Panel considering 100 for SIU president

By Terry Martin
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

More than 100 applications and nominations for the position of SIU President are being considered by the Presidential Search Committee, Willis Malone, chairman, said Wednesday.

Malone and the other 12 members of the committee released a progress report that will be distributed to faculty and University staff members Thursday.

All committee meetings are closed. The report states that "since premature publicity might cause some candidates to withdraw from consideration, and further, because the members of the committee are entrusted with the professional histories and the personal references of many individuals, the committee members are not at liberty to identify or discuss individual candidates for the position."

The committee has been directed by the SIU Board of Trustees to screen presidential candidates and advise the board as to whom will be the successor to former president David R. Derge. The board will then make the final selection from not fewer than four and not more than six candidates recommended by the committee.

"The committee is accepting this as a very important assignment," Malone said. "I think we're making steady progress and doing a good job."

Preliminary screening of the candidates by the committee will begin this week with Sept. 1 as the target date for the naming of the new SIU president, the report states.

A prospectus for the position is currently being drafted that will include "a general statement about the University, an outline of the major responsibilities of the president, and a listing of some of the criteria to be considered by the committee in evaluating candidates for the position," according to the report.

Malone said the weekly meetings of the committee, since its establishment on April 15, have been well attended by the members. "Some people do miss occasionally because of conflicting commitments but on the whole there has been very good attendance, he commented.

Malone also said he is quite pleased with the student representatives on the committee. "I don't believe the students have missed a meeting at all," he said. University community members have been most helpful in submitting nominations and additional nominations are still welcome, according to the report. Nominations may be submitted to Malone with up-to-date vitae, if available or the committee will try and obtain the necessary information backgrounding the individual nominees.

Malone is available in Room 106 of Anthony Hall and may be contacted by phone at 453-5120. The committee meetings are scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m.

each Wednesday and special sessions are scheduled if needed.

Committee members were selected by Malone, former executive vice president, from several names nominated by campus groups. Members are: Richard Arnold, chairman and professor of chemistry and biochemistry; Jon Booker, assistant professor of accountancy; Alfred Lit, professor of psychology, electrical sciences and systems engineering; William O'Brien, associate professor and chairman of recreation; Sue Pace, associate professor of speech pathology and audiology; Stanley Smith, dean of the College of Human Resources; Jeff Tilden, graduate student in history; Brenda Stanley, junior in business education; William Greenspan, senior in University Studies; Rosia M. Kerrens, first cook at Thompson Point; Jack Simmons, director of the Office of Internal Auditor; and Larry Jacober, president of the Alumni Association.

S-Senate urges passage of Walker's STC plan

By Debby Ratermann
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Student Senate passed a resolution urging the Illinois General Assembly to approve Gov. Dan Walker's planning bill for the SIU School of Technical Careers (STC) Wednesday night by unanimous consent.

Sen. Jon Roesler, co-sponsor of the resolution, said STC's facilities are too small for the number of students. "STC was built as temporary five-year buildings in 1941 and they are 25 years overused," Roesler said. "A fire would sweep any of the buildings in four to seven minutes."

The Senate also passed a $300 stipend for an SIU student intern with the Association of Illinois Students Governments (AISG) in Springfield this summer. The intern will receive 16 hours of credit from the Department of Speech.

A bill funding the Student Civil Liberties Union $243 for a speaker, Scott Camil of the Gainesville Vietnam Veterans Against the War Conspiracy, also passed.

The Senate refused to pass a request by the Honors Day committee for $336 to present graduating seniors with SIU keychains as a memento of their years at Southern. The bill was met with laughter.

Sen. Richard Bragg said, "This is a farce. I can't believe it. We should use the $336 for a scholarship."

Sen. Richard Lange gave a report on a bill which would place the Saluki Stables under the Corecreation Building management. The bill is expected to be voted on next week.

The Senate also heard a report by Bill Greenspan, an undergraduate member of the SIU President Search Committee. Greenspan said committee members "cannot discuss specific candidates," but said there have been "about 100 applications or nominees."

Greenspan said it is "very possible we'll reach our target date of a new president by September."

Walker to get STC petition

Students of the School of Technical Careers (STC) will present a petition bearing more than 500 signatures to Gov. Dan Walker at noon Thursday in Springfield to show support for moving the STC to campus.

Kayleone Ijams, faculty advisor for the students' committee for the relocation of STC, said members of the committee will present the petition to Walker to show their support for a bill now in the legislature.

She said the bill calls for $63,000 of SIU's budget to be used for planning on-campus facilities for STC.

"This means the money would be allocated," Ms. Ijams said. "It would be one step closer to getting new buildings built."

She said educational programs shouldn't be housed in facilities in such poor condition as the buildings at STC. The buildings are very old and firetraps, she said.

Ms. Ijams said the STC buildings were supposed to be housed only temporarily in the old army barracks they now occupy.

"But the temporary conversion has been more than temporary," she said.

She said she thinks the petition will show Walker that the STC students are serious and have a positive attitude toward STC moving on campus.

"We want him (Walker) to be aware that we are aware of what's happening," Ms. Ijams said.

Ms. Ijams said most of the signatures on the petition belong to STC students.

She said she and four members of the committee for the relocation of STC will present the petition to Walker.

New sign

City worker Calvin Scott installs a sign at the Woody Hall parking lot, reserving a space for the physically handicapped. Locations of other signs placed on city lots Wednesday are: One at the First Baptist Church lot; two along Walnut St. between University Ave. and S. Illinois Ave.; one at the lot behind Varsity Theater; one at the Presbyterian Church lot; one at the Southgate Shopping Center lot; one along S. Illinois Ave. near Atwood Drugs; and one at the lot near the Illinois Central and Gulf Railroad station. (Staff photo by Dennis Makas.)

Volunteers sought for police chief search

Dan Haar
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Students interested in being on a committee to evaluate applicants for Carbondale police chief should contact Student Body President Mike Carr or Bill Wesley, Carr's assistant, Wesley said Monday.

Wesley said he talked Tuesday with City Manager Carroll Fry, who is directing the committee's formation. Wesley said Fry may allow two students on the committee.

So far, Wesley said only himself and one other student have expressed any interest in being on the committee.

Carr probably will appoint students to the committee, Wesley said. It is also possible that the Student Senate will give final approval to the appointments, he said.

A system of screening those interested in being appointed has not yet been planned, Wesley said.

"If a number of students show an interest, we will work something out. So far, it's not a problem," Wesley said.

Fry said Wednesday that he has sent letters to eight constituencies throughout the city, including the Student Senate, concerning appointments to the evaluation committee. Groups Fry has contacted include: Carbondale Ministerial Alliance; Northeast Congress; Chamber of Commerce; Board of Fire and Police Commissioners; Human Relations Commission; Illinois State Police Headquarters in Duquoin; and the Citizens Advisory Committee.

Fry said that he wants the Citizens Advisory Committee to contact persons in the northwest, southwest and southeast parts of the city. Persons living in the northeast section of the city are already represented by the Northeast Congress, Fry said.

Two other groups will be contacted later this week, Fry said. One will be the SIU Administration, Fry said. The other will be the labor groups in the city for a labor representative on the committee.

Fry said contacting the labor groups may not be necessary if a labor representative is appointed by a constituency already contacted.

The committee will be advisory, Fry said. Fry said that he will make the final decision on who will be the new police chief but that a recommendation from the committee will have a strong effect on his decision.

Fry also said that he will probably screen the initial applicants and send the best qualified to the committee for their evaluation and recommendation.

He said he would like to keep the committee "large enough to be comprehensive but small enough to be workable." A committee with nine or ten representatives will probably work best, Fry said.

The mechanics of how the committee will work has not yet been decided, Fry said. Once representatives for the committee are chosen, Fry said he will meet with them.

He said that once the committee has been organized and a chairman chosen, he will discuss with the committee how the evaluation of applicants will be carried out.

Fry said he doesn't expect candidates for the police chief position to be brought before the committee before mid-July.

There are now three applicants for police chief and one possible applicant, all from outside the city. There has also been one inquiry about the job from within the police department.

Police Chief Joe Dakin will resign June 4. Dakin announced his resignation at the city council meeting April 29.

Dakin said he had decided to resign because of the council's refusal to appropriate enough money to maintain the present level of police services. Dakin had requested $45,000 more than was budgeted to the police department.

Capt. Ed Hogan, assistant police chief, will take over the duties of the police chief when Dakin resigns until a new chief is hired.

Board predicts bounty harvest of winter wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers are expected to harvest a record 1,612,000,000 bushels of winter wheat this year, up 27 per cent from 1973's record crop, the Agriculture Department estimated Wednesday.

The Crop Reporting Board's estimate, 7 per cent larger than it projected last December in its initial wheat report, came on the eve of the main newcrop harvest, with the United States expected to have the lowest year-end stocks in 22 years.

The wheat season officially begins July 1 but full-scale cutting is near in the south-central states where the crops were reported Tuesday as being in good shape and developing at a faster pace than a year ago.

The new estimate, based on May 1 field conditions, shows support for Nixon administration calls for all-out crop production this year to meet rising domestic and foreign demand. The demand had depleted supplies and sharply driven up prices since July 1972 when a huge Russian grain purchase helped turn the U.S. farm market around from a surplus economy.

The department has been predicting a total 1974 wheat crop of between 2.0 and 2.1 billion bushels, based on 18 per cent more plantings last fall of the winter wheat. Planting of all wheat, officials have said, is expected to total almost 71 million acres, the largest in 20 years.

Winter wheat is the major bread ingredient and tight flour supplies earlier this year sparked disputes over possibly higher bakery prices, but the important grain does not bear as directly on over-all supermarket prices as some other crops.

Prospects for those spring-planted 1974 crops, particularly corn and soybeans which are significant factors in the production and price of meat, milk and poultry, will not be clearly estimated for several months.

The board, however, has reported that farmers intended to plant 4 per cent more acres in the 16 major crops this year—14 per cent more than in 1972. Sharp decreases are anticipated in soybeans and barley, with boosts for corn, most spring wheat and cotton.

Some concern was expressed last month over drought in west Texas, a major wheat area where part of the crop was ruined. Recent rains there have helped other crops, and the board said Wednesday generally good weather conditions and excellent moisture supplies since December account for its improved outlook.

Proposed zoning ordinance draws criticism for floodway provisions

Criticisms at a public hearing Wednesday night on the proposed zoning ordinance centered on the ordinance's definitions and regulations of flood fringe and floodway areas.

The ordinance designates tracts of land as flood areas and regulates construction of buildings in flood fringe areas and prohibits construction in floodway areas.

Criticisms dealt mainly with the methods by which the city drew up the boundaries for the flood area. Persons who attended the hearing said the boundaries were not drawn up based on valid information.

Information used in setting the boundaries was largely obtained from an Army Corps of Engineers study of the area and from information on how high the waters rose during the 1961 flood.

Council members agreed that the boundaries were not as valid as they should be and decided that more precise and recent studies should be used in setting up the boundaries.

Problems which the council members said needed to be solved included how to obtain more precise data and what the procedures should be for a person who wishes to challenge the zoning of his land as a floodway or flood fringe.

Marion Wills, with the consulting engineers of J.T. Blankinship and Associates of Murphysboro, told the council that "the revised edition of the proposed zoning ordinance offers no valid solution" to the problems of permitting a landowner to "easily and economically determine the status of his property."

Wills said that throughout the consideration of the proposed ordinance, no method was presented to show the precise and accurate location of floodway boundaries.

"To base the determination of the boundaries of any zone on vague or assumed data is impractical and will lead to confusion at best, and legal action at worst."

M.B. Webb, an engineer in Carbondale, agreed with Wills that the methods of determining the boundaries were poor. He urged the council to "find ways to improve channels in the area."

Councilman Hans Fischer also agreed, saying he could not "stand behind the present boundaries of the flood fringe and floodways." He stressed that proper data must be used.

Mayor Neal Eckert, refuting Fischer's suggestion that the ordinance text be passed and more precise boundaries set up later, said the persons who are developing and living in the area now need to be considered. "We should either consider it (more precise boundaries) or drop it."

The hearing will be continued June 3.

City, plumbers agree to pact

A settlement was reached Wednesday night between the plumbers and pipefitters union and the city which is within the 6.2 per cent wage increase sought by the city.

City Manager Carroll Fry, who disclosed the settlement, said the contract is not retroactive and will go into effect Thursday.

The union has been operating under the provisions of its old contract since

May 1 when the contract expired.

Negotiations between the city and the union went into binding arbitration last week after talks reached an impasse.

Fry said more details of the contract provisions will be announced Thursday. The union settlement is the third of four unions whose contracts with the city expired May 1. Negotiations between the firemen's union and the city are still in arbitration.

Replay of tape battle may go to high court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The newest White House stand against yielding subpoenaed tape recordings looks like a replay of last year's battle in the courts. But this time it may end up in the Supreme Court.

Last year's drama moved through the U.S. District Court, then the U.S. Court of Appeals before the White House suddenly reversed its stand and yielded. It cost Archibald Cox his job as special Watergate prosecutor, led to the resignations of the attorney general and his deputy and stirred impeachment talk.

The current revival, also involving a subpoena against President Nixon for Watergate tapes, has a new presidential lawyer and a new prosecutor in the starring roles.

James D. St. Clair, the Boston trial attorney who replaced constitutional scholar Charles Alan Wright at the White House, announced Tuesday that "the President decided we would not be willing to come to an accommodation on that matter and it will be pressed."

He was talking about White House efforts to quash the sixth of the subpoena series against the President—this one demanding tapes to be used as evidence in the Watergate cover-up trial next September.

Cox's successor, Leon Jaworski—also a skilled trial lawyer—had foreseen the possibility of such a move in his original request to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica for court backing. He said he was asking the subpoena far in advance of trial so that any protracted court fight wouldn't result in a delay.

St. Clair, too, signaled his intention to carry on the fight in his motion to stop the subpoena, referring to the possibility of "going to a court in which Nixon v. Sirica is not a controlling precedent."

The case he referred to was last year's decision by Sirica that the subpoenaed tapes be offered for his review, so that only pertinent matters would go to the grand jury. Sirica was upheld by the appeals court.

The next step then was the Supreme Court. When it came to a showdown the President surrendered.

With that in mind, St. Clair was asked whether the current hard-line stance would take the matter to the Supreme Court.

"I think it is foolhardy on the part of anyone, particularly a lawyer, to say what he would do under circumstances which may be some time in the future," said St. Clair.

There is a basic difference in the Cox subpoena of July 1973 and the current Jaworski demand.

Last year the subpoena was for evidence to be taken to the grand jury.

This one involves evidence to be used against and for the defendants, such as H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, who were once Nixon's closest aides.

Jaworski delayed his response to the motion to quash because the White House asked for more time to try to work things out amicably.

It is certain he'll claim he can make a compelling showing of need.

If Judge Sirica agrees, the case will be rushed to the court of appeals and decided there quickly enough so that a further appeal can be made to the Supreme Court before it recesses in June.

Trib urges 'departure' of President

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said in an editorial in its Thursday editions that President Nixon's "departure, one way or the other, is the best course for the Presidency, the country and the free world."

The Tribune said that since President Nixon has rejected the course of resignation, "We urge the House to act quickly on a bill of impeachment. As the impeachment process progresses, as public opinion becomes clear, and as Mr. Nixon sees support dwindling in the Senate, he will have to reconsider his stand and recognize that resignation will spare the country the ordeal of a trial."

The newspaper said, "We saw the public man in his first administration and we were impressed. Now in about 300,000 words we have seen the private man and we are appalled."

"He is humorless to the point of being inhumane. He is devious. He is vacillating. He is profane. He is willing to be led. He displays dismayingly gaps in knowledge... His loyalty is minimal," the editorial said.

"His greatest concern is to create a record that will save him and his administration," the Tribune added.

"Two roads are open," the editorial said. "One is resignation. The other is impeachment. Both are legitimate and would satisfy the need to observe due process."

The Tribune said it agreed with those opposing resignation of the President because it would not resolve the issues.

Trudeau to call elections after defeat in Commons

OTTAWA (AP) - The opposition brought down Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's minority Liberal Government Wednesday in a House of Commons no-confidence vote, opening the way for new elections in July.

The challenge was tied to the government's proposed budget. It is the first time a Canadian government suffered a Commons defeat on its budget and only the third time a government has been defeated on the floor of the House.

The united opposition move had been expected to succeed, but Trudeau maintained until the last that the issue had not been settled and that he could not call an election "until the ninth-inning is ended." He has been in power since 1968.

Trudeau is expected to dissolve Parliament and call elections for July 8. He would remain as prime minister until then.

Trudeau said he will seek a formal election order Thursday from Governor-General Jules Léger.

Watergate theories upset by elections

By Don McLeod
Associated Press Political Writer

Two leading Watergate theories were tarnished by Tuesday's elections when office holders seeking renomination won almost to a man, and the voters stayed home in droves.

The closest thing to incumbent upset was in Ohio, where former astronaut John Glenn defeated Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum for the Democratic senatorial nomination, but even there a Watergate-tinged income tax question rather than incumbency was the question.

Political theorists and party officials have been saying for the past year that the Watergate scandals in Washington would rub off on all incumbents because of an aversion by the public to all politicians in office.

But Tuesday's voting went in exactly the opposite direction. Virtually every incumbent who ran was renominated, and many were not even opposed.

Even in Indiana, where the hottest races on the ballot were U.S. House nominations, all 11 Indiana congressmen, seven Republicans and four Democrats, won renomination. Four of them were unopposed.

And it worked that way on both sides of the ballot. The challengers to the incumbents in the November election for the most part will be the same faces back from 1972.

In North Carolina three Democratic congressmen won renomination, and the rest of the state's 11 incumbent representatives had no primary opposition.

All 21 Ohio congressmen seeking renomination won. The only new faces on the incumbent side of the November ticket will be replacements for retiring Republicans Walter E. Powell and William E. Minshall.

The weather:

Partly cloudy and mild

Thursday: Partly cloudy and not so warm with the high temperature in the upper 60s to lower 70s. Precipitation probabilities will be 60 per cent in the early morning, decreasing to 30 per cent by middle afternoon. The wind will be from the W at 8-17 mph. Barometric pressure will continue to be low as low pressure situations over the area.

Thursday night: Clearing and mild with the low temperature in the upper 40s to lower 50s. Precipitation probabilities will continue to be 30 per cent tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow.

Friday: Partly sunny and warmer with the high around 80 degrees. Wednesday's high on campus 79, 2 p.m., low 58, 5 a.m. (Information supplied by SIU Geology Department weather station)

Congress' Low Consumer Rating

The Consumer Federation of America (CFA), issuing ratings of all members of Congress on consumer issues, said last month that the Senate showed a decreasing level of support for the American consumer in 1973.

On 13 key issues coming before the Senate last year, a majority of senators registered pro-consumer votes only seven times, CFA said. Moreover, the number of senators who voted for consumers on all the key votes decreased, and the number of senators who never supported consumers increased over the previous year.

The 13 key consumer votes examined by the CFA involved issues of mass transit, health maintenance organizations, nominations to the Federal Power Commission, interest on checking accounts, food stamps, the Alaska pipeline, fair credit billing and energy costs.

The CFA said that in 1972 some 11 senators had scored 100 per cent on its tally; there were only two senators, Philip Hart (Dem.), Michigan and Gaylord Nelson (Dem.) Wisconsin, with perfect records last year. Likewise, only five senators drew zero scores in 1972. In 1973 this group increased to seven: Senators Carl Curtis (Rep.), Nebraska, Dewey Bartlett (Rep.), Oklahoma, Barry Goldwater (Rep.), Arizona, Roman Hruska (Rep.), Nebraska, Hugh Scott (Rep.), Pennsylvania, John Stennis (Dem.), Mississippi and Strom Thurmond (Rep.), South Carolina.

The CFA said the House of Representatives had a better overall record than the Senate in 1973. On eight key votes, a majority of House members registered pro-consumer votes on six. Perfect scores were compiled by 47 House members, while 29 members scored zero.

The CFA also noted that a number of members of Congress failed to score perfect records only because of absences. These "absent advocates" listed were Senators Edward M. Kennedy (Dem.), Massachusetts, Warren G. Magnuson (Dem.), Idaho, Dick Clark (Dem.), Iowa, George McGovern (Dem.), South Dakota and James Abourezk (Dem.), South Dakota and 36 Democratic Representatives.

Letter

Dear bicycle thieves

To the Daily Egyptian:

I would like to address this letter to any current or would-be bicycle thieves. I cannot understand how anyone would be so totally heartless as to steal a fellow student's means of transportation and enjoyment. In my opinion, you cannot get much lower than such a crime. Do you people have no guilt feelings on your consciences? Do you even possess consciences?

There are a large number of people in Carbondale who consider their bicycles as one of their most prized possessions. Not only is the theft of a bicycle financially a heartbreak, but it is also a personal loss for us.

To you people I make a simple request. If you can not, yourself, afford to buy a bicycle, reconsider what you are really doing when you take someone else's bike. In many cases, you are actually stealing a part of that person themselves.

To the Daily Egyptian:

For the record allow me to make an addition to Ms. Ratermann's story on the Student Senate meeting of May 2.

In the last paragraph of the story it was reported that the Student President-elect, Dennis Sullivan, refused to attend the executive session of the senate meeting because he disagreed with the closing of the meeting.

I witnessed what transpired at the Senate meeting, and I watched the actions and heard the words of our political virgin president. There is a substantial difference in the actions of Mr. Sullivan, and his statements.

When it became apparent that the senate meeting was not going to be allowed to continue in the open public format, the motion was made to go into executive session. This motion was subsequently amended to include constituency heads and other representatives. At this point Mr. Sullivan approached Senator Lohrmann and requested him to include in the amendment the stipulation the President-elect (Sullivan) be also included in those "invited guests" attending the executive session. Immediately after Senator Lohrmann presented this stipulation, our not-so-virgin-anymore President-elect indicated the statement Ms. Ratermann recorded.

As an eyewitness to this action, it is my opinion that Mr. Sullivan was playing political games typical of a student government politico. "Let's make deals among ourselves to protect our interest, and in public denounce that very behavior." Had the executive session been held I am confident Mr. Sullivan would have attended, protesting right up until the chamber doors ended his public exposure.

It was Mr. Sullivan who referred to himself, coyly, as a "political virgin." At this point he is no longer a virgin, which leaves him little else to claim.

Plain sense needed

To the Daily Egyptian:

Having read your review of the Wonderful World of Horses, April 30, I find that I must agree entirely with your statements on your own ignorance.

It is indeed that difficult for a horse to walk sideways. There are, of course, many reasons for this the least of which is that it is unnatural, as is a mere trot. However, I will not go into the reasons for this, as it is more than obvious that they would be wasted on Michael Hawley. Concerning the Piaffe, trotting in place, I can only tell you that it is virtually impossible for an animal that moves diagonally, that is left fore leg and right hind leg, to pick them up and not move.

The main objection to this review is not the performers, but the reviewer. I wonder why Hawley even attempted it. I should think that the last thing someone would do is write a review on something they know nothing about. Worse than that is to try to go into intricate criticism. I do not think more horse sense is as badly needed as just plain sense.

Commencement

requirement primitive

To the Daily Egyptian:

Why should a graduating student at SIU be forced to attend commencement ceremonies if he or she does not choose to do so?

After going thru four or more years of college to attain a piece of paper called a diploma, I do not see any reason why SIU should force its graduating students into a ritual which for some has absolutely no meaning or relevance to their lives.

Of course, there are a large number of students who consider college graduating a crowning point in life. For them, commencement ceremonies should never be denied.

But for myself (and others with similar views), I would rather leave Carbondale immediately after my last final exam and take my diploma thru the mail.

Commencement attendance should be an option for all graduating students instead of being "compulsory" as it now is. If SIU is to be a truly "advanced educational institution", then the administrators who run it must change this primitive regulation now.

Death knell for black studies

(Expletive deleted)

Born out of the wave of activism that swept the nation's campuses in the late 1960s, black studies were going to be one solution to past racial wrongs, a source of cultural identity for both students and the black community, and a way to legitimize the study of the black experience in such areas as history, sociology and arts.

Courses and programs sprang up like wildfire. By 1972, close to half the 2578 U.S. colleges and universities were offering at least one black studies course, according to an American Council on Education study. Black studies majors were offered by 182 schools, usually through an interdisciplinary program that jointly sponsored classes with established departments. But today, black studies are foundering. The reasons: declining student interest, insufficient funding, faculty skepticism and growing student concern for marketable skills instead of activism.

About 20 black-studies programs have folded in recent months, says Nick Aaron Ford, author of "Black Studies: Threat or Challenge," a just-published book that surveys 100 colleges' efforts. Declines in class enrollment or the number of black-studies majors are being reported by such schools as the University of Wisconsin, Stanford University, Howard University, American University, California State University at San Francisco and Fordham University.

What went wrong, and where do black studies programs go from here? Will black studies ever become an established and accepted academic discipline? Numerous colleges presently are grappling with these issues as they reassess their commitment and figure out budgets for the coming school year.

Problems have plagued black studies from the start. As a product of protest, the programs often became academic stepchildren on campuses. Too-hasty organization "killed black studies from the standpoint of quality" at many places, observes Thomas Solwell, a black economist who formerly taught at the University of California at Los Angeles and is now project director for the Urban Institute in Washington, a nonprofit research organization.

As part of their black studies demands, students often won control over faculty hiring and curriculum design. This didn't always work out. At the University of California at Berkeley, for example, activists initially assumed most teaching positions, making the program "a gigantic pork barrel," recalls William Banks, the school's present Afro-American studies director. A student boycott protesting Mr. Banks' appointment (his predecessor was fired for fiscal mismanagement) sharply curtailed enrollment in the Berkeley program until this past fall.

In addition, academically flimsy courses were frequently taught, such as "guerrilla warfare" and "black mathematics." Black-studies classes became known among students, black and white, as a way to get an easy "A." Among white faculty members, black-studies courses were often looked upon as a dumping ground for poor students.

Critics say black studies could be the subject matter for individual courses in political science, economics and other disciplines. After all, "you can have black-history courses without a black-studies department," points out Roy Wilkins, the veteran civil-rights leader and executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "Programs have been set up that are not adequate. If they're academically inferior, then a degree in black studies doesn't amount to much."

One proponent of black studies agrees with this view. "It isn't very important to have individual black-studies programs or even majors," says Mr. Ford, who also is a black-studies professor at Morgan State College in Baltimore. "There are more colleges than ever that are adding either separate courses in black studies or are integrating the black experience into mainstream courses." None of the 100 college administrators interviewed for his book opposes the concept "if it's properly handled," he adds.

That seems to be the crux of the issue. In today's campus climate, a black-studies program will be short-lived if it is seen as academically weak or an inadequate preparation for occupationally oriented students.

Vice President Nixon in a debate with Senator John F. Kennedy, Oct. 13, 1960:

"It makes you realize that whoever is President is going to be a man that all the children of America will either look up or will look down to and I can only say that I am very proud that President Eisenhower restored dignity and decency and, frankly, good language to the conduct of the presidency of the United States and I only hope that should I win this election that I could approach President Eisenhower in maintaining the dignity of the office, in seeing to it that whenever any mother or father talks to his child he can look at the man in the White House and whatever he may think of his policies he will say, 'Well, there is a man who maintains the kinds of standards personally that I would want my child to follow.'"

Your booze or your wife

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

The heartfelt hopes of millions of fans were dashed last week when Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton announced that, because of "irreconcilable differences," they were ending their marriage again.

Hollywood gossips said the irreconcilable differences arose when Miss Taylor presented Mr. Burton with an agonizing decision: He must renounce either her or alcohol.

Who knows whether such invidious gossip is true? Mr. Burton may be a closet teetotaler. But it is a problem that must be squarely faced by many. Take any typical American couple. Take, for example, Liz and Dick Namewithheld. (cq)

There's Dick now, coming home from a hard day on the set. He pours himself a slug of gin over ice and sinks into his easy chair with a sigh.

"Dear," says Liz. "I am only going to say this because I love you."

"Oh-oh," says Dick, taking a gulp. "Now, dear, I don't want to nag," says Liz, "but don't you think you're drinking too much?"

"Not yet," says Dick, taking another gulp. "You promised me you'd taper off."

"I have," says Dick, raising his glass. "I've sworn off vermouth in my martinis."

"For your own good," says Liz firmly. "I'm going to lay down an ultimatum: Either you renounce alcohol or me. Well?"

"I'm thinking. I'm thinking. I don't want to rush an important decision like this. After all, alcohol makes me feel good."

"Don't I make you feel good?" asks Liz.

"Can alcohol comfort you, solace you and keep you warm on cold nights?"

"Which side are you on?" says Dick.

"Can alcohol cook and keep house?"

Dick nods thoughtfully. "That's a tie."

"Can alcohol watch over you and point out your faults for your own good?"

"You're right," says Dick. "It's very quiet, too."

"Oh, that's horrid," cries Liz, breaking into tears. "And to think I've given you the best ten years of my fourth marriage."

"You're right and I'm sorry," says Dick repentantly. "I hereby promise not to drink any more."

"Oh, that's wonderful, dearest," says Liz happily. "Now about your smoking too much..."

"Or," says Dick, grimly pouring himself another belt, "any less."

It's little wonder, then, that when 647 married men were asked to choose between alcohol and their wives, 92.3 per cent chose the former.

Not that this has anything to do with Mr. Burton. For when the same sampling of married men was asked the question Mr. Burton reportedly faced, the results were dramatically reversed. The question, of course, was:

"Would you give up alcohol for Elizabeth Taylor?"

Tenth drug arrest made stemming from IBI probe

By David Korablith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Police have arrested another person in connection with an eight-month investigation conducted by the Illinois Bureau of Investigation (IBI), Jackson County sheriff's police said Wednesday.

Greg Feezor, 22, of Herrin was arrested late Tuesday night in Ewin, Mich., on a charge of illegal delivery of a controlled substance, said Deputy Curt Graffe of the Jackson County sheriff's police. This brings the total number of arrests connected with the IBI investigation to 10.

Nine other persons were arrested Monday night and Tuesday morning on Jackson and Williamson County warrants.

Eight of the nine arrested on Monday and Tuesday also were charged with illegal delivery of a controlled substance. One person was charged with delivery of under 30 grams of LSD.

Eight of those arrested Monday and Tuesday were bench arrests. Grand juries in Jackson and Williamson counties decided there was enough evidence to indict the eight. A judge then issued bench arrests on them.

Feezor was also arrested on a bench arrest, Graffe said. Feezor was being transported to Jackson County jail Wednesday. Feezor's brother Reggie, 26, was arrested on the same charge Monday night.

The 10 arrests represent eight months of investigations by the IBI, a agency spokesman said Wednesday. An IBI official added that the agency had been assisted by the Jackson and Williamson County police and the SIU and Carbondale police.

Evidence for the arrests came when those charged sold LSD, PCP or some other controlled substances to IBI undercover agents, they said. Chief Tom Leffler of the SIU Security Office said SIU police had been helping with the investigation since it started. He added that his men did not serve as undercover agents. "We don't have any undercover agents," he said.

IBI officials said the arrests were carried out by themselves, SIU, Carbondale, Jackson and Williamson County police.

Two warrants are still pending, county officials said. There is one warrant pending in both Jackson and Williamson Counties.

Of the original nine persons arrested, eight are out on bail, county officials said Wednesday. Charles T. Mocabey, 25, of West Frankfort is still in Williamson County jail pending $20,000 bond. Bonds for the nine ranged from $3,000 to $20,000.

Donnie J. Blunt, 20, of Patoka also was arrested on a charge of illegal delivery of a controlled substance. SIU officials at first were not sure whether he was listed as a student this quarter. The Admissions and Records Office confirmed his enrollment at SIU Wednesday.

That brought the number of SIU students arrested to three.

Jackson County and IBI officials would not comment on the possibility of other upcoming drug-related arrests.

Some sessions open to public

Meeting set on teaching aids

SIU faculty representatives will be shown how to use technology to improve instruction in a three-day Faculty Development Conference that begins Thursday, according to conference planner Frederick Jurgemeyer, assistant professor of Instructional Materials at SIU.

Some of the conference sessions, to be held in the Student Center on Thursday and Friday and in Lawson Hall on Saturday, will be open to interested persons, Jurgemeyer said. Others will be restricted to invited faculty participants, due space limitations, he explained.

Key speaker at the conference will be professor of instructional design Jerrold Kemp from University of California, at San Jose, Cal. Kemp will lead several demonstrations on use of instructional media.

Kemp is a past president of Association of Educational Communication and Technology and has written a book entitled "Instructional Design" which will be distributed to conference participants.

Philip Piemann, an instructional evaluation expert from University of Illinois-Chicago Circle, will present a "telelecture" at 10:30 a.m. Friday in the Student Center Mississippi Room. The Telelecture, open to public, is a combination of telephone and microphone, allowing students to respond to their instructor.

Ronald Schmeck, SIU associate professor of psychology, will give a multi-media demonstration course in Lawson 121 on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. This presentation will familiarize faculty with instructional resources available at SIU, Jurgemeyer said. Interested persons may attend.

The conference is funded by a $1,700 grant from winter quarter's President's Academic Excellence Fund to Jurgemeyer and Irving S. Spigle, associate professor of Instructional Materials.

Handicapped invited to vocational workshop

Disabled students are invited to participate in a workshop on vocational skills from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. May 17, in Ballroom A of the Student Center.

The workshop, intended to expose students with physical limitations to the job search process and to the correct procedures for interviewing, is co-sponsored by the Career Planning and Placement Center, Specialized Student Services and the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation.

"We will emphasize to the students that even though there are now more opportunities for employment for the handicapped, much still depends on their own initiative in learning the skill necessary to compete effectively for employment," said Ms. Lisa Popov of Vocational-Educational counseling.

The program will include consultants Jim Fitzgibbons and Paul Scher from Sears, Roebuck, and Co., and Jim Greenwood from IBM. These consultants will discuss their company's practices and policies of hiring handicapped persons. They will also discuss personal aspects of the job search processes in all fields.

Other activities for the day include a resume writing session, a panel discussion on interviewing experience and model interviewing practices. The film, "Tie or Turle-neck", which deals with interviewing techniques, will also be shown to participants.

Although the program is primarily for handicapped SIU students, other disabled persons in the area are welcome to attend. If a person is interested in attending but not enrolled at SIU, he is asked to contact Ms. Popov or Dr. Diane Tinsley at Vocational-Educational counseling at C202, Woody Hall, 536-2096, before May 15.

JSA sponsors Japanese events Friday afternoon

The public is invited to attend an "Afternoon in Japan," sponsored by the Japanese Student Association, starting at 6 p.m. Friday in the Mississippi Room of the Student Center.

The 'Afternoon' program will include films on "Akiko," about the life of a Japanese girl in a large city, and the "Universities in Japan." There will also be demonstrations of Cha-no-yu (tea ceremony), flower arrangement, self-defense training and karate.

The Japanese Student Association was formed last month with the intention of stimulating cooperation among Japanese students, to promote a better understanding between Japanese and people from other countries and to provide opportunities to meet those who are interested in the group's activities.

Gas shortage may limit travel

Illinois vacation trips promoted

By William Prater
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) - This would be an excellent time, Illinois tourism promoters are saying, for Illinoisans to discover their state. The gas shortage, they add, may provide little choice. At the state capital, which over flows with Lincoln lore, the Convention and Tourism Commission is stressing the convenience of Amtrak and chartered buses.

"We're developing different tour packages," said Thomas P. Harris, commission executive director.

The commission is working with Ozark Airlines and car rental agencies on a fly-drive package for the city. For people who rely on the family car, Harris said, "We're trying to create an additional awareness . . . of what to drive to see in Springfield."

"We're in the midst of a promotion effort," he said, "that also goes to other areas-Indiana, St. Louis, Des Moines . . . We hope that, if we approach this properly, as a tourist industry we won't get hurt too badly."

Last summer and fall, he said, the gas shortage "really put a crimp on our industry."

A Makanda tour broker, Presley Tours, reports volume of business up 35 per cent in 1973. And, according to company vice president Bob Presley, "We're now 40 per cent ahead of last year." Charter bus tours, he said, are guaranteed sufficient fuel "because tourism plays such a large part in the economy."

The State Energy Office reports that Illinois can expect about 91 per cent growth in demand, Donald Handy, assistant energy coordinator, said, "We're talking of a 19 to 21 per cent shortfall."

"My personal thought," he said, "is we had better look a little closer to home for vacations this year."

Businessmen in the popular year around resort community of Rockton in northern Illinois are going over their books to see how much business has declined during the gas shortage. Though they've been told more gas will be available, some are skeptical.

"Two weeks ago," said Marlin A.

Wensel, owner of Wensel's Sunoco, "I got a letter that I would get 102 per cent of what I got in 1972."

"Four days later I was told to expect 90 per cent-then a week ago I got another letter-95 per cent."

"You just don't know."

Legislature discusses new RTA amendments

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - The Illinois House and Senate recessed for the weekend Wednesday after devoting a day to talking about changes in the Regional Transportation Authority for metropolitan Chicago.

There was little action on any subject.

Most of the talk took place in the House, which was convened as a "committee of the whole" to discuss 13 bills related to RTA. All the bills were advanced to the amendment stage.

A series of RTA amendments proposed by House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, were discussed at a similar session last week.

The RTA bills could be brought up for discussion and possible amendment next week.

Blair and Rep. Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale, reached agreement Wednesday on a change in the speaker's controversial proposal to let counties in the RTA region "opt out" of the system.

Under Blair's original proposal, withdrawal from the RTA could have been accomplished by a vote of the county board. Mrs. Dyer's amendment requires that the RTA

Friday's activity will be a street dance held in front of Baldwin Hall, from 8 to 12 p.m., featuring the live contemporary music of "The Fabulous Amigo Brothers."

Clint Eastwood's "Joe Kidd" will be shown at 8 and 10 p.m. Saturday outside Lentz cafeteria. The movie will be moved inside Lentz if it rains.

Improvisations by a MacMurry College theater group will bring the weekend to a close, with a performance at 8 p.m. Sunday. Lentz will be converted into a type of "theater in the round" for this event.

The entertainment is being sponsored by Thompson Point Student Government, and is open to all residents of T.P.

be rejected by voters in an initiated referendum before any county could pull out of the system.

A delegation of mayors from suburban Cook County told the House they were opposed to any sort of "opt out" amendment to the RTA, saying "that would emasculate the RTA and defeat the very purpose for its existence."

Art studies set in Austria this summer

The Association of Colleges and Universities for International Cultural Studies Inc., are planning a special summer school to be held in the ancient city of Graz, Austria.

The special summer school will include studies in artistic activities in the Soviet Union, Russian Soviet studies, Baltic area studies and a Music Academy.

Special tours will be conducted in conjunction with the summer school including visits to such places as Lubiana, Yugoslavia; Vilna, the capital of Lithuania; Minsk, the capital of Belo-Russia; and Moscow.

Students with one full year of college credit by June, 1974 may apply to join the summer school. They will earn credits for transfer to their own university.

The group will leave by charter plane from Washington, D.C., June 30 and return from Vienna to Washington Aug. 24. The summer school fee for American students is $800, and the round-trip plane ticket costs $300.

Federal money is available to assist qualified students

Students not enrolled in any post-high school educational institution prior to April 1, 1975 may be eligible for $50-$800 Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG), according to M.B. Treece, SIU coordinator of Federal Programs for Student Work and Financial Assistance.

Federal money for the BEOG program should be plentiful, Treece said. He said eligible students to pick up applications from his office at Washington Square Building B. To qualify students must file an ACT financial statement and should return completed BEOG applications to Treece's office immediately if they want the grant for fall semester, he added.

Applications are sent to Washington D.C. for processing, Treece said, and that procedure takes about a month. ACT statements require about 2 weeks for processing, he said.

Treece said his office has already given out "a truckload" of BEOG applications and has gotten about 25 completed forms back.

According to Health, Education, and Welfare Department Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger $475 million will be available for BEOG across the country. The BEOG program should assist over a million students, Weinberger said.

Seminar planned Tuesday

An expert in the field of working with young children who have learning disabilities or behavioral disorders will conduct a seminar on Tuesday sponsored by the Special Education Department.

Eleanor T. Kenney, director of the Miriam Diagnostic Preschool, in Webster Groves, Mo., will speak on the school's philosophy of education, at 7:30 p.m. in Lawson 141.

During the day she will speak with faculty and students on the problems involved in the supervision and mainstreaming of special children.

Ms. Kenney has been director of the Miriam School since 1960, working with children who have learning and adjustment problems. She has been involved in a number of advisory capacities in the community, and is a consultant to the Division of Child Psychiatry at Washington University Medical School, St. Louis.

For a number of years the Miriam school has served as a placement center for student teachers and practicum students from SIU.

The seminar, "An Evolving Philosophy of Education—the Miriam Diagnostic Preschool," is open to the public.

Morris plans lecture on SIU at Illinois historical meeting

Members of the Illinois State Historical Society will meet at SIU for their annual Spring Tour Thursday through Sunday, according to Glenn E. Wills, assistant dean of continuing education, who assisted with local arrangements for the event.

Highlighting the meeting will be a speech by former SIU president, Delyte W. Morris.

Morris will speak on "Southern Illinois University—1948-1970" at the society's dinner session Friday evening in the Student Center Ballrooms. His address will review the history of his 22-year administration at SIU.

Blacks in Southern Illinois, the economic depressions of the 1890s and 1930s and farm outbuilding architecture and preservation will be topics discussed during daytime sessions of the meeting.

General sessions of the meeting are open, free, to students who wish to attend. A $2 registration fee is required of non-student, non-society members.

Registration will be in the Student Center from 8 to 9:15 a.m.

Professor named top scout

James Robb, associate professor of data processing, will be honored as the SIU Scouter of the Year, at a noon luncheon Tuesday in the Student Center.

The Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts of America chose to honor Robb for his contributions to scouting in Southern Illinois, said John McCroskey, SIU personnel officer and chairman of the Scouter of the Year selection committee.

McCroskey said Robb began his activities with scouts in Southern Illinois in 1967, as the advance chairman for the Egyptian Council's Court of Honor. From 1968 through 1970 he served as assistant scoutmaster for Carbondale troop 66.

In 1973 Robb was inducted into the Order of the Arrow, an award for individual excellence in scouting. Robb is currently the adult advisor for the election of the Order of the

Professor's works set for June exhibit

An exhibition of art by Dan D. Wood, assistant professor of art at SIU, will be held at Dittmar Gallery at Northwestern University from June 1 to June 30.

The exhibit will include approximately 50 works, 40 pencil drawings and 10 small paintings. The group includes recently completed work as well as pieces from permanent museum collections, private collections, and from the artist's representative at the FAR Gallery in New York City.

Subject matter in Wood's exhibit includes people, landscapes and cityscapes. Included are five drawings from the "Carbondale Street People" series which were developed during 1971-72.

Works loaned from permanent collections include "Bobby Allen" from the Brooklyn Museum; "Anteater's Roadhat" from the Philadelphia Museum; and "Study of a Used Tear Gas Canister" from the Evansville (Ind.) Museum of Arts and Science.

Wood's work has been exhibited in regional and national competitions and he has been the recipient of various awards. The artist received his master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1968, and has taught at SIU for six years.

Wood will be present at an opening reception at Dittmar Gallery from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. on June 1.

Army fighting image battle

CENTRALIA (AP) - Salesmen march in the Army's front lines these days, doing battle against the military's tarnished image and a generation suspicious of appeals to patriotism.

In his report to Congress last winter, the secretary of the Army said the service's "most urgent problem is . . . procurement and retention of quality personnel in the zero-draft environment" saddled with "the generally poor image of the military in the eyes of the public."

Capt. Todd Starbuck, one of the Army's 2,747 recruiters, was ordered to Centralia to do something about it.

"It's the most important job that the Army has to do now," Starbuck, 30, said.

While Starbuck and his 14 men have not met their quota for the last 18 months, they believe June will turn the tide.

Business awards to be presented Monday evening

The College of Business and Administration will hold a "Parade of Honors" on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom B.

The annual program recognizes superior scholastic achievement and exceptional service by students enrolled in the College. Awards will be presented by the College's departments, the Student Council and various College of Business and Administration student organizations.

"Various Awards," such as Most Notorious Grader and Instructor with Most Streaking Potential, will be presented to the faculty.

Refreshments will be served and entertainment will be provided by both the faculty and student organizations. All students in the College of Business and Administration are encouraged to attend.

'Friends' offers wine, area poetry

A group of readings entitled "Friends of Hinterlands" will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

Hinterlands is a newly-established publishing enterprise dedicated to presenting small books of poems, sections of novels, and anthologies of poetry and fiction produced by area writers. Its first book, a selection of poems entitled "Balder's Death" by Bob Randolph, was released this week.

Among those reading their own works will be Randolph, John Presley, Don Setters, Albert Lee Johnson and Gay Dallman.

Wine will be served. The First Presbyterian Church is located at 310 S. University St., Carbondale.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in Wednesday's Daily Egyptian that the travelog "Sunseed" would be shown at 7, 9 and 11 p.m. Friday in Davis Auditorium. It will be shown at those times in the Student Center Auditorium.

This spring's round of high school graduations, the Army believes, will be the recruiters' first full-dress test.

"We're a sales organization, in effect," Starbuck said. "I'm a regional sales manager, in effect, and I've got salesmen working for me. We've got a product and we're trying to inform the public about that product."

Students to attend Plymouth contest

Larry Ernst and Wayne Wagner, students in the SIU automotive technology program, are scheduled to arrive in Springfield Thursday to begin competing for the regional championship of the annual Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest. Ernst and Wagner were selected from a list of seven students who completed tests on their mechanical knowledge.

The two SIU representatives last year, Dave McClain and Rick Pershell, won the national competition.

Coaching the SIU team will be Joe Cash, associate professor of automotive technology, and Joe Albert, instructor.

April brought him 22 of the 27 recruits he was supposed to find in the 23 counties he covers. He could have signed up 27 but regulations require that 55 per cent of his enlistees have high school diplomas. May's quota is 24. And June, the big month, is down for 39.

Starbuck thinks he sees the light at the end of the tunnel; 21 potential graduates already have signed up.

Speech pathologist speaks on rating stroke recovery

D.J. Hubbard, speech pathologist at the Veteran's Administration (V.A.) hospital in Overland Park, Kan., spoke on a new method for assessing the rate of recovery for stroke victims at a workshop Wednesday in Morris Library Auditorium.

The purpose of the workshop, sponsored by the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology, was to train students and faculty members in the correct ways to administer and score the testing methods of the Porch Index of Communicative Ability (PICA).

Department chairman John Moncur said the PICA method, developed by Bruce Porch, head of Speech Pathology and Audiology Service at the V.A. hospital in Albuquerque, N.M., can predict the degree of severity of the stroke, the therapy which should be used, and can tell the stroke victim's family what degree of recovery they should expect.

Moncur said the PICA method tests the stroke victim's "modalities of expression"—meaning the person's ability to communicate through gestures, reading, writing and speaking.

The PICA method differentiates the victim's level of performance by varying the difficulty of the tests, Moncur said. He said the tests are based on a scale from: the extremely simple to the complex, with the expected results ranging from no awareness of the task at all, to an accurate, prompt and efficient response.

Moncur said Porch spent at least 10 years developing his testing method, working with patients in the V.A. hospital. He said there are three other tests currently used to determine the recovery that can be expected of a stroke victim, but the PICA method is the first attempt to evaluate patients on a quantitative basis using standardized procedures.

The PICA workshop will continue from 9 a.m. through 5 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

Campus Briefs

Herbert Marshall, professor in Department of Theater and Director of the Center for Soviet and East European Studies, served as a delegate to the Midwest Slavic Conference at the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, last weekend, and participated in various panels. At next year's conference, he will present a paper on "The Truth About Eisenhower."

Marshall will be giving a paper on "The New Wave in Soviet Art and Culture" at the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies (AAASS) conference to be held at the University of Missouri, St. Louis, in November. He has also been asked to present a paper on "New Soviet Film Art" at the American Association of Teachers of Slavic and East European Languages (AATSEEL) conference in New York Dec. 27 to 29.

Marshall has been invited by the Association of Colleges and Universities for International Cultural Studies Inc. to serve as Distinguished Visiting Professor at their summer school to be held in the ancient city of Graz, Austria. That will include special tours to Lubiana, Yugoslavia; Vilna, the capital of Lithuania; Minsk, the capital of Belo-Russia, and Moscow.

Marshall will be teaching a course in Soviet Arts and Culture, a study of artistic activity in the Soviet Union from the Revolution until today, particularly in the performing arts, cinema, opera, ballet, music, poetry and television. There will also be other Russian Soviet studies, Baltic area studies and a Music Academy.

Robert P. Taylor, Director of Order Processing, Southern Illinois University Press, will present a paper entitled "Toward a Complete Information System for University Presses" at the 19th annual College and University Machine Records Conference Wednesday at Baylor University, Waco, Tex. The development of a comprehensive university press information system, as described in Taylor's paper, illustrates how the computer can become a powerful tool in the hands of its user without becoming a burden on its keeper.

Taylor's paper is based on the computerized system for invoicing and accounting in use since 1969 by the SIU Press. The Press system, for which Taylor was the principal programmer, is a unique system, designed by the SIU Information Processing department for the Press.

Already in use by the University of Illinois Press, the SIU Press system is also under consideration for use by Northern Illinois University Press and by Wayne State University Press, who are currently being furnished programs and documentation of the SIU Press system.

Dr. Kevin Swick, Department of Elementary Education, had a paper entitled "Value Development Strategies for Multi-Cultural Populations" included in the University of Alberta, Canada's "Teaching The Disadvantaged Child" journal of research and thought. The paper will appear in one of the 1974 editions.

Greek week will begin on Saturday

The annual Greek week, sponsored by the inter-Greek Council, is set to begin Saturday, May 11.

Events open to all students will include a Greek Sing at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in front of Shryock Auditorium. The Greek Sing, similar to the annual variety show, will be divided into solos, small group and large group categories. Ron Adams, publicity chairman for the council, said. Persons who want to participate in the sing should call 536-2338.

"Las Vegas Night," sponsored by Phi Sigma Kappa is scheduled for May 17 in the Student Center. Tickets for the all-campus event will be 50 cents.

The week will conclude with the annual awards banquet May 19. Bob Carter, former grand national president of Phi Sigma Kappa, is scheduled to speak. All students are invited. Advance tickets are available at the Student Life Office.

"Sigma Shenanigans," sponsored by Tri-Sig sorority is set for Saturday at Small Group Housing. "Greek Seek," a treasure hunt, will begin at J. C. Penney's shopping center Monday evening.

Delta Upsilon is sponsoring a softball tourney for the sororities Tuesday evening. The Fraternal Executive Council will sponsor a track meet for fraternities Wednesday. Gamma Rho will host "Farmer's Follies" for the sororities Thursday. The follies will include a greased pig contest and a chicken race.

The annual Greek picnic will be May 18 in the Small Group Housing area.

County jail going to highest bidder

By T. Lee Hughes
Associated Press Writer

PRINCETON (AP) - It could be the granddaddy of White Elephant sales. On the block is the county jail.

The Bureau County Board is open for bids for the 120-year-old building. But whoever wants it must cart it away. It's two stories high and built of bricks.

The board will be open for proposals until late this month. "So far we haven't gotten any," said Lloyd Pearson of Tiskilwa, chairman of the board's building and grounds committee. "and I don't expect any."

The jail is to be replaced by a $680,000 facility on the same site late next summer.

The state said the old jail was obsolete and the county should do something about it.

Estimates for moving the old jail just within Princeton have ranged up to $45,000.

Officials admit the jail is no bargain.

Pearson said the mortar is so soft that prisoners have escaped by digging through it with spoons. The cement floor is cracked, the plumbing and wiring are shot and it's cold in the winter, he said.

"It really looks old and dilapidated," said Pearson.

Knowing this, however, an unidentified Princeton resident recently offered $15,000 for it. But he insisted that the jail remain where it is, being restored and designated a historical site.

A recent straw poll by the Bureau County Republican and Record indicated some sentiment among residents of this rural county of about 40,000 for keeping the old jail. They voted 84 to 42 for keeping it, said Ted Duffield, editor of the papers.

Pete Matson, regional director of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, said he could sympathize with those who wanted to save the building, "but I don't personally feel it's architecturally a great monument..."

Ford ups prices

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP)—Ford Motor Co. has raised the prices of its 1974-model cars and trucks an average $163 per vehicle, effective immediately, the company announced Wednesday.

Ford said the price increases include a 2.4 per cent hike in the sticker price, amounting to $113, and a 1.1 per cent boost, or $50, for options that have been made standard equipment.

Volunteers still being sought to assist in special olympics

Students who plan to volunteer free time Friday in the Southern Regional Special Olympics should simply report to a volunteer booth, Val Silvy of the olympics committee said.

"There is no need to sign up as a volunteer in advance. We need every volunteer we can get," she said.

The Olympics, specially designed for the mentally handicapped, are for children eight years and older. The children come from 37 Southern Illinois counties to compete.

The Olympics will be at Bleyer's Field just west of the Carbondale Community High School from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"We would rather students ride the shuttle bus to the Olympics but students who drive may park near the Patrician Steak House and walk to the field," Ms. Silvy said.

The shuttle bus will leave every thirty minutes from the Student Center. Students who need transportation should meet in Ballroom B.

The Olympics committee has estimated it will need at least 1,000 volunteers. About 1,300 participants will compete in the Olympics Friday compared to about 750 last year.

"About 700 volunteers helped last year. We have almost twice as many workers," Carol Spiller of the Olympics said.

"Volunteers can be a valuable service by forming a cheering section for the competitors. Each participant needs to have someone to greet him as he arrives at the finish line," Ms. Spiller said, "but that will take a lot of volunteers."

Jim Hart, quarterback for the St. Louis Cardinals and a former football player at SIU, will serve as head coach for the Olympics.

The annual Olympics are sponsored locally by the Southern Regional Olympics committee in conjunction with the Recreation Department. On the national level, the games have been sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation since 1968.

Refreshments will be contributed by local merchants.

For further information, call Ms. Silvy at 453-4331.

Women's track team to host state school meet Saturday

By Kenneth Pilarski
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

McAndrew Stadium will come to life Saturday morning as SIU plays host to the Illinois Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (IAIAW) State Track and Field Meet.

Ten schools from Illinois will be competing in the 16-event meet. The first event is scheduled to start at 8:30 a.m.

SIU women's track coach, Claudia Blackman is not expecting her team to win the meet, but she is looking for improvement over past performances. The women tracksters' best performance during the season was a second-place finish in a triangular meet in Charleston.

SIU totaled 32½ points in that meet, due in large part to Launa Morrison's performance. Morrison netted 7½ of the team's points with two first-place and one second-place finish in the high jump, 200-meter hurdles and the 100-meter hurdles.

In Saturday's meet, Morrison will compete in the 400 and 100-meter hurdles and the high jump. Morrison has tied the SIU record in the high jump at 4½ feet.

Coach Blackman said, "Illinois State is favored to win the meet and the University of Illinois will probably finish second. After that it's anybody's guess and I'm hoping we do well."

SIU and nine other schools tangled with Illinois State over the weekend and sampled some of the Redbirds' strength. Illinois State finished with 75 points, while the Illini were a distant second with 46 points. SIU barely kept its head above water with a total of two points. The state meet will be a rematch of sorts, with many of the same teams competing.

The Redbirds will be coming to town with such top performers as Celeste Wood, who can toss the discus 139 feet. SIU's top performer in the discus is Kris Olson, who holds the team record with a toss of 93-9.

Energy savings at chemical plant

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)—This year, Dow Chemical will save almost a million kilowatt hours of electricity by realigning the electrical power distribution system at its chemical complex here. The savings are sufficient to provide electrical energy for about 135 Torrance homes.

The project will reduce energy consumption at the plant and still achieve the same level of production efficiency in the plant's operations.

Other top performers for the Redbirds are Diane Phillips in the javelin, 124 feet; Cathy Cooper in the high jump, 5-5 and the long jump, 19-3; and Linda Awgelloff in the shot put, 41-5.

Another major contender for state honors is Chicago State which is strong in the mile run, 440-yard dash and the 800-yard run due to its top runner, Tecla Chemabwaci. Chemabwaci runs the mile in 5:00, which is 17 seconds faster than anyone else in the state. SIU's top performance in the mile is just over 6:00. Chemabwaci runs the 440 in 56.0 and the 880 in 2:17.

Besides Morrison in the hurdles and the high jump, SIU's main strength lies in the 220-yard dash where Judy Nolan holds the state record with a time of 28.0.

The schools competing in the meet will be SIU, Illinois State, Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois, Principia, Lewis College, Augustana College, University of Illinois, and University of Illinois—Chicago Circle and Chicago State.

Admission to the meet is free and the public is invited to attend.

Men's intramural track meet set for Saturday at stadium

The gun will sound for the start of this year's men's intramural track and field meet at 12:30 p.m. Saturday in McAndrew Stadium.

All SIU male students are eligible to enter the tournament. Entry forms are available in the Office of Recreation and Intramurals. All forms must be filled out and returned to the Office of Recreation and Intramurals by 5 p.m. Friday.

The meet will consist of 14 events. The 100, 220 and 440-yard dash; the 880-yard run, the one and two mile run, the mile relay, the 440 and 880-yard relay, the long jump, the high jump, the shot put, the discus and the softball throw.

Each contestant may enter a maximum of four events, which may be a combination of three running and one field event; two running and two field events; or three field and one running event.

A team may enter two contestants in each of four events. Only one four-man team may be entered in each of the relays.

This year's tracksters will be shooting to break several men's intramural track and field records that have stood for several years. Among which are Don Miller's time of 10.0 for the 100-yard dash, set in 1957. Gary Thompson tied the record in 1967.

Amos Bullocks holds the record for the 220-yard dash with a time of 22.8, set in 1959. In 1961, Charles Warren set the record for the long jump with a leap of 23-3.

For additional information, contact the Office of Recreation and Intramurals at 453-2710.

Netters forced inside; defeat Illinois, 5-2

By Bruce Shapira
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Playing indoors for the first time this year, the SIU tennis team defeated the University of Illinois, 5-2, Tuesday in Champaign. The match was originally scheduled to be played under the sun, until thunderstorms forced the netters inside.

"We were glad to win the Illinois match, even though it took a long time," said Saluki coach Dick LeFevre. "We had a hard time finding indoor courts that were available, so we decided we would end the match after one team scored five points."

Jorge Ramirez defeated the Illini's Kevin Kelso 6-3, 6-1, in the No. 1 singles match. Ramirez has a 11-16 record for the year, coming back this year after missing the entire season last year, due to a broken foot.

"Jorge has done a fine job for us at the No. 1 singles position," said LeFevre. Ramirez played the No. 3 singles position for the first half of the season, before capturing the No. 1 position.

Dane Petchul went three sets before he disposed of highly rated Manuel Amaya. Petchul lost the first set 4-6, then came back to win, 7-6, 6-4. Petchul, who played the No. 1 position earlier in the year, is 12-15 for the year.

Steve Temple defeated Illinois' Bruce Franks, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3. Temple has been a bright spot for the Salukis this year, accumulating a 10-2 record.

Rounding out the Illinois match, Glen Hummel bested Felix Ampon, 6-3, 6-2; Scott Kid beat Webb Hayne 7-5, 6-3; Mel Ampon defeated Rick Shapiro, 6-1, 6-2; and Petchul and Kidd lost the No. 1 doubles match, 6-3, 6-4, to Kelso and Amaya.

With the Illinois victory, the Salukis are presently 15-13 on the year, with two more matches left on the 74 season. SIU travels to Murray State Sunday, before ending out the season at home, Tuesday, against Indiana University.

The NCAA tennis championships will be held June 17-22 in Los Angeles, Calif. According to LeFevre, the Salukis are uncertain at this time if they will make the trip to L.A.

SIU ladies seek title in softball

With hopes of representing Illinois at the College World Series in Omaha, the SIU women's softball team takes to the field Thursday for a 3:30 p.m. game in the opening round of the Illinois Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (IAIAW) State Softball Tournament.

SIU last played in the World Series three years ago and finished in a tie for fourth place with Illinois State University.

The tournament will be a single elimination series with a consolation bracket. The top two teams will represent Illinois in the World Series on May 16-19.

Western Illinois University is the top seeded team in the tournament. Eastern Illinois is second, Northern Illinois is third and host school SIU is fourth.

All games will be played on the fields behind Lewis School, located at the corner of Park St. and RR 2. The championship game is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday.

Greenville falls

Homer powers SIU to 36th win

By Mark Tupper
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Steve Shartzler's two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning capped a 7-5 come-from-behind SIU win over Greenville College Wednesday at Abe Martin Field. The win moved the Salukis' record to 36-7 and dropped Greenville to 15-7.

The Salukis used four pitchers against the Panthers with Robin Derry getting his fifth win of the season. Jeff Lawless took the loss for Greenville.

Rob Klass started strong for the Salukis, but gave up two runs in the fourth and single run in the fifth as the Salukis fell behind 3-1. SIU scored its first run when Shartzler raced home from third on Claude Crockett's grounder.

After Jim Bokelmann took over on the mound for SIU in the sixth, SIU pulled to within a run when Crockett scored from third on Howie Mitchell's fielder's choice.

With Greenville leading 3-2 in the eighth, Bokelmann got into trouble. Designated hitter Dale Kelly led off the inning with a single and was sacrificed to second. After a walk to Kevin Hicks, Kelly tagged and took third on Dennis Goad's fly to John Hoscheidt in center.

With two on and two out, Rex Bennett lined a double to deep left-center, scoring two and giving Greenville a 5-2 lead. Bill Dunning relieved Bokelmann on the mound.

Going into the eighth, the Salukis had collected only five hits, all of them singles. Stan Mann and Jim Locascio drew one-out walks to begin an SIU rally. Crockett slammed a double just out of the reach of diving Panther rightfielder Anthony Hubbard to score Mann from second. Locascio took third on the play.

Frank Hunsaker's fielders choice and Mitchell's fly to center scored Locascio and Crockett to tie the game at five going into the ninth.

Bill Dunning and Derry combined to strike out the side against Greenville in the top of the inning.

After Mike Wilbins struck out, centerfielder John Hoscheidt drew a walk off reliever Lawless. Then Shartzler, who had gone one for four up to that point, bombed a high fastball over the leftfield fence, scoring Hoscheidt in front of him for the win.

The Salukis will travel to Cincinnati for a single game Friday and a twin bill Saturday.

San Francisco relief pitcher content to be known as Billie Jean's brother

By Fred Rothenberg
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If they ever invent a sport teaming the talents of a male baseball pitcher and a female tennis player, the Moffitt family will clean up.

But until then, Billie Jean King will have to be known as the "queen of women's tennis" and Randy Moffitt will have to be known as...her brother.

"It doesn't bother me a bit," says Moffitt, the ace of the San Francisco Giants' relief corps who must play second fiddle to one of the decade's best tennis players. "It gets me a lot of publicity."

At the age of 12, Moffitt decided there wasn't enough time to play both competitive tennis and baseball so he picked the hard ball over the fuzzy one.

His heroes were the Los Angeles Dodgers, not the Bobby Riggs set, and besides, peer pressure can be pretty tough on a 12-year-old.

"My friends would tease me about playing tennis so I decided: 'Who needed this?'" the good-looking, quick-smiling Moffitt says. "I was a pretty good tennis player, but I liked baseball more."

Now at the age of 25, Moffitt has no desire to take on his sister at her game. An old codger named Bobby Riggs should take note.

Riggs, of course, is the "male chauvanist pig" whom Ms. King sliced into little pieces of sausage in the fabled battle of the sexes last year.

Moffitt remembers wishing his sister luck by telephone before the match and hearing her say: "It's the most important match of my life. This is it. This is No. 1."

Billie Jean wasn't the only member of the family to clean up on the match. "Boy, I loved watching that match,"

Celtics eye sixth game with caution

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Home court advantage or not, the Boston Celtics are taking nothing for granted.

The Celtics, with Dave Cowens and John Havlicek each scoring 28 points, beat the Milwaukee Bucks 96-87 here Tuesday night for a 3-2 lead in the National Basketball Association championship playoffs. They can clinch their first title since 1969 by winning in Boston Friday night.

"It's a strange, strange series," said Boston guard Jo Jo White. "There's just no such thing as a home court advantage. But make no mistake. We're glad to be going back to Boston."

Visiting teams have won three of five games in the series so far, a fact of some consolation to Bucks' Coach Larry Costello.

"I like to think in my own mind that we will be back in Milwaukee to play on Sunday," Costello said. "I hope it's in the players' minds, too. You can't expect to have two performances as bad back-to-back in playoff competition."

A Bucks' victory Friday would return the series here for the deciding game Sunday.

The Bucks appeared to have shifted momentum their way with a 97-89 victory last Sunday in Boston. In that game, they neutralized Boston's pressure defense by starting 6-foot-7 backup forward Mickey Davis at guard, creating a height mismatch in the backcourt. Davis frequently took the 6-3 White to the baseline and shot over him for 15 points.

There had been speculation the Celtics would adjust by switching the 6-5 Havlicek from forward to play Davis at guard. But White again was matched with Davis Tuesday night and held him to seven points.

Won 71, lost 77

NEW YORK (AP)—In his 11 years as football coach of the New York Jets, Weeb Ewbank's teams won 71 games, lost 77 and tied 6. His 20-year coaching record is 134 wins, 129 setbacks and 6 ties. Prior to coaching the Jets, Ewbank coached the Baltimore Colts for nine seasons.

Ewbank recently retired as coach and moved up a vice president of the team. The Jets will now be coached by Ewbank's son-in-law, Charlie Winner.

Blancas, Mahaffey favored in Houston golf tournament

HOUSTON (AP)—Home-town heroes Homero Blancas and John Mahaffey and defending champion Bruce Crampton, an Australian now living in Dallas, are favored in the $150,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament.

A relatively small field of the famous is included in the 144 pros-one-quarter of them from Texas—who begin play Thursday on the 6,905-yard, par-72 Quail Valley Country Club course.

Because so many of the game's top names are missing, the purse for the four days' play was whittled down $55,000 from a year ago when it was one of the richest stops on the tour.

This event immediately precedes the Colonial National at Fort Worth, the first of the newly designated tournaments in which leading players are required to compete.

Since that tournament is a must, many of the top players are skipping the Houston stop to rest or tend to business. Among them are Johnny Miller, Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, Masters champion Gary Player of South Africa and Buddy Allin, winner of last week's Byron Nelson Classic.
