ALL BY HERSELF

"This is what we'll abandon her to next September," I think, on my way to the Seven-Eleven for coffee, a L.A. Times.

Small ruffians on a morning sidewalk knocking each others' school books loose and to the ground, screaming frosty breathed in the cold morning air, pushing, tripping each other.

Last night she put on her pajamas, "All by myself."

We'll send her off in a crisp new dress, a ribbon in her hair, a lunch-pail with a cartoon character on it.

- Dan Lenihan

Oceanside CA

ROAD KILL

LOVER'S LEAP

Jumping to conclusions.

Remains to be seen.

HUMAN

SYSTEMATIC

The mind over matters.

Being.

LINEAGE

Another wrinkle.

- Guy R. Cochrane

Mountain View CA