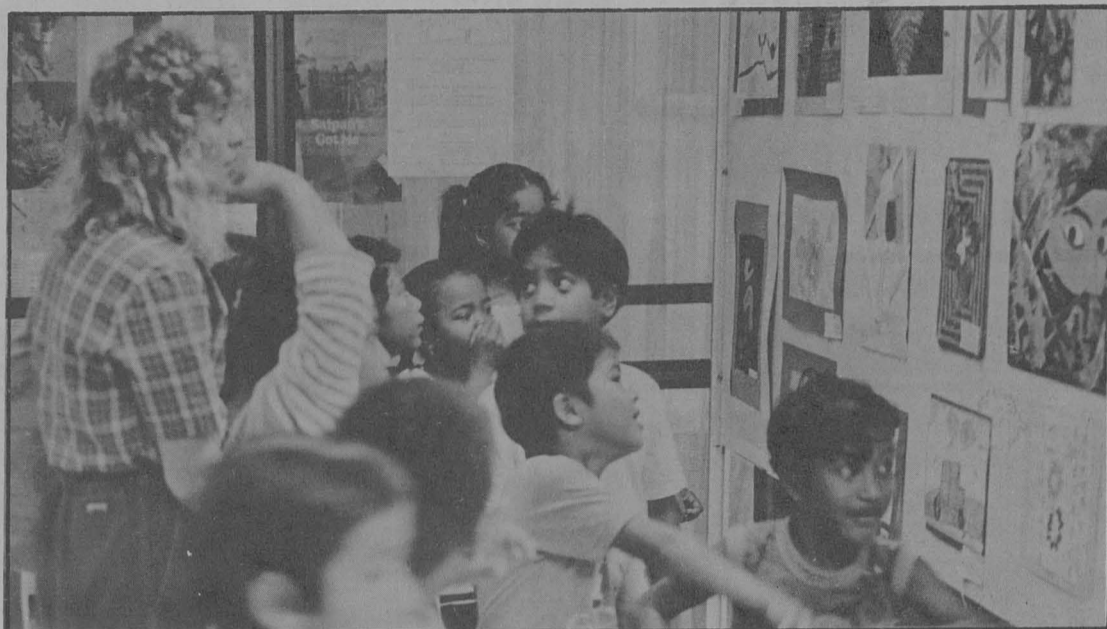

"Beach Road is becoming more and more like Marine Drive in Tamuning and this is highly undesirable," the Chamber said.

The Chamber, in its preliminary findings on the effects of the project, also expressed disappointment over the extensive and sometimes irreversible damage that was being done on the coastal strip, including the following:

- Careless and unprofessional trimming of roots and branches, leaving trees unbalanced physically and visually and with unsealed cuts, gashes and tears which endanger their health by exposing them to rot and disease;

- Disruption of terrestrial flora and fauna by temporary or permanent disposition of roadbed materials and by the excessive and mostly avoidable use of heavy equipment in the area; and

- Disruption of marine flora and fauna through increased run-off and consequent erosion and siltation.

Aldan family supports scholarship

In the memory of the late Frank DLG Aldan, the long-time Fire Chief for the Commonwealth, family members donated $1,000 to Northern Marianas College for the establishment of the 'Chief Aldan Fire Science Scholarship.'

The annual award intends to promote his commitment to the goal of improving the quality of firemen throughout the Northern Marianas.

NMC has been offering in coordination with the Airport Authority a fire science program of thirty credit hours leading to a Certificate of Proficiency, which is on par with Federal Aviation Administration standards.

Courses have been taught on the essentials of fire-fighting, fire prevention, fire apparatus, fire suppression, fire science math and fire science administration, in addition to basic college courses. Another course on aircraft rescue being taught now.

Expected to receive the Certificates of Proficiency in May are: Joseph Borja Babauta, Francisco Masga Deleon Guerrero, Edward Taitano Kapileo, Mariano Agulto Mendiola, Alfredo Atalig Pua, Antonio R. Rasiang, Vicente Tudela Reyes and Jose R. Sablan.

Micronesian play staged in capitol

Song for the Navigator, a play based on Micronesian navigation legends, inaugurates the non-profit Micronesia Institute's initiatives in support of the newly incorporated Micronesian Endowment for Historic Preservation.

A benefit Micronesian Supper, prepared and donated by the office of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, with floral decorations by Elizabeth Haacke Cruz of the Marshall Islands, precedes the performance. It will be held at the home of the President's personal representative for Micronesian Status Negotiations and Mrs. Fred M. Zeder II.

Honorary sponsors of this celebration of Micronesian culture include the ambassadors of Australia, the Federal Republic of Germany, New Zealand, and the United Kingdom; Senators Daniel Inouye and Spark Matsunaga of Hawaii; Representatives Robert Lagomarsino (CA) and John Seiberling (OH); Delegate Ben Blaz (Guam); the Washington DC Representative from the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands Froilan Tenorio, from the Federated States of Micronesia Epel Ilon, and from the Republic of Palau Noriwo Ubedei. Additional honorary sponsors are the Alan Boyd, chairman, National Trust for Historic Preservation; the Russell Train, chairman, World Wildlife Fund-US, and Ann Van Devanter Townsend, president, The Trust for Museum Exhibitions.

The play, created by the Honolulu Theatre for Youth after research in Micronesia, is "distinctly and uniquely Micronesian," said Patricia Luce Chapman, chairman of the Washington D.C.-based Micronesian Institute. Tickets for the play, which runs from 7:30 to 8:45 at Kennedy Center's Terrace Theatre, may be bought at the box office or by Instant Charge, 837-0900 or 800/424-8504 at $7.50 each. The play was funded by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, Continental Air Lines and Air Micronesia, and McDonald's Restaurants in Hawaii.

Delegate says No.9 is for everything

Constitutional Amendment No. 9 limits the annual budget of the Legislature to not more than $2.8 million a year, including salaries of the nine senators and 15 representatives, a member of the Second Constitutional Convention said Wednesday.

In an interview, the delegate, who requested anonymity, said that the original proposal introduced during the convention in 1985 called for a ceiling of $2 million,

Cleanup drive on

Pursuant to Public Law 3-35, Mayor Gilbert C. Ada has proclaimed the week of May 8-14, as Island Clean-Up Week.

Ada stresses that the Mayor's office will work closely with the business community, government officials and private citizens to ensure that the proclamation lives up to its name.

Ada is urging everyone to contact the Mayor's office in Saipan if assistance is needed in dumping rubbish, cleaning unsightly thickets or transporting junk cars or other metal scrap to the dump site.

Meanwhile, Ada's community workers, although lacking equipment and tools, have been busy cleaning up public areas and beaches,

"including everything."

Public hearings were conducted regarding the proposed amendment. During those hearings, legislative leaders supported the $2.8-million ceiling. That was the same amount approved by the Fourth Legislature for its budget at that time.

"The $2.8-million ceiling includes the salaries of the staff, the senators and representatives and everybody else, plus the 'all others items,' the delegate said. 'All others' items are miscellaneous expenses.

In a related development, Chief Judge Robert Hefner last Friday denied a motion to restrain the government from spending $540,000 under Public Law 5-9 for the salaries of the 24 legislators.

The motion was submitted by Maria T. Pangelinan, also a member of the Second Constitutional Convention and a member of the convention's fiscal affairs committee which reviewed Amendment No. 9.

Pangelinan filed a complaint with the court April 24, claiming that the legislative budget for fiscal year 1986 would exceed the ceiling imposed by Amendment No. 9. Last February, the government enacted Public Law 5-1 which appropriated $2,529 million for the 'operations and activities' of the Legislature. On April 23, PL 5-9 was signed into law, providing among others, $540,000 for the salaries of the legislators, or a total of $3,069 million.

In her complaint, Ms. Pangelinan said that if the government was allowed to spend the appropriation for the Legislature, she would suffer damage in that she would continue to be subjected to an increased tax burden.

Hefner ruled, however, that the motion for a temporary restraining order (TRO) failed to demonstrate that Ms. Pangelinan would suffer irreparable harm if the order was not granted.

Hefner scheduled another hearing for a preliminary injunction on the same case on May 15.

NOAA launches new satellite

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A new weather satellite scheduled for launching on May 1 will mean greatly improved weather monitoring and forecasting capabilities for Hawaii and the Pacific, Senator Daniel K. Inouye said in a press release.

For the past two years, Hawaii has received minimal satellite weather information because of the equipment failure of a National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) satellite on July 29, 1984. Since then, the United States has been dependent on a single weather satellite stationed over the middle portion of the Mainland to provide weather information and photographs.

"Hawaii now receives minimal weather satellite information because our islands are barely in the scope of the NOAA satellite's 'eye'. We would not receive advance warning of storms and other potential hazardous weather conditions approaching Hawaii from the western Pacific, an area 'unseen' by the satellite," Inouye said.

As a member of the commerce, science and transportation committee, Inouye has actively pushed for the acquisition and launch of the second NOAA weather satellite. In response to his and other members' concern, NOAA advanced the launching date from late summer to May 1.

With the Cape Canaveral launch next week, the two-satellite system will permit the current satellite to move to a fixed spot over the West Coast, enabling full coverage of Hawaii and the Pacific.

Deep-sea camera survey starts

A recently acquired deep-sea camera, was used to survey fishery resources at Penguin Bank, off Molo-kai, said Richard S. Shomura, director, Honolulu Laboratory, Southwest Fisheries Center, National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS).

The camera was set on the ocean floor in 404 feet of water, during a cruise of the NOAA ship Townsend Cromwell completed on April 18.

Surveys were conducted near areas where three artificial reefs have been placed by NMFS. Bait placed in front of the camera attracted animals from the surrounding water to the place where they were photographed. The camera, prepared by NMFS Fishery Biologist John T Harrison, took a picture every minute for 2 hours. Although aweoweo were the only fish attracted to the camera, other fish such as puffers and eels, and crabs were attracted to the bait. Small shrimp were seen in almost every photograph. The shrimp, which are too tiny to be used as food directly by man, may be an important energy source for commercially valuable fishes.

The deep-sea camera will be a useful tool for future research by the National Marine Fisheries Service, allowing views of areas difficult to see with divers or to sample with nets. The camera can be set at depths as great as 20,000 ft.

Under the supervision of Chief Scientist Bruce C. Mundy, the Townsend Cromwell cruise also included trap surveys at the Penguin Bank area and studies of the distribution of larval fishes near Oahu. Fish, shrimp, and lobster traps were set in the vicinity of the artificial reefs to determine what types of animals were in the area. While previous observations of the reefs from the University of Hawaii's submersible Makali'i have revealed concentrations of fish at the reef, little is known about the numbers of animals on the surrounding bank.

The recently completed trap survey found no commercial sized shrimp and few lobster, crab or fish. Most of the fish were taape, an abundant species initially introduced to Hawaii in 1955.

The third of four planned studies of the distribution of larval fishes at Oahu was also completed during the cruise; studies have been done during the autumn, winter and spring. The goal of this work is to better understand how the larvae, the very youngest stages of fishes, might be affected by Ocean Thermal Energy Conversion (OTEC) power plants planned for the islands.

Salii to support College of Micronesia

KOROR — President Lazarus Salii welcomed the COM Board of Regents here on April 21 with a pledge to support a unified College of Micronesia system.

He addressed the board before leaving for Honolulu to join other Micronesian officials in meeting with U.S. representatives on negotiations to implement the Compacts of Free Association.

Salii said that he responded to a letter from Vice Rector Damian Sohl of Pohnpei requesting a summit on the future of COM that he is prepared to meet with Presidents

Tosiwo Nakayama of the FSM and Amata Kabua of the Marshall Islands, because I believe that we should continue the college.

He said that "the college is going to be valuable to everyone."

The Micronesian Occupational College is valuable to Palau because it is located here, but it does not have programs offered by the Community College of Micronesia in Pohnpei and the CCM Nursing School which is being moved this year from Saipan in the Marshall Islands.

On the question of funding the college, Salii said, "I propose that under the Compact for the three governments emerging there are resources (in Compact funding) that are sufficient."

"I suspect that the bulk of the funds will have to come from the governments," Salii said.

an earlier letter from him regarding the school's lack of a charter.

WPBC claimed that O'Connor deprived it of the right to due process under the United States and CNMI Constitutions.

O'Connor said he was only carrying out his duties of rendering legal advice as provided under the Constitution.

Hefner said O'Connor's May 30, 1984 letter was not a legal advice or a response to a government agency for advice. That letter was also not to enforce the law. According to Hefner, the letter left no doubt in the mind of any reader that O'Connor was the final decision-maker for the government.

In another case, Hefner denied a request by Herman's Modern Bakery to order Saipan Engineering and Construction Co. to pay Herman's three times the amount of the unfunded checks issued by the construction firm.

The court found that Saipan Engineering issued the checks in question on Feb. 22, 1985. Public Law 4-35, which provides for the payment of three times the amount of unfunded checks, became effective on March 28, 1985.

Hefner said the law does not provide for retroactive application.

He ordered Saipan Engineering to pay Herman's the amount written on the checks plus costs of suit. Herman's originally asked for $1,732.38 plus attorney's fees.

to the garment industry."

The complaint really seems to be that I am addressing the issues posed by the presence of the industry at all. I am collecting data to measure its effect on infrastructure, its contribution to tax revenues and its hiring practices.

I am putting together a large-scale employment program for residents.

The alternative is to have the government ignore the existence of this industry and its future consequences.

To abolish this office and not engaged in planning and problem-solving would be short-sighted and irresponsible.

The earthquake generated a tsunami, which moved towards the Pacific area at about 600 miles an hour. According to the Pacific Tsunami Center, tsunami wave heights could not be predicted and could be a series of waves which would be dangerous for several hours after the initial wave hit.

At 2 p.m. yesterday, waves generated by the earthquake reached Hawaii but measured only two feet high. EOC continued monitoring the incident before canceling the warning yesterday afternoon.

Techur was pronounced dead on arrival at the Dr. Torres Hospital. Camacho said the collision happened on the north-bound lane. He said investigators are trying to determine how the car went to the north-bound lane.

Less than two weeks ago, a 74-year-old man from San Vicente died when the moped he was driving collided with a dump truck on Mons. Guerrero Road.

Camacho said five persons have died this year from motor vehicle accidents. Four are considered as traffic fatalities while one, who died in a private area, was listed as a non-traffic death.

to corner the bulk of the quota. In the end, the more productive of the three would control the whole quota. (See Variety, March 21).

The waiver has been increased to about 81,000 dozens a year.

Palacios said in an interview that the new rules coming out of the AG office would revive the original regulations. The original allocation of 70,000 dozens would be divided equally among the three companies and the balance of 11,000 dozens would be divided based on the criteria established under the old rules.

"It's a logical and consistent ruling," Pierce said when asked for comment

Wednesday." When the government shows responsibility in its action it makes it easy for business and the Commonwealth to prosper."

Inflation plagues world economy

No country was immune to the inflation scourge that plagued economies throughout the world during the 10 years between 1974 and 1984, but some fared better than others.

From among 69 countries - 13 in Africa, 18 in the Americas, 13 in Asia, 20 in Europe and five in Oceania - Switzerland reported the lowest inflation rate for the economically turbulent decade. The Swiss rate of change in the general consumer price indices of 42.7 percent was followed by Singapore's 43.3 percent, Federal Republic of Germany's 52.9 percent, Panama's 70.3 percent, Japan's 72 percent, Austria's 72.4 percent and the Netherlands' 77.4 percent, ac-ording to data published in the 1984 and 1985 editions of the ILO Year Book of Labor Statistics.

During the survey period inflation hit hard in Latin America where Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile and Peru were burdened with staggering five-digit rates of change in consumer price indices. Israel was the only other country to experience runaway inflation reaching the five-digit mark.

More than one-third of the 69 countries experienced moderate inflation of less than 200 percent but over 100 percent increase in their general consumer price indices over the 10 years.

Four of these countries were in Africa, seven in the Americas, five in Asia, seven in Europe and four in Oceania (see table).

Most of the East European countries recorded very low changes over the years with the exception of Yugoslavia with 1046.7 percent and Poland with a more moderate 388.2 percent.

Other European countries with relatively high inflation for the decade were Greece with 417.1 percent, Italy with 339.7 percent and Spain with 348.6 percent. Among the Middle East and Asian countries, Iran's inflation was second highest - after Israel - with a rate of 372.7 percent for the 10-year period. In Africa, Tanzania was highest with 595.3 percent.

The percent changes in the general indices were calculated by comparing 1974 annual averages with those of 1984.

Differences between the rates of changes experienced by countries are due not only to the different price changes but also to the methodology used for calculating the indices, according to ILO statistician Mrs. Khin Khin Nu who carried out the survey (BPI-ILO).

Vanuatu Prime Minister Walter Hadye Lini, left, accompanied by his wife, visited on February 4 the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific headquarters in Bangkok. Lini and his wife are seen here conferring with ESCAP Deputy Executive Secretary Koji Nakagawa.

HOW SHALL I DRESS TO ATTEND CHURCH?

Recently a young lady asked me, "What should I wear when I attend your church?" Not being prepared for the question, I answered off the top of my head that she should wear whatever she was comfortable in except that shorts, bathing suit or the like would be patently inappropriate. But now having thought more at length on it, I realize that her question has far-reaching dimensions regarding all our conduct on earth, and to which God's Word has much to say.

I. SELF

Romans 15:1 says, "We then who are strong ought to bear with the scruples of the weak, AND NOT TO PLEASE OURSELVES." This agrees with all else that Jesus and the apostles taught on the treatment of self. It is fit only to be crucified and NEVER to be pleased or pampered. Self love is the essence of sin - the very definition of carnality. "And those who are Christ's have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires" (Gal.5:24)

II. NEIGHBOR

After counseling us NOT to please ourselves in verse 1, Paul goes on in Rom.15:2 to say, "Let each of us please HIS NEIGHBOR for HIS good." James calls the Old Testament rule, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself," (Lev.19:18) "the Royal Law," and it is often referred to by the writers of the New Testament and by the Lord Himself. Yet just as pleasing self at the expense of neglecting or displeasing others constitutes sin, it is also sin to please men at the expense of displeasing or disobeying God. "We ought to obey God RATHER than men" (Acts5:29).

III. GOD

Paul said in I Thes.2:4 "We speak, NOT AS PLEASING MEN, BUT GOD, who tests our hearts." Of course, only Jesus could ever say, "I do ALWAYS those things that please Him." (John 8:29) Those who are in the flesh NEVER can (Rom.8:8) because "without faith it is IMPOSSIBLE to please God" (Heb. 11:6). But those who have come to know Him by faith are everywhere urged in the New Testament to "have a walk worthy of the Lord, FULLY PLEASING TO HIM." (Col.1:10)

Thus the ORDER in which we undertake to please these 3 is of utmost importance. Remember JOY means Jesus first, others second, yourself last.

"Total control of our destiny"

(Following is the text of Governor Pedro P. Tenorio's speech on the State of the Commonwealth delivered on March 21 before the Fifth Legislature).

In anticipation of an increase in tourist activity, the Commonwealth Ports Authority floated a bond issue to fund renovations and expansions at the Saipan International Airport. These projects are being made possible through a guarantee by the airport concessionaire in form of an irrevocable letter of credit. In return, and pursuant to enabling legislation, the Commonwealth Ports Authority entered into a master concession agreement for 20 years. As a result, none of these improvements are funded from local revenues.

In September 1985, the functions of the Economic Development Loan Fund (EDLF) were transferred to the Commonwealth Development Authority (CDA) which will be responsible for the administration of funds to be received from the United States for capital and economic development. If the agreement is approved by the Congress and President Reagan, approximately $126 million will be received over the next seven years to leverage additional funding sources as well as to finance infrastructure improvement and economic development projects. At the present time, the CDA board is establishing its guidelines and formulating its priorities, including an action plan to achieve maximum benefits.

A year ago, the future of the garment manufacturing appeared most promising. In addition to providing employment opportunities to our local people, that industry would have provided needed revenues to fund government operations. Unfortunately, the Commonwealth became an innocent pawn in a battle between the U.S. garment industry and foreign competition. Over our objections, customs Headnote 3(a) benefits were removed and quotas on production were placed on local exports to the United States. As a result, the future of this industry is now uncertain. However, we have not conceded defeat and will continue to seek the removal of quotas and other restrictions which impede development of this important industry.

Steps must be taken to reduce our dependence on imported labor. Last year, 7,339 aliens were registered. The increase is partially attributable to better record keeping, but the fact remains that we are far too dependent on imported skilled labor. The increase which has taken place since 1978 is partially the result of the economic boom which took place as the result of covenant funds being made available for construction projects and the business expansion which accompanied the tourist industry. We need to develop a skilled local labor pool: We need to spend funds to train people in the hotel and construction fields: And we need to regulate foreign investment. Local wages are depressed because those from less developed countries are willing to work for less in an effort to improve their standard of living. No one can blame them for wanting to improve themselves and take better care of their families. However, we must work together and come up with innovative plans to become more self-sufficient. Several programs, in addition to those offered pursuant to the Job Training Partnership Act, have produced positive results. The Personnel Office provided manpower training for eleven employees who were selected by competitive examinations.

These individuals enrolled in four-year and two-year navy apprenticeship training programs and will be returning to their respective islands upon graduation this year. We need more such programs in the future.

Public Health and Social Services

The people of the Commonwealth deserve high quality medical care and social services, particularly the infirm and the elderly. As the Commonwealth Health Center nears completion, the Department of Public Health and Environmental Services is taking the necessary steps to insure that it is properly staffed and equipped. With the assistance of the Department of Interior, the department has recruited a chief financial officer, a materials management specialist and a medical records specialist. A special committee has been organized to establish policies and procedures to prepare for the operational role of each unit and division within the new hospital and to provide for the smooth transition from Dr. Torres Hospital to the new Commonwealth Health Center. The hospital's hemodialysis unit was re-certified and speciality services were expanded to include a reconstructive surgery team, ophthalmology and urology. For the first time in three years, the neuropsychiatric ward was fortunate enough to have a consulting, board-certified psychiatrist to visit and re-evaluate mental health patients. A board-certified surgeon and OB/GYN physician were added to the staff as well as ten new nurses.

new fee schedule has resulted in an increase in revenues of approximately 51 percent and the department is working hard to secure an additional $1 million for the Commonwealth Health Center. The medicaid program provides ten basic services to eligible recipients and 1,871 people were enrolled in the program. With the help of the Northern Marianas Commission on Federal Laws, we are seeking medicaid waivers for our people similar to those which apply to American Samoa.

The Nutritional Assistance Program (NAP) continues to provide our less fortunate people with a means to enjoy a healthful diet by raising the levels of nutrition among low income families. NAP benefits issued in 1985 amounted to $2,545,961, a slight decrease over the amount paid out in 1984. The NAP program also emphasizes work incentives for able-bodied recipients and 75 persons referred to the Department of Commerce and Labor became employed. As the standard of living goes up, we are hopeful that fewer individuals would depend upon public assistant programs. However, as long as the need exists, the Commonwealth will continue to provide benefits to those less fortunate members of our community. The Northern Marianas Social Security System listed 1,407 beneficiaries and those receiving benefits from the U.S. federal supplemental security program numbered 602. Both programs greatly benefited our people.

SPC looks at drug abuse problem

Over the past six years, the South Pacific Commission (SPC) has run five Regional Training Courses in Drug Identification and Drug Concealment Methods for Government Customs and Police Officers. The first and third were in Fiji, in 1979 and 1981, the second and fourth in Noumea, New Caledonia, in 1980 and 1982, and the fifth in Port Vila, Vanuatu, in 1984. A sixth course is planned to be held in Rarotonga, Cook Islands, in June 1986, assuming that sufficient funds become available.

In order to understand the importance of these training courses, it is necessary to explain the reasons why the South Pacific Commission is spending so much time teaching about drugs, and the relevance of drug-related problems in the Pacific region. As such, it is important to outline the background to the drug problem, and how it affects, or is likely to affect, the Pacific Islands.

What is a drug?

The basic scientific definition of a drug is: 'a substance that by its chemical nature affects the structure or function of the living organism'. More simply it might be defined as 'any chemical substance which, when taken into the body, brings about physical, emotional or mental changes in people'. The medicine prescribed by a doctor is a drug, but even alcohol, tobacco and caffeine (in coffee, tea and cola drinks) are drugs. Volatile chemicals and solvents found in such products as lighted fluid, dry cleaning fluid, paint thinners, nail polish, glue, etc., the vapors of which may be inhaled, can be classified as drugs. Other less widely used drugs include marijuana and hashish, opiates, cocaine, phencyclidine, LSD, amphetamines, barbiturates, tranquilizers, and so on. Most drugs can be classified under four separate headings: Narcotics, depressants, stimulants and hallucinogens (psychotropics).

Many drugs which are considered dangerous or harmful are prohibited or controlled by international laws, and individual countries also have their own laws under Customs and Police Ordinances which prohibit or control the import/export, production, preparation, supply, possession or use of certain drugs. Trafficking or dealing in such drugs, or even using them, is illegal and subject to very heavy penalties in many countries.

The drug problem

Drugs, of one kind or another, are easily available to most people. Some, such as tobacco, alcohol and coffee, are generally accepted and looked upon by many people as useful substances, if used in moderation. However, they are often abused.

A wide variety of legal drugs is usually prescribed by doctors, including stimulants such as amphetamines, caffeine, nicotine, and depressants such as barbiturates, tranquilizers and other sedatives, as well as over-the-counter drugs such as aspirin, codeine and many others, to relieve nearly every kind of human ailment, real or imagined. When used properly, most of these drugs can be helpful. Unfortunately, an increasing number of people misuse these drugs by taking them for the wrong reason, too frequently, or in combination which can create dangerous drug interactions.

There are drugs with marginal social acceptance such as marijuana and hashish, which, although illegal, are used by a growing number of people. The long-term effects of these drugs are being studied, but it is known they are by no means harmless.

Finally, there are drugs both dangerous and illegal, such as heroin, cocaine, LSD, PCP, Bromo-DMA, that, when taken alone or together with other substances, can have severe effects upon the user.

What is drug abuse?

Drug abuse is the use of any drug, legal or illegal, which causes physical, mental, emotional, or social harm to a person or to the family and friends close to that person. People are naturally curious, and this curiosity prompts some people to experiment with drugs. Although many people try a drug only once, such experimentation can lead to habitual use. There are different kinds of drug abusers:

— Recreational users, who use drugs to 'get high' with friends or at parties, to be sociable or to get into the mood of things;

— Regular users, who use certain drugs constantly to achieve or maintain a desired state, but continue to attempt normal occupational activity;

— Dependent users, who cannot relate to anything but drug seeking and drug taking. They experience severe mental or physical distress or discomfort when they need drugs, and will do anything and commit any crime to obtain them.

Why people abuse drugs?

Almost all drugs which are abused or liable to abuse have one thing in common — in some way they alter the mood of the person taking them. People take drugs to change the way they feel, but the effects do not last. Drugs never solve problems, they just postpone them. In the long run, people who abuse drugs in the hope of solving one problem run the risk of getting trapped in a spiral of increasing drug use that creates new problems and makes old problems worse. Eventually they become hopelessly dependent on drugs, physically and psychologically (commonly called 'addicts') which leads to severe ill health and early death.

Sources of drugs

Drugs may be divided into two categories according to the material from which they originate:

— Natural drugs are those obtained directly from a plant, fungus or yeast, and which are either still in their natural state or derived comparatively simply from their original plant material. Examples are: opium and the opiates (heroin, morphine, codeine) coca leaf and cocaine, cannabis (marijuana or indian hemp), peyote cactus (mescaline) and psilocybe mushroom (psilocybin).

Saipan swimmers splash in Guam

The Guam Swim League B Champs were held on Guam at the Nimitz Hill 25 meter pool on May 3, 1986.

Eleven Saipan Swim Club swimmers participated, earning praise for their improvements over a short training time and doing so well despite not having enough swimmers in any one age group for relays.

Relays are worth twice the points of an individual win. Every swimmer earned a place in every event they swam in and some were good enough to improve their times to A times which enables them to swim in the A Champs meet in two weeks.

One of the outstanding new swimmers was Aaron Wallace with four 1st places out of 5 swims and an A time in breast-stroke. Also making A times were Jason Good in breast, Christiana Haberman in the 400 free and 100 breast, Anneka Sakovich in 400 free and 100 back, and Ophelia Guaio in 100 back. The team took 4th place in team points behind Manhoben, Manukai, and Nav Cam with Andersen in 5th place.

The victorious Saipan Swim Club members pose with their trophy.
