87th Annual BIBLE LECTURESHIP

LETTER from the PRESIDENT

It is my privilege on behalf of the entire ACU family to welcome you to our Annual Bible Lectureship.

For generations committed Christians have gathered on our campus for a feast of Bible teaching, inspiring worship, and encouraging fellowship. We're confident that this year will be no different.

Lectureship is one of the most prominent ways that ACU serves churches. In particular, we hope that Lectureship will inspire congregations to greater participation in the mission of God throughout the world. Often, when we use the word "mission," we think of those great opportunities for serving God in foreign lands. But we recognize that mission also includes all that we do in our churches, neighborhoods, and workplaces to allow God's reign to be seen.

In light of this broader understanding of mission, we are excited this year to feature a new lectureship track: "Marketplace Faith." You will find this new emphasis as you read through the lists of classes in the brochure. But you will also notice our plans for a breakfast each morning hosted by area churches that we hope will not only attract Lectureship guests, but also local Christian professionals. This new track is yet another way we hope to encourage churches in faithfulness to the mission of God.

You encourage us with your attendance at Lectureship. We pray that Lectureship will continue to be a source of encouragement to the church.

ROYCE MONEY
President, Abilene Christian University

LETTER from the DIRECTOR

Jesus is risen! Death has been conquered! No longer do the ways of sin and death reign in our world! We have the opportunity to belong to the new age of the resurrection! Our lives will never be the same!

These declarations stand at the heart of our theme for the 87th Annual Bible Lectureship. This year's theme, "Since You Have Been Raised With Christ," calls us to consider our lives in light of the resurrection. We believe that through our baptism we already participate in the resurrected life of Jesus. Resurrection not only guarantees a life beyond our physical deaths, it also guarantees power for life here and now. Jesus did not escape death to retreat into the safety of heaven. Rather, the Risen One lives with us and in us. The reality of the continuing presence of Jesus with His church calls us to live in distinctive ways. This year, we want to focus on the kind of life empowered by the resurrection.

We cannot talk about resurrection without acknowledging the variety of ways we experience God in our daily lives. Perhaps no topic requires more serious attention than religious experience. To some, God is experienced in every traffic light or restaurant menu choice. To others, God is only a distant actor, residing almost exclusively in the pages of Scripture. The vitality of our churches surely depends on God's movement among us. Discerning that movement is one of the church's most urgent tasks.

Our theme book is Colossians. Paul's confession of Jesus as "the first-born from the dead" stands behind every verse (1:18). The descriptions of the resurrected life in Colossians are rich and provide compelling pictures of the Christian life. It is our prayer, that by opening Colossians together we will experience the presence of the Risen One in powerful ways.

Director of Ministry Events

Commitments

P U R P O S E

Abilene Christian University serves Churches of Christ through its Lectureship by bringing interested men and women together for instruction in the Bible, encouragement for missional engagement with the world, dialogue for the sake of unity, participation in worship, formation for discipleship, and exhortation to continue the work of restoration.

C O M M I T M E N T S

Scripture

Because of our high regard for the authority of Scripture, Lectureship will always feature sermons, lectures and other opportunities for in-depth Bible exploration.

- Each Lectureship features a book of the Bible to provide theme and focus. The lectures are Scripture assignments, not topics.
- Classes focus on the explanation of Scripture and are often taught by the best Bible scholars among Churches of Christ.
- Worship at ACU's Lectureship is characterized by extensive reading of Scripture.

Mission

In relation to our commitment to participating in the Great Commission, Lectureship will feature sermons, lectures and other opportunities to better understand the task of mission in the contemporary setting.

- A full slate of classes will help us understand the challenges of our context in missions, both foreign and domestic.
- Particular attention will be given to cultural analysis of North America so that we can minister effectively in a rapidly changing setting.
- Special focus will be given each year to the task of church planting so that the ACU Lectureship will be known as a resource for those interested or involved in church planting.
- We will honor exemplary missionaries each evening during the theme lecture gathering.
- Special focus will be given each year to vocation and ministry so that church members will be better equipped to view their homes and workplaces as opportunities for participating in the mission of God.

Unity

In relation to our commitment to the restoration plea for unity among those professing Christ, Lectureship will always feature sermons, lectures and other forums devoted to breaking down human barriers that divide the people of God, be they racial, doctrinal or spiritual. This work, by its very nature, requires both risk and discernment. Christ's prayer for the unity of believers demands that we be open to both.

- Regular forums will bring groups together in dialogue to promote better understanding, illumine points of agreement, and delineate points of disagreement subject to further dialogue.
- Recognizing that those things that cannot be talked about are those things that enslave us, the lectureship will foster a climate of respectful dialogue. Participants will be selected in part in relation to their respect and loving treatment of those with whom they disagree.
- Because ACU cannot speak for the church, the Lectureship must represent in some way the vast spectrum of teaching found within our churches. This will mean that nearly everyone will find classes or teachers on the program with which they disagree. In light of this, Lectureship hopes to promote unity by keeping us talking to each other rather than about each other.

Disciple Formation

In relation to our commitment to forming persons into the image of Christ, Lectureship will always feature sermons, lectures and other forums devoted to the spiritual formation of disciples.

- A variety of worship opportunities will be provided to draw participants deep into the practices of worship: praise, contemplation, prayer, attention to Scripture, lament, etc.
- Because faith and imagination are partners in the work of spiritual formation, Lectureship will encourage artists to assist our spiritual pursuits through drama, music, visual arts and literature.

Restoration

In light of our affiliation with Churches of Christ, Lectureship will always feature sermons, lectures and other forums that focus on the restoration ideal.

- Each year we will host specific lectures on restoration history so that we might gain an ever-increasing informed appreciation for those upon whose work we build.
- In all classes and forums we will encourage respectful and critical engagement with the restoration plea as it has been understood historically. We will seek to be neither “bashers” nor “rose-colored glasses” apologists. By being both loving and critical, we will insist that the work of restoration be ongoing.

In expressing these commitments, we hope to introduce standards of evaluation that move beyond divisive labels such as “liberal” or “conservative.” Our goal is not to serve change or the status quo. Our goal is to contribute to the health and growth of our churches through constructive engagement and dialogue.

We invite all participants to join us in upholding these commitments.

- Worship and Praise.

At 6:15 p.m. in Moody Coliseum The Zambian Vocal Collection (Sunday) and H.I.P. (Monday through Wednesday) will prepare us for the evening's worship with inspirational singing.

- Zoe Group.

At each of the evening lectures, Brandon Scott Thomas and the Zoe Group (Nashville, Tenn.) will help lead our worship. Additionally, the Zoe Group will lead late night praise on Monday evening in Moody Coliseum immediately after the evening lecture.

- Metropolitan Praise and Worship Team.

This talented group from Los Angeles will lead late night praise in Moody Coliseum on Sunday and Tuesday evenings. In addition, they will appear with their minister, Fate Hagood III, every day at 2 p.m. for a rich time of Scripture teaching and praise in the Chapel on the Hill.

- Old-Time Singing.

Join the saints who gather every year to sing those hymns that have stood the test of time. Gene Linder will again lead the singing at 3:15 p.m. in the Chapel on the Hill. Don't miss this chance to sing your old favorites.

A Season of Song, Prayer and Contemplation. This rich service of worship will be marked by prayer, simple meditative songs, reading of the Word, commitment to the ministry of reconciliation in the world, and a time for silence. The call to watch, pray, listen and wait has been at the heart of worship from the beginning of Christianity. Late night following the evening lecture, Sunday-Tuesday in the Chapel on the Hill.

- Meet Me at Teague.

Throughout the day, ACU student a cappella singing groups will be performing in the Teague Special Events Center. Enjoy the sounds of Liberty, The Group and Escape while spending time in our newest location for exhibits, food and fellowship.

Faithful Conversations - UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The ACU Lectureship is committed to pursuing unity where there has been division. This year's forums feature conversations already underway concerned with overcoming division. Both forums show that unity is now more than just a matter of talk. In some places, real progress is being made. Come and find out what we are learning in the challenging work of overcoming division.

FORUM ONE: Living Beyond Racial and Ethnic Distinctions: Keys to Successful Multi-Racial Congregations The need for racial reconciliation has increasingly risen to the level of pressing concern among church members. As with any issue of concern, the real test comes in moving from rhetoric to action. This forum will feature five ministers who serve congregations of racial or ethnic diversity. What accounts for their diversity? What challenges do they face? What can we learn from their experiences? (Monday-Wednesday, 3:15 p.m., Biblical Studies Building, Room 100 (Hart Auditorium)).

FORUM TWO: Continuing Conversations with the International Churches of Christ Last year's Lectureship featured historic conversations between members of the International Churches of Christ and "mainline" churches. What has happened since then? Six ministers will discuss their experiences from the past year and their hopes for the future. (Monday-Wednesday, 3:15 p.m., Biblical Studies Building, Room 114.)

"Meet Me at Teague!"

One of the highlights of last year's Lectureship was the move of exhibits and fellowship space into the Teague Special Events Center. Our exhibitors were thrilled to have improved display areas and increased foot traffic. And Lectureship guests were pleased to have a place to gather during the day for a sandwich and good conversation, a late-night piece of pie and coffee offered by WACU. "Meet me at Teague" became a common phrase on the lips of our guests. This year we will welcome more exhibitors and enhanced food service. Singing groups will perform during the day and there will be several opportunities to have your favorite book signed by many of the authors who are on our Lectureship program. We'll see you at Teague!

Art and Faith

Through song, painting, sculpture and theatre, we will allow our senses to take in the glory of God.

"IRON APRON STRINGS" ART EXHIBIT

Iron Apron Strings employs visual metaphor to depict the remarkable women cited in Matthew's account of Christ's lineage. Through the creative combination of gothic shapes, inspiring music*, found objects, family heirlooms, plaster, oil paint and gold leaf, Jill Maxwell has created paintings, drawings and multimedia works that are reminiscent of medieval religious icons and reliquaries. The dimly lit gallery space is transformed into a sanctuary for quiet reflection and prayer.

Art Exhibit Opening Reception

Shore Art Gallery, Don H. Morris Center, Sunday, 8:45 p.m.
(following the evening lecture)

Artist's Talk with Jill Maxwell

Brown bag lunch in the Shore Art Gallery, Don H. Morris Center, Monday, 12:15 p.m.

Dramatic Performance by Donna Hester

A theatrical exploration into the maternal lineage of Jesus and the "everywoman" aspect that pairs the mundane with the glorious, the scandalous with the sacred.

Shore Art Gallery, Don H. Morris Center, Tuesday, 10 a.m.

Tickets are complimentary; however, seating is limited. Phone Jack Maxwell or Beverly Rama, 325-674-2085 or beverly.rama@acu.edu.

DRAMATIC PRESENTATION

AN INCH OF ROPE

Re-discovering hope in the aftermath of tragedy

The phone rings countless times throughout the day: telemarketers, neighbors, calls from home. Benign business, polite exchanges, part of the daily routine. But for Kyle Mason, one call on the most average of days ignites a faith-altering journey through lamentation, divine confrontation and a closet full of family memories. The quest for an eternal hope – a hope capable of embracing life's most harsh realities – leads Kyle back to an old friend long neglected.

Sunday and Tuesday following the evening lecture (8:45 p.m.)

Williams Performing Arts Center, Culp Theatre

Admission is free.

Gospel and Culture

In a post-Christian culture, we can no longer assume an “if we build it they will come” mentality of church life. We must recover a sense that the church is a missionary community sent into the world. Missionary work requires both deeper notions of the gospel and fresh readings in the culture. This year’s Lectureship is committed to both gospel and culture.

CHURCH PLANTING: VISIONS OF THE EMERGING CHURCH

In a culture becoming more diverse each day, new congregations are vital to reach the many groups of people beyond our present reach. Planting new churches not only expands our outreach to these people, it often brings fresh vision for how life in God’s Kingdom can be lived.

This year our church planting track will focus on some of the dynamic new forms of kingdom life beginning to emerge through church planting, and will highlight some of the initiatives fostering these new forms in North America. Individuals and congregations looking for opportunities to participate in God’s ongoing work of reaching unreached North Americans will find wonderful resources in these classes. Find these classes each day in the WPAC Choral Rehearsal Hall at 9:45 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Marketplace Faith

Several publications, including a recent issue of Theology Today, have been devoted to the growing phenomenon of workplace ministries. Largely a grassroots movement, the proliferation of these ministries indicates both the desire for Christians to see their work as service to God and an increasing sense of being aliens in a non-Christian culture. We think this movement deserves both the attention and support of church leaders. We hope you will benefit from our new Lectureship track, "Marketplace Faith."

Spirituality@Work

A new feature at this year's Lectureship is a breakfast series hosted by local churches to encourage professionals to view their work as ministry. Purchase tickets in advance for $5 at the ticket window in the McGlothlin Campus Center

The Faith@Work Movement

How can the church and Christian universities encourage Christians to see their everyday lives as Godly vocation? How should we think about work and service to God? What are the ethics of faith in the workplace? We have gathered a business professor (Monty Lynn), a theologian (Mark Hamilton), a minister (Eddie Sharp), and businessmen (Ed Bonneau and Grant Boone) to discuss these important questions.

Join them Monday-Wednesday at 3:15 p.m. in the Biblical Studies Building, Room 130.
