Cylinder Beach, Point Lookout, North Stradbroke Island QLD (Australia) on 14 August 2002. North Stradbroke Island is part of a series of three large sandy islands off Brisbane QLD (Australia) separating Moreton Bay from the Pacific Ocean. North Stradbroke Island is about 38 km long and 11 km wide. The Main Beach extends for 32 km on the Eastern shore. Cylinder Beach is a smaller beach on the Northern shore between Point Lookout and Amity Point. Note the Southern tip of Moreton Island in the background.
