CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

Today is globalization era and people are confronted with a globalization. In this era, the one who has big capital and who has great specific skill will be able to compete by hard work every day. They spend a lot of time to work and many appear restless. In the future, this condition will lead them into stress.

Stress is a condition where someone had much pressure and lack of relaxation. Daily work is an example of pressure. People are very stressed when they are faced with huge load of their monotonous daily work. Static work condition will make it even more boring and this may become stressful. Fortunately, there are many kinds of relaxation. We have to make our mind feel fresh, before when working again. Vacation is also kind of relaxation if we have stressful condition for along time.

However, vacation takes time, money and energy, and many people want to enjoy simple qualified vacation. They do not have enough time to deal with vacation which requires a lot of time. Based on this condition, people think how to create vacation which requires short time and it is near. They create hotel as an answer. Staying in hotel is a simple vacation. People can reach hotel in no time. Most people like it, because it is practical, easy to reach, and saving time. The demands for hotel are increasing and hotel grows rapidly everywhere to fulfill the demands of society.

To fulfill the demands of society, hotel provides many facilities, such as swimming pool, sports center, restaurant, bar, convention rooms and etc. These facilities are provided to satisfy the customer. These facilities also can increase the good image of the hotel. Besides having many facilities, hotel also has many departments to support those facilities. Each department has specific responsibilities. The example of hotel’s departments are housekeeping, front office, food and beverage, and etc.

Housekeeping department is one of hotel’s departments. The main responsibility of this department is to keep the hotel area clean and tidy. Its main responsibility can be described into many specific points. The function of this department is important because the image of the hotel depends on this department. For example people will get bad experience to stay at a five stars luxuriant hotel which is dirty and mess.

Novotel is one of the most prospective hotels in Solo. Novotel Solo is four star hotel. It is located on the heart of Solo, less than two miles from Kasunanan Palace and Klewer Market. Its location is strategic because it is near Sriwedari Park, Windu Jenar Antique Market, Manahan Sports Hall, and Jurug Park and Zoo.

Based on those consideration, the writer decided “The Problems Faced by the Housekeeping Department of Novotel Solo” as title of his final project.
B. Objectives

Based on background, the writer sets this final project report’s objectives below:

1. To present the importance of the Housekeeping department of Novotel Solo.

2. To present the problems and solutions of the Housekeeping department of Novotel Solo.

C. Benefits

1. The writer hopes that this final project report can be used as an additional reference to improve the quality of the Housekeeping Department of Novotel Solo.

2. The writer hopes that the final project report can help Housekeeping Department of Novotel Solo to find out appropriate and acceptable solution the problems met in the Housekeeping Department of Novotel Solo.

3. The writer hopes that his final project report can be used as a reference for the English Diploma students.
CHAPTER II

REFERENCE REVIEW

A. Hotel

A.1. Definition of Hotel

Based on SK Menparpostel No.KM.34/NK.103/MPPT 87, “Hotel is defined as an accommodation using the building to prepare inn, food, and beverage, and other service for public, and it has commercial purpose” (Rumekso, 2001:2).

While Kodhyat and Ramaini define “Hotel means the company which prepares a service in accommodation, food, and other facilities in hotel for public, which fulfill comfort requirements and has a commercial purpose” (Kodhyat and Ramaini, 1992: 54)

Darmadjati states that “hotel is a kind of accommodation using part or the entire house to stay, and other service to the public and it is managed for commercial” (Darmadjati, 2002: 58).

Based on the statements above, the writer concludes that hotel has basic aspects such as commercial industry and providing accommodation and services. To support their accommodations and services, hotel provides many supporting facilities, such as bars, meeting rooms, spa, and etc, in order to make their guests feel comfortable.
A. 2. Types of Hotel

Hotel can be classified into many types. Types of hotel can be differentiated by certain categories. Rumekso distinguishes hotel based on the room rate system and hotel based on number of room. (Rumekso, 2001:3)

Types of hotel based on the room rate system:

a. Full American Plan (FAP)

The room rate of this hotel includes three times of meals.

b. Modified American Plan (MAP)

The room rate of this hotel includes two times of meal. The meals are breakfast-lunch or breakfast-dinner.

c. Continental Plan (CP)

The room rate of this hotel includes continental breakfast.

d. Bermuda Plan (BP)

The room rate of this hotel includes American breakfast.

e. European Plan (EP)

The room rate of this hotel does not include meal.

Types of hotel based on the number of rooms:

a. Small Hotel

The room numbers of this hotel are more than 25 rooms.

b. Average Hotel

The room numbers of this hotel are more than 25 until 100 rooms.

c. Above Average Hotel
The room numbers of this hotel are more than 100 until 300 rooms.

d. Large Hotel

The room numbers of this hotel are more than 300 rooms.

While Gray and Liguory states that there are only two types of hotels based on length of stay. They are:

1. Transient Hotel

   It is the one that caters people while they are temporarily away from home, whether for a day, a week, or a month, for business, or pleasure.

2. Residential Hotel

   It is an apartment house with full hotel services. The guests are required to sign a lease (Gray and Liguory in Diomedes V. Saniel Jr’s thesis: 2008).

A. 3. Departments of Hotel

   Hotel has many departments. Each department has its own duties and responsibilities. Each of them has its own management and operation and all of them are united under the hotel management. Basically, those departments cooperate together in order to keep the guest’s satisfaction.

   1. Finance and Accounting Department

      The responsibility of this department is to manage the hotel finance. This department always creates finance innovations to make the hotel gains profit and prevent the loss that may harm the hotel viability in order to keep the growth of the hotel. This department requires person with high accuracy in arithmetic.

2. Maintenance/Engineering Department

The responsibility of this department is to maintain the hotel building and its facilities. Maintaining the building and facilities make the guests feel comfortable. In order to maintain building and hotel facilities effective and efficiently, specific person are required. Engineering department employs persons with high mechanical and electrical skills.

3. Food and Beverage Department

The responsibilities of this department are to prepare and serve food and beverage for the guests. This department always creates innovations, such as created a special food recipe, in order to make hotel guests enjoy and to promote the hotel itself. This department requires person with skill and ability in cooking and serving food and beverage.

4. Front Office Department

The responsibilities of this department are to receive reservation, give information and account to the guests, and receive the guest’s payment. This is the first department that meets the guests when arrived at the hotel. This department is the most frequent be in contact with the guests.

5. Housekeeping Department

The responsibility of this department is to keep cleanliness and tidiness of hotel including uniform circulation. These efforts will increase the guest’s comfort while staying in hotel. Housekeeper must have proficient knowledge in sanitation.

6. Sales & Marketing Department

The responsibility of this department is to market the products of the hotel. The level of popularity of hotel and sale rate of hotel product depends on this department. This department requires person with ability to read the market opportunity.

7. Human Resources Department

The responsibilities of this department are to select hotel employees and bring up the attitude and the skill of the employees. This department requires people who can motivate and organize other people effectively and efficiently.

8. Security Department

The responsibility of this department is to maintain the security of the hotel. Since there are many terrorism incidents, security department increase their guard by installing CCTV in several hotel’s corners or adding metal detector. These actions make the guests feel more safe and comfortable. To support the modern gadget security, this department employs person with self defense skills.

The writer concludes that the goal of creating many departments is to make the management and hotel’s operation become effective and efficient. Those specific duties and responsibilities in each department creates a focus to members of each department when doing their duties and fulfilling their responsibilities.
The result of the hotel department division is guests feel more satisfied and motivated to stay longer or come back to the hotel on another occasion.

B. Housekeeping Department

B.1. Definition of Housekeeping

The term housekeeping consists of house and keeping. The word “house” means a building made for people to live in; a building made or used for special purpose and the word “keeping” means to continue to be in specific condition or position; to remain or stay to continue doing something; to do something repeatedly of frequently (Hornby, 1995:577). Housekeeping means keeping the house in a specific condition repeatedly or frequently to keep the guest’s comfortable.

Djumino explains that “Housekeeping is a part of hotel which has responsibility about cleanliness and tidiness of hotel is, including handling the rotation of linen and uniform for the employees” (Djumino, 2003: 16). The same point is stated by Rumekso, “Housekeeping is part of the hotel having duty and responsibility to keep cleanliness, tidiness, neatness, and freshness in all of hotel area, both outside and inside hotel area also includes rooms and restaurants, offices, and toilets rent by the guest” (Rumekso, SE, 2003: 1).

From those definitions above, the writer concludes that housekeeping is one of the department’s important duties to keep the hotel clean, tidy, neat, and fresh in order to make the guests feel comfortable and it motivates the guests to stay longer or come back in different occasion. Furthermore, housekeeping has an important role in managing hotel’s equipment for example linen for room or food and beverage and uniform for all the employees of the hotel.

B.2. Main Objectives of Housekeeping Department

Djumino states that the Housekeeping Department has several objectives. The Housekeeping Department keeps hotel territory look:

1. Clean and tidy

   The cleanliness and tidiness of the hotel area, whether inside or outside of room (public area), have to be kept to make the hotel environment hygiene. The guests prefer to stay in the hotel which keeps its environment clean and tidy.

2. Attractive

   Attractive decoration must be arranged so that the guests who stay in hotel will feel in their own home. It also can make the hotel atmosphere feel different, so guests will feel really fresh because they feel staying in new places.

3. Comfortable

   All facilities for guests should be controlled so that they are comfortable. Uncontrolled facilities will give bad experience to the guests. If this condition keeps going on, the hotel will lose their guests. Comfortable condition will motivate the guests to stay longer and willing to come back in other occasion.
4. Safe

Safe condition has to be created not only for the guests but also for their luggage. Because there are many terrorism incidents, the guests prefer to stay in hotel which has high priority for safety.

(Djumino, 2003: 17)

B.3. Duties of Housekeeping Department

Housekeeping Department has a vital duties and responsibilities in hotel operations. It is responsible for:

1. Keeping the cleanliness and tidiness of the guest rooms, either occupied or vacant. Guest rooms must be clean and tidy all the times, so the room is comfortable and ready to be reserved every time.

2. Keeping the cleanliness and tidiness of the hotel’s area, including offices, bars, restaurants, public toilets, lobby, except kitchen. This is a kind of hotel attention toward their guest.

3. Completing and decorating the properties if there are any events held in hotel. Completed and decorated the properties have special value in guest’s point of view. They will think that the hotel is paying high attention to them.

4. Keeping and organizing the employee’s uniform. Clean and tidy employee’s uniforms make the employees are seen cheerful and charming toward the guest’s attention.
5. Organizing the linen inventories. Linen inventories must be well organized in order to maintain it so whenever it needed, it is always in ready to use condition.

6. Checking the food and beverage in the refrigerator of the guest’s room. This service is to ensure that food and beverage are always in proper condition. This is also preventing any expired foods and beverages that are stored in the refrigerator. If the food and beverage in guest’s room are out of stock, the mini bar attendant should restock it quickly.

C. Management and Operation

C.1. Management

Management is derived from the word “to manage”, which means to be in charge of or make decisions in a business or an organization, or part of one. In other words, it means to organize or deal with something that one has or controls. Hornby defines the word management as “the control and making of decision in a business or similar organization. It also means the people who control a business or similar organization” (Hornby, 1995:712)

Based on that definition, the writer defines “housekeeping management” as the control and making decision of housekeeping department to do their duties and fulfill their responsibilities as a part of hotel departments.
C.2. Operation

The core of the management is operation. Operation personnel carries out the considerable task of fulfilling the responsibilities based on the promises that a hotel made, while persuading the guest to reserve a room in the hotel.

Hornby explains that “Operation is the process of operating; an act of surgery performed on patient; an action involving a number of people, especially members of armed forced or the police; a business organization; a company.” (Hornby, 1995:812)

According to the Hornby’s definition, the writer defines housekeeping operation as a process of the doing and fulfilling the housekeeping responsibilities which involve all members of the housekeeping department.

E. The Problems Faced by the Housekeeping Department and the Solutions at Novotel Solo

E. 1. The Problems Faced by the Housekeeping Department

Problems are regular thing which are faced by every management, including in hotel management. Hotel managements are complex because there are many departments in a hotel. The same as the other department, the Housekeeping Department has its own problem. The problems are:

1. Most of the Housekeeping staff cannot speak in other language than English.

   Sometimes Housekeeping staffs face with foreign guests, who cannot speak English. For example the common guests are guest who comes from Japan, France, Spain, Korean, and Chinese. Most of the Housekeeping staffs are provided with Standard English conversation.
When they are serving guest who cannot speak English, there is language barrier in their communication. The Housekeeping staffs are restricted to convey the message to the guest. This condition makes the Housekeeping staffs cannot work maximal and the guests are not fully satisfied.

2. Most of the Housekeeping staff cannot speak English fluently.

   English is the language of the world. Each personnel of hotel employees at least must master English conversation, so they can speak English fluently. This ability will help them, at least one way communication, the guest receives the information from the staff. This is better than no communication at all.

3. Housekeeping staffs, especially room attendants have to work in short time.

   This is the common problems in hotel management. The Housekeeping staffs, especially room attendants are demanded to work harder than usual. This condition usually happens in holiday season or if there are any special events in Solo, such as SIEM (Solo International Music Ethnic), that makes the number of reservations are increasing in short time. For example, two room attendants who are given responsibilities on the same floor can handle 24 rooms in a day. In those special events, room attendants must work quicker than usual. This condition is not good, because room attendants are demanded to work in high quality as usual but in short time. The results of their works are not satisfying because they do it in hurry.

4. The numbers of the Housekeeping staffs are limited.

   If there is a job vacancy in the Front Office because the Front Office needs more staffs, but unfortunately those applicants come from the other departments, such as the Housekeeping Department. So they move from the Housekeeping Department to the Front Office Department. This condition will make the Housekeeping Department lack of staff and this will make the Housekeeping Department cannot reach its best performance.

5. Many staffs work out of procedure.

   To achieve effective and efficient result, work procedures are arranged based on its work conditions and work procedures must be followed by every staffs. Unfortunately, some of staffs do them out of procedure, for example, in case filling the worksheet. Room Attendant must fill it according to the reality, such as writing correctly the number of replaced linen.
6. Lack of amenities number from Supplier.

Sometimes the number of amenities from the Supplier, such as soap, shampoo, tissue, sawing kits, sewing kits, candles, toothpaste, sweetener, sugar, is inadequate. This problem affect to the guest’s satisfaction. The amenities in guest’s room must be replaced with the new ones as soon as possible.

E. 2. The Solutions for the Problems Faced by the Housekeeping Department

The arising problems must be solved as soon as possible to prevent further problem. The proposed solutions are:

1. Most of the Housekeeping staff cannot speak in other languages than English.

   To increase the guest’s satisfaction, it will be better if the hotel staffs, especially the Housekeeping staffs are educated not only in English but also, for example French, German language, Spanish, etc. A brief education will make differentiation in serving the guests so that they can communicate better with the guest who cannot speak English. The better they communicate the better satisfaction that the guest’s felt, and the better work result for the staffs is. It will be much helped, if there is a Language Training Program provided by hotel management for its employees.

2. Most of the Housekeeping staff cannot speak English fluently.

   English is basic foreign language that must be mastered by each of the hotel staffs because most of the foreign guests understand it. This is useful because by mastering English, the Housekeeping staffs can more understand about what the guest needs. This is important to give English training session monthly or even weekly to increase the quality of the hotel’s human resources. Having staffs with fluent English language skills will make additional value for the staff themselves and the hotel itself.

3. Housekeeping staffs, especially room attendants have to work in short time.

The solution of these problems is by training the Housekeeping staffs to be able work under pressure and adding more staffs. The way to train room attendants to be able to work under pressure are by giving training, briefing, and upgrading. This is also important to give them training to increase their ESQ (Emotional and Spiritual Intelligent Quotation). ESQ training will increase their motivation and their resistance to deal with stress. It will be a waste if the staffs can work much quicker and the result is worse than usual. In this case, adding more staffs is needed.

4. The numbers of the Housekeeping staffs are limited.

The solution of these problems is by adding more staffs by recruiting new qualified employee, increasing the staff’s quality by holding various training programs and preventing taking staffs from other departments.
5. Many staffs work out of procedure.

Human Resources Department is responsible for handling these problems by holding upgrading for the hotel staffs. The periodic upgrading will maintain the employee quality. It will be more effective and efficient if each department supervisor is given more knowledge about management. This is the best solution before the Manager takes decision to replace the staffs who work out of procedure.

6. Lack of amenities number from the Supplier.

The number of amenities stock must be controlled regularly. The Order Taker should provide bigger amount of amenities than the needed amount. Some benefits of this solution are that the Order Taker will get discount when buying goods in big number, and if suddenly some amenities out of stock, there is no need to worry for the room attendants because there are some supplies.

Those are some suggestion that is expected to overcome the problems in the Housekeeping Department. Those suggestions are expected at least to maintain the quality and quantity of the Housekeeping Department works, or even better, to increase the quality and quantity of the Housekeeping Department work.
CHAPTER IV
CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

The writer can conclude some main points based on the discussion in the Third Chapter. The points are:

1. The Housekeeping Department of Novotel Solo is important to be responsible for maintaining freshness, neatness, tidiness, and cleanliness of hotel area. To fulfill its duties, Housekeeping Department cooperates with other Departments to operate the hotel function. They cooperates together to serve and to give impressing satisfaction towards their guest.

B. Suggestion

The writer would like to give some suggestion after having job training for three and a half months at Novotel Solo:

1. The English Diploma Program

   The English Diploma Program is good enough in facilitating the students by giving appropriate Hotelier materials. To support those materials, it will be better if the English Diploma Program has Hotelier Laboratory. This is useful because students can practice the materials there, for example bartender, food and beverage products, making bed, and room reservation. It will help the students during the job training.
2. The Housekeeping Department of Novotel Solo

It is appropriate if the Housekeeping Department adds more staffs in order to avoid the inadequate number of the workers. This staff growth can be supported by holding periodic upgrading. The expected result will be high quality the Housekeeping staff.

3. The Management of Novotel Solo

It is important to analyze, increase, and maintain employee’s condition; especially their work quality. It is appropriate if Novotel’s management holds English or Non English, hard skills, or soft skills training programs for its employee in order to increase their work quality.
