both before and after.
We did not say anything about it to our friends - for why
should we spread
anxiety in the world? And now it is all happily over.

Dear love to you
both!

March 15, 1897.

[March 15, 1897]

Beloved Lady, your note comes just as we were speaking of you, and
thinking how long it
has been since the last sweet glimpse!

But there have been
reasons, such heavy,
anxious reasons, why
I have not come. Mr.

Salomon has been ill -
Now he is better, and doing his work, but he can't do any more Boston in the evening

cross a long way
off yet, much as we should like to sit down with you two. Of course he will not come in
next Wednesday night,
and I cannot, until the last moment, as I have guests to dinner here, and must leave
as late as will do.

And don't take the trouble to come out that evening! It's good to see you, but you know all I can say

and much more. I wish very to don't wait for your presence this week I mean kind-ly hearted, and I will be sure to be your. And I am coming to see you very soon; don't worry about Mr. Palmer. He is going on "Philadelphia", and will be a new man now. - He was an operation on Jan, 28th and it was a very serious business
