Senator pans bill to elect Board

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

A state senator from Edwardsville has questioned the reasoning behind a bill to have the Board of Trustees elected rather than appointed by the governor.

"They introduced a bill to get people off their backs," Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, said.

Bruce Richmond, D-Murphysboro, said the bill doesn't have much chance of being voted on by the House.

He said that whether the bill will be voted on still is being considered by a committee "and it probably will die there."

The bill was introduced by Rep. James McPike, D-Alton, after he was presented with a petition signed by 1,600 people who felt the board is not responsive to their needs.

However, McPike said, "We are entitled in this state to approach our Legislature and have bills introduced."

He said he told the people who presented him with the petition that the bill had a very small chance of getting passed.

Vadalabene said, "Heaven forbid it comes over here (to the state senate). We'll do everything we can to kill it."

He said having trustees elected "is not the way to go." He said the current board is "outstanding" and that it would not be improved by changing the way it is chosen.

"I'm annoyed by the way it's being handled. I've never introduced a bill to see it die. We've got enough up here," Vadalabene said.

McPike said the bill should have been introduced.

"If we only presented bills that the governor is going to sign, then we might as well let the governor tell us what to do," McPike said.

Richmond said the bill could be effective by "presenting the discontent to the current board," even if it never is

Bill for IPIRG fee prompts dispute

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

A bill supporting the Illinois Public Research Interest Group, which the Undergraduate Student Government approved in January, should be rescinded, says an East Side senator.

Rod Hughes, an East Side senator, said that nine new senators were in attendance for the first time and three others were proxies representing senators on when the bill was passed. Hughes said he will make a motion to reconsider the IPIRG proposal at tonight's senate meeting.

The bill endorsed the establishment of an IPIRG on campus and the funding of IPIRG through a $3 per-student per-semester waivable fee.

Hughes said the vote was not accurate because many senators did not hear both sides of the issue. If the vote was accurate, it won't change in a recount, he said.

Trudy Hale, an IPIRG representative and graduate student in political science, disagreed with Hughes' reason for wanting to rescind the bill. The IPIRG issue took three senate meetings before it was passed, she said.

Hughes said that some negative information on IPIRG was not presented before the vote on the bill. Hughes, who voted for the bill, said he has changed his mind on the IPIRG after seeing a letter from a University attorney questioning the legality of the $3 support fee.

According to a letter from Denise Gale of the University Legal Counsel to President John C. Guyon dated Aug. 7, 1987, "The pivotal legal flaw

Mock earthquake drill proves relief can arrive in 12 hours

By Phyllis Coon
and Edward Rahe
Staff Writer

Earthquake! The ground shakes and Brush Towers and Neely Hall begin to sway. A moment later, the ledges around the buildings smash to the ground. In the aftermath, thousands of people are in need of medical attention.

An earthquake of that magnitude hasn't happened in Southern Illinois in recent years. But a mock earthquake Tuesday proved that medical personnel can be transported from Springfield to a Carbondale location to aid in the stabilization and evacuation of earthquake victims in the first 12 hours after the disaster.

The first 12 hours are considered to be a critical time for patients who are in need of emergency medical treatment. Both state and federal government agencies can take from 24 to 72 hours to respond with support services.

The earthquake drill was coordinated by the SIU School of Medicine along with the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency and The Illinois Army National Guard.

The drill was the first in the area to use state-level agencies, including the ESDA in Springfield.

The mock earthquake began with on-the-site drills for the Jackson County Ambulance Service and Memorial Hospital of Carbondale.

Cathy Odum, emergency department supervisor at Memorial Hospital of Carbondale, said the hospital personnel worked under the presumption that communications systems and electrical systems would be interrupted.

She said the hospital used runners to send messages within the hospital and a ham radio operator provided outside communications with ESDA.

"We took the drill for what it was — a learning experience," Roy Stephens, of the Jackson County Ambulance Service, said. "Of all the mock disasters I've been to, this one has the best coordination and flow of medical information and personnel."

Dukakis wins Indiana, Ohio

By United Press International

Michael Dukakis racked up victories Tuesday in the Ohio and Indiana Democratic presidential primaries while Jesse Jackson won the District of Columbia hands-down. Vice President George Bush locked up the GOP nomination.

With 26 percent of the Ohio vote counted, Dukakis had 65 percent to 23 percent for Jackson. Bush had 80 percent. His closest competitor was Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, who withdrew from the race in April but had 13 percent. Former television evangelist Pat Robertson, who has all but pulled out of the GOP race, had 7 percent.

With 45 percent of the Indiana vote counted, Dukakis had 66 percent and Jackson 27 percent. Bush had 84 percent and Dole 10 percent.

In the District of Columbia, with 15 percent of the vote counted, Jackson had 76.9 percent and Dukakis had 20.8. Bush had 88.7 percent and Dole had 6.5 percent.

The elections were the last major contests until the primary season ends with elections in California and New Jersey June 7.

Blind students' college days drag on

Editor's note: This is the first of three articles on services for blind and visually impaired students at SIU-C.

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer

Being a college student is tough. But being a blind college student is even tougher. Just ask James Skinner and Earl Czajkowski. Both are blind and have been pursuing their bachelor's degrees for more than 10 years.

Just ask Erin Ward, a blind graduate student in social work. As an 18-year-old undergraduate at Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington, she had to develop her own disabled student program.

"If I was going to survive there (WIU), I had to provide for myself," Ward, who majored in psychology as an undergraduate, said.

Compared to WIU, SIU-C's efforts to serve its blind student population "are exceptional," Ward said.

The Disabled Student Services Office in Woody Hall room B-150 provides such support services as campus orientation and mobility, taped textbooks and readers for blind and visually handicapped students.

DSS serves all students with disabilities, including students using wheelchairs, those with learning disabilities and the hearing impaired.

Ward said she feels that DSS doesn't serve graduate students as well as undergraduate students. "I guess they figure by the time you're a grad student you should be able to do more on your own," she said.

Czajkowski, a former business student, said he needs nine hours to complete his degree. He is not enrolled this semester. He has had to take every other semester off to work on incomplete course requirements since coming to the University in the early 1970s.

But Skinner, a former radio-television student, said he has given up. "My problems with (the University) have caused

Police in Poland surround demonstrators at shipyard

GDANSK, Poland (UPI) — Police dispersed thousands of demonstrators in several cities Tuesday and surrounded the Lenin Shipyard where Solidarity founder Lech Walesa rallied striking workers with a warning that "a bloody revolution" could erupt unless economic reforms are implemented. "The tanks can roll into the shipyard but they will have to leave it," Walesa told 8,000 strikers during a rally at the Lenin Shipyard, the Baltics Sea port facility in Gdansk where the Soviet Bloc's first free trade union, now banned, was born in 1980.

Iran vows to keep attacking neutral shipping

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iran vowed Tuesday to continue its attacks on neutral shipping in the Persian Gulf despite President Reagan's order to extend U.S. Navy protection in the strategic waterway to all neutral commercial vessels. Iranian Parliament Speaker Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani justified Iran's attacks on neutral gulf shipping by saying they were only carried out against Iraq's accomplices in the war, countries that supply Iraq money, information and port facilities and that allow Iraqi warplanes to fly over their airspace for attacks on Iranian targets.

Nicaragua signs cease-fire with Indian faction

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — The Nicaraguan government announced Tuesday the signing of a definitive cease-fire with a small Indian rebel faction, but Contra and Sandinista negotiators remained at loggerheads over the date for a new round of peace talks. The official Barricada newspaper said leaders of a faction of the divided Yatama organization, a group of Miskito Indians who had joined U.S.-backed Contra rebels in a war to overthrow the Managua regime, signed a peace treaty Saturday with the government.

U.S., Cuba to take part in Angolan peace talks

LONDON (UPI) — The United States, South Africa, Cuba and Angola opened two days of peace talks Tuesday on the 13-year civil war in Angola, the first negotiations involving all four sides. Negotiations were to focus on the withdrawal of the 35,000 Cuban troops fighting in support of the Marxist government of Angola and the opposing 9,000 South African soldiers who began an offensive in the former Portuguese colony last year.

Israeli search for rebels goes across border

JERUSALEM (UPI) — About 2,000 Israeli troops backed by jet fighters and tanks surged five miles beyond their frontier buffer strip in southern Lebanon Tuesday and cordoned off villages on the second day of a massive search for Arab guerrillas. Rebels throughout southern Lebanon and Syrian forces in the Bekaa Valley went on alert as Israeli jets staged mock air raids on Palestinian refugee camps in the Lebanese port city of Sidon, Lebanese security sources said.

Rescuers find 11 children in hospital rubble

JAMMU, India (UPI) — Workers rescued 11 children trapped for more than 24 hours under the rubble of a collapsed hospital in northern India Tuesday before calling off the search for survivors of the tragedy that left at least 32 dead. "There are no more signs of life," said Kashmir State Health Minister R.S. Chiv in announcing an end to the rescue operation. More than 200 military and para military personnel worked into the night with picks, shovels and their bare hands after the collapse on Monday.

Busloads of anti-abortion protestors arrested

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 400 protesters were arrested by police and carried away from the entrance of a Queens abortion clinic Tuesday in the second day of a week-long action against legalized abortion. The arrests of 422 "Operation Rescue" demonstrators brought to 925 the number of arrests police have made during the first two days of the massive protests targeting metropolitan-area abortion clinics.

Deliberations begin in product tampering case

SEATTLE (UPI) — A federal court jury that included seven women began deliberations Tuesday to decide the fate of Stella Nickell, the first person to be tried on charges she caused death through consumer product tampering. Nickell, 44, is accused of killing her husband, Bruce, 53, with cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Excedrin to escape an unhappy, debt-ridden marriage and collect $176,000 in life insurance benefits.

Shepherd calls for upgrading BAS courses

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

Benjamin A. Shepherd said Tuesday he wants to incorporate the study of black American history and women's history into already existing general education courses.

Shepherd, acting vice president for academic affairs, said he does not favor creating separate general education courses that focus on the history of minority groups.

But Shepherd said he is confident that the University is committed to improving the Black American Studies program, but it needs to be upgraded in the right way. The material needs to be of high quality or it will only confirm prevalent stereotypes of minorities, he said.

Shepherd, 47, who is one of three candidates for the position of vice president for academic affairs, spoke at a public question and answer session.

Another important issue concerning course offerings is the summer school budget. The prime consideration is to "assess what summer program we wish to deliver,"

Benjamin Shepherd, acting vice president for academic affairs and research, speaks at the Student Center Tuesday. Shepherd is a candidate for the position on a permanent basis.

Shepherd said. The existing budget for summer school is somewhere near the level it ought to be. By looking at the which courses are needed most, some order can be brought to the summer budget, he said.

A main function of the summer budget is to provide faculty with a chance to earn more money. When the budget is "crunched" they don't have that opportunity, Shepherd said.

Core general education

courses like English 101, Math 107 and speech communication need to be a priority, even in the summer, so there will be enough sections offered to accommodate freshmen, Shepherd said.

Another program that Shepherd is concerned about is the prison program. The University may not enter into a contract with the Department of Corrections this year because instructors will have to submit to drug testing.

Without the contract, $175,000 would be cut from faculty earnings, Shepherd said.

The University must raise enough money to provide quality service and faculty Shepherd said.

In the short run, there won't be enough money to provide quality service all around, but the University shouldn't have to eliminate any programs, he said. Students can become involved in improving the quality of education through student government and by acknowledging quality teaching, Shepherd said.

The student government is a progressive one, he said. It's a tremendous resource pool that has been latent, he said.

Shepherd challenged the student government to give awards for quality teaching.

Shepherd holds a bachelor's degree in biology from Tougaloo College in Mississippi, a master's degree in biology from Atlanta University and a doctorate in zoology from Kansas State University.

He joined the SIU-C zoology department in 1969 and is a tenured professor. He was assistant dean of the Graduate School in 1975-76 and has been an associate vice president since 1979.

Council postpones decision on road project

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

The City Council won't decide before July 5 on whether to make Main Street one-way westbound and Walnut Street one-way eastbound all the way through town.

The Illinois Department of Transportation had asked the council to decide on the project, called the east-west couple, by mid-June. IDOT asked for the decision so that it could prepare a final report and environmental assessment

But Councilman Keith Tuxhorn said IDOT is rushing the council. He recommended that the council review a report on the project for at least 30 days before making a decision.

IDOT has misled the City and told it things that only were partially true, Tuxhorn said.

"We need a thorough and complete report," he said. "It's been a long time coming. We don't need to rush it (a decision). IDOT is pulling strings on a Carbonade issue. It's not an IDOT issue."

Tuxhorn made a motion for the council to postpone a decision on the east-west couple until July 19th provided the City has had at least 30 days to review IDOT's final report.

But the motion failed to get a second.

Transit must be accessible to all

THE SIU-C STUDENT body must begin showing some sensibility toward the University's disabled students, and one great place to start would be in the planning of the proposed mass transit system.

The students who are involved in planning the system — if it becomes a reality — must make the system accessible to people with disabilities. The University cannot wait until the system already is in place to try to make it accessible to people with disabilities. This must be a basic concern of the students who plan the system, not an afterthought.

Some may argue against this, saying it would cost more and the number of people with disabilities wouldn't justify the cost, but this is a very narrow and arrogant view.

THE UNIVERSITY HAS a responsibility to provide the same services to all members of the SIU-C community. By making the system accessible to people with disabilities, the University would not be providing special services to handicapped people, but rather equal services.

It also would be a good way to bring the disabled student population, which numbers more than 400 at SIU-C, into the consciousness of the rest of the student body.

Despite considerable minority activism on campus of late — headed by the protests over the downfall of the Black American Studies program — disabled students remain in the background — out of sight, out of mind. While this may not be necessarily negative, it most likely is indicative of the gap between disabled students and most of the rest of the student body.

Thumbs up, SIU-C

THE UNIVERSITY IS to be lauded for its efforts to provide services for people with disabilities. SIU-C long has been recognized as one of the nation's leading universities in accessibility to disabled students. But, instead of stopping there, SIU-C consistently goes the extra mile to assist disabled students.

A good example of the services available to SIU-C students with disabilities is a program through the Placement Center that prepares students with disabilities for the job market. Valerie Parrish of the Placement Center conducts practice interviews with disabled students and helps them prepare their resumes. Parrish also advises disabled students on helping many potential employers get over their inability to interview disabled students.

Students with disabilities then are referred to the placement counselor in their academic fields for placement along with the rest of the student body.

Students with disabilities also are given assistance in learning to live on their own after college through the SIU-C Rehabilitation Institute's Evaluation and Development Center. Basic skills for independent living and for things such as driving skuis are taught through the center.

Massive restructuring necessary to correct higher education woes

Needless to say, I agree with much of the recent Daily Egyptian editorial entitled, "Needed: 2 boards but no chancellor." That editorial, however, overlooks two key points.

First, as the chancellor has repeatedly said, his major responsibility is to serve as SIU's advocate in Springfield. That task has been handled in such sterling fashion that: (a) This year we received the smallest increase in operating budget among the four systems, and (b) Dean Keith Sanders has now been dispatched to the capital to see if he can undo the damage. Plainly, neither for that nor for any other function, do we need the costly trappings of a system.

Second, the elimination of the SIU system should be only the first stage of a two-step process. While the Carbondale campus will be immeasurably better off as a free-standing institution, that change alone would not address the fundamental problem faced by all public universities in Illinois — the absence of an effective political voice in Springfield.

To correct that weakness will require a large-scale restructuring of public higher education. This could entail two state-wide systems, as I have previously suggested, or a single, all-encompassing system, as others have previously argued.

Either one would give public higher education a much sounder political base than it currently enjoys; either one would be a far more satisfactory long-term solution to our chronic underfunding than sporadic tinkering with the income tax.

In the meantime, we can only wish Dean Sanders well in his new endeavors. We can also hope that, in equitable recognition of his chancellor-like duties, he will be granted some modest participation in the various perquisites and benefits presently provided for the chancellor and his staff.

As the Daily Egyptian has on occasion noted, there are surely enough to go around. — Albert Somit, political science professor and former SIU-C president.

Litter increases with approach of summer, use common sense and reverse this trend

I would like to bring Naomi Jackson's letter of April 26, 1988 a step closer to home.

Each Monday and Wednesday I walk from the technical buildings to Wham. The walk through the woods has been beautiful. In the winter it was a crisp walk, and as the weather improved, so did the walk.

First buds appeared on the trees and then wild flowers poked their noses through the ground. A high point was when the daffodils were in bloom. My favorite spot in the woods was a wooden bridge with clumps of bright yellow daffodils at the end. Now some wild flowers are in bloom and the pink and white Dogwoods are beautiful.

However, as the days have become nicer and it is enjoyable to linger along the path, I notice something new appearing. Today, I see a 7-Up can. A few feet away I see a Coke can, a beer can and a cigarette pack. At the end of the wooden bridge, the daffodils have been replaced with a potato chip bag.

On the bridge is a styrofoam cup half full of coffee. In another area, I see tissues and cigarette butts mixed in with purple and white violets. A page from a newspaper is covering the white blooms of the May Apples. A brown grocery bag has blown against the trunk of the Dogwood tree.

The campus at SIU-C is beautiful. If for no other reason than aesthetics, we should be proud to keep it that way. But ecology also is important. Keeping the environment healthy keeps its inhabitants healthy. We need to start here, in our daily lives, in an effort to improve the environment for future generations. — Shirley M. Beaver, graduate student, health education.

me emotional stress. I wouldn't think of re-entering now," he said.

Skinner said he had been told by faculty in the radio-television department that he shouldn't be in that particular field.

Carla Hayes, coordinator of Disabled Student Services, said her office encourages academic advisors and faculty to tell disabled students to be realistic when choosing a career.

"We aren't saying you shouldn't get in (a certain) field, but we are saying it's going to be difficult," Hayes said.

Hayes, who has post-polio and spends much of her time in a wheelchair, said a disabled person must "be very creative about how to cope with their disability." But, she added, "It's important to think realistically about career goals."

Skinner and Czajkowski blame the University for their troubles in attaining a degree.

"There is no one in this University who knows how to relate with the blind," Skinner said. He pointed to the lack of visually impaired staff members at DSS as an example.

Hayes disagreed. DSS workers are trained to work with all disabilities. "No one on the staff is deaf or hearing impaired either," she said.

Czajkowski went as far as filing a lawsuit against the University in 1987. He contends that the University is discriminating against its disabled student population by not providing adequate ser-VICES. An investigation by the U.S. Department of Education's office for civil rights found no wrongdoing by the University, Czajkowski said.

Felicia Booker, a senior in computer science, said she had no complaints about the services provided by DSS. But some facilities for the blind and visually impaired in the Faner Hall computer laboratory are inadequate, Booker said.

The braille computer terminal in the Faner Hall computer lab is adequate for access to the University mainframe, Booker said. The mainframe is a large central computer located in the Wham building that houses the computing operations for much of the University.

Braille is the system of printing and writing for the blind, in which characters are formed by patterns of raised dots and are "read" by feeling the dots.

But some of Booker's classes require the use of a personal computer. The Faner Hall lab doesn't have a personal computer that blind and visually impaired students can use, she said.

So Booker had to purchase her own personal computer to get through the classes.

"I didn't like having to buy the computer, although it was a good investment," Booker said. "I would have been up a creek without a paddle if I hadn't bought it," she said.

Hayes said DSS is looking into purchasing a personal computer, but it is unsure whether the office can obtain funds for the purchase. As with all other University offices and departments, DSS is under tight budget constraints.

DSS "exhausts all resources" to find proper materials for the disabled, Hayes said. "All our services are optional," Hayes said. "We rely on students to tell us about their needs."

Sue Fehrenbacher, a senior in social work who is blind, said she had no complaints about DSS. She said she wanted a tandem bicycle in order to keep active and told Hayes about her needs.

DSS purchased an 18-speed Quad-Butter tandem for disabled students to use, Fehrenbacher said. The bicycle is stored at the Recreation Center.

"I have no gripe with the University," Fehrenbacher, a student worker at the Recreation Center, said. "The school has been good to me."

Reggie Beasley, a senior in social work who is blind, said DSS makes great efforts to make sure the campus is accessible to the disabled.

The elevator in the Technology Building was closing too quickly on blind students and students in wheelchairs, Beasley said. Hayes "got right on the elevator problem," he said.

However, Beasley said he wished there was a discussion or support group so blind students could get together and discuss their problems, something that currently does not exist.

in this proposal (IPIRG) is that the proposed $3 "waivable fee" for the support of IPIRG had none of the necessary characteristics of a true student fee."

Gale wrote that student fees are assessed to support student programs, not independent organizations.

"It is simply not legally possible for the University to collect monies as student fees but assume no responsibility, accountability or ownership control over these monies," she wrote.

IPIRG representatives made a lengthy presentation to the Undergraduate Student Organization in November and the bill was tabled in December until more information could be provided. The USO changed its name to the Undergraduate Student Government last month.

"USO debated the IPIRG bill as all important student issues should be debated," Hale said. Both sides were covered and IPIRG representatives talked with many of the new senators several times to inform them on the issue, she said.

Hale said she even spoke to Hughes about the issue, once in September and again in November.

"If he thinks it was hastily decided, why hasn't someone brought it to the attention of the IPIRG representatives before now?" she said.

Hale said that if the new senators were not informed enough to vote on the IPIRG bill then all other bills passed that night should be reconsidered. Hughes' argument is an insult to the senators, she said.

Hughes said the fact that 10,000 students signed a petition supporting IPIRG is not reason enough to establish one on campus. Many of the people who signed the petitions probably didn't know what an IPIRG was, he said.

Hale called Hughes' assessment an insult to students. "I won't sign just anything and I don't think other students will either," she said.

IPIRG trained people on how to petition, Hale said. They were told to make sure that students knew what IPIRG was before signing, she said. The petition also clearly stated the objectives of IPIRG, she said.

Major candidates in the Stand and Alliance parties also supported IPIRG. These parties finished first and second in the student election, she said. "I think that says something."

Records of who the victims were and what their injuries were helped in the timely aid and transportation of victims, he said.

Stephens worked with the treating and transferring of victims from the Recreation Center to Memorial Hospital of Carbondale.

"I hope I don't have to go through this experience," Tyrene Parks, a victim who was transported to the hospital, said. Parks was part of the health occupations class from Murphysboro High School who volunteered to serve as victims.

"I didn't realize how much of a problem a head trauma was and all the trouble the rescue services have moving all the people," Parks said. "It takes a long time when you are waiting to be helped."

At about 10 a.m. victims were taken to the casualty collection area in the baseball field area from the Recreation Center.

In a corner of the critical care tent, Tina Robinson, sophomore at Murphysboro High School, lay on a cot with her right foot bound in a "blood soaked" bandage.

"I have a crushed foot," Robinson said. "I'm enjoying the experience. I learned how to wrap and dress a foot."

There were about 50 medical personnel at the site.

A plan of action will be written from the drill, Moy said.

voted on. Harris Rowe, chairman of the Board of Trustees, said having trustees elected would "clutter up the ballot." He said most voters would not know whom they were voting for.

Chancellor Lawrence Pettit also said he opposes having trustees elected.

Sen. Glenn Poshard, D-Carterville, said he has not read the bill but he generally prefers to have public officers elected rather than appointed.

"I realize there may be exceptions to that," he said.

Report finds arts in jeopardy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American schools are producing culturally illiterate students who lack creativity and important communication skills, the National Endowment for the Arts warned Tuesday.

In a two-year study, "Toward Civilization," the endowment bluntly concluded that "basic arts education does not exist in the United States today."

Arts education, the report said, has been limited generally to instruction in music, drawing, painting and crafts, but a comprehensive school program should include courses on civilization, performing arts and writing. "We have found a gap between commitment and resources for arts education and the actual practice of arts education in classrooms," said endowment Chairman Frank Hodsoll.

"Resources are being provided, but they are not being used to give opportunities for all, or even most, students to become culturally literate."

The report said a key obstacle to arts education is the widespread belief that schools should prepare students for the workforce and knowledge should be tied to marketable skills.

"To sum up, the arts are in triple jeopardy," it said. "They are not viewed as serious; knowledge is not viewed as a prime educational objective; and those who determine school curricula do not agree on what arts education is."

Citing various statistics, the report said 29 states have adopted high school graduation requirements that include the arts but standards often are vague and sometimes are listed as alternatives to other requirements.

Warhol's art, trinkets sell for $25 million

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 10-day auction of pop artist Andy Warhol's vast collection of trinkets and treasures ended Tuesday with a total of more than $25 million, two-thirds more than the pre-sale evaluation of art experts.

The sale of 3,436 lots amounting to more than 10,000 individual items attracted dealers and collectors from Europe, Japan and all over the United States to Sotheby's auction gallery along with thousands of ordinary people who wanted to own something that had been possessed by Warhol, who died last year.

Niney-eight percent of the Warhol items, ranging from cheap plastic wrist watches and dime store cookie jars to rare American Indian artifacts and masterpieces of Art Deco furniture, were sold. Only 78 lots failed to get the reserve bid set before the sale and reverted to the Warhol estate.

A spokesman for Sotheby's said the gallery's experts had based their pre-sale evaluation of the Warhol collection of $10 million to $15 million on current market value alone and had not attempted to assess the extra value accrued to it because it had been owned by one of the most public figures in modern art.

Proceeds of the sale will go to the Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts, according to the terms of Warhol's will. When the sale of his real estate, his own paintings retained by the estate, and his magazine, Interview, are added to this, the foundation is expected to have about $40 million in capital.

"Those of us connected with the foundation are delighted with the results of the sale," said Fred Hughes, foundation president and estate executor. "Andy and I began discussion the foundation in a more limited form as far back as 1977, so it is particularly gratifying to see the foundation at a stage where it can begin to work. We will name the first beneficiaries of the foundation shortly."

The Tuesday morning sale completed the disposal of Warhol's important holdings of contemporary paintings, sculpture and drawings.

Artist 'getting the shaft'

Noted Washington artist Val Lewton has been chosen to create a giant outdoor mural in the nation's capital as part of the DC ARTWORKS 1988 mural project.

Lewton's project will cover the entire side of an above-ground highway tunnel air shaft downtown. "This certainly puts a new light on the old phrase about getting the shaft," said Lewton. "This is a really significant commission for any visual artist. The wall is 60 feet tall and 110 feet high. The air shaft is like having Stonehenge in the middle of the city."

The District of Columbia's Commission on the Arts and Humanities is funding the $10,500 grant for the project. Lewton said he expects the mural will be finished by the end of September.

Melanie L. Chartier, graduate student in art, will show her master's degree thesis work at the University Museum from today until May 11. The exhibit also will showcase the work of master's degree students, Jonathon B. Cain and Monty J. Helm.

Museum to show student's work

Three master's degree thesis exhibits by students in the School of Art will open today at the University Museum in Faner Hall.

Melanie L. Chartier will display large drawings on paper done with black pastel. She is a member of the Bierstadt Art Society in New Bedford, Mass. After graduation in May, Chartier plans to go to the Northeast to establish her career as an artist.

Jonathon B. Cain will exhibit his glass work. He manipulates blown glass to emphasize its optical properties. Cain's work has been in group shows at galleries in Chicago, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C.

Monty J. Helm will exhibit large to grand scale oil paintings.

Helm was recognized by Kentucky's Commissioner for the Department of Arts in 1984 as one of the state's most promising young artists. He was awarded $1,500 for one of his oil paintings at the Mid States Art Exhibition held in Indiana.

A public reception for the exhibits is scheduled from 6 to 8 p.m. today at the museum.

The museum is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sundays. Admission is free.

Man lives 14 days in tiny boat

CAPE MAY, N.J. (UPI) — A man whose tiny rubber boat wandered more than 650 miles off course during a 14-day ordeal in the Atlantic Ocean said Tuesday he survived on rainwater and "tiny shrimp and crabs plucked from floating seaweed.

Kenneth Maffei, 28, of Santa Cruz, Calif., said he set out April 12 from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in a small inflatable Sears raft to study plant life on offshore islands belonging to the Bahamas. He was rescued by an oil tanker Thursday an estimated 650 to 700 miles from his destination.

"I felt I would make it," Maffei said. "I had to. I didn't want to think any other way."

Massei was picked up by the tanker Rich Duchess about 90 miles off Cape Hatteras, N.C., where he had been swept by the northward-flowing Gulf Stream. The tanker notified the Coast Guard in Cape May on Monday after anchoring off Bowers Beach, Del., Chief Petty Officer Fred Hoatlin said.

A helicopter then took Maffei to Burdette Tomlin Memorial Hospital in Cape May Court House, where he was in stable condition Tuesday with severe sunburn.

Maffei, a construction worker, said he had no boating experience other than a few informal classes before he set out.

Passenger: Ill-fated plane's wall buckled

KAHULUI, Hawaii (UPI) — The wall of a jet that ripped open at 24,000 feet, sucking a stewardess to her death and leaving passengers staring at blue sky, buckled on a flight a few hours before, a woman on the earlier flight said Tuesday.

Aloha Airlines Flight 243 was traveling at 330 mph when an 18-foot chunk of the top of the fuselage tore off and blew away late Thursday. The pilot, incredibly, landed the craft at Kahului airport on the island of Maui.

Sixty-one of the 95 passengers and crew were injured. Seven remained hospitalized, all in satisfactory condition.

Julie Kovach, of Stratford, Conn., who was in Hawaii on her honeymoon with her husband, Richard, said she flew in the same airplane from the island of Kauai to Honolulu a few hours before the mishap.

During the takeoff, "the side of the plane was going in and out. It was buckling, right under the window," Kovach told The Bridgeport (Conn.) Post.

"My arm was on the arm rest and up against the wall and all of the sudden my arm started slipping off, down in between the wall," Kovach said. "I don't fly much. I thought maybe that happens on takeoff."

Kovach was sitting in a window seat in the section that later ripped away on a flight later that day, she said.

The couple boarded a flight to New York after their flight from Kauai and did not hear about the accident until they returned home Friday and saw the name "Queen Liliuokalani" painted on the nose of the damaged plane.

Federal investigators said Kovach's statement was new information and could help them. Michael Benson, a spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board, said "it does not sound normal" for a wall to sway.

NTSB member Joseph Nall said testing of the plane was about half completed, and the investigation would shift to Honolulu to focus on records and tests of other Aloha aircraft.

He said the probe showed the need for a re-evaluation of inspection standards and a new look at the relationship between metal fatigue and heavy use.

"I hope that this accident will have the constructive good that it will alert industry, the FAA, the airlines, the manufacturers ... to re-evaluate the whole process of standards of inspection techniques and practices," Nall said.

The plane had made nearly 90,000 takeoffs and landings in 19 years, officials said. The plane is pressurized and depressurized for each takeoff and landing, putting a strain on the metal and fasteners.

Investigators found tiny cracks in 30 more rivets along two critical parts of the Boeing 737-200 that lost a chunk of fuselage in the accident, Nall said.

Tiny cracks already had been discovered around six rivets on a support member.

Freight cars derail, spill chemicals and toxic fumes

ROODHOUSE, Ill. (UPI) — Two freight train cars derailed on the edge of town Tuesday, spilling liquid sulfuric acid and ammonium nitrate fertilizer and sending toxic fumes into the air. At least 1,000 people were evacuated.

There were no injuries in the derailment, which occurred about 8:40 a.m. CDT on the southwest edge of Roodhouse, a Greene County town of about 2,400 people about 56 miles northeast of St. Louis, said John Plunk, chief of operations for the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency. Plunk said another derailment involving five cars of the same railroad — the Chicago, Missouri & Western Railroad — occurred Dec. 29, apparently in the same general area.

In that incident, sulfuric acid was among the train's cargo but no spillage occurred. There also were some evacuations as a precautionary measure.

The cause of the latest derailment was not known.

Crews sent in Tuesday to clean up the spill were hampered for a time by rain-showers. Dikes were erected to keep the sulfuric acid contained, but the rain added to the pollution danger through runoff, Plunk said.

He said those evacuated would not be allowed back in the area until sometime Tuesday evening at the earliest.

About 400 area residents and 300 students at the Roodhouse Junior High School were evacuated immediately following the derailment and taken to a school in White Hall, about 4 miles to the south.

The evacuation area later was expanded to a total of about 700 residents, plus the 300 students, after southeast winds of 10 to 15 mph blew the sulfuric acid fumes over the town, Plunk said.

"Everything is in control," said Sgt. Harold Walker of the Illinois State Police. "I do not know when they will be able to return."

A tanker car containing sulfuric acid leaked from the top dome used for loading. The leak was stopped shortly after noon, and crews worked to neutralize about 550 gallons of the chemical that leaked onto the ground.

The second car, a hopper car, spilled about 1,000 pounds of ammonium nitrate, described by Plunk as a highly reactive fertilizer that generates great heat when mixed with water or any number of other substances.

Gang movie 'Colors' dominates box office

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Colors," the street gang drama that was supposed to touch off real-life gang violence, instead ignited the box office last week to become the most popular movie in North America.

Starring Robert Duvall and Sean Penn as a couple of Los Angeles cops bent on ending the city's gang wars, "Colors" failed to stir real street hoodlums into a predicted violent binge.

By increasing its play dates from 480 theaters to 1,372, the controversial film grossed $6.5 million last week.

In three weeks "Colors" has grossed a total of $18.7 million and last week displaced "Beetlejuice" — which had been No. 1 for a month — as king of the hill.

"Beetlejuice," starring Michael Keaton as a diabolical exorcist from another plane, was No. 2 with a take of $5 million on 1,582 theaters.

No. 3 was "Casual Sex?" starring Lea Thompson and Victoria Jackson as a pair of vacationing cuties swamped by would-be lovers. It earned $2.4 million on 1,265 screens for a two-week total of $7.3 million.

The violent chop-sockie "Above the Law," featuring manufactured "star" Steven Seagal, was No. 4 with a gross of $2.3 million in 852 theaters. "Biloxi Blues," starring Matthew Broderick playing Neil Simon as a youthful Army recruit, grossed $2.1 million. It was No. 5 and after six weeks in release.

Expectations were high last week for "Sunset," starring Bruce Willis as oldtime movie cowboy Tom Mix and James Garner as Wyatt Earp. But "Sunset" was No. 6 in its debut week with a gross of only $2 million.

The overall box-office gross in North America last week was $78 million, considerably ahead of the same period last year, $66.5 million.

All theaters in the United States and Canada have brought in $1.2 billion so far in 1987 compared to $1.1 billion in 1987.

The top 10, last week's gross, total gross, weeks in release:

- "Colors," $6.5 million, $18.7 million, 3 weeks.
- "Beetlejuice," $5 million, $46.7 million, 5 weeks.
- "Casual Sex?," $2.4 million, $7.3 million, 2 weeks.
- "Above the Law," $2.3 million, $11.6 million, 4 weeks.
- "Biloxi Blues," $2.1 million, $34.2 million, 6 weeks.
- "Sunset," $2 million, 1 week.
- "Bloodsport," $1.9 million, $6.4 million, 11 weeks.
- "Critters 2," $1.8 million, 1 week.
- "The Last Emperor," $1.7 million, $35.6 million, 24 weeks.
- "Moonstruck," $1.5 million, $69.1 million, 16 weeks.

'Magnum' bows out in top spot

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS used "Magnum" force to win the ratings race last week, as the final, two-hour chapter of "Magnum, P.I." was the most watched show by a wide margin, it was reported Tuesday.

CBS estimates that 51 million people viewed an average minute of Magnum's last stand, which gave CBS the week, the Sunday movie competition and an early lead in the Maysweeps.

The big audience was a personal triumph for Tom Selleck as well. "The Cosby Show," whose introduction opposite "Magnum" led to "Magnum's" ratings decline, finished third for the week.

As for the Sunday movie competition — no contest. "Magnum" came in with a 32 rating and a 48 share. The first of ABC's two-parter, "Onassis: The Richest Man in the World," came in a poor 37th in the ratings, with a 12.1 rating and an 18 share. NBC ran a theatrical movie, "Mad Max: Beyond Thunderdome," which was 57th with a 9.2 rating and a 14 share.

For the week ending May 1, CBS won with a 13.9 rating and a 24 share. NBC was second with a 13.4 rating and a 23 share, while ABC was third with a 12.1 rating and a 20 share.

CBS also leads in the May sweeps, but it is too early for the numbers to be significant. You can tell it's sweeps time — the week before last the top five shows were reruns. Last week there were none in the top 10. The week ending April 24, there were 42 reruns on a list of 74 shows. The week ending May 1 there were 17 reruns on a list of 72 shows.

The good news for ABC was the reception of its two premiering series. "Just the Ten of Us" was in seventh place. The two-hour "China Beach" premiere ranked 12th, while the series in its regular time slot came in 21st.

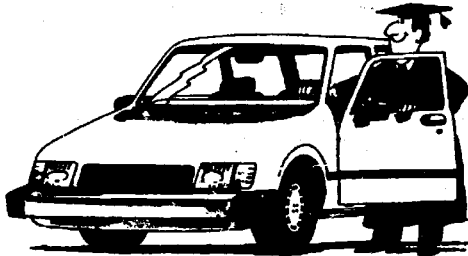

Among news magazines and specials, "60 Minutes," in eighth place, as usual was by far the winner. In 47th place was CBS' "48 Hours," ABC's "20-20" right behind in 48th. Connie Chung's NBC special, "Stressed to Kill," was 52nd, while "West 57th" on CBS was 61st.

While CBS won the week in entertainment, ABC took top honors in news.

Dedication of Vietnam memorial fulfills veterans' 4-year dream

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The 4-year-old dream of a group of Vietnam War veterans to build a memorial to their Illinois comrades who served and died in the conflict will be fulfilled this weekend.

Thousands of veterans, along with their friends and family, are expected to attend weekend dedication ceremonies for the Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

Organizers expect as many as 30,000 people to attend the three days of dedication ceremonies, which will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday with the lighting of 2,956 candles to honor the Illinois soldiers dead or missing in the war.

At 10 a.m. Saturday a parade, featuring more than 70 units, will march from Lanphier High School to the memorial site in Springfield's Oak Ridge Cemetery, and at 12:30 p.m., dedication and wreath-laying ceremonies will be held at the memorial, with Gov. James R. Thompson delivering an address.

The eternal flame that will burn atop the memorial will be lighted during ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The dedication will conclude with a non-denominational worship service at 10 a.m. Sunday at the memorial.

The memorial was conceived by two Illinois veterans, Michael Ferguson and Richard Stahl, as they returned from dedication of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. Stahl was killed in an auto accident before the memorial's first fund-raiser was conducted on July 4, 1984.

The Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund was formed in 1984 by a handful of veterans to raise funds and oversee design and construction of the memorial for the 2,956 dead and missing, the 17,000 wounded and the 114,000 Illinois men and women who served in the war.

Fund raising for the memorial, targeted at $1.25 million, started as down-to-earth as fund raising gets — through bake sales, modest shindigs, veterans marches and small personal contributions.

"It's been quite a struggle,"

National memorial defaced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Angry veterans Tuesday compared the carving of a swastika-like symbol across names of war dead in the Vietnam Veterans Memorial to defacing a religious shrine, and one official said an entire panel of 600 names might have to be removed to repair the damage.

"Everybody's outraged and absolutely shocked and angry," said Jan Scruggs, president of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund. "The memorial is like a shrine. It's a lot like a religious object. It's as if somebody would go into the Vatican in Rome or a synagogue in Jerusalem and do something like that."

The faint scratches in the memorial's black granite face are about a foot high, starting near the base of panel 15 and running through several names.

In addition to a rough swastika-like scrawl in the highly polished granite, a series of about a dozen random scratches also appear.

"It's not immediately visible to the eye, that's one fortunate aspect of it," said National Park Service spokeswoman Sandra Alley. "I don't know whether it was a deliberate attempt to make a swastika or not. I like to think that maybe it was a young person who didn't know what the meaning of it was." Scruggs said the damage apparently was done by a pen knife or car key, and offered $1,000 from his own pocket to anyone who could identify the vandal.

"I think it will be well worth it," said Scruggs. "I really would like to catch this fellow and have a little talk with him privately."

The vandalism is thought to have occurred about a month ago and was discovered by Park Ranger John Haman.

Officials said stone specialists were inspecting the panel, but it would probably not be known for about 10 days what steps will be needed to repair the damage.

Scruggs said the repairs could run anywhere from a simple heavy buffing of the stone to actually replacing the entire panel, which carries the names of about 600 war dead.

If the panel needs to be replaced, it would cost up to $70,000, Scruggs said.

"If I ever get my hands on the guy that did it — well, God help him. He'll be terminated with extreme prejudice," said retired Army Sgt. Maj Chuck Batley, inspecting the wall that contains the names of more than 58,000 U.S. servicemen who died in the Vietnam war.

Jim Mathes, treasurer of the memorial fund, said. "The first fund-raisers were guys in taverns and hog roasts. There were times when we wondered if it would ever come together."

The veterans received a significant boost when the state donated $485,000 in matching funds for the memorial project. The contribution temporarily was jeopardized in February 1987 when a former fund-raiser charged the group was bungling its money-raising efforts because of inefficiency and poor organization.

A legislative panel looked into the charges and decided the veterans group was qualified to receive the matching funds.

Last November, the state pushed fund-raising efforts over the top by assuming control and maintenance responsibilities for the memorial upon its completion, allowing the veterans to recover a $200,000 maintenance deposit paid to Oak Ridge Cemetery.

Laos, which did not sign the Paris peace accords between Vietnam and the United States, returned no U.S. prisoners of war, and Lao officials insist that no American prisoners are being held in Laos.

"It will be just like an archeological excavation. They will be digging down through layers of dirt and sifting the debris with screens," Pelzing said.

He said the U.S. team led by Lt. Col. Joe Harvey, commander of the Joint Casualty Resolution Center, will work with a Lao team from the defense and foreign ministries as in two previous excavations in 1985 and 1986.

Cooperation disintegrated after the 1986 dig when Lao officials complained the United States was doing nothing in return for Lao help on MIAs.

Late last year, however, the two countries reached a new agreement under which the United States offered to help Laos with its humanitarian problems.

Since then, the United States has provided emergency rice through the United Nations and allowed a prefabricated hospital and medicine to be donated by a private American charity.

"We appreciate the cooperation of the Lao government and hope it will lead to further joint efforts to resolve this issue of Americans missing or unaccounted for in Laos from the Indochina War," Pelzing said.

U.S. military team flies to Laos to dig for remains of two MIAs

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — A 15-member U.S. military team flew to Laos Tuesday to begin digging for the remains of two American airmen missing in action for more than 22 years, U.S. officials said.

The excavation is the first U.S.-Lao joint effort since 1986 to find some of the 549 Americans missing in action and still unaccounted for in Laos.

Two C-130 military transport planes with the 15-member team aboard left Bangkok Tuesday morning for a site in southern Laos between northeastern Thailand and central Vietnam, a U.S. Embassy official said.

The official said the site is where an OV-1A reconnaissance plane crashed on March 15, 1966.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Ross Pelzing said officials already have notified the families the two airmen who were flying the plane when it crashed.

Natural childbirth OK after Caesarean-study

BOSTON (UPI)—Even many women who have had two Caesarean sections can give birth to their next child without the surgery, providing more evidence that many of the operations are unnecessary, a researcher said Tuesday.

"The policy of twice a Caesarean, always a Caesarean ought to be abandoned," Dr. Jeffrey P. Phelan, of the University of Southern California School of Medicine in Los Angeles, said.

In the largest study of its kind, Phelan compared two groups of about 500 women each who had had two previous Caesareans each and either underwent another Caesarean or went through labor to deliver naturally.

He found that about 70 percent of the women who were given the option of labor were able to give birth that way without causing any additional complications to the mother or child.

"I was trained that once you had a Caesarean, you always had a Caesarean," Phelan, during a meeting of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, said. "But once you begin to look at it you find the risk of harm is not as great as you expect it to be."

Caesarean sections involve surgically removing the baby from the womb through an incision in the abdomen instead of delivering the child through the natural birth canal. The procedure is done when problems occur during childbirth, but subject women to a variety of possible complications.

Despite numerous studies that have created an increasing awareness that women who have had at least one previous Caesarean can deliver vaginally, the rate of the operations in the United States has continued to rise steadily in the past decade, Phelan said.

Triplets born month apart

DENVER (UPI) — A woman gave birth to two babies a month after delivering a third child, a rare occurrence, physicians said Tuesday.

Fewer than a dozen such births have been recorded in recent medical literature, Dr. Theodore Cooper, one of the attending physicians, said.

The mother, Tracy Fitzgerald of suburban Littleton, delivered the triplets at Rose Medical Center. She was in good condition Tuesday at the hospital. All three babies, born prematurely, were in stable condition.

The first child, Mark, was born March 31 after 26 weeks of pregnancy. He weighed 610 grams, about 1 and a half pounds. Because of his size and the short term of pregnancy, he was taken to special facilities at Children's Hospital.

The next two babies — Drew and Amy — were born Saturday. They weighed about 3 pounds each.

After delivering the first child, Mrs. Fitzgerald remained in bed at the hospital until she gave birth to the next two.

"After the first birth, Tracy was certainly anxious to do all she could for the other two," Cooper said. "And staying in bed all those weeks isn't the most exciting way to pass the time."

Surgeons successfully separate Siamese twins attached at head

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Surgeons working against "grave" odds Tuesday successfully separated 16-month-old Siamese twin sisters joined at the head in the first such operation in South Africa, a hospital official said.

"I have just spoken to Sophie, the twins' mother, and she is absolutely delighted," a hospital spokeswoman said. "She is totally out of control she is so delighted."

Neurosurgeons announced a "successful separation" seven hours after the surgery began at the Baragwanath Hospital on the fringe of Soweto black township.

"There was a great cheer from everyone when we announced this," hospital spokeswoman Annette Clear said. Her announcement came 15 minutes after chief neurosurgeon Robert Lipschitz told officials his team had separated Mpho (Gift) from her sister, Mphonyana (Little Gift) Mathibela.

"The doctors are still busy in the theater because the plastic surgeons have to take over now," Clear said.

Lipschitz and three other neurosurgeons took over from anesthetists about three hours after the twins were taken into the operating room and spent seven hours in what Clear called a "long delicate" procedure to cut through skull tissue and separate the twins' heads.

A choir sang to the twins before they were anesthetized and a church group, led by Anglican Bishop Simeon Nkoane, said prayers in the hospital chapel as the 40-member operating team began the surgery — the first Siamese twin separation in South Africa.

The twins' mother, Sophie Mathibela, 33, an unmarried domestic worker, was with the twins "until they were anesthetized and taken into the operating theater," Clear said. Then Mathibela joined the prayer group vigil.

Hospital officials said they received dozens of bouquets and greeting cards for the twins before the surgery, which Clear had predicted would last about six hours.

UK president presents plan to attract blacks

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — University of Kentucky President David Roselle Tuesday presented a list of initiatives to improve minority affairs on the UK campus, with the main effort aimed at increasing the number of black faculty members.

Roselle noted at a meeting of the Board of Trustees that only 1.4 percent of the UK faculty members are black. He said that was the lowest of the 10 neighboring schools that were examined.

"We need to double the black population of students at UK,"

Roselle said, pointing to a chart showing that 3.5 percent of UK's 22,000 students are black. "We're not doing too badly, but we need to do a lot better."

Roselle proposed the establishment of a program whereby funds will be provided from the president's office for the first year of employment of a black faculty member. The department that hires the black faculty member will then be able to use that money for other things for the first year.

He said the administration will also provide $100,000 to establish a fellowship program for black graduate students.

Roselle said the hope is that the program will get UK more minorities in an advanced level of study and thus could contribute to the much needed pool of blacks.

Rutgers frat brothers indicted in the drinking death of pledge

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — Fifteen Rutgers University fraternity brothers were charged Tuesday with encouraging a pledge to drink himself to death as a campus still reeling from the fatal frat party was stunned again by a drunken-driving accident that killed a football player.

Two other members of the Rutgers football team were hospitalized after the car in which all three were riding crossed the center line of a downtown street early Tuesday and collided with a tractor-trailer.

The two survivors, including the driver, were both legally drunk, investigators said. Both are starting linebackers for Rutgers.

"Early this morning, the unending tragedy of excess drinking had another chapter written," Middlesex County Prosecutor Alan A. Rockoff said during a news conference on both cases.

Rockoff said the president, vice president, rush chairman and 12 other members of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity chapter at the state university's New Brunswick campus were indicted on aggravated hazing charges in the Feb. 12 death of James Callahan, 18.

Callahan died after he and other pledges attending an all-night "pinning" party were encouraged to drink large quantities of "kamikazes," a mixture of 80 proof vodka, triple sec and lime juice, investigators said.

Callahan ingested as much as 24 ounces of alcohol in 30 to 45 minutes and had a blood-alcohol content of 0.434 percent, more than four times the amount New Jersey regards as legal proof of intoxication, tests showed. The legal drinking age in New Jersey is

21. Aggravated hazing is punishable by up to 18 months in prison and a $7,500 fine, although first offenders do not face a presumption of incarceration, Rockoff said. Arraignment is scheduled for May 20.

New Jersey has had a hazing law on the books since 1980, specifically to combat dangerous fraternity initiation rites, Rockoff said. Some of the students could be eligible for pre-trial diversion, which would result in dismissal of charges after a period of probation, he said.

Rockoff declined to say what action he had recommended to the county grand jury that returned the charges, but said in February the most serious charge that could be filed in the case would be aggravated manslaughter, punishable by up to 30 years in prison.

Navy veteran says U.S. has forgotten its 'atomic pioneers'

MARION, Ill. (UPI) — A Navy veteran who participated in atomic tests in the Pacific 42 years ago says it appears the nation has forgotten its "atomic pioneers."

Robert Henry Farmer, of Steeleville, Ill., in a telephone interview from the Veterans Administration's John Cochran Medical Center in St. Louis, said he has his doubts as to whether President Reagan will sign legislation that would make some veterans exposed to radiation eligible for disability benefits.

"People have forgotten that we were the pioneers of the Atomic Age," said Farmer, who observed his 61st birthday Saturday.

Farmer, who has been treated at several VA hospitals and has lost track of the number of days he has spent in them, believes that many of his ailments and genetic problems suffered by all of his nine children can be traced to atomic tests in July 1946 on Bikini Atoll in the Marshall Islands as part of "Operation Crossroads."

Farmer, who underwent a thyroidectomy about six years ago, said he entered John Cochran VA center Tuesday for a check to see if he has colon cancer.

"It probably won't benefit me, but I hope President Reagan signs the legislation because it would help a lot of other people," Farmer said.

The House gave final approval Monday on a 326-2 vote a bill that was passed last week by the Senate and would make veterans with certain kinds of cancer eligible for disability benefits if they were Hiroshima or Nagasaki occupants or exposed to radiation in U.S. weapons tests.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., was a co-sponsor of the legislation and has said Farmer's plight convinced him to start working on the legislation about six years ago. Farmer said Sen. Alan Dixon and Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, both Illinois Democrats, also have been helpful in his case.

Farmer said several other countries including Canada and Australia "have taken care of their atomic veterans."

"People have forgotten that we were the pioneers of the Atomic Age," Farmer said. Farmer was stationed on the troop ship Courtland when he and many other sailors — "they called us Harry Truman's sailors" — participated in the Bikini Atoll tests.

"They came up with this two-year enlistment plan and then shipped us out for the atomic tests," Farmer said. "We were called guinea pigs."

Farmer said he gave up a promising career in the Merchant Marines to enlist in the Navy and served from Dec. 28, 1945, to Nov. 6, 1947.

After the tests, Farmer said, he began to have problems with his nerves, ran low-grade fevers and began sweating profusely at nights. He also said he suffers from high blood pressure, an enlarged heart and degenerative arthritis.

During one atomic test, Farmer recalled, a shipmate "a little red-headed guy from New Jersey said, 'I can see the bones in my arm,'" after the detonation.

Reagan: Decisions and policies are not influenced by astrology

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

President Reagan denied Tuesday that his policies or decisions are influenced by astrology, but aides said his wife, Nancy, has consulted with astrologers on the president's activities.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Mrs. Reagan's "interest in astrology" — a belief that the positions of the planets influence human affairs — stemmed from the March 30, 1981, attempt on the president's life.

Reagan has said 33 is his "lucky" number, and one West Coast astrologer noted the date of the attempted assassination, 3-30, repeats the numerical configuration.

The question of whether special phenomena influence the administration's policies was raised by reports in a forthcoming book by ex-chief of staff Donald Regan that says the president and first lady consult astrologers in making decisions.

The president, responding to a question about the matter Tuesday, said, "I am making it a policy not to comment on

Zodiacal signs of the times

WASHINGTON (UPI) — No matter what role astrology plays in White House plans, it may be noteworthy that President Reagan was born under the sign of Aquarius, while his wife, Nancy, is a Cancer. Other signs of interest include:

Ex-chief of staff Donald Regan, who revealed the first family's interest in the stars, is a Sagittarius. So is Attorney General Edwin Meese.

The current chief of staff, Howard Baker, is a Scorpio, as is Michael Dukakis, the front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Vice President George Bush is a Gemini.

these books that seem to keep flooding out, but no policies or decision in my mind have ever been influenced by astrology."

Fitzwater, referring to the first lady, said, "Astrology has been her concern in terms of his activities. She follows it and is concerned with astrology. His travels were her point of concern."

"My impression is that a friend she knew who was involved in that period (around the assassination attempt) was helpful," he said.

Elaine Crispin, the first lady's press secretary, said that Mrs. Reagan had "a slight interest in astrology when she lived in California."

"Certainly when March 30 came into her life, she was more frightened," Crispin said. "She talked to an astrologer ... primarily concerning his (the president's) safety ... and a safe time to travel."

Fitzwater, who said he discussed the matter with both the president and Mrs. Reagan, said both feel the disclosure is "unfortunate and a distraction and hardly relevant to the business of government."

Federal drug tests will begin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Health Secretary Otis Bowen notified Congress Tuesday that 42 federal agencies soon will begin random testing of about 345,000 government workers in sensitive positions for drug use.

Absent from the congressional report were the names of about 112 boards and commissions — including Civil Rights, Nuclear Regulatory and Tennessee Valley Authority — that have failed to get their drug testing plans certified by the Department of Health and Human Services.

HHS is required under President Reagan's Sept. 15, 1986, executive order calling for a drug-free workplace to certify that all federal agencies have drug testing plans that meet stringent technical requirements that guard against employees cheating.

EPA releases new air quality information

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More areas in the United States are meeting air quality standards for carbon monoxide but fewer are attaining acceptable levels for ozone, the Environmental Protection Agency said Tuesday.

The agency released its 1987 air quality monitoring data for ozone and carbon monoxide pollutants, which show areas in the United States that failed to attain the standards for these pollutants by Dec. 31, 1987, as required by the Clean Air Act.

The worst offenders, according to the EPA listings were California for ozones and New York for carbon monoxide.

For ozone, the EPA said there are 68 areas failing to meet the standard, compared to 62 areas on a list released last year. The list released Tuesday had 13 areas added and seven areas deleted from the previous list.

For carbon monoxide, the EPA said there are 59 areas with violations, which is six fewer than the previous listing, with four new areas added and 10 dropped.

The air quality standard for ozone is 0.12 parts per million daily maximum one-hour average not to be exceeded more than once per year on average, EPA said.

The EPA report shows the "highest estimated exceedances" of ozone levels for 1987 occurred in Los Angeles with 141.2 days over the standard, followed by Bakersfield, Calif., 47.6 days, Fresno, Calif., 42.6 days, San Diego, Calif., 26.8 days, Philadelphia, Pa., 23.2 days, Visalia, Calif., 21.6 days, Houston, Texas, 20.8 days, and Modesto, Calif., 20.8 days.

The EPA said areas previously listed as exceeding ozone levels during 1984-86 but not included in the new list include Lake Charles, La., Longview-Marshall, Texas, Pointe Coupee Parish, La., St. James Parish, La., Kansas City, Kan., Denver, Colo., and Yuba City, Calif.

New entries to the EPA's list are Lincoln County, Maine, Jefferson County, N.Y., Kent County, Delaware, Norfolk, Va., Parkersburg, W.Va., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Earthquake Awareness and Preparedness

7PM Lawson Hall, Room 141

Lecture on seismology, earthquake potential, medical and home preparedness by Dr. Larry Malinconico, Geology Dept. and Dr. Richard May, Dean of SIU School of Medicine.

Three of the greatest earthquakes in the U.S. history took place not on the Pacific Coast, but in 1811 and 1812 near New Madrid, Missouri. The New Madrid seismic zone, currently the most active earthquake area in the central U.S., lies just south of Illinois.

Geologists predict that an earthquake such as the 1811-12 quakes could occur again. Today, a repeat of the New Madrid quakes would result in "ruinous damage" to parts of Southern Illinois. However, the probability of such an event occurring in the next few years is very low.

We are still a long way from being able to predict the time, place and magnitude of future earthquakes. And, of course, we have no way to stop them. Yet we can plan ahead to reduce unnecessary injuries or property damage that may occur as a result of an earthquake.

Earthquake awareness and preparedness are our greatest asset if an earthquake should occur. For more information regarding planning, come by our Safety Fair (see above), or attend "It's Your Fault" Wednesday evening, or visit the information table at the Student Center on Thursday and Friday, 10am-2pm, near the Bakery.

Assistance program set for non-traditional students

By Jane Lamb
 Student Writer

Non-Traditional Student Services will begin a peer assistance program next fall to help incoming non-traditional students, NTSS Director Mary Helen Gasser, said.

"Most non-traditional students remember how they felt when they first came to SIU-C," Gasser said. "This is their chance to share their knowledge and experience to help new non-traditional students. We need to let them know that they are not alone."

Non-traditional students are students who have been away from formal education for a period of time. Many of them are married, divorced or widowed, and they are retraining for a career or career advancement.

A survey conducted by Cheryl Parabaugh, a project coordinator for the Institutional Research and Studies department, found that freshman non-traditional students had a high drop out rate.

The peer counselors would help the new students understand advisement and registration, financial aid, parking and other student services. They also would inform new students about recreation opportunities, student activities and most importantly, help them meet other non-traditional students, Gasser said.

"We hope it will help the new students feel less isolated and lonely, and give them a one-on-one means of getting information and support," Gasser said.

Non-traditional students interested in volunteering for the program should contact Non-Traditional Student Services. Academic credit is offered to volunteers.

Giamatti made right move in suspending Pete Rose

By Mike Tully
United Press International

NEW YORK — National League President Bart Giamatti did the only thing he could do with Pete Rose.

Giamatti fined the Reds manager a "substantial amount" and suspended him 30 days for shoving umpire Dave Pallone. With one move, Giamatti reminded everyone that umpires divide order from chaos, the majors from the sandlots. He made a stand, and did so against a man who has more basehits than Ty Cobb.

This is the administrator's equivalent of hitting the curveball. This also is known as backing up your people. The troops love it. No one likes a boss who second-guesses from the comfort of an office. Now the umpires can run a game, knowing they have a friend upstairs. This should make shoving about as rare as 400 averages.

However, now that he's made this stand in public, Giamatti also should hold a private chat with Pallone. A nine-year major-leaguer, Pallone lost control of the game. Not only did the winning run score while Pallone delayed his call, but Mets coach Bill Robinson strayed near, and perhaps into, fair territory. Pallone also lost his temper and waved his finger at Rose, possibly scratching him. This sounds like softball in Central Park.

Giamatti can read to Pallone from the Official Baseball Rules: "You are the only official representative of baseball on the ball field. It is often a trying position which requires the exercise of much patience and good judgment, but do not forget that the first essential in working out of a bad situation is to keep your own temper and self-control."

Giamatti can conclude the chat with the same command many of us heard while squabbling in the back seat with our siblings: "Keep your hands to yourself."

Giamatti has ruled well. It would be a shame if that ruling became a mandate for sloppy umpiring.

Esasky To Blame, Too
Nick Esasky nearly escaped blame for his part in the Rose fiasco. Esasky is the Reds first baseman who took the throw, and then held the ball waiting for Pallone's call.

Radio announcers air their comments with NL president

NEW YORK (UPI) — National League President A. Bartlett Giamatti met Tuesday with two Cincinnati Reds' radio announcers to discuss comments they made on the air about an umpires' call, but announced no disciplinary action.

Announcers Marty Brennaman and Joe Nuxhall were called to the meeting with Giamatti, who Monday suspended Reds Manager Pete Rose for 30 days for shoving umpire Dave Pallone in Saturday night's game against the New York Mets.

After the shoving incident, Brennaman said that Pallone was "incompetent" and Nuxhall called him a "scab" because he crossed the umpires' union picket line to join the major leagues in 1979. Several fans who brought radios to the game hurled them onto the field in a barrage that chased Pallone to the umpires' room.

"I have had a good meeting with Marty Brennaman and Joe Nuxhall," Giamatti said Tuesday in a statement released by the NL office. "I expressed my views and they expressed theirs. We all agree completely in deploring fan violence, wherever it occurs, for whatever reason."

"None of us wishes to see the degeneration of baseball into dangerous displays of public disorder."

Giamatti's statement did not mention disciplinary action.

"If there was anything, it was between Mr. Giamatti and the announcers and not made public," an NL spokesman said.

Lynam signs contract to coach Philadelphia 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jim Lynam, who led the Philadelphia 76ers to a 16-23 record after replacing Matt Guokas at midseason, signed a three-year contract Tuesday to coach the team.

"I believe Jim Lynam is the best-kept secret in basketball," Philadelphia owner Harold Katz said in announcing the deal. "I have not seen anyone communicate better with players than Jim Lynam."

Lynam was signed only for the remainder of the season when he moved up from assistant to head coach after Guokas was fired at the All-Star break.

Katz said he has been leaning toward retaining Lynam since Philadelphia finished 36-46 and missed the playoffs for the first time in 13 years.

Bears sign 5 free-agent players

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bears announced Tuesday the signing of punter Jack Weil of Wyoming, running back Phil Webb of Michigan, guard John Wojciechowski of Michigan State, safety Bryan Siebler of Nebraska and defensive tackle Dan Young of Virginia Military Institute.

Contract terms for the five free-agent players were not disclosed, a team spokesman said.

Weil and Wojciechowski are the only signees with limited professional experience.

Weil played for the replacement Denver Broncos during the strike-torn 1987 NFL season, and Wojciechowski was a Bears' rostered player last year, the spokesman said.

the ball in the zone and that really was the difference."

McIntosh was quick to credit catcher Dan Hartleb for mixing up the pitches.

"Dan caught a good game," McIntosh said. "He always does. He's a good catcher. I had all three pitches working. All year I had trouble with my changeup but this game I had my changeup working. I was able to throw my slider and fastball for strikes."

It was the second time in eight days that McIntosh and the Salukis beat Murray State. Last week, the Salukis bombed the Thoroughbreds, 26-5, in Paducah, Ky.

The Salukis improved to 30-20, while Murray State dropped to 13-24. This is the third straight season SIU-C has won at least 30 games.

The Salukis improved to 30-20, while Murray State dropped to 13-24. This is the third straight season SIU-C has won at least 30 games.

The Salukis got off to a quick 1-0 lead in the first inning. Chuck Verschoore led off with a double that took a bad hop over the third baseman's head. Verschoore advanced to third when Rick Gaebe grounded out to second, and scored on a ground out by Joe Hall.

Hall's RBI held up as the game-winner, his team-high ninth of the year.

The Salukis added another run in the third. After consecutive singles by Jeff Nelson and Doug Shields, Dave Wrona drove in Nelson with a base hit to center.

In the fifth, the Salukis took a 4-0 lead. Gaebe lined a base hit into right field and then stole his second base of the game. Hall followed with a double into the right-field corner to drive in Gaebe. Hall stole third and scored on a wild pitch.

McIntosh struggled in the sixth as Murray State broke his shutout to score two runs, but the Salukis answered with a run in the bottom of the sixth. Damico tripled to the right-field fence and scored on a deep fly ball by Hartleb.

Brechtelsbauer said. "She's worked hard in batting practice. She hit the ball hard in her last two bats against Wichita State. That got her fired up gave her the confidence for (Tuesday)."

Gibbs had a single past the pitcher as part of the Salukis' four-run fourth inning in the first game, when the Salukis sent 10 players to the plate. The scoring drive was highlighted by Kim Hulsey's two RBI single over the shortstop's head.

Freshman Lisa Robinson was the winning pitcher in the first game. Now 7-4, she struck out three and held Austin Peay (26-19) to three hits, although one was a home run in the first inning by Leigh Pettyjohn that sailed over left fielder Becky Rickenbaugh's head.

"Lisa Robinson pitched well enough for a shutout," Brechtelsbauer said.

Peterson's record went to 14-8 as the winner in the second game. She scattered nine hits, struck out five and walked none.

"You can see a difference when Lisa Peterson walks out on the mound," Brechtelsbauer said. "She's in charge. She made good pitches when she had to. She has decided to take charge and go after the hitters."

The Salukis have a week off before the Gateway Conference tournament starts May 12 in Springfield, Mo.

Brechtelsbauer said she hopes the team continues to play loose. "We've talked about that. I told the players to go with what's been working," she said.

"If we can stay loose," Brechtelsbauer said, "and still give 100 percent, (the wins) will come."

SIU-C boxer 'outstanding' at tourney

Junior middleweight Andy Nelson, a member of the SIU-C boxing club, was named outstanding boxer of the Illinois State Golden Glove tournament in Springfield.

Nelson and three other members of the club participated in the tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Nelson, fighting in the 156-pound category, won his first fight Saturday. He moved on to semifinals and ended up in a bout with SIU-C teammate, Gene Rigoni.

Nelson won that match in the second round on a doctor's retirement after Rigoni suffered a broken nose. Nelson went on to win the junior middleweight novice title by a knockout on Sunday, when he was named outstanding boxer.

Senior John Zimmerman, fighting in the 132-pound open class, won his first fight before losing in the semi-finals.

Freshman Jim Scott, 178 pounds, fighting in the light heavyweight category, fought in one match Sunday.

Scott won on a technical knockout after the referee stopped the contest in the second round when, after an eight-count, it was determined that Scott's opponent was unable to continue.

Physical Plant employee Terry Mason, who helps sponsor the club, said approximately 75 boxers took part in the meet and added that most participants were members of amateur boxing clubs in Illinois.

Mason said this meet was the end of the line for boxers, except for those who plan to participate in the Prairie State Games this summer.

SIU-C's club has about 15 members, Mason said.

"That way he'll get three starts (before the Missouri Valley tournament starts). He has to go out and get his work."

"Dale's going to give us innings. The thing with our pitching is we have to get starters out there who will give us innings."

"You look in our bullpen and you have two or three guys and no real stopper. We need someone to give us five or six innings and Dale will do that on three days rest."

Last Saturday against Wichita State, Kisten broke SIU-C's record for most career innings pitched.

He has now pitched in 250 1-3 innings to move past Scott Waltemate (248 1-3), who played his last season in 1974.

Softball team grabs 2 wins

Gibbs gets three triples

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

Shelly Gibbs broke out of her hitting slump in a big way, belting three triples to lead the softball team to a doubleheader sweep of Austin Peay Tuesday at IAW Field.

Gibbs started her rampage in the first game, a 10-2 romp that went only six innings because of the eight-run slaughter rule. She went 4-of-4, including two triples, and scored four runs.

Austin Peay had more respect for Gibbs' bat in the second game, walking her twice in a 5-2 SIU-C victory. But Gibbs still managed to triple in the third inning and score in the fifth.

"I felt like myself again," said Gibbs, who had seen her average dip to .312 before the doubleheader then rise to .333 after the five-hit performance. "I haven't been hitting well. My average has fluctuated 20, 30 points. I'm lucky to have some good games."

Gibbs wasn't the only one hitting with authority. Lisa Peterson, Karen Major and Theresa Smugala each had a triple. Mary Jo Firnbach drove a Julie Stone pitch down the right-field line for a two RBI, inside-the-park home run to end the first game in the sixth inning.

"You don't know how important it was for us to hit like we did," Gibbs said.

The Salukis (29-18) were coming off dismal offensive showings against Wichita State and Southwest Missouri last weekend.

Gibbs got things started in her first at bat, drilling the ball to deep center field for a triple.

Cliff McIntosh learned a lesson last weekend.

After watching Saluki pitchers walk 31 batters in four games, McIntosh walked only one Murray State batter in nine innings Tuesday to give the Salukis a 5-3 victory at Abe Martin Field.

"This weekend we had trouble with walks," McIntosh said. "Everybody heard about Wichita (State) and how good they're supposed to be. Our pitchers tried to make perfect pitches and ended up walking guys. I just wanted to go out and throw strikes."

Kisten to start on mound today

The baseball team will try to make it two straight wins when it plays Southeast Missouri State at 4 p.m. today at Abe Martin Field.

It will be the Salukis' last game before their four-game weekend series at home against Indiana State.

Dale Kisten (5-7, 4.61 ERA) will start on the mound for the Salukis.

"We're going to go with Dale and bring him back Sunday," pitching coach Kirk Champion said.

count during most of the game. He survived a two-run Murray State sixth inning to take a 5-2 lead in the ninth.

Murray State rallied to send the go-ahead run to the plate.

With two outs, Jeff Brown singled, Greg Hirsch walked and pinch-hitter Ben Garland singled home Brown to bring Murray State within two runs.

Danny Alfeldt then sent a deep fly ball into the right-field corner, which Rick Damico caught on the warning track to end the game.

"Mac did a good job," Saluki coach Itchy Jones said. "We probably left him out there for too many pitches but he had a chance to start and finish so we gave him that opportunity."

McIntosh (5-0) gave up 10 hits but stranded seven runners with the aid of six strike outs.

"He pitches a lot on guts," pitching coach Kirk Champion said. "Mac had a good breaking ball and has got enough of a fastball that they got to respect him. He threw

Women's track coach Don DeNoon has signed three recruits that will become part of "the team that's going to be the best that's ever been here."

DeNoon signed two athletes to improve the sprinting corps that is losing Brenda Beatty and Felicia Vcal. The Salukis are losing three seniors.

Traci Davis, a junior college transfer from Eastern Oklahoma, is capable of making an instant contribution, DeNoon said.

"She will not only replace Brenda, but hopefully step up the ability in the relays," DeNoon said. Beatty is the Salukis top sprinter.

DeNoon described Davis as "quicker than any other athlete we've had at SIU."

Candi Hudson, of Chicago, also was recruited for her sprinting ability.

"She's not quite as quick as Traci, but she's someone who can help us out," DeNoon said.

Hudson runs sprints ranging from 100 to 400 meters. "There's a lot of positions out there that have sprinting ability," DeNoon said.

Hudson had the best indoor season of any sprinter in Illinois, DeNoon said.

The Salukis also signed all-around athlete Beth Johnson, of Centralia, to help in the high jump and possibly make her mark in the heptathlon.

Johnson's best jump is 5 feet 6 inches, which is "competitive in the conference and most meets we see," DeNoon said.

"The thing that stands out about Beth is that she is also a distance runner," he said. "She could potentially be in the heptathlon."

The heptathlon includes the 100-meter hurdles, high jump, shot-put, 200-meter dash, long jump, javelin and the 800-meter run.

"Beth is going to be able to step right in," DeNoon said. "I see her as coming in and continuing where she leaves off this year."

Spring fund-raising drive kicks into high gear

The annual spring fund-raising drive for the Saluki Athletic Fund is under way, with hopes of meeting the $100,000 goal for men's and women's athletic scholarships.

With less than two months left in this fiscal year, $48,042 has been raised for the grants-in-aid account, according to Paul Bubb, director of athletic development. The grants-in-aid account is used to fund athletic scholarships.

A goal of $100,000 for scholarships is set for the fiscal year 1988 budget. FY 1988 ends June 30.

"We already have passed the $48,000 mark, and we have the best two months of the fiscal year ahead of us," Bubb said.

The $100,000 goal was trimmed in October from $300,000 in the FY 1988 budget after that figure was determined to be unrealistic by interim Athletics Director Charlotte West.

"The goal of $300,000 dollars for grants-in-aid in FY 1988 was not realistic based on previous giving to that account," Bubb said.

More than $300,000 was raised last year in total contributions, which includes grants-in-aid, excellence funds (donations for specific athletics activities), additional accounts (including booster clubs) and in-kind contributions (such as courtesy cars and air travel). So far this year, $201,165 in total contributions has been raised.

"There's no reason we shouldn't come in over $300,000 again this year," Bubb said.

Funds are raised with the help of Saluki booster clubs by soliciting contributions from previous donors, alumni letter winners and season ticket holders.
