Leap Week To Provide Scholarship

By Arlene Goetz
Leader Feature Editor

"To stimulate interest in foreign affairs on campus."

For nearly 17 years this simple motto has served as the basis for countless projects organized by the FHS International Relations Club. Currently the IRC is directing the Leap Week activities to raise money for a scholarship which is awarded annually to a foreign student.

The scholarship, a project organized shortly after the club was founded in 1946, is drawn entirely from the proceeds of the Leap Week dance and Daisy Mae and Bearded Joe elections. Awarded for a full year, it covers tuition, books and dormitory expenses.

Candidates for the scholarship are considered by the officers of the club and its sponsor, Gordon Davidson, assistant professor of history. Applicants' names are obtained from the Council of International Education in New York.

The most recent recipient, Vanibha Vadhanayon of Thailand, was awarded the scholarship on the recommendation of a former FHS student, Sombat Sangrungruang. Now a teacher in Thailand, he at-

Agency Helps In Job Hunts

Statistics show that few FHS students ventured far from their alma mater after graduation last year.

A recently-released 1961-1962 report prepared by the college placement office shows that of the 524 graduates and alumni who accepted new positions, 461 stayed in Kansas. The 167 graduates teaching in Kansas are employed in 53 counties. Leading those employing last year's graduating teachers are Sedgwich with 11, Rooks, 10, and Ellis, 8.

Twenty-five took out-of-state teaching positions.

Main teaching fields filled by the office were: elementary and kindergarten, 159; administration, 60; coaching and physical education, 40; mathematics, 40.

Of the 421 graduates registered, 229 accepted non-teaching jobs.

Other findings in the report:

1. A total of 4,013 teaching vacancies in Kansas and 4,198 from 30 states and 19 foreign countries were reported to the placement office during 1961-62. These figures include some duplicate reporting.

2. Kansas elementary vacancies reported numbered 1,171; secondary, 2,588; rural, 48; administrative, 151, and special education, 55. Greatest demands in the secondary field were in English, 496; music, 362; science, 236; mathematics, 230, and languages, 206.

3. Vacancies listed from out-of-state included 738 from New Mexico; 719 from California and 658 from Colorado.

4. The peak months for Kansas teaching vacancy reports were March with 1,070; April, 860, and February, 597.

During the year, 100 schools, in-

Debaters Take Second At Wichita

With the aid of a 5-win and 0-loss record posted by Jone Burris, Hays sophomore, and Rex Gaskill, Hutchinson junior, FHS debaters won a second-place trophy in Wichita last weekend with a final record of 8 and 2.

Tom Teschner and Richard Scott, both Atchison freshmen, won three of their five rounds.

Pittsburg State won first place in the tourney with a 9 and 1 record. Thirteen of the 15 Kansas colleges and universities having active debate programs entered the meet, making it an unofficial all-state championship affair.

FHS was tied with Emporia State for second but won out on individual speaker points, with a margin of 20 points.

The FHS debaters, coached by Jim Costigan, defeated Wichita University, McPherson, Kansas State, Tabor College, Southwestern, Emporia State, El Dorado Junior College and Hutchinson Junior College. The two losses were to Pittsburg State and Kansas University.

Washburn, Kansas State and Wichita tied for fourth place while Kansas University finished fifth.

The well-traveled debaters left Tuesday for Tucson and the University of Arizona sweepstakes tourney. Overall performance and

$8,000 Goal Topped By Endowment Assn.

The FHS Endowment Assn. not only attained its goal of $8,000, but by noon Wednesday had received $8,502 in contributions.

"Even though we missed the Friday deadline by one day, we have reached and surpassed our goal," stated Kent Collier, executive secretary of the Endowment Assn.

Collier continued with, "Next year we'll have the same problem to face—only it'll be worse because we're anticipating a need for about $20,000 in student loan funds."

Contributions for this drive are still coming in. Thus far the number of contributors totals 326. The addresses came from all parts of the United States.

"We have received responses from San Francisco, Sacramento, and Los Angeles, Calif., Salem, Ore., and Casper, Wyo., to Brooklyn, Washington, D. C., Fayetteville, Ark., Austin, Texas, and Albuquerque, N. M.," said Collier. "Despite the wide-range response, the people of Kansas constituted the majority of donors."

Five campus organizations contributed $1,115. They were: Agnew Hall, $200; Custer Hall, $200; Seventh Cavalry, $500; SNEA, $100, and Wesley Foundation, $115.

Since it was organized in 1959, the National Defense Student Loan program has made nearly a half-million-dollar impact on the college.

According to Miss Ethel Artman, director of student aids, a total of $495,796 has been loaned or committed to 524 students since the program began.

"Of this total, the college has been able to find $49,820," she said, "and the federal government has provided $445,976."

Still Need Prose For 'The Sheaf'

First contributions to The Sheaf, campus literary magazine, have already begun to come in, well in advance of the March 1 deadline, Dr. S. J. Sackett, chairman of the editorial board, announced today.

The first items submitted, Sackett said, were a group of three poems. "While we welcome poems," he commented, "I hope that this year we will have some strong prose contributions as well. Last year the magazine was composed entirely of poetry."

According to Sackett, there are no length limitations on submissions; anything of any reasonable length will be considered. Fiction, poetry, and drama are particularly desired.

Other members of the editorial board are Dr. Roberta C. Stout, Miss Alice Morrison, and Eugene Mullen.

Artists Exhibit Work In March

Dr. Joel Moss, professor of art, John Berland, associate professor of art, and John Thorns, assistant professor of art, will exhibit some of their work in the Wichita Art Assn. Invitation Crafts Show, beginning March 3, and lasting throughout the month.

Areas of creative work to be exhibited are ceramics, weaving, sculpture, jewelry design, enamel work and mosaics.

Dr. Moss' contribution will be a stoneware ceramic urn. Berland will exhibit two sculptures, "The Fallen Warrior," of cast bronze, and "The Head," of cast concrete. Thorns will feature jewelry works of a cast pendant and ring, both of sterling silver, and gold earrings.

debate will decide the winners of the AU tournament.

Gaskill, and Dan McGovern, Uplands, Calif., junior, who missed the Wichita meet because of studies, will comprise the senior men's division. Miss Burris and Janey Weinhold, Ellsworth senior, will make up the women's division.

Teschner and Scott will represent the junior men's division. All debaters will enter at least one individual event.

Our chances of going to the national debate finals at West Point look pretty good if we take the Arizona contest, reported Costigan.

Library Takes Part In Serials Project

The FHS Forsyth Library is one of five Kansas libraries participating in a union list of serials project sponsored by the Kansas Library Council. The organization's purpose is to aid researchers by showing where vital, scarce and highly technical publications are available in their area.

Materials that appear on the list will be made known through the cooperative efforts of Kansas University, Kansas State Teachers College of Emporia, Kansas State College of Pittsburg, Kansas State University and FHS.

The result of the project will be an up-to-date publication showing the complete periodical holdings of the five institutions.

The bulk of the project will be handled at KU. Included in the project will be the hiring of an experienced editor to handle the details of the publication. The editor will work at the KU, utilizing the materials and equipment already available there.

Cost of the union list is being prorated among the five institutions for an estimated cost of $1,690 and is expected to be completed by the fall of 1963.

Difference in Slavery And Populace Is the Vote Says 'Huck' Boyd

"Thirty cents of every dollar in the economy goes to the government in one form or another," stated McDill "Huck" Boyd, at the Young Republicans meeting Tuesday evening.

Boyd placed a personal appeal before all persons interested in private enterprise, Christianity, and education to support the democratic form of government by voting and participating at the "grass roots" level.

He pointed out the two basic forms of government in existence: The rule of the people or rule by the people. In emphasizing this difference he noted that the only thing standing between the populace and slavery is the exercise of the vote.

Elections of officers during the present semester were held following the question and answer period, and the results were: Charles Myers, Great Bend junior, president; Eldon Fleury, Jamestown junior, first vice-president; Alice Clapper, Meade freshman, second vice-president; Melinda Menhusen, Jewell freshman, third vice-president; Richard McCullen, Great Bend junior, treasurer; Diana Freeman, Larned freshman, secretary, and Jerry Hildreth, Greensburg sophomore, publicity chairman.

Peace Corps Plans On-Campus Testing

The Peace Corps placement test will be given on campus at 8 a.m. Saturday in Picken Hall, Room 211.

This is the only time that these tests will be given on campus during this academic year.

To qualify for the test, a prospective applicant should bring a completed Peace Corps volunteer questionnaire to the test site if he has not previously submitted one.

The Peace Corps placement test is non-competitive and is used primarily in the placement of successful trainees, rather than as a selection device.

Dean of Men Richard Burnett, FHS Peace Corps liaison officer, said that the Peace Corps will be inviting thousands of applicants to train this summer for over 100 projects in fields of education, community development and agriculture.

Students with prior study in Spanish and French are urged to apply, although a foreign language is not a prerequisite.

Faculty Senate Approves New Style Manual

A style manual to be used as a guide in completing all undergraduate research papers at FHS was recently accepted by the Faculty Senate.

Entitled "Form and Style in Thesis Writing," by William Campbell, formerly of the University of Southern California, the style manual will be a required textbook effective next fall in English Composition 2, and will be a required guide for all papers in all departments effective the same date.

The reason for a single style book is to provide uniformity in theme writing throughout the campus, said Marion F. Coulson, associate professor of English. Coulson continued that the new manual will also give a good background for graduate work.

Although the graduate division uses the University of Chicago style manual, the Campbell manual provides good background for graduate research paper writing, explained Dr. Ralph Coder, dean of the graduate division. The Campbell manual is really a shortened version of the University of Chicago manual, Dr. Coder continued.

Students will benefit if a style manual is adopted. They will be able to use the same format for all undergraduate courses. Better papers should be a result since students will know exactly what is expected as a term paper, reads the Faculty Senate's minutes on the acceptance of the manual.

Although this manual will be used as a general plan, there are some divisions as well as instructors who might wish to make changes. The variations to the style manual will be recorded only upon direction of the Faculty Senate.

It was decided by the Faculty Senate that the reference desk in the library contain copies of the manuals and its variations.

Math Teachers Must Pick 40 Participants For FHS Summer Math Institute

Some long days—and nights—are in the offing for two Fort Hays State College mathematics professors.

Wilmont Toalson and Laurence Dryden are faced with the job of selecting 40 participants in FHS's National Science Foundation-sponsored summer mathematics workshop from the more than 400 applications which have been received from throughout the United States.

There's not too much time to get the job done, since participants are to be notified by March 15.

Toalson says about five—"or 10 if everything goes right,"—applications can be reviewed in one hour. At five-per-hour, this represents 40 hours' work for each of the two professors.

"We want to select those who would benefit most from such an institute," Toalson said. Criteria for selection will include the applicant's statement, recommendations, and courses the applicant is teaching.

The institute for junior and senior high school algebra teachers is financed by a $58,000 grant from the NSF, and will be held June 3 to Aug. 2. Toalson is institute director and Dryden will serve on the staff.

Slightly Ridiculous

Editorial pages of Kansas papers have been liberally sprinkled recently with both pro and con views on the Wichita University question.

At Kansas University, the Daily Kansan, the student newspaper, came out in favor of the proposal, while the KU student council aired exactly opposite views on the same page.

The Eurich Report of last year recommended making Wichita University a "State Universities Center," with control by a board of KU and K-State administrators, with degrees coming from KU.

Opponents of this plan, mainly in the Wichita area, say it would downgrade WU. They feel WU should be admitted as a full university, separate from the other two state universities and supported fully by the state.

Promoting Wichita University to full state university status would put an additional strain on the Kansas education budget. Present state schools are having a hard time getting money for much-needed improvements and the admission of another state U would further hinder the chances for rapid growth of these schools.

The Topeka Capital-Journal has said: "If Kansas is going to further its higher education program on a first-things-first basis, it must give attention to its established schools, then determine whether it can afford to take in Wichita U., either on the basis of the Eurich Report or as a separate school under the Board of Regents. Either way, it means assuming a considerable fiscal responsibility."

The Journal further stated it would cost an estimated $3 million to run WU the first year.

Another strong factor on the con side is the need of faculty salary raises in Kansas. Both the Eurich Report and the Keller Report, in 1960, for which Kansas paid $150,000, gave high priority to faculty pay raises.

WU's financial situation doesn't warrant its admission as a state school. It had over $300,000 left in the kitty at the end of last year, but didn't even bother to lower tuition. And the over 5,000 students and faculty of WU do not seem particularly interested in the proposal since a mere 100 turned out to hear Governor John Anderson speak to them on their own campus last week about admission.

Admitting WU as a full state university would be going directly against the grain of the recommendations of both groups of educators that recently investigated Kansas education, and probably against the wishes of most Kansans.

In a state that is having a hard time keeping up with the demands of existing state schools, it seems slightly ridiculous to create another state university.

Try to Remember

Chances are quite a few students glanced at the headline on last week's story about the proposed tuition hike but didn't become excited enough to read the story.

Those that might have reason to worry about spending more money for their education probably read far enough into the story to find out the proposed increase was only one dollar per semester and have since erased it from their minds.

When the election booths are set up March 13 in the Memorial Union, most of these students won't remember why the booths are there.

If the proposal should not pass because of apathy on the part of the student body, we wonder how many memories will be jolted back into operation next year when some of these same students are refused National Defense Loans because of a lack of funds.

Although remembering something until March 13 may be a strain on many people's memories, we hope enough vote yes to see the proposal through.

Fort Hays Singers Sang For Salina Lions, Ladies

The Fort Hays Singers, under the direction of Donald Stout, sang at the Lion's Club Ladies Night in Salina Tuesday.

Selections were taken from "My Fair Lady," "Carnival," "Kismet," and "Oklahoma." Folk songs and spirituals completed the performance.

Mumblings

An article from the United States National Student Assn. came across my desk the other day relating how many student editors had been fired during the past year.

One of the reasons the editors were dismissed was that student councils didn't think the editors were covering the council's activities with due respect for authority.

Yes (shudder), some schools' student councils control the student newspapers, not to mention the unions and various other areas.

Maybe the student councils mentioned were conducting so much business that the student editor couldn't keep up.

Or perhaps their student councils were like ASC at FHS, where meetings are so slow moving and so little happens that it's hard to keep awake.

Last week when something important did happen, namely the tuition hike proposal, the few members that showed up had to scrounge around the campus to find enough voting members for a quorum. This must be what's called representation of the students.

ASC has operated much the same way all year, except for the first of the fall semester when everyone turned out for meetings to see what it was all about. They obviously became bored with the slow-moving proceedings and vowed not to show again.

Much of ASC's meeting time is taken by trivials like parliamentary procedure. They can't figure out what to do next. (Shouldn't government officials at least know how to introduce a motion?) When the one or two members with Robert's Rules of Order don't show up for meetings, things become a drag.

A number of ASC members use the excuse that studies keep them from meetings. If they'd get down to business when they are there, they could halve every meeting. Some of this year's meetings could have been conducted in 15 minutes, with time left over to argue a little about the correct order of the meeting.

We all know that government on the scale of our Federal Government is by necessity slow, probably because of the immensity of the operation more than anything.

The operations of ASC are anything but immense, and just because they are playing government they don't have to copy big government right down the line by being slow and more than slightly inefficient.

Get serious, ASC. drw

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"A STORY IS GOING AROUND, HENLEY, THAT YOU CAN'T ADEQUATELY HOUSE YOUR FAMILY ON YOUR PRESENT SALARY."

They Say This But Mean That

(ACP) — Many college professors seem to have an unerring talent for not saying exactly what they intend to say. THE DAILY UNIVERSE, Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, therefore offers the following translations:

*What the professor says

The textbook for this course will be one you will want to keep all your life.

My philosophy of teaching embodies the principles of certain academic disciplines.

I appreciate your remarks. Unfortunately, we don't have the time to pursue that line of thought.

Of course, you all know that the honor system is in effect in this classroom.

I know you would enjoy delving more deeply into this interesting subject.

The final grades will be determined on a rigid curve.

It might be well for me to cite one or two concrete principles of this principle.

The final exam will be nothing more than a brief review.

What the professor means

The book costs $15.95, and they won't be buying it back next semester.

I'm a bear!

Quit interrupting my lecture!

You'll notice I've passed out alternate tests, and I'll monitor the classroom.

You'll be expected to hand in at least two research papers this term.

I plan to give one "A" in this class.

Prepare to hear the history of my life.

Memorize the textbook.

Watch out, however. There are some cagey professors who actually say what they mean.

Leap Week . . . .

tended FHS on the same scholarship in 1958.

The IRC scholarship program was initiated to encourage more foreign students to attend FHS. A record number of students from abroad—33 representing 17 countries—are attending FHS this year. In 1960 only 14 international students were enrolled and last year 23.

In addition to the scholarship, the IRC renders financial assistance of smaller amounts to foreign students who would not be able to remain at FHS without it. Three students are receiving aid this semester.

Other major projects of the club are the Foreign Affairs Conference held annually in the fall, the model

UN held recently at Oklahoma University, and a picnic in the spring.

Films, forums and lectures about foreign countries are part of the regular schedule of activities. Foreign students often give talks on their homelands at the club meetings, which are held biweekly on Tuesdays.

The importance of the work of the IRC cannot be over-emphasized.

As Dean of Women Jean Stauffer, foreign student advisor, put it, "Having these students in our midst is a rich opportunity for us as Americans to broaden our experience and deepen our understanding of people from a different heritage. Beyond that, it is important that we give these young people a better opportunity to know us."

International Student Enrollment Continues to Increase

Following the footsteps of an older brother or sister is not unusual, but traveling halfway around the world to attend the same school is something of a rarity.

Yet a surprising number of this year's international students are relatives of former FHS students.

H. B. Patel, sophomore, and his nephew, M. M. Patel, freshman, from India, are now studying at Fort Hays State. Three other Patels have attended the college.

The Contreras family of Guatemala, represented by Luis last year, has sent his brother, Leonel, to FHS to begin his college education.

Dinos Kyriakides of Cyprus, a freshman student, came to the college on the basis of the recommendation made by his brother Tonis, who attended FHS two years ago.

Another student, Augusto Arias, graduate student from Bogota, Columbia, who enrolled at FHS last year, brought his brother, Carlos, back with him this year.

A record number of students from abroad—33 representing 17 countries—are attending FHS this year. Included in this number are 14 who have returned for at least their second year. In 1960 only 14 international students were enrolled and last year 23.

Dean of Women Jean Stouffer, foreign student adviser, observed that the students from abroad are, for the most part, "more serious" about their education than the average American student.

"Many of the international students have a slight language handicap, thereby necessitating more hours to do their homework," Dean Stouffer explained. "But despite this handicap, they're here for one primary purpose—to get an education. Since most of them are going through much more of a sacrifice to come to college than most American students, they just don't want to waste the opportunity."

This year FHS initiated a special course, English for foreign students, for those international students experiencing difficulty with the English language. The college plans to expand its program to include additional orientation help in the near future.

As in the past, several FHS international students are making themselves available for speaking engagements, with basic expenses the only charge.

Another program emphasized this year is giving each international student an opportunity to visit an American home and enjoy an American meal.

In a questionnaire Dean Stouffer sent out, all the students indicated they would appreciate an opportunity to visit an American home. Or, as one student put it: "The suggestion is more than welcome."

Dean Stouffer said, "Having these students in our midst is a rich opportunity for us as Americans to broaden our experience and deepen our understanding of people from a different heritage. Beyond that, it is important that we give these young people a better opportunity to get to know us. They get a one-sided view of our life and a superficial one as they see us going about our business terribly preoccupied."

International students attending FHS this year, their home countries and majors are:

Tetsuji Akasofu, Japan, English; Augusto Arias, Columbia, business; Carlos Arias, Columbia, agriculture; Moon-Kwan Chang, Korea, mathematics; Kan Chaturachinda, Thailand, English; Julie Chu, Hong Kong, art; Leonel Contreras, Guatemala, pre-veterinary; Iwhan Cho, Korea, chemistry; Farrokh Hakimian, Iran, civil engineering; Barbara Kwak, Korea, home economics; Dinos Kyriakides, Cyprus, economics; Adolfo Ricardo Landes, Cuba, chemistry; Young Lee, Korea, agriculture; Hisamitsu Nakadomari, Okinawa, chemistry.

Louis Naranjo, Costa Rica, mathematics; H. B. Patel, India, business; Anne Putuhena, Indonesia, art; Hossein Rahimian, Iran, botany; Eva Redin, Sweden, language; Jugalkishor Shah, India, chemistry; Thomas Soh, China, chemistry; Aysseul Taspinar, Turkey, German; Vanibha Vadhanayon, Thailand, political science; Doug Vickers, Canada, physical education; Stephen Yow, Hong Kong, chemistry.

Benjamin Chang, Formosa, history; Evangeling Soh, Taiwan, economics; Girija Roy, India, botany; Chug-Hsun Yu, Taiwan, chemistry; Juan Sardon, Peru, agriculture; Cyrus Eilian, Iran, mathematics; Luis Contreras, agriculture, and Ursal Rieser, Germany, liberal arts.

'Dollars For Education Committee' Will Publicize Proposed Fee Hike

Publicity for the coming election on bolstering the endowment fund is being handled by a group of three students under the name of "Dollars for Education Committee."

Members of the committee, working with Endowment Secretary Kent Collier, are Ernie Miller, Leland Broadbeck and Tom Smith.

The committee met Wednesday morning and outlined plans for distributing fact sheets about bill among students.

Ping Pong Plaques Taken By Hockett Brothers

Elwin Hockett, Ulysses junior, and Eldean Hockett, Ulysses freshman, won the first and second place plaques in the table tennis playoffs held Thursday in the Memorial Union.

The two brothers were among thirteen boys who were entered in the event.

Stephen Yow, Hong Kong sophomore, and John Page, Salina freshman, placed third and fourth.

Students Rescue Dog

Three FHS students were a dog's best friend Thursday.

Dave Parker, Tonganoxie senior and NAIA All-American football player, was making a delivery in his work for the college warehouse when he spotted the mongrel paddling in icy Big Creek, which flows through the campus.

The dog apparently had walked out on the ice, which broke and left him stranded in the water, unable to climb back on the ice.

Jumping out of the delivery truck, Parker hailed two passing youths to help him with the rescue. With Ricardo Landes, Cuban senior, and Dennis Johnson, Bridgeport sophomore, holding his feet, Parker edged his way out on the ice on his stomach, grabbed the dog and pulled him to safety.

Parker said the dog, whose owner is unknown, weighed about 60 pounds.

Four Exhibits Added To Museum

A penny tip may not be considered to be a satisfactory sum by most waitresses, but when Jean Peden, Geneseo, found a penny tip on a table while working at a Brookville restaurant last summer, she didn't complain.

The coin is an 1857 flying eagle penny valued at $10. Miss Peden, a freshman at FHS, presented the coin to the college museum.

The coin is one of four exhibits which have been added to the museum in recent months.

Twenty-five photographs taken in the 1880's have been donated to the museum by Mrs. Graham P. Johnson of Dallas. The photos are from a collection of Mrs. Johnson's mother, the late Ellen Behan Miller, who lived near Hays. Pictures of old Fort Hays, the business districts of Hays and Victoria and General George Custer are included.

A dance program for the Victoria Social Club, dated Feb. 20, 1880, and two letters written by General Custer's wife, Elizabeth, to Mrs. Johnson's grandfather, James Behan, in 1908, were also presented to the museum.

Another addition to the museum is an authentic Scottish bagpipe, a gift of Jack Owens of St. John, who received the instrument from Lt. Carneigh, Duke of Norstek, while he was studying at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland. Made of ebony and ivory, the bagpipe was used by the Argyll and Southerland Highlanders, a World War II regiment.

Clair Rumford, Manter, discovered some scraps of sandstone, meaningless to almost anyone but a paleontologist, in a creek bed in Stanton County. Museum curator Myrl Walker examined the scraps and found they contained prints of an ancient water reptile, a plesiosaur. It is believed to be the first time a plesiosaur fossil of this type has been found in Dakota sandstone.

Rumford, a teacher in Manter, is a former student of Walker's geology of Western Kansas workshop.

Reading Course Speeds Up Reading

Results of the fall semester reading improvement course disclosed the 149 enrolled students had an overall average increase of 30.54 in their reading speed, on the percentile basis.

Dr. Norman Frame, assistant professor of education, said the percentile method is identical to the one used to compute scores for the ACT tests.

Other results are: paragraph comprehension improvement, 12.54 per cent; and factual comprehension increased 11.50 per cent.

To achieve these ends, ditto sheets for eye movement practice are used, plus reading manuals which contain short selections used for speed and comprehension.

Several machines aid the enrollees of these courses. A tachistoscope (tuh-kiss-tuh-scope) flashes words and phrases on a screen up to a speed of 1/100th of a second. The reading pacer is a device which electrically pushes a small bar down the page, requiring the individual to read ahead. Its speed is varied, depending on the difficulty of the reading material.

A total of four Iowa Silent Reading Tests are used by the department, each more difficult than the one preceding it. By this method, each student's progress is noted.

Dr. Frame exclaimed that former students have informally said they gained more comprehension and speed than the tests indicated.

GLAD RAGS

The hounds of spring are on winter's traces. Soon buds the crocus, soon trifts the giant condor, soon come the new spring fashions to adorn our lissome limbs.

And what will the American college student wear this spring? Gather round, you rascals, and light a Marlboro Cigarette and enjoy that fine mellow tobacco, that pure white filter, and possess your souls in sweet content, and listen.

As everyone knows, campus fashions have always been casual. This spring, however, they have gone beyond being merely casual: they have become makeshift.

The object is to look madly improvised, gaily spur-of-the-moment! For example, why don't you girls try wearing a peasant skirt with a dinner jacket? Or matador pants with a bridal veil? Or Bermuda shorts with bronze breastplates? Be rakish! Be impromptu! Be devil-take-the-hindmost!

And, men, you be the same. Try an opera cape with sweat pants. Or a letter-sweater with kilts. Or a strait jacket with hip boots. Be bold! Be daring! Be a tourist attraction!

Be rakish! Be impromptu!

But all is not innovation in college fashions this spring. In fact, one of the highlights of the season turns time backward in its flight. I refer, of course, to the comeback of the powdered wig.

This charming accoutrement, too long neglected, has already caught on with in undergrads everywhere. On hundreds of campuses the bossa nova is giving way to the minuet, and patriotic undergraduates are dumping British tea into the nearest harbor. This, as you may imagine, does not sit well with King George III who, according to reliable reports, has been stamping his foot and uttering curses not fit to reproduce in this family newspaper. For that matter, a lot of our own people are steamed up too, and there has even been some talk about the American colonies declaring their independence of England. But I hardly think it will come to that. I mean, how can we break with the mother country when we are dependent on her for so many things—linsey-woolsey, Minié balls, taper snuffers, and like that? She, on the other hand, relies on us for turkeys, Marlboro Cigarettes, and Route 66. So I say, if Molly Pitcher and those other Radeliffe hotheads will calm down, and if gentlemen will cry "Peace! Peace!" we may yet find an amicable solution to our differences. But let not our British cousins mistake this willingness to negotiate for weakness. If fight we must, then fight we will! Paul Revere is saddled up, the rude bridge arches the flood, and the ROTC is armed!

But I digress. We were smoking Marlboro Cigarettes—O, splendid cigarette! O, good golden tobaccos! O, pristine pure white filter! O, fresh! O, tasty! O, soft pack! O, flip top box! O, get some!—we were, I say, smoking Marlboros and talking about spring fashions.

Let us turn now to the season's most striking new feature—pneumatic underdrawers. These inflatable garments make every chair an easy chair. Think how welcome they will be when you sit through a long lecture! They are not, however, without certain dangers. Last week, for example, Rimbaud Sigafos, a sophomore at the University of Pittsburgh, fell out of a 96th story window in the Tower of Learning. Thanks to his pneumatic underdrawers, he suffered no injury when he struck the sidewalk, but the poor fellow is still bouncing—his seventh consecutive day—and it is feared that he will starve to death.

Far Out

By Karen Jo Fleming
Leader Society Editor

Spring is here! Let us hear it for spring and a new kind of campus fashion.

Heard by way of whisper along the grapevine, styles to come can be previewed as a slight bit louder in color.

The new colors will be gayer, happier and further out than in the past two or three years. A variation is predicted, and could be dubbed as a middle fifty color rage.

Spring will silhouette generally the same type of fashion clothing cut. Fitted or spare, but not loose, skirts will be slim, circular or flared.

The autumn and earth tones of brown, green and gold, will give way to a new unpredictable fashion spectrum. Summer whites are planned to break the monotony of the new 'brights.'

The tennies, or sneakers will be a continual effort of ease and comfort throughout spring and summer.

Plaids may come in, but for the most part spring glibly stays with prints and plains. These will interchange and vary.

Glancing at the exciting fashions and colors will tell a tale of gaiety steaming throughout the campus and perhaps these fashions and colors will dictate future fashion.

Of course, the originality of the coed will provide leave way for all the fashions. The new face of fashion provides fun for those artistically inclined, as well as those who just love color.

And it may take the campuses of the nation into capture, with full consent on the part of coeds. I think the new look will afford the old imagination as much fun as any color era.

One thing is for sure, the coed can be in fashion, color-wise, and still be far out!

Gymnasts Meet Jayhawks

Tiger gymnasts continue dual competition when they meet Kansas University at Lawrence Saturday.

This will be the second meeting between the two clubs. The Bengals defeated the Jayhawks, 61-45, in a double dual with Nebraska University in December.

Fort Hays State's gymnastics team walked away with victories in two dual meets and lost one on a lengthy trip last weekend to Colorado.

The Tigers' record was boosted to 4-2 in dual competition when the gymnasts defeated Colorado State University, 57 1/2-54 1/2, and Colorado State College, 58 1/2-53 1/2, in a double-dual Saturday at Fort Collins, Colo. However, Colorado University spoiled the winning streak and defeated the Tigers, 75-37, Monday afternoon at Boulder.

The double-dual sweep at Fort Collins was the first time coach Ed McNeill's Tigers have won a double-header in the Mountain State, and was also the first defeat over Colorado State College.

Central Missouri Here Friday; Matmen Split Matches On Road

Central Missouri State matmen are the net foes for the Tiger wrestling squad at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Sheridan Coliseum, after splitting two dual meets on a road trip to Colorado.

Graceland College of Lamoni, Iowa, has cancelled its scheduled Friday night wrestling meet at FHS.

Coach Walter Kroll has rearranged his weekend schedule as a result of the cancellation. Central Missouri State was previously scheduled to meet the Tigers Saturday afternoon.

Graceland's failure to appear for the match will be counted as a forfeit and will boost the Bengal grapplers' season record to 8-2.

The FHS grapplers fell to Adams State, 20-8, Friday night at Alamosa, Colo. In the next engagement at Trinidad Saturday afternoon, the Bengals avenged the defeat by whitewashing Trinidad College, 30-0.

Don Keller of St. Francis and Jim Tinkler of Russell were the only two FHS victors Friday night. Keller outscored his rival by a large margin in the 130 scrap and Tinkler pinned his opponent in the heavyweight class. Tigers Ken Ruda, 167-pounder, and Delbert Erickson, 177-pounder, both from Atwood, lost their matches by one-point for riding time.

WRA Squad Wins Sportsday Game

Fort Hays State's WRA basketball team, coached by adviser Judy Rinker, outscrapped a group of Western Kansas women physical education instructors, 21-14, in a Sportsday Saturday in Sheridan Coliseum.

In earlier action, 12 high school girls teams fought for first place in three leagues, with representatives from Lyons, Portis and Lincoln gaining championships. Other schools represented were Natoma, Healy, Ellis, Dighton, Hill City, Weskan, Russell, Larned and Great Bend.

On the women's intramural scene, the Chiggers now lead the Earthbound League with a 3-1 record, while the Night Owls and the Earthworms battle for second place with 2-1 marks. In the Orbital League, the Satellites and the Rockets are tied for first place with 2-0 records.

The round-robin tournament is nearly finished and final action will be highlighted by interleague championship and all-star games at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Sheridan Coliseum.

The deadline for joining the WRA for second semester is March 8, and the $1 dues may be paid to Joyce Trogden, Agnew Hall; Liz Rabensefner, Custer Hall, or advisers Phyllis Bigby or Judy Rinker.

SCORING THREATS — Coach Cade Suran discusses the remaining games with, left to right, Sam McDowell, Herb Stange and John Channell. Stange and Channell are the leading CIC scorers, averaging 18.9 and 18 points per game, respectively, and McDowell is fourth with 15.9. Against Pittsburg, McDowell made 14 free throws to tie the record for the most gift tosses made in a single game.

St. Benedict's, Omaha Final Foes

Home game wins over St. Benedict's College and Omaha University during the next week are musts for the Fort Hays State basketball squad if they are to remain in contention for the Central Intercollegiate Conference title.

The Tigers meet St. Benedict's at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Tigers moved into close contention for the championship with a 95-79 win over league-leading Pittsburg State Saturday night in Sheridan Coliseum.

Pittsburg has a 5-2 record and the Bengals are 5-3. The Gorillas have three games left and in order for the Tigers to tie for the championship, the cagers from southeast Kansas must lose one while FHS wins both remaining contests.

St. Benedict's, now 1-7 in conference play, lost its most recent CIC contest to Omaha University, 68-57.

The lone win for the Ravens came over the Bengals in a 72-68 upset at Atchison earlier this month.

Willy LaNere, 5-7 guard, led a well-rounded attack with 19 points and Joe Gillespie and Dude Kelly, both freshmen collected 13 counters each.

Though having only a 5-15 record as of Tuesday, the Ravens are a tough defensive team and their losing margin for the season is only about three points per game.

In the 47-game history between St. Benedict's and FHS, the Tigers have won 24, while losing 23.

Thursday the Indians from Omaha University are the Tigers' foe when the Bengals complete their regular season.

In their first meeting the Nebraskans easily fell, 101-76.

The Tigers posted a decisive victory over conference leader Pittsburg State, 95-79, Saturday night in Sheridan Coliseum.

The win left the Suranmen just a half-game behind the Gorillas. Washburn University fell to Omaha Saturday night to give the Tigers complete possession of second place.

Though the game was tied on five occasions, Pittsburg never led as the Bengals broke the last tie to pull ahead 20-18 and then widened the gap to 42-35 at intermission.

The Tigers, led by John Channell and Sam McDowell, broke the contest wide open in the first four minutes of the second half as they pushed the score to 55-39. About four minutes later the Bengals gained their biggest lead at 72-49.

A trio of juniors from Pittsburg, Dave Holt, Jerry Couch and Bob Jenkins, scored consistently throughout the rest of the contest and allowed the Gorillas to keep pace with the fast-running Bengals.

McDowell and Channell led the Tiger scoring attack with 28 and 26 points, respectively. Ex-guard McDowell picked up half of his counters on gift tosses, hitting 14 of 18, while 6-5 Channell netted 12 field goals.

Leading the Pittsburg attack were Couch and Holt, with 19 and 18 respectively, while teammates Delwin Locke and Jenkins added 14 and 13, respectively.

Scoring ace Herb Stange, Tiger center, played only a little more than half the game, but

Jayvee Foe Is Gilmer Oilers, Then Bethany

Fort Hays State's junior varsity meets the Gilmer Oilers of Great Bend at 7:30 tonight in Sheridan Coliseum.

The Oilers are managed and coached by Bernie Gilmer, former FHS student who is now at Kansas State University.

Monday the jayvees travel to Bethany College at Lindsborg.

This is the last game scheduled for the young Tigers.

In junior varsity action during the past week the FHS squad won a double-header in Sheridan Coliseum Thursday night, posting victories over town teams from Menlo, 84-75, and Brewster, 97-74.

Menlo fell as the young Tigers hit from the field at a 48.1 per cent clip, with R. J. Smiley leading the scoring with 25 points, his best game in two seasons of jayvee ball. Scoring leader Darrell Ehrlich was close behind with 19.

Leading the Menlo attack was former FHS varsity star, Mel Christensen, who had 27.

In the nightcap against Brewster Mike Leas, Hays freshman, meshed 21 points to lead the scoring while four other Tigers also tallied in double figures.

Gary Channell finished with 16 and Ehrlich netted 14, while Clarence Taylor, Oakley freshman who joined the squad second semester, collected 13 points and Bill Schumacher added 10.

The young Tigers repeated last week's victory over Brewster Tuesday night when they again dropped the town team, 88-70, at Brewster. The win assured senior assistant Don Reed's cagers of a winning season. They now have a 7-4 record.

Ehrlich retained his customary role as leading scorer, netting 21 points, 17 of them in the second half and five field goals in the final six minutes.

Leas and Smiley both turned in commendable performances, finishing with 15 counters each. Also in double figures was Bob Anthony, who had 10.

BULLETIN

Fort Hays State became a strong contender for the CIC title Wednesday night when Emporia State dropped Pittsburg State, 71-58, at Pittsburg. The game moved FHS, Pitt and E-State into a three-way tie, all with 5-3 records. If the Tigers win their remaining two games they are assured of at least a tie for the championship.

meshed 12 points. The 6-4 senior was in bed with the flu for most of the two days prior to the game.

Jim Bodge, senior guard, netted 12 points while running mate Tom McKain finished with six.

The Tiger cagers continued to hit well from the field, hitting 45.6 per cent, while Pittsburg connected on 35.6 per cent.
