1. INTRODUCTION

Literature is about presentation of human life. Literary work is reflection of the author's imagination that shows of the phenomenon in their life. An understanding literary work also has connection with human being. A fantasy is a situation imagined by an individual that expresses certain desires or aims on the part of its creator. Fantasies sometimes involve situations that are highly unlikely; or they may be quite realistic. Fantasies can also be sexual in nature. Another, more basic meaning of fantasy is something which is not 'real,' as in perceived explicitly by any of the senses, but exists as an imagined situation of object to subject. There are literary within, and there can be analyzed by using the researcher using psychoanalytic analysis that is Anne of Green Gables by Lucy Maudmontgomerys. The novel tells about the imagination of Anne, a young orphan from the fictional community of Bolingbroke, Nova Scotia, is sent to Prince Edward Island after a childhood spent in strangers home and orphanages. Religious life is also reflected in the book. Anne taught Marilla prayed. Anne joined the Sunday school. In addition there are also some things that at the time it could not be done because it is considered a sin.

The researcher wants to use Psychoanalytic approach as the literary approach. Psychoanalytic is the psychology method that analyzes about imagination in psychology. This psychoanalysis is the theory from Sigmund Freud, where the focus is on id, ego and superego of human related with conscious and unconscious mind. Below is the reason of the researcher that uses psychoanalytic approach and the Anne of Green Gables novel as the focus of analysis.

The first reason is that focused on the main character, characterization and moral messages. The second reason was using sociological, educational and psychologically. The third reason is that focused on the extraversion as seen from the novel Lucy Maud Montgomery's Anne of Green Gables.

Based on the data above, the researcher tries to analyzed Anne of Green Gables novel by using psychoanalytic. The researcher proposes to conduct a research entitled IMAGINATION IN LUCY MAUD MONTGOMERY'S NOVEL ANNE OF GREEN GABLES (1908) : A PSYCHOANALYTIC APPROACH.

The problem statement of this research focused on the Imagination Anne in a problem “How is the Imagination in Lucy Maud Montgomery's Novel Anne of Green Gables (1908)?”

The objectives of the study are mentioned as follows : first to analyze Anne Green Gables novel based on structural elements of novel, second to analyze Imagination in Lucy Maud Montgomery's novel Anne of Green Gables based on a psychoanalytic approach.

The first research was written by Pandu Wijoyo Situmorang in 2012 from Pamulang University with title “An Analysis of Main Character, Characterization, and Moral Messages in the Novel Anne of Green Gables”. on that research Pandu Wijoyo Situmorang concerned about the main character, characterization, and moral messages.

The second research was written by Cecillia Whenny Kusumaningtyas in 2013 from Jember University with title “The Analysis of Formal and Informal Education on the Development of Attitude and Behaviour of the Main Female Character in Lucy Maud Montgomery's Anne of Green Gables”. this research describes the development of main female character;s attitude and behavior through formal and informal education in the novel Anne of Green Gables.

The third research was written by Nur Afni Finansia in – from Surabaya State University (UNESA) with tite “Anne's Extraversion and Its Major Cause in Laud Maud Montgomery's Anne of Green Gables”. this research focused on extraversion as seen from the novel Lucy Maud Montgomery's Anne of Green Gables.

The difference between those researcher with this research is that the focus of the approach, the researcher uses psychoanalytic approach.

Freud constructed a model of personality with three interlocking parts; the Id, the Ego and the Superego.

1. Id

The id engages in primary process thinking, which is primitive, illogical, irrational and fantasy oriented. This form of process thinking has no comprehension of objective reality and is selfish and wishful in nature. (Freud, 1920)

2. Ego

The ego is a psychological aspect of personality and emerges because of the organism need to get in touch with the reality. Ego has a function to reduce the tension in organism by finding the appropriate object. The ego operates based on the reality principle, which strives to satisfy the id desires in realistic and socially appropriate ways. The ego is that part of the id which has been modified by the direct influence of the external world. (Freud, 1923)

3. Superego

The Superego is the moral arm of personality; it represents the ideal rather than the real and it strives for perfection rather than pleasure. Its main concern is to decide whether something is right or wrong so that it can act in accordance with the moral standards authorizes by the agents of society (Hall and Lindzey, 1985: 34)

Imagination, also called the faculty of imagining, is the ability to form new images and sensations in the mind that are not perceived through senses such as sight, hearing, or other senses. Imagination helps make knowledge applicable in solving problems and is fundamental to integrating experience and the learning process. (Norman : 2000)

2. Research Method
