If Nothing Happens Here Soon

says Clyde, my landlord --

"we can all move to North Carolina and start bootlegging ... we'll start with the bonded stuff first and then begin messing with the moonshine later. the rent's cheap there, we could make thousands of dollars in just 2 years -- maybe then buy a farm. ask your oldlady, see what she says; there's nothing to it ...
I'm tired of this working my ass off for nothing."

"yeah, I'll ask her ..." I say, as we both look up at the jets coming in overhead like Abe Lincoln's finger tips caressing a chalkboard.

Adolph Coors

a gelatin prepared from fish bladders: colors in the storm, same as through this; it is warm & we will fuck then sleep.
