NOTE

In this international seminar on Language Maintenance and Shift 7 (LAMAS 7 for short), we try to do the new paradigm, that is publishing the proceeding after the seminar was held. The positive aspect of the paradigm is that the presenters of the seminar have opportunity to revise their paper based on the responses of the audience. However, it takes longer time to process the proceeding until it is ready to distribute. Therefore, we apologize for being late.

In this opportunity, we would like to extent our deepest gratitude to Balai Bahasa Jawa Tengah for continuously cooperation in conducting the seminar. Thanks also go to the Dean of the Faculty of Humanities, the Head and the Secretary of the Master Program in Linguistics Diponegoro University, without whom the seminar would not have been possible. We would also express our special thanks to committee for putting together the seminar that gave rise to this compilation of papers.

We would like to thank Mrs. Shu-Chuan Chen, Ph.D. from Asia University Taiwan, Dr. Tupas Topsie Ruanni, from National Institute of Education Singapore, Drs, Pardi M.Hum. from Balai Bahasa Jawa Tengah; Prof. Ketut Artawa, Ph.D. from Udayana University, and Dr. Suharno, M.Ed. from Diponegoro University, as invited speakers in plenary sessions, and to all of the participants of the seminar.

Semarang, September, 25th 2017

Abstract

This study aimed: 1) to increase the interest in writing poems; and 2) to improve the ability to write poetry in grade VIII. This research was a classroom action research. This research has done around August until November 2016 at class VIII SMP at Sukoharjo. The data sources of this research were documents and field notes of the observation. The techniques of data collection were observation, in-depth interview, tests, and documents analysis. Data validation in this research were triangulation of the resources and methods as well as review of the informants. The results can be concluded that: 1) there is improvement of the students' interest in writing poetries. The interest improvement can be explained in 1st cycle, 24 students or 47% of the students who joined the teaching and learning process increased to 75% of the students in 2nd cycle; 2) In 1st cycle, writing skills increased 81% (26 students) became 96% (31 students) in 2nd cycle.

INTRODUCTION

In the learning process of Bahasa Indonesia in Junior High grade VIII, there is poetry writing learning. According to Ollila dan Jantas (2006: 3) poetry is one of structured written expressions and able to tell someone's idea, expression, and opinion. Writing poetry is one of important basic competence which has to be mastered by students. It is supported by Mastromattea (2010:6) who said that poetry is a figurative language which can describe the world, furthermore, writing poetry influence someone and he can express his idea. Then, Thomas (2010: 6) also proposed the important reason of writing poetry, that is by writing poetry, someone can express the content of the worlds, facts which happen in the surroundings, and able to make someone used to any kinds of writing.

Considering the importance and benefits of writing poetry, it is not surprising that writing poetry became a basic competence which had to teach by teacher and mastered by students. Hence, in the reality, not all of the students have high interest to go along in the learning of writing poetry and writing itself. As stated by Fisher (1990: 4) an individual only focus on something he experienced. It means someone who has interest on something will do that activity enthusiastically and vice versa if someone has no interest he will not get maximal result from what he has done.

Several factors which influence learning process of writing poetry except student interest are the leaning process itself. Fun learning process will make students feel comfortable during learning process, so that they can express all ideas and imaginations on a writing or creation. One of fun learning is by applying scientific method: discovery based learning. According to Budiningsih (2005: 43) discovery based learning method is understanding concept, meaning and relation, through intuitive process for a conclusion in the end.

If it is compared to traditional method, scientific method: discovery based learning is believed having higher attractiveness. It agrees with the research done by Jong and Joolingen(1998) that implementation of scientific method: discovery based learning compared to traditional method gives better influence in learning process, so that it will make students easier to join learning process.

Fun learning will make students motivated join in it. Mahmoud (2011: 146-153) said that scientific method: discovery based learning is able to motivate students in improving learning efficacy.

Then, after their motivation increased, so it is believed that students' skill will also increase. It is appropriate with Gomally's (2009) opinion that based learning method can improve students' ability and self-confidence.

Choosing the right learning method can motivate students and make students more active. Balim (2009) said that the influence of using scientific method: discovery based learning makes students more active and easier to follow teacher's guidance.

Scientific method: discovery based learning is convinced appropriate being applied in learning of writing poetry, because this method demands students to become active in following learning, as proposed by Clarke and Pittaway (2014:24) that discovery based learning method is a discovery done by students themselves in finding answer from any problems, so that it will become crucial experience in learning.

Besides selecting teaching method, media used in instructional process contribute a great influence on students' interest and competence. Frederking (2008: 14) stated that media is a neutral movement distribution, which can be used as a tool to deliver information from the sender to the receiver.

Media that are possible to be combined with scientific method of discovery based learning are the picture series. Permana (2016: 90) stated that picture series are the appropriate media to teach writing, which seems 'silent', but in fact it moves and says something to those who are sensitive and full of imagination. Thus, an instructional process should take place in an interesting and joyful atmosphere, preferred by the students. Therefore, this research concerns on the implementation of scientific method of discovery based learning in writing poem aimed at revealing whether there is an improvement on the interest and ability in writing poem among the eight-grade students.

METHOD

This qualitative research employed the strategy of Classroom Action Research (CAR). Kemmis and Taggart (1992: 6) state that an action research is a process of exploring and discovering conducted by an individual or group. It is influenced by changeable plan, major reasons to determine decision during the practice, critical behavior toward information that will direct to development, and evaluation of the result of applied strategy in daily practice.

Brown dan Abernathy (1984: 453) add that a classroom action research is a process by an individual or a group of people that expect a change in a specific situation or certain condition from a test procedure which comes into a conclusion that is accountable and applicable in the implementation.

Classroom Action Research is practical, in which the primary objective is to resolve problems in daily teaching-learning process for quality improvement. Mills (2003: 5) notes that an action research is a systematic process of searching and finding which is done by teacher-researcher, principals, counselor, and so forth, in teaching-learning environment to gather information of how teachers can teach best, students can learn better, and school can operate well. Information gathered aimed at developing practical values in the school area and the students' outcomes. Furthermore, Bogden and Bicklen in Stringer (2004: 4) confirm that an action research is a systematic process of collecting information or data planned for social change. Whereas Lewin in McNiff (1992: 21-22) states that an action research is the way to bring people toward advancement, by involving them through democratic collaboration and participation.

This research involved 32 students of VIII-A in SMP Negeri 3 Sukoharjo, 16 females and 16 males. The research is designed using the model by Kemmis and M.C. Taggart (1998) which consists of: (1) planning; (2) acting; (3) observing; and (4) reflecting. These four actions belong to one cycle and the cycle ends if the determined indicator or success criteria are accomplished. Besides, Mills (2003: 15-16) confirms that the steps in action research are viewed as a spiral-cyclic process which includes general plan, first action step, monitoring, and evaluation, before further continued to revision of the general plan, the second step, and the other following steps continuously.

The techniques of data collection used are: observation to study the teaching learning process; interviews to gather opinions from some respondents, test to discover students' cognitive scores, and document analysis to analyze supporting files.

The data validity is derived from triangulations of; data source, method, and informants, meanwhile the data are analyzed using the techniques of: qualitative data (using critical analysis technique) and quantitative data by comparative descriptive statistics.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Results

Discussion

Scientific method of discovery based learning is a teaching-learning method presenting a concept or material which is not in the final form or fixed concept, but demand the students to identify what they inquire, to gather information on their own, then shape what they understand in a fixed form. Therefore, from that process, they can find a new concept or knowledge.

The scientific method of discovery based learning consists of several steps as follow: 1) stimulating the students, this is the step when the teacher presents picture series in the class; 2) problem statement, in this second step the teacher provides a question for the students to identify pictures they see; 3) data collection, the students gather the data within their group; 4) data processing, in which the students formulate words that will be written as a poem based on the pictures they had observed; 5) verification, at this stage students were resorting the chosen words; and 6) drawing conclusions / generalization, this last stage students were writing an intact poem from the words they had prepared.

This study was conducted in 2 cycles. Based on the data obtained from cycle I and cycle II, it is known that the implementatSion of scientific discovery based learning method increases class VIII-A students' interest and ability in writing poetry at SMP Negeri 3 Sukoharjo.

The assessment of learning process (the interest) was taken from observation during the learning process and interviews toward teachers and students. Students' activity increased when compared to pre-cycle, students who learned actively were only 35% or 11 students, while at the first cycle it increased until 53% or about 15 students.

The improvement of students' poetry writing ability also has increased in each cycle that has been implemented, at the pre cycle there were 11 students or 34% who passed MMC (Minimum Mastery Criteria), then in cycle I it has increased until 26 students or 81% who passed the MMC.

Reflection at the first cycle can be known based on the interviews with teachers and students, the thoroughness of students' poetry writing are still low, has not reached the expected target of 85%. Students still have difficulties in choosing the dictions, in applying the figurative language, and in determining the rhymes in the poem they wrote. Therefore, the research was continued on cycle II.

In Cycle I at the stages of problem statement, students were asked to work in group to identify the problems in the images, in fact students were not able to discuss well with their group mates. Students tend to be selfish and less cooperative in identifying problems in the images given by the teachers. Furthermore, at the data collection stage, students were composing their own words that would be made into a poem, it means students had not been able to cooperate with their group mates as what expected by the teachers. Students only wrote a poem individually based on the image that had been displayed by the teacher.

At the second cycle students are heterogeneously grouped together and then the teacher displayed the image with a higher degree of difficulty than the picture in cycle I. Furthermore, teacher was at the stages of problem statement where the students were asked to write down the problem of each series of pictures shown by the teacher. Thus, the cooperation between students in the group was more intense, moreover the students are able to arrange the diction in accordance with the theme on the image displayed by the teacher.

The result of student activity in cycle II increased significantly, at the first cycle students who learned actively amounted to 18 students or 56% and it increased to 28 students or 88%. The ability in writing poetry also increased significantly, at the first cycle, students who passed the MMC amounted to 26 students or 81% become 31 students or 96%. The percentage of the increase was due to several factors. In cycle II, the learning strategy was more focused on how students communicated and cooperated actively in their group. In addition, in cycle II, The teacher provided poetry writing exercises. Displaying a more difficult image series and giving task for students to write every problems in the images encouraged students to ask each other and makes them discuss with their group mates actively

Based on the above description, it can be seen that the students' interest or activeness had reached the planned target. According to the results of cognitive test, it also can be concluded that the thoroughness of students' learning at the end of the cycle had also reached the planned target. It can be said that class room action research succeed if each measured indicator had reached the specified target.

CLOSING

Conclusion

Based on the results of the conducted research, it can be concluded that the application of scientific discovery based learning method can improve both the quality of the process and the results of students' learning on the basic competence of writing poetry in class VIII-A SMP Negeri 3 Sukoharjo.

Suggestion

Suggestions for the students are all of them need to have an understanding that the learning objectives are not only cognitive aspect, but also affective aspect, and psychomotoric aspect, and students are expected to understand poetry writing both in terms of knowledge and skill so that they will be able to write poetry as a medium of conveyance of criticism, opinions and thoughts of students in accordance with the concept of curriculum 2013. Furthermore, the suggestion for Indonesian language subject teachers as the spearhead of the learning success may be proactive and be highly motivated in teaching so that they are enthusiastically to prepare the learning process, teachers should understand an integrated learning process system, teachers may broaden their insights about writing poetry, either from books, journal articles, or thesis research findings or theses, and the last, teachers should broaden their knowledge about the variety of teaching methods in order to enrich the teaching and learning creativity.
