

The Prairie Light Review

Volume 27
Number 1 Harvest

Article 53

Fall 12-1-2006

Late Autumn Labyrinth

Angie Losacco
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <http://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Losacco, Angie (2006) "Late Autumn Labyrinth," The Prairie Light Review: Vol. 27 : No. 1 , Article 53.
Available at: <http://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol27/iss1/53>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact koteles@cod.edu.

Late Autumn Labyrinth

Angie Losacco

Crimson tears from deep within
Despondently teem to the surface
Angels sing of forsaken sin
Distraught and out of place.
Lurking shadows of remembrance
Yearning to be set free
Tarry in the night romance
Probing for the key.

A muse despairs for her lost gift
A gift abhorred by few
A wounded sun begins to shift
Creating a sunset hue.
A faerie's fragile broken wing
The weeping willow's song
The warm night air gently sings
The cold embrace of death too long.

A single lily amongst the pads
So lonely and insecure
A somberness on which to add
A future much obscured.
A knight to save his princess
Abided by the Queen
A love so tainted who could guess
The adeptly hidden sheen.