UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI
 DI VERONA

UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI
 DI MODENA E REGGIO EMILIA

This course originates from the close collaboration experienced and established over many years between the three professionals most involved in the surgical treatment of lesions of the anterior skull base. We believe, and the results have proved us right, that the achievement of the best treatment in such complex anatomical regions can be born only from an accurate preoperative study, the realization of several surgical procedures and the care of every detail during the post-operative period carried out in a close collaboration among Otolaryngologists, Maxillo-Facial surgeons and Neurosurgeons. The relatively recent introduction of endoscopic surgery and the huge expansion of the latter has further expanded the possibilities of collaboration. On the other hand those who want to approach to this type of pathologies necessarily have to know not only the techniques and possibilities of endoscopy but also the open techniques which are essential to face certain situations or clinical manifestations. The experience of many years of shared work between two surgical university schools with great traditions such as Modena and Verona besides a personal friendship established over time has enabled us both to joint the three specialties and to create a group that is inspired by the same principles.
