BRYN MAWR COLLEGE.

GRADUATE COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE, situated at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, five miles from Philadelphia, was endowed by Dr. Joseph W. Taylor of Burlington, New Jersey, who purposed founding an institution of learning for the advanced education of women which should afford them "all the advantages of a college education that are so freely offered to young men." In the spring of 1885 the first program was issued, and the college opened for instruction in the following autumn.

Three classes of persons are admitted to the lectures and class work of the college—graduate students, undergraduate students, and hearers. For the convenience of graduate students the regulations of the graduate department and the graduate courses of instruction are published separately. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Regulations of the Graduate Department.

From the first it has been the policy of the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College to organise no department in which they could not provide for graduate as well as undergraduate study. Only such instructors have been chosen as are qualified to direct both graduate and undergraduate work. In each department a consecutive series of graduate courses pursued throughout three years provides preparation in the chief or major subject of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, and certain courses may be pursued for one or two years and offered as one of the two minor or secondary subjects.

Admission.

Graduate students must have presented a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing.* They may pursue any courses offered by the college for which their previous training has fitted them; but they must satisfy the several instructors of their ability to profit by the courses they desire to follow, and may be required to pursue certain introductory or auxiliary studies before they are admitted to the advanced or purely graduate courses. They are, moreover, entitled to personal guidance and direction, supervision of their general reading and furtherance of their investigations, from the instructors, and their needs will be considered in the arrangement of new courses of lectures; they must consult the President in regard to the courses they are to pursue, and must be duly registered for those courses at the President's office.

* The certificates of the women's colleges of the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge, are regarded as equivalent to a first degree,—i. e., to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

A reading knowledge of French and German is regarded as of the utmost importance to all graduate students, and is required of all candidates for a second degree. The undergraduate department will afford the student every opportunity for making good any deficiencies in this respect.

Fellowships and Scholarships.

The most distinguished place among the graduate students is held by the Fellows, who must reside in the college during the academic year. Fifteen resident fellowships, of the value of five hundred and twenty-five dollars each, are awarded annually in Greek, Latin, English, German and Teutonic Philology, Romance Languages, Semitic Languages and Biblical Literature, History, Economics and Politics, Philosophy, Archæology, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, and Biology. They are open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing, and will be awarded only to candidates who have completed at least one year of graduate work after obtaining their first degree. The fellowships are intended as an honor, and are awarded in recognition of previous attainments; generally speaking, they will be awarded to the candidates that have studied longest or to those whose work gives most promise of future success.

The holder of a fellowship is expected to devote at least one half her time to the department in which the fellowship is awarded, and to show, by the presentation of a thesis or in some other manner, that her studies have not been without result. All fellows may study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the fellowship being counted, for this purpose, as equivalent to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Fellows that continue their studies at the college after the expiration of the fellowship, may, by a vote of the directors, receive the rank of Fellows by Courtesy.

Fellows are expected to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, to assist in the conduct of examinations, and to give about an hour a week to the care of special libraries in the halls of residence and in the seminaries, but no such service may be required of them except by a written request from the president's office; they are not permitted, while holding the fellowship, to teach, or to undertake any other duties in addition to their college work. Fellows are required to reside in the college and are assigned rooms by the Secretary of the College. They are charged the usual fee of four hundred and five dollars for tuition, board, room rent, and infirmary fee.

Twenty Graduate Scholarships, of the value of two hundred dollars each, may be awarded to candidates next in merit to the successful candidates for the fellowships; they are also open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing. Scholars are expected to reside in the college, to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress and assist in the conduct of examinations.

One Graduate Scholarship in Political Theory of the value of two hundred and fifty dollars was founded in 1910 in memory of Susan B. Anthony, and is awarded to the candidate wishing to devote herself to studies in political theory whose work shows most promise of future success.

Ten Graduate Scholarships, of the value of four hundred and five dollars each were founded in 1909 and are open, five to English, Scotch, or Irish women, and five to German women, whose academic work is equivalent to that denoted by the Bachelor's degree of an American college or university of acknowledged standing. The amount of the scholarship, four hundred and five dollars, covers the fees for tuition, board, residence, and infirmary fee for the academic year. A furnished single room is assigned to each scholar, but this is not available in the Christmas and Easter vacations when scholars who remain at the college have to pay the expenses of board and residence at approximately the same rate as is charged for graduate students during the academic year.

Application for resident fellowships or scholarships should be made as early as possible to the President of the College, and must be made not later than the fifteenth* of April preceding the academic year for which the fellowship or scholarship is desired. Blank forms of application will be forwarded to the applicants. A definite answer will be given within two weeks from the latest date set for receiving applications. Any original papers, printed or in manuscript, which have been prepared by the applicant and sent in support of her application, will be returned, when stamps for that purpose are enclosed, or specific directions for return by express are given. Letters or testimonials from professors and instructors will be filed for reference.

The Anna Ottendorfer Memorial Research Fellowship in German and Teutonic Philology of the value of seven hundred dollars applicable to the expenses of one year's study and residence at some German university is awarded annually to a graduate student who has completed at least one year of graduate study at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship will be awarded to the candidate who has pursued the most advanced work, or whose studies afford the most promise of future success. She must show such proficiency in her studies or in independent work as to furnish reason to believe that she will be able to conduct independent investigations in the field of Teutonic Philology or German.

Two European fellowships, founded by Miss Garrett, of Baltimore, are open to graduate students who are enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. One, founded in 1896, and named by the donor the President M. Carey Thomas Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in her first year of graduate work at Bryn Mawr College; the other, founded in 1894, and known as the Mary E. Garrett Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. These fellowships, of the value of five hundred dollars each, are intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

* In the case of candidates for the Scholarships open to British and German women applications must be received by May the first. Applications for the scholarships should be accompanied by full particulars of the candidate's academic work by diplomas or certificates and by letters of recommendation from professors and should be addressed in the case of British candidates to the President of Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, U. S. A., and in the case of German candidates to Seiner Excellenz dem Herrn Staatssekretär des Innern, Reichsamt des Innern, Berlin, Germany.

Studies Leading to a Second Degree.

Graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and graduates of other colleges, who shall have satisfied the Academic Council that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given at Bryn Mawr College, or who shall have attended such additional courses of lectures as may be prescribed, may apply to the Academic Council to be enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts; admission to the graduate school does not, in itself, qualify a student to become a candidate for this degree. A separate degree of Master of Arts is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, but to them only.

The Degree of Master of Arts.

The candidate for the degree of Master of Arts must be a Bachelor of Arts of Bryn Mawr College and must have studied for one full year in the graduate school of Bryn Mawr College, devoting herself to systematic advanced work approved by the Graduate Committee of the Academic Council. The candidate must submit her proposed course of study for the approval of this committee on or before the second Wednesday in November. She must pass a special written examination on each subject to the satisfaction of the department in which she has studied, and must announce her candidacy to the President not later than the first day of May in the academic year in which the degree is to be conferred.

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts.

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts may be conferred upon graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and upon graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council either that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or that it has been adequately supplemented by subsequent study.

The candidate must have pursued for at least three years after having received the first degree a course of liberal (non-professional) study at some college or university approved by the Academic Council, and must have spent at least two of these years at Bryn Mawr College. The course of study leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts must consist of one principal, or major, subject and one or two subordinate, or minor, subjects and must be divided between at least two departments. Two-thirds of the candidate's time should be spent on the major subject and the remaining one-third on the minor subject or subjects, and the suggested combination of major and minor subjects for the final examination must have been submitted for approval to the Graduate Committee. The candidate may be required to pursue certain auxiliary studies in connection with the subject that she has elected; and the degree of Doctor of Philosophy is given to no one who cannot read French and German, or who is unacquainted with Latin. The candidate must have written, on some subject connected with her major subject of study, a dissertation approved by the Faculty that bears satisfactory evidence of original research and must pass written examinations and an oral examination in the presence of the members of the Faculty on both major and minor subjects. These examinations are held after the dissertation has been accepted by the department in which it is offered and must be taken within the academic year in which the candidate applies for the degree. The degree is not conferred until the candidate has satisfied the above requirements and deposited one hundred and fifty printed copies of her dissertation, bound according to a prescribed model, in the office of the Secretary of the College, and one copy specially bound for deposit in the library. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy will in no case be conferred by the college as an honorary degree.

Expenses.

For graduate students attending six or more hours a week of lectures, and for fellows and graduate scholars the tuition fee is one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, payable half-yearly in advance. For other graduate students who do not wish to devote all their time to graduate work the fees are as follows, payable in advance: for one hour a week of lectures, ten dollars a semester; for two hours a week of lectures, twenty dollars a semester; for three hours a week of lectures, thirty dollars a semester; and for four or five hours a week of lectures, forty dollars a semester.* This arrangement is made especially for non-resident graduate students, but those who wish to take five hours a week of lectures, or less may live in the college halls on the understanding that they must give up their rooms if needed for students who are taking the full amount of graduate work and paying the regular tuition fee. The tuition fee for the semester becomes due as soon as the student is registered in the college office. No reduction of this fee can be made on account of absence or for any other reason whatsoever. Graduate students are admitted to residence or to attendance on lectures at any time during the year, and in this case a proportionate reduction is made in the charges for board and room-rent and for tuition. Every student who enters the college must register immediately at the comptroller's office, and must register her courses at the president's office within two weeks after entrance under penalty of exclusion from the college. Any change made later in the courses registered must be

* The fees charged are reckoned on the basis of the actual hours of conference or lecture, irrespective of the number of undergraduate hours to which the course is regarded as equivalent.

In counting the number of hours for which a graduate is registered the following special arrangements are made in regard to laboratory courses: payment for a one hour lecture course in a scientific department entitles the student to four hours of laboratory work in addition with no extra charge except the laboratory fee. Students registered for laboratory work only, are charged the following tuition fee: for each two and one-half hours of undergraduate laboratory course and for each five hours of graduate laboratory course the same fee as for a one hour lecture course. The laboratory fees as stated on page 54 are charged in addition to the charge for tuition.

reported immediately to the president's office, or the courses will not be permitted to count, and a charge of one dollar will be made for each change made in the course after it has been definitely registered.

Graduate students taking courses in scientific departments (Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, and Psychology) amounting to six or more hours a week of lecture courses or its equivalent in laboratory courses are charged a laboratory fee of eighteen dollars a semester with the following exceptions: if the student takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to six hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to twelve dollars a semester; and if she takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to ten hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to six dollars a semester.

Graduate students taking less than six hours a week of lectures, or its equivalent in laboratory work, are charged a laboratory fee of ten dollars a semester for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and of five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

In courses in geology each hour of field work counts as one hour of laboratory work.

Residence.

Residence in the college buildings is optional except for holders of resident fellowships and scholarships. In each hall of residence, except Merion Hall, a special wing or corridor is reserved for graduate students, and in order to secure entire quiet no undergraduate students are permitted to engage rooms in the graduate wings. The expense of board and residence in the graduate wings of the college halls is two hundred and seventy-five dollars. Of this amount two hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expenses of furnishing, service, heating, and light.

Plans and descriptions of the academic buildings and of the halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall West, Pembroke Hall East, and Rockefeller Hall, with a full account of the halls and tariff of rooms, are published as Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar and may be obtained by application to the Secretary of the College. Each of the halls of residence (except Pembroke, which has a common dining-hall and kitchen for the two wings) has its separate kitchen and dining-hall, provides accommodation for from sixty to seventy students, and is under the charge of a resident warden.

Application for rooms should be made as early as possible. The demand for graduate rooms is very great, and since every room unnecessarily reserved may prevent some other student from entering the college, a deposit of fifteen dollars is required in order that the application may be registered. In case the applicant enters the college in the year for which the room is reserved, the amount of the deposit is deducted from the first college bill. If she changes the date of her application or files formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before July fifteenth of the year for which the application is made, the deposit will be refunded. If, for any reason whatever, the change or withdrawal be made later than July fifteenth, the amount will be forfeited. Students making application for a room in February forfeit the deposit if they do not file formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before December first of the academic year for which the room is reserved. In order to make application for a room it is necessary to sign a room-contract, which will be sent on application, and return it with the fee of fifteen dollars to the Secretary of the College. A deposit of fifteen dollars must also be made by each student in residence in order to insure the tenure of her room for the following academic year. This sum will be forfeited if formal notice of withdrawal is not filed at the secretary's office on or before May first of the current year.

Every applicant giving up later than the first of September the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for the ensuing academic year is responsible for the rent thereof for the whole year. Every applicant for a room in February will be responsible for the rent of the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for one semester, unless she gives formal notice of withdrawal to the Secretary before the first of January. The charges for room rent are not subject to remission or deduction under any circumstances, being considered forfeit in case of withdrawal for any cause whatever. The applicant is not entitled to relet the rooms thus left vacant, but this right the college reserves to itself. No refund will be made to the applicant in case the room or suite of rooms thus left vacant is relet by the college. Any student who changes her room is required to pay an extra fee of fifteen dollars.

Students are expected to provide their own rugs and towels, but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. Electric reading lamps, table napkins, sheets, etc., are provided by the college. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms.

There are open fire-places in nearly all the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by steam. The air in each room is changed every ten minutes, and the temperature is regulated by a thermostat in each room. The students' personal washing may be done by any laundry recommended by the college for 50 cents a dozen, or about $8 a half-year for one dozen pieces a week.

No charge is made for sending meals to students that are in the infirmary by the order of a physician.

Accommodation is provided for graduate students that wish to remain at the college during the Christmas and Easter vacations at $1.25 a day or $8.75 a week.

The health of the students is under the charge of a Health Committee consisting of the President, the Dean of the College, the Director of Athletics, the Senior Warden, and the physicians of the college.

The Visiting Physician of the College is in her office in the college during the hours from four to six of every afternoon, except Sunday, and may be consulted by the students without charge.

Every student entering the college will be vaccinated unless she can furnish satisfactory proof that she has been successfully vaccinated not more than two years previously.

The conduct of the students in all matters not purely academic, or affecting the management of the halls of residence, or the student body as a whole, is in the hands of the Students' Association for Self-Government, which was organised in 1892. All persons studying in Bryn Mawr College, whether graduates or undergraduates, are members of this association.

The college reserves the right to exclude at any time students whose conduct or academic standing renders them undesirable members of the college community, and in such cases the fees due to the college are not refunded or remitted.

In 1893 the Bryn Mawr Graduate Club was organised by the graduate students then in residence, its object being to further the social life of the graduate students and to facilitate interchange of opinion with other colleges and universities doing graduate work. A room in Denbigh Hall is set apart by the college to be used by the members as a club-room. Informal meetings are frequently held in these rooms, and several times during the year the club invites the Faculty and friends of the college to larger social gatherings, which are addressed by well-known speakers.

THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND OF BRYN MAWR COLLEGE was founded by the Class of 1890 for the purpose of receiving contributions, however small, from those who are interested in aiding students to obtain an education. The money thus contributed is distributed in the form of partial aid, and as a loan. It is as a rule applied to the assistance of those students only who have attended courses in the college for at least one year. The Fund is managed by a committee consisting of the President of the College and representatives of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College. The committee reports yearly to the Board of Trustees and to the Alumnae Association. The committee consists of the following members: President M. Carey Thomas; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Secretary and Treasurer, Bryn Mawr College; Mrs. Bernard Todd Converse, Ardmore, Pa.; Miss Anne Hampton Todd, 2115 Spruce Street, Philadelphia; Mrs. Edward Wyatt Evans, 151 East Coulter Street, Germantown, Philadelphia, and Miss Ethel Pew, Morris Avenue, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee. Applications for loans should be sent to the Treasurer of the committee, and all applications for loans for any given year should be made before May 1st of the preceding academic year.

Libraries.

The fact that the college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelphia enables the student to make use of all the resources of the libraries of Philadelphia, as well as those of the college proper.

The college library has been collected within the past twenty-seven years, and is designed to be, as far as possible, a library for special study. There are at present on its shelves about sixty-seven thousand bound volumes, and ten thousand dissertations and pamphlets, the collection including the classical library of the late Professor Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was presented to the college in 1894, and the Semitic library of the late Professor Amiaud, of Paris, acquired in 1892. A more detailed description of these two collections may be found on pages 66 and 91.

The sum of about seven thousand dollars is expended yearly for books under the direction of the heads of the several collegiate departments, and, in addition to many gifts of books, about twenty thousand dollars has been presented to the library during the past ten years for expenditure in special departments. Over four hundred publications and reviews in the English, German, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, Norse, and Swedish languages, are taken by the library, as follows:

The library is open daily from eight A. M. to ten P. M. Books may be taken out by the students unless specially reserved for library reference use.

There are in Philadelphia the following important libraries which are available for students:

The Philadelphia Library Company, which contains about 235,000 volumes and 30,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation. Private subscription, for four volumes, $12 a year, or $10 for nine months.

The Mercantile Library, which contains about 190,000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets. Private subscription, $5.00 a year for two separate works at a time.

The Library of the Academy of Natural Sciences, which contains about 68,000 volumes. The Council of the Academy has generously conceded the use of its library and of its museum to the students of Bryn Mawr College.

The Library of the University of Pennsylvania, which contains about 320,000 volumes and 50,000 pamphlets. The custodians of this library have always shown great courtesy in placing rare volumes at the disposal of the college.

The Free Library of Philadelphia, which contains about 375,000 volumes and 89,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation.

The American Philosophical Society Library, which contains about 53,000 volumes, admission by card.

The Historical Society of Pennsylvania Library, which contains over 80,000 volumes, and 200,000 pamphlets, is for reference only. Every courtesy is extended to members of the college.

Sanskrit and Comparative Philology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Roland G. Kent, Non-resident Lecturer in Sanskrit.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The following graduate courses are offered in each year:

Lectures on Comparative Philology, and Philological Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Students entering this course are expected to be familiar with German and French. A short preliminary course in Sanskrit is also of great aid to the student. The lectures on comparative philology treat of the connection of the Greek and Latin languages with the related languages of the Aryan group, first, phonetically, secondly, from the point of view of grammatical forms, and lastly, from the point of view of syntax. In the first part of the course which covers what during the last few years has been the field of the most active research the student is introduced to the latest theories and discoveries in Aryan phonetics, and is expected to read and criticise the articles appearing from time to time in the philological journals, and to prepare reports on these articles. The same method is pursued during the investigation of the history of forms; and in the third part of the course the student begins the study of comparative syntax by a close comparison of the use of cases and verbal forms in Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Elementary Sanskrit.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Whitney's Grammar is used and the classical selections from Lanman's Reader are read, followed by rapid reading in some easy text of the classical literature. Exercises in Sanskrit prose composition are prepared by the student.

The courses in Comparative Philology and in Elementary Sanskrit will not, as a rule, be given in the same year.

Advanced Sanskrit.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Lectures are given on the phonology and morphology of Sanskrit. The study of Lanman's Reader is continued and Kālidāsa's Sakuntalā, Act I, is read.

Greek.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Nevill Sanders, Professor of Greek; Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Associate Professor of Greek; Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, and Miss Abby Kirk, Reader in Elementary Greek.

Exceptional facilities for the study of all departments of classical philology are offered by the large classical library owned by the College. The greater part of this library is formed by the well-known collection of the late Professor Hermann Sauppe of Göttingen, which was acquired in 1894. This has been supplemented by purchases made by the college library, so that the classical library now numbers some seven thousand volumes, including complete sets of most of the important journals, and about seven thousand dissertations and monographs.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses in Greek are varied from year to year in two series, Attic Tragedy, Orators, and Historians, and the Homeric Question, Menander, Plato, and Aristophanes, in order that they may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. Students electing Greek as part of the work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer with each three hour seminary a two hour seminary and vice versa, so as to make up five hours of seminary work, but both seminaries need not be taken in the same year. Three five hour courses are required of students who offer Greek as a major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; two five hour courses are required when Greek is the only minor subject offered, and one five hour course when two minors are offered. The post-major courses also are open to graduate students. A large part of the work expected of graduate students consists of courses of reading pursued under the direction of the department; and reports of this reading are from time to time required of the students. A reading knowledge of French and German is required. The course in Comparative Philology is recommended to graduate students of Greek. For graduate courses in History of Art and Classical Archæology, which may be offered as a minor by students taking Greek as a subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, see page 106.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Sanders conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Greek Seminary.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 Greek orators are studied in the seminary. The work consists of the reading of large portions of all the orators and the critical interpretation of a selected part of each. Lectures are given on legal antiquities, the syntax, and the style of the various authors, in conjunction with which Dionysius of Halicarnassus and the Greek Rhetoricians are studied. The later rhetoricians are treated and their criticism of antiquity investigated. Students are expected to provide themselves with the Teubner text editions of Antiphon, Andocides, Lysias, Isocrates, Isæus, Æschines, Hypereides, and Demosthenes. The classical library is well equipped with works on the orators.

In 1913-14 the main subject of the seminary will be the Greek Historians. Thucydides is studied in detail and reports are made on data of history contained in Greek literature in general. Lectures are given by the instructor on subjects connected with Greek historiography, such as the composition of Thucydides's history, the syntax and style of Thucydides, the history of early prose, Greek historical inscriptions.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be Attic Tragedy. The work of the seminary in textual criticism is devoted to the editing of Euripides's Orestes, while the special work is devoted to the plays bearing on the Orestes myth. Members of the seminary report on assigned subjects and give critical summaries of current classical literature.

Dr. Wright conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Greek Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary in the first semester is Menander. A thorough study of all the extant fragments of Menander is made with reports by the students on Menander's style, metres, text, and influence on Latin Comedy. The recent discovery of considerable remains of Menander's Comedies and the publication of the Cairo Menander (1907) have provided sufficient material to make such a course profitable to students of the Greek drama.

In the second semester the subject of the seminary is the Homeric Question, and the work consists of a review of the discussions of the Homeric poems since the publication of Wolf's Prolegomena. The various tests that have been applied to the poems by archaeologists, linguists, historians of myths, and æsthetic critics are taken up and criticised in detail.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary will be Aristophanes. The aim of the seminary is to make the students familiar with the more important Aristophanic literature up to the present day. Portions of the text are interpreted by the class and reports on assigned topics, literary, historical, and archæological, connected with the plays are expected from all the members. All the comedies of Aristophanes are read in the course of the year; lectures are given by the instructor on the metres and syntax of Aristophanes, on the dramatic structure of the plays and on the history of Attic comedy. Part of the work consists of analyses of Latin and German dissertations on Aristophanes which are presented by members of the class. Every member of the class should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Aristophanes. The Teubner (Leipzig) or Clarendon Press (Oxford) editions are recommended.

In 1914-15 the seminary will be in Plato. The work is mainly literary and critical. Lectures on the style, philosophy, and chronology of the dialogues are given by the instructor; a detailed interpretation of a portion of Plato, and reports on topics set for discussion are given by the class. The students are expected to read the Republic, Theætetus, Parmenides, and Sophist and discuss certain problems arising from these dialogues. The aim of the course is to lay a foundation for independent work by familiarising the students with the achievements of German scholarship and the general field of Platonic literature up to the present day. Analyses of German and Latin dissertations are expected from the class. Lutoslawski's Origin and Growth of Plato's Logic will be studied and criticised in detail. Every member of the seminary should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Plato. The Teubner (Leipzig) or Clarendon Press (Oxford) editions are recommended.

In 1915-16 the Homeric Question will be the subject of the seminary throughout the year.

Dr. Sanders and Dr. Wright together conduct the journal club:

Greek Journal Club.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1912-13 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Æschylus, Oresteia .	Two hours a week during the first semester.
Aristophanes, Acharnians , Knights .	One hour a week during the first semester.
Pindar and Bacchylides.	Two hours a week during the second semester.
Sophocles, Electra or Euripides, Electra .	One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1913-14 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Minor Orations of the Attic Orators.	Two hours a week during the first semester.
Sophocles, Antigone or Oedipus Tyrannus .	One hour a week during the first semester.
Æschylus, Agamemnon or Thucydides.	Two hours a week during the second semester.
Greek Prose Composition.	One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1914-15 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Sophocles, Trachiniæ and Euripides, Heracles .	Two hours a week during the first semester.
Herodotus.	One hour a week during the first semester.
Greek Prose Composition.	One hour a week during the second semester.
Greek Rhetoricians or Fragments of Authors in the Papyri.	One hour a week during the second semester.
Euripides, Bacchæ .	One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Wright offers in 1912-13 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Æschylus, Agamemnon .	Two hours a week during the first semester.
Theocritus.	Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Wright offers in 1913-14 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Melic Poets.	Two hours a week during the first semester.
Plato, Republic .	Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Wright offers in 1914-15 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Theocritus.	Two hours a week during the first semester.
Æschylus, Septem .	Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Wright offers in 1915-16 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Palatine Anthology or Lucian.	Two hours a week during the first semester.
Sophocles, Ajax .	Two hours a week during the second semester.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Minor courses, amounting to five hours a week, are offered in Classical Art and Archæology; see page 102.

A free elective course of two hours a week is offered in New Testament Greek; see page 91.

Latin.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Arthur Leslie Wheeler, Professor of Latin, Dr. Tenney Frank, Professor of Latin, Dr. James Fulton Ferguson, Associate in Ancient History and Latin, and Miss Mary Hamilton Swindler, Reader in Latin and Demonstrator in Archæology.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate work in Latin is conducted according to the seminary method, and is intended not only to broaden the student's knowledge, but also to teach methods of work. The graduate courses in Latin are varied from year to year in three series, Roman Comedy, Lyric Poetry and Elegy, and Roman History, Epigraphy and Literature, or Syntax. Students electing Latin as part of the work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer with each three hour seminary a two hour seminary and vice versa, so as to make up five hours of seminary work, but both seminaries need not be taken in the same year. Such students are recommended to attend the Journal Club. Three five hour courses are required of students who offer Latin as a major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; two five hour courses are required when Latin is the only minor subject offered and one five hour course when two minors are offered. It is desirable that all students who intend to do advanced work in Latin should have some knowledge of Greek. A reading knowledge of French and German is also necessary.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Wheeler conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Latin Seminary.	Three hours a week throughout the year.
-----------------	--

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary is Latin Comedy. All the plays of Plautus and Terence are read by the students; single plays form the basis of special work on the language, text, metres, etc.

Students should provide themselves with the text edition of Plautus, edited by W. M. Lindsay, Oxford, 1903-04, and with Dziatzko's text of Terence, Leipsic, Tauchnitz, 1884.

The plays of Plautus, annotated by Brix, Leipsic, Teubner, 1888-1901, and by Lorenz, Berlin, Weidmann, 1876-86, and the plays of Terence, annotated by Dziatzko (revised by Hauler), 1898 and 1903 (Teubner), and by Spengel, 1879 and 1905, Weidmann, are also recommended. P. Terenti Afri Commoediae, edited by S. G. Ashmore, Oxford University Press, New York, 1908, is a convenient commentary.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary will be the Roman Lyric in the Period of the Republic. After a rapid survey of the fragmentary lyric remains of the predecessors and contemporaries of Catullus, the poems of Catullus himself are studied in detail. Students should have Catulli carmina (Oxford text, 1904), edited by Robinson Ellis, and either the same scholar's Commentary on Catullus, Oxford, Clarendon Press, 1889 (second edition), or G. Friedrich's Catulli Veronensis liber, Leipsic and Berlin, 1908 (Teubner).

In 1914-15 Roman Elegy as represented by Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid will be the subject of the seminary. In addition to a careful study of selected poems an effort is made to trace the history of elegy among the Romans. The various topics connected with the subject are treated in detail as far as time permits, and the students are encouraged to familiarise themselves with the best literature in editions, periodicals, and dissertations. The texts recommended are the Oxford Clarendon Press editions of Catullus and Tibullus, edited by Ellis and Postgate, and the Leipsic (Teubner) text of Propertius, edited by C. Hosius, 1911.

Dr. Frank conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Latin Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 Cicero's correspondence is the subject of the seminary. An effort is made to master typical textual and linguistic problems presented by this text, and more especially to extend the student's acquaintance with the Roman civilisation of Cicero's day.

In 1913-14 the work of the seminary will be Latin Epigraphy and Palaeography. About two-thirds of the course is devoted to the study of the Corpus Inscriptionum. The questions assigned for investigation deal mainly with Roman political institutions, public and private life, and with historical grammar. Dessau's Inscriptiones Latinae Selectae is used in the class room. The paleographical facsimiles of Chatelain, Zangemeister and Wattenbach, and Arndt form the basis for work in the latter part of the course.

In 1914-15 selected topics in Roman Literature are studied. The work consists of studies in the beginnings of the Roman epic, tragedy, and prose. The students read reports on special subjects assigned to them. A study of Latin Syntax may be substituted.

Dr. Wheeler and Dr. Frank together conduct the journal club.

Latin Journal Club.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Wheeler offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Roman Elegy.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

An effort is made to trace historically the development of this branch of poetry among the Romans. Selections from Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid are read. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Special attention is devoted to the structure and reading of the elegiac distich and to the characteristics of Roman poetic diction. Each student is required to prepare papers and reports on assigned topics in each semester.

Dr. Wheeler offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Roman Satire.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The subject is treated historically in order to give an outline of the origin and development of Satire. The class reads selections from Horace, Persius, Seneca, Petronius, and Juvenal, together with some of the fragments of Ennius, Lucilius, and Varro. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Each student is required to prepare papers and reports on assigned topics in each semester.

Dr. Frank offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

The Life and Works of Vergil.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The larger part of the Aeneid, two books of the Georgics and some of the minor poems are read and discussed.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Roman Prose of the Empire.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

Selections from Velleius, Seneca, Quintilian, Tacitus, Suetonius, Apuleius, and Minucius Felix are read.

Dr. Frank offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Lucretius and Catullus.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

Selections from the De Rerum Natura and from the lyrics of Catullus are read.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Cicero and Cæsar.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

An effort is made by means of lectures, discussions and extensive reading to gain an intimate acquaintance with the literary work and the political careers of Cicero and Cæsar.

Dr. Frank offers in each year the following elective course, open to graduate students:

Lectures on Roman Life.

One hour a week throughout the year.

An attempt is made to describe briefly Roman social and economic conditions, as well as the development of religious beliefs and institutions.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

English.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Professor of English, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Professor of English, Dr. Carleton Fairchild Brown, Professor of English Philology, Dr. Orie Latham Hatcher, Associate Professor of Comparative Literature and Elizabethan Literature, Dr. Alfred Horatio Upham, Associate Professor of English Literature, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Non-resident Lecturer in English Diction, Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Lecturer in the History of Art and Comparative Literature, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, Miss Edna Aston Shearer, Miss E. Beatrice Daw, Miss Helen Estabrook Sandison, Miss Marion Delia Crane, Dr. Ida Langdon, and Miss Christine Potts Hammer, Readers in English.

GRADUATE COURSES.

There are offered each year distinct graduate seminars and courses in English literature and in English language, and these seminars and courses are varied so as to enable candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to pursue graduate work for three or more successive years. The graduate courses in literature presuppose at least as much knowledge as is obtained in the two years' course of undergraduate lectures on English literature and in one of the literature years of the English major; and the graduate courses in Anglo-Saxon presuppose as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language year in the English major.

Students who choose English as their chief subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have, if they specialise in literature, at least as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon, and if they specialise in language, at least as much knowledge of literature, as is obtained in the course required of those students who make English one of the chief subjects of undergraduate study, and must have taken at least the equivalent of the essay work in the required English course.

The graduate instruction in English literature includes the direction of private reading and the assignment of topics for investigation.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Brown conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Middle English.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 the beginnings of English Drama are the subject of the seminary. Though the cycles of the mystery plays are considered in general, the larger part of the time is devoted to the study of the English morality plays. Particular attention is given to the connection between the moralities and the didactic treatises and the debates. The moralities and the secular drama are studied historically up to the time of Heywood. In addition to the reading and discussion of selected plays, lectures are given by the instructor with the object of setting various elements of dramatic development in proper proportion. Critical reports on assigned topics are required from the students.

In 1913-14 the subject is the Middle English Romances. All the romances represented in the Middle English are read, and the relation of these English versions to their Latin and Old French originals are discussed. The romance cycles are taken up in the following order: Troy story, Alexander saga, romances of Germanic origin, Arthurian cycle, Charlemagne cycle. Special investigations of various elements in individual romances are undertaken from time to time by the members of the seminary.

In 1914-15 the seminary will undertake the study of The Vision of Piers the Plowman and the works of Chaucer. Attention is devoted not so much to the critical reading of the texts themselves as to the examination of the questions of authorship and chronology which have recently been raised. These poems are also discussed in their relation to the other literature of the fourteenth century. Special subjects for individual investigation are assigned to the members of the seminary.

Dr. Brown offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following graduate courses:

Beowulf.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course gives in the first place a general survey of Beowulf criticism, including textual problems, theories as to the composition of the poem, and an enquiry into its historical and mythological elements. In this connection a study is also made of the other pieces of Anglo-Saxon heathen poetry. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon texts, or its equivalent.

English Historical Grammar.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course the development of the English Language is traced from the earliest times. After an outline has been given of the history and external relations of English, the change and decay of inflections, the use of prepositions and the more important points in historical syntax are discussed. The course presupposes a knowledge of Anglo-Saxon and Middle English.

Dr. Brown offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following graduate course:

Cynewulf and Cædmon.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Several of the poems traditionally ascribed to these authors are critically studied. Lectures are given with a view to furnishing a thorough introduction to Anglo-Saxon Christian poetry and the literary problems connected with it. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon texts or its equivalent.

Miss Donnelly conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English Literature.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 Swift, Addison, and Steele are studied. Attention is given to their relations to both contemporary politics and literature.

In 1913-14 Shelley and Byron will be studied. Special attention is given to the phases of Romanticism shown in their work and to their relations to their contemporaries in England and on the Continent.

In 1914-15 Milton, Sir Thomas Browne, and Jeremy Taylor will be studied in their relation to the development of English prose in the seventeenth century.

Dr. Upham conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English Literature. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 the seminary is devoted to studies in the later romantic movement in England, including the period of its diffusion. Emphasis is placed upon such matters as the Italian and Spanish revival, the new interest in Hellenism, the Tractarian movement in the church, and the various ideals of art represented in the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood. Extensive studies in these lines during the first semester prepare for special investigations later.

In 1913-14 the seminary will be concerned with the literary and critical activity of the mid-eighteenth century, centering in Dr. Johnson and his circle. Representative works of the period are read and discussed, and particular attention is directed to such matters as the coterie spirit, the influence of periodical literature, the relations of author and public, the breaking down of classical standards, and the rise of romanticism in England and abroad.

The seminary in 1914-15 will deal with the various phases of English sentimentalism in their relation to continental activities. After tracing the earlier development of the sentimental spirit, a thorough study will be made of the manifestations of this spirit in eighteenth century novel and drama. Particular attention will be given to the bearing of sentimentalism on the beginnings of the romantic movement, and special studies will be made of literary relationships.

Dr. Upham offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Modern Literary Criticism. Two hours a week throughout the year.

A survey of the important phases of literary criticism in Europe from the neo-classic period, through the development of romanticism, to the present day. Inter-relations of England and the continent will be made prominent. This course will be similar in scope and method to the course in Literary Criticism through the Renaissance.

Dr. Upham offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Literary Criticism through the Renaissance.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

A survey, from the graduate point of view, of the significant movements and documents in the history of European critical theory from Aristotle, through the activities of the Renaissance, to the consummation of the neo-classic code in the seventeenth century. The bearing of these upon English literature will be emphasized throughout. The lectures aim chiefly to indicate outline and relationships, the important feature of the course being the thorough study and frequent discussion of the material.

Dr. Hatcher conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Elizabethan Literature. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 Shakespeare is the subject of the seminary. In the first semester as detailed a review as is practicable is made of the results of Shakesperian scholarship as regards critical problems of biography, authorship, chronology and source material of the plays, a comparison of varying versions of separate plays, the influence of earlier and contemporary dramatists, etc. Dramatic records relating to Shakespeare are also examined at first hand and evidences of his participation in the general dramatic activities of his time noted. In the second semester students are given individual problems for investigation.

In 1913-14 Spenser will be studied in the light of Mediæval and Renaissance culture. The subjects taken up are the inspiration, models, and sources of Spenser's poetry; the many influences working upon him, and those emanating from him, as shown in the significant blending of classical, mediæval, and Renaissance tendencies in his poetry, and his initiative in solving the literary problems of his time. In the first semester all the works of Spenser are read and the results of Spenserian research examined. The second semester is devoted largely to the investigation by each student of some special problem.

In 1914-15 English drama from 1558 to 1642 will be studied, as the chief literary expression of the period. The conditions of its origin and continued production, its nature, extent, variety, development and decadence will be discussed and a reasonable proportion of the extant plays of the period read continuously as a background for other work. A brief introductory study is made of dramatic genres and of the broader principles of dramatic construction, and the remainder of the first semester is devoted to the examination of contemporary documents and other sources of information in regard to Elizabethan drama. In the latter half of the year each student investigates some special problem, such as dramatic inter-relationship or authorship, and gives reports upon her work.

Dr. Brown, Miss Donnelly, Dr. Upham, and Dr. Hatcher together conduct the journal club.

English Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

The following advanced undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Miss Donnelly offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following course:

English Poets of the Romantic Movement.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The poets studied in this course are Wordsworth, Coleridge, and Shelley in the first semester and in the second, Byron, Keats, and Landor. Their works are discussed in class in connection with questions of poetics and literary theory and reports and essays are required from students attending the course.

Miss Donnelly offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following course:

English Drama.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended to give students that have completed the required course in English a more intimate knowledge of the late Elizabethan and the Stuart drama. The lectures follow the development of the realistic and romantic tendencies in the comedy and tragedy of the period both as an expression of the national life and of the individual genius of the various dramatists. Selected plays of Shakespeare, Middleton, Ben Jonson, Beaumont and Fletcher, and other dramatists are read in connection with the lectures.

Dr. Brown offers in each year the following course:

Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to an outline of Anglo-Saxon grammar as presented in Siever's Old English Grammar (Cook's translation) and to the reading of the prose selections in Bright's Anglo-Saxon Reader. In the second semester after reading one or two of the shorter Anglo-Saxon poems, the Beowulf is taken up (Holthausen's or Schücking's text) and the first two-thirds of the poem is read with the class.

Dr. Brown offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following course:

Middle English Romances.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Selected romances are read by the members of the class. The lectures deal with the development of Romance literature in English with special reference to the romances of Germanic origin and the Arthurian cycle.

Dr. Brown offers in 1913-14 the following courses:

Middle English Poetry.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The course begins with an outline of Middle English grammar sufficient to enable the students to read ordinary texts intelligently. The complete text of the Owl and Nightingale and Pearl will be read, as well as selections from Layamon's Brut, Robert of Gloucester's Chronicle, Robert of Brunne's Handlyng Synne, and Langland's Vision of Piers the Plowman. Lectures are given on the development of the language and literature during this period. The course is designed as an introduction to the course on Chaucer given in the second semester but may be taken independently.

Chaucer.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

In this course the best of the Canterbury Tales are studied, also the Legend of Good Women, The House of Fame, and portions of Troilus and Criseyde. The lectures discuss Chaucer's sources and literary art, and his relation to the English, French, and Italian literature of his time. Students taking this course are recommended, but not required, to have taken the course in Middle English poetry.

Dr. Upham offers in each year the following courses:

The Essay and Novel in the Eighteenth Century.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester a preliminary consideration of the rise of the English essay and other literary forms contributory to the novel, is followed by a special study of the Tatler, Spectator, and Examiner, of representative picaresque and satirical fiction, and of selected works of Richardson and Fielding. The second semester considers the essay and novel as expressive of eighteenth century life and thought, emphasising the growth of the critical and political essay, and of the larger categories of fiction: novel of manners, novel of character, doctrinaire novel, romantic novel, etc. Treatment of technique is continued throughout.

English Critics of the Nineteenth Century.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Certain English essayists of the nineteenth century are studied with particular regard to their theories of criticism. In the first semester the authors usually chosen are Carlyle, Newman, and Matthew Arnold; in the second semester Ruskin, Pater, and Swinburne are discussed. Occasional short reports and one long paper in each semester must be prepared by the students attending the course.

Miss Donnelly offers in each year the following free elective course:

Descriptive Writing.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course consists of lectures on the theory and practice of description. The students are required to write papers.

Dr. Crandall offers in each year the following free elective courses:

Daily Themes. One hour a week during the first semester.

Short papers on subjects chosen by the students themselves are required from each student and discussed in the class.

Narrative Writing. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The style and methods of the best modern writers of short stories, both English and French, are treated in this course.

Miss Shearer offers in each year the following free elective course:

Argumentation. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the technique of argumentation is studied, and in the second semester the relation between the laws of thought emphasised in the first semester and the ordinary forms of prose composition is established.

Miss King offers in 1913-14 the following free elective courses:

Victorian Poets. Three hours a week during the first semester.

The works of Tennyson, Arnold, and Browning are studied.

Victorian Poets (continued). Three hours a week during the second semester.

The Pre-Raphaelite movement is considered, and Morris, Rossetti, Swinburne, and George Meredith are studied.

Miss King offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following free elective course:

Theory and Practice of Verse Composition.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course is not historical but theoretical and practical. The lectures deal with the theory of poetry, the difference between poetry and prose, and the laws of verse in English. Students are required to write short exercises in verse every week.

Miss King offers in 1914-15 the following free elective course:

Imitative Writing. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of the formation of style by the method of imitation. The lectures deal with the elements and the psychology of style, and as far as may be necessary, with the authors selected for imitation.

Mr. King offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following free elective course in English Diction:

General Reading of Prose Authors. One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to those students who have attended the required course in English diction or who have done equivalent work.

Mr. King offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following free elective courses in English Diction:

Reading of Shakespeare.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to those students who have taken the required course in English diction. A special study is made of the principles of correct delivery of blank verse. The needs of those students who intend to teach English literature, and desire to read Shakespeare to their pupils, are given special attention.

Mr. King offers in each year the following course in English Diction for graduate students:

General Course in Articulation and Voice Production.

One half hour a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to train speakers in accurate and distinct articulation and to eliminate the faults of bad production. Speech is resolved into its phonetic elements which are made the basis of practical exercises so arranged as to be progressive in their difficulties.

German.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Professor of German Literature, Dr. Agathe Lasch, Associate in Teutonic Philology, and Miss Mary Jeffers* and Miss Bertha Sophie Ehlers, Readers in Elementary German.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses offered in German philology may be found under the head of General Teutonic Philology.

Graduate work in the history of modern German literature is conducted according to the seminary method. The courses are so varied that they may be followed by graduate students throughout three successive years and cover the work required of students who offer German literature as a major or a minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Jessen conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in German Literature.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Although the seminary meets only two hours a week throughout the year, the amount of reading required makes the course equivalent to five hours a week. It is hoped that the students will become familiar in these courses with the methods of scientific literary criticism and investigation.

In 1912-13 the subjects for study and investigation and for reports are taken from Grillparzer during the first semester and from E. T. A. Hoffmann during the second semester.

In 1913-14 Goethe and Schiller will be studied in their personal, literary, and critical relations.

In 1914-15 Friederich Nietzsche and Herman Grimm will form the basis of the work of the seminary.

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1912-13. The course usually given by Miss Jeffers is given by Miss Ehlers in 1912-13.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following graduate courses:

German Metrics. One hour a week during the first semester.

This course consists of lectures on Deutsche Metrik or Verslehre, with an introduction to phonetics, this being an indispensable Hilfswissenschaft for the study of German literature.

German Poetics. One hour a week during the second semester.

Lectures are given on Deutsche Poetik and Stilistik.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following graduate courses:

German Literary Criticism. One hour a week during the first semester.

The lectures trace the development of literary and æsthetic criticism in Germany from Leibniz to Schiller and Goethe. The course is comparative, and French and English literary criticisms are also considered. Lessing's Laoköon and Hamburgische Dramaturgie and Schiller's essays on æsthetics are specially studied. The course is open to those students only who have a reading knowledge of French and German.

The German Essay. One hour a week during the second semester.

The history of the essay in German literature is studied and the most eminent German essayists, Schopenhauer, Herman Grimm, Karl Hillebrand, Friedrich Nietzsche, etc., are discussed. The influence of French, English, and American writers, in particular Montaigne, Macaulay, and Emerson, is traced, and incidentally the evolution of modern German prose style is treated.

Dr. Jessen offers in each year, if the time of the department permits, one of the following graduate courses:

Goethe's Faust. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended to give a detailed introduction to the problems of Faust-philologie, dealing with both the first and second part of Faust.

Goethe's Life and Works. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course aims at giving an introduction into Goethe-philologie.

Dr. Jessen and Dr. Lasch conduct in each year the German Journal Club.

German Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment and criticism.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

German Literature from 1850 to the present time.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

The subject of this course is, in the first semester, the Epigonen-Literatur. The development of the modern German Novelle is discussed and Keller's, Storm's, and C. F. Meyer's works are specially studied. A full account of the poets of the Münchener Schule is given, in particular of Richard Wagner, Reuter, Groth, Freytag, Spielhagen, Scheffel, Raabe, Geibel, Heyse, and Schack.

German Literature from 1850 to the present time (continued).

Two hours a week during the second semester.

In the second semester among the subjects discussed are the influence of French, Russian, and Scandinavian literatures, especially of the work of Zola and Ibsen on German literature; modern German realism and naturalism as represented by Fontane, Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Liliencron, and Rosegger; the increased importance of women in literature, and the work of Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach, Louise von François, Ricarda Huch, Helena Böhlau, Isolde Kurz, Clara Viebig and others; the significance of Nietzsche for German life and literature; neo-romanticism and Heimatsdichtung.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the Romantic School till 1850.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course begins with a general study of the principles of philosophy, life, art, and poetry, as represented by the Romantic School, which is followed by lectures on the literary movements, expressed mainly in lyric poetry and in the novel, which supersede the Romantic Weltanschauung. The lyrics of the war of liberation, the Weltschmerz, and the political revolution; the novel of Jungdeutschland; the drama of Heinrich von Kleist; the works of the Schlegels, Tieck, Hölderlin, Jean Paul, Novalis, Uhland, Lenau, Heine, Immermann, Freiligrath, Herwegh, Gutzkow, Mörike, and Gotthelf, are the principal topics discussed.

German Drama in the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The drama of Heinrich von Kleist is studied with special reference to that of the classical period, and to the dramatic efforts of the Romanticists. The place of Grillparzer in German literature is defined, as well as the significance of Grabbe and Raimund. This leads to Otto Ludwig and to Friedrich Hebbel, who is the central figure, chronologically as well as in importance, of the German drama during the nineteenth century. The course ends with a review of Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Sudermann, Hauptmann, and of other modern writers.

Dr. Jessen offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Advanced Critical Reading.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The reading is selected from works discussed in the post-major lectures on literature. The students give reports on dramas or novels, the object of the discussion being to trace the characteristics of the author, as shown in his works. Special attention will be paid to the needs of students who intend to teach German.

Dr. Lasch offers in each year the following elective course, open to graduate students:

Advanced German Composition.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Difficult English prose selections are translated into German. The intention of the course is to increase the understanding and feeling for written and spoken German. Attention is paid to the needs of students intending to teach German.

GENERAL TEUTONIC PHILOLOGY.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Agathe Lasch, Associate in Teutonic Philology.

Special attention is called to the facilities for the study of comparative teutonic philology offered by Bryn Mawr College. The English and the German departments together have provided for a complete course in teutonic philology, comprising both the study of the individual languages (Gothic, Norse, Anglo-Saxon, Old Saxon, Old High German, Middle High German, Middle Low German, etc.) and the study of general comparative philology.

The courses in introduction to the study of teutonic philology, Gothic and Middle High German grammar (first-year course), are designed for students in their first year of graduate study in Teutonic languages, and the remaining courses for students in their second or third year.

Students intending to elect teutonic philology are advised to study Greek for at least one year during their undergraduate course.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Dr. Lasch offers in each year the following graduate courses:
Introduction to the Study of Teutonic Philology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

These lectures deal with the following topics: a discussion of Teutonic in its relation to the cognate Aryan languages; a brief sketch of the single Teutonic languages, accompanied by an account of the chief grammatical and lexicographic works on each; a discussion of the aim and method of historical and comparative grammar, including problems such as those of the relationship of dialects and the consistency of phonetic laws; a brief history of Teutonic philology, and finally the outlines of general phonetics.

Gothic.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Gothic phonetics and inflection are studied in connection with the elements of comparative Aryan grammar. Braune's Gotische Grammatik (7th ed., Halle, 1909); or Streitberg's Gotisches Elementarbuch (3rd ed., Heidelberg, 1910) are used as text-books.

As a thorough knowledge of Gothic is the foundation of the study of historical and comparative Teutonic grammar, every graduate student of Teutonic grammar is advised to take this course as early as possible. Die Gotische Bibel (ed. by W. Streitberg, Heidelberg, 1908) is used by the more advanced students.

Middle High German Grammar and reading of Middle High German Texts.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course includes a brief abstract of Middle High German grammar, with special reference to the difference between Middle High German and Modern German, and a study of the most prominent authors in Middle High German. Selections from classical Middle High German poets are read, and also selections from the Nibelungenlied, a brief account being given of the history and development of the Nibelungenlied and its manuscripts.

Students of Middle High German should be provided with Paul's Mittelhochd. Grammatik (7th ed., Halle, 1908), or Michels's Mittelhochd. Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900).

This course is required of all students that make German the minor subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The private reading includes the works of the authors treated in the course.

Dr. Lasch offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following graduate courses:

Old Saxon.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The work presupposes on the part of the students a sufficient knowledge of Gothic and Old High German. Holthausen's Altsächsisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900); the Heliand (in Sievers's or Behaghel's edition), and Zangemeister-Braune's Bruchstücke der altsächsischen Bibeldichtung (Heidelberg, 1894) are used. The reading is supplemented by a discussion of the West Germanic alliterative verse.

Old Norse.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

This course may, by request, be substituted for the course in Old Saxon.

Students entering this course are supposed to be acquainted with Gothic and with Anglo-Saxon or Old High German grammar. In the grammatical part of the course the Norse sounds and forms are studied and compared with those of the Gothic and West-Germanic dialects. Among the texts read, selections from the younger and the older Eddas take a prominent place.

The books used are Kahle's Altisländisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900) and some of the Islendinga sögur (Altnordische Saga-Bibliothek) and Hildebrand's Edda (2nd ed., Paderborn, 1904).

Attention is called to the facilities afforded for the study of Old Norse. A considerable portion of the library of the late philologist, Th. Wisén, of Lund, was acquired by Bryn Mawr College, and hence the library is probably as well supplied as any other college library in the United States with Old Norse texts, Norse periodicals, and works on Old Norse language and literature.

History of Modern High German.

One hour a week throughout the year.

These lectures deal with the history of the development of the German written language during the Modern High German period. The most important Kanzleisprachen, the most prominent Druckersprachen, Luther, Modern German sounds and forms in their relation to the German dialects and to the rules of the Bühnenaussprache, will be discussed.

Dr. Lasch offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following graduate courses:

Old High German.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course includes a practical study of Old High German grammar, and a comparison of the Old High German sounds and forms with those of Gothic, Middle and Modern High German. Selections are read from Old High German texts, arranged so as to proceed from easy to more difficult pieces, and to illustrate the difference between the Old High German dialects.

Comparative Teutonic Grammar.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The study of comparative Teutonic philology is recommended to those students only who are acquainted with the single old Teutonic languages, and have studied Gothic, Old High German, Old Saxon, Anglo-Saxon, and Norse. The object of the course is to compare the various old Teutonic languages with each other and with the related Aryan languages,—or in other words (1) to reconstruct the primitive Teutonic language; (2) to point out the characteristic features of primitive Teutonic in distinction from primitive Aryan; (3) to carry down the history of early Teutonic from the period of unity into the early stages of the individual Teutonic languages.

Dr. Lasch offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Teutonic Seminary.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This seminary is arranged for the benefit of the most advanced students in Teutonic philology. Its object is to encourage independent work on the part of the students. The work consists mainly of the discussion of special topics by the instructor and the students. Members of the seminary are expected to study the literature on these subjects, and to make an effort to contribute some additional material, or an independent opinion of their own.

In 1912-13 Old High German texts such as Merseburger and Trierer Zaubersprüche, Muspilli, and Hildebrandslied are studied. The many problems that these texts offer and the various attempts to solve them are discussed.

In 1913-14 the subjects of the seminary will be taken from Middle High German texts. Problems in text criticism as well as literary problems connected with the works of Middle High German poets either of the classical period or of the periods preceding or following it are discussed.

In 1914-15 the first semester will be devoted to High German texts from the fourteenth to the seventeenth century. The material will be taken either from official documents of this period belonging to various parts of Germany or from the works of writers such as Murner, Hans Sachs, Luther, and others; or from grammatical works of this period in Müller's Quellenschriften und Geschichte des deutschsprachlichen Unterrichts, John Meier's Neudrucke älterer deutscher Grammatiken, etc. They are selected to illustrate the development of Modern High German. In the second semester Old Saxon texts (Heliand and Genesis) will be studied.

The order of these seminary subjects may be changed in accordance with the requirements of the students in any particular year.

In addition to the above courses, others in Old Frisian, Dutch, Middle Low German, or Modern Low German may be arranged for students that have previously studied Gothic, Old and Middle High German, Anglo-Saxon, and Old Saxon.

ROMANCE LANGUAGES.

French.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Albert Schinz, Professor of French Literature, Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate Professor of French Philology and Italian, M. Louis Cons, Associate in French, Miss Marie Hopp, Reader in Elementary French, and Miss Eunice Morgan Schenck, Reader (elect) in French.

GRADUATE COURSES.

There are offered each year three distinct graduate courses in French, two in literature and one in language, and these courses are varied so that they may be pursued by students through three or more consecutive years. Graduate students interested in the study of literature will find it to their advantage to attend the lectures on French literature two hours a week throughout the two years of the major course in French.

Dr. Schinz conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in French Literature.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary is Montaigne. Various problems connected with his life, his relations to Protestantism and to the political problems of his time, the question of the authorship of the Discours sur la servitude volontaire, the origin and sources of the essays, Montaigne and the Renaissance, and Montaigne and Plutarch are discussed. A special study is made of Montaigne's style and of the Apologie de Raymond de Sebonde.

In 1913-14 Rousseau is the subject of the seminary. In the first semester, after a discussion of his life, a study is made of the Confessions, Réveries, and Correspondance. Special attention is paid to the controversy Confessions versus Mémoires d'Epinaÿ, transformed by the discoveries of Mrs. MacDonald. The questions of Rousseau's insanity and suicide are discussed. The second semester is devoted chiefly to the study of Texte's Jean Jacques Rousseau et le cosmopolitisme littéraire. The Lettre à d'Alembert and the Nouvelle Héloïse serve as a text to this theory.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary is Victor Hugo. The seminary deals with his lyrical works. The following subjects are treated: Victor Hugo as a Royalist and Catholic poet; his indebtedness to Chateaubriand, Nodier, Sainte-Beuve and other contemporaries; his attitude towards Napoleon I., the Republic of 1848 and Napoleon III.; and his social, political and religious ideas in the period of his maturity and of his old age.

M. Cons conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in French Literature.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 a study is made of Rabelais. The investigations of Abel Lefranc on Rabelais are brought into connection with the "Conteurs" and also with such writers as Bernard Palissy and Ambrose Paré.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary will be Molière. The subjects studied will be: French Comedy before Molière; Molière's comedies, their Latin, Italian, and French sources; his style and method of composition; the nature of his "comique," his philosophy and his morality.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary is Romanticism and Realism in the 19th century as illustrated by Chateaubriand, Sénancourt, Benjamin Constant, De Maistre, Lamennais, Fourier, Saint-Simon, and others; Romanticism of Victor Hugo; a careful study of Les Misérables; philosophical and historical realism (Renan, Taine).

In 1915-16 the subject of the seminary is La 'Matière de Bretagne' et l'épopée courtoise. The course includes a careful study of the Lais of Marie de France, the poems referring to Tristan, and the Romans of Chrétien de Troie; these are studied in connection with the question of their origin in Celtic countries and their later development in France. The different theories that have been proposed as to their origin and evolution are examined and discussed and an attempt is made to determine their comparative value.

Dr. Holbrook offers in each year the following graduate courses:

The course in Old French Philology is intended for students in their first year of graduate study; that in Provençal and the Old French Seminary for students in their second or third year of graduate study; the Journal Club may be attended by students in their first, second, or third year of graduate study. The course in Old French Readings is designed to be taken in connection with the seminary in Old French.

Old French Philology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures on the phonology, morphology, and syntax of Old French, and is designed not only for students whose main pursuit is Romance philology, but also for those who wish to acquire more precise knowledge of the French elements in Middle English. The main principles of Historical Grammar are studied in the Extraits de la

Chanson de Roland, published by Gaston Paris, and in various texts in L. Constans's Chrestomathie. Other books used are Passy's Sounds of the French language, Grandgent's Introduction to Vulgar Latin, Nyrop's Grammaire Historique de l'Ancien Français, and Schwan-Behrens's Grammaire de l'Ancien Français.

Old French Readings.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Various typical Old French masterpieces are studied from a scientific standpoint. The essential facts of Old French grammar are reviewed and rare or difficult locutions are minutely examined for the sake of precise interpretation; dialectal features are considered and attention is given to the relation of manuscripts to printed texts. In addition to the works named below, students are expected to supply themselves with Gaston Paris's Littérature française au moyen âge.

The following courses may be rearranged to suit the needs of students in any particular year:

In 1912-13 this course is devoted chiefly to study of the following texts: Maistre Pierre Pathelin and Villon.

In 1913-14 attention will be given mainly to epic and historical works: Wace, Le pèlerinage de Charlemagne, Villehardouin, Joinville, and other chroniclers.

In 1914-15 the texts studied will be Marie de France (Lais), Aucassin et Nicolette and the Yvain or Cligès of Chrestien de Troyes.

Old French Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is on the most important Old French dialects. Texts in Norman, Picard, Francian and Franco-Provençal are studied with reference to their dialectal features in order that the student may acquire the power to determine approximately the origin of other texts in which the same dialectal features occur.

Old Provençal.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended for students of Old French who wish to begin the study of the language and literature of the Troubadours. The books required are Grandgent's Outline of the Phonology and Morphology of Old Provençal (Boston, 1905) and Appel's Provenzalische Chrestomathie (latest edition).

Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook, and M. Cons together conduct the journal club in Romance languages.

Romance Languages Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club is intended to make the advanced students familiar with all the important European periodicals and with new books dealing with Romance Philology. For each session of the club an important article chosen from some one of the various periodicals is assigned to a student for review. The student is also referred to previous articles or publications treating of the same subject as that of the review, and is expected to present to the club a chronological outline of the history and stages of the discussion on the given point. Thus the students become familiar with the names of leading Romance scholars and with the particular lines of research in which each of the latter excels. At the same time such reviews prepare the way for seminary work and original investigations.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Schinz offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

French Lyric Poetry of the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the lectures treat lyric poetry until the year 1866. Special attention is paid to the period from 1850 to 1866, while Lamartine, Hugo, Sainte-Beuve, de Vigny, and de Musset are treated only so far as is necessary for the understanding of the evolution of lyric poetry in their successors, Baudelaire, Gautier, de Banville, Leconte de Lisle etc. The lectures of the second semester treat contemporary lyric poetry from 1866 to 1886. A careful study is made of the Parnassian school.

Dr. Schinz offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Short Story (Nouvelle) in the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The genre nouvelle is studied in connection with the following writers: Xavier de Maistre, Chateaubriand, Nodier, de Vigny, de Musset, Balzac, Mérimée, Gautier, Laboulaye, Daudet, Bourget, Maupassant, France, Coppée, Loti, Villiers de l'Isle Adam, de Régnier, and others.

M. Cons offers in 1912-13 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Women Writers of the Renaissance. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course deals with the importance and influence of Louise Labbé and the School of Lyons; the three Marguerites: Marguerite de Navarre, Marguerite de France, Marguerite de Valois.

M. Cons offers in 1913-14 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Modern Literary Schools and Tendencies in France.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Modern French Symbolists from Verlaine to the writers of the present day will be studied in connection with modern conditions in France.

M. Cons offers in 1914-15 the following post-major course open to graduate students:

Modern French Drama. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with post-romanticism, realism and mysticism on the French stage. Rostand, Brieux and Maeterlinck will be specially studied.

Miss Schenck offers in 1913-14 the following post-major course open to graduate students:

Old French. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is primarily intended for undergraduate students who wish to acquire a reading knowledge of Old French. The most essential facts of Old French grammar will be summarized in introductory lectures and such texts as the following will be read: Extraits de la Chanson de Roland, Gaston Paris; Chrestomathie de l'Ancien Français, L. Constans (representative passages from texts composed between the ninth century and the middle of the fifteenth). Aucassin et Nicolette, edited by H. Suchier; Le Garçon et l'Aveugle, edited by M. Roques.

Italian.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate Professor of French Philology and Italian.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Dr. Holbrook offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Italian Philology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course presupposes a knowledge of Old French Philology and the equivalent of the minor and major courses in Italian offered at Bryn Mawr College. The work is founded upon the treatise entitled Die Italienische Sprache by D'Ovidio and Meyer Lübke in Gröber's Grundriss (Strassburg, 1906). Various passages from thirteenth and fourteenth century authors are examined critically from a phonological and morphological point of view.

Old Italian Readings.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Students should provide themselves with the first volume of D'Ancona and Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana (Florence, 1904).

Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook and M. Cons together conduct the journal club in Romance languages.

Romance Languages Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

Dr. Holbrook offers in each year the following undergraduate courses, open to graduate students:

FIRST YEAR.

Modern Italian.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

This course is designed to prepare beginners for the study of Italian literature, as well as for the practical use of the language. Reading is taken up from the start, a careful pronunciation is insisted upon, and the essentials of the grammar are taught by a critical observation of the texts used and by graded exercises in the rendering of English into Italian. The books used are the following: C. H. Grandgent's Italian Grammar; Stories by Fogazzaro and Hecker's Il Piccolo Italiano; Giuseppe Finzi's Petrarca (1900); De Marchi's Storie; selections from the verse and prose of Renato Fucini and others.

SECOND YEAR.

Italian Classical Literature.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The work in this course is to study selections in verse and prose from Ariosto and Tasso, then all the Inferno and parts of the Purgatorio and Paradiso. For Ariosto and Tasso the study of difficult modern prose and poetry may be substituted, with exercises in writing and speaking. Training in pronunciation will be given throughout the course. The lectures on literature are delivered in Italian.

Spanish.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Fonger DeHaan, Professor of Spanish.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Dr. DeHaan offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Lectures in Spanish on Spanish Literary History till the death of Calderon (1681). One hour a week throughout the year.

The lectures are supplemented by extensive private reading of important works.

Essays in Spanish. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Spanish Philology. One hour a week throughout the year.

Old Spanish Readings. One hour a week throughout the year.

Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook and M. Cons together conduct the journal club in Romance languages.

Romance Languages Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. DeHaan offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Spanish. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course in composition and conversation is offered to those students who have completed the second-year course or its equivalent.

Dr. DeHaan offers in each year the following undergraduate courses, open to graduate students:

FIRST YEAR.

Spanish. Five hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give beginners a good knowledge of modern Spanish, and to ground them thoroughly in the essentials of the grammar. As a preparation for understanding the spoken language, two half-hours a week during the second semester are devoted to dictation. The books studied are the following (taken up in the order indicated): DeHaan's Cuentos Modernos; Pérez Nieva, Tomás el torrero (Madrid, Colección Klong); De Haan's Selected Works of G. A. Béquer; Hartzenbusch, Los Amantes de Teruel (Obras, vol. III.); Zorrilla, Granada (Madrid, 1895, 2 vols.).

Private reading: Palacio Valdés, José; Galdós, Mariana.

SECOND YEAR.

Lectures in Spanish on Spanish Literary History of the Nineteenth Century. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Spanish Composition. One hour a week throughout the year.

Critical Reading in Spanish. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Private reading: Private reading supplementing the lectures on literary history comprises representative works in the various branches of literature.

COMPARATIVE LITERATURE.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Orie Latham Hatcher, Associate Professor of Comparative Literature and Elizabethan Literature, Dr. Alfred Horatio Upham, Associate Professor of English Literature, and Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Lecturer in the History of Art and Comparative Literature.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The seminary in comparative literature changes its subject of study from year to year through a cycle of three years. It may be taken by graduate students of English in connection with the seminary in Elizabethan literature or may be elected separately. The courses in literary criticism extend through two years, but may be elected separately. Students intending to do special work in comparative literature are advised to begin the study of Italian or Spanish.

Dr. Hatcher conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Comparative Literature. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 Renaissance comedy, chiefly in the sixteenth century, is studied. Some preliminary consideration is given to mediæval contributions to Renaissance comedy, but Ariosto's revival of classical comedy is taken as the special starting point, and the development of literary comedy traced through other Italian plays and through the French, Spanish and English to that of the earlier Jacobean dramatists. The various types of comedy are analysed and illustrated in the reading required. Pre-requisite for the course, French and either Italian or Spanish.

In 1913-14 the seminary will undertake the study of Renaissance fiction on the continent as related to Elizabethan fiction and drama, the study of fiction being here practically restricted to that of the novella or short prose tale. Boccaccio, Cinthio, Bandello, Margaret of Navarre, Desperiers, Belleforrest, Painter, Pettio, Whetstone, etc., are among the novelists studied. Pre-requisite for the course, French and either Spanish or Italian.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary is the lyric poetry of the later Renaissance. The Italian lyrics of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries are studied with reference both to their Provençal and early Italian origins, and to their bearing upon later French and English lyrics. Considerable stress is laid upon the study of verse forms and the development of theories of versification. The first semester is given to reading of the literature involved and reviews of the results of critical investigation in the field. In the second semester each student devotes her time to some individual topic. Students desiring to take this course must consult the instructor as to linguistic equipment.

Dr. Upham offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Modern Literary Criticism. Two hours a week throughout the year.

A survey of the important phases of literary criticism in Europe from the neo-classic period through the development of romanticism to the present day. Inter-relations of England and the continent will be made prominent. This course will be similar in scope and method to the course in Literary Criticism through the Renaissance.

Dr. Upham offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Literary Criticism through the Renaissance.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

A survey, from the graduate point of view, of the significant movements and documents in the history of European critical theory from Aristotle, through the activities of the Renaissance, to the consummation of the neo-classic code in the seventeenth century. The bearing of these upon English literature will be emphasized throughout. The lectures aim chiefly to indicate outline and relationships, the important feature of the course being the thorough study and frequent discussion of the material.

The following undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Dr. Hatcher offers in each year the following courses:

The Pastoral.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures and reading involve recognition of the large debt of the moderns to the classical pastoralists, but are chiefly devoted to the rise and decadence of the pastoral mode in the Romance literature and in English as expressed in eclogue, pastoral, lyric, romance, and drama. A reading knowledge of Latin and one Romance language is required.

Renaissance Lyrics.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The course is concerned with the rise of the modern literary lyric among the Troubadours, and the spread of Provençal and other early Romance lyric forms in Italy, France, Germany, Spain and England. A knowledge of Latin and of two modern languages in addition to English is required.

Miss King offers in 1912-13 and again in 1913-14 the following course:

The Culture of the Renaissance.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The study of the literature of the Italian Renaissance begins with an examination of its ideals of education and character, and, after a short excursus on the influence of the other arts upon literature between 1300 and 1600, indicates the chief differences which appeared as the movement reached its culmination in France and England, and the standards of taste and ideals of life which it finally imposed. The class studies in connection with this the chief types of literary form as they took shape in Italy and were adopted and altered elsewhere.

Miss King offers in 1913-14 and again in 1914-15 the following course:

The Continental Developments of Romanticism in the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course deals with the rise and growth of the ideals of revolution in continental literature from the birth of Byron to the death of Swinburne. The literature of revolt is studied with special attention to poetry as well as to the novel, to the successive phases of early romanticism, mid-century realism, and the new return to romanticism.

SEMITIC LANGUAGES AND BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages.

The college was particularly fortunate in securing in the year 1892 the library of the late M. Arthur Amiaud, of Paris. While

M. Amiaud was especially eminent as an Assyriologist, he was also prominent as a general Semitic student. His library was the collection of an active scholar, and forms a working library for the student in every department of Semitic study. It is especially rich in the Hebrew, Syriac, and Assyrian languages, containing several works, indispensable to the student, which are now out of print. Another Semitic library containing many works on the Talmud and on Jewish literature was acquired in 1904. Mr. Albert J. Edmunds presented to the college in 1907 his library of 500 volumes on the history of religion. The contents of these libraries, together with the books already owned by the college and those easily accessible in neighboring libraries, form an exceptionally good collection of material for the specialist in Semitic languages. A good working collection of cuneiform tablets is under the control of the department, and affords an excellent opportunity for students of Assyrian to become familiar with original documents.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses in Semitic languages are varied from year to year, as indicated below, so that they may be pursued by a student for four successive years. Those who offer Semitic languages as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to spend in Semitic work half their time for at least three years.

The work of the department is so arranged that students may specialise in Hebrew or Assyrian. Students who offer Hebrew or Assyrian as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must possess a knowledge of the grammatical forms of five Semitic languages and in this enumeration Syriac and Jewish Aramaic may not count as separate languages. Students that offer Semitic languages as the minor subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must show that they have a knowledge of three Semitic languages.

The regular alternation of courses is indicated below and at least five hours a week will be given in each year, the courses being selected according to the needs of the graduate students. Graduate students may enter in any year of the four years' course, as there will be afforded each year an opportunity for graduate students to begin Hebrew.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Barton offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following graduate courses:

Semitic Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Hebrew or Assyrian, the languages that may be offered as major subjects for the doctor's degree. The time may be devoted to one of these languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Assyrian the subject may be chosen from one of the following: the oldest Babylonian inscriptions, temple archives of Telloh, Sumerian hymns, the code of Hammurabi, or mythological poetry. In Hebrew, one of the following subjects may be selected: Job, the Psalter, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ecclesiastes and the Song of Songs, or Hebrew Epigraphy. In the Hebrew seminary the students are trained in textual criticism through the use of the ancient versions.

Elementary Semitic Languages.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course may be devoted to the elements of Hebrew, or of Aramaic (Syriac and Jewish Aramaic), or Assyrian, or Arabic according to the needs of the students. The time may, if necessary, be divided between two of these languages.

Hebrew Literature.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to a study of the Prophets, the Pentateuch, and the historical books of the Old Testament.

Seminary in New Testament Greek.

One hour a week throughout the year.

A thorough study is made of some book of the New Testament, and the students are guided in critical studies, both textual and historical.

Seminary in Aramaic and Arabic.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Arabic or Aramaic, the languages that may be offered as minor subjects for the doctor's degree. The time may be devoted to one of the languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Arabic the subject may be chosen from one of the following: the Coran, pre-Islamic poetry, Arabic geographers, or South Arabic inscriptions. In Aramaic, one of the following subjects may be selected; a comparative study of the Syriac Versions of the Gospels, the Syriac Version of one of the Old Testament books, the writings of Gregory Bar Hebraeus, or of Efraem, the Targum on one of the Old Testament books, the Talmud, or Aramaic inscriptions.

Hebrew, The Prophets.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The text of one or more of the Prophets is critically interpreted, and Hebrew syntax and composition are studied.

Ethiopic.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar and Chrestomathia of Praetorius and Dillmann are used, and in the latter part of the course selections are read from the book of Enoch.

Dr. Barton offers in 1913-14 the following graduate courses:

Semitic Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is continued as given in 1912-13.

Comparative Semitic Grammar.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar of Brockelmann is used as a basis with comparisons from the Egyptian and other Hamitic languages.

Egyptian.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The elements of Egyptian and Coptic grammar are taught, and some texts in each language interpreted.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

The courses in Biblical Literature and Oriental History are intended primarily for undergraduate students, but may be elected by graduate students also.

Dr. Barton offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following free elective courses in Biblical literature:

New Testament Biography.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester of this course is devoted to a careful study of the life and teaching of Christ; the second semester to the life and teaching of St. Paul. The Gospels and Epistles are read, together with the most helpful of the modern works on these topics. The course is illustrated by photographs of the most important places connected with the lives of Christ and St. Paul.

History of the Old Testament Canon.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course the history of the composition and collection of the books of the Old Testament is studied. The instruction is given in lectures, and reading is assigned in the Old Testament and in modern literature concerning it.

Dr. Barton offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following free elective courses in Biblical literature:

History of Christian Doctrine.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester Christianity is studied as presented by its Founder and by the apostles, and in the second semester the history of Christian doctrine from 100 A.D. to the present time is briefly reviewed, and problems presented by modern thought are touched upon.

History of the New Testament Canon.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of the New Testament, similar in its methods and aims to the course on the Old Testament Canon.

Dr. Barton offers in each year the following course:

Oriental History.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course treats in broad outlines the history and civilisation of the Classical Orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environment upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal Oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phœnicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabæans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors; of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilisation of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphates, and of Mohammedan civilisation. The lectures are illustrated by archaeological specimens and by photographs. Either semester may be elected separately.

Dr. Barton offers in each year, when the time of the department permits, the following free elective courses:

Biblical Geography and Archæology.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course begins with a survey of the physical features of Palestine and an estimate of their effect upon its civilisation. The succession of races dominant in Palestine since the beginning of history is then reviewed, after which the positions of the places important in the Biblical narratives are carefully noted. The principal Biblical narratives are studied in connection with the geography of the country and the archæological remains of the period. In this way the narratives of the Patriarchs, Kings, Prophets, and Apostles, as well as the life of Christ, are illustrated. The course is illustrated by photographs. Use is made throughout the course of the publications of the Palestine Exploration Fund, and of other modern explorers.

New Testament Greek.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course presupposes a knowledge of classical Greek. After some introductory lectures on the formation and peculiarities of the New Testament Greek, one hour a week during the first semester is devoted to lectures on the history of the New Testament text, both in its written and in its printed form, the helps extant for emending it, and the method of using them. The remainder of the time is devoted to the interpretation of the New Testament Epistles, especially those of Paul. The students are expected to read privately during the first semester the text of one of the Gospels, and during the second, either the Acts of the Apostles, the Apocalypse, or the Epistle to the Hebrews.

HISTORY.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Mr. Clarence H. Haring, Associate in History, Dr. William Roy Smith, Associate Professor of History, and Mr. Frederick Aldrich Cleveland, Lecturer in History, Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, and Dr. James Fulton Ferguson, Associate in Latin and Ancient History.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Two distinct seminary courses in English and European history and in American history are offered to graduate students in history in addition to a course in Historical Method and Bibliography and the direction of private reading and original research.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Mr. Haring conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English and European History.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary is England under the early Stuarts. The work is concerned especially with foreign policy and the organization and expansion of foreign trade.

In 1913-14 the seminary will deal with social and economic problems in the history of England under the Tudors. The growth of capital and its effect on commercial and industrial practice, enclosures and the decay of agriculture, the rise in prices, foreign commercial policy and the evolution of the merchant companies are among the topics for discussion.

In 1914-15 the subjects of the seminary will be the economic relations of Spain with Europe and America in the sixteenth century, the creation of the Spanish system of commercial monopoly centered at Seville, the evolution of the scheme of annual treasure fleets to Vera Cruz and Nombre de Dios, the growth of Spanish-American trade and the share in that trade acquired by the northern maritime nations, and the influence of the importation of bullion from Mexico and Peru upon prices in Spain and the rest of Europe.

Dr. W. R. Smith conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in American History.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 the American colonies in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are the subjects of the seminary. The political, constitutional, and social problems of the colonies in the seventeenth century are studied in the first semester. In the second semester special stress is laid upon the development in the eighteenth century of the imperial administrative machinery and upon the ethnical distribution of population in the colonies.

In 1913-14 the revolution, the confederation and the constitution will be the subjects of study. American history from 1776 to 1789 will be discussed primarily from the local point of view as a step in the conflict between the seaboard aristocracy and the democracy of the frontier. The social and economic forces which led to the adoption of the Federal Constitution and the subsequent formation of national political parties will be investigated.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be slavery and the negro problem. After a preliminary survey of the history of slavery in the colonial period such topics as the slavery compromises of the constitution, the growth of slavery in the South, the abolition of the slave trade, the Missouri Compromise, the anti-Slavery movement, nullification, the Mexican War, the Wilmot Proviso, the compromise measures of 1850, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Dred Scott decision, the abolition of slavery, and the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments will be discussed. Special attention will be paid to the conflict between sectionalism and nationalism and the connection between slavery, territorial expansion, and the development of constitutional theories.

Mr. Cleveland offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Historical Method and Bibliography. One hour a week throughout the year.

The matters dealt with in this course are the field of history and its relations to allied subjects; the evolution of the scientific historical method; the outlines of historical bibliography; the great collections of printed material; archives and MSS.; the work and rank of leading historians of the modern school. A reading knowledge of French and German is required.

Mr. Haring, Dr. Smith and Mr. Cleveland conduct in each year the historical journal club.

Historical Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors in the department of history and the graduate students who are pursuing advanced courses in history meet once a fortnight to make reports upon assigned topics, review recent articles and books, and present the results of special investigations.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Mr. Haring offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

England under the Stuarts. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The principal aspects of the narrative and constitutional history of England in the seventeenth century will be studied in some detail. Use will be made of general histories but the work of the students will, as far as possible, be done from State papers, published correspondence, etc. The course will be conducted by lectures, discussions and oral reports from members of the class.

Mr. Haring offers in 1914-15 and again in 1916-17 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

England under the Tudors. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is conducted on the same general plan as the preceding course.

Dr. W. R. Smith offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Constitutional History, from 1783 to 1865.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the leading aspects of the political, constitutional, and economic history of the United States from the ratification of the constitution to the present time. The text-book used is MacDonald's Select Documents of the History of the United States, but frequent additional references are given to the leading secondary authorities. To a limited extent use will be made of such documents as are available in the library, and special topics will be assigned for discussion and report.

Dr. W. R. Smith offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Constitutional History to 1783.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The text-books used in the course are MacDonald's Select Charters of American History and Select Documents of the History of the United States. The members of the class are also systematically referred, not only to the general authorities, but also to colonial charters and constitutions, the records of the colonial governments as far as they are available, the journals of Congress, and other documentary materials.

Mr. Cleveland offers in 1912-13 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

England since 1714.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is conducted by means of lectures, assigned readings, and written reports. Its purpose is rather to explain than to narrate. Therefore the treatment is topical as well as chronological, emphasis being laid upon those political, social, and constitutional changes which seem to have made modern England. Among the topics discussed are the rise and fall of the Whig oligarchy, the evolution of the cabinet system, the rise of Methodism, the American Revolution as a constitutional question, England and the French Revolution, the industrial revolution, parliamentary reform, England and the Monroe doctrine, the repeal of the corn laws, Home Rule, and present-day Liberalism.

Dr. Ferguson offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Roman Empire in the Third and Fourth Centuries.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course a study is made of the forces which led to the fall of the Western Empire. Economic decay, the caste system, religion, the growth of absolutism, are subjects which will be specially studied. Independent investigation of particular topics will be required.

Dr. Ferguson offers in 1914-15 and again in 1916-17 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Hellenistic Age.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of the Greek world from Alexander to its conquest by Rome; special emphasis will be placed on commercial expansion, growth of national tendencies, intellectual awakening, and the effect on the Roman world. Independent investigation of particular topics will be required.

ECONOMICS AND POLITICS.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Marion Parris Smith, Associate Professor of Economics and Politics, Mr. Sydney D. M. Hudson, Lecturer in Political Science, and an instructor in Economics and Politics whose appointment will be announced later.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Two seminaries in economics and one in politics are offered each year in addition to the direction of private reading and original research. Post-major courses amounting to five hours a week which may be elected by graduate students are given in each year.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. M. P. Smith offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Economic Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary is a critical study of modern theories of value. The works of Ehrenfels, Meinong and Urban are studied and criticised.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary will be the problems of distribution and the agencies in modern social life that effect the distribution of wealth. Special attention will be paid to the study of the minimum wage, the various plans for controlling large scale production, modern land systems, etc.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be a critical study of modern theories of value in Germany, England, and America.

Mr. Hudson offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Political Seminary.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The methods of instruction in the seminary are designed to guide advanced students in special research work along the lines indicated by the titles of the courses. Some lectures are given but the main attention is devoted to the presentation and criticism of the results of studies made by the students themselves.

In 1912-13 Private Rights under the Constitution of the United States is the subject of the seminary. Attention is devoted both to the content of the rights protected and to the means through which the protection is effected. In this latter connection the origin of the power of the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of acts of Congress and of the State Legislatures; the principles which have guided the Court in the use of the power, and the criticisms which have been advanced with regard to the action of the Court are treated. The investigation of the content of constitutionally protected private rights is concerned chiefly with a study of cases dealing with combinations of labor and capital; social legislation, particularly government aid to dependent and semi-dependent classes; the control of public utilities; limitations upon the taxing power; class discriminations; various modes of administrative procedure.

In 1913-14 a study will be made of the origin and content of the political thought expressed in the Constitution of the United States. American political ideas of the constitution-making period will be considered in relation to their colonial and European sources. Chief attention, however, will be devoted to the debates in the Convention of 1787, the discussion of the constitution in connection with the state-ratifying conventions, and the course of political thought during the period of federalist supremacy under the new government. An attempt will be made to estimate such relatively permanent political principles as may be discovered with respect to the applicability to present problems.

In 1914-15 the distribution of legislative power between the Central Government and the States will be investigated as a basis for a comparison of federal and centralized government. The American federal system will be compared with the centralized government of Great Britain and the federal systems of Australia, Canada and British South Africa.

The following graduate seminary will be offered in each year by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later:

Economic Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be American industrial problems. The economic aspect of organised capital and organised labour and the principles of labour legislation will be studied.

In 1915-16 the subject of the seminary will be the industrial history of the United States from 1790 to 1860.

Dr. M. P. Smith and Mr. Hudson conduct in each year the economic journal club.

Economic Journal Club.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment, and criticism.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. M. P. Smith offers in 1912-13 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Sociology and the Social Institutions.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is designed to introduce the students to the problems of modern sociology. The lectures are supplemented by written reports and specially assigned reading, and by written and oral quizzes.

Dr. M. P. Smith offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Economic and Social Legislation in England and America since 1890.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course will be to review recent legislation in England and America affecting hours of labour and wages, working men's insurance and employer's liability, combinations of capital, public sanitation, housing, hygiene, and other economic and social problems. In the first semester English, and in the second semester, American, legislation will be studied. Each student will be assigned special topics for research to familiarise her with methods of handling original sources.

Dr. M. P. Smith offers in 1914-15 and again in 1916-17 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Methods of Social Research.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the first semester is an account of modern institutions for social research and social reform. In the second semester American social problems are studied, using as a basis of investigation the United States Census. Special attention is paid to statistical methods and students will be assigned reports for each semester. This course was given as a free elective course in 1912-13.

Mr. Hudson offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Modern Democracy.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The course includes an examination of the nature of democracy, types of democratic institutions, the development of the modern democratic movement, and the opinions of publicists and statesmen with regard to democracy. More attention, however, is devoted to specific problems of democratic organization and practice, especially those of contemporary American interest. The method used is that of reports and critical discussion. The particular problems treated vary from year to year.

Mr. Hudson offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Constitutional Law.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In this course the leading principles of the American constitutional system will be examined. The course will deal principally with the federal constitution and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. Some attention will be given, however, to state constitutions and the decisions of state courts. Stress will be laid upon decisions relating to social and economic questions.

Mr. Dewey offers in 1913-14 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Elements of Statistics.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Proper methods of obtaining and handling practical statistics, such as vital, health, trade statistics, working men's budgets, etc., are developed. The course involves a large amount of arithmetic and some algebra. Two hours of laboratory or practical work is required in connection with the course.

Philosophy.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Professor of Philosophy, Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology, Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Associate Professor of Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, Dr. Grace Mead Andrus de Laguna, Associate in Philosophy, Miss Marion Reilly, Dean of the College and Reader in Philosophy and Dr. Gertrude Rand, Reader (elect) in Educational Psychology and Demonstrator in Experimental Psychology.

GRADUATE COURSES.

In addition to the post-major courses, which may be elected by graduate students, ten hours of graduate lectures and seminary work are offered in each year. The laboratory of experimental psychology is open to graduate students for research work.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. T. de Laguna conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Ethical Seminary.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The subject of the seminary is either a study of one of the chief problems of ethics or a critical examination of some important movement of thought.

In 1912-13 Hume and his contemporaries are studied. A brief preliminary survey is made of the course of English ethical thought from Hobbes to Shaftesbury. This is followed by a more careful examination of selected writings of Mandeville, Butler, and Hutcheson, with a view to tracing their probable influence upon Hume. Finally, the principal task of the year is a comparative study of the ethical doctrines of Hume's Treatise on Human Nature and Enquiry into the Principles of Morals, with incidental reference to Hartley and Adam Smith.

In 1913-14 the subject will be English evolutionary ethics, as exemplified in the writings of Darwin, Clifford, Spencer, Stephen, Alexander, and Hobhouse, and as criticised by Green, Sorley, Huxley, and Pringle-Pattison. Special attention will be given to the problem of determining the nature and limitations of the genetic method as applied in ethical research.

In 1914-15 the subject will be recent French ethics, Durkheim, Levy-Brühl, Fouillée, Rauh, Belot, and Paulhan.

Dr. G. A. de Laguna conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Metaphysical Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The subject of the seminary is usually an examination of one of the more important metaphysical theories of recent times. The chief object of the inquiry is to indicate the fundamental postulates and tacit agreements of contemporary philosophical thought.

In 1912-13 the subject is English empiricism. Special attention is paid to its connections with associationism, and to the development of the theory of scientific method.

In 1913-14 the subject will be inductive and genetic logic. The theories of Sigwart, Wundt, Bradley, Bosanquet, Dewey and Baldwin will be the basis of study.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be contemporary realism, special attention being given to the various phases of the moment in England and in this country. Its historical sources, and its relations to subjective idealism as well as to absolute idealism and pragmatism, will be carefully studied.

Dr. T. de Laguna, Dr. G. A. de Laguna and Mr. Donald Fisher conduct in each year the philosophical journal club.

Philosophical Journal Club.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Psychological Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

As the foundation of the work of the seminary one or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year: feeling and emotion; attention, apperception, the will; the psychology of religion and of ethics; language, myths, customs; psychology of the beautiful; psychiatry and criminology; animal and child psychology. In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary was educational psychology: a study of the results of psychological work in the field of education.

Dr. Ferree offers in each year the following graduate course:

Systematic Psychology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended, primarily, to give a systematic presentation of the literature of experimental psychology. Due consideration, however, will be given to all points of systematic importance. The work is grouped about the following topics: sensation, the simpler sense complexes, perception and ideas, feeling and the affective processes, attention, action, and the intellectual processes (memory, association, imagination, etc.). The course covers three years; but the topics chosen and the time devoted to each vary from year to year according to the needs of the students.

Dr. Leuba and Dr. Ferree together conduct in each year the psychological journal club. The laboratory work may be done under the direction of Dr. Ferree or Dr. Leuba.

Psychological Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read reports on the literature of the subject and on the work done in the laboratory.

Psychological Laboratory Work.

The laboratory work consists of individual practice and research.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Dr. T. de Laguna offers in 1912-13 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Theory of Pragmatism.

One hour a week throughout the year.

A brief introduction gives a sketch of the Darwinian theory of evolution and of its application to functional psychology. The greater part of the second semester is devoted to class discussion of Professor James's book on Pragmatism.

Mr. Fisher offers in 1913-14 the following free elective course, open to graduate students.

Elementary Logic.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is an introduction to deductive and inductive logic, including the theories of definition, classification, the transformation of judgments, the canons of the syllogism, the formation of concepts, the general methods of observation and experiment, analogy, and the use of hypotheses.

Dr. Ferree offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Advanced Experimental Psychology.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended for students who wish to be trained in research work. It is primarily for fourth year students in psychology, but in very special cases by permission of the instructor it may be taken by a student who has taken the minor course in Experimental Psychology and is taking the major course in Experimental Psychology. If taken with the major course the work may be continued through two years. The instructor will cooperate with the students in the solution of some original problems. A reading knowledge of French and German is required.

POST-MAJOR COURSE.

Mr. Fisher offers in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students.

Studies in the History of Philosophy. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The topics chosen for study will vary from year to year. In 1914-15 the subject will be the English neo-Hegelian movement.

Education.

This school is organized in part from the Phebe Anna Thorne Endowment and is connected with the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School.

The instruction in Education is under the direction of Dr. Kate Gordon, Associate Professor of Education, Dr. Matilde Castro, Director of the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School, Professor James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology, Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Associate Professor of Experimental Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, and Dr. Gertrude Rand, Reader (elect) in Educational Psychology.

The work of the School of Education is intended for graduate students only. No undergraduate students will be permitted to take any graduate work in education although graduate students may if they so desire elect undergraduate courses in education and psychology and other subjects. The courses are planned for graduate students who wish to study education for one, two, and three years on the principle that about one-half of the student's time will be given to purely educational courses and the remaining half to courses in the subjects in which she is preparing herself to teach. In the second half of each year there will also be provided opportunities for practice in teaching. The degree of Master of Arts in Education is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College only. Graduates of other colleges will receive diplomas certifying to the work that they have taken in the Graduate School of Education. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education is open to graduates of all colleges of high standing under the general conditions prescribed for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The Phebe Anna Thorne School.

The Phebe Anna Thorne School will open in the autumn of 1913 under the direction of the Bryn Mawr College Graduate School of Education. This school is maintained by an endowment of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars given by the executors of the estate of the late Phebe Anna Thorne to perpetuate her deep interest in school education and her desire to further research in the best methods of teaching school subjects. The Phebe Anna Thorne School is an integral part of the Graduate School of Education and affords its students an opportunity to follow the work of the expert teachers of the model school and discuss in seminars conducted by the professors of education the various problems of teaching and administration as they arise from day to day. The Phebe Anna Thorne School receives pupils at ten years of age and fits them to enter Bryn Mawr and other colleges on the completion of a seven years' high school course based on the soundest available theory and practice of teaching to be found in this country or abroad. Wherever a new method of teaching a high school subject is known to have succeeded it will be studied and introduced into the model school and the results on the pupils of different methods of teaching the same subjects will be tested and compared in the psychological laboratories of the college. It is believed that the opportunity thus afforded of studying the newest approved methods of secondary teaching will enable teachers who have studied in the Graduate School of Education to teach more efficiently and to command materially higher salaries.

FIRST YEAR.

(Given in 1913-14.)

Dr. Ferree offers in 1913-14 the following graduate courses:

Systematic Psychology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended for graduate students who have already taken a course in experimental psychology and gives a systematic presentation of the literature of experimental psychology. Due consideration, however, will be paid to all points of systematic importance. The work is grouped about the following topics: sensation, the simpler sense complexes, perception and ideas, feeling and the affective processes, attention, action, and the intellectual processes (memory, association, imagination, etc.). The course covers three years, but the topics chosen and the time devoted to each vary from year to year according to the needs of the students.

Experimental Psychology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This is an undergraduate course forming part of the minor or second year's work in psychology and all graduate students of education are required to take this course or to have taken its equivalent. It should be substituted in the first year for the course in systematic psychology by students who have not had equivalent work. Two hours a week of laboratory work are required in connection with this course.

Dr. Gordon offers in 1913-14 the following graduate courses:

Psychology applied to Teaching.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In connection with this course students are required to take four hours a week of laboratory work.

History of Education.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

Methods of Teaching.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Gordon and Dr. Castro together conduct the seminary and journal club in education and the observation classes.

Seminary in Methods of Teaching.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Journal Club in Education.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

Observation Classes.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Five hours a week counting as a two hour lecture course are spent in the observation of teaching in the Phebe Anna Thorne School and in other schools.

Mr. King offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

English Enunciation.

One hour once a fortnight throughout the year.

There will be offered in each year:

Practicum in the subject in which the student wishes to teach conducted by the professors in the subject concerned.

One hour a week throughout the year.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in 1914-15.)

Dr. Ferree offers in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Systematic Psychology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course is given as in 1913-14 for graduate students who were not qualified to take it in the first year.

Dr. Gordon and Dr. Rand offer in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Advanced Psychology applied to Teaching.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course training is given in the methods of testing children for fatigue, efficiency, etc. Four hours of laboratory work are required in connection with this course.

Dr. Gordon and Dr. Castro together conduct the seminary and journal club in education and the observation classes:

Seminary in Methods of School Administration.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this seminary at least two hours a week of actual practice in teaching is required.

Journal Club in Education.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

Observation Classes.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Mr. King offers in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Elocution.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

There will be offered in each year:

Practicum in the subject in which the student wishes to teach conducted by the professors in the subject concerned.

One hour a week throughout the year.

THIRD YEAR.

(Given in 1915-16.)

Dr. Gordon, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand together conduct in 1915-16 the following course:

Special Laboratory Problems in Educational Psychology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Gordon offers in 1915-16 the following graduate course:

Comparative Education.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Leuba offers in 1915-16 the following graduate course:

Abnormal Psychology.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Gordon and Dr. Castro together conduct the seminary and journal club in education and the observation classes.

Seminary in Education.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Journal Club in Education.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

Observation Classes.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Mr. King offers in 1915-16 the following graduate course:

Elocution.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

There will be offered in each year:

Practicum in the subject in which the student wishes to teach conducted by the professors in the subject concerned.

One hour a week throughout the year.

History of Art and Classical Archæology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Lamb, Lecturer in Classical Archæology, Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Lecturer in the History of Art and Comparative Literature, and Miss Mary Hamilton Swindler, Demonstrator and Reader (elect) in the History of Art and Classical Archæology, and an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.

An archæological seminary of two hours a week throughout the year is offered to graduate students who have done elementary archæological work, and also a journal club meeting one and a half hours a fortnight.

The undergraduate work is divided into courses of three hours a week, and two hours a week, and these change from year to year so affording a series of instruction in painting, architecture and sculpture.

GRADUATE COURSES.

A seminary in archæology and a journal club are offered to graduate students in addition to the elective courses which are open also to undergraduate students. A reading knowledge of French and German is indispensable for graduate work in art and archæology.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Miss Lamb conducts in 1912-13 the following graduate seminary which is offered in each year:

Archæological Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to graduate students who have had some previous training in classical archæology. The order of the subjects may be changed in accordance with the needs of the students.

In 1912-13 Minoan culture is the subject of the first semester's work. The art and industry of the period are studied in the light of excavations recently conducted upon various sites in Crete, the Cyclades, Troy and the mainland of Greece. In the second semester the topography, monuments and mythology of the Acropolis of Athens are studied.

In 1913-14 Roman architecture and topography will be the subjects of the seminary in the first semester and Greek vases of the fifth century will be studied in the second semester.

In 1914-15 Greek and Roman coins will be studied in the first semester and Greek and Roman sculpture will be the subject of the seminary in the second semester.

The journal club is conducted in each year by the instructors in the department:

Archæological Journal Club. One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current archæological literature.

The following undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Miss King offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following courses, open to graduate students:

Italian Painting of the Renaissance from the Middle of the Thirteenth to the Middle of the Sixteenth Century. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the Italian Primitives are studied, chiefly in the schools of Florence, Siena, and Umbria; in the second semester the painters of the High Renaissance, with special attention to those of Venice and the north of Italy.

Renaissance Sculpture.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to the sculpture of the Italian Renaissance, the second chiefly to Northern art, and in especial to figure sculpture in France from the building of the Cathedrals to the close of the Renaissance. The great sculptors of Germany and Spain will be studied carefully in conclusion.

Miss King offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following courses, open to graduate students:

Painting in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the Dutch and Flemish painters will be studied, in the second semester the French, Spanish, and English. The course will begin with a short consideration of the Primitives in France and the Low Countries and will end with the earlier English schools of landscape and portrait painting.

Gothic Architecture.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to Romanesque and pointed architecture in Italy and Germany, with special attention to the introduction of Gothic into Italy by the Cistercians, and the second semester to the development of Gothic in France and Spain with parallels from English ecclesiastical architecture.

Miss Lamb offers in 1912-13 the following courses, open to graduate students:

Greek and Roman Architecture.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The object of the course is to give the students a comprehensive knowledge of the art of building in Greece from the Neolithic to the Hellenistic age and in the case of Rome down to the early Christian era. Attention is paid to the results of the most recent excavations and the subject is studied in the light of literary authority and extant remains. An attempt is made to interest the students not only in the artistic aspects of the subject but in the simple mechanical problems and the manner in which they have been met. A brief study of Egyptian buildings is made at the beginning of the course.

Introduction to the study of Archæology. One hour a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the various stages of development in Greek and Roman art are studied. Numismatics forms the material of the work in the second semester.

In 1913-14 the following courses, open to graduate students, will be offered by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later:

Greek and Roman Sculpture.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The course consists of a study of the development of Greek sculpture from its beginning to the end of the Hellenistic period. The last six weeks of the second semester are devoted to a survey of Roman sculpture.

Ancient Painting.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is concerned chiefly with vases and with Pompeian wall-paintings. A good collection of original material for the illustration of Greek vases is in the possession of the department. The course is illustrated with lantern slides.

Mathematics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charlotte Angas Scott, Professor of Mathematics, and Dr. James Ryals Conner, Associate in Mathematics.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses consist of lectures and seminary work supplemented by private reading under the direction of the instructors, the courses being arranged each year with reference to the wishes and degree of preparation of the students concerned.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Scott offers in 1912-13 the following graduate course:

Special Algebraic Curves.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first part of the course is devoted to a discussion of properties of cubic and quartic plane curves. Later in the year other classes of curves are taken into account and important individual curves treated in detail.

Dr. Scott offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Theory of Surfaces.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course a general knowledge of plane algebraic curves and the elements of solid analytical geometry is presupposed. During the first semester the simpler properties of non-singular surfaces and projective properties of curves and developables are taken up; the classification of curves, the properties of ruled surfaces, and singularities of surfaces in general are treated in the second semester.

Dr. Scott offers in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

The Topology of Algebraic Curves.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course deals with the visible properties of plane algebraic curves, the number, nature and relation of the real components of singularities; the number, nature and arrangement of the distinct circuits; and also, though in less detail, with similar investigations relating to curves in space.

Dr. Conner offers in 1912-13 the following graduate course:

Theory of Numbers.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to the theory of integers in the rational and in algebraic realms. Such allied subjects as the theory of the division of the circle and linear groups are given in as much detail as time allows.

Dr. Conner offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Theory of Groups.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The theory of abstract finite groups will first be developed. Permutation and substitution groups will be taken up and applications to the theory of equations and to geometry will be discussed.

Dr. Conner offers in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Calculus of Variations.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The foundations of the subject will be laid with careful attention to mathematical rigour. Numerous problems chosen from a wide range of subjects will be proposed and investigated.

Dr. Scott and Dr. Conner together conduct the journal club.

Mathematical Journal Club.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club holds fortnightly meetings at which reports on special topics or memoirs are presented by the instructors and the graduate students.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses in mathematics are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and advanced work. They deal, therefore, with the subjects of the major course, carried to higher developments and treated by higher methods. As the order of mathematical studies differs in different colleges, graduate students frequently find it advisable to devote a part of their time to these courses. Regular written work is expected from all mathematical students, and a reading knowledge of French and German is presupposed.

The post-major courses in any one year amount to four hours a week. The courses given are the following with occasional modifications:

I. (a.) Lectures Introductory to Modern Analytical Geometry, in connection with Salmon's Conic Sections and Scott's Modern Analytical Geometry.

or, I. (b.) Lectures on Modern Pure Geometry.

or, I. (c.) Lectures on Special Topics in Geometry, such as Homogeneous Coordinates, Circular Coordinates, Families of Curves, Certain Transcendental Curves, Geometrical Transformations, etc.

Special permission to take this course before completing the two years of the major course may be granted to students whose work in the major course has shown that they are able to profit by the lectures.

II. (a.) Lectures Introductory to Modern Algebra, in connection with Salmon's Modern Higher Algebra, and Elliott's Algebra of Quantics.

or, II. (b.) Lectures Preparatory to the Theory of Functions, in connection with Harkness and Morley's Introduction to the Theory of Analytic Functions and Chrystal's Algebra, Vol. II.

or, II. (c.) Lectures on Differential Equations, ordinary and partial.

or, II. (d.) A general course in Analysis, dealing with the higher development of subjects only touched upon in the major course, such as Determinants, Fourier's Series, Infinite Series, Definite Integrals, etc.

In 1912-13 the following post-major courses are offered:

I. (b.) Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

II. (c.) Dr. Conner. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1913-14 the following post-major courses are offered:

I. (a.) Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

II. (b.) Dr. Conner. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1914-15 the following post-major courses are offered:

I. (b.) Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

II. (d.) Dr. Conner. Two hours a week throughout the year.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Dr. Scott offers in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Graphic Mathematics. One hour a week throughout the year.

The course deals with statistical work, probability, and theory of errors. It is recommended to students of economics as well as to students of physics. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirement for matriculation is presupposed.

Dr. Scott offers in 1914-15 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Fundamental Theorems of Algebra and Geometry.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is offered in alternate years. Certain standard problems of historical interest are considered in order to elucidate some of the fundamental principles of mathematics. Either semester may be taken separately. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirement for matriculation is presupposed. It is hoped that the work will prove useful to those intending to teach elementary mathematics.

Dr. Conner offers in 1913-14 the following free elective course open to graduate students:

Descriptive Astronomy.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The subject will be treated from an elementary point of view. Such advanced mathematics as seems desirable will be developed in the lectures.

The following free elective course, open to graduate students, will be offered when the time of the department permits:

Mathematics Preparatory to Science. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course deals chiefly with parts of the differential and integral calculus, trigonometry, analytical geometry, and differential equations. Some problems in probability are also considered.

SCIENCE.

Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology.

In January, 1893, the Trustees opened Dalton Hall, a large building, containing ample laboratories, lecture-rooms, research-rooms, special libraries, and professors' rooms for the work of the scientific departments. The chemical, geological, biological, and physical laboratories and the laboratory for experimental psychology are open for students from nine to six daily.

The chemical department includes a lecture-room, a large laboratory for the first-year students, and several smaller ones for advanced and special work, a special room for physical chemistry, preparation and balance rooms, and a chemical library. The supply of apparatus and chemicals has been carefully selected for the purpose of instruction and research, and is increasing from year to year. The chemical library contains, besides necessary treatises and reference books, complete sets of the most important chemical journals.

The geological department is equipped with large collections of minerals, rocks, and fossils, a carefully selected library, and laboratories furnished with maps, models, charts, lantern slides, petrologic microscopes, goniometers, and other apparatus necessary for work in undergraduate and graduate courses.

The biological laboratories are equipped with the best (Zeiss) microscopes, microtomes, etc., and are supplied with apparatus for the study of experimental physiology.

The physical laboratories are carefully furnished with the apparatus necessary for thorough work.

Graduate work in the natural sciences is highly special, and consists of laboratory work, private reading, and special investigations pursued by the student under the guidance of the instructors.

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1912-13.

Physics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. William B. Huff, Professor of Physics, Dr. James Barnes, Associate Professor of Physics, and Miss Mabel Frehafer, Demonstrator in Physics.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses consist of lectures, laboratory work, and original research under the direction of the instructors, the lecture courses varying from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through consecutive years. A good working library containing the current and bound numbers of all the important physical journals is kept in the laboratory.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Huff offers in 1912-13 the following graduate course:

Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures are based on Maxwell's standard work, and include a general account of the later development of the theory. This course was given as a post-major course in 1912-13.

Dr. Huff offers in 1914-15 the following graduate courses:

Radioactivity and Discharge of Electricity through Gases.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The earlier lectures treat of the effect of fields on the path of a moving charged particle. A discussion of typical experimental methods of measuring velocity and the ratio of charge to the mass follows. After a study of the phenomena of electrical discharge and of radioactivity a brief account of theories is given.

Electron Theory.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

The mathematical development of the subject is presented in the lectures, with special reference to experimental tests of theory.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Thermo-dynamics and Radiation.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The modern developments of thermo-dynamics and radiation are considered. Attention is paid to the application of the laws of thermo-dynamics in physical chemistry.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1915-16 the following graduate course:

Physical Optics.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course gives a general mathematical discussion of physical optics. Students are expected to give detailed reports on the methods and results of investigations which illustrate the theory. When it seems desirable two and a half hours of experimental work will be substituted for one hour of the lecture course.

In each year Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes together conduct the seminary, the journal club, and the laboratory work.

Physical Seminary and Journal Club. One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read papers on assigned topics in physics.

Laboratory work.

The laboratory work is arranged for the purpose of familiarising the student with the methods of research; the student begins by repeating methods and investigations of well-known experimenters, with any modifications that may be suggested, passing on to points of investigation left untouched by previous experimenters, and finally to the study of new methods and the prosecution of original research. Students taking physics as their chief subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are expected to spend all the time possible in the laboratory. In the basement there is a constant-temperature vault designed for accurate comparison of lengths, etc., and the laboratory is provided with special rooms for magnetic, optical, and electrical work. A well-equipped shop and trained mechanics make it possible to have special forms of apparatus constructed which are needed in research work.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Dr. Huff offers in 1912-13 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Physical Basis of Music. One hour a week throughout the year.

In the lectures of this course it is planned to present some of the physical principles illustrated in the construction of musical instruments and underlying the general theory of music. Private reading will be assigned.

Dr. Huff offers in 1913-14 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

- Historical Development of Physics. One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of this course consists of lectures, required reading and class-room discussions. The lectures give an elementary presentation of some of the more important ideas and results of physics. The reading is intended to supplement the lectures and to provide additional material for general discussion. The course is open to students who have had a minor course in science or its equivalent.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1913-14 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Astrophysics. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures on the application of physical principles and methods to the study of the composition, structure, and motions of the heavenly bodies. Clarke's Problems in Astrophysics, Darwin's The Tides, and selected chapters in Moulton's Celestial Mechanics will be read and discussed. The course is open to students who have taken the minor course in physics or the minor course in mathematics or courses equivalent to these.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Huff offers in 1913-14 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Properties of Matter. Three hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures cover the general subject of the properties of matter studied from the point of view of the Molecular Theory. The different theories of matter are discussed and an account of recent investigations concerning the relations of matter and electricity is given. Poynting and Thomson's Properties of Matter is read in connection with the course.

Theory of Sound.Three hours a week during the second semester.

The lectures form an introduction to the theory of modes of vibration of pipes, strings, and rods. The theory of music and of musical instruments is then studied. Poynting and Thomson's Sound is used during the earlier part of the course, and frequent references are made to Helmholtz and Rayleigh.

Dr. Huff offers in 1915-16 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Electricity and Magnetism.Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures of this course treat typical mathematical and experimental problems chosen from the various parts of the entire subject. A large number of problems on potential and attraction are assigned.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1912-13 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

General Optics.Three hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures give a general discussion of the theories advanced to explain many phenomena in light. Students are required to have a good knowledge of elementary optics and to be sufficiently familiar with optical apparatus to undertake a detailed study of some special problem.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Spectroscopy.Three hours a week throughout the year.

The course begins with a complete discussion of the apparatus used in this subject; the results of past and present investigations are then considered, and problems for investigation are pointed out. The many important applications of spectroscopy to astronomy are not neglected. The standard book of reference is Kayser's Handbuch der Spectroscopie. Detailed reports of laboratory investigations are required.

Chemistry.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Roger Frederic Brunel, Associate in Chemistry, Dr. Frederick Hutton Getman,* Associate in Chemistry, and Dr. Annie Louise Macleod, Reader and Demonstrator in Chemistry.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The advanced courses in chemistry consist of lectures upon inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry, seminary work, reports upon current chemical literature, and laboratory exercises. In the laboratory work the students are required to become familiar with the literature bearing upon the subjects they are studying, and it is therefore necessary for them to have a reading knowledge of French and German.

The lecture courses are varied from year to year to meet the requirements of students and to form a consecutive course for those who wish to make chemistry the chief subject in the examination for the degree of

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1912-13.

Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in organic chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Brunel or in physical chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Getman, but students who make organic chemistry the major subject of examination must take physical chemistry as one of their minor subjects, and students who make physical chemistry the major subject, must take organic chemistry as one of the minor subjects.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Brunel conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Chemical Seminary, Organic Chemistry. One hour a week throughout the year.

The students who specialise in organic chemistry present formal reports upon assigned topics.

Dr. Getman conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Chemical Seminary, Inorganic Chemistry.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course consists of required reading, and reports on selected topics. The needs of the individual students are considered in selecting the subjects for discussion.

Dr. Brunel offers in each year the following graduate course:

Advanced Organic Chemistry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Getman offers in each year the following graduate course:

Physical Chemistry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures give a general survey of the subject, including the laws of gases, the elements of thermodynamics, the theory of solutions, chemical kinetics, equilibria, thermo-chemistry, and electro-chemistry.

The laboratory work in connection with the course includes the determination of specific gravities of solids and liquids, the molecular weights of vapors and dissolved substances; the study of reaction velocities, calorimetry, and electro-chemical measurements.

Dr. Brunel and Dr. Getman together conduct the journal club.

Chemical Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students, with the instructors, meet to hear reports and discussions on recent scientific articles.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Brunel offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Organic Chemistry, selected topics.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The aim of this course is to lay the foundation for independent work in organic chemistry. The lectures begin with a study of current problems as illustrated by some particular class of organic compounds. This is followed by a discussion of the laboratory methods available for the solution of such problems.

The laboratory work is varied to meet the wants of the individual students. In general the student begins with the preparation of some of the more important substances that are discussed in the lectures. This is followed by organic analyses, molecular weight determinations, and the transformations necessary to establish the structural formulas of the substances prepared.

Dr. Getman offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Theoretical Chemistry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The aim of the lectures is to extend the student's knowledge of theoretical and physical chemistry and to lay a foundation for independent work in this subject. The lectures are intended to give a general outline of the subject, the following topics being discussed: fundamental theories of chemistry; the periodic classification; the corpuscular theory of matter; the laws of gases, liquids and solids; osmotic pressure and dilute solutions; colloidal solutions; thermochemistry; homogeneous and heterogeneous equilibria; chemical kinetics; electrochemistry; actinochemistry, and radiochemistry. The solution of a large number of problems will be required.

The laboratory work includes advanced quantitative analysis and physico-chemical measurements, the exercises being adapted to the requirements of the individual student.

Geology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Florence Bascom, Professor of Geology, and Dr. Thomas Clachar Brown, Associate in Geology.

The instruction offered in geology includes, in addition to the minor and major courses, three free elective courses of one and two hours a week respectively, six post-major courses of three hours a week open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in geology, and four graduate courses of five and three hours a week respectively.

Post-major courses in petrology and paleontology are offered in each year, and are designed to train the student in petrographic methods for the exact determination of rock species and rock families and in the principles of invertebrate and vertebrate paleontology. They are an essential preliminary to research work in the science.

Excellent illustrative material for the graduate and undergraduate courses is furnished by the geological and paleontological collections of the college, including the Theodore D. Rand rock and mineral collection, which alone contains over 20,000 specimens, by the private collections of the instructors, and by material lent by the United States Geological Survey; the department is also fortunate in its proximity to the museum of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia; within easy reach of the college there are excellent collecting fields for fossil, mineral, and rock specimens.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses in petrology and mineralogy should be preceded by the major and post-major courses or their equivalents and are intended primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate course in mineralogy is also intended to meet the needs of graduate students in chemistry who wish to make mineralogy a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate courses in stratigraphic geology and paleontology and paleogeography are designed primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; they may also be taken by graduate students in biology who wish to make paleontology a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Further graduate courses in petrology and paleontology will be arranged to suit the requirements of candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and research problems will be assigned.

Students may specialize either in petrology and mineralogy, under the direction of Dr. Bascom, or in stratigraphic geology and paleontology, under the direction of Dr. Brown, but students who make petrology and mineralogy the major subject of examination must take stratigraphic geology and paleontology as one of the minor subjects and students who make stratigraphic geology and paleontology the major subject, must take petrology as one of the minor subjects.

No undergraduates are admitted to the graduate courses.

Dr. Bascom conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Petrology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This seminary will be conducted by means of informal discussions, required reading, and formal reports. The selection of subjects for discussion will be dependent upon the needs of the individual students.

Dr. Brown conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Stratigraphic Geology and Paleontology. One hour a week throughout the year.

The students who specialize in stratigraphic geology and paleontology present formal reports upon assigned topics.

Dr. Bascom offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Petrology.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the problems of metamorphism of both aqueous and igneous rocks. The character of metamorphic processes and the conditions which control these processes, the megascopic and microscopic structures, and the criteria determining the origin, classification, geographic distribution, and geologic occurrence of metamorphic rocks are treated. Direction is given in research work, map making, and advanced field work. The amount of laboratory, field work, and private reading required makes the course the equivalent of five hours a week.

Mineralogy.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Both the lectures and laboratory practice deal with crystal measurement by means of the two-circle goniometer, with crystal projection, and crystal drawing.

The works of Goldschmidt, Hintze, Groth, Tschermak, and Dana are used as reference books.

Dr. Brown offers in each year the following graduate courses:
Stratigraphic Geology and Paleontology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the principles of sedimentation; the petrologic character, distribution, faunal contents and geologic succession of the formations of North America. The limits of the various faunal provinces will be established so far as possible and the sediments deposited in the various epicontinental seas correlated. The diastrophic movements which threw the formations into folds producing mountain ranges and basins will receive special attention.

Paleogeography.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures deal with all phenomena that throw light upon the extent, the relief, the climate and the life of the lands and seas of geologic time. Special attention will be given to the positive and negative movements of the strand line, the development of epicontinental seas, the distribution of atmospheric and oceanic currents, climatic changes, food supply, faunal provinces, and the effect of seas and barriers upon the distribution and migration of plants and animals. In the laboratory a number of the exercises will deal with the making of paleogeographic maps and models.

Dr. Bascom and Dr. Brown together conduct the journal club.

Geological Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of recent geological literature.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Bascom offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Petrography.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

During the first semester the lectures deal with the principles of optical crystallography, the optical means of mineral determination, and the petrographic characters of rock-forming minerals. In the second semester the structure, composition, characters, origin, geographical distribution, and geological associations of the igneous rocks are treated. Practice is given in the quantitative chemical classification of igneous rocks for the purpose of determining their position in the new system. Petrographical investigation in the field and laboratory is included in the course. The works of Groth, Rosenbusch, Zirkel, and Michel Levy are used for reference. Special field problems are given to the students for independent solution.

Dr. Brown offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Invertebrate Paleontology. Three hours a week during the first semester.

The course presupposes a knowledge of historical geology. A systematic study is made of the various classes of invertebrate animals which are found in a fossil state. Special attention is given to the relations of these classes to each other as bearing on their origin and on the theory of evolution. Those classes which are of practical value to the stratigraphic geologist in determining the geologic age of formations are dwelt upon at considerable length. Excursions are made to neighboring fossiliferous localities to collect fossils and to observe their occurrence in the rocks. The student has access, not only to the representative paleontological collection of Bryn Mawr College, but also to the large collections of the several academies and institutes in Philadelphia.

Dr. Brown offers in each year one of the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Vertebrate Paleontology. Three hours a week during the second semester.

A systematic study is made of the vertebrate remains which have been found as fossils. Since the vertebrated organisms represent the highest phase of development to which the animal kingdom has attained, a study of their past history is of prime importance in elucidating some of the most fundamental principles in the evolution of life.

Fossil Faunas. Three hours a week during the second semester

This course is designed to be taken by those students who have completed the course in Invertebrate Paleontology, and who wish to become familiar with the methods of applying a knowledge of invertebrate paleontology to the problems of geology. This course will treat in detail each of the successive faunas or assemblages of animal life which have developed since the opening of the Cambrian period. An attempt will be made to show that each fauna was a direct response to the environment which surrounded it, and the probable geologic, physiographic, and climatic factors of this environment will be discussed.

Dr. Brown offers in 1913-14 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Economic Geology. Three hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures deal with the properties, occurrence, distribution, production, value, etc., of the more important non-metallic minerals such as coal, petroleum, building stones, clay, lime, calcareous cements, salines, gypsum, fertilizers, abrasives, asbestos, graphite, precious stones, and underground waters. The metallic ores such as iron, copper, lead and zinc, silver-lead, gold and silver, and the minor metals will also be considered. The laboratory work consists of the study and determination of the economically important minerals.

The Nature of Ore Deposits. Three hours a week during the second semester.

The theories as to the origin of ore bodies and the nature of their occurrence in the more important mines of the world will be considered. The laboratory work consists of the study and determination of the ores and ore forming minerals.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Dr. Bascom offers in each year, if the time of the department permits, the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Cosmogony. One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of the course will be conducted by means of lectures, required reading and classroom discussion. The lectures will treat of the origin of the earth, the growth of the continents and the development of landscape, and will be illustrated by lantern slides. The reading is intended to supplement the lectures and to furnish further material for discussion. The course is intended to give a survey of the more important results reached by geological research.

Dr. Brown offers in each year the following free elective courses, open to graduate students:

Evolution of the Vertebrates.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course consists of lectures illustrated by charts, diagrams, lantern slides and photographs. It gives a comprehensive outline of the evolution of the vertebrates from the earliest appearance of representatives of this group to the beginning of the Cenozoic era. The vertebrate phylum not only contains the highest types of animal life but is the only phylum which has gone through the whole of its evolution since the beginning of geological history as recorded in the fossil-bearing rocks. The course will consider first those primitive types which perhaps represent ancestral vertebrate forms and then will consider in the order of their appearance the five great classes of Fishes, Batrachians, Reptiles, Birds, and Mammals.

Evolution of the Mammals.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

This course is a continuation of the preceding. The rise and development of the mammals will be followed in considerable detail, and an attempt will be made to show the relation between the types which were developed and their environment including the geographic, physiographic, and climatic factors as well as the surrounding animal and plant life.

Biology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Professor of Biology, Dr. Don Rosco Joseph, Associate Professor of Physiology, and Dr. Harriet Randolph, Demonstrator in Biology and Reader in Botany.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The advanced courses are varied from year to year, so as to form a consecutive course for students that wish to make biology one of the chief subjects of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in animal morphology under the guidance of Dr. Tennent, or in animal physiology under the guidance of Dr. Joseph.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1912-13 the following graduate course:

Embryology of Invertebrates.

One hour a week throughout the year

The embryology of invertebrates with special reference to germinal organisation, cleavage and differentiation, and to the problems of inheritance and development is studied. This course varies in accordance with the needs of the students in the department.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Genetics.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course includes a discussion of Mendel's principles of heredity, of biometrical methods and results, of selection, and of the application of these ideas in animal and plant breeding.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Cytology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course deals with the anatomy of the cell, and the relations and functions of its various structures in unicellular and multicellular organisms. Special attention will be given to the phenomena of karyokinesis and sexual reproduction and the theories connected therewith.

Dr. Joseph offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following graduate course:

Internal Secretions.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course consists of the reading and discussion of original articles dealing with the subject.

Dr. Joseph offers in 1913-14 the following graduate course:

Selected problems dealing with the physiology of the gastro-intestinal tract.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Dr. Tennent and Dr. Joseph together conduct the journal club, the seminary, and the laboratory work.

Biological Journal Club.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet fortnightly for the discussion of topics of current biological literature.

Biological Seminary.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet fortnightly for the formal presentation of assigned topics.

Laboratory Work.

There is no regular course of laboratory instruction for graduates. Each student desiring to devote a considerable portion of her time to such work is given a problem for verification or extension. The nature of the work depends in each case on the qualifications of the student.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Embryology of Vertebrates.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures, assigned reading and laboratory work on the embryology of vertebrates. The lectures deal with the development of specific forms and with theoretical questions of embryological interest. The department has material for the study of the development of Amphioxus, Ascidian, Amia, Lepidosteus, Squalus, Ctenolabrus, Necturus, Rana, Chrysemys, Chick and Pig. At least five hours of laboratory work will be required.

The course is divided as follows: First semester—Embryology of Vertebrates (a). Early stages of development. Second semester—Embryology of Vertebrates (b). Organogeny.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1913-14 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Protoplasm, the Cell, and Cytological Technique.

One hour a week during the first semester.

This course consists of a study of the structure of protoplasm, the structure of the cell, the phenomena of cell division, maturation and fertilisation. Both plant and animal cells will be studied, and instruction will be given in methods of preparing cytological material for microscopical examination. This course is to be taken as a two hour course with four hours laboratory.

Experimental Morphology.

One hour a week during the second semester.

The object of this course is to give a general historical view of experimental morphology of both plants and animals, to discuss some of the methods employed, to point out the results already obtained, and to indicate the nature of the work now being done in the subject. The topics discussed are: regeneration in Protozoa and Metazoa, behaviour of lower organisms, experiments on the fertilised and unfertilised egg, Mendel's experiments in hybridisation, and De Vries Oenothera mutants. This course is to be taken with four hours laboratory as a two hour course.

Dr. Joseph offers in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Nervous System.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course the physiology of the central and peripheral nervous systems is taken up in greater detail than is possible in the major course. The course consists of lectures, recitations, assigned reading, class reports and from one to two hours of laboratory work weekly.

In the laboratory, experiments are carried out which illustrate various physiological properties of the nervous system. In addition a brief study is made of sectioned brain material to acquaint the student with the general arrangement of the internal structure of the brain and the chief paths that may be taken by nerve impulses within the central nervous system.

Dr. Joseph offers in 1912-13 and again in 1913-14 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Physiological Chemistry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures, recitations, assigned reading and laboratory work. Occasionally a member of the class is asked to report on an article from the literature of the subject. At least four hours a week of laboratory work are required. The laboratory work includes a study of the properties and reactions of proteins; fats and carbohydrates; of the digestive actions of the enzymes of the salivary, gastric, pancreatic and intestinal secretions and the bile; and of the milk and urine. A preliminary training in chemistry at least equivalent to that obtained in the minor course is required.

Dr. Joseph offers in 1913-14 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Special Senses.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course of lectures, recitations, assigned reading and laboratory work deals with the more important facts and theories regarding the action of the organs of special sense.

Dr. Tennent and Dr. Joseph conduct laboratory work in connection with the above courses:

Laboratory Work.

It is desirable that as much laboratory work as possible should be done in connection with the courses offered above. The object of the laboratory work is to give the student experience in the use of apparatus and in adapting it to research. Some special problem is assigned to each student; at the end of the year the results of the work are presented in writing.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Dr. Tennent offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Theoretical Biology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This is a historical course dealing with the development of the theories of biology. Special attention is given to theories of evolution and heredity. The course is open to students who have had one year's training in science. A considerable amount of assigned reading is required.

COLLEGE BUILDINGS.

The college buildings are situated at Bryn Mawr, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, five miles west of the city, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The site of the college is four hundred and twenty feet above sea level, in the midst of a beautiful rolling country made accessible by good roads in every direction. The college grounds cover fifty-two acres, and include lawns, tennis courts, and two large athletic fields, one of which is converted in winter into a skating-pond.

Taylor Hall (named after the founder), a large building of Port Deposit stone, contains a general assembly room, ten lecture-rooms, and the offices of administration.

The library, the gift of the friends, graduates, and students of the college, begun in April, 1903, was completed in February, 1907. It is built of gray stone in the Jacobean Gothic style of architecture of the period of 1630, and forms three sides of a closed quadrangle. The main building, devoted to the library proper, faces east and is opposite and parallel to Taylor Hall at a distance of about fifty yards; the principal entrances of the two buildings face each other and are connected by a broad cement path. The east front is one hundred and seventy-four feet long and contains a three story stack with accommodation for eighty-eight thousand volumes, and above this a large reading-room with desks for one hundred and thirty-six readers, each desk screened to a height of two feet, as in the British Museum reading-room, to secure privacy to the reader. No books of reference are kept in the main reading-room. Beyond the reading-room on the south side are the newspaper and magazine rooms. On the north side are the Art and Archæological seminaries, containing collections of photographs, vases, and coins. The main building contains offices for the librarians and cataloguers, a professor's office, a new book room and four cloak rooms. The wings of the building, running symmetrically about two hundred feet in length from the north and south ends of the main building, contain twelve seminary rooms and twenty-five professors' offices. The books needed for graduate study and research are kept in the seminary rooms where the graduate lectures are held. The seminaries are arranged as follows: Greek, Latin, English, German, French, Italian and Spanish, Semitic Languages and Philosophy in the north wing; Mathematics, History, Economics and Psychology, in the south wing. The total book capacity of the library including the seminary libraries and the books for general study which are kept in the stack, is 168,449 volumes. The building is absolutely fire-proof. Professors' offices for the senior professors in each department adjoin the seminary rooms. There are also two seminary lecture-rooms accommodating about fifteen students, one general lecture-room accommodating forty-two students, four interview rooms, and a library for the use of the Christian Union.

On the first floor of the south wing the department of experimental psychology has two large laboratories, one for general work and one for research. The basement of the north wing contains rooms for the Monograph Committee of the Faculty, the Alumnæ Association, and fire-proof safe rooms for the records and archives of the college. The quadrangular court enclosed by the building is surrounded by cloisters and in the centre of the grass enclosure is a fountain, the gift of the class of 1901.

The library is open for students on week-days from 8 a. m. till 10 p. m. and on Sundays from 2 p. m. till 10 p. m. It is open for the faculty at all hours.

In January, 1893, the scientific departments of the college were transferred to Dalton Hall, a stone building erected by the Trustees out of funds in large part contributed by the generosity of friends of the college. Dalton Hall is entirely occupied by the scientific departments, the special scientific libraries, and the consultation-rooms of the professors of science. The first floor and the basement are reserved for physics, the second floor is reserved for biology, the third floor for chemistry, and the fourth and fifth floors for geology. In December, 1893, a greenhouse designed for the use of the botanical department was added to Dalton Hall as the gift of the alumnae and students.

Around Taylor Hall the Trustees have erected halls of residence for the accommodation of students. Plans, drawings, and descriptions of the six halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall East, Pembroke Hall West, and Rockefeller Hall, the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, and of the academic buildings, Taylor Hall, the Library, and Dalton Hall, are published in a separate pamphlet to be obtained from the Secretary of the College.

The new gymnasium, erected on the site of the first gymnasium and the gift of the Athletic Association, the alumnae and thirteen neighbors of the college, was completed in February, 1909. It is open to the students from 8 a. m. till 10 p. m., daily, contains a large hall for gymnastic exercises, with a running or walking track for use in rainy weather; a room for the director, and an adjoining room for the examination and record of the physical development of the students, a waiting room, and cloak rooms. In the basement are bathrooms for use after exercise and a swimming-tank, sixty-nine feet long, twenty feet wide, and from four to seven and a half feet deep, given in 1894 by the alumnae, students, and friends of the college, and well supplied with spring boards, life preservers, and other apparatus for the teaching of swimming. The gymnasium is under the charge of a director and two assistants.

On the grounds, separated from the other buildings, the Class of 1905 infirmary has been erected and will be opened in April, 1913, with accommodation for patients and nurses, and its own diet kitchens and bathrooms, wards and private rooms, sun parlour, sun terrace and two isolation wards.

A central power-house, which was erected in 1903 as part of the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, furnishes heat, electric light, and hot water for all the college buildings. Steam is conducted through tunnels underground to coils in the basement of each building. Air brought in from the outside is blown through the heaters by powerful fans and distributed to the various rooms, and the piping system is so adjusted as to change the air completely in every room once in every ten minutes throughout the day and night. The temperature is regulated by thermostats in the heating coils as well as in the individual rooms. The electric lights, including electric reading-lamps for each student, are installed in the most approved manner and the voltage is kept constant so that there is no fluctuation. A constant and abundant supply of hot water is laid on and maintained at a temperature of 180 degrees, during all the twenty-four hours of the day, in all the bathrooms and stationary washstands and tea pantries.

The Bell Telephone Company, a branch of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, maintains telephone pay stations in each of the halls of residence, in the library and in the gymnasium, by means of which the students may be communicated with at any time. Near the college are a Postal Telegraph-Cable Company office (service 6. A. M. to 12 P. M.), an Adams Express office, a United States money-order office and two banks. There are good roads in every direction. Horses for riding and driving may be kept at livery near the college, at a cost of twenty-five dollars a month.

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE.

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE was founded by Dr. Joseph W. Taylor, of Burlington, New Jersey, who died January 18th, 1880. By his will he left the greater portion of his estate for the purpose of establishing and maintaining an institution of advanced learning for women. The college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelphia, at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, five miles to the west of the city. The site was purchased by the founder on account of its healthfulness and beauty, and the college buildings were begun during his lifetime. In 1880, the year of his death, the college was incorporated by the authority of the State of Pennsylvania, and invested with power to confer degrees. A circular of information was issued by the trustees in 1883. A president and a dean of the faculty were elected in the spring of 1884, and during the remainder of the year plans were matured and appointments made in the faculty. The courtesy of the presiding officers and instructors of existing universities and colleges facilitated an acquaintance with the prevailing college curriculum, and the domestic organisation of the woman's colleges, Vassar, Smith, and Wellesley, received careful consideration. To the Johns Hopkins University acknowledgment is especially due, since from it has been borrowed the system of major and minor electives in fixed combination to which Bryn Mawr College first gave the name of the Group System. In the spring of 1885 the first catalogue was issued, and the college was opened for instruction in the autumn of 1885.

Introductory Statement.

Three classes of persons are admitted to the lectures and class work of the college—graduate students, undergraduate students, and hearers.

Admission.

Graduate students must have presented a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing. They may pursue any courses offered by the college for which their previous training has fitted them; but they must satisfy the several instructors of their ability to profit by the courses they desire to follow, and may be required to pursue certain introductory or auxiliary studies before they are admitted to the advanced or purely graduate courses.* They are, moreover, entitled to personal guidance and direction, supervision of their general reading and furtherance of their investigations, from the instructors, and their needs are considered in the arrangement of new courses of lectures.

*Graduate
Students.*

*Fellows
Scholars.*

The most distinguished place among the graduate students is held by the fellows and graduate scholars, who must reside in the college during the academic year. Four European travelling fellowships, fifteen resident fellowships and thirty-six graduate scholarships are awarded annually. The conditions of the award and the duties of holders of fellowships and scholarships are stated on pages 69 to 71.

*Under-
Students.*

Undergraduate students must have fulfilled the requirements for matriculation, and may enter the college at any age at which those requirements have been fulfilled. The studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts are stated on pages 57 to 65.

Those students who do not wish to study for a degree are permitted to pursue any undergraduate courses offered by the College for which their previous training has fitted them; they will, in the event of a change of plan, be credited with such of their studies as may have coincided with the studies leading to a degree. Attention is called to the fact that the Group System enables all candidates for a degree to specialise in two or more subjects.

Hearers.

Hearers are excused from passing the matriculation examination; but they are strictly distinguished from matriculated students, and are entitled to reside in the college only when by so doing they exclude no matriculated student, and when the courses pursued by them are equivalent in number to those ordinarily pursued in each year by candidates for a degree. They must be women of at least twenty-five years of age, and must furnish proof that they have at some time pursued the studies included in the matriculation examination. They must satisfy the several instructors that they can profit by the courses that they desire to follow, and their admission to recitations, examinations, and laboratory exercises depends on the express consent of the instructor in charge. Hearers differ, moreover, from matriculated students in that they are not recognised by the College, and may receive only such certificates of collegiate study as may be given them by the several instructors. They may not receive degrees.

The examination for matriculation must be taken by all who wish to pursue their studies in the undergraduate department of the college, either as candidates for a degree or as students pursuing special courses, with the exception of such applicants for admission as present a certificate of honorable dismissal from some college or university of acknowledged standing.*

Examination for Matriculation.

*The examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board which are designated by Bryn Mawr College as equivalent to the matriculation examinations of the college will be accepted, subject to the same conditions which govern the Bryn Mawr College examinations.

The passing mark for both sets of examinations is the same, sixty per cent.

The matriculation examination may not be taken in more than two divisions; but, if this rule be observed, candidates may divide the divisions as they please between the examination of Bryn Mawr College and of the College Entrance Examination Board; both divisions may be taken in the Bryn Mawr College examination, or in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board; or one division may be taken in the Bryn Mawr College examination, and the other in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Not more than one calendar year and the summer vacation may elapse between the two divisions of the examination for admission. There is no other restriction as to time; for example, candidates may present themselves for the first division of their examination in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College, held during the last week in May and the first week in June, and for the second division at the examination held by the College Entrance Examination Board in the fourth week of June of the same year; or if they fail in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College they may try the same subjects again in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board three weeks later.

In case a sufficient number of sections to secure admission is not passed in two divisions of the examination the sections taken in one division must be cancelled, and all the sections offered in the cancelled division (except those sections which have been also offered in the division which is to be counted), must be offered again, together with a sufficient number of the sections in which the candidate has been conditioned to ensure her passing in the required number of sections.

Candidates who have passed the fifteen sections necessary for admission may remove conditions by passing the corresponding examinations in the Bryn Mawr College or the College Entrance Examination Board examination; in the case of a condition in French or German, however, the entire examination in the language must be taken, unless the condition is in grammar only, in which case it may be removed by passing the Bryn Mawr

The examination for matriculation is open to those also who wish to take it as a test of proficiency in elementary studies, but have no intention of entering the college. Certificates are given to those who are successful in passing the examination.*†

Blank forms of application for admission may be obtained from the Secretary of the College.

Examinations are held annually in the spring, autumn, and winter at Bryn Mawr College, and in the spring of the year

College examination in grammar; and in the case of a condition in English Composition incurred in the Bryn Mawr College examination the entire examination in English, a and b must be passed in order to remove the condition by passing the College Entrance Examination Board's examination.

Candidates taking the College Entrance Examination Board's examination will not be considered in the awarding of the eight Bryn Mawr competitive entrance examination scholarships, unless the final division of the examination be taken in the spring Bryn Mawr College examination. Candidates are not eligible when the finals are taken in the autumn examination.

may be held at other places; they are always held in the spring in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh, Portland (Oregon), Richmond, and London (England). Candidates taking examinations at the above mentioned regular examination centres are charged a fee of five dollars for the whole or any part of the examination.

Examinations may also be held by request at other places, but in this case the candidates must defray the whole expense of the examination, the minimum fee being five dollars. In the past nine years examinations have been held by request at the following places:

California: Berkeley, Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Francisco, Santa Barbara; Colorado: Denver; Connecticut: Greenwich, Washington; Georgia: Athens, Savannah; Indiana: Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Terre Haute; Iowa: Dubuque; Kentucky: Louisville; Maryland: Catonsville, Cumberland; Massachusetts: Cambridge, Fall River; Michigan: Detroit; Minnesota: Minneapolis; Missouri: St. Louis; Montana: Helena; New Jersey: Princeton, Trenton; New York: Binghamton, Buffalo, New Rochelle, Rochester, Rye, Utica; North Carolina: Biltmore; Ohio: Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus; Pennsylvania: Carlisle, Harrisburg, Lititz, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes Barre, York; Rhode Island: Providence; Tennessee: Memphis; Virginia: Richmond; Wisconsin: Fond du Lac, Madison, Milwaukee; and Washington, District of Columbia; France: Paris; Germany: Berlin, Munich; Asia Minor: Tarsus.

Candidates who intend to present themselves for examination at Bryn Mawr College must apply to the Secretary of the College at least two weeks before the date set for the beginning of the examinations and the application should be made on a form to be obtained from the Secretary of the College, and must be accompanied by the fee of five dollars charged for each division of the examination. Candidates who do not apply two weeks before the date of the beginning of the examinations will be charged an additional fee of five dollars. Candidates intending to take examinations elsewhere than at Bryn Mawr College must apply to the Secretary of the College at least six weeks before the date set for the beginning of the examinations. Candidates who fail to do this will be charged a fee of five dollars in addition to the fee charged for the examination.

Tabular Statement.—In order to obtain a certificate of admission to Bryn Mawr College the candidate must be examined in *all the following subjects, counted as equivalent to twenty sections, must take the examination in not more than two divisions, and must pass not fewer than four sections in the first division and not fewer than fifteen sections in the two divisions. No candidate will be admitted to Bryn Mawr College if conditioned in more than five sections.

The number of sections allotted to each subject indicates approximately the time which should be devoted to preparation for that subject. Thus if, for example, the candidate studies five subjects in each year during the last four years of preparation for college, then Mathematics, Latin, and English should be studied for all four years since each counts as four sections of the examination; History and Science should each be studied for one year since each counts as one section; and the two languages (Greek and German, or Greek and French, or German and French) should be studied for three years since each counts as three sections, or three-twentieths, of the examination.

The examination may not be taken in more than two divisions. In each division the candidate may offer any sections she pleases, provided that she offer in the first division a sufficient number of sections (at least four) to secure a certificate. If however French or German be selected, all the three sections grammar, and prose and verse translation must be offered in the same division.

If more than one calendar year and the summer vacation elapse between the two divisions of the examination for admission the first division is cancelled and must be repeated.

* Candidates are expected to show by their papers that all the subjects required for matriculation have been studied for a reasonable length of time. Total failure in the second division of the examination in any subject, when such failure is of a character to indicate that the subject has been presented as a mere form, prevents the candidate from receiving any certificate, unless she can produce satisfactory evidence that the subject in question has been faithfully studied for a reasonable length of time.

In case a sufficient number of sections to secure admission be not passed in two divisions of the examination the sections taken in one division must be cancelled, and all the sections offered in the cancelled division (except those sections which have been offered in the division which is to be counted) must be offered again, together with a sufficient number of the sections in which the candidate has been conditioned to ensure her passing in the required number of sections.

Candidates that have passed the fifteen sections necessary for admission may remove conditions by passing the corresponding examinations before or after entering the college. All entrance conditions must be passed off within the first semester after the student enters the college, under penalty of exclusion from full college work during the second semester. All students who have not passed off all their entrance conditions at the end of their second semester will be excluded from the college for one year with the exception of those conditioned in only one section who are permitted to pass it off in September. A fee of three dollars is charged for each condition examination except conditions in punctuation for which the fee is one dollar. Students with entrance conditions in Greek, Latin, English, German, French, or Mathematics are not permitted to attend the college courses in these subjects until the conditions have been passed off. Conditions in history and science do not exclude students from college classes in these subjects.

Candidates desiring to enter with advanced standing may offer for examination before or at entrance the remaining language (either French, or German, or Greek,* whichever was not included by the candidate in the above twenty sections), and if this examination is not passed before entrance, the candidate must pass the matriculation examination in it before receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts.†

* Students that have not passed the matriculation examination in Greek may substitute for it the matriculation course in Greek or the minor course in Latin. The minor course in Latin may also be offered for examination by candidates for matriculation that desire to enter the college with advanced standing, and, at their discretion, by matriculated students without attendance on the college classes, provided it is offered before the close of the matriculation examinations at the beginning of the student's junior year. The minor course is considered for this purpose as comprising two sections. No substitutions are allowed for any part of the following requirements, except in the case of students entering with advanced standing from other colleges:

A. Cicero, Selected Letters, 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 30, 31, 33, 37, 38, 39, 42, 44, 45, 47, 48, 49, 52, 75, 76, 91, 92 (Letters of Cicero, edited by F. F. Abbott, Boston, Ginn and Company), Livy, Book xxi., Latin Prose Composition, including a detailed knowledge of the more abstruse Latin constructions and some facility in turning simple English narrative into Latin.

B. Horace, Odes, except i. 25, 27, 33, 36; ii. 5; iii. 6, 15, 20; iv. 1, 10, 13; Epodes except 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 15, 17; Carmen Sæculare; Satires i. 1, 5, 6, 9; ii. 6; Epistles i. 1, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 14, 20.

There are two examinations, one in Section A and one in Section B, each three hours in length. These examinations may be taken in different years, and in the order preferred by the candidate; or one section may be studied in the corresponding college class, and the other offered for examination without attending the class. Examinations in Minor Latin are held only at the time of the regular matriculation examinations at the beginning and end of the college year, and in February.

† If this examination is not passed before the beginning of the student's third year in the college, she must attend the college class in the subject, or in Minor Latin, the substitute for Greek, in her third year.

Candidates desiring to enter with advanced standing may offer for examination before entrance trigonometry* and solid geometry. These subjects are not necessarily included in the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, but students that have passed these examinations are credited with the equivalent number of hours of free elective work, each examination counting for this purpose as equivalent to two hours a week of free electives for one semester. Such advanced standing examinations will enable the student to lighten her work in college or to enlarge her choice of elective studies, but will not enable her to shorten the time of obtaining the bachelor's degree which represents in every case four years of study in collegiate classes.

Definition of Matriculation Subjects.

Mathematics. I. Mathematics.—Algebra. (Counting as two sections.) Plane Geometry. (Counting as two sections.)

The examination in Algebra comprises Elementary Operations, Quadratic Equations, Problems, Ratio, Proportion, Variation, Arithmetical and Geometrical Progressions, the Binomial Theorem for Positive Integral Exponents.

While there is no formal examination in Arithmetic, an adequate knowledge of the subject is required throughout the mathematical examinations; in all the papers there are some numerical problems, and the correct solution of a fair number of these is regarded as essential. So many good text books are available in both Algebra and Plane Geometry that no special books are recommended. The following are mentioned simply as an indication of the preparation required for these examinations:

C. Smith's Elementary Algebra (American edition, revised by Irving Stringham); Phillips and Fisher's Elements of Geometry (abridged edition); Wentworth's Geometry.

Latin. II. Latin.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one section.) Translation at sight of simple passages in Latin prose. (Counting as two sections.) Translation at sight of simple passages of Latin poetry. (Counting as one section.) Due allowance is made for unusual words, and there are questions testing the candidate's practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

The Latin read in preparation may be selected from Cæsar (Galic War and Civil War), Nepos (Lives), Cicero (Orations, Letters, and De senectute), Sallust (Catiline and Jugurtha), Vergil (Aeneid, Bucolics, and Georgics), and Ovid (Metamorphoses, Fasti, and Tristia). The amount to be read should not be less than that contained in Cæsar, Galic War, I-IV, Cicero, Manilian Law, Archias, and four Orations against Catiline, and Vergil, Aeneid, I-VI. The vocabulary, syntax, and thought of the sight passages will be adapted as closely as possible to the knowledge gained by a careful reading of the required amount of Latin. The paper in Grammar and Composition demands a knowledge of all regular inflections, all common irregular forms, and the ordinary syntax and vocabulary of the prose authors read in schools.

* For examinations in the College Entrance Examination Board equivalent to those which may be offered for advanced standing, see page 50.

III. History.—The outlines of the History of Greece and Rome; or History. the outlines of the History of England; or the outlines of the History of the United States. (Counting as one section.)

Botsford's History of the Ancient World, West's Ancient History, Goodspeed's History of the Ancient World (revised edition) and if possible some use of Botsford's Source Book for Ancient History, Andrews' History of England, Cheyney's A Short History of England, and McLaughlin's History of the American Nation, or Adams and Trent's History of the United States, will serve to indicate the preparation required.

English.—English Grammar. (Counting as one section.) English English. Composition. (Counting as three sections.) The examinations in grammar and composition may be divided and may be taken in either division of the entrance examination. The examination in English Grammar consists of the correction of passages of incorrect English. In and after the year 1913 questions will be asked to test the candidate's knowledge of the grammatical principles involved in the corrections, in especial concerning the details of sentence structure. The examination in English Composition consists of a critical composition of 350 words and, in addition, of one or two paragraphs in which the candidate is asked to give in a descriptive or narrative form the substance of important parts of the required reading.

In 1913 and 1914 candidates must be familiar with Chaucer's Prologue and Knight's Tale; Shakespeare's Richard II, Henry IV (expurgated), Henry V, and The Merchant of Venice; Milton's Paradise Lost, Books I and II; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Matthew Arnold's Essay on Gray; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Wordsworth's Michael, Tintern Abbey, "Three years she grew in sun and shower," The Solitary Reaper, "O Nightingale! thou surely art," "The world is too much with us," "Earth has not anything to show more fair," "It is not to be thought of that the flood"; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner and Christabel; Shelley's Ode to the West Wind, To a Skylark, To a Cloud, and "Swiftly walk over the Western Wave"; Keats's Eve of St. Agnes, Ode to Autumn, and Ode to a Nightingale; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Macaulay's Life of Johnson; Scott's Ivanhoe; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Stevenson's Kidnapped.

The following books agreed on by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States, will be accepted as equivalents for the books prescribed for the English examinations of Bryn Mawr College: Chaucer's Prologue; Shakespeare's Henry V, Macbeth, and The Merchant of Venice; Milton's L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, and Comus; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Palgrave's Golden Treasury (first series) Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats, and Shelley; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Scott's Ivanhoe; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Macaulay's Life of Johnson; Thackeray's English Humourists; Tennyson's Gareth and Lynette, Lancelot and Elaine, and The Passing of Arthur; Stevenson's Inland Voyage and Travels with a Donkey.

In 1915 and 1916 candidates must be familiar with the following books agreed on by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States: Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, The Merchant of Venice, Julius Cæsar, and Macbeth; Milton's L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, and Comus; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Palgrave's Golden Treasury (first series), Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats, and Shelley; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Scott's Ivanhoe; Thackeray's Henry Esmond; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Macaulay's Life of Johnson; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; Browning's Cavalier Tunes, The Lost Leader, How They Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix, Home Thoughts from Abroad, Home Thoughts from the Sea, Incident of the French Camp, Hervé Riel, Pheidippides, My Last Duchess, Up at a Villa—Down in the City; Stevenson's Inland Voyage and Travels with a Donkey.

In preparing for this examination special attention should be given to the structure of the whole composition, and the analysis of model essays, for example Arnold's Essay on Gray, is recommended. Robins and Perkins's Introduction to the Study of Rhetoric, Hill's Foundations of Rhetoric, Abbott's How to Write Clearly, and Bigelow's Handbook of Punctuation, will serve to indicate the preparation required for paragraph structure, sentence structure, and punctuation.

Science. Science.—The elements of one of the following sciences:—Physics, or Chemistry, or Botany, or Physiology, or Physical Geography. (Counting as one section.)

Carhart and Chute's Elements of Physics, or Mann and Twiss's Physics; Remsen's Introduction to the Study of Chemistry (Briefer Course); Atkinson's Elementary Botany or Barnes's Plant Life or Bergen and Davis's Principles of Botany used in connection with Spalding's Introduction to Botany or Caldwell's Plant Morphology; Hough and Sedgwick's Elements of Physiology, or Fitz's Physiology and Hygiene, Davis's Elementary Physical Geography, Gilbert and Brigham's Introduction to Physical Geography, Dryer's Lessons in Physical Geography, and Salisbury's Physiography, will serve to indicate the preparation required. Candidates are advised, whenever possible, to offer Physics, as this study forms the best basis for scientific work. It is recommended that candidates should have some knowledge of the metric system.

IV. Two of the following languages:

Greek. Greek.—Grammar and Composition. Very simple prose composition with words and construction taken from Xenophon's Anabasis. (Counting as one section.) Translation at sight of simple passages in Attic prose, such as Xenophon's Anabasis or Memorabilia. (Counting as one section.) Translation at sight of passages of average difficulty from Homer. (Counting as one section.) Due allowance is made for unusual words and there are questions testing the candidate's practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

White's First Greek Book will serve to indicate the preparation required in prose composition.

French. French.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one section.) This is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms. Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two sections.) This is a test of the candidate's power to read at sight ordinary French prose and verse.

For the examination in reading no texts are assigned, the examination being intended to test the candidate's ability to read any ordinary French whatsoever. Candidates preparing for these examinations are advised to acquire as large a vocabulary as possible; they are further advised in their study of verbs to concentrate their attention on the regular verbs, the auxiliaries être, avoir, such important irregular verbs as aller, devoir, dire, faire, mettre, prendre, pouvoir, vouloir, tenir, venir, voir, écrire, lire, croire, boire, and the typical verbs conduire, craindre, paraître, partir, and to acquire a fair knowledge of the use of the various past tenses and of the rules of the subjunctive.

Teachers preparing students that wish to elect French in the college are advised to train their pupils to write French from dictation in order to enable them to understand lectures delivered in French.

German.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one section.) German.
 This is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms.
 Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two sections.) This is a test of the candidate's power to read at sight ordinary German prose and verse.

For the examination in reading no texts are assigned, the examination being intended to test the candidate's ability to read any ordinary German. Candidates should endeavour to acquire as large a vocabulary as possible; they are also advised to study the irregular nouns and verbs.

Candidates who intend to continue the study of German in the college should be prepared to understand lectures delivered in German.

Every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must have passed examinations on work amounting to one hundred and twenty hours* and must have obtained an examination grade above that of "passed," that is, the grade of merit, † (seventy per cent) or over, on half of these one hundred and twenty hours; she must also possess at the time of graduation a reading knowledge of French and German and some acquaintance with Latin. In the last year before graduation, oral examinations are held to test her ability to read French and German at sight. She must have been in attendance on college classes in Bryn Mawr College, or in some other college of high standing, for a period of four years; ‡ she must have fulfilled the requirements of the department of athletics and gymnastics.

Studies Leading to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

*The word hour here means one hour a week for one semester. In calculating the standing of students under this rule every course offered for examination, including the fourth language, trigonometry, and solid geometry when offered for advanced standing in the matriculation examination, must be included except as explained below. A grade once obtained in an examination may not be cancelled, the first one hundred and twenty hours of examinations offered qualifying, or disqualifying, for a degree. Grades received on examinations offered for work not taken in the college classes must be counted in these one hundred and twenty hours, except in the case of students who enter with advanced standing from other colleges, and give notice within the first two weeks after their entrance of a desire to offer for examination subjects already pursued. Such students will, in case they fail in these examinations, be granted the privilege of cancelling them so that they shall not count in estimating their standing under the merit law, provided they enter the corresponding courses as regular students without attempting to pass off the conditions incurred. A similar privilege will be granted to students who offer trigonometry or solid geometry or a fourth language in the matriculation examination before entering the college and also to students who offer proof within two weeks after entering the college that they have studied these subjects in school or college classes or under private tuition. These students are not required to enter the corresponding college classes provided they fail in the examination.

† Since this merit law was enacted no student who has not fulfilled the requirements as above stated has received a degree.

‡ Work in summer schools of colleges and universities may not be substituted for work of the regular college year.

If a student at the end of her junior year, or in February of her senior year, has received a grade below seventy per cent in as many as one-half of the hours that she has offered for examination of the one hundred and twenty required for the degree, she will not be allowed to graduate at the end of her senior year; but if she wishes to continue her studies at Bryn Mawr College, must plan to remain for an additional year or for a longer period. She will be on probation during this time and her work will be prescribed by a committee of the Faculty, the object being to enable her to improve the quality of her work so that she may not ultimately be disqualified by her grades from obtaining a degree.

No student who has received a grade below seventy per cent in as many as one-half of the hours that she has taken will be permitted to hold office in any of the organisations of the college, to take part in any entertainment requiring preparation, or to undertake any paid work.

The following course of study must be pursued by every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts:

Required Studies.

*Greek or French or German, five hours a week for one year, when this subject has not been included in the examination for matriculation. Those students, however, who wish to omit Greek may substitute for the required course in Greek the minor course in Latin.†

English, five hours a week for two years.

Philosophy and Psychology, five hours a week for one year.

Science, five hours a week for one year.

Science, or History, or Economics and Politics, or Philosophy, or Psychology, or Mathematics, five hours a week for one year.

Two Major Courses, of five hours a week for two years each, constituting one of the following Groups: any Language with any Language;‡ Latin or Greek with Ancient History; Comparative Literature with English, or German, or Italian, or Spanish;§ Ancient History with Classical Archæology; History with Economics and Politics; Modern History with German, or French, or History of Art; Philosophy or Psychology, or Philosophy and Psychology§ with Greek, or English, or Economics and Politics, or Mathematics, or Physics; Philosophy with Latin or Psychology; Psychology with Biology; Classical Archæology with Greek, or Latin; History of Art with French, or German, or Italian, or Spanish; Mathematics with Greek, or Latin, or Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology; any Science with any Science.

* The College provides matriculation classes, five hours a week throughout one year, for those students who in the examination for matriculation may have omitted Greek, French, or German. Attendance on these classes is not obligatory before the beginning of the junior year, the student being free until then to make good her deficiencies by private study.

† A student choosing Latin as one of the languages of her Group, and not wishing to study Greek, may substitute for the year of minor Latin five hours a week for one year of post-major Latin, or a year of French, or German, or Italian, or Spanish.

‡ For the purpose of forming a group, Italian and Spanish may count as one language; they may be combined so as to form a course of five hours a week for two years.

§ For the purpose of forming a group, philosophy and psychology may be combined so as to form a course of five hours a week for two years.

Free Elective Courses, amounting to ten hours a week for one year, to be chosen by the student. It should be noted that a single study may be taken as a free elective, without electing the group that includes it, and any courses open as free electives, may be chosen without taking the remainder of the minor course of which they may form a part. Free Elective Courses.

The studies required for a degree may for convenience be tabulated as follows: Tabular Statement.

* A student electing modern history as one of her group subjects and offering history in place of the second year of science must offer five hours of post-major work in this subject.

† The College provides matriculation classes, five hours a week throughout one year, for those students who in the examination for matriculation may have omitted Greek, French, or German; attendance on these classes is not obligatory before the beginning of the junior year, the student being free until then to make good her deficiencies by private study. Students not wishing to study Greek may substitute the college course in minor Latin or the advanced standing examination in minor Latin for the examination in matriculation Greek. Minor Latin may not be offered for examination without attending the college class after the close of the matriculation examinations at the beginning of the junior year.

‡ For the purpose of forming a group, Italian and Spanish may count as one language; they may be combined so as to form a course of five hours a week for two years.

Free Elective Courses.

Ten hours a week for one year in any subject, or subjects, the student may elect.

All candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must elect their courses in accordance with the Group System, and an understanding of the principles of the system is necessary for an intelligent selection of courses.

The Group System.

In all departments as yet fully organised there is a course of five hours a week for two years, called a Major Course. Whenever one year of this course is of such a nature that it may be taken separately, it is designated as a Minor Course. Every candidate for a degree is required to take two such major courses as shall be homogeneous, or shall complete each other, and major courses which fulfil this condition are designated as Groups. The object of this system is to enable the student to acquire the foundations of a specialist's knowledge; and the Required Courses, namely, English, philosophy, science, (or, if a second year of science be not elected, history, or economics and politics, or philosophy, or psychology, or mathematics, or classical archæology, or history of modern art), are intended in part to supplement the Group, and in part to insure a more liberal training than could be obtained if every student combined elective studies at pleasure.

*Major
Course.*

The required two years' course in English serves as a general introduction to the study of language and comparative literature. The required two years in science (or the substitute permitted of one year's course in science and one year's course in history, economics and politics, philosophy, or psychology, or mathematics), permit the student of chemistry and biology to pursue advanced courses in one or both of these branches, or to take a major course in physics; and they give for one year at least to the student of history and literature the same kind of instruction and discipline as is received by the scientific student. The one year's course in philosophy is a general introduction into the study of the laws, conditions, and history of thought.

*Required
Courses.*

Post-major Courses.

In almost all departments post-major courses, truly advanced courses which answer to graduate courses in many colleges, are organised and may be elected by students that have completed the major, or group, work in the subject.

Free Elective Courses.

All minor courses that do not presuppose required courses may be elected by any student, and special free elective courses of one, two, or three hours a week, are offered in many departments.

The following may serve as examples of some of the many combinations of studies that may be made by those candidates for a degree who wish to specialise as far as possible in particular departments: Matriculation French, Matriculation German, Matriculation Greek, and Minor Latin are bracketed as being subjects that may be included in the examination for matriculation. These bracketed courses may be offered for examination before the beginning of the junior year without attendance on the college classes, but this is not advised on account of their difficulty.

CLASSICS. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Latin. As Free Electives, Post-major Greek and Latin, or Classical Archaeology, ten hours a week for one year.

MODERN LANGUAGES (other than English). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, German and French, or German and Italian and Spanish, or French and Italian and Spanish. As Free Electives, Italian and Spanish, or Post-major French or German, ten hours a week for one year.

ENGLISH. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy). As a Group, Greek and English, or Latin and English, or English and German, or English and French, or English and Italian and Spanish, or English and Spanish, or English and Comparative Literature, or English and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Latin and German, ten hours a week for one year.

MATHEMATICS (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Physics, another Science, (or Post-major Mathematics, or Modern or Ancient History, or Minor Philosophy). As a Group, Mathematics and Greek. As Free Electives, Post-major Mathematics and Post-major Greek, ten hours a week for one year.

MATHEMATICS (with Physics). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Chemistry, another Science (Geology, or Biology), or Post-major Mathematics. As a Group, Mathematics and Physics. As Free Electives, Post-major Mathematics and Post-major Physics, ten hours a week for one year.

MODERN HISTORY. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, any Science, another Science, (or Ancient History, or Post-major History, or Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Mathematics). As a Group, Modern History and Economics and Politics. As Free Electives, Post-major Modern History and Post-major Economics and Politics, ten hours a week for one year.

PHILOSOPHY (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Post-major Greek and Minor Psychology ten hours a week for one year.

PHILOSOPHY (with English). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics). As a Group, English and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Psychology and Comparative Literature, ten hours a week for one year.

MODERN EUROPEAN HISTORY (with French). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Modern European History and French. As Free Electives, Post-major French and Major Ancient History, or Post-major Modern History.

PHILOSOPHY or PSYCHOLOGY (with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics). As Required Studies, [Matriculation

French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History). As a Group, Philosophy or Psychology with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics. As Free Electives, Post-major Economics, or Mathematics, or Physics, ten hours a week for one year.

CLASSICAL ARCHÆOLOGY (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Biology, or Geology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Philosophy, or Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Classical Archæology. As Free Electives, History of Art, or Post-major Greek, or Minor Latin, ten hours a week for one year.

SCIENCE. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Minor Mathematics, or Elective Mathematics). As a Group, Physics and Chemistry, or Physics and Geology, or Physics and Biology, or Chemistry and Geology, or Chemistry and Biology, or Geology and Biology. As Free Electives, Mathematics and Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology, ten hours a week for one year.

PRELIMINARY MEDICAL COURSE. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Minor Physics, Major Physics. As a Group, Chemistry and Biology. As Free Electives, Post-major Biology and Post-major Chemistry, or Minor Latin, (if not taken as a required study) ten hours a week for one year.

PREPARATION FOR SOCIAL SERVICE. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Minor and Major Biology. As a Group, Economics and Politics and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Post-major Economics and Politics, or Modern History, or Mathematics.

The following combinations may be adopted by those who wish to pursue a three years' course in history, economics and politics, or science, or English, yet do not wish to elect an historical, economic, or a scientific or language group.

I. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, any Science, Modern History. As a Group, any Language with any language, or Chemistry and Biology. As Free Electives, Ancient History, five hours a week for one year, and Major Modern History five hours a week for one year.

II. As above, but for Modern History substitute Minor Economics and Politics, and for Ancient History, Major Economics and Politics, and for Major Modern History, Post-major Economics and Politics.

III. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Physics and Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology. As a Group, any Language with any language. As Free Electives, Major and Post-major Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology, five hours a week for two years.

IV. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Latin. As Free Electives, Minor and Major English, five hours a week for two years.

Every undergraduate student is expected to consult the Dean of the College in regard to the details and best arrangement of her various studies, and to register her course of study in the president's office before entering upon college work.

The studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, may, as a rule, be taken in any order preferred by the student, but students are advised to plan their work carefully in advance with reference to the lecture schedule in order that a conflict of hours may not later in their course prevent them from electing all the studies which they desire. Students who elect English as a major study, for example, must take the general English literature lectures and essay work in their first and second years in the college because they are required to complete this work before entering the major course in English; again, a student choosing philosophy and English as her major studies must take the general course in philosophy in her first year if she wishes to elect all the minor and major courses in English literature. Students who elect comparative literature as a major subject are recommended to elect languages early in their course. Students choosing a scientific group, such as chemistry and biology, must arrange their courses so as to avoid conflicts in the hours for laboratory work. Trigonometry is required for the work of the major year of the group course in physics.

Those students who have not decided on their group may in the first year pursue required studies only, or may elect one of the courses belonging to the group to which they most incline, with the understanding that if they should desire to change their group that course will be counted as a free elective; those students whose tastes are already fully formed, or who are uncertain how many years they shall remain in college, may enter at once on free elective studies and on the study of both subjects of their group. There are obvious advantages for the student in deferring as long as possible the choice of her free electives and her group, inasmuch as the required studies, by accustoming her to the methods of laboratory work, and to the study of languages, literature, and history, afford her every opportunity of ascertaining her true tastes and aptitudes.

The students are not divided into the traditional college classes and there is no limit of time for graduation; in order to pursue a wider course of reading in connection with single subjects, or to attend a greater variety of lectures, the ablest students may choose to defer graduation; personal considerations only determine the time spent in completing the studies required for a degree. Nevertheless these requirements constitute strictly a four years' course; that is to say, if the time given to lectures and class work be, as is usual, fifteen hours a week, a student passing the ordinary matriculation examination, and availing herself of the preliminary courses of the college in the subjects which that examination did not include, in all cases requires precisely four years. To give more time for advanced studies and to lighten the college course, students are permitted to take examinations in certain subjects included in the course without attending the college classes in these subjects. Trigonometry, solid geometry, and the fourth language (Matriculation French, or German, or Greek, or Minor Latin) may be taken in this way if offered not later than the beginning of the junior year. A student who can furnish proof that she has acquired advanced knowledge of German or French by attendance on regular advanced classes conducted by a school, or college, or by visiting teachers, or by residence abroad, or by study under German or French governesses at home, is permitted to take examinations for advanced standing in reading and composition in these languages, but only in the first three weeks after entering college. Students entering college at the beginning of the second semester are not permitted to register for more than fifteen hours of college work, or to offer advanced standing examinations in order to complete the work required for a degree in less than four years.

Graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council that the course of study for which they have received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or who shall have attended such additional courses of lectures as may be prescribed, may apply to the Academic Council to be enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts; admission to the graduate school does not in itself qualify a student to become a candidate for this degree. A separate degree of Master of Arts is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, but to them only.

Studies Leading to a Second Degree.

The candidate for the degree of Master of Arts must be a Bachelor of Arts of Bryn Mawr College, and must have studied for one full year in the graduate school of Bryn Mawr College, devoting herself to systematic advanced work approved by the Graduate Committee of the Academic Council. The candidate must submit her proposed course of study for the approval of this committee on or before the second Wednesday in November. She must pass a special written examination on each subject to the satisfaction of the department in which she has studied, and must announce her candidacy to the President not later than the first day of May in the academic year in which the degree is to be conferred.

*The Degree
Master of Arts.*

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts may be conferred upon graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and upon graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council either that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or that it has been adequately supplemented by subsequent study.

*The Degree
of Doctor of Philosophy
and
Arts.*

The candidate must have pursued for at least three years, after having received the first degree, a course of liberal (non-professional) study at some college or university approved by the Academic Council, and must have spent at least two of these years at Bryn Mawr College. The course of study leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts must consist of one principal, or major, subject and of one or two subordinate, or minor, subjects and must be divided between at least two departments. Two-thirds of the candidate's time should be spent on the major subject and the remaining one-third on the minor subject or subjects, and the proposed combination of major and minor subjects must have been submitted for approval to the Graduate Committee. The candidate may be required to pursue certain auxiliary studies in connection with the subject that she has elected; and the degree of Doctor of Philosophy is given to no one who cannot read French and German, or who is unacquainted with Latin. The candidate must have written, on some subject connected with her major subject of study, a dissertation approved by the Faculty that bears satisfactory evidence of original research and must pass written examinations and an oral examination in the presence of the members of the Faculty on both major and minor subjects. These examinations are held after the dissertation has been accepted by the department in which it is offered and must be taken within the academic year in which the candidate applies for the degree. The degree is not conferred until the candidate has satisfied the above requirements and deposited one hundred and fifty printed copies of her dissertation, bound according to the prescribed model, in the office of the Secretary of the Collège and one copy specially bound for the use of the library. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy will in no case be conferred by the college as an honorary degree.

European Traveling Fellowships.

The Bryn Mawr European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1889. It is awarded annually to a member of the graduating class of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship. The fellowship is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

The President M. Carey Thomas European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1896 by Miss Garrett of Baltimore and is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in her first year of graduate work at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

The Mary E. Garrett European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1894 by Miss Garrett of Baltimore and is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

The Anna Ottendorfer Memorial Research Fellowship in German and Teutonic Philology of the value of $700 was founded in 1907 by Mrs. Anna Woerishoffer of New York City in memory of her mother. It is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some German university and is awarded annually to a graduate student who has completed at least one year of graduate study at Bryn Mawr College but is not necessarily still in residence when making application for the fellowship. The fellowship will be awarded to the candidate who has pursued the most advanced work, or whose studies afford the most promise of future success. She must show such proficiency in her studies or in independent work as to furnish reason to believe that she will be able to conduct independent investigations in the field of Teutonic Philology or German. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference subject to the approval of the Faculty. Application for the fellowship should be addressed to the President.

Fifteen resident fellowships, of the value of $525 each, are awarded annually in Greek, Latin, English, German and Teutonic Philology, Romance Languages, Semitic Languages and Biblical Literature, History, Philosophy, Archæology, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology and Biology, and the Justus C. Strawbridge Fellowship in Economics and Politics.

*Resident
ships.*

They are open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing, and will be awarded only to candidates who have completed at least one year of graduate work at some college of good standing after obtaining their first degree. The fellowships are intended as an honor, and are awarded in recognition of previous attainments; generally speaking, they will be awarded to the candidates that have studied longest or to those whose work gives most promise of future success. All fellows may study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the fellowship being counted, for this purpose, as equivalent to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Fellows that continue their studies at the college after the expiration of the fellowship, may, by a vote of the directors, receive the rank of Fellows by Courtesy.

*Duties of
Fellows.*

Fellows are expected to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, to assist in the conduct of examinations, and to give about an hour a week to the care of special libraries in the halls of residence and in the seminaries, but no such service may be required of them except by a written request from the president's office; they are not permitted while holding the fellowship to teach, or to undertake any other duties in addition to their college work. They are required to reside in the college and are assigned rooms by the Secretary of the College. They are charged the usual fee of four hundred and five dollars for tuition, board, room-rent, and infirmary care.

The holder of a fellowship is expected to devote at least one half her time to the department in which the fellowship is awarded, and to show by the presentation of a thesis or in some other manner that her studies have not been without result.

*Resident
Graduate Scholarships.*

Twenty Graduate Scholarships, of the value of $200 each, may be awarded to candidates next in merit to the successful candidates for the fellowships; they are also open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing.

The Susan B. Anthony Memorial Scholarship in Political Theory, of the value of $250, was founded in 1910, and is awarded to the candidate wishing to devote herself to studies in Political Theory, whose work has given most promise of success.

Ten Graduate Scholarships, of the value of $405 each, were founded in 1909, five for English, Scotch, or Irish women, and five for German women, and two were founded in 1913 for French women and are open for competition to all women of the prescribed nationality whose academic work has reached a standard equivalent to that denoted by the Bachelor's degree of any American college or university of acknowledged standing. The amount of the scholarship, four hundred and five dollars, covers the fees for tuition, board, residence, including light, heat, and service, and infirmary care for the academic year. A furnished single room in the graduate wing of one of the halls of residence is assigned to each scholar.

Scholarships for British and German and French Women.

Scholars are expected to reside in the college, to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress and to assist in the conduct of examinations.

Duties of Resident Scholars.

Application for resident fellowships or scholarships should be made as early as possible to the President of the College, and must be made not later than the fifteenth* of April preceding the academic year for which the fellowship or scholarship is desired. Blank forms of application will be forwarded to the applicants. A definite answer will be given within two weeks from the latest date set for receiving applications. Any original papers, printed or in manuscript, which have been prepared by the applicant and sent in support of her application will be returned when stamps for that purpose are enclosed, or specific directions for return by express are given. Letters or testimonials from professors and instructors will be filed for reference.

Applications for Resident Fellowships and Scholarships.

For graduate students attending six or more hours a week of lectures, and for fellows and graduate scholars the tuition fee is one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, payable half-

Tuition for Graduate Students.

* In the case of candidates for the Scholarships open to British, French and German women applications must be received by May the first. Applications for the scholarships should be accompanied by full particulars of the candidate's academic work, by diplomas or certificates and by letters of recommendation from professors and should be addressed in the case of British and French candidates to the President of Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, U. S. A., and in the case of German candidates to Seiner Excellenz dem Herrn Staatssekretär des Innern, Reichsamt des Innern, Berlin, Germany.

yearly in advance. For other graduate students* who do not wish to devote all their time to graduate work the fees are as follows, payable in advance: for one hour a week of lectures, ten dollars a semester; for two hours a week of lectures, twenty dollars a semester; for three hours a week of lectures, thirty dollars a semester; and for four or five hours a week of lectures, forty dollars a semester.† This arrangement is made especially for non-resident graduate students, but those who wish to take five hours a week of lectures or less may live in the college halls on the understanding that they must give up their rooms if needed for students who are taking the full amount of graduate work and paying the regular tuition fee. The tuition fee for the semester becomes due as soon as the student is registered in the college office. No reduction of this fee can be made on account of absence or for any other reason whatsoever. Graduate students are admitted to residence or to attendance on lectures at any time during the year, and in this case a proportionate reduction is made in the charges for board and room-rent and for tuition. Every student who enters the college must register immediately at the comptroller's office, and must register her courses at the president's office within two weeks after entrance under penalty of exclusion from the college. Any change made later in the courses registered must be reported immediately to the president's office, or the courses will not be permitted to count, and a charge of one dollar will be made for each change made in the course after it has been definitely registered.

Laboratory Fees.

Graduate students taking courses in scientific departments (Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, and Psychology) amounting to six or more hours a week of lecture courses or its equivalent in laboratory courses are charged a laboratory fee of eighteen dollars a semester, with the following exceptions: if the student takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects

* Doctors of Philosophy of Bryn Mawr College may attend lectures or work in the laboratories without payment of any fee except for material used in the laboratory.

† The fees charged are reckoned on the basis of the actual hours of conference or lecture, irrespective of the number of undergraduate hours to which the course is regarded as equivalent.

In counting the number of hours for which a graduate student is registered the following special arrangements are made in regard to laboratory courses: payment for a one hour lecture course in a scientific department entitles the student to four hours of laboratory work in addition with no extra charge except the laboratory fee. Students registered for laboratory work only, are charged the following tuition fee: for each two and one-half hours of undergraduate laboratory course and for each five hours of graduate laboratory course the same fee as for a one hour lecture course. The laboratory fees as stated above are charged in addition to the charge for tuition.

not enumerated above amounting to six hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to twelve dollars a semester; and if she takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to ten hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to six dollars a semester.

Graduate students taking less than six hours a week of lectures, or its equivalent in laboratory work, and graduate students taking one undergraduate laboratory only are charged a laboratory fee of ten dollars a semester for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and of five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

Residence in the college buildings is optional except for holders of resident fellowships and scholarships. In each hall of residence, except Merion Hall, a special wing or corridor is reserved for graduate students, and in order to secure entire quiet no undergraduate students are permitted to engage rooms in the graduate wings. The expense of board and residence in the graduate wings of the college halls is two hundred and seventy-five dollars. Of this amount two hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expenses of furnishing, service, heating, and light.*

A deposit of fifteen dollars is required from each graduate student, fellow, or scholar who desires to reserve a room in a hall of residence. The amount of this deposit will be deducted from the rent if the room is occupied by the student; it will be refunded if the student gives formal notice to the Secretary of the College before the fifteenth of July preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application. In other cases the deposit will be forfeited.

For graduate students the fees are as follows:

Students whose fees are not paid by November first in the first semester or by March first in the second semester are not permitted to continue in residence or in attendance on their classes.

*Tuition for Under-
Students.*

For undergraduate students and hearers the charge for tuition is two hundred dollars a year, payable in advance.* The average cost of teaching each undergraduate student is three hundred and fifty dollars a year. The tuition fee has been fixed at two hundred dollars in order not to exclude those unable to pay the entire amount but the difference between the actual cost and the price of tuition must be met from the small endowment funds of the college and from outside gifts. Voluntary contributions from parents or students able and willing to pay the whole or any part of this additional one hundred and fifty dollars will be credited as a gift towards the college salaries for teaching. No reduction of the charge of two hundred dollars can be made on account of absence, illness, or for any other reason whatsoever.

Every student who enters the college must register immediately at the comptroller's office, and must register her courses at the president's office within two weeks after entrance under penalty of exclusion from the college. Any change made later in the courses registered must be reported immediately to the president's office, or the courses will not be permitted to count, and a charge of one dollar will be made for each change made in the course after it has been definitely registered.

For undergraduate students there is an additional charge of ten dollars a semester for materials and apparatus for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and of five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

In courses in Geology each hour of field work is counted as one hour of laboratory work. Not more than one laboratory course is required of candidates for a degree.

*Residence
for

Students.*

Residence in the college buildings is required of all undergraduate students except those who reside with their families in Philadelphia or in the neighborhood. The expense of board and residence in the college halls for undergraduate students is three hundred dollars a year and upwards, according to the room or rooms occupied by the student; in about one-third of the college rooms the expense of board and residence is three hundred or three hundred and seventy-five dollars. Of this charge two hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expense of furnishing, service, heating, and light.*

* Students that intend to take the degree of Bachelor of Arts in February will be charged only one half the regular tuition fee if they register this intention in the comptroller's office before beginning their college work, provided their entire academic work can be completed in the first semester.

The health of the students is under the charge of a Health Committee consisting of the President, the Dean of the College, the Director of Athletics, and the Physicians of the College. See page 182 of this Calendar.

Every student entering the college will be vaccinated unless she can furnish satisfactory proof that she has been successfully vaccinated not more than two years previously.

The conduct of the students in all matters not purely academic, or affecting the management of the halls of residence, or the student body as a whole, is in the hands of the Students' Association for Self-Government, which was organized in 1892. All persons studying in Bryn Mawr College, whether graduates or undergraduates, are members of this association.

The College reserves the right to exclude at any time students whose conduct or academic standing renders them undesirable members of the college community, and in such cases the fees due to the college are not refunded or remitted.

Plans and descriptions of the academic buildings and of the halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall West, Pembroke Hall East, and Rockefeller Hall, with a full account of the halls and tariff of rooms, are published as Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar and may be obtained by application to the Secretary of the College. Each of the halls of residence (except Pembroke, which has a common dining-hall and kitchen for the two wings) has its separate kitchen and dining-hall, provides accommodation for from sixty to seventy students, and is under the charge of a resident warden. Application for rooms should be made as early as possible. The demand for rooms is very great and since every room unnecessarily reserved may prevent some other student from entering the college, every application for a room or suite of rooms, whether made by a student already in residence or by a candidate for admission to the college, must be accompanied by a deposit of fifteen dollars, otherwise the application will not be registered. The amount of this deposit will be deducted from the rent if the room or suite of rooms assigned be occupied by the applicant. The amount of this deposit will be refunded in the following cases:

a. If an applicant who is a student of the college gives formal notice to the Secretary of the College that she wishes to withdraw her application before the first of May preceding the academic year for which the application is made.

b. If a candidate who has applied for admission to the college in October gives formal notice to the Secretary of the College that she wishes to withdraw her application before the fifteenth of July preceding the academic year for which the application is made.

c. If a candidate who has applied for admission to the college in February gives formal notice to the Secretary of the College that she wishes to withdraw her application before the first of December preceding the semester for which the application is made.

In all other cases the deposit will be forfeited to the college.

The above mentioned deposit of fifteen dollars must also be made by each student in residence in order to insure the tenure of her room for the following academic year.*

Every applicant giving up later than the first of September the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for the ensuing academic year is responsible for the rent thereof for the whole year; exception will be made only in the case of applicants that take, and fail to pass, the autumn examinations for matriculation, but even in this case the deposit cannot be refunded. Every applicant for a room in February will, with the above exceptions, be responsible for the rent of the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for one semester, unless she gives formal notice of withdrawal to the Secretary before the first of January. The charges for room-rent are not subject to remission or deduction under any circumstances, being considered forfeit in case of withdrawal for any cause whatever. The applicant is not entitled to relet the rooms thus left vacant, this right being reserved exclusively by the college, no refund being made to the applicant in case the room or suite of rooms thus left vacant are relet. Every student who changes her room is required to pay an extra fee of fifteen dollars.

* Every student except a member of the freshman class who moves from one hall to another is charged a fee of ten dollars for moving, and every student except a member of the freshman class who moves from one room to another in the same hall is charged a fee of five dollars. This fee entitles a student to have five pieces moved free of charge.

In case of prolonged illness and absence from the college extending over six weeks or more, there will be a proportionate reduction in the charge for board.

Rooms are assigned to members of the entering class who have already passed their entrance examinations during the summer preceding the academic year for which application is made. No particular room or set of rooms may be applied for. Applicants are allowed to choose in turn from among all the rooms left vacant, the order of choice being determined by the date at which the application is registered. Cheques should be drawn payable to Bryn Mawr College.

Students are expected to provide their own rugs and towels, but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. Electric reading lamps, table napkins, sheets, etc., are provided by the college. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms.

There are open fire-places in nearly all the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by steam; the air in each room is changed every ten minutes, and the temperature is regulated by a thermostat in each room. Electric reading lamps are provided in every room. The students' personal washing may be done by any laundry recommended by the college for 50 cents a dozen, or about $8 a half-year for one dozen pieces a week. On account of the danger of infectious diseases students in residence are not permitted to send their washing to private laundresses.

No charge is made for sending meals to students that are in the infirmaries by the order of the physicians of the college.

Accommodation is provided for students that wish to remain at the college during the Christmas and Easter vacations at $1.25 a day or $8.75 a week for graduate, and $1.50 a day or $10.50 a week for undergraduate students.

Students who expect to spend any part of the Christmas or Easter vacations in Bryn Mawr, Philadelphia, or the immediate neighborhood, not in their own homes and not in the college halls of residence, are required to consult the Secretary in regard to the arrangements that they wish to make.

For undergraduate students the fees are as follows:

Tuition for the academic year, payable October 1st.....	$200.00
Room-rent for the academic year, payable October 1st.....	$100.00* or $175, $200, $225, $250, $275, $300, $325, $350, $400, depending on the room or rooms occupied.
Infirmary fee for the academic year, payable October 1st.....	$ 10.00
Board for the academic year, payable in equal instalments, October 1st and February 1st.....	$200.00
<hr/>
Total for tuition, residence and infirmary fee for the academic year with minimum room-rent.....	$510.00
Laboratory fees, for laboratory course of less than four hours a week for the academic year.....	$ 10.00
For laboratory course of four or more hours a week for the academic year.....	$ 20.00
Graduation fee.....	$ 20.00

Summary of Expenses for Under- graduate Students.

* In about one-sixth of the college rooms the rent is $100, making the cost of board, residence, and tuition for undergraduate students $500; but students desiring to apply for rooms at $100 must file a statement at the president's office that they are unable to afford rooms at a higher price.

Students whose fees are not paid before November first in the first semester or before March first in the second semester are not permitted to continue in residence or in attendance on their classes.

Loan Fund.

THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND OF BRYN MAWR COLLEGE was founded by the Class of 1890 for the purpose of receiving contributions, however small, from those who are interested in aiding students to obtain an education. The money thus contributed is distributed in the form of partial aid, and as a loan. It is as a rule applied to the assistance of those students only who have attended courses in the college for at least one year. The fund is managed by a committee consisting of the President of the College and representatives of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College. The committee reports yearly to the Board of Trustees and to the Alumnae Association. The committee consists of the following members: President M. Carey Thomas; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Secretary and Treasurer, Bryn Mawr College; Mrs. Bernard Todd Converse, Ardmore, Pa., Miss Doris Earle, Stenton Avenue, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Mrs. Edward Wyatt Evans, 151 E. Coulter Street, Germantown, Philadelphia, and Miss Ethel Pew, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee. Applications for loans should be sent to the Treasurer of the committee, and all applications for loans for any given year should be made before April 20th, of the preceding academic year.

Scholarships.

SCHOLARSHIPS.—Eight competitive entrance scholarships, four of the value of $300 and four of the value of $200, were founded by the College in 1896. They are awarded annually to candidates receiving their final certificates in the spring matriculation examinations of Bryn Mawr College, a first scholarship of the value of $300 and a second of the value of $200 being open to candidates from each of the following districts:—(a) The New England States; (b) New York, New Jersey, and Delaware; (c) Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the States west of the Mississippi River; (d) Pennsylvania and all places not included in (a), (b), and (c). The district to which a candidate is considered to belong is determined by the school at which she receives her final preparation, or in case of preparation by private study by the place of residence during the year preceding the final examination; but candidates may present themselves for examination at any place where such examination is held. These scholarships, which are to be held for one year only, are awarded in each of the above named districts on the basis of the sum total of marks obtained by the candidate, but no one is eligible for the first scholarship who has received more than two conditions in the twenty sections of the examination, and no one is eligible for the second scholarship who has received more than four conditions in the twenty sections of the examination. When the examination has been divided no account is taken of those conditions incurred in the first division which have been passed off in the final examination. The competition is limited to those who intend to spend at least one year in residence at Bryn Mawr College, who have not studied at any other college, and have not cancelled any division of the Bryn Mawr College matriculation examinations. All those who present themselves are ipso facto candidates for these scholarships, no formal declaration of candidacy being required.

Eight scholarships for non-resident students of $200 each, entitling the holder to free tuition, renewable for four consecutive years, were founded by the College in 1893, and were presented to the public schools of Philadelphia through Dr. Brooks, the Superintendent of the Public Schools of Philadelphia, on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examination of Bryn Mawr College in the High School for Girls, Philadelphia; 2. She shall have been recommended by the Board of Education of Philadelphia, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Directors of Bryn Mawr College; 3. The scholarship shall be renewed annually by the Directors, until the holder has completed her fourth year at college, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

The L. C. B. Saul Memorial Scholarship. In 1893 the Alumnae Association of the Girls' High and Normal School of Philadelphia founded at Bryn Mawr College a scholarship entitling the holder to free tuition, renewable for four years. This scholarship is awarded every four years to the graduate of the Girls' High School who passes the matriculation examination of Bryn Mawr College for that year with the highest credit. In 1904 the scholarship was renamed the L. C. B. Saul Memorial Scholarship.

One scholarship of $200 entitling the holder to one year's free tuition, was founded by the College in 1895, and was presented to the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, Montgomery County, Pa., for the benefit of graduates of the High School of Lower Merion Township, Ardmore, Pa., on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examinations in the Lower Merion High School; 2. She shall have been recommended by the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Directors of Bryn Mawr College; 3. If in any year there shall be, in the judgment of the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, no satisfactory candidate in the graduating class, the scholarship may be renewed during the following year for the benefit of a former holder, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

One scholarship of $200 entitling the holder to one year's free tuition was founded by the Directors in 1909 and was presented to the School Board of Education of Norristown, Pa., for the benefit of graduates of Norristown High School, on the following terms: 1. That the candidate shall have received all her preparation for Bryn Mawr College in the Norristown High School; 2. That she shall have successfully passed the entrance examinations of Bryn Mawr College not later than the June preceding the autumn in which she wishes to enter the college; 3. That this scholarship shall not be awarded twice to the same person unless the Superintendent of Schools shall file in the office of the President of the College a statement to the effect that no other member of the graduating class is able to compete for the scholarship; 4. That the candidate shall have been nominated to the Board of Directors of Bryn Mawr College by the Superintendent of Schools or by the Board of Education and that such nomination shall have been duly approved by the Board of Directors of Bryn Mawr College.

One competitive scholarship of the value of $200, renewable till graduation, is open annually for competition to members of the Society of Friends who are unable to pay the full charge for tuition and residence. This scholarship is awarded, as far as possible, under the same rules as those governing the award of the eight competitive entrance scholarships of Bryn Mawr College. Two additional scholarships of the value of $200 each are open for competition to graduate students who are members of the Society of Friends and need financial assistance. Three scholarships, of $400 each, for one year, are open to those graduates of Earlham, Penn, and Guilford Colleges respectively, who in the preceding year have completed the course of their several colleges with most distinction. These scholarships have been established by the Trustees in accordance with the desire of the Founder of the college to promote the advanced education of women in the Society of Friends, of which he was a member.

Scholarships of the value of $500 each were founded in 1885 by the Board of Managers of the Bryn Mawr School, of Baltimore, Maryland. One of these scholarships is open annually to the graduate of the Bryn Mawr School who has completed the school course with most distinction.

The James E. Rhoads Memorial Scholarships two in number, each of the value of $250 for one year, were founded in 1897 by the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, in memory of the first President of the College, Dr. James E. Rhoads. The first of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Sophomore Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than ten and not more than twenty-two and a half hours (three semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. The second of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Junior Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than thirty-seven and a half hours (five semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. To be eligible for either of these two scholarships a student shall have attained a high degree of excellence in her work, shall express her intention of fulfilling the requirements for the degree of A.B. at Bryn Mawr College, and shall prove her need of financial aid to the satisfaction of the nominating committee. In case either scholarship is awarded to a non-resident student, its value shall not exceed $150. The nominating committee consists of the President of Bryn Mawr College, two members of the Academic Council of the College, appointed annually by the Council, the President of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College and three other members of the Alumnae Association appointed by the executive committee of the Alumnae Association. Applications for the scholarships should be addressed to the Assistant to the President, Bryn Mawr College, to be forwarded to the Chairman of the Committee.

The Mary E. Stevens Scholarship of the value of $160 founded in 1896 by former pupils of Miss Mary E. Stevens's School is awarded to a member of the Sophomore class who needs financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College, during the junior year. It is open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than forty and not more than sixty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. Applications for this scholarship should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

Two Maria Hopper Scholarships of the value of $200 each were founded in 1901 by the bequest of the late Maria Hopper of Philadelphia. They are awarded, on the ground of excellence in scholarship, to two members of the freshman class who need financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College during the sophomore year. They are open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than forty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. Applications for these scholarships should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

The Anna M. Powers Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was founded in 1902 by Mrs. J. Campbell Harris in memory of her mother, Anna M. Powers. The scholarship is open to members of the junior class who need financial aid in order to complete the work for the degree and is to be held in the senior year. The holder is nominated by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College.

The Maria L. Eastman Brooke Hall Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100 was founded in 1901, in memory of Maria L. Eastman, Principal of Brooke Hall School for Girls, Media, Pa., by the Alumnae and former pupils of the school. It is awarded each year on the ground of scholarship, irrespective of the need of financial aid, to a member of the junior class to be held during the senior year. No application for the scholarship is necessary.

The Charles E. Ellis Scholarships of the value of $200 each were founded in 1909 by the bequest of the late Charles E. Ellis and are awarded on the recommendation of the Superintendent of the Public Schools of the City of Philadelphia to students educated in the public schools of Philadelphia who have passed the entrance examinations of Bryn Mawr College and whose nomination has been approved by the Board of Directors of the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College.

A special Thomas H. Powers Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was given in 1910 by Mrs. J. Campbell Harris in memory of her father, Thomas H. Powers. The holder is nominated by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College.

The George W. Fetter Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was given in 1911 by Mrs. George W. Fetter in memory of her husband. It is awarded to a student selected by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College and is renewable for four consecutive years if the holder's record prove satisfactory.

The Anna Hallowell Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100 was founded in 1912 by the family of the late Anna Hallowell. It is awarded to a member of the sophomore class in need of financial assistance to enable her to continue her studies during her junior year, and is to be given by the faculty to the student satisfying the above requirement who has the highest academic record provided that this student does not hold any other scholarship. This provision may, however, be disregarded in case of great financial need.

The Frances Marion Simpson Scholarships, four in number, each of the value of $200, were founded in 1912 by Mr. Alexander Simpson, Jr., in memory of Frances Simpson Pfabler, of the class of 1906; one scholarship is to be awarded in October, 1912, a second in October, 1913, a third in October, 1914, and a fourth in October, 1915, to candidates who receive their final certificates in the preceding spring matriculation examination. Competition for these scholarships is open only to residents of Philadelphia and Montgomery counties who have been prepared for Bryn Mawr College in the public schools of the said counties, or at home by their parents and guardians, or in the model school of the Department of Education of Bryn Mawr College, or in Miss S. Janet Sayward's School at Overbrook, Pennsylvania; and only those students who are unable or whose parents are unable to afford to pay the fees for tuition in Bryn Mawr College are entitled to compete.

The scholarships are renewable for four successive years, and are meant for those students only who take the full college course. Students holding the scholarships who become able to pay the tuition fees of Bryn Mawr College in whole or in part are required to do so, and all holders of the scholarships are required to promise to repay for the benefit of other students in need of the scholarship, the advances made to them, when they can do so without oppressing themselves or neglecting their duties to others.

The Mary Anna Longstreth Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was founded in 1913 by the Alumnae of the Mary Anna Longstreth School, the children of Alumnae, and other friends in grateful memory of Mary Anna Longstreth. The scholarship, which provides free tuition for one student, is to be awarded each year to a member of the entering class who needs financial aid to undertake her college course and has not been prepared in a school in Philadelphia.

The Elizabeth Duane Gillespie Scholarship in American History of the value of $60 was founded in 1903 by the Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames of America, in memory of Elizabeth Duane Gillespie. It is awarded annually to a member of the sophomore or junior class, on condition that the holder of the scholarship devote to the study of American history at least four hours a week for one year during the last two years of her college course. The candidate is to be selected by the Faculty of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship.

The Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania presented to Bryn Mawr College in 1910 a scholarship to be awarded to a graduate of the college recommended by the President and Faculty as in their opinion qualified to take up the study of medicine. The holder is given free tuition for one year at the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania and the scholarship will be renewed for the three remaining years of the medical course if the holder's record prove satisfactory.

FOUNDATION OF SCHOLARSHIPS.—The sum of five thousand dollars given or left by will to the Directors of Bryn Mawr College, will found a perpetual scholarship giving free tuition to one student every year. The scholarship may be given in memory of and named after any person designated by the donor.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

I give and bequeath to The Trustees of Bryn Mawr College, a corporation established by law in the State of Pennsylvania, the sum of.....to be invested and preserved inviolably for the endowment of Bryn Mawr College, located at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.*

Dated.....

* The bequest may be made, if desired, for foundation of professors' chairs, scholarships, fellowships, or for some other specified purpose.

INSTRUCTION.

Libraries. The fact that the college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelphia enables the student to make use of all the resources of the libraries of Philadelphia, as well as those of the college proper.

The college library has been collected within the past twenty-eight years, and is designed to be, as far as possible, a library for special study. There are at present on its shelves about sixty-seven thousand bound volumes, and ten thousand doctor's dissertations and pamphlets, the collection including the classical library of the late Professor Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was presented to the college in 1894, and the Semitic library of the late Professor Amiaud, of Paris, acquired in 1892. A more detailed description of these two collections may be found on pages 92 and 130.

The books needed principally for graduate and research work are shelved in the fourteen seminary libraries and the books on physics, chemistry, geology, and biology in the departmental libraries in Dalton Hall adjoining the laboratories in these subjects. The books of reference, sets of periodicals, and proceedings of societies and the main collection of the library are kept in the stack room.

In each of the six halls of residence are collections of from five to six hundred volumes each, consisting of books useful to undergraduate students, not only supplementing their private libraries, but duplicating such books in the general library as are most used. A seventh collection of this character is kept in the main library for the use of non-resident students.

Students may take from the general and departmental libraries for periods of two weeks each, any books except reference books and books reserved for special use. Books in the hall libraries and books reserved for special use may be taken for two hours.

The sum of about seven thousand dollars is expended yearly for books under the direction of the heads of the several collegiate departments, and, in addition to many gifts of books, about twenty thousand dollars has been presented to the library during the past ten years for expenditure in special departments. Over four hundred publications and reviews in the English,

German, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, Norse, and Swedish languages, are taken by the library, as follows:

The library is open daily from eight A.M. to ten P.M. Books may be taken out by the students unless specially reserved for library reference use.

There are in Philadelphia the following important libraries which are available for students:

The Philadelphia Library Company, which contains about 235,000 volumes and 30,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation. Private subscription, for four volumes, $12 a year, or $10 for nine months.

The Mercantile Library, which contains about 190,000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets. Private subscription, $5.00 a year for two separate works at a time.

The Library of the Academy of Natural Sciences, which contains about 68,000 volumes. The Council of the Academy has generously conceded the use of its library and of its museum to the students of Bryn Mawr College.

The Library of the University of Pennsylvania, which contains about 320,000 volumes and 50,000 pamphlets. The custodians of this library have always shown great courtesy in placing rare volumes at the disposal of the college.

The Free Library of Philadelphia, which contains about 375,000 volumes and 89,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation.

The American Philosophical Society Library, which contains about 53,000 volumes, admission by card.

The Historical Society of Pennsylvania Library, which contains over 80,000 volumes, and 200,000 pamphlets, is for reference only. Every courtesy is extended to members of the college.

*Courses

There are offered each year to undergraduates major courses of five hours a week, for two years, in the following subjects: Greek, Latin, English, German, French, Italian and Spanish, Comparative Literature, Modern History, Ancient History, Economics and Politics, Philosophy, Psychology, Classical Archæology, History of Art, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, and Biology; and elective courses in the above and in Biblical Literature, Experimental Psychology, and Education.

Graduate courses are offered in Sanskrit, and Indo-European Philology, Greek, Latin, English Philology including Anglo-Saxon, Early and Middle English, English Literature, German Literature, Gothic, Teutonic Philology, Old Norse, Old High German, Middle High German, Old Saxon, Modern and Old French, Italian, Spanish, and other Romance Languages, Comparative Literature, Hebrew, Aramaic, Assyrian, Biblical Literature, History, Economics and Politics, Philosophy, Psychology, Education, Classical Archæology, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Physical Chemistry, Geology, Mineralogy, Palæontology, Morphology, Physiology, and Physiological Chemistry.

*Courses in Language
Literature.*

The courses in language and literature are meant, first of all, to be complete in themselves and extensive enough to meet the needs of special students, and secondly, to facilitate the study of comparative philology or of comparative literature. Whenever it has been practicable, as in Greek and Latin and in the modern languages, one half of the major course has been devoted to strictly linguistic studies, and the other half to the history of literature. The group work in English is constructed on this model, one half of the course being devoted to philology, and the other half to literary interpretation. Courses of parallel reading are required of all students of language and literature, precisely as laboratory work is required of the students of chemistry or biology; these courses are intended to acquaint the students with the works of numerous authors, and it is especially hoped that students of Greek and Latin will, by this means, accustom themselves to read these languages without assistance.

The courses in ancient and modern languages are of equal difficulty, and are placed on a footing of equality. The traditional separation between ancient and modern languages has been disregarded, because, although strictly classical students may always be inclined to combine Greek and Latin, there is, nevertheless, no modern literature of which the study may not fitly be preceded, or supplemented, by the study of Latin or Greek.

Whenever possible, as in the courses in Greek, Latin, English, German, and French literature, in history, politics, philosophy, the history of art, mathematics, and science, the instruction is given by means of lectures. Lectures. It is the object of these lectures to give a clear and succinct statement of facts and principles; to enumerate and criticise with frankness hand-books, authorities, and editions; to bring the student's knowledge up to date, and to inform her, step by step, what things have been definitely ascertained and what things remain to be investigated. It is intended that the notes taken on these lectures, in addition to their immediate practical use, shall be of lasting value for reference, and be the starting-point, or at least the schedule, of studies to be undertaken at some future day. Every isolated student knows how difficult it is to be initiated into the modern scholastic movement otherwise than orally; therefore, in addition to the lectures, the several instructors appoint certain hours in which the students may consult them freely. The lectures are accompanied by class work, prescribed reading, and by frequent examinations; they are strictly special, not popular.

The Professors or Associates appointed are the recognised heads of their departments, and only such instructors have been chosen as are qualified to direct both graduate and undergraduate work.

The undergraduate and graduate courses offered in the years 1912-13 and 1913-14 are as follows: Courses of Instruction.

Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Exceptional facilities for the study of all departments of classical philology are offered by the large classical library owned by the college. The greater part of this library is formed by the well-known collection of the late Professor Hermann Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was acquired in 1894. This has been supplemented by purchases made by the college library, so that the classical library now numbers some seven thousand volumes, including complete sets of most of the important journals, and about seven thousand dissertations and monographs.

Sanskrit and Comparative Philology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Roland G. Kent, Non-resident Lecturer in Sanskrit.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

Lectures on Comparative Philology and Philological Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Students entering this course are expected to be familiar with German and French; a short preliminary course in Sanskrit is also of great aid to the student. The lectures on comparative philology treat of the connection of the Greek and Latin languages with the related languages of the Aryan group, first, phonetically, secondly, from the point of view of grammatical forms, and lastly, from the point of view of syntax. In the first part of the course, which covers what during the past years has been the field of the most active research, the student is introduced to the latest theories and discoveries in Aryan phonetics, and is expected to read and criticise the articles appearing from time to time in the philological journals, and to prepare reports on these articles. The same method is pursued during the investigation of the history of forms; and in the third part of the course the student begins the study of comparative syntax by a close comparison of the use of cases and verbal forms in Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Elementary Sanskrit.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Whitney's Grammar is used and the classical selections from Lanman's Reader are read, followed by rapid reading in some easy text of the classical literature. Exercises in Sanskrit prose composition are prepared by the student.

The courses in Comparative Philology and in Elementary Sanskrit will not, as a rule, be given in the same year.

Advanced Sanskrit.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Lectures are given on the phonology and morphology of Sanskrit. The study of Lanman's Reader is continued and Kālidāsa's Śakuntalā, Act I, is read.

Greek.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Nevill Sanders, Professor of Greek; Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Associate Professor of Greek; Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, and Miss Abby Kirk, Reader in Elementary Greek. The instruction offered in Classical Greek covers twenty-six hours of lectures and recitations a week apart from courses in Classical Archæology and New Testament Greek; it includes five hours a week of Matriculation Greek; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; five hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Greek; and six hours a week of graduate work.

A course of five hours a week throughout the year is provided for those students that wish to study Greek, and whose examination for matriculation did not include it. Grammar and Composition are studied. Xenophon's Anabasis or Memorabilia and selections from Homer are read. Students may substitute for this course the minor, or first year's course in Latin. Either the matriculation course in Greek or the minor course in Latin is required of all candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts that have not passed the matriculation examination in Greek. This course is given by Miss Kirk under the direction of Dr. Wright.

Matriculation Course.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

- | | |
|---|-------------------|
| Plato, Phædo , and Greek Prose Composition, Dr. Sanders. | Two hours a week. |
| Sophocles, Antigone , Dr. Sanders. | One hour a week. |

Major Course.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

The Greek courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Euripides, Alcestis, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Euripides, Alcestis, ll. 1-475 must be read by students taking the course in Homer only; Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 1-728 must be read by students taking the courses in Plato and in Greek Prose Composition, omitting the course in Homer. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

- | | |
|---|-------------------|
| Herodotus and Greek Prose Composition, Dr. Sanders. | Two hours a week. |
| Euripides, Medea , Dr. Sanders. | One hour a week. |
| Homer, Iliad , Dr. Wright. | Two hours a week. |

(May be taken as a free elective.)

The Greek courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 1-1080 and 1218-1313 must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Euripides, Alcestis, ll. 476-961 must be read by students taking the course in Homer only; Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 729 to end must be read by students taking the courses in Euripides and Greek Prose Composition, omitting the course in Homer. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Demosthenes, Dr. Sanders.

Two hours a week

In and after the year 1914-15 work in Greek prose composition will be given in connection with this course.

Aristophanes, Birds, Dr. Sanders.

One hour a week.

History of Greek Literature, Ionio-Dorian, and Attic periods, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Greek who has not completed all the work of the minor course.

Private reading: Æschylus, Prometheus Vinculus, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Æschylus, Persæ, ll. 1-680 must be read by students taking the courses in Demosthenes and Aristophanes, omitting the course in Greek literature; Æschylus, Prometheus Vinculus, ll. 1-436 must be read by students taking the course in Greek literature, omitting the courses in Demosthenes and Aristophanes. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

2nd Semester.

Thucydides, Dr. Sanders.

Two hours a week.

In and after the year 1914-15 work in Greek prose composition will be given in connection with this course.

Sophocles, Ædipus Rex, Dr. Sanders.

One hour a week.

History of Greek Literature, Attic, Alexandrine, and Græco-Roman periods, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Greek who has not completed all the work of the minor course.

The second year's work of the major course may be divided so as to cover a period of two years; but if elected for the first semester, the lectures on literature must be elected for the second semester also. The lectures on Demosthenes and Thucydides and the one-hour courses in Aristophanes and Sophocles may not be elected separately.

Private reading: Æschylus, Persæ, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Æschylus, Persæ, ll. 681 to end must be read by students taking the courses in Thucydides and Sophocles, omitting the course in Greek literature; Æschylus, Prometheus Vinculus, ll. 437-876 must be read by students taking the course in Greek literature, omitting the courses in Thucydides and Sophocles. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

Group: Greek with any language, or with Philosophy, or with Philosophy and Psychology, or with Psychology, or with Ancient History, or with Classical Archæology, or with Mathematics.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Free
Elective
Courses.

Minor courses, amounting to ten hours a week which may be taken as free electives, are offered in Classical Archæology and Ancient History. See pages 136 to 138 and 156.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Post-
Major
Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

No student that has not completed the minor and major courses in Greek is admitted to any post-major course in Greek.

In 1912-13 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Æschylus, Oresteia , Dr. Sanders.	Two hours a week.
Aristophanes, Acharnians , Knights , Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Æschylus, Agamemnon , Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Pindar and Bacchylides, Dr. Sanders.	Two hours a week.
Sophocles, Electra or Euripides, Electra , Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Theocritus, Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

In 1913-14 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Minor Orations of the Attic Orators, Dr. Sanders.	Two hours a week.
Sophocles, Antigone or Ædipus Tyrannus , Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Melic Poets, Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Æschylus, Agamemnon , or Thucydides, Dr. Sanders.	Two hours a week.
Greek Prose Composition, Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Plato, Republic , Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

In 1914-15 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Sophocles, Trachinæ and Euripides, Heracles , Dr. Sanders.	Two hours a week.
Herodotus, Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Theocritus, Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Greek Prose Composition, Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Greek Rhetoricians or Fragments of Authors in the Papyri, Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Euripides, Bacchæ , Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
Æschylus, Septem , Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Six hours a week of seminary work are offered each year to graduate students of Greek, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to five hours a week may be elected by graduates.

*Graduate
Courses.*

The seminary subjects in Greek are varied from year to year in two series; Attic Tragedy; Orators, and Historians, and the Homeric Question, Plato, and Aristophanes, in order that they may be pursued by a student for several consecutive years. Students electing Greek as part of the work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer with each three hour seminary a two hour seminary and vice versa, so as to make up five hours of seminary work, but both seminaries need not be taken in the same year. Three five hour courses are required of students who offer Greek as a major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; two five hour courses are required when Greek is the only minor subject offered, and one five hour course when two minors are offered. A large part of the work expected of graduate students consists of courses of reading pursued under the direction of the department; and reports of this reading are from time to time required of the students. A reading knowledge of French and German is required. The course in comparative philology is recommended to graduate students of Greek. For graduate courses in Classical Archæology, which may be offered as a minor by students taking Greek as a subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, see page 158.

Greek Seminary, Dr. Sanders.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 Greek orators are studied in the seminary. The work consists of the reading of large portions of all the orators and the critical interpretation of a selected part of each. Lectures are given on legal antiquities, the syntax, and the style of the various authors, in conjunction with which Dionysius of Halicarnassus and the Greek Rhetoricians are studied. The later rhetoricians are treated and their criticism of antiquity investigated. Students are expected to provide themselves with the Teubner text editions of Antiphon, Andocides, Lysias, Isocrates, Isæus, Æschines, Hypereides, and Demosthenes. The classical library is well equipped with works on the orators.

In 1913-14 the main subject of the seminary will be the Greek Historians. Thucydides is studied in detail and reports are made on data of history contained in Greek literature in general. Lectures are given by the instructor on subjects connected with Greek historiography, such as the composition of Thucydides's history, the syntax and style of Thucydides, the history of early prose, Greek historical inscriptions.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be Attic Tragedy. The work of the seminary in textual criticism is devoted to the editing of Euripides's Orestes, while the special work is devoted to the plays bearing on the Orestes myth. Members of the seminary report on assigned subjects and give critical summaries of current classical literature.

Greek Seminary, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary in the first semester is Menander. A thorough study of all the extant fragments of Menander is made with reports by the students on Menander's style, metres, text, and influence on Latin Comedy. The recent discovery of considerable remains of Menander's Comedies and the publication of the Cairo Menander (1907) have provided sufficient material to make such a course profitable to students of the Greek drama.

In the second semester the subject of the seminary is the Homeric Question, and the work consists of a review of the discussions of the Homeric poems since the publication of Wolf's Prolegomena. The various tests that have been applied to the poems by archæologists, linguists, historians of myths, and æsthetic critics are taken up and criticised in detail.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary will be Aristophanes. The aim of the seminary is to make the students familiar with the more important Aristophanic literature up to the present day. Portions of the text are interpreted by the class and reports on assigned topics, literary, historical, and archaeological, connected with the plays are expected from all the members. All the comedies of Aristophanes are read in the course of the year; lectures are given by the instructor on the metres and syntax of Aristophanes, on the dramatic structure of the plays and on the history of Attic comedy. Part of the work consists of analyses of Latin and German dissertations on Aristophanes which are presented by members of the class. Every member of the class should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Aristophanes. The Teubner (Leipsic) or Clarendon Press (Oxford) editions are recommended.

In 1914-15 the seminary will be in Plato. The work is mainly literary and critical. Lectures on the style, philosophy, and chronology of the dialogues are given by the instructor; a detailed interpretation of a portion of Plato, and reports on topics set for discussion are given by the class. The students are expected to read the Republic, Theaetetus, Parmenides, and Sophist and discuss certain problems arising from these dialogues. The aim of the course is to lay a foundation for independent work by familiarising the students with the achievements of German scholarship and the general field of Platonic literature up to the present day. Analyses of German and Latin dissertations are expected from the class. Lutoslawski's Origin and Growth of Plato's Logic will be studied and criticised in detail. Every member of the seminary should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Plato. The Teubner (Leipsic) or Clarendon Press (Oxford) editions are recommended.

In 1915-16 the Homeric Question will be the subject of the seminary throughout the year. Greek Journal Club, Dr. Sanders and Dr. Wright.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and the advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent articles and books.

Latin.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Arthur Leslie Wheeler, Professor of Latin, Dr. Tenney Frank, Professor of Latin, Dr. James Fulton Ferguson, Associate in Ancient History and Latin, and Dr. Mary Hamilton Swindler, Reader in Latin. The instruction offered in Latin covers twenty-three hours of lectures and recitations a week, and includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; one hour a week of free elective, six hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Latin; and six hours a week of graduate work.

FIRST YEAR.

*(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Cicero, Letters, Dr. Wheeler, Dr. Ferguson, and Dr. Swindler.

Two hours a week.

Major
Course.

* For regulations regarding the passing off of the Minor Latin, see footnote, page 53. Students passing off the Minor Latin course for advanced standing are not required to take the separate examinations in private reading.

The class is divided into three sections which are assigned to each instructor in turn for a third of the year.

Horace, Odes, Dr. Frank, Dr. Ferguson, and Dr. Swindler.

Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

The class is divided into three sections which are assigned to each instructor in turn for a third of the year.

Private reading: Sallust's Catilina must be read during the first semester by students taking the five hour course. Students taking the course in Horace only must read one half of the Catilina in each semester, while those taking the three hour course in Cicero only read one half of the Stories from Gellius in each semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

2nd Semester.

Terence, Phormio, Adelphoe, and Andria, Dr. Wheeler, Dr. Ferguson, and Dr. Swindler.

Three hours a week.

Horace, Selections from the Satires and Epistles and Vergil, Eclogues, Dr. Frank, Dr. Ferguson, and Dr. Swindler.

Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

Private reading: Stories from Gellius must be read by students taking the five hour course. Stories from Gellius (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Terence only. Sallust, Catilina (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Horace only. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Tacitus, Annals, Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week.

The reading is devoted chiefly to those parts of Books i-vi bearing on the character of Tiberius, a study of which forms one of the main objects of the course. Other important topics are Tacitus's method as a historian, his style as a writer, the peculiarities of "Silver" Latin, etc. Several lectures are given on these and other subjects.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Latin who has not completed the work of the minor course. The major courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Lectures on Latin Literature, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week.

The lectures in this course treat the history of Latin Literature from its earliest beginnings down to the end of the second century of the Christian era, including all the authors from whose writings any important remains have been preserved. The libraries in each hall contain texts of the most important authors and extensive reading is required.

Private reading: Cicero, De Senectute must be read by students taking the five hour course; Tacitus, Agricola (first half) must be read by students taking the course in Tacitus only; Cicero, De Senectute (first half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Literature only. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

2nd Semester.

Latin Comedy, Plautus, Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week.

The origin, development, and characteristics of Roman comedy are studied. Much attention is devoted to the peculiarities of archaic and colloquial Latin and to the reading of the simpler metres. Such topics as the theatre, stage, and actors receive special treatment in lectures. Three or four plays are read in class.

Lectures on Latin Literature (continued), Dr. Frank. Two hours a week.

The second year's work of the major course may be divided so as to cover a period of two years; but if elected for the first semester, the lectures on literature must be elected for the second semester also.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Latin who has not completed the work of the minor course. The major courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Tacitus, Agricola must be read by students taking the five hour course; Tacitus, Agricola (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Comedy; Cicero, De Senectute (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Literature only. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

Group: Latin with any language, or with Philosophy, or with Classical Archæology, or with Ancient History, or with Mathematics.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Lectures on Roman Life, Dr. Frank. One hour a week throughout the year.

An attempt is made to describe briefly Roman social and economic conditions, as well as the development of religious beliefs and institutions.

*Free
Elective
Course.*

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses. No student that has not completed the minor and major courses in Latin is admitted to any post-major course in Latin.

*Post-
Major
Courses.*

In 1912-13 and again in 1914-15 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Roman Elegy, Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

An effort is made to trace historically the development of this branch of poetry among the Romans. Selections from Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid are read and the readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Special attention is devoted to the structure and reading of the elegiac distich and to the characteristics of Roman poetic fiction. Each student is required to prepare papers on assigned topics in each semester.

The Life and Works of Vergil, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

The larger part of the Æneid, two books of the Georgics and some of the minor poems are read and discussed.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

2nd Semester.

Roman Elegy (continued), Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

Roman Prose of the Empire, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

Selections from Velleius, Seneca, Quintilian, Tacitus, Suetonius, Apuleius and Minucius Felix are read.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition (continued), Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

In 1913-14 and again in 1915-16 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Roman Satire, Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

The subject is treated historically in order to give an outline of the origin and development of Satire. The class reads selections from Horace, Persius, Seneca, Petronius, and Juvenal, together with some of the fragments of Ennius, Lucilius, and Varro. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Each student is required to prepare at least one paper on an assigned topic in each semester.

Lucretius and Catullus, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

Selections from the De Rerum Natura and from the Lyrics of Catullus are read.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.2nd Semester.

Roman Satire (continued), Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

Cicero and Cæsar, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

An effort is made by means of lectures, discussions, and extensive reading to gain an intimate acquaintance with the literary work and the political careers of Cicero and Cæsar.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition (continued), Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

Six hours a week of seminary work are offered each year to graduate students of Latin accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to six hours a week may be elected by graduates.

The graduate work in Latin is conducted according to the seminary method and is intended not only to broaden the student's knowledge, but also to teach methods of work. The graduate courses in Latin are varied from year to year in two series, Roman Comedy, Lyric Poetry and Elegy, and Roman History, Epigraphy, and Literature or Syntax. Students electing Latin as part of the work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer with each three hour seminary a two hour seminary and vice versa, so as to make up five hours of seminary work, but both seminaries need not be taken in the same year. Such students are recommended to attend the Journal Club. Three five hour courses are required of students who offer Latin as a major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; two five hour courses are required when Latin is the only minor subject offered and one five hour course when two minors are offered. It is desirable that all students who intend to do advanced work in Latin should have some knowledge of Greek. A reading knowledge of French and German is also necessary.

Latin Seminary, Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary is Latin Comedy. All the plays of Plautus and Terence are read by the students; single plays form the basis of special work on the language, text, metres, etc.

Students should provide themselves with the text edition of Plautus, edited by W. M. Lindsay, Oxford, 1903-04, and with Dziatzko's text of Terence, Leipsic, Tauchnitz, 1884. The plays of Plautus, annotated by Brix, Leipsic, Teubner, 1888-1901, and by Lorenz, Berlin, Weidmann, 1876-86, and the plays of Terence, annotated by Dziatzko (revised by Hauler), 1898 and 1903 (Teubner), and by Spengel, 1879 and 1905, Weidmann, are also recommended. P. Terenti Afri Comœdiæ, edited by S. G. Ashmore, Oxford University Press, New York, 1908, is a convenient commentary.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary will be the Roman Lyric in the Period of the Republic. After a rapid survey of the fragmentary lyric remains of the predecessors and contemporaries of Catullus, the poems of Catullus himself are studied in detail. Students should have Catulli carmina (Oxford text, 1904), edited by Robinson Ellis, and either the same scholar's Commentary on Catullus, Oxford, Clarendon Press, 1889 (second edition), or G. Friedrich's Catulli Veronensis liber, Leipsic and Berlin, 1908 (Teubner).

In 1914-15 Roman Elegy as represented by Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid will be the subject of the seminary. In addition to a careful study of selected poems an effort is made to trace the history of elegy among the Romans. The various topics connected with the subject are treated in detail as far as time permits, and the students are encouraged to familiarise themselves with the best literature in editions, periodicals, and dissertations. The texts recommended are the Oxford Clarendon Press editions of Catullus and Tibullus, edited by Ellis and Postgate, and the Leipsic (Teubner) text of Propertius, edited by C. Hosius, 1911.

Latin Seminary, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 Cicero's correspondence is the subject of the seminary. An effort is made to master typical textual and linguistic problems presented by this text, and more especially to extend the student's acquaintance with the Roman civilisation of Cicero's day.

In 1913-14 the work of the seminary will be Latin Epigraphy and Palæography. About two-thirds of the course is devoted to the study of the Corpus Inscriptionum. The questions assigned for investigation deal mainly with Roman political institutions, public and private life, and with historical grammar. Dessau's Inscriptiones Latinae Selectae is used in the class room. The paleographical facsimiles of Chatelain, Zangemeister and Wattenbach, and Arndt form the basis for work in the latter part of the course.

In 1914-15 selected topics in Roman Literature will be studied. The work consists of studies in the beginnings of the Roman epic, tragedy, and prose. The students read reports on special subjects assigned to them. A study of Latin Syntax may be substituted.

Latin Journal Club, Dr. Wheeler and Dr. Frank.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and the advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent articles and books.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

Professors and instructors: Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Dr. Fonger DeHaan, Dr. Albert Schinz, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Dr. Carleton Fairchild Brown, Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Dr. Orie Latham Hatcher, Dr. Alfred Horatio Upham, Dr. Agathe Lasch, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, M. Louis Cons, Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Miss Mary Jeffers, * Miss Edna Aston Shearer, Miss E. Beatrice Daw, Dr. Helen Estabrook Sandison, Dr. Ida Langdon, Miss Marie Hopp, Miss Bertha Sophie Ehlers, Miss Marion Delia Crane, Miss Christine Potts Hammer, and Miss Maud Temple (elect).

English.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Professor of English, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Professor of English, Dr. Carleton Fairchild Brown, Professor of English Philology, Dr. Orie Latham Hatcher, Associate Professor of Comparative Literature and Elizabethan Literature, Dr. Alfred Horatio Upham, Associate Professor of English Literature, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, Director of English Essay Work and Reader in English, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Non-resident Lecturer in English Diction, Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Lecturer in the History of Modern Art and Comparative Literature, Miss Edna Aston Shearer, Miss E. Beatrice Daw, Dr. Helen Estabrook Sandison, Miss Marion Delia Crane, Dr. Ida Langdon, and Miss Christine Potts Hammer, Readers in English, and Miss Maud Temple, Reader (elect) in English. The instruction offered in English covers forty-four hours of lectures and recitations a week, and includes two years of lectures on literature and language required of every candidate for the Bachelor's degree; two years of Minor and Major English, which presuppose as much information as is contained in the required course, and may be elected in combination with the major course in any other language, or with comparative literature, or with Philosophy, or with Philosophy and Psychology, or as a free elective; six hours a week of free elective work; one hour a week of elective courses in English diction, and graduate courses in English literature, Anglo-Saxon, and Early and Middle English, and Elizabethan Literature.

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1912-13.

The required course consists of lectures on literature and language, in which the history of English literature is regarded as far as possible from the point of view of European literature generally; a study of the principles of English composition with constant practice in writing; and courses of private reading, which are meant to familiarise the student with English authors. The instruction in English composition is given in three ways: in introductory lectures, in written corrections on papers written by the students, and in conferences between the instructors and students. The course in English composition and rhetoric is connected with the lectures on literature and language and may not be elected separately.

Required Course.

FIRST YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of the English language and Anglo-Saxon literature, with an introduction into the study of early Teutonic literature and mythology, Miss Donnelly. Two and a half hours a week.

The Principles of Articulation, Mr. King. One hour a fortnight.

This course deals with a system of oral gymnastics, by which a distinct, firm, and fluent articulation can be acquired. The means of instruction for improving the quality of the speaking voice, and for acquiring a correct production, are pointed out. Special attention is paid to the cure of nasality and other vicious habits of speaking. The common errors of articulation and the vulgarisms constantly heard in every-day speech are clearly defined. A special class will be formed to assist those students whose defects of articulation are so marked as to make it difficult for them to work with the other members of the class.

English Composition and Rhetoric, Miss Donnelly, Dr. Crandall, Miss Shearer, Miss Daw, Dr. Sandison, Dr. Langdon, Miss Hammer.

Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of the English language and the course in English composition and rhetoric may not be elected separately. The work in English composition consists of short papers each week on subjects drawn from the student's personal experience, and longer papers on subjects drawn from the lectures on the history of the English language and literature and from assigned reading. In the rhetoric course the principles of English composition are studied and their practice is taught in the papers written by the students. A written examination is held on the work in English composition and rhetoric at the end of the semester. Written examinations on the lectures are held from time to time during the semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on the history of English literature to the death of Spenser, inclusive, with an introduction into the study of mediæval literature, Miss Donnelly. Two and a half hours a week.

The Principles of Articulation (continued), Mr. King. One hour a fortnight.

English Composition and Rhetoric, Miss Donnelly, Dr. Crandall, Miss Shearer, Miss Daw, Dr. Sandison, Dr. Langdon, Miss Hammer.

Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of English literature and the course in English composition and rhetoric may not be elected separately. The plan of work of the first semester is continued. In the rhetoric course the principles of English composition are studied throughout the semester and their practice is taught in the papers written by the students. A written examination on the work in English composition and rhetoric is held at the end of each semester. Written examinations on the lectures on the history of English literature are held from time to time during the semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of English literature from the death of Spenser to the Restoration, inclusive, with a short account of the influences of the contemporary continental literatures, Miss Donnelly.

Two and a half hours a week.

The Sonant Properties of Speech, Mr. King.

One hour a fortnight.

This course consists of a detailed study of the principles of inflection, pitch, and rhythm, together with special treatment of emphasis and rules on pausing. Students are required from time to time to read aloud in order that individual faults may be corrected.

English Composition, Miss Donnelly, Dr. Crandall, Miss Shearer, Miss Daw, Dr. Sandison, Dr. Langdon, Miss Hammer.

Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of English literature and the course in English composition may not be elected separately. The course in English composition consists of one short paper each fortnight on a subject drawn from the student's personal experience, one argumentative paper, and one critical paper on a subject drawn from the lectures on the history of English literature. A written examination on the work in English composition is held at the end of each semester. Written examinations on the lectures on the history of English literature are held from time to time during the semester and at the end of each semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on the history of English literature from the Restoration to the present time, Miss Donnelly.

Two and a half hours a week.

The Sonant Properties of Speech (continued), Mr. King.

One hour a fortnight.

English Composition, Miss Donnelly, Dr. Crandall, Miss Shearer, Miss Daw, Dr. Sandison, Dr. Langdon, Miss Hammer.

Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of English literature and the course in English composition may not be elected separately. The work of the semester in English composition consists of one short paper each fortnight on a subject drawn from the student's personal experience, one twenty-four page critical paper on an author chosen by the student with the approval of her instructor, a narrative, and two shorter so-called imitative papers during the writing of which the principles of imitative writing are discussed in the lectures. A written examination is held on the work at the end of each semester. Written examinations on the lectures on the history of English literature are held from time to time during the semester and at the end of each semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

Major Course.

The major course in English differs slightly from the other major courses of the college, in that it must always have been preceded by two years' study of English in the required undergraduate courses, and is intended for graduate students or for those undergraduate students who are anxious to specialise in English. Any of the courses, except the courses in English Drama, in the Essay and Novel in the Eighteenth Century, and in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer, may be taken separately as free electives by students that have completed the required course. Students wishing to specialise in language may substitute the course in Middle English Romances or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer for the course in the Essay and Novel in the Eighteenth Century, and the course in Anglo-Saxon or Shakespeare for either the course in English Poets of the Romantic Movement or the course in English Drama, but all students taking a major course in English must take either the course in Anglo-Saxon or the course in Middle English Romances, or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer.

FIRST YEAR.

Minor Course. (Literature.)

English Critics of the Nineteenth Century, Dr. Upham.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Certain English essayists of the nineteenth century are studied with particular regard to their theories of criticism. In the first semester the authors usually chosen are Carlyle, Newman, and Matthew Arnold; in the second semester Ruskin, Pater, and Swinburne are discussed. Occasional short reports and one long paper in each semester must be prepared by the students attending the course.

English Poets of the Romantic Movement, Miss Donnelly.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

The poets studied in this course are Wordsworth, Coleridge, and Shelley in the first semester and in the second, Byron, Keats, and Landor. Their works are discussed in class in connection with questions of poetics and literary theory and reports and essays are required from students attending the course.

Minor Course. (Language.)

Anglo-Saxon, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

An outline of Anglo-Saxon grammar and reading of the prose selections in Bright's Anglo-Saxon Reader. In the second semester Beowulf is taken up and the first two-thirds of the poem is read with the class.

Shakespeare, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

Lectures on Shakespeare's dramatic development and a critical reading of selected plays.

Middle English Romances, Dr. Brown. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

Selected romances are read by the members of the class. The lectures treat the development of romance literature in English with special reference to the romances of Germanic origin and the Arthurian cycle. The course in the Essay and Novel in the Eighteenth Century or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer may be substituted for this course if desired.

SECOND YEAR.

(Literature.)

The Essay and Novel in the Eighteenth Century, Dr. Upham.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

In the first semester a preliminary consideration of the rise of the English essay and other literary forms contributory to the novel is followed by a special study of the Tatler, Spectator, and Examiner, of representative picaresque and satirical fiction, and of selected works of Richardson and Fielding. The second semester considers the essay and novel as expressive of eighteenth century life and thought, emphasising the growth of the critical and political essay, and of the larger categories of fiction: novel of manners, novel of character, doctrinaire novel, romantic novel, etc. Treatment of technique is continued throughout. The course in Middle English Romances or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer may be substituted for this course if desired.

English Drama, Miss Donnelly.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

This course is intended to give students that have completed the required course in English a more intimate knowledge of the late Elizabethan and the Stuart drama. The lectures follow the development of the realistic and romantic tendencies in the comedy and tragedy of the period both as an expression of the national life and of the individual genius of the various dramatists. Selected plays of Shakespeare, Middleton, Ben Jonson, Beaumont and Fletcher, and other dramatists are read in connection with the lectures. This course is open only to those students who are taking the English group. The course in English Poets of the Romantic Movement or the course in Anglo-Saxon or Shakespeare may be substituted for this course if desired.

*(Language.)*Middle English Poetry, Dr. Brown. Three hours a week during the first semester.(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The purpose of the course is to give the student a direct acquaintance with some of the more important pieces of Middle English verse. Selections are read from Layamon's Brut, Robert of Gloucester's Chronicle, Laurence Minot, Robert of Brunne's Handlyng Synne, and Langland's Vision of Piers Plowman. The Owl and the Nightingale and Pearl will be read in full. In connection with the reading of these texts lectures are given on the development of the language and literature during the Middle English period. The course is designed as an introduction to the course on Chaucer given in the second semester but may be taken independently. This course is open only to those students who are taking or have taken at least one other course in English in addition to the required courses. The course in the Essay and Novel in the Eighteenth Century or the course in Middle English Romances may be substituted for this course and the course on Chaucer if desired.

Chaucer, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week during the second semester.(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

In this course the best of the Canterbury Tales are studied, also the Legend of Good Women, The House of Fame, and portions of Troilus and Criseyde. The lectures discuss Chaucer's sources and literary art, and his relation to the English, French, and Italian literature of his time. It is desirable that this course should be preceded by the course in Middle English Poetry. This course is open only to those students who are taking at least one other course in English in addition to the required courses. The course in the Essay and Novel in the Eighteenth Century or the course in Middle English Romances may be substituted for this course if desired.

Group: English with any language, or English with Comparative Literature, or English with Philosophy, or English with Philosophy and Psychology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Daily Themes, Dr. Crandall. Two hours a week during the first semester.
(Given in each year.)

*Free
Elective
Courses.*

Short papers on subjects chosen by the students themselves are required from each student and discussed in the class.

Narrative Writing, Dr. Crandall. Two hours a week during the second semester.
(Given in each year.)

The style and methods of the best modern writers of short stories, both English and French, are treated in this course. The course is open to students under the same conditions as the course in Descriptive Writing.

Argumentation, Miss Shearer. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

In the first semester the course takes up the technique of Argumentation, and in the second semester establishes the relation between the laws of thought emphasised in the first semester and the ordinary forms of prose composition. The course is open to students who have obtained the grade of merit in two semesters, or of credit in one semester of the required course in English Composition, but no student may take this course at the same time that she is taking another course in English Composition.

Theory and Practice of Verse Composition, Miss King.
Two hours a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1913-14.)

This course is not historical but theoretical and practical. The lectures deal with the theory of poetry, the difference between poetry and prose and the laws of verse in English. Students are required to write short exercises in verse every week. The course is open to students who have obtained the grade of merit in two semesters or of credit in one semester of the required course in English Composition, but no student may take this course at the same time that she is taking another course in English Composition. In 1912-13 this course was given two hours a week throughout the year.

Descriptive Writing, Miss Donnelly. Two hours a week during the first semester.
(Given in each year.)

This course consists of lectures on the theory and practice of description. The course is open to students who have obtained the grade of merit in two semesters or of credit in one semester of the required course in English Composition, but no student may take this course at the same time that she is taking another course in English Composition.

Literary Portraits, A Study of Boileau and Dryden, Miss Temple.
Two hours a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1913-14.)

In this course the students will be required to write a number of papers and reports.

General Reading of Prose Authors, Mr. King.
One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

This course is open only to those students who have attended the lectures in English diction given in the general course.

Reading of Shakespeare, Mr. King. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

This course is open only to those students who have attended the lectures in English diction given in the general course. A special study is made of the principles of correct delivery of blank verse. The needs of those students who expect to teach English literature and desire to read Shakespeare to their pupils are given special attention.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

Fourteen hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of English, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research, and the courses are varied from year to year, so that they may be pursued by students through three or more consecutive years. The graduate lectures offered in the department of Comparative Literature are also recommended to the attention of students of English. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries, but the major or third and fourth year courses of the department amounting to ten hours a week may be elected by graduate students. There are offered each year three graduate seminaries in English literature, and one in English language. The graduate seminaries in literature presuppose at least as much knowledge as is obtained in the two years' course of undergraduate lectures on English literature and in one of the literature years of the English group; and the graduate courses in Anglo-Saxon presuppose as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language year in the English group.

Students who choose English as the chief subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have, if they specialise in literature, at least as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon, and, if they specialise in language, at least as much knowledge of literature, as is obtained in the courses required of those students who make English one of the chief subjects of undergraduate study, and must have taken at least the equivalent of the English Composition in the required English course.

Seminary in Middle English, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the beginnings of English Drama are the subject of the seminary. Though the cycles of the mystery plays are considered in general, the larger part of the time is devoted to the study of the English morality plays. Particular attention is given to the connection between the moralities and the didactic treatises and the debates. The moralities and the secular drama are studied historically up to the time of Heywood. In addition to the reading and discussion of selected plays, lectures are given by the instructor with the object of setting various elements of dramatic development in proper proportion. Critical reports on assigned topics are required from the students.

In 1913-14 the subject is the Middle English Romances. All the romances represented in the Middle English are read, and the relations of these English versions to their Latin and Old French originals are discussed. The romance cycles are taken up in the following order: Troy story, Alexander saga, romances of Germanic origin, Arthurian cycle, Charlemagne cycle. Special investigations of various elements in individual romances are undertaken from time to time by the members of the seminary.

In 1914-15 the seminary will undertake the study of The Vision of Piers the Plowman and the works of Chaucer. Attention is devoted not so much to the critical reading of the texts themselves as to the examination of the questions of authorship and chronology which have recently been raised. These poems are also discussed in their relation to the other literature of the fourteenth century. Special subjects for individual investigation are assigned to the members of the seminary.

Beowulf, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

This course gives in the first place a general survey of Beowulf criticism, including textual problems, theories as to the composition of the poem, and an enquiry into its historical and mythological elements. In this connection a study is also made of the other pieces of Anglo-Saxon heathen poetry. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon or its equivalent.

English Historical Grammar, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

In this course the development of the English language is traced from the earliest times. After an outline of the history and external relations of English, the change and decay of inflections, the use of prepositions and the more important points in historical syntax are discussed. The course presupposes a knowledge of Anglo-Saxon and Middle English.

Cynewulf and Cædmon, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

Several of the poems traditionally ascribed to these authors are critically studied. Lectures are given furnishing an introduction to Anglo-Saxon Christian poetry and the literary problems connected with it. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts, or its equivalent.

Seminary in English Literature, Miss Donnelly.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 Swift, Addison, and Steele are studied. Attention is given to their relations to both contemporary politics and literature.

In 1913-14 Shelley and Byron will be studied. Special attention is given to the phases of Romanticism shown in their work and to their relations to their contemporaries in England and on the Continent.

In 1914-15 Milton, Sir Thomas Browne, and Jeremy Taylor will be studied in their relation to the development of English prose in the seventeenth century.

Seminary in English Literature, Dr. Upham.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the seminary is devoted to studies in the later romantic movement in England, including the period of its diffusion. Emphasis is placed upon such matters as the Italian and Spanish revival, the new interest in Hellenism, the Tractarian movement in the church, and the various ideals of art represented in the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood. Extensive studies in these lines during the first semester prepare for special investigations later.

In 1913-14 the seminary will be concerned with the literary and critical activity of the mid-eighteenth century, centering in Dr. Johnson and his circle. Representative works of the period are read and discussed, and particular attention is directed to such matters as the coterie spirit, the influence of periodical literature, the relations of author and public, the breaking down of classical standards, and the rise of romanticism in England and abroad.

The seminary in 1914-15 will deal with the various phases of English sentimentalism in their relation to continental activities. After tracing the earlier development of the sentimental spirit, a thorough study will be made of the manifestations of this spirit in eighteenth century novel and drama. Particular attention will be given to the bearing of sentimentalism on the beginnings of the romantic movement, and special studies will be made of literary relationships.

Modern Literary Criticism, Dr. Upham. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

This course is offered in the department of Comparative Literature and a description of it will be found on page 129.

Literary Criticism through the Renaissance, Dr. Upham.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

This course is offered in the department of Comparative Literature and a description of it will be found on page 130.

Seminary in Elizabethan Drama, Dr. Hatcher.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 Shakespeare is the subject of the seminary. In the first semester as detailed a review as is practicable is made of the results of Shakespearian scholarship as regards critical problems of biography, authorship, chronology and source material of the plays, a comparison of varying versions of separate plays, the influence of earlier and contemporary dramatists, etc. Dramatic records relating to Shakespeare are also examined at first hand and evidences of his participation in the general dramatic activities of his time noted. In the second semester students are given individual problems for investigation.

In 1913-14 English drama from 1558 to 1642 will be studied, as the chief literary expression of the period. The conditions of its origin and continued production, its nature, extent, variety, development and decadence will be discussed and a reasonable proportion of the extant plays of the period read continuously as a background for other work. A brief introductory study is made of dramatic genres and of the broader principles of dramatic construction, and the remainder of the first semester is devoted to the examination of contemporary documents and other sources of information in regard to Elizabethan drama. In the latter half of the year each student investigates some special problem, such as dramatic inter-relationship or authorship, and gives reports upon her work.

In 1914-15 Spenser will be studied in the light of Mediæval and Renaissance culture. The subjects taken up are the inspiration, models, and sources of Spenser's poetry; the many influences working upon him, and those emanating from him, as shown in the significant blending of classical, mediæval, and Renaissance tendencies in his poetry, and his initiative in solving the literary problems of his time. In the first semester all the works of Spenser are read and the results of Spenserian research examined. The second semester is devoted largely to the investigation by each student of some special problem.

Writing Course for Graduates, Miss King.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

This course will be devoted to a review of expository writing.

English Journal Club, Dr. Brown, Miss Donnelly, Dr. Upham, and Dr. Hatcher.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

German.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Professor of German Literature, Dr. Agathe Lasch, Associate in Teutonic Philology, Miss Mary Jeffers,* Reader in Elementary German, and Miss Bertha Sophie Ehlers, Reader in Elementary German. The instruction offered in German covers twenty-nine hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes five hours a week of matriculation German; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; one hour a week of free elective; three hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in German, and ten hours a week of graduate work in modern German literature and in Teutonic philology.

A class for beginners in German, conducted by Miss Mary Jeffers, five hours a week throughout the year, is provided, in order that those students whose matriculation examination did not include German may obtain the reading knowledge of it that they must possess before receiving a degree. By great diligence such students may acquire sufficient knowledge to be admitted should they desire it, into the first year of the major course in German. This course is conducted by Miss Ehlers in 1912-13.

Matriculation Course.

The major course in German presupposes as much knowledge as is required to pass the matriculation examination in this subject.

Major Course.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the period of Romanticism to the present time, Dr. Jessen. Two hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in German and discuss the masterpieces of German literature in the nineteenth century. Weicher's Deutsche Literaturgeschichte is recommended for reference.

This course is open as a free elective to all students that have passed the matriculation examination in German.

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1912-13.

Private reading: Grillparzer, Sappho, and Freytag, Die Journalisten, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Hebbel, Agnes Bernauer, and Sudermann, Die Heimat, must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

Critical Reading of Modern German Authors, Dr. Lasch.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

German Grammar and Prose Composition, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course in critical reading consists of translations of modern German prose and verse. Selections from Goethe's Wahrheit und Dichtung are used in the first semester and Goethe's Iphigenie and Tasso in the second semester. For translation of English into German, Whitney and Stroebe's Advanced German Composition (Holt & Co.) and Ruskin's Præteritæ are used. German grammar is carefully reviewed in Thomas's Practical German Grammar (Holt & Co.).

The course in Critical Reading and the course in Grammar and Prose Composition may not be elected separately, and the examination in these subjects may not be divided. The courses are open as a free elective to all students that have passed the matriculation examination in German.

Private reading: Schiller, Wallenstein, Part I. (Henry Holt & Co., New York), must be read by students taking the courses in the first semester; Schiller, Braut v. Messina, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

The advanced standing examinations, or examinations taken without attending the college classes, in the reading and grammar of the minor, three hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under German governesses the necessary advanced knowledge, and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination on the private reading that accompanies these courses must be taken not later than the third semester after that in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the History of German Literature from Luther to the Romantic School, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in German and discuss the great classical authors, as well as the most modern poets and novelists.

Private reading: Goethe, Italienische Reise, and Lessing, Nathan der Weise, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Freussen's Jörn Uhl and Nietzsche's Zarathustra, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

Faust-Legend and similar legends in mediæval and modern literature; Goethe, Faust (1st and 2nd parts), Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course aims to be a comparative study of an interesting group of literary products of both mediæval and modern literature. Starting with the comparative history of such Faustlike legends in mediæval literature as those of Theophilus and Cyprian, up to Calderon's Il magico prodigioso, the Faust-Legend in its many pre-eminently English and German ramifications, will be taken up, including especially Marlowe's Doctor Faustus.

Goethe's Faust will be the centre of comparative study, showing what in it is due to Rousseauism, to Romanticism, and to other currents of thought. Faustlike literature, especially German and English, of a later date, as far as it is of literary importance will bring the consideration as far up to date as possible. The course will consist of lectures, reports and readings, and will be given in English. It may be counted as part of the major course in comparative literature.

Private reading will be announced later.

German Prose Composition and Reading, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course the students translate selected passages of difficult English prose into German. Treitschke, Kleine Schriften will be translated into English.

The course in German literature and the course in Prose Composition and Reading may not be elected separately, and the examination in these subjects may not be divided.

Private reading: Sudermann's Johannes must be read by students taking this course in the first semester; Hauptmann's Hannele's Himmelfahrt must be read by students taking this course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

An advanced standing examination, or an examination taken without attending the college class, in the prose composition of the major, one hour a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under German governesses the necessary advanced knowledge, and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination on the private reading that accompanies this course must be taken not later than the third semester after that in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

Group: German with any language or with Comparative Literature.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Advanced German Composition, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Difficult English prose selections are translated into German. The intention of the course is to increase the understanding and feeling for written and spoken German. Attention is paid to the needs of students intending to teach German.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Post-
Major
Courses.

German Literature from 1850 to the Present Time, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

The subject of this course is, in the first semester, the Epigonen-Literatur. The development of the modern German Novelle is discussed and Keller's, Storm's, and C. F. Meyer's works are specially studied. A full account of the poets of the Münchener Schule is given, as well as of Richard Wagner, Reuter, Groth, Freytag, Spielhagen, Scheffel, Raabe, Geibel, Heyse, and Schack.

German Literature from 1850 to the Present Time (continued), Dr. Jessen. Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

In the second semester among the subjects discussed are the influence of French, Russian, and Scandinavian literatures, especially of the work of Zola and Ibsen on German literature; modern German realism and naturalism, as represented by Fontane, Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Liliencron, and Rosegger; the increased importance of women in literature, and the work of Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach, Luise von François, Ricarda Huch, Helene Böhlau, Isolde Kurz, Clara Viebig, and others; the significance of Nietzsche for German life and literature; Neo-romanticism and Heimatsdichtung.

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the Romantic School till 1850, Dr. Jessen. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

This course begins with a general study of the principles of philosophy, life, art, and poetry, as represented by the Romantic School, which is followed by lectures on the literary movements, expressed mainly in lyric poetry and in the novel, which supersede the Romantic Weltanschauung. The lyrics of the war of liberation, the Weltschmerz, and the political revolution; the novel of Jungdeutschland; the drama of Heinrich von Kleist; the works of the Schlegels, Tieck, Hölderlin, Jean Paul, Novalis, Uhland, Lenau, Heine, Immermann, Freiligrath, Herwegh, Gutzkow, Mörike, and Gotthelf are the principal topics discussed.

Advanced Critical Reading, Dr. Jessen. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The reading is selected from works discussed in the post-major lectures on literature. The students give reports on dramas or novels, the object of the discussion being to trace the characteristics of the author, as shown in his works. Special attention will be paid to the needs of students who intend to teach German.

Elementary Middle High German, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course has been arranged primarily for undergraduate students who wish to be able to read the Middle High German classics in the original. A general acquaintance with the history of early German literature, such as may be obtained from the lectures on the history of German literature in the minor course, is presupposed. Wright's Middle High German Primer (2nd edition, Oxford, 1899) is used.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

Ten hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of German and Teutonic Philology accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries, but the post-major courses of the department, amounting to four hours a week, may be elected by graduate students.

The graduate courses offered in German Philology may be found under the head of General Teutonic Philology.

Graduate work in the history of modern German literature is conducted according to the seminary method. The courses are varied so that they may be followed by graduate students throughout three successive years and cover the work required of students who offer German literature as a major or minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Seminary in German Literature, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Although the seminary meets only two hours a week throughout the year, the amount of reading required makes the course equivalent to five hours a week. It is hoped that the students will become familiar in these courses with the methods of scientific literary criticism and investigation.

In 1912-13 the subjects for study and investigation and for reports are taken from Grillparzer during the first semester and from E. T. A. Hoffman during the second semester.

In 1913-14 Goethe and Schiller will be studied in their personal, literary, and critical relations.

In 1914-15 Friedrich Nietzsche and Herman Grimm will form the basis of the work of the seminary.

German Metrics, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

This course consists of lectures on Deutsche Metrik or Verslehre, with an introduction to phonetics, this being an indispensable Hilfswissenschaft for the study of German literature.

German Poetics, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

Lectures will be given on Deutsche Poetik and Stilistik.

German Literary Criticism, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The lectures trace the development of literary and æsthetic criticism in Germany from Leibnitz to Schiller and Goethe. The course is comparative in character, and French and English literary criticism are also considered. Lessing's Laokoön and Hamburgische Dramaturgie and Schiller's essays on æsthetics are studied. A good reading knowledge of French and German is required.

The German Essay, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The history of the essay in German literature is studied, and the most eminent German essayists, Schopenhauer, Herman Grimm, Karl Hillebrand, Friedrich Nietzsche, etc., are discussed; the influence of French, English, and American writers, in particular Montaigne, Macaulay, and Emerson, is investigated. Incidentally questions touching on the evolution of modern German prose style are dealt with.

Goethe's Faust, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

This course is intended as an introduction to the problems of Faustphilologie, dealing with both the first and second parts.

Goethe's Life and Works, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

This course aims at giving an introduction into Goethe-philologie.

German Journal Club, Dr. Jessen and Dr. Lasch.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment and criticism.

GENERAL TEUTONIC PHILOLOGY.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Agathe Lasch, Associate in Teutonic Philology. Special attention is called to the facilities for the study of comparative Teutonic philology offered by Bryn Mawr College. The English and the German departments together have provided for a complete course in Teutonic philology, comprising both the study of the individual languages (Gothic, Norse, Anglo-Saxon, Old Saxon, Old High German, Middle High German, Platt-Deutsch, etc.) and the study of general comparative philology.

The course in introduction to the study of Teutonic philology, Gothic and Middle High German grammar (first year course,) are designed for students in their first year of graduate study in Teutonic languages and the remaining courses for students in their second or third year. The courses given in each year will be planned to meet the needs of the graduate students.

Students intending to elect Teutonic philology are advised to study Greek for at least one year during their undergraduate course.

GRADUATE COURSES.

(Given in each year.)

Graduate Courses.

Introduction to the Study of Teutonic Philology, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

These lectures deal with the following topics: a discussion of Teutonic in its relation to the cognate Aryan languages; a brief sketch of the single Teutonic languages, accompanied by an account of the chief grammatical and lexicographic works on each; a discussion of the aim and method of historical and comparative grammar, including problems such as those of the relationship of dialects and the consistency of phonetic laws; a brief history of Teutonic philology, and finally the outlines of general phonetics.

Gothic, Dr. Lasch.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Gothic phonetics and inflection are studied in connection with the elements of comparative Aryan grammar. Braune's Gotische Grammatik (7th ed., Halle, 1909); or Streitberg's Gotisches Elementarbuch (3rd ed., Heidelberg, 1910) are used as text-books.

As a thorough knowledge of Gothic is the foundation of the study of historical and comparative Teutonic grammar, every graduate student of Teutonic grammar is advised to take this course as early as possible. Die Gotische Bibel (ed. by W. Streitberg, Heidelberg, 1908) is used by the more advanced students.

Middle High German Grammar and reading of Middle High German Texts, Dr. Lasch.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course includes a brief abstract of Middle High German grammar, with special reference to the difference between Middle High German and Modern German, and a study of the most prominent authors in Middle High German. Selections from classical Middle High German poets are read and also the Nibelungenlied, a brief account being given of the history and development of the Nibelungenlied and its manuscripts.

Students of Middle High German should be provided with Paul's Mittelhochd. Grammatik (7th ed., Halle, 1908), or Michels's Mittelhochd. Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900).

This course is required of all students that make German the minor subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The private reading includes the works of the authors treated in the course.

Old Saxon, Dr. Lasch. Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

The work presupposes on the part of the students a sufficient knowledge of Gothic and Old High German. Holthausen's Altsächsisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900); the Heliand (in Sievers's or Behaghel's edition), and Zangemeister-Braune's Bruchstücke der altsächsischen Bibeldichtung (Heidelberg, 1894) are used. The reading is supplemented by a discussion of the West Germanic alliterative verse.

Old Norse, Dr. Lasch. Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

This course may, by request, be substituted for the course in Old Saxon.

Students entering this course are supposed to be acquainted with Gothic and with Anglo-Saxon or Old High German grammar. In the grammatical part of the course the Norse sounds and forms are studied and compared with those of the Gothic and West-Germanic dialects. Among the texts read, selections from the younger and the older Eddas take a prominent place.

The books used are Kahle's Altisländisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900) and some of the Islendinga sögur (Altnordische Saga-Bibliothek) and Hildebrand's Edda (2nd ed., Paderborn, 1904).

Attention is called to the facilities afforded for the study of Old Norse. A considerable portion of the library of the late philologist, Th. Wisén, of Lund, was acquired by Bryn Mawr College, and hence the library is probably as well supplied as any other college library in the United States with Old Norse texts, Norse periodicals, and works on Old Norse language and literature.

Comparative Teutonic Grammar, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

The study of comparative Teutonic philology is recommended to those students only who are acquainted with the single old Teutonic languages, and have studied Gothic, Old High German, Old Saxon, Anglo-Saxon, and Norse. The object of the course is to compare the various old Teutonic languages with each other and with the related Aryan languages,—or in other words (1) to reconstruct the primitive Teutonic language; (2) to point out the characteristic features of primitive Teutonic in distinction from primitive Aryan; (3) to carry down the history of early Teutonic from the period of unity into the early stages of the individual Teutonic languages.

Old High German, Dr. Lasch. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

This course includes a practical study of Old High German grammar, and a comparison of the Old High German sounds and forms with those of Gothic, Middle and Modern High German. Selections are read from Old High German texts, arranged so as to proceed from easy to more difficult pieces, and to illustrate the difference between the Old High German dialects.

History of Modern High German, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

These lectures deal with the history of the development of the German written language during the Modern High German period. The most important Kanzleisprachen, the most prominent Druckersprachen, Luther, Modern German sounds and forms in their relation to the German dialects and to the rules of the Bühnenaussprache, will be discussed.

Teutonic Seminary, Dr. Lasch.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminary is arranged for the benefit of the most advanced students in Teutonic philology. Its object is to encourage independent work on the part of the students. The work consists mainly of the discussion of special topics by the instructor and the students. Members of the seminary are expected to study the literature on these subjects, and to make an effort to contribute some additional material, or an independent opinion of their own.

In 1912-13 Old High German texts such as Merseburger and Trierer Zaubersprüche, Muspilli, and Hildebrandslied are studied. The many problems that these texts offer and the various attempts to solve them are discussed.

In 1913-14 the subjects of the seminary will be taken from Middle High German texts. Problems in text criticism as well as literary problems connected with the works of Middle High German poets either of the classical period or of the periods preceding or following it are discussed.

In 1914-15 the first semester will be devoted to High German texts from the fourteenth to the seventeenth century. The material will be taken either from official documents of this period belonging to various parts of Germany or from the works of writers such as Murner, Hans Sachs, Luther, and others; or from grammatical works of this period in Müller's Quellenschriften und Geschichte des deutschsprachlichen Unterrichts, John Meier's Neudrucke älterer deutscher Grammatiken, etc. They are selected to illustrate the development of Modern High German. In the second semester Old Saxon texts (Heliand and Genesis) will be studied.

The order of these seminary subjects may be changed in accordance with the requirements of the students in any particular year.

In addition to the above courses, others in Old Frisian, Dutch, Middle Low German, or Modern Low German may be arranged for students that have previously studied Gothic, Old and Middle High German, Anglo-Saxon, and Old Saxon.

French.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Albert Schinz, Professor of French Literature, Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate Professor of French Philology and Italian, Mr. Louis Cons, Associate in French, Miss Marie Hopp, Reader in Elementary French, and Miss Eunice Morgan Schenck, Reader (elect) in French.

The instruction offered in French covers thirty-five hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes five hours a week of matriculation French; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; seven hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in French; and thirteen hours a week of graduate work in modern French literature and in Old French literature and language.

A class for beginners in French five hours a week throughout the year, is provided, in order that those students whose matriculation examination did not include French may with less difficulty obtain the reading knowledge of it that they must possess before receiving a degree. By great diligence such students may acquire sufficient knowledge to be admitted should they desire it, into the first year of the major course in French. This course is given by Miss Hopp under the direction of Dr. Schinz.

Matriculation Course.

Entrance to the major course in French presupposes as much knowledge as is required to pass the matriculation examination in this subject. All the courses in French are conducted in the French language.

Major Course.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of French Literature of the nineteenth century, accompanied by collateral readings from representative French authors, Mr. Cons.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in French, and students are expected to take notes and answer questions in French. The aim of the course is to train the students to follow lectures in French as well as to acquaint them with the main features of eighteenth century literature.

Private reading: Chateaubriand, Atala and René, V. Hugo, Hernani and Ruy Blas, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester. Maeterlinck, Péleas et Mélisande, l'Intruse and La Mort de Tintagiles, must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken by all students pursuing the French courses at the scheduled time during the semester for which the reading is assigned.

Critical Readings in French prose and poetry. Practical Exercises in French Syntax and Composition, Dr. Schinz.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The class is conducted in French, and students are expected to take notes and to answer questions in French.

Private reading: Balzac, Gobseck, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Chateaubriand, Le dernier des Abencérages, must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken by all students pursuing the French courses at the scheduled time during the semester for which the reading is assigned.

The advanced standing examinations, or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes, in the reading and composition of the minor, two hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under French governesses the necessary advanced knowledge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination in translation will consist of sight translation from French (usually poetry) into English. V. Hugo's Les Châtiments (Hachette, Paris), La Légende des Siècles, id. (the first two volumes), or Schinz's Selections from Victor Hugo (Heath, Boston) will give an idea of the kind of translation required. The examination in composition will as a rule consist in translating a few detached sentences of every-day idiomatic English, such as may be found in Sweet's Primer of Spoken English, or the German edition of it (Elementarbuch des Gesprochenen Englisch. Oxford, Clarendon Press), or Chardenal's French Exercises for Advanced Pupils (Allyn and Bacon, Boston). The private reading examinations must be taken not later than the third semester after that in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of French Literature from the earliest times to the end of the seventeenth century, accompanied by collateral reading, Dr. Schinz.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in French. The collateral reading in connection with the lectures, on which examinations are held at stated intervals, consists, for the period preceding the seventeenth century, of passages chosen from such works as Gautier's Épopées Françaises or Petit de Julleville's Histoire du Théâtre en France; and for the seventeenth century of selections from the leading authors of the time. Malherbe, Boileau, Corneille, Racine, Molière, La Fontaine, Descartes, Pascal, La Rochefoucauld, Mme. de Sévigné, the great pulpit orators, and others, find a place in the course. During the first semester a number of selections from sixteenth century writers are also read in class, one hour out of the three being specially devoted to this purpose.

Private reading: Chanson de Roland (traduction Gautier), and Bédier, Tristan et Iseut, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Corneille, Le Cid, Cinna; Racine, Andromaque, Athalie; Molière, Tartuffe and Le Misanthrope; Boileau, Art Poétique (Chant I), Pascal, Lettre Provinciale, V; Bossuet, Oraison funèbre de Condé must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken by all students pursuing the French courses at the scheduled time during the semester for which the reading is assigned.

Studies in French Style, Composition, etc., Mr. Cons.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Critical Readings and Studies in Classical French Comedy, Mr. Cons.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Molière, Théâtre Choisi (ed. Thirion, Hachette, Paris) is used in both semesters.

The two one-hour courses given by Mr. Cons may not be elected separately.

Private reading: Corneille, Molière, Théâtre Choisi (ed. Thirion, Hachette, Paris), must be read by students taking the courses in the first semester; Brieux, Blanchette; Maeterlinck, La Vie des Abeilles, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken by all students pursuing the French courses at the scheduled time during the semester for which the reading is assigned.

The advanced standing examinations or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes in the reading and composition of the major, two hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence, that they have obtained before entering the college by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under French governesses, the necessary advanced knowledge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination in translation will consist of sight translation from French (usually poetry), into English. V. Hugo's Les Châtiments (Hachette, Paris), La Légende des Siècles, id. (the first two volumes), or Warren's Selections from Victor Hugo (Holt, New York) will give an idea of the kind of translation required. More difficult passages will be selected than for the minor advanced standing examination. The composition consists of one or two pieces of connected English, taken from such books as Stevenson's Treasure Island, Jerome K. Jerome's Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow. No specific question on French grammar is asked; students are expected to show their knowledge of grammar in the composition. Cameron's The Elements of French Composition (Holt, New York), and Storm's French Dialogues (Macmillan, London) will be found useful in composition work. The private reading examinations must be taken not later than the third semester after that in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

Group: French with Italian and Spanish, or with any language, or with Comparative Literature, or with Modern European History, or with History of Art.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Post-Major Courses.

French Lyric Poetry of the nineteenth century, Dr. Schinz.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

In the first semester the lectures treat lyric poetry until the year 1866. Special attention is paid to the period from 1850 to 1866, while Lamartine, Hugo, Sainte-Beuve, de Vigny, and de Musset are treated only so far as is necessary for the understanding of the evolution of lyric poetry in their successors, Baudelaire, Gautier, de Banville, Leconte de Lisle, Sully Prudhomme, Coppée, France, Mendès, etc. The lectures of the second semester treat contemporary lyric poetry from 1866 to 1886. A careful study is made of the Parnassian school.

The short story (nouvelle) in the nineteenth century, Dr. Schinz.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The genre nouvelle is studied in connection with the following writers: Xavier de Maistre, Chateaubriand, Nodier, de Vigny, de Musset, Balzac, Mérimée, Flaubert, Gautier, Laboulaye, Daudet, Bourget, Maupassant, France, Coppée, Loti, Villiers de l'Isle Adam, de Régnier, and others.

Women Writers of the Renaissance, Mr. Cons.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

The course deals with the importance and influence of Louise Labbé and the School of Lyons; the three Marguerites: Marguerite de Navarre, Marguerite de France, Marguerite de Valois.

Modern Literary Schools and Tendencies in France, Mr. Cons.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

Modern French Symbolists from Verlaine to the writers of the present day will be studied in connection with modern conditions in France.

Modern French Drama, Mr. Cons. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

The lectures deal with post-romanticism, realism and mysticism on the French stage. Rostand, Brieux and Maeterlinck will be specially studied.

Old French, Miss Schenck. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

This course is primarily intended for undergraduate students who wish to acquire a reading knowledge of Old French. The most essential facts of Old French grammar will be summarized in introductory lectures and such texts as the following will be read: Extraits de la Chanson de Roland, Gaston Paris; Chrestomathie de l'Ancien Français, L. Constans (representative passages from texts composed between the ninth century and the middle of the fifteenth). Aucassin et Nicolette, edited by H. Suchier; Le Garçon et l'Aveugle, edited by M. Roques.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

Thirteen hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of French, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to four or five hours a week may be elected by graduate students. Graduate students interested in the study of literature will also find it to their advantage to attend the lectures on French literature two hours a week throughout the two years of the major course in French.

There are offered each year three distinct graduate courses in French, two in literature and one in language, and these courses are varied so that they may be followed by graduate students throughout three years, and cover the work required of students who offer French language or literature as a major or minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Literature.

Seminary in French Literature, Dr. Schinz.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary is Montaigne. Various problems connected with his life, his relations to Protestantism and to the political problems of his time, the question of the authorship of the Discours sur la servitude volontaire, the origin and sources of the essays, Montaigne and the Renaissance, and Montaigne and Plutarch are discussed. A special study is made of Montaigne's style and of the Apologie de Raymond de Sebonde.

In 1913-14 Rousseau is the subject of the seminary. In the first semester, after a discussion of his life, a study is made of the Confessions, Réveries, and Correspondance. Special attention is paid to the controversy Confessions versus Mémoires d'Épinay, transformed by the discoveries of Mrs. MacDonald. The questions of Rousseau's insanity and suicide are discussed. The second semester is devoted chiefly to the study of Texte's Jean Jacques Rousseau et le cosmopolitisme littéraire. The Lettre à d'Alembert and the Nouvelle Héloïse are studied especially in connection with this theory.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be Victor Hugo. The seminary will deal with his lyrical works. The following subjects are treated: Victor Hugo as a Royalist and Catholic poet; his indebtedness to Chateaubriand, Sainte-Beuve, Nodier and other contemporaries; his attitude towards Napoleon I., the Republic of 1848 and Napoleon III.; and his social, political and religious ideas in the period of his maturity and of his old age.

Seminary in French Language and Literature, Mr. Cons.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 a study is made of Rabelais. The investigations of Abel Lefranc on Rabelais are brought into connection with the "Conteurs" and also with such writers as Bernard Palissy and Ambrose Paré.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary is Molière. The subjects studied are: French Comedy before Molière; Molière's comedies, their Latin, Italian, and French sources; his style and method of composition; the nature of his "comique," his philosophy and his morality.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be Romanticism and Realism in the 19th century as illustrated by Chateaubriand, Sénancourt, Benjamin Constant, De Maistre, Lamennais, Fourier, Saint-Simon, and others; Romanticism of Victor Hugo; a careful study of Les Misérables; philosophical and historical realism (Renan, Taine).

In 1915-16 the subject of the seminary will be La 'Matière de Bretagne' et l'épopée courtoise. The course includes a careful study of the Lais of Marie de France, the poems referring to Tristan, and the Romans of Chrétien de Troie; these are studied in connection with the question of their origin in Celtic countries and their later development in France. The different theories that have been proposed as to their origin and evolution are examined and discussed and an attempt is made to determine their comparative value.

The course in Old French Philology is intended for students in their first year of graduate study; that in Old Provençal and the Old French Seminary for students in their second or third year of graduate study; the Journal Club may be attended by students in their first, second, or third year of graduate study. The course in Old French Readings is designed to be taken in connection with the Old French seminary.

Language.

Old French Philology, Dr. Holbrook. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course consists of lectures on the phonology, morphology, and syntax of Old French, and is designed not only for students whose main pursuit is Romance philology, but also for those who wish to acquire more precise knowledge of the French elements in Middle English. The main principles of Historical Grammar are studied in the Extraits de la Chanson de Roland, published by Gaston Paris, and in various texts in L. Constans's Chrestomathie. Other books used are Passy's Sounds of the French language, Grandgent's Introduction to Vulgar Latin, Nyrop's Grammaire Historique de l'Ancien Français, and Schwan-Behrens's Grammaire de l'Ancien Français.

Old French Readings, Dr. Holbrook. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Various typical Old French masterpieces are studied from a scientific standpoint. The essential facts of Old French grammar are reviewed and rare or difficult locutions are minutely examined for the sake of precise interpretations; dialectal features are considered and attention is given to the relation of manuscripts to printed texts. In addition to the works named below, students are expected to supply themselves with Gaston Paris's Littérature française au moyen âge.

The following courses may be arranged to suit the needs of students in any particular year:

In 1912-13 this course was devoted chiefly to study of the following texts: Maistre Pierre Pathelin and Villon.

In 1913-14 attention will be given mainly to epic and historical works: Wace, Le pèlerinage de Charlemagne, Villehardouin, Joinville, and other chroniclers.

In 1914-15 the texts studied will be Marie de France (Lais), Aucassin et Nicolette and the Yvain or Cligès of Chrestien de Troyes.

Old French Seminary, Dr. Holbrook. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The work of the seminary is on the most important Old French dialects. Texts in Norman, Picard, Francian and Franco-Provençal are studied with reference to their dialectal features in order that the student may acquire the power to determine approximately the origin of other texts in which the same dialectal features occur.

Old Provençal, Dr. Holbrook. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course is intended for students of Old French who wish to begin the study of the language and literature of the Troubadours. The books required are Grandgent's Outline of the Phonology and Morphology of Old Provençal (Boston, 1905) and Appel's Provenzalische Chrestomathie (latest edition).

Romance Languages Journal Club, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook, Mr. Cons. One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Italian.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate Professor of French Philology and Italian.

The instruction offered in Italian covers nine hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes seven hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; and two hours a week of graduate work.

A combination of five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Italian with five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Spanish forms a major course and may be taken with any other language or with comparative literature to form a group. Any of the undergraduate courses in Italian may be taken as free elective courses.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Major
Course.

Italian, Dr. Holbrook.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

This course is designed to prepare beginners for the study of Italian literature, as well as for the practical use of the language. Reading is taken up from the start, a careful pronunciation is insisted upon, and the essentials of the grammar are taught by a critical observation of the texts used and by graded exercises in the rendering of English into Italian. The books used are the following: C. H. Grandgent's Italian Grammar; Stories by Fogazzaro and Hecker's Il Piccolo Italiano; Giuseppe Finzi's Petrarca (1900); De Marchi's Storie; selections from the verse and prose of Renato Fucini; selections from Italian poets in the Oxford Book of Italian Verse (thirteenth to nineteenth centuries), with introductory readings in Dante.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Italian Classical Literature, Dr. Holbrook.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work in this course is to study selections in verse and prose from Ariosto and Tasso, then all the Inferno and parts of the Purgatorio and Paradiso. For Ariosto and Tasso the study of difficult modern prose and poetry may be substituted, with exercises in writing and speaking.

Group: Italian and Spanish with any language, or with comparative literature or Italian with History of Art.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Two hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of Italian accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries.

Graduate Courses.

Italian Philology, Dr. Holbrook.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course presupposes a knowledge of Old French Philology and the equivalent of the minor and major courses in Italian offered at Bryn Mawr College. The work is founded upon the treatise entitled Die Italienische Sprache by D'Ovidio and Meyer Lübke in Gröber's Grundriss (Strassburg, 1906). Various passages from thirteenth and fourteenth century authors are examined critically from a phonological and morphological point of view.

Old Italian Readings, Dr. Holbrook.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Students should provide themselves with the first volume of D'Ancona and Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana (Florence, 1904).

Romance Languages Journal Club, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook, Mr. Cons.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Spanish.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Fonger DeHaan, Professor of Spanish.

The instruction offered in Spanish covers eighteen hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; two hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Spanish; and six hours a week of graduate work.

A combination of five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Spanish with five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Italian forms a major course, and may be taken with any other language to form a group. Students may thus elect ten hours of Spanish, or five hours of Spanish and five hours of Italian to form a major course.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Major Course.

Spanish, Dr. DeHaan.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give beginners a good knowledge of modern Spanish, and to ground them thoroughly in the essentials of the grammar. As a preparation for understanding the spoken language, two half-hours a week during the second semester are devoted to dictation. The books studied are the following (taken up in the order indicated): DeHaan's Cuentos Modernos; Pérez Nieva, Tomás el torrero (Madrid, Colección Kloug); DeHaan's Selected Works of G. A. Bequer; Hartzenbusch, Los Amantes de Teruel (Obras, vol. III.); Zorrilla, Granada (Madrid, 1895, 2 vols.).

Private reading: Palacio Valdés, José; Galdós, Marianela.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures in Spanish on Spanish Literary History of the Nineteenth Century, Dr. DeHaan. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Spanish Composition, Dr. DeHaan.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Critical Reading in Spanish, Dr. DeHaan.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Private reading supplementing the lectures on literary history comprises representative works in the various branches of literature.

Group: Spanish, or Italian and Spanish with any language, or with comparative literature or Spanish with History of Art.

POST-MAJOR COURSE.

The post-major course is designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect this course.

Post-Major Course.

Advanced Spanish, Dr. DeHaan. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The course consists of readings of classical, pre-classical and modern literature, translation of English prose into Spanish, and the writing of compositions in Spanish. Some time is devoted to the study of the history of Spanish literature.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Six hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of Spanish accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries, but the post-major course of the department amounting to two hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

Graduate Courses.

Spanish Philology, Dr. DeHaan. One hour a week throughout the year.

Old Spanish Readings, Dr. DeHaan. One hour a week throughout the year.

Lectures in Spanish on Spanish Literary History till the death of Calderon (1681), Dr. DeHaan. One hour a week throughout the year.

The lectures are supplemented by extensive private reading of important works.

Essays in Spanish, Dr. DeHaan. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Romance Languages Journal Club, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook, Mr. Cons. One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

COMPARATIVE LITERATURE.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Orië Latham Hatcher, Associate Professor of Comparative and Elizabethan Literatures; Dr. Alfred Horatio Upham, Associate Professor of English Literature, and Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Lecturer in Comparative Literature and in History of Modern Art.

The instruction offered in comparative literature covers fourteen hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work and four hours a week of graduate work. Any of the undergraduate courses may be taken as free elective courses, but are open only to those students who have completed the two years' required course in English and possess a reading knowledge of one language besides English. Students electing comparative literature as a major subject must possess a reading knowledge of Latin and of one modern language at the beginning of the first year course, and a reading knowledge of Latin and of two modern languages before entering on the work of the second year. The study of either Italian or Spanish is recommended to students intending to elect comparative literature as a group and should be begun as early as possible after entering college.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

Major
Course.

Renaissance Lyrics, Dr. Hatcher. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The course is concerned with the rise of the modern literary lyric among the Troubadours and the spread of Provençal and other early Romance lyric forms in Italy, France, Germany, Spain, and England. A reading knowledge of Latin and of one modern language is required.

Italian Models in Renaissance Literature, Miss King.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The study of the literature of the Italian Renaissance begins with an examination of its ideals of education and character, and, after a short excursus on the influence of the other arts upon literature between 1300 and 1600, indicates the chief differences which appeared as the movement reached its culmination in France and England, and the standards of taste and ideals of life which it finally imposed. In 1913-14 the work will deal especially with the novella and the comedy.

The course on the Faust Legend given by Dr. Jessen, two hours a week as part of the major course in German, may be substituted for this course if desired.

SECOND YEAR.

The Pastoral, Dr. Hatcher. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The lectures and reading involve recognition of the large debt of the moderns to the classical pastoralists, but are chiefly devoted to the rise and decadence of the pastoral mode in the Romance literature and in English as expressed in eclogue, pastoral, lyric, romance, and drama. A reading knowledge of Latin and of two modern languages is required.

Victorian Poets: Their Continental Sources, Miss King.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

This course may be taken as a free elective and will be given in 1914-15 and thereafter in the minor year of the group.

The Continental Developments of Romanticism in the Nineteenth Century, Miss King.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

The course deals with the rise and growth of the ideals of revolution in continental literature from the birth of Byron to the death of Swinburne.

Group: Comparative Literature with English, or with German, or with French, or with Italian, or with Spanish, or with Italian and Spanish.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The seminary in comparative literature changes its subject of study from year to year through a cycle of three years. It may be taken by graduate students of English in connection with the seminary in Elizabethan literature or may be elected separately. The courses in literary criticism extend through two years, but may be elected separately. Students intending to do special work in comparative literature are advised to begin the study of Italian or Spanish and are required to have a reading knowledge of both languages if taking comparative literature as a major subject. Graduate Courses.

Seminary in Comparative Literature, Dr. Hatcher.

Two hours a week throughout the year

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 Renaissance comedy, chiefly in the sixteenth century, is studied. Some preliminary consideration is given to mediæval contributions to Renaissance comedy, but Ariosto's revival of classical comedy is taken as the special starting point, and the development of literary comedy traced through other Italian plays and through the French, Spanish and English to that of the earlier Jacobean dramatists. The various types of comedy are analysed and illustrated in the reading required. Pre-requisite for the course, French and either Italian or Spanish.

In 1913-14 the seminary will undertake the study of Renaissance fiction on the continent as related to Elizabethan fiction and drama, the study of fiction being here practically restricted to that of the novella or short prose tale. Boccaccio, Cinthio, Bandello, Margaret of Navarre, Desperiers, Belleforrest, Painter, Pettio, Whetstone, etc., are among the novelists studied. Pre-requisite for the course, French and either Spanish or Italian.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be the lyric poetry of the late Renaissance. The Italian lyrics of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries are studied with reference both to their Provençal and early Italian origins, and to their bearing upon later French and English lyrics. Considerable stress is laid upon the study of verse forms and the development of theories of versification. The first semester is given to reading of the literature involved and reviews of the results of critical investigations in the field. In the second semester each student devotes her time to some individual topic. Students desiring to take this course must consult the instructor as to linguistic equipment.

Modern Literary Criticism, Dr. Upham. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

A survey of the important phases of literary criticism in Europe from the neo-classic period, through the development of romanticism, to the present day. Inter-relations of England and the continent will be made prominent. This course will be similar in scope and method to the course in Literary Criticism through the Renaissance.

Literary Criticism through the Renaissance, Dr. Upham.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

A survey, from the graduate point of view, of the significant movements and documents in the history of European critical theory from Aristotle, through the activities of the Renaissance, to the consummation of the neo-classic code in the seventeenth century. The bearing of these upon English literature will be emphasised throughout. The lectures aim chiefly to indicate outline and relationships, the important feature of the course being the thorough study and frequent discussion of the material.

SEMITIC LANGUAGES AND BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages. The instruction offered in this department includes three hours a week of Oriental History, three hours a week of free elective courses in Biblical Literature, and five hours a week of graduate courses in Semitic Languages.

The college was particularly fortunate in securing in the year 1892 the library of the late M. Arthur Amiaud, of Paris. While M. Amiaud was especially eminent as an Assyriologist, he was also prominent as a general Semitic student. His library was the collection of an active scholar, and forms a working library for the student in every department of Semitic study. It is especially rich in the Hebrew, Syriac, and Assyrian languages, containing several works, indispensable to the student, which are now out of print. Another Semitic library containing many works on the Talmud and on Jewish literature was acquired in 1904. In 1907 Mr. Albert J. Edmunds presented to the college his library of 500 volumes on the history of religion. The contents of these libraries, together with the books already owned by the college and those easily accessible in neighboring libraries, form an exceptionally good collection of material for the specialist in Semitic languages. A good working collection of cuneiform tablets is under the control of the department, and affords an excellent opportunity for students of Assyrian to become familiar with original documents.

MINOR COURSE.

(Given in each year.)

Oriental History, Dr. Barton.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective or may be substituted for part of the second year of required science, or part of the minor course in ancient history.)

This course treats in broad outlines the history and civilisation of the classical orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environment upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phœnicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabæans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors; of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilisation of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphates, and of Mohammedan civilisation. The lectures are illustrated by archaeological specimens and by photographs. Either semester may be elected separately.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

The courses in Biblical Literature are intended primarily for undergraduate students, but may be elected by graduate students also.

Elective
Courses.*

History of the New Testament Canon, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

This course, which alternates with the course on the Old Testament Canon, consists of a study of the New Testament.

The History of Christian Doctrine, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

In the first semester Christianity is studied as presented by its Founder and by the apostles, and in the second semester the history of Christian doctrine from 100 A. D. to the present time is briefly reviewed, and problems presented by modern thought are touched upon.

History of the Old Testament Canon, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15 and again in 1916-17.)

In this course the history of the composition and collection of the books of the Old Testament is studied. The instruction is given in lectures, and readings are assigned in the Old Testament itself and in modern literature concerning it.

New Testament Biography, Dr. Barton. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15 and again in 1916-17.)

The first semester of this course is devoted to a careful study of the life and teaching of Christ; the second semester to the life and teaching of St. Paul. The instruction is given in lectures, and the Gospels and Epistles are read together with the most helpful of the modern works on these topics. The course is illustrated by photographs of the most important places connected with the lives of Christ and St. Paul.

Biblical Geography and Archæology, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given when the time of the department permits.)

The course begins with a survey of the physical features of Palestine and an estimate of their effect upon its civilisation. The succession of races dominant in Palestine since the beginning of history is then reviewed, after which the positions of the places important in the Biblical narrative are carefully noted. The principal Biblical narratives are studied in connection with the geography of the country and the archaeological remains of the period. In this way the narratives of the Patriarchs, Kings, Prophets, and Apostles, as well as the life of Christ, are illustrated. The course is illustrated by photographs. Use is made throughout the course of the publications of the Palestine Exploration Fund, and of other modern explorers.

New Testament Greek, Dr. Barton. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given when the time of the department permits.)

This course presupposes a knowledge of classical Greek. After some introductory lectures on the formation and peculiarities of the New Testament Greek, one hour a week during the first semester is devoted to lectures on the history of the New Testament text, both in its written and in its printed form, the helps extant for emending it, and the method of using them. The remainder of the time is devoted to the interpretation of the New Testament Epistles, especially those of Paul. The students are expected to read privately during the first semester the text of one of the Gospels, and during the second, either the Acts of the Apostles, the Apocalypse, or the Epistle to the Hebrews.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

Seminary work and graduate lectures amounting to at least five hours a week are offered each year to graduate students of Semitic languages and Biblical Literature accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the elective courses of the department amounting to three hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

The graduate courses in Semitic languages are varied from year to year, as indicated below, so that they may be pursued by a student for four successive years. Those who offer Semitic languages as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to spend in Semitic work half their time for at least three years.

The work of the department is so arranged that students may specialise in Hebrew or Assyrian. Students who offer Hebrew or Assyrian as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must possess a knowledge of the grammatical forms of five Semitic languages and in this enumeration Syriac and Jewish Aramaic may not count as separate languages. Students that offer Semitic languages as the minor subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must show that they have a knowledge of three Semitic languages.

The regular alternation of courses is indicated below and at least five hours a week will be given in each year, the courses being selected according to the needs of the graduate students. Graduate students may enter in any year of the four years' course, as there will be afforded each year an opportunity for graduate students to begin Hebrew.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

The following courses are offered in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15:

Semitic Seminary, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Hebrew or Assyrian, the languages that may be offered as major subjects for the doctor's degree. The time may be devoted to one of these languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Assyrian the subject may be chosen from one of the following; the oldest Babylonian inscriptions, temple archives of Telloh, Sumerian hymns, the code of Hammurabi, or mythological poetry. In Hebrew, one of the following subjects may be selected: Job, the Psalter, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ecclesiastes and the Song of Songs, or Hebrew Epigraphy. In the Hebrew seminary the students are trained in textual criticism through the use of the ancient versions.

Seminary in Aramaic and Arabic, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Arabic or Aramaic, the languages that may be offered as minor subjects for the doctor's degree. The time may be given to one of the languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Arabic the subject may be chosen from one of the following: the Coran, pre-Islamic poetry, Arabic geographers, or South Arabic inscriptions. In Aramaic, one of the following subjects may be selected: a comparative study of the Syriac Versions of the Gospels, the Syriac Version of one of the Old Testament books, the writings of Gregory Bar Hebraeus, or of Efraem, the Targum on one of the Old Testament books, the Talmud, or Aramaic inscriptions.

Hebrew Literature, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to a study of the Prophets, the Pentateuch, and the historical books of the Old Testament.

Ethiopic, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar and Chrestomathia of Praetorius and Dillmann are used, and in the later part of the course selections are read from the book of Enoch.

Comparative Semitic Grammar, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar of Brockelmann is used as a basis with comparison from the Egyptian and other Hamitic languages.

Egyptian, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The elements of Egyptian and Coptic grammar are taught, and some texts in each language interpreted.

The following courses are offered in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16:

Semitic Seminary, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is continued as given in 1912-13.

Elementary Semitic Languages, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course may be devoted to the elements of Hebrew, or of Aramaic (Syriac and Jewish Aramaic), or Assyrian, or Arabic according to the needs of the students. The time may, if necessary, be divided between two of these languages.

Hebrew, The Prophets, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The text of one or more of the Prophets is critically interpreted, and Hebrew syntax and composition are studied.

Seminary in New Testament Greek, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

A thorough study is made of some book of the New Testament, and the students are guided in critical studies, both textual and historical.

History.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Mr. Clarence H. Haring, Associate in History, Dr. William Roy Smith, Associate Professor of History, Mr. Frederick Aldrich

Cleveland,* Lecturer in History, Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Semitic Languages and Biblical Literature, Dr. James Fulton Ferguson, Associate in Latin and Ancient History, and Miss Amy Maud Burt, Lecturer in Modern History.

The instruction offered in history covers forty-three hours of lectures a week; it includes twenty hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work in modern history and ten hours a week of major and minor work in ancient history; six hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and undergraduates that have completed the major course in history, and seven hours a week of graduate work.

The object of the major course in history is three-fold. Primarily, history is taught for its own sake as a record of the development of humanity; secondarily, as a necessary accompaniment to the study of political institutions; and finally, as a framework for other forms of research, linguistic, religious, or archæological. The courses are planned to develop in the students a readier historical sense, and a consciousness of historical growth, rather than to give them a mere outline of general history. The instruction consists mainly of lectures, which are designed to create interest in the broad lines of historical development; the lectures are accompanied by constant references for private reading, to stimulate accuracy in detail and independence in judgment.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

Modern History.

(Given in each year.)

Modern History.

Major Course.

History of Europe from 1815 to 1912, Mr. Haring and Mr. Cleveland.*

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and either semester may be elected separately. The class will be divided alphabetically into two sections, A and B. Mr. Haring will lecture to Section A in the first semester and to Section B in the second semester. Mr. Cleveland will lecture to Section B in the first semester and to Section A in the second semester.)

The course deals with the political and social transformation of Europe in the nineteenth century. It opens with an outline of the career of Napoleon. The lectures trace the reaction against legitimism and Metternichism, and the growth of liberal ideas and constitutional government. In the second semester special attention is paid to the union of Italy and to the foundation of the German Empire. Attention is also given to questions of the near and far East and to problems of colonial expansion.

History of the Reformation, Dr. Smith. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester but must be elected in both semesters in order to count as part of the minor course in history. The course in History of England since 1066 may be substituted for this course, but must also be elected in both semesters to count as part of the minor course in history.)

The course begins with a brief survey of the Middle Ages, special emphasis being placed upon the organisation of the Church, the rise and fall of the Papacy, the work of the Councils of Pisa, Constance, and Basel, and the pre-Lutheran reform movement. A more detailed account of the growth of Protestantism and the counter measures follows; the war in the Netherlands, the religious and political struggles in France, and the Thirty Years' War are discussed. The course closes with the treaty of Westphalia in 1648.

History of England since 1066, Mr. Cleveland.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester but must be elected in both semesters in order to count as part of the minor course in history. The course in the History of the Reformation may be substituted for this course but must also be elected in both semesters in order to count as part of the minor course in history.)

The objects of this course are to review the principal events in English history since the Norman conquest and also to explain modern England. The treatment is therefore both chronological and topical, the topics discussed being either of contemporary importance or explanatory of present political history. Up to 1485 the lectures merely summarise facts and emphasise changes; after 1485 the treatment is more detailed and special subjects such as the development of the cabinet system, the American Revolution from the English point of view, the industrial revolution, parliamentary reform, and recent social legislation are discussed.

SECOND YEAR.

Modern History.

(Given in each year.)

Europe in the Age of the Renaissance, Mr. Haring.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under the above conditions it may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester, but students taking history as a group must elect it in both semesters in order to count it as part of the major course. The course on the French Revolution and Napoleon may be substituted for this course.)

The course is intended to trace the development of those forces in learning and religion, in political and social life, which combined to give significance to this period. The rise of Italian Humanism and its reflection in Northern Europe, the broadening of geographical knowledge and the commercial rivalries which ensued, the national expansion of France, Spain, England, and the beginnings of religious reform are dealt with.

The French Revolution and Napoleon, Mr. Cleveland.*

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under the above conditions it may be taken as a free elective, and may be entered in the second semester, but students taking history as a group must elect it in both semesters in order to count it as part of the major course. The course on Europe in the Age of the Renaissance may be substituted for this course.)

This course treats of the history of France and of Europe from 1789 to 1815, by means of lectures, assigned readings, and reports. The period is considered as an organic whole and the career of Napoleon is regarded as that of a child of the Revolution who in his later years abuses what has made him. The form of the course is chiefly narrative and an effort is made to view the Revolution in its wider aspects as, in a sense, a part of the history of all modern states. The increasing mass of secondary material is appraised and some printed documentary material is used for reports and references.

History of the United States from 1865 to 1913, Dr. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under the above conditions it may be taken as a free elective, and may be entered in the second semester, but students taking history as a group must elect it in both semesters in order to count it as part of the major course. The course on British Imperialism may be substituted for this course.)

The aim of this course is to present the historical background necessary to enable students to discuss intelligently the more important social, industrial, political, and diplomatic problems of the present day. They will also be taught by means of required reading and reports how to use memoirs, letters, magazines, newspapers, and other contemporary historical sources.

British Imperialism, Dr. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under the above conditions it may be taken as a free elective, and may be entered in the second semester, but students taking history as a group must elect it in both semesters in order to count it as part of the major course. The course on the History of the United States from 1865 to 1912 may be substituted for this course.)

This course deals with the external history of the English people: the sea-rovers of the sixteenth century; the beginnings of American colonisation; the contrast between the old colonial system and the new; the history of Canada, Australasia, South Africa, India, Egypt and other colonies and dependencies; the new imperialism of Beaconsfield and Chamberlain; the present position of England as a world power.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

Ancient History.

(Given in each year.)

Ancient History.

Major Course

Oriental History, Dr. Barton.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester but must be elected in both semesters in order to count as part of the minor course in Ancient History.)

This course treats in broad outlines the history of the civilisation of the Classical Orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environment upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phoenicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabæans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors: of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilisation of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphates, and of Mohammedan civilisation. The lectures are illustrated by archaeological specimens and by photographs. Either semester may be elected separately.

Outline Survey of Classical History, Dr. Ferguson.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester but must be elected in both semesters in order to count as part of the minor course in Ancient History.)

The object of this course is to trace the growth of European civilisation from its beginnings to the reign of Charlemagne in order to give a connected idea of the Græco-Roman civilisation. It is intended as an introductory course to further study in classical or mediæval history. The lectures will be supplemented by reading in West's Ancient History and in larger histories. Oriental history will be given only in so far as it serves to explain the origin of this civilisation and will not duplicate in any way the course in Oriental History.

SECOND YEAR.

Ancient History.1st Semester.(Given in each year.)

Fifth Century Athens, Dr. Ferguson.

Three hours a week.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under the above conditions it may be taken as a free elective, but students taking Ancient History as a group must elect also the course in the First Century of the Roman Empire in order to count it as part of the major course.)

This remarkable period in Greek History will be studied minutely, especially the Age of Pericles. Source study, and comparison and evaluation of modern accounts will be required from the students.

Lectures on Roman Life, Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester, but students taking Ancient History as a group must elect the course in both semesters in order to count it as part of the major course.)

An attempt is made to describe briefly Roman social and economic conditions, as well as the development of religious beliefs and institutions.

The Historians of Rome, Dr. Ferguson.

One hour a week.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester, but students taking Ancient History as a group must elect the course in both semesters in order to count it as part of the major course.)

The object of the course is to train the student in the use of source material. The works of the leading ancient historians, Polybius, Livy, Cæsar, Paternulus, Tacitus, and Cassius Dio, are analyzed to discover their methods, their accuracy, and conception of history. The influence of rhetoric and biography on historical writing is studied, and some work in bibliography given. The lectures are supplemented by special reports on assigned topics.

2nd Semester.

The First Century of the Roman Empire, Dr. Ferguson.

Three hours a week.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under the above conditions it may be taken as a free elective, but students taking Ancient History as a group must elect also the course in Fifth Century Athens in order to count it as part of the major course.)

The course consists of a study of the political, institutional, and cultural history of the empire under the twelve Cæsars, with special reference to the Age of Augustus. The sources and their use by modern historians are studied minutely. Special subjects are assigned for independent investigation.

The Historians of Rome (continued), Dr. Ferguson. One hour a week.

Group: Modern History with Economics and Politics; Modern History with German, or with French, or with History of Art; Ancient History with Greek, or with Latin, or with Classical Archæology.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

American Constitutional History, from 1783, Dr. Smith.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

The lectures deal with the leading aspects of the political, constitutional, and economic history of the United States from the ratification of the constitution to the present time. The text-books used are MacDonald's Select Documents of the History of the United States and Select Statutes of United States History, but frequent additional references are given to the leading secondary authorities. To a limited extent use will be made of such documents as are available in the library, and special topics will be assigned for discussion and report.

England since 1714, Mr. Cleveland.* Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

This course is conducted by means of lectures, assigned readings, and written reports. Its purpose is rather to explain than to narrate. Therefore the treatment is topical as well as chronological, emphasis being laid upon those political, social, and constitutional changes which seem to have made modern England. Among the topics of discussion are the rise and fall of the Whig oligarchy, the evolution of the cabinet system, the rise of Methodism, the American Revolution as a constitutional question, England and the French Revolution, the industrial revolution, parliamentary reform, England and the Monroe doctrine, the repeal of the corn laws, Home Rule, and present-day Liberalism. This course was given by Miss Burt in the second semester of 1912-13.

England under the Stuarts, Mr. Haring. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The principal aspects of the narrative and constitutional history of England under the Stuarts will be studied in some detail. Use will be made of general histories, but the work of the students will, as far as possible, be done from State papers, published correspondence, etc. The course will be conducted by lectures, discussions, and oral reports from members of the class.

England under the Tudors, Mr. Haring. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

This course is conducted on the same general plan as the preceding course.

American Constitutional History to 1783, Dr. Smith.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The text-books used in the course are MacDonald's Select Charters of American History and Select Documents of the History of the United States. The members of the class are also systematically referred, not only to the general authorities, but also to colonial charters and constitutions, the records of the colonial governments as far as they are available, the journals of Congress, and other documentary materials.

*See footnote page 134.

The Roman Empire in the Third and Fourth Centuries, Dr. Ferguson. AncientHistory.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

In this course a study is made of the forces which led to the fall of the Western Empire. Economic decay, the caste system, religion, the growth of absolutism, are subjects which will be especially studied. Independent investigation of particular topics will be required.

The Hellenistic Age, Dr. Ferguson.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

This course consists of a study of the Greek world from Alexander to its conquest by Rome, special emphasis being laid on the commercial expansion, growth of national tendencies, intellectual awakening, and the effect on the Roman world. Independent investigation of special topics will be required from the students.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Two distinct seminary courses in English and European history and in American history are offered to graduate students in history in addition to a course in Historical Method and Bibliography and the direction of private reading and original research.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Seminary in English and European History, Mr. Haring.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the Reformation is the subject of the seminary.

In 1913-14 the work of the seminary will be on topics selected from the political history of continental Europe in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

In 1914-15 English institutions in the Tudor and Stuart periods will be studied.

Seminary in American History, Dr. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the American colonies in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are the subject of the seminary. The political, constitutional, and social problems of the colonies in the seventeenth century are studied in the first semester. In the second semester, special stress is laid upon the development in the eighteenth century of the imperial administrative machinery and upon the ethnical distribution of population in the colonies.

In 1913-14 the revolution, the confederation, and the constitution will be the subjects of study. American history from 1776 to 1789 is discussed primarily from the local point of view as a step in the conflict between the seaboard aristocracy and the democracy of the frontier. The social and economic forces which led to the adoption of the Federal Constitution and the subsequent formation of national political parties are investigated.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary is slavery and the negro problem. After a preliminary survey of the history of slavery in the colonial period such topics as the slavery compromises of the constitution, the growth of slavery in the South, the abolition of the slave trade, the Missouri Compromise, the anti-Slavery movement, nullification, the Mexican War, the Wilmot Proviso, the compromise measures of 1850, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Dred Scott decision, the abolition of slavery, and the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments are discussed. Special attention is paid to the conflict between sectionalism and nationalism and to the connection between slavery, territorial expansion, and the development of constitutional theories.

Historical Method and Bibliography, Mr. Cleveland.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

The matters dealt with in this course are the field of history and its relations to allied subjects; the evolution of the scientific historical method; the outlines of historical bibliography; the great collections of printed material; archives and MSS.; the work and rank of leading historians of the modern school. A reading knowledge of French and German is required.

Historical Journal Club, Mr. Haring, Dr. Smith, Mr. Cleveland,* and Miss Burt.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors in the department of history and the graduate students who are pursuing advanced courses in history meet once a fortnight to make reports upon assigned topics, review recent articles and books, and present the results of special investigations.

Economics and Politics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Marion Parris Smith, Associate Professor of Economics and Politics, Mr. Sydney D. M. Hudson, Lecturer in Political Science, and Mr. Frederick Archibald Dewey, Lecturer in Economics and Sociology.

The instruction offered in this department covers twenty-five hours of lectures a week; it includes fourteen hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; seven hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates who have completed the major course in economics and politics; and six hours a week of graduate work.

The object of the undergraduate courses in economics and politics is three-fold: first, to trace the history of economic and political thought; second, to describe the development of economic and political institutions; and third, to consider the practical economic and political questions of the day. Instruction is given by lectures. The lectures are supplemented by private reading, by oral and written quizzes, by written theses and reports, and by such special class-room exercises as the different subjects require.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Introduction to Economics, Dr. M. P. Smith and Mr. Dewey.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Major
Course.

* See footnote, page 134.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and either semester may be elected separately. The class will be divided alphabetically into two sections, A and B. Dr. M. P. Smith will lecture to Section A in the first semester and to Section B in the second semester. Mr. Dewey will lecture to Section B in the first semester and to Section A in the second semester.)

The objects of this course are to introduce the students to the economic problems in the modern state with their necessary historical antecedents, and to train them to think clearly on economic subjects. The work of the year is divided into three parts: first, the nature and extent of supply, including a brief outline of economic geography; second, the nature and laws of demand, including an introduction to the theory of value and price; third, a brief résumé of the development of modern economic institutions including means and methods of production and exchange. The lectures are supplemented by readings from standard economic authors. Several short papers are required and oral and written quizzes are frequently held. Expeditions are arranged to visit industrial plants, factories, etc.

Problems in Politics, Mr. Hudson.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and either semester may be elected separately. The course in Sociology may be substituted for this course.)

The course is designed to give the student a knowledge of the vital problems of contemporary politics. The basis of the work will be a critical examination of the political organisation and practice of the United States with constant comparison with Great Britain, France, and the German Empire.

Among the topics treated are: the territorial and ethnic basis of the modern State with special reference to American race problems; the nature of constitutional government, the formation and evolution of modern constitutions, "flexible" and "rigid" constitutions; the fundamental principles embodied in modern democratic constitutions; the evolution of democracy during the last century, various types of democracy, the strong and weak points of democratic systems; the legislative, executive and judiciary, their organisation, powers and methods of operation with special attention to such questions as "the separation of the powers," presidential vs. parliamentary government, the freedom of debate in legislative bodies, the independence of the courts, proper popular control over the machinery of government; federal vs. centralised government, the adaptability of our federal system to present-day conditions; the constitutional protection of private rights, the fifth and fourteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States and the interpretation of these amendments, political parties, their development, organisation and methods; State and Municipal government in the United States; representative and direct government.

Sociology, Mr. Dewey.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and either semester may be elected separately. The course in Problems in Politics may be substituted for this course.)

Modern society is considered from the sociological standpoint. Evolution, the history of social institutions, the growth of social ideals, and the practical effect of these ideals on modern life are considered.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

History of Economic Thought, Dr. M. P. Smith.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied economics and politics at least five hours a week for one year. Under these conditions it may be taken as a free elective, and may be entered in the second semester.)

The object of this course is to give advanced students an historical introduction to modern economic thought as a basis for a critical study of modern economic problems. The successive changes in the theory of value and of distribution since the middle of the eighteenth century are studied with special reference, first, to the philosophical and speculative thought, and second, to the industrial institutions of the times.

The students will be expected to read critically portions of standard texts, including Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations, Ricardo's Principles of Political Economy and Taxation; Malthus's Principles of Population; Senior's Political Economy; J. S. Mill's Principles of Political Economy; Jevon's Political Economy; and selections from the writings of Marshall, Wicksteed, Böhm-Bawert, Wieser, J. B. Clark, Pantaleoni and others. Numerous short papers in connection with the reading, and one long report on some specially assigned subject are required.

Social Politics, Mr. Hudson.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied economics and politics at least five hours a week for one year. Under these conditions it may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester. The course in Industrial History may be substituted for this course.)

The course deals with the problem of the relations of organised society to the individual with respect to the functions of government and the proper limits of governmental interference. The questions treated will be dealt with from the political, economic and social points of view. During the first semester various types of individualistic and socialistic theories will be critically examined and the practice of modern democratic states with regard to governmental interference will be studied in order to determine and compare the various principles which may be deduced therefrom. The work of the second semester will deal with specific problems such as: the position of the family in modern society; various proposed methods of social reform, especially of aid to dependent and quasi-dependent classes; labour organisations and labour legislation; the growth and regulation of combinations of capital; public ownership vs. governmental control of public utilities; the guaranties of private rights under the constitution of the United States in their relation to social legislation.

Industrial History, Mr. Dewey.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied economics and politics at least five hours a week for one year. Under these conditions it may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester. The course in Social Politics may be substituted for this course.)

In the first semester the thickly populated nations of to-day are contrasted with their sparsely settled precursors of one hundred and fifty years ago. This and other essential points connected with the general rise of industry are followed by a special study of the United States. During the second semester the problems arising under an industrial régime are considered, together with the programs which purport to effect social reform. Socialism, Syndicalism, and other world-wide movements are described, though attention is centered on the United States.

Group: Economics and Politics with Modern History or with Philosophy, or with Philosophy and Psychology, or with Psychology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Methods of Social Research, Dr. M. P. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

The work of the first semester is an account of modern institutions for social research and social reform and a review of the most important investigations, bibliographical sources, and methods of research. Booth's Life and Labour in London, Rowntree's Poverty, the reports of the Bureau of Labour and Bailey's Modern Social Conditions are used as text-books. In the second semester American social problems are studied, using as a basis of investigation the United States Census. Special attention is paid to statistical method and students are assigned reports for each semester. The course is open only to those students who have attended the minor course in economics and politics.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

*Post-
Major
Courses.*

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Sociology and the Social Institutions, Dr. M. P. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

This course is designed to introduce the students to the problems of modern sociology. The first semester's work is a review of the literature of sociology. The students read selections from the works of Comte, Spencer, Giddings, Ratzenhofer, Small, and others. In the second semester the genesis and history of the social institutions are studied, the family, church, state, the institution of private property, corrective and preventive institutions, etc. The lectures are supplemented by written reports and specially assigned reading, and by written and oral quizzes.

Economic and Social Legislation in England and America since 1890, Dr. M. P. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The object of this course is to review recent legislation in England and America affecting hours and wages of labour, working men's insurance and employer's liability, combinations of capital, public sanitation, housing, hygiene, and other economic and social problems. In the first semester English, and in the second semester, American legislation is studied. Each student is assigned special topics for research in order to familiarise her with methods of handling original sources and contemporaneous material.

Methods of Social Research, Dr. M. P. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15 and again in 1916-17.)

The work of the first semester is an account of modern institutions for social research and social reform and a review of the most important investigations, bibliographical sources, and methods of research. Booth's Life and Labour in London, Rowntree's Poverty, the reports of the Bureau of Labour and Bailey's Modern Social Conditions are used as text-books. In the second semester American social problems are studied, using as a basis of investigation the United States Census. Special attention is paid to statistical methods and students are assigned reports for each semester. This course was given as a free elective course in 1912-13.

Modern Democracy, Mr. Hudson.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

The first semester is devoted to an examination of the nature of democracy, types of democratic institutions, the development of the modern democratic movement, and the tendencies of democratic legislation. Democratic institutions are analysed in order to show the principles underlying them, and the opinions of publicists and statesmen with regard to democracy are discussed critically. In the second semester specific problems of democratic organisation and practice, especially those of contemporary American interest are studied.

American Constitutional Law, Mr. Hudson.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

In this course the leading principles of the American constitutional system will be examined. The course will deal principally with the federal constitution and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. Some attention will be given, however, to state constitutions and the decisions of state courts. Stress will be laid upon decisions relating to social and economic questions.

Elements of Statistics, Mr. Dewey. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

Proper methods of obtaining and handling practical statistics, such as vital, health, trade statistics, working men's budgets, etc., are developed. The course involves a large amount of arithmetic and some algebra.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

Six hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of economics and politics accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research, and the courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more consecutive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to five hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

Economic Seminary, Dr. M. P. Smith. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary is a critical study of modern theories of value. The works of Ehrenfels, Meinong and Urban are studied and criticised.

In 1913-14 the subject of the seminary will be the problems of distribution and the agencies in modern social life that affect the distribution of wealth. Special attention will be paid to the study of the minimum wage, the various plans for controlling large scale production, modern land systems, etc.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be a critical study of modern theories of value in Germany, England, and America.

Political Seminary, Mr. Hudson. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The methods of instruction in the seminary are designed to guide advanced students in special research work along the lines indicated by the titles of the courses. Some lectures are given but the main attention is devoted to the presentation and criticism of the results of studies made by the students themselves.

In 1912-13 Private Rights under the Constitution of the United States is the subject of the seminary. Attention is devoted both to the content of the rights protected and to the means through which the protection is effected. In this latter connection, the origin of the power of the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of the acts of Congress and the State Legislatures; the principles which have guided the Court in the use of the power, and the criticisms which have been advanced with regard to the action of the Court are treated. The investigation of the content of constitutionally protected private rights is concerned chiefly with a study of cases dealing with combinations of labor and capital; social legislation, particularly government aid to dependent and semi-dependent classes; the control of public utilities; limitations upon the taxing power; class discriminations; various modes of administrative procedure.

In 1913-14 a study will be made of the origin and content of the political thought expressed in the Constitution of the United States. American political ideas of the constitution-making period will be considered in relation to their colonial and European sources.

Chief attention, however, will be devoted to the debates in the Convention of 1787, the discussion of the constitution in connection with the state-ratifying conventions, and the course of political thought during the period of federalist supremacy under the new government. An attempt will be made to estimate such relatively permanent political principles as may be discovered with respect to the applicability to present problems.

In 1914-15 the distribution of legislative power between the Central Government and the States will be investigated as a basis for a comparison of federal and centralized government. The American federal system will be compared with the centralized government of Great Britain and the federal systems of Australia, Canada and British South Africa.

Economic Journal Club, Dr. M. P. Smith, Mr. Hudson, and Mr. Dewey.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment, and criticism.

Philosophy.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Professor of Philosophy, Dr. Grace Mead Andrus de Laguna, Associate in Philosophy, Miss Marion Reilly, Dean of the College and Reader in Philosophy, and Mr. Donald Fisher, Lecturer in Philosophy.

The instruction offered in this department covers nineteen hours of lectures a week: it includes a required course of three hours a week; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; and six hours a week of graduate work.

A course in philosophy, three hours a week throughout one year, and a course in psychology, two hours a week throughout one year, are required of all candidates for a degree.

The major course in philosophy presupposes as much information as is contained in the required course, and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, Latin, English, economics and politics, psychology, mathematics, or physics.

A combination of three or two hours a week for two years of the minor or major courses in philosophy with two or three hours a week for two years of the minor or major courses in psychology, making up a course of five hours a week for two years, forms a major course and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, English, economics and politics, mathematics and physics. The minor or major course in philosophy amounting to five hours a week for one year may be elected as an alternative for the second year of required science.

Required Course. Introduction to Philosophy, Dr. T. de Laguna, Dr. G. de Laguna and Mr. Fisher. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

(The class will be divided into three sections and each section is assigned a different instructor in each semester.)

The course consists of discussions of certain fundamental problems of metaphysics and the theory of knowledge based as far as possible upon recent philosophical literature. Every effort will be made to foster independence and sincerity of thought, rather than to impress upon the students any system of philosophical dogmas.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Major Course.

1st Semester.

Philosophical Problems, Dr. T. de Laguna. Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in philosophy. May be taken as a free elective.)

The discussions in this course are devoted mainly to problems concerning the existence and nature of material substances, the relation between mind and body, and the sources and limits of human knowledge.

Descartes and Hume, Mr. Fisher. Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in philosophy. May be taken as a free elective.)

2nd Semester.

Modern Philosophical Theories, Mr. Fisher. Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in philosophy. May be taken as a free elective.)

This course includes a discussion of such doctrines as pragmatism, idealism, neo-realism, etc.

Elementary Logic, Dr. T. de Laguna. Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in philosophy. May be taken as a free elective.)

An introduction to deductive and inductive logic, including the theories of definition and classification, the transformation of judgments, the canons of the syllogism, the formation of concepts, the general methods of observation and experiment, analogy, and the use of hypotheses.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Plato and Aristotle, Mr. Fisher. Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken five hours a week for a year of minor philosophy or psychology, including at least two hours a week for a year of philosophy.)

The course is a study of the two principal Greek systems, based upon the reading (in translation) of selected dialogues and treatises.

Philosophy in the Nineteenth Century: German Idealism, Dr. T. de Laguna. Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken five hours a week for a year of minor philosophy or psychology, including at least two hours a week for a year of philosophy.)

The course is introduced by a series of lectures upon the philosophy of Kant. The post-Kantian systems occupy the greater part of the semester.

2nd Semester.

James and Bergson, Dr. T. de Laguna.

Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken five hours a week for a year of minor philosophy or psychology, including at least two hours a week for a year of philosophy.)

The recent anti-intellectualist movement will be critically studied in the works of two of its leaders. Special attention will be given to James's A Pluralistic Universe and Bergson's Creative Evolution.

In 1914-15 and thereafter this course will be replaced by a course in elementary ethics.

Comte, Mill and Spencer, Mr. Fisher.

Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken five hours a week for a year of minor philosophy or psychology, including at least two hours a week for a year of philosophy.)

Group: Philosophy with Greek, or with Latin, or with English, or with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics; Philosophy and Psychology with Greek or with English or with Economics and Politics or with Mathematics, or with Physics.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Theory of Pragmatism, Dr. T. de Laguna.

*One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)Free
Elective
Course.*

A brief introduction gives a sketch of the Darwinian theory of evolution and of its application to functional psychology. The greater part of the second semester is devoted to class discussion of Professor James's book on Pragmatism.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Six hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of philosophy accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research, and the courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more successive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library.

*Graduate
Courses*

Ethical Seminary, Dr. T. de Laguna.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

The subject of the seminary is either a study of one of the chief problems of ethics or metaphysics or a critical examination of some important movement of thought.

In 1912-13 Hume and his contemporaries are studied. A brief preliminary survey is made of the course of English ethical thought from Hobbes to Shaftesbury. This is followed by a more careful examination of selected writings of Mandeville, Butler, and Hutcheson, with a view to tracing their probable influence upon Hume. Finally, the principal task of the year is a comparative study of the ethical doctrines of Hume's Treatise on Human Nature and Enquiry into the Principles of Morals, with incidental reference to Hartley and Adam Smith.

In 1913-14 the subject will be English evolutionary ethics, as exemplified in the writings of Darwin, Clifford, Spencer, Stephen, Alexander, and Hobhouse, and as criticised by Green, Sorley, Huxley, and Pringle-Pattison. Special attention will be given to the problem of determining the nature and limitations of the genetic method as applied in ethical research.

In 1914-15 the subject will be recent French ethics, Durkheim, Levy-Brühl, Fouillée, Rauh, Belot, and Paulhan.

Metaphysical Seminary, Dr. G. de Laguna.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The subject of the seminary is usually an examination of one of the more important metaphysical theories of recent times. The chief object of the inquiry is to indicate the fundamental postulates and tacit agreements of contemporary philosophical thought.

In 1912-13 the subject is English empiricism. Special attention is paid to its connections with associationism, and to the development of the theory of scientific method.

In 1913-14 the subject will be inductive and genetic logic. The theories of Sigwart, Wundt, Bradley, Bosanquet, Dewey, and Baldwin will be the basis of study.

In 1914-15 the subject of the seminary will be contemporary realism, special attention being given to the various phases of the moment in England and in this country. Its historical sources, and its relations to subjective idealism as well as to absolute idealism and pragmatism, will be carefully studied.

Modern Problems in Logic, Miss Reilly. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is conducted according to seminary method.

Theory of Values, Mr. Fisher. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

This course is based on a study of such writers as Meinong, Urban, and Münsterberg.

Philosophical Journal Club, Dr. T. de Laguna, Dr. G. de Laguna, and Mr. Fisher.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Psychology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology, Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Associate Professor of Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, Dr. Kate Gordon, Associate Professor in Education, and Dr. Gertrude Rand, Demonstrator in Psychology.

The instruction offered in this department covers twenty-three hours of lectures a week; it includes a required course of two hours a week; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; three hours a week of free elective work and eight hours a week of graduate work.

A course in psychology, two hours a week throughout one year, and a course in philosophy, three hours a week throughout one year, are required of all candidates for a degree.

The major course in psychology presupposes as much information as is obtained in the required course and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in English, economics and politics, philosophy, mathematics, physics or biology.

A combination of three or two hours a week for two years of the minor or major courses in psychology with two or three hours a week for two years of the minor or major courses in philosophy forms a major course and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, English, economics and politics, mathematics and physics.

The minor or major course in psychology amounting to five hours a week for one year may be elected as an alternative for the second year of required science.

Psychology, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The text-book used is Yerkes's Introduction to Psychology. In connection with the lectures there are experimental demonstrations.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

The Psychology of Instinct, Emotion, and the Will, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week.

Major
Course.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in psychology. May be taken as a free elective.)

Experimental Psychology, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand. Three hours a week.

Laboratory work, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand. Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in psychology. May be taken as a free elective.)

The lectures constitute an abbreviated course in systematic psychology in which the historical, critical and theoretical features of the subjects covered are discussed and the experimental features demonstrated. The laboratory work consists of individual practise in selected topics.

2nd Semester.

Psychology (Animal Psychology), Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in psychology. May be taken as a free elective.)

Although this course does not necessitate a special knowledge of biology, yet it appeals to students of that science since it deals with animal behaviour. Time is spent on an analysis of the methods and mental processes by which animals learn. This part of the course is of special interest to students of education because of the light thrown upon the problems of mental acquisition in man.

Experimental Psychology, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand. Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in psychology. May be taken as a free elective.)

Laboratory work, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand. Two hours a week.

The work of the course is continued as in the first semester.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Social Psychology; The Origin and the Nature of Magic, Religion, Ethics, Science and Art, Dr. Leuba. Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in psychology two hours a week throughout the year. Experimental psychology is not a prerequisite. May be taken as a free elective.)

Psychology has so far been concerned almost exclusively with individuals, human or animal, normal or abnormal. But a crowd, a clique, an industrial trust, do not behave as the individuals composing them would behave if they acted independently. For this reason the study of the laws of social interrelation and of social action has become a separate branch of psychology. The social institutions magic, religion, ethics, science, art, industry, and commerce are the most important forms which social life has assumed in the course of human development.

Educational Psychology, Dr. Gordon. Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in psychology five hours a week throughout the year. May be taken as a free elective.)

This course is intended not only for prospective teachers but for all students interested in psychology and in education. The problems of psychology which have a direct application to educational practise are considered theoretically and experimentally.

2nd Semester.

Social Psychology, The Psychology of Group Life, Dr. Leuba.

Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in psychology two hours a week throughout the year. May be taken as a free elective.)

Among the subjects studied during the second semester are imitation, prestige, loyalty, and conformity. As in the first semester the opposition of reason (the individuating force) to instinct and emotion (the integrating forces) is emphasised.

Educational Psychology, Dr. Gordon. Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in psychology five hours a week throughout the year. May be taken as a free elective.)

This course is a continuation of the course given in the first semester.

Group: Psychology with Philosophy, or with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Biology, or Philosophy and Psychology with Greek, or with Latin, or with English, or with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Advanced Experimental Psychology, Dr. Ferree.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course is intended for students who wish to be trained in research work. It is primarily for fourth year students in psychology, but in very special cases by permission of the instructor it may be taken by a student who has taken the minor course in experimental psychology. The instructor will co-operate with the students in the solution of some original problems. A reading knowledge of French and German is required.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Eight hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of psychology, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research and the courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more successive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the minor and major courses of the department amounting to ten hours a week may be elected by graduate students. The laboratory of experimental psychology is open to graduate students for research work.

Psychological Seminary, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

As the foundation of the work of the seminary one or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year: feeling and emotion; attention, apperception, the will; the psychology of religion and of ethics; language, myths, customs; psychology of the beautiful; psychiatry and criminology; animal and child psychology. In 1912-13 the subject of the seminary was educational psychology: a study of the results of psychological work in the field of education.

The Psychology and Treatment of Deficient and Unusual Children, Dr. Leuba.

*Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14.)*Systematic Psychology, Dr. Ferree. Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course is intended, primarily, to give a systematic presentation of the literature of experimental psychology. Due consideration, however, will be given to all points of systematic importance. The work is grouped about the following topics: sensation, the simpler sense complexes, perception and ideas, feeling and the affective processes, attention, action, and the intellectual processes (memory, association, imagination, etc.). The course covers three years, but the topics chosen and the time devoted to each vary from year to year according to the needs of the students.

Psychological Journal Club, Dr. Leuba and Dr. Ferree.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read reports on the literature of the subject and on the work done in the laboratory.

Psychological Laboratory Work.

The laboratory work consists of individual practice and research.

Education.

This school is organized in part from the Phebe Anna Thorne Endowment and is connected with the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School.

The instruction in Education is under the direction of Dr. Kate Gordon, Associate Professor of Education, Dr. Matilde Castro, Director of the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School, Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology, Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Associate Professor of Experimental Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, and Dr. Gertrude Rand, Reader (elect) in Educational Psychology.

The work of the School of Education is intended for graduate students only. No undergraduate students will be permitted to take any graduate work in education although graduate students may if they so desire elect undergraduate courses in education and psychology and other subjects. The courses are planned for graduate students who wish to study education for one, two, and three years on the principle that about one-half of the student's time will be given to purely educational courses and the remaining half to courses in the subjects in which she is preparing herself to teach. In the second half of each year there will also be provided opportunities for practice in teaching. The degree of Master of Arts in Education is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College only. Graduates of other colleges will receive diplomas certifying to the work that they have taken in the Graduate School of Education. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education is open to graduates of all colleges of high standing under the general conditions prescribed for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The Phebe Anna Thorne Model School.

The Phebe Anna Thorne School will open in the autumn of 1913 under the direction of the Bryn Mawr College Graduate School of Education. This school is maintained by an endowment of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars given by the executors of the estate of the late Phebe Anna Thorne to perpetuate her deep interest in school education and her desire to further research in the best methods of teaching school subjects. The Phebe Anna Thorne School is an integral part of the Graduate School of Education and affords its students an opportunity to follow the work of the expert teachers of the model school and discuss in seminars conducted by the professors of education the various problems of teaching and administration as they arise from day to day. The Phebe Anna Thorne School receives pupils at ten years of age and fits them to enter Bryn Mawr and other colleges on the completion of a seven years' high school course based on the soundest available theory and practice of teaching to be found in this country or abroad. Wherever a new method of teaching a high school subject is known to have succeeded it will be studied and introduced into the model school and the results on the pupils of different methods of teaching the same subjects will be tested and compared in the psychological laboratories of the college. It is believed that the opportunity thus afforded of studying the newest approved methods of secondary teaching will enable teachers who have studied in the Graduate School of Education to teach more efficiently and to command materially higher salaries.

The instruction offered in education covers sixteen hours of lectures a week; it includes two hours a week of free elective work, and fourteen hours a week of graduate work.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

History of Education, Dr. Gordon. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

*Free
Elective
Course.*

This course deals with the great educators and their systems considered with reference to modern educational methods and the problems of to-day.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Fourteen hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of education accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research, observation classes, and a practicum for the study and practice of teaching, and the courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more consecutive years. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses, but the free elective course of the department amounting to two hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

*Graduate
Courses.*

Seminary in Education, Dr. Gordon and Dr. Castro.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The subject of the seminary in 1913-14 will be methods of teaching. In 1914-15 methods of school administration will be the subject of the seminary and students attending the seminary will be required to give at least two hours a week to actual practice in teaching.

In 1915-16 secondary education will be treated in the seminary.

Observation Classes, Dr. Gordon and Dr. Castro.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Five hours a week counting as a two hour lecture course will be spent in the observation of teaching in the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School and in other schools.

Psychology Applied to Teaching, Dr. Gordon.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

In connection with this course students are required to take four hours a week of laboratory work.

Advanced Psychology Applied to Teaching, Dr. Gordon and Dr. Rand.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

In this course training is given in the methods of testing children for fatigue, efficiency, etc. Four hours of laboratory work are required in connection with this course.

Special Laboratory Problems in Educational Psychology, Dr. Gordon, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1915-16.)

Theories of Education, Dr. Gordon. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

Comparative Education, Dr. Gordon. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

Psychology and Treatment of Deficient and Unusual Children, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

Systematic Psychology, Dr. Ferree. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course is intended for graduate students who have already taken a course in experimental psychology and gives a systematic presentation of the literature of experimental psychology. Due consideration, however, will be paid to all points of systematic importance. The work is grouped about the following topics: sensation, the simpler sense complexes, perception and ideas, feeling and the affective processes, attention, action, and the intellectual processes (memory, association, imagination, etc.). Graduate students of education who have not already taken a course in experimental psychology are required to take in place of this course in their first year of work in education the minor* course in experimental psychology given in each year by Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand.

Elocution and Enunciation, Mr. King.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

* See page 149.

This course in the use of the voice and in enunciation is recommended to all students who expect to teach.

Practicum in Teaching.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course of practice in teaching in the subjects in which the student wishes to teach will be conducted by the professors concerned.

Journal Club in Education, Dr. Gordon and Dr. Castro.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The instructors and students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and articles and the results of special investigations are presented for comment and criticism.

History of Art and Classical Archæology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Lamb, Lecturer in Classical Archæology, Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Lecturer in the History of Modern Art and Comparative Literature, and Dr. Mary Hamilton Swindler, Demonstrator and Reader (elect) in the History of Art and Classical Archæology, and an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.

The instruction offered in this department covers thirteen hours a week of lectures; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work and three hours a week of graduate work.

Two separate courses, each amounting to five hours a week, are given each year, one in the History of Art and one in Classical Archæology, and these are changed from year to year, giving a first and a second year or major course in each subject. Separate courses of two or three hours a week may be taken as free electives.

An archæological seminary of two hours a week throughout the year is offered to graduate students who have done elementary archæological work, and also a journal club meeting one and a half hours a fortnight.

In addition to the graduate seminary announced, other courses will be provided as need for them arises, and individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences.

FIRST YEAR.

*(Minor Course.)Classical Archæology.Classical Archæology.Major
Course.*

Greek and Roman Architecture, Miss Lamb.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

The object of the course is to give the students a comprehensive knowledge of the art of building in Greece from the Neolithic to the Hellenistic age and in the case of Rome down to the early Christian era. Attention is paid to the results of the most recent excavations and the subject is studied in the light of literary authority and extant remains. An attempt is made to interest the students not only in the artistic aspects of the subject but in the simple mechanical problems and the manner in which they have been met. A brief study of Egyptian buildings is made at the beginning of the course.

Introduction to the study of Archæology, Miss Lamb.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

In the first semester the various stages of development in Greek and Roman art are studied. Numismatics forms the material of the work in the second semester.

Lectures on Roman Life, Dr. Frank.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

An attempt is made to describe briefly Roman social and economic conditions, as well as the development of religious beliefs and institutions.

SECOND YEAR

Greek and Roman Sculpture.*

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

The course consists of a study of the development of Greek sculpture from its beginning to the end of the Hellenistic period. The last six weeks of the second semester are devoted to a survey of Roman Sculpture. The course is illustrated with lantern slides.

Greek Painting, Dr. Swindler.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

The course consists of a survey of Greek painting with special attention to vase painting. The course begins with an introduction on the Cretan frescoes and closes with a discussion of Pompeian wall paintings.

* This course will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.

FIRST YEAR.

Italian Painting of the Renaissance from the Middle of the Thirteenth to the Middle of the Sixteenth Century, Miss King.

Major Course.Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

In the first semester the Italian Primitives are studied, chiefly in the schools of Florence, Siena, and Umbria; in the second semester the painters of the High Renaissance, with special attention to those of Venice and the north of Italy. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Renaissance Sculpture, Miss King.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

The first semester is devoted to the sculpture of the Italian Renaissance, the second chiefly to Northern art, and in especial to figure sculpture in France from the building of the Cathedrals to the close of the Renaissance. The great sculptors of Germany and Spain will also be noticed. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

SECOND YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

Painting in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries, Miss King.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

In the first semester the Dutch and Flemish painters will be studied, in the second semester the French, Spanish, and English. The course begins with a short consideration of the Primitives in France and the Low Countries and ends with the earlier English schools of landscape and portrait painting. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Gothic Architecture, Miss King.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)(May be taken as a free elective.)

The first semester is devoted to Romanesque and pointed architecture in Italy and Germany, with special attention to the introduction of Gothic into Italy by the Cistercians, and the second semester to the development of Gothic in France and Spain with parallels from English ecclesiastical architecture. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Three hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of archæology accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research, and the courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more successive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the minor and elective courses of the department amounting to ten hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

Archæological Seminary, Miss Lamb. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course is open only to graduate students who have had some previous training in classical archæology. The order of the subjects may be changed in accordance with the needs of the students.

In 1912-13 Minoan culture is the subject of the first semester's work. The art and industry of the period are studied in the light of excavations recently conducted upon various sites in Crete, the Cyclades, Troy and the mainland of Greece. In the second semester the topography, monuments and mythology of the Acropolis of Athens are studied.

In 1913-14 Roman architecture and topography will be the subjects of the seminary in the first semester and Greek vases of the fifth century will be studied in the second semester.

In 1914-15 Greek and Roman coins will be studied in the first semester and Greek and Roman sculpture will be the subject of the seminary in the second semester.

Archæological Journal Club, Miss Lamb.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current archæological literature.

Mathematics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charlotte Angas Scott, Professor of Mathematics, and Dr. James Ryals Conner, Associate in Mathematics. The instruction offered in mathematics covers twenty-three and a half hours of lectures and recitations a week, in addition to the time devoted to the seminary work in the graduate department; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work, five hours a week of free elective work, four hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates who have completed the major course in mathematics, and four and a half hours a week of graduate work.

In the major course the students are able to gain a fair knowledge of the principal subjects belonging to the department of pure mathematics. The points of contact of mathematics with other branches of mental and physical science are indicated as far as possible throughout the course, special attention being paid to the nature of mathematical reasoning, and to the true relation and mutual dependence of mathematics and physics. The course of lectures on the history of mathematics in the second year is intended to give an outline of the development of the subject from its beginning to 1700 A.D.

The two hour course in trigonometry included in the first semester of the minor course in mathematics may be taken separately as a free elective or may be counted as a part of the year of mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science. It is required for admission to the major course in physics. An examination for advanced standing may be taken by those who do not wish to attend the course and yet wish to elect the minor course in mathematics or the major course in physics.

Preparatory Course.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Analytical Conics, Dr. Scott.

Three hours a week.

Trigonometry, including Series, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week.

The course in trigonometry may be taken separately as a free elective. The course in analytical conics may be taken separately by those students only who have passed the examination for advanced standing in trigonometry.

Major Course.

2nd Semester.

Elementary Differential and Integral Calculus, Dr. Conner.

Three hours a week.

Algebra and Theory of Equations, Dr. Conner.

Two hours a week.

The three hour and two hour courses in this semester may not be elected separately.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Differential and Integral Calculus and Differential Equations, Dr. Conner.

Three hours a week.

Theory of Equations, Determinants, Dr. Conner.

Two hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Curve Tracing, History of Mathematics, Dr. Scott.

Three hours a week.

Analytical Geometry of two and three Dimensions, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week.

The three hour and two hour courses in each semester may not be elected separately.

Group: Mathematics with Greek, or with Latin, or with Philosophy, or with Psychology, or with Philosophy and Psychology; or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology, or with Biology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Fundamental Theorems of Algebra and Geometry, Dr. Scott.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

Certain standard problems of historical interest are considered in order to elucidate some of the fundamental principles of mathematics. Either semester may be taken separately. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed. It is hoped that the work will prove useful not only to students electing mathematics as a major, but also to those intending to teach elementary mathematics. This course may be counted as part of the five hours of elective or post-major mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science.

Graphic Mathematics, Dr. Scott.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The course deals with statistical work, probability, and theory of errors. It is recommended to students of economics as well as to students of physics. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed. This course may be counted as part of the five hours of elective or post-major mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science.

Mathematics Preparatory to Science.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

This course deals chiefly with parts of the differential and integral calculus, trigonometry, analytical geometry, and differential equations. Some problems in probability are also considered. This course may be counted as part of the five hours of elective or post-major mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science.

Descriptive Astronomy, Dr. Conner.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

The subject will be treated from an elementary point of view. Such advanced mathematics as seems desirable will be developed in the lectures. This course may be counted as part of the five hours of elective or post-major mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

*Post-
Major
Courses.*

The post-major courses in mathematics are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to mathematical studies differs in different colleges, graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses. Regular written work is expected from all mathematical students, and a reading knowledge of French and German is presupposed.

The post-major courses in any one year amount to four or five hours a week. The courses given are the following, with occasional modifications.

I. (a.) Lectures introductory to Modern Analytical Geometry, in connection with Salmon's Conic Sections and Scott's Modern Analytical Geometry.

or I. (b.) Lectures on Modern Pure Geometry.

or I. (c.) Lectures on Special Topics in Geometry, such as Homogeneous Coordinates, Circular Coordinates, Families of Curves, certain Transcendental Curves, Geometrical Transformations, etc.

Special permission to take the course I (c) before completing the two years of the major course may be granted to students whose work in the major course has shown that they are able to profit by the lectures.

II. (a.) Lectures Introductory to Modern Algebra, in connection with Salmon's Modern Higher Algebra, and Elliott's Algebra of Quantics.

or II. (b.) Lectures preparatory to the Theory of Functions, in connection with Harkness and Morley's Introduction to the Theory of Analytic Functions and Chrystal's Algebra, Vol. II.

or II. (c.) Lectures on Differential Equations, ordinary and partial.

or II. (d.) A general course in Analysis, dealing with the higher development of subjects only touched upon in the major course, such as Determinants, Fourier's Series, Infinite Series, Definite Integrals, etc.

In 1912-13 the following post-major courses are offered:

- | | |
|----------------------|--|
| I. (b.) Dr. Scott. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| II. (c.) Dr. Conner. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |

- | | |
|----------------------|--|
| I. (a.) Dr. Scott. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| II. (b.) Dr. Conner. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |

In 1914-15 the following post-major courses are offered:

- | | |

| I. (b.) Dr. Scott. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| II. (d.) Dr. Conner. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |

GRADUATE COURSES.

Four and a half hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of mathematics accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The courses vary from year to year so that they may be pursued by candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy for three or more successive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to four hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

Graduate Courses.

Special Algebraic Curves, Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

The first part of the course is devoted to a discussion of properties of cubic and quartic plane curves. Later in the year other classes of curves are taken into account and important individual curves treated in detail.

Theory of Surfaces, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14.)

In this course a general knowledge of plane algebraic curves and the elements of solid analytical geometry is presupposed. During the first semester the simpler properties of non-singular surfaces and projective properties of curves and developables are taken up; the classification of curves, the properties of ruled surfaces, and singularities of surfaces in general are treated in the second semester.

The Topology of Algebraic Curves, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1914-15.)

This course deals with the visible properties of plane algebraic curves, the number, nature and relation of the real components of singularities; the number, nature and arrangement of the distinct circuits; and also, though in less detail, with similar investigations relating to curves in space.

Theory of Numbers, Dr. Conner.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13.)

This course is devoted to the theory of integers in the rational and in algebraic realms. Such allied subjects as the theory of the division of the circle and linear groups are given in as much detail as time allows.

Theory of Groups, Dr. Conner.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14.)

The theory of abstract finite groups will first be developed. Permutation and substitution groups will be taken up and applications to the theory of equations and to geometry will be discussed.

Calculus of Variations, Dr. Conner.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1914-15.)

The foundations of the subject will be laid with careful attention to mathematical rigour. Numerous problems chosen from a wide range of subjects will be proposed and investigated.

Mathematical Journal Club, Dr. Scott, Dr. Conner.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club holds fortnightly meetings at which reports on special topics or memoirs are presented by the instructors and the graduate students.

SCIENCE.

Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology.

rooms, special libraries, and professors' rooms for the work of the scientific departments. The physical, chemical, and biological laboratories are open to students from nine to six daily.

The attention of graduates of medical colleges and of undergraduate and graduate students intending to take the degree of Doctor of Medicine is called to the facilities offered by the laboratories, and to the resolutions of the Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University in regard to the admission of students to the Medical School of that University, which opened in the autumn of 1893, and has from the first admitted women on the same terms as men.*

The value of a practical knowledge of biology and chemistry as preliminary or accessory to the professional study of medicine is generally recognised. Through the courtesy of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, allowance is made in its professional courses for work carried on at Bryn Mawr in the scientific laboratories. Students of Bryn Mawr College that have completed major courses in chemistry and biology are released from the primary, or first year's examination in this college, and from laboratory practice in chemistry and biology. The courses of Bryn Mawr College in physics, chemistry, and biology correspond to those of the Johns Hopkins University, and it is easy for a student to elect a course corresponding exactly to the

* RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY, ON FEB. 6TH, 1893.

"A course of four years' instruction will be provided leading to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

To this course there will be admitted as Candidates for the degree:

1. Those who have satisfactorily completed the Chemical-Biological Course which leads to the A.B. degree in this University.
2. Graduates of approved Colleges or Scientific Schools who can furnish evidence: (a) That they have acquaintance with Latin and a reading knowledge of French and German; (b) That they have such knowledge of Physics, Chemistry, and Biology as is imparted by the regular minor courses† given in these subjects in this University.
3. Those who give evidence by examination that they possess the general education implied by a degree in arts or in science from an approved college or scientific school and the knowledge of French, German, Latin, Physics, Chemistry, and Biology above indicated."

† By a minor course is understood one that requires one year for its completion. In the languages, the course involves five class-room exercises a week; in Physics, four class-room exercises and three hours a week in the laboratory; in Chemistry, a course in general chemistry for one year with five hours of laboratory work a week; and in Biology, the instruction must include a year's laboratory course of six or more hours a week.

Preliminary Medical Course of the Johns Hopkins University. Every effort is made to enable students of medicine to complete the studies necessary to their purpose in the shortest possible time.

Physics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. William B. Huff, Professor of Physics, Dr. James Barnes, Associate Professor of Physics, and Miss Mabel Kathryn Frehafer, Demonstrator in Physics. The instruction offered in physics covers twenty hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work, three hours a week of free elective work, three hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in physics; and four hours a week of graduate lectures and seminary work.

The first year of the major course deals principally with the development of physical facts and is accordingly mainly experimental and descriptive in its nature. A wide range of physical phenomena and the elements of physical theories are treated. The course is planned to cover the whole subject from this point of view so as to give those who do not intend to pursue physics further, such a knowledge of its principles as will enable them to follow its recent development and applications, and also to provide those electing physics as a group with a good foundation for more advanced work. No knowledge of physics is presupposed. In the second year the course is intended to serve as an introduction to the theories to which experimental evidence has led. The treatment is accordingly more mathematical than in the first year, but the experimental side of the subject is still emphasised. A knowledge of trigonometry is required, and some familiarity with the methods of the calculus will be of assistance.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

*Major
Course.*

Mechanics, Heat, Sound, and Properties of Matter, Dr. Huff.

Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff and Miss Frehafer.

Four hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Electricity, Magnetism, and Light, Dr. Barnes. Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Barnes and Miss Frehafer. Four hours a week.

The instruction in this course is given by means of lectures, daily oral quizzes, occasional written quizzes, regular problem papers, and required private reading. Students are expected to use, in connection with the lectures, text-books on the special part of the subject under discussion; at present Crew's General Physics is used for reference; also the text-books of Ames and Glazebrook. The lectures are illustrated throughout by means of the lantern, by demonstrations on the lecture table, and by the exhibition of apparatus, etc.

In the laboratory, the students are first instructed in the methods of accurate measurement of the simple quantities, length, time, and mass; later, they make a series of determinations, mainly quantitative, on the part of the subject under discussion in the lecture room at the time. Ames and Bliss's Manual of Experiments in Physics is found useful as a reference work for part of this course. A system of laboratory lectures has also been developed to supplement the class-room work, to point out sources of error and their treatment, to demonstrate methods of manipulation, and, in general, to give directions for working which are applicable to the class as a whole; they are given at the beginning of each week's laboratory work. The object of the work is to familiarise the students with the instruments and methods used in physical measurements, with special reference to the quantitative laws upon which the science is based. The laboratory is equipped with this object in view, and the apparatus is all of the most modern design.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.(Given in each year.)

Theoretical Mechanics, Theory of Light, Dr. Barnes. Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Barnes and Miss Frehafer. Four hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Theory of Heat, Theory of Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff. Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff and Miss Frehafer. Four hours a week.

The instruction is given by lectures, supplemented by the discussion of weekly problem papers; the text-books mentioned below indicate the character of the ground covered, and form the basis of the lectures. An endeavour is made to bring the students into contact with the work of original investigators.

The general text-book used is Watson, Physics; the books used in special subjects are as follows: heat: Maxwell, Theory of Heat, Preston, Theory of Heat; dynamics: selections from Tait and Steele's Dynamics of a Particle, Jeans's Theoretical Mechanics; and special lectures dealing with the applications of dynamics to physical problems; electricity and magnetism: J. J. Thomson, Elements of the Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism; optics, physical and geometrical: Preston, Theory of Light, Edser, Light.

The laboratory work of the second year is designed to follow and illustrate the subject-matter of the lectures. The student is taught the use of accurate instruments and the methods of physical investigation. A special study is made of the sources and amounts of the errors involved in the different operations, and the problems assigned are adapted as far as possible to the requirements and wishes of the individual students.

Group: Physics with Philosophy, or with Mathematics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology, or with Biology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Physical Basis of Music, Dr. Huff. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

In the lectures of this course it is planned to present some of the physical principles illustrated in the construction of musical instruments and underlying the general theory of music. Private reading is assigned.

Historical Development of Physics, Dr. Huff.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The work of this course consists of lectures, required reading, and class-room discussions. The lectures give an elementary presentation of some of the more important ideas and results of physics. The reading is intended to supplement the lectures and to provide additional material for general discussion. The course is open to students who have had a minor course in science or its equivalent.

Astrophysics, Dr. Barnes.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

This course consists of lectures on the application of physical principles and methods to the study of the composition, structure, and motions of the heavenly bodies. Clarke's Problems in Astrophysics, Darwin's The Tides, and selected chapters in Moulton's Celestial Mechanics will be read and discussed. The course is open to students who have taken the minor course in physics or the minor course in mathematics or courses equivalent to these.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses. A knowledge of differential and integral calculus is required. These lectures deal not only with the theoretical development of the subject, but great stress is laid on the important experimental work which has been done in it, and methods and results are criticised and opportunities for further investigation pointed out. The object of the courses is to prepare students to undertake independent work. The laboratory work is planned with this object in view and is arranged to meet the special needs of each individual student. Graduate students may be permitted to take the lectures without the laboratory work. In addition to the laboratory work which accompanies the lectures a student may take extra laboratory work sufficient to make the courses equivalent to five hours a week.

General Optics, Dr. Barnes.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

These lectures give a general discussion of the theories advanced to explain many phenomena in light. Students are required to have a good knowledge of elementary optics and to be sufficiently familiar with optical apparatus to undertake a detailed study of some special problem.

Properties of Matter, Dr. Huff.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1913-14.)

*Free
Elective
Courses.*

*Post-
Major
Courses.*

The lectures cover the general subject of the properties of matter studied from the point of view of the Molecular Theory. The different theories of matter are discussed and an account of recent investigations concerning the relations of matter and electricity is given. Poynting and Thomson's Properties of Matter is read in connection with the course.

Theory of Sound, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1913-14.)

The lectures form an introduction to the theory of modes of vibration of pipes, strings, and rods. The theory of music and of musical instruments is then studied. Poynting and Thomson's Sound is used during the earlier part of the course, and frequent references are made to Helmholtz and Rayleigh.

Spectroscopy, Dr. Barnes. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1914-15.)

The course begins with a complete discussion of the apparatus used in this subject; the results of past and present investigations are then considered, and problems for investigation are pointed out. The many important applications of spectroscopy to astronomy are not neglected. The standard book of reference is Kayser's Handbuch der Spectroscopie. Detailed reports of laboratory investigations are required.

Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1915-16.)

The lectures of this course treat typical mathematical and experimental problems chosen from the various parts of the entire subject. A large number of problems on potential and attraction are assigned.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Four hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of physics accompanied by the direction of private reading, laboratory work and original research, and these courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more successive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to three hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

*Graduate
Courses.*

Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13.)

The lectures are based on Maxwell's standard work, and include a general account of the later development of the theory. This course was given as a post-major course in 1912-13.

Thermo-dynamics and Radiation, Dr. Barnes.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

The modern developments of thermo-dynamics and radiation are considered. Attention is paid to the application of the laws of thermo-dynamics in physical chemistry.

Radioactivity and Discharge of Electricity through Gases, Dr. Huff.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1914-15.)

The earlier lectures treat of the effect of fields on the path of a moving charged particle. A discussion of typical experimental methods of measuring velocity and the ratio of charge to the mass follows. After a study of the phenomena of electrical discharge and of radioactivity a brief account of theories is given.

Electron Theory, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1914-15.)

The mathematical development of the subject is presented in the lectures, with special reference to experimental tests of theory.

Physical Optics, Dr. Barnes. Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1915-16.)

This course gives a general mathematical discussion of physical optics. Students are expected to give detailed reports on the methods and results of investigations which illustrate the theory. When it seems desirable two and a half hours of experimental work will be substituted for one hour of the lecture course.

Physical Journal Club, Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes.
One hour a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The advanced students and the instructors meet to hear reports and discuss recent scientific articles.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes.

The laboratory work is arranged for the purpose of familiarising the student with methods of research; the student begins by repeating methods and investigations of well-known experimenters, with any modifications that may be suggested, passing on to points of investigation left untouched by previous experimenters, and finally to the study of new methods and the prosecution of original research. Students taking physics as their chief subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are expected to spend all the time possible in work in the laboratory. The laboratory is provided with special rooms for magnetic, optical and electrical work, and in the basement is a constant-temperature vault designed for accurate comparison of lengths, etc. The stock of apparatus is being added to yearly. A well-equipped shop and trained mechanics make it possible to construct special forms of apparatus designed for research.

Chemistry.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Roger Frederic Brunel, Associate in Chemistry, Dr. Frederick Hutton Getman, Associate in Chemistry, and Dr. Annie Louise Macleod, Reader and Demonstrator in Chemistry. The instruction offered in chemistry covers twenty-one hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work, six hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in chemistry, and seven hours a week of graduate work.

The first year's work, or minor course, is a general introduction to the subject. Lectures are given in both inorganic and organic chemistry, making an elementary course that is complete in itself.

In the second year particular attention is paid to the quantitative side of chemical phenomena. The lectures are mainly on theoretical and organic chemistry.

The post-major courses are intended to prepare students for independent work, particular attention being paid to laboratory methods.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Introduction to General Chemistry, Dr. Brunel. Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Brunel and Dr. Macleod. Four hours a week.

Major
Course.

The course does not presuppose any knowledge of chemistry. In the class-room the nature of chemical action is taught by lectures that are illustrated by a series of experiments in which the more important substances are made and transformed, the time being spent largely on the non-metals. Throughout the semester the lectures and the laboratory work are complementary. The laboratory work of each day is outlined in the lecture, sufficient instruction being given to enable the students to observe intelligently. After all the experiments on a given subject have been made the results are discussed in the class-room.

2nd Semester.

The Chemistry of the Metals, Dr. Macleod. Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Macleod. Four hours a week.

This course deals with the properties of the more important metallic elements and their compounds. The methods of separation employed in the laboratory are discussed, and the fundamental principles upon which these methods of separation are based are emphasised. The lectures are supplemented by required private reading.

The laboratory work consists of qualitative analyses. The students are first taught to identify the acids and bases in simple salts; later, they are required to carry out complete analyses of minerals and metallurgical products.

Introduction to Organic Chemistry, Dr. Macleod. Two hours a week.

This course is designed to meet the needs of students who take only one year of chemistry; but the material is so selected that it serves as an introduction to the more systematic course given in the second year. An effort is made to make clear the relation that exists between the arrangement of the atoms in the molecule and the behavior of chemical substances; and to give some understanding of the processes of reasoning by which the structure of the simpler organic compounds is determined.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on Elementary Theoretical Chemistry, Dr. Getman.

Five hours a week.

In this course chemical facts are considered from the point of view of common and exact relations and from these relations the laws and theories of chemistry are developed. Special attention is paid to the atomic theory, the laws of gases, the theory of solutions and simple equilibria.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Getman.

Four hours a week.

The laboratory work consists of quantitative analyses. Each exercise is important in itself and illustrates some principle or involves some manipulation of general application in analytical work.

2nd Semester.

Organic Chemistry, Dr. Brunel.

Five hours a week.

This course presupposes a knowledge of the elements of organic chemistry as given in the first year. The methods of preparation and typical reactions of the simpler classes of compounds are first briefly reviewed and entered into more thoroughly than in the minor course. The constitution and synthesis of the more important classes of compounds, such as the sugars, the purine group, the diazo-compounds, etc., are taken up.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Brunel and Dr. Macleod.

Four hours a week.

The laboratory work is devoted to organic preparations. Simple representatives of the more important classes of organic compounds are first prepared and their typical reactions studied. After a familiarity with the methods of dealing with organic substances has been gained, syntheses of a few of the more complex organic compounds are carried out.

Group: Chemistry with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Geology, or with Biology.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Post-Major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Organic Chemistry, selected topics, Dr. Brunel.

One hour a week throughout the year(Given in each year.)

The object of this course is to lay the foundation for independent work in organic chemistry. The lectures deal with organic problems at present under investigation, their development being followed up to the present time. Students are required to take with this course four and a half hours of laboratory work, making the course equivalent to a two hour lecture course.

The laboratory work is varied to meet the needs of the individual students. In general, the student begins with the preparation of some of the more important substances that are discussed in the lectures. This is followed by organic analyses, molecular weight determinations, and the transformations necessary to establish the structural formulas of the substances prepared.

Physical Chemistry, Dr. Getman.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

The aim of the lectures is to extend the student's knowledge of theoretical and physical chemistry and to lay a foundation for independent work in this subject. The lectures are intended to give a general outline of the subject, the following topics being discussed: fundamental theories of chemistry; the periodic classification; the corpuscular theory of matter; the laws of gases, liquids and solids; osmotic pressure and dilute solutions; colloidal solutions; thermochemistry; homogeneous and heterogeneous equilibria; chemical kinetics; electrochemistry; actinchemistry, and radiochemistry. The solution of a large number of problems will be required.

The laboratory amounting to four and a half hours a week is designed to prepare the student for physico-chemical research.

Inorganic Chemistry, Dr. Getman. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Selected topics in inorganic chemistry are discussed in detail, and parallel reading is required. In the laboratory work of four and a half hours a week advanced quantitative analyses are included.

Chemistry of the Enzymes, with special reference to bacterial processes, Dr. Macleod. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended on the one hand for students who wish to teach chemistry and bacteriology, and on the other for those who desire to fit themselves for work in Public Health laboratories. It will consist of lectures, reports on assigned private reading, and laboratory work. While dealing primarily with the enzymes and the chemical reactions in which they play a part, special topics may be added to meet the requirements of individual students. Three hours laboratory work will be required.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Seven hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of chemistry accompanied by the direction of private reading, laboratory work, and original research. The lecture courses are varied from year to year to meet the requirements of students and to form a consecutive course for those who wish to make chemistry the chief subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in organic chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Brunel, or in physical chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Getman, but students who make organic chemistry the major subject of examination must take physical chemistry as one of their minor subjects, and students who make inorganic chemistry the major subject, must take organic chemistry as one of their minor subjects. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to three hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

Graduate Courses.

Chemical Seminary, Organic Chemistry, Dr. Brunel.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The students who specialise in organic chemistry present formal reports upon assigned topics.

Chemical Seminary, Inorganic Chemistry, Dr. Getman.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The course consists of lectures, required reading, and reports on various topics. The needs of the individual students are considered in selecting the subjects for discussion.

Physical Chemistry, Dr. Getman.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In the lectures no attempt is made to give a general survey of the subject, but certain selected portions of the science are treated in detail and the student is made familiar with problems of current interest.

Advanced Organic Chemistry, Dr. Brunel.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Chemical Journal Club, Dr. Brunel, Dr. Getman, and Dr. Macleod.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to hear reports and discuss recent scientific articles.

Geology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Florence Bascom, Professor of Geology, and Dr. Thomas Clachar Brown, Associate in Geology.

The instruction offered in geology covers twenty hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work, three free elective courses of one and two hours a week respectively, six post-major courses of three hours a week open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in geology, and six graduate courses of one, three, and five hours a week respectively, but all these courses will not be given in the same year.

The first year of the major course in geology is arranged to give a general survey of two divisions of the science and at the same time to introduce the student to the larger field of geology. It may be taken as a free elective or as a year of required science or as the first year of the group course in geology. The purpose of the course is to make clear to the student the present constitution, form, and evolution of the earth's crust, to promote keen and accurate observation of natural phenomena, and to give some insight into the nature of geological problems.

The second year of the major course deals with the rocks and minerals of the earth's crust, and also affords training in structural geology.

Post-major courses in petrography and palæontology are offered in each year, and are designed to train the student in petrographic methods for the exact determination of rock species and rock families and in the principles of invertebrate and vertebrate palæontology. They are an essential preliminary to research work in the science.

Excellent illustrative material for the graduate and undergraduate courses is furnished by the geological collections of the college, including the Theodore D. Rand rock and mineral collection, which alone contains over 20,000 specimens, by the private collections of the instructors, and by material lent by the United States Geological Survey. The department is also fortunate in its proximity to the museum of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia. Within easy reach of the college are good collecting fields for fossil, mineral, and rock specimens.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)1st Semester.(Given in each year.)

Physiography, Dr. Bascom.

Five hours a week.

Field Work, Dr. Bascom.

Two hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.

Two hours a week.

The lectures deal primarily with the character and action of the forces which control the landscape and with the features produced by physiographic processes; subordinately physiographic regions are discussed. The lectures are illustrated by photographs, lantern slides, geographical relief models, and maps. No text-book is used, but standard manuals are accessible for reference.

In the laboratory the student is occupied with a study of the development of physiographic forms. This is conducted with the use of Davis' Atlas for Practical Exercises in Physical Geography assisted by models, photographs, topographic maps, and natural illustrations.

For the field work, excursions are made into the immediate neighborhood on Mondays from 2 to 4 P.M. during the autumn and spring. As the course progresses, more extended excursions may be taken among the crystalline rocks of the South Mountain Range or the fossiliferous formations of the Coastal Plain. On all excursions instruction in field geology is given, areal mapping is accomplished, and reports of the areas covered are required of the students. Reading amounting to three hours will be required of students absent from a field trip. During the winter months laboratory work replaces the field excursions.

2nd Semester.

Introduction to Historical Geology, Dr. Brown.

Five hours a week.

Field Work, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week.

The lectures deal with the evolution of continents and of life, and with the distribution and character of the various rock formations. Special attention is given to the development of life and to the theory of evolution.

In the laboratory the student becomes familiar with the typical flora and fauna of the successive geologic formations and with the development of the more important classes. The field work involves excursions to fossiliferous localities in the paleozoic formations of Pennsylvania, and to the mesozoic and cenozoic formations of New Jersey.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.(Given in each year.)

Megascopic Petrology, Dr. Brown.

Five hours a week.

Field Work, Dr. Brown.

*Two hours a week.Major
Course*

Laboratory Work, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week.

The lectures discuss the materials which constitute the earth's crust; the chief precious stones, the principal rock-forming minerals and others of special economic importance are first described; the important rock types, sedimentary, igneous, and metamorphic are described and their relations shown. The course closes with a discussion of the phenomena and principles of vulcanism and seismology. The lectures are illustrated by mineral and rock specimens, photographs, lantern slides, and wooden models.

In the laboratory crystal forms, rock-forming minerals, and rock types are systematically studied.

Field excursions are made to mineral localities in the vicinity of the college.

2nd Semester.

Glaciology and Structural Geology, Dr. Bascom.

Five hours a week.

Field Work, Dr. Bascom.

Two hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.

Two hours a week.

The lectures treat of the evidences, conditions, work, and causes of the glacial period; the development of man; the causes and effects of earth movements; hypotheses of the origin and of the age of the earth. The course is illustrated with models, photographs, and lantern slides.

In the laboratory topographic maps and models illustrating features due to glaciation and geologic folios, maps, and models illustrating geologic structures are studied. Practice is given in topographic mapping from models, in modeling from topographic maps, and in drawing structure sections.

The field work of the first semester is continued and training in topographic mapping may also be given.

Group: Geology with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Biology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Cosmogony, Dr. Bascom.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and in each succeeding year if the time of the department permits.)

The work of the course is conducted by means of lectures, required reading and classroom discussion. The lectures treat of the origin of the earth, the growth of the continents and the development of landscape, and are illustrated by lantern slides. The reading is intended to supplement the lectures and to furnish further material for discussion. The course is intended to give a survey of the more important results reached by geological research.

Evolution of the Vertebrates, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

This course consists of lectures illustrated by charts, diagrams, lantern slides and photographs. It gives a comprehensive outline of the evolution of the vertebrates from the earliest appearance of representatives of this group to the beginning of the Cenozoic era. The vertebrate phylum not only contains the highest types of animal life but is the only phylum which has gone through the whole of its evolution since the beginning of geological history as recorded in the fossil-bearing rocks. The course will consider first those primitive types which perhaps represent ancestral vertebrate forms and then will consider in the order of their appearance the five great classes of Fishes, Batrachians, Reptiles, Birds, and Mammals

*Free
Elective
Courses.*

Evolution of the Mammals, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

This course is a continuation of the preceding. The rise and development of the mammals will be followed in considerable detail, and an attempt will be made to show the relation between the types which were developed and their environment, including the geographic physiographic, and climatic factors as well as the surrounding animal and plant life.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

*Post-
Major
Courses.*

Petrography, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

During the first semester the course deals with the principles of optical crystallography, with the practice of mineral determination by optical means, and with the petrographic characters of rock-forming minerals. In the second semester the textures, composition, characters, origin, geographic distribution, and geologic associations of the igneous rocks are subjects of study. Practice is given in the use of the quantitative chemical classification of igneous rocks. Special petrographic problems may be given to the students for independent solution.

Invertebrate Paleontology, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

The course presupposes a knowledge of historical geology. A systematic study is made of the various classes of invertebrate animals which are found in a fossil state. Special attention is given to the relations of these classes to each other as bearing on their origin and on the theory of evolution. Those classes which are of practical value to the stratigraphic geologist in determining the geologic age of formations are dwelt upon at considerable length. Excursions are made to neighboring fossiliferous localities to collect fossils and to observe their occurrence in the rocks. The student has access, not only to the representative paleontological collection of Bryn Mawr College, but also to the large collections of the several academies and institutes in Philadelphia.

Vertebrate Paleontology, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

A systematic study is made of the vertebrate remains which have been found as fossils. Since the vertebrated organisms represent the highest phase of development to which the animal kingdom has attained, a study of their past history is of prime importance in elucidating some of the most fundamental principles in the evolution of life.

Fossil Faunas, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

This course is designed to be taken by those students who have completed the course in Invertebrate Paleontology, and who wish to become familiar with the methods of applying a knowledge of invertebrate paleontology to the problems of geology. It will treat in detail each of the successive faunas or assemblages of animal life which have developed since the opening of the Cambrian period. An attempt will be made to show that each fauna was a direct response to the environment which surrounded it, and the probable geologic, physiographic, and climatic factors of this environment will be discussed. This course will be given when needed in place of the course in Vertebrate Paleontology.

Economic Geology, Dr. Brown. Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1913-14.)

The lectures deal with the properties, occurrence, distribution, production, value, etc., of the more important non-metallic minerals such as coal, petroleum, building stones, clay, lime, calcareous cements, salines, gypsum, fertilizers, abrasives, asbestos, graphite, precious stones, and underground waters. The metallic ores such as iron, copper, lead, and zinc, silver-lead, gold and silver, and the minor metals will also be considered.

The Nature of Ore Deposits. Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1913-14.)

The theories as to the origin of ore bodies and the nature of their occurrence in the more important mines of the world will be considered.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate courses in petrology and mineralogy should be preceded by the major and post-major courses or their equivalents and are intended primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate course in mineralogy is also intended to meet the needs of graduate students in chemistry who wish to make mineralogy a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate courses in stratigraphic geology and paleontology and paleogeography are designed primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; they may also be taken by graduate students in biology who wish to make paleontology a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Further graduate courses in petrology and paleontology will be arranged to suit the requirements of candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and research problems will be assigned.

Students may specialise either in petrology and mineralogy, under the direction of Dr. Bascom, or in stratigraphic geology and paleontology, under the direction of Dr. Brown, but students who make petrology and mineralogy the major subject of examination must take stratigraphic geology and paleontology as one of the minor subjects and students who make stratigraphic geology and paleontology the major subject, must take petrology as one of the minor subjects.

No undergraduates are admitted to the graduate courses.

Seminary in Petrology, Dr. Bascom. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminary will be conducted by means of informal discussions, required reading, and formal reports. The selection of subjects for discussion will depend upon the needs of the individual students.

Seminary in Stratigraphic Geology and Paleontology, Dr. Brown.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The students who specialise in stratigraphic geology and paleontology present formal reports upon assigned topics.

Petrology, Dr. Bascom.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The lectures deal with the problems of metamorphism of both aqueous and igneous rocks. The character of metamorphic processes and the conditions which control these processes; structures and textures; criteria determining the origin; classification; geographic distribution, and geologic occurrence of metamorphic rocks are treated. Direction is given in research work, map making and advanced field work. The amount of laboratory, field work, and private reading required makes the course the equivalent of five hours a week.

Mineralogy, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Both the lectures and laboratory practice deal with crystal measurement by means of the two-circle goniometer, with crystal projection, and crystal drawing and with the determination of minerals by physical characters.

The works of Goldschmidt, Hintze, Groth, Tschermak, and Dana are used as reference books.

Stratigraphic Geology and Paleontology, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The lectures deal with the principles of sedimentation; the petrologic character, distribution, faunal contents and geologic succession of the formations of North America. The limits of the various faunal provinces will be established so far as possible and the sediments deposited in the various epicontinental seas correlated. The diastrophic movements which threw the formations into folds producing mountain ranges and basins will receive special attention.

Paleogeography, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

The lectures deal with all phenomena that throw light upon the extent, the relief, the climate and the life of the lands and seas of geologic time. Special attention is given to the positive and negative movements of the strand line, the development of epicontinental seas, the distribution of atmospheric and oceanic currents, climatic changes, food supply, faunal provinces, and the effect of seas and barriers upon the distribution and migration of plants and animals. In the laboratory a number of the exercises will deal with the making of paleogeographic maps and models.

Geological Journal Club, Dr. Bascom and Dr. Brown.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of recent geological literature.

Biology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Professor of Biology, Dr. Joseph W. Warren,* Associate Professor of Physiology, Dr. Don Rosco Joseph, Associate Professor of Physiology, and Dr. Harriet

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1912-13.

Randolph, Demonstrator in Biology and Reader in Botany. The instruction offered in biology covers twenty-two hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; one hour a week of free elective work; seven hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in biology, and four hours a week of graduate lectures and seminary work. The post-major work may be further extended by special laboratory courses.

The work of the first year, or minor course, forms a general introduction to the subject through a broad, comparative study of living things (general biology). In the second year the foundation of a minuter knowledge of animal morphology and physiology is laid. The third year's work, or post-major course, is devoted to the study of more advanced subjects and the practical investigation of simple problems. A knowledge of the elements of chemistry and physics is very desirable for students entering any course in biology, and is necessary for advanced work in the subject.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Major Course.

Lectures on General Biology, Dr. Tennent.	Four hours a week
Lectures on Plants, Dr. Randolph.	One hour a week.
Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Randolph.	Four hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on Vertebrates, Dr. Joseph.	Three hours a week.
--------------------------------------	---------------------

This course is given five hours a week during approximately the first nine weeks of the semester.

Lectures on the Embryology of the Chick, Dr. Tennent.	Two hours a week.
---	-------------------

The lectures on embryology follow the lectures on vertebrates, and are given five hours a week throughout the remainder of the semester.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Joseph, and Dr. Randolph.	Four hours a week.
---	--------------------

It is the object of this course to give the student clear conceptions of the fundamental principles of vital structure and action, the outlines of general classification, and the relations of the biological sciences to one another and to other branches of science. The laboratory practice is designed to enable the student, as far as possible, to examine for herself the facts discussed in the lectures, to encourage the habit of exact observation, and to impart a knowledge of methods of practical work.

The general subject is treated in two courses which supplement each other and must be taken together. The course in the first semester deals especially with the lower forms of life, the relations of plants and animals, and the more general principles of the science. The course in the second semester is devoted more largely to the higher forms of animal life, with special reference to physiology.

The work is designed not simply to teach the elements of zoology and botany, as commonly understood, but in addition to this to treat plants and animals with constant reference to one another, both in their structure and in their mode of action. Stress is therefore laid on the essential facts of comparative morphology and physiology (general biology) as illustrated by the thorough study of a few types, rather than on the minutiae of classification. At the same time the work is arranged with reference to subsequent special work in zoology, botany, and physiology.

In the first semester the student examines a number of animals and plants, so arranged as to form a natural progressive introduction to the general principles of biology. After certain general preliminary studies of familiar and highly organised forms, the student makes a detailed examination of unicellular organisms, and from these proceeds gradually to the complex conditions of structure and function found in higher plants and animals. In the second semester attention is given mainly to the biology of the higher animals. The course ends with a study of the embryology of the frog and, in greater detail, that of the chick.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Animal Physiology, Dr. Joseph. Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Joseph and Dr. Randolph. Four hours a week.

The instruction in physiology consists of a systematic course of lectures upon animal physiology supplemented by experiments in the laboratory, demonstrations of experiments that cannot be conveniently carried out by the individual in the laboratory, frequent oral or written quizzes and recitations.

In the laboratory the student becomes acquainted with the use of simpler forms of physiological apparatus. Students work in pairs, each pair having for the most part a separate set of apparatus. The chief aims of the laboratory work are to give each student an opportunity to work out for herself, as far as time will allow, the fundamental experiments of physiology, to develop the power of accurate observation and description, the ability to arrange results in a logical order and to draw only warranted conclusions.

To this end all experiments are carefully written up and handed in with the graphic record, if any, for criticism, after which they are returned for correction. Any serious errors are discussed personally with the student.

2nd Semester.

General Zoology, Dr. Tennent. Two hours a week.

The course in general zoology extends the work of the first year so as to include a survey of the phenomena of animal life and a systematic presentation of the more important facts of general morphology.

Animal Physiology, Dr. Joseph. Two hours a week.

This course is given five hours a week during approximately the last five weeks of the semester. Both the lectures and laboratory work are a direct continuation of the work of the first semester.

Historical Biology, Dr. Tennent. One hour a week.

In this course the student is introduced to some of the leading questions of theoretical general biology. The first part of the course treats of the history of biological discovery with special reference to the development of the more important generalisations and theories of the science. The latter part is mainly devoted to a critical analysis of the theory of evolution and discussions of the broader philosophical problems of biology such as heredity, variation, adaptation, and kindred topics. These lectures vary somewhat from year to year, and are intended to be suggestive rather than exhaustive in character.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Joseph, and Dr. Randolph.

Four hours a week.

In the laboratory thorough dissections are made of typical forms, illustrating the leading groups of animals. A portion of the course is devoted to a study of the sense organs.

Group: Biology with Psychology, or with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Free Elective Course.

Theoretical Biology, Dr. Tennent. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This is a historical course dealing with the development of the theories of biology. The course is open to students who have had one year's training in science. A considerable amount of assigned reading is required.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Post- Major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Embryology of Vertebrates, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

This course consists of lectures, assigned reading, and laboratory work on the embryology of vertebrates. The lectures deal with the development of specific forms and with theoretical questions of embryological interest. The department has material for the study of the development of Amphioxus, Ascidian, Amia, Lepidosteus, Squalus, Ctenolabrus, Necturus, Rana, Chrysemys, Chick and Pig. At least five hours of laboratory work will be required.

The course is divided as follows: First semester—Embryology of Vertebrates (a.) Early stages of development. Second semester—Embryology of Vertebrates (b.) Organogeny.

Protoplasm, the Cell, and Cytological Technique, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

This course consists of a study of the structure of protoplasm, the structure of the cell, the phenomena of cell division, maturation and fertilisation. Both plant and animal cells will be studied, and instruction will be given in methods of preparing cytological material for microscopical examination. This course is to be taken as a two hour course with four hours laboratory.

Experimental Morphology, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1913-14 and again in 1915-16.)

The object of this course is to give a general historical view of experimental morphology of both plants and animals, to discuss some of the methods employed, to point out the results already obtained, and to indicate the nature of the work now being done in the subject. The topics discussed are: regeneration in Protozoa and Metazoa, behaviour of lower organisms, experiments on the fertilised and unfertilised egg, Mendel's experiments in hybridisation, and De Vries Oenothera mutants. This course is to be taken with four hours laboratory as a two hour course.

Physiological Chemistry, Dr. Joseph. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1913-14.)

This course consists of lectures, recitations, assigned reading and laboratory work. Occasionally a member of the class is asked to report on an article from the literature of the subject. At least four hours a week of laboratory work are required. The laboratory work includes a study of the properties and reactions of proteins; fats and carbohydrates; of the digestive actions of the enzymes of the salivary, gastric, pancreatic and intestinal secretions and the bile; and of the milk and urine. A preliminary training in chemistry at least equivalent to that obtained in the minor course is required.

The Nervous System, Dr. Joseph. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

In this course the physiology of the central and peripheral nervous systems is taken up in greater detail than is possible in the major course. The course consists of lectures, recitations, assigned reading, class reports and from one to two hours of laboratory work weekly.

In the laboratory, experiments are carried out which illustrate various physiological properties of the nervous system. In addition a brief study is made of sectioned brain material to acquaint the student with the general arrangement of the internal structure of the brain and the chief paths that may be taken by nerve impulses within the central nervous system.

The Special Senses, Dr. Joseph. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1913-14.)

This course of lectures, recitations, assigned reading and laboratory work deals with the more important facts and theories regarding the action of the organs of special sense.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Joseph.

It is desirable that as much laboratory work as possible should be done in connection with the courses offered above. The object of the laboratory work is to give the student experience in the use of apparatus and in adapting it to research. Some special problem is assigned to each student; at the end of the year the results of the work are presented in writing.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Four hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of biology accompanied by the direction of private reading, laboratory work and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to seven hours a week may be elected by graduate students. The advanced courses are varied from year to year, so as to form a consecutive course for students that wish to make biology one of the chief subjects of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in animal morphology under the guidance of Dr. Tennent, or in animal physiology under the guidance of Dr. Joseph.

*Graduate
Courses.*

Embryology of Invertebrates, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1915-16.)

The embryology of invertebrates with special reference to germinal organisation, cleavage and differentiation, and to the problems of inheritance and development is studied. This course varies in accordance with the needs of the students in the department.

Genetics, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14.)

This course includes a discussion of Mendel's principles of heredity; of biometrical methods and results; of selection and of the application of these ideas in animal and plant breeding.

Cytology, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1914-15.)

The course deals with the anatomy of the cell, and the relations and functions of its various structures in unicellular and multicellular organisms. Special attention will be given to the phenomena of karyokinesis and sexual reproduction and the theories connected therewith. Considerable time will be devoted to the consideration of problems in insect spermatogenesis.

Internal Secretions, Dr. Joseph.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1912-13 and again in 1914-15.)

The course consists of the reading and discussion of original articles dealing with the subject.

Selected Problems Dealing with the Physiology of the Gastro-intestinal Tract, Dr. Joseph.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1913-14.)

Biological Journal Club, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Joseph.

The advanced students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current biological literature.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Joseph.

There is no regular course of laboratory instruction for graduates. Each student desiring to devote a considerable portion of her time to such work is given an experimental problem for verification or extension. The nature of the work depends in each case on the qualifications of the student.

Department of Health and Hygiene.

The health of the students is under the care of a Health Committee consisting of the President of the College, the Dean of the College, the Director of Athletics and Gymnastics, and the Physicians of the College.

Every undergraduate student and hearer must be examined each year by the Assistant Physician of the College, and twice each year by the Director of Athletics and Gymnastics with reference to physical development, strength of heart and lungs, and general health. The eyes of students are examined by the Examining Oculist of the College during the first semester after entering the college and again during the first semester of the junior year. Students who cannot furnish evidence of successful vaccination within a period of two years are vaccinated by the college physicians.

Eminent specialists practising in Philadelphia whose names may be found in the list of academic appointments have consented to serve as consulting physicians of the college. The Assistant Physician will be in her college office during the hours from four to six of every afternoon except Sunday and may be consulted by the students without charge.

All students who are not under the special care of the attending physicians on account of illness are under the immediate care of the Director of Athletics and Gymnastics. She receives the reports of students on the special supervision list, keeps careful records of the health of all students and endeavors by lectures, interviews, personal advice, exercise, and general hygiene to maintain and improve the health of the students. A course of six lectures on personal and community hygiene is given each year which freshmen are required to attend.

The infirmary fee of $10.00 paid by every resident student entitles her to be cared for in the infirmary for five days (not necessarily consecutive) during the year without paying extra fees for nurses or for attendance by the college physicians, and also to the services of the nurses employed by the college during other temporary illness, provided one of the regular nurses is free at the time. In the case of an illness of more than five days' duration and also of all diseases of an infectious character the student must meet, or in case of two or more students with the same infectious disease share, the expense of a special nurse, the infirmary fees, and also hospital or sanitarium charges for board and residence should she be removed from the college by order of the Physician in Chief. During the five days specified above the attendance fees of the college physicians are paid by the college. All further fees must be paid by the student.

A special nurse for one student costs $5.30 a day (nurse's fee $4.00, board $1.00, laundry .30) or $34.10 a week (nurse's fee $25.00 per week, board $7.00, laundry $2.10). The infirmary fee is $2.00 a day. It is often possible for two or three students to be nursed by one extra nurse at the same time, thus reducing the fee for nursing. When a student has not an infectious disease the infirmary fee of $2.00 a day will include the nurse's fee provided it is possible for one of the college nurses to care for the student. The attendance fees of the college physician are $2.00 per visit. The fees of the consulting physicians and surgeons and other specialists recommended by the college will be furnished on request.

All communications concerning the health of the students from parents and guardians, outside physicians, and others should be addressed to the Dean of the College, who will also excuse students for absence on account of illness before and after vacations and from attendance on academic work.

Athletics and Gymnastics.

The exercise of the students is under the care of Miss Constance M. K. Applebee, Director of Athletics and Gymnastics, and Miss Elizabeth L. Gray, Assistant Director of Athletics and Gymnastics.

The gymnasium (see page 187) is open for the use of students from 7 A.M. to 10 P.M. daily. Four periods of exercise a week are required of all resident and non-resident undergraduate students and hearers throughout the year. From December first till April first attendance twice a week in the gymnasium is compulsory for all resident and non-resident undergraduate students and hearers. Students may take part during the year in the following forms of exercise which are organised by the Athletic Association under the supervision of the Director: in the autumn, tennis and hockey; in the winter, water polo, swimming meet, fencing, and indoor track athletics; in the spring, basketball, track, and tennis. All students are required to take six lessons in swimming each semester until able to satisfy the required test. No undergraduate student will be excused from the required exercise except by order of the Director of Athletics and Gymnastics. Special exercises are prescribed for students needing individual corrective work, and these are taken in addition to the regular class work. Every student while exercising in the gymnasium must wear a gymnasium suit of the pattern prescribed by the Director.

Opportunities for Public Worship.

In the vicinity of the college there are churches of almost all the various religious denominations. Coaches are provided by the college on Sundays to enable students to attend the churches in the neighborhood.

Religious services are held in the college every Sunday evening by prominent clergymen of different denominations. A vesper service is held every Sunday afternoon and there is daily morning chapel. Attendance on all the religious exercises of the college is voluntary.

COLLEGE BUILDINGS.

The college buildings are situated at Bryn Mawr, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, five miles west of the city, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The site of the college is four hundred and twenty feet above sea level in the midst of a beautiful rolling country made accessible by good roads in every direction. The college grounds cover fifty-two acres, and include lawns, tennis-courts, and two large athletic fields, one of which is converted in winter into a skating-pond.

Taylor Hall (named after the founder), a large building of Port Deposit stone, contains a general assembly room, eleven lecture-rooms, and the offices of administration.

The library, the gift of the friends, graduates, and students of the college, begun in April, 1903, was completed in February, 1907. It is built of gray stone in the Jacobean Gothic style of architecture of the period of 1630 and forms three sides of a closed quadrangle. The main building, devoted to the library proper, faces east and is opposite and parallel to Taylor Hall at a distance of about fifty yards; the principal entrances of the two buildings face each other and are connected by a broad cement path. The east front is one hundred and seventy-four feet long and contains a three-story stack with accommodation for 88,000 volumes, and above this a large reading-room with desks for one hundred and thirty-six readers, each desk screened to a height of two feet as in the British Museum reading-room to secure privacy to the reader. No books of reference are kept in the main reading-room. Beyond the reading-room on the south side are the newspaper and magazine rooms. On the north side are the Art and Archæological Seminaries, containing collections of photographs, vases, and coins. The main building contains the Stack, the New Book Room, Reference Book Room, the Carola Woerishoffer Memorial Room, the Reserved Books Room, the Christian Association Library, one professor's office, and four cloak rooms. The wings of the building, running symmetrically about two hundred feet in length from the north and south ends of the main building, contain twelve seminary rooms and twenty-seven professors' offices. The books needed for graduate study and research are kept in the seminary rooms and graduate lectures are held in them. The seminaries are arranged as follows: Greek, Latin, English, Art, Archæology, German, French, Italian and Spanish, Semitic Languages, and Philosophy in the north wing; Mathematics, History, Economics and Psychology in the south wing, where are also offices for the librarians and cataloguers. The total book capacity of the library, including the seminary libraries and the books for general study which are kept in the stack, is 168,449 volumes. The building is absolutely fireproof. Professors' offices for the senior professors in each department adjoin the seminary rooms. There are also two seminary lecture-rooms accommodating about fifteen students, one general lecture-room accommodating forty-two students, and three interview rooms.

On the first floor of the south wing the department of experimental psychology has two large laboratories, one for general work and one for research. The basement of the north wing contains rooms for the Monograph Committee of the Faculty, the Alumnæ Association, and fireproof safe rooms for the records and archives of the college. The quadrangular court enclosed by the building is surrounded by cloisters and in the centre of the grass enclosure is a fountain, the gift of the class of 1901.

The library is open for students on week-days from 8 A.M. till 10 P.M. and on Sundays from 2 P.M. till 10 P.M. It is open for the faculty at all hours.

In January, 1893, the scientific departments of the college were transferred to Dalton Hall, a stone building erected by the trustees out of funds in large part contributed by the generosity of friends of the college. Dalton Hall is entirely occupied by the scientific departments, the special scientific libraries, and the consultation-rooms of the professors of science. The first floor and the basement are reserved for physics, the second floor is reserved for biology, the third floor for chemistry, and the fourth and fifth floors for geology. In December, 1893, a greenhouse designed for the use of the botanical department was added to Dalton Hall as the gift of the alumnae and students.

Around Taylor Hall the trustees have erected halls of residence for the accommodation of students. Plans and descriptions of the six halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall East, Pembroke Hall West, and Rockefeller Hall, the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, and of the academic buildings, Taylor Hall, the Library, and Dalton Hall, are published in Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar to be obtained from the Secretary of the College.

Music-rooms with sound-proof walls and ceilings are provided in Pembroke Hall East, and rooms where the students can have hairdressing and dressmaking done, and a club and luncheon-room for non-resident students in Rockefeller Hall.

The new gymnasium, erected on the site of the first gymnasium and the gift of the Athletic Association, the alumnae and thirteen neighbors of the college, was completed in February, 1909. It is open to the students from 8 A.M. till 10 P.M., daily, contains a large hall for gymnastic exercises, with a running or walking track for use in rainy weather; a room for the director and an adjoining room for the examination and record of the physical development of the students, a waiting-room, and cloak rooms. In the basement are dressing-rooms and shower-baths for use after exercise and a swimming-tank, seventy feet long, twenty feet wide, and from four to seven and a half feet deep, given in 1894 by the alumnae, students, and friends of the college, and well supplied with spring boards, life preservers, and other apparatus for the teaching of swimming. The gymnasium is under the charge of a director and two assistants.

On the grounds, separated from the other buildings, the Class of 1905 infirmary has been erected, with accommodation for patients and nurses, and its own diet kitchens and bathrooms, wards and private rooms, sun parlour, sun terrace and two isolation wards.

A central power-house, which was erected in 1902 as part of the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, furnishes heat, electric light, and hot water for all the college buildings. Steam is conducted through tunnels underground to coils in the basement of each building. Air brought in from the outside is blown through the heaters by powerful fans and distributed to the various rooms, and the system is so adjusted as to change the air completely in every room once in every ten minutes throughout the day and night. The temperature is regulated by thermostats in the heating coils as well as in the individual rooms. The electric lights, including electric reading-lamps for each student, are installed in the most approved manner and the voltage is kept constant so that there is no fluctuation. A constant and abundant supply of hot water is laid on and maintained at a temperature of 180 degrees during all the twenty-four hours of the day, in all the bathrooms and stationary wash-stands and tea pantries.

The Bell Telephone Company, a branch of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, maintains telephone pay stations in each of the halls of residence, in the library and in the gymnasium, by means of which the students may be communicated with at any time. Near the college are a Postal Telegraph-Cable Company office (service 6 A.M. to 12 P.M.), an Adams Express office, a United States money-order office, and two banks. There are good roads in every direction. Horses for riding and driving may be kept at livery near the college at a cost of twenty-five dollars a month.
