A Model League

A Model League of Nations carried on staff. by the five leading Universities of the Maritime Provinces of Canada is taking place this week. The Universities participating are: Acadia, University of New Brunswick, Mount Allison, Kings, and Dalhousie. Each of these colleges sends delegates to a meeting at which problems of the world are discussed.

Such a league would be a fitting project for the colleges of Maine or New England. Each college could have its delegates, who would act as representatives from various nations. Then actual problems before the League of Nations could be taken up, and action taken just as they

A project of this sort would have great benefit. It would create greater interest in the leading questions of the day, and would cause at least those students chosen as delegates to the meetings to think rather deeply on these problems. The meetings could be conducted so that an audience could be present to hear the discussions, and this would also create an interest in international affairs.

At present the only organizations on the campus under whose work such a project would fall are the M.C.A., which of its work, and the Liberal Club, which was organized to create an interest in na- honors. It would not be amiss for these two organizations to have a joint meeting, and draw up plans for a Model League of Nations, a Model Congress, or a Model World Court. Each of these would serve the purpose of creating student interest in important political problems.

Maine Described Since The Election

(From the Chicago Tribune) (According to new Democratic geography)

Maine. The greatest state in the country! The greatest state in any country! The greatest state in the world! Gloriously situated in the northeast portion of our glorious nation. Bounded on the north by Canada; on the east by Happiness; on the south by oceans of joy, and on the west by the delighted cheers of the Democrats. The climate is most salubrious, healthy, inspiring and sopping wet. Population, 118,958 souls and some Republicans. It is a most fertile state, everything growing to immense size, especially Democratic election majorities. State flower, Forget-Me-Not. State motto, "Remember the Maine vote." THAT RANK did you make? Don't worry about it, you'll still be eligible-for ye Snoopus...Looks like Johnny (Pep) Wilson is falling. He's been seen with the same femme twice in succession at the movies, at the dorm dance, at the S.A.E. party, and at the A.T.O. party.... We nominate for oblivion-the Phi Gam who invented the idea of an onion necklace. It's O.K. to chastise the pledges, but why make the rest of us suffer?....It must be love when the two McMichaels plan to come down all the way from the forestry camp at Princeton for the military ball and the Phi Eta party.... Dame Rumor brings the report that Gil the Grinder Robertshaw believes that variety is the spice of life.... And just who is the Dartmouth lad who is going to be highly honored by taking one of our fairest of the fair co-eds to the Lambda Chi party tomorrow night?....And while we're asking questions, who was the beautiful young lady getting Russ Shaw's ranks from the dean's office the other day? Looks like love....It appears that one of our pretty coeducational students is drifting back to that Arlen-like countenance of Phil Linn, but then there are irresistible forces.... Have the Phi Gam's and the A. T. O.'s gone in for pioneering now that they are living in a log cabin?.... Somebody asked the other day when Prescott Ward is going to pass out the cigars....And we have found that there are attractions strong enough to draw some men away from the environs of the campus. Sir Giguere is seeking his fortune in his spare time in other places We have it on good authority that Frankie Dean owes money on this campus.... Can she make fudge? CAN she, boy, oh boy, oh boy, she sure can make fudge whoever she is. We're talking about the person who makes that DELICIOUS fudge for Mun(rrr) Romansky.... Talk about being such a good friend that you would give the shirt off your back, listen to this (meaning of course, read it). Last week one of our handsome hunters wore his scarlet shirt to classes, and one of our co-eds admired the shirt. Ye hunter said when his shirt was being thus admired, "Do you want it?" Whereupon the lil lady said "sure," whereupon she got the shirt. On a bet she wore the blazing piece of apparel all day....Special Extra!! Al Grua, Breaks up happy home (Story on page 26) -And we'll bet that the income of the post office up there in Princeton is increasing by leaps and bounds since the foresters have arrived.... Is it true that Pete Karalekas has hanged his pin? Pete says NO, but everybody else says yes....Love blossomed at the Hannibal Hamlin Hog Wrassel several weeks ago when Janet Campbell successfully vamped one of the wearers of the green ties and blue caps.... Pasky went home last Tuesday for the weekend and came back this Tuesday. Some week-end, Pasky....Who was the midnight visitor at the Maples at 1:30 P.X. Tuesday night, that was embarrassed to the nth degree?.... Hast thou seen the cute lil ear muffs that the Phi Kappa lads are parading around the campus in this week? Maybe they need 'em and maybe they need pillows for protection, we don't know, and we don't care....This Ouija board has been doing queer things over there in Balentine. Who is this Peter Christopher Standish from the University of Edinburgh? Rog Hefler, noble busy manager of the Campus, went ahunting and got an 8-point deer....And the little Phi Gam's visited Balentine and took the places of the waitresses last night....Some of the little freshettes have gone in for skating in a big way, why they even get up before breakfast to go down to the river and skate in the dark....Oh, oh, it has been proved that you can't take a pretty picture of a homely person, but what a mob has invaded the M. C. A. Building to get a look at themselves....Love and kisses.

"BANANAS-THE LONG WAY!"

"Maine trounces Colby!" "The backfield stars!" "Thrilling passes stir the air!" Our team was praised; our band was cheered; But what about our new Maine Bear?

Bananas surpassed the overgrown Mule; Pulled down high score in the second quarter, When crouching behind the wire fence He drank two bottles of soda water.

Bananas eagerly watched the game As behind Coach Brice he sat. When Colby brought the White Mule over Bananas downed the old "High Hat."

One touchdown made, the game all over, Bananas heaved a high,

Fifty-six men reported to Coach Kenyon for freshman basketball practice Monday night at the Armory. This is a slightly smaller number than that of last year, but it is expected that more men will re-

From the fifty-six candidates an A and a B squad will be chosen. A sixteen game schedule has been arranged for team A, and a slightly smaller one for team B.

An intensive practice program has begun in preparation for the first game of the season, January 3, when team B will play Old Town High. Team A does not play until January 10, when it meets Calais. Up to the present, the guards have been spending their time shooting baskets, while the forwards and centers have been practicing passing and dribbling.

Out of the total number of men reporting, there were twenty-one forwards, twenty-five guards, and ten centers. Most of them have had some previous experience on their high and prep school teams.

The men trying out for the teams are: Forwards, R. Bearce, A. Fitz, H. Boardman, A. Crowder, C. Harmon, F. Hickey, P. Brown, J. Miller, J. Fogarty, H. Woodbury, E. McKenney, K. Chute, R. Chase, R. Knowlton, G. Raymond, M. Duncan, E. Webster, D. Wilkins, D. Lull, A. Judd, and C. Hermon.

OWLS HOLD LITTLE PARTY FOR UNRULY FRESHMEN

Two more freshmen graced the Tuesday evening meeting of the Sophomore Owls, as a result of which, Raymond Dunlevy is wearing his clothes backwards, carrying a bow and arrow, and wearing the sign, "Dan Cupid" on his back today. Guy Flagg was the other recipient of the Owl's attentions. He was warned and released without punishment.

Plan Gala Time for Penny Carnival Friday

Come anyway. You can eat good food even if you don't want to join the dancers. There's one thing that might be added. It's going to be much easier to walk in the front door than by the orhestra. That's just a hint!

Everyone come to Penny Carnival in the gym tomorrow night. The theme song of the evening will be "When You Hear Those Bells Go Ding-a-ling." So let's all get out and make Dec. 2 a record night for dear old Maine.

Charles Lampropoulos and Freeman Webb, bridge champs of last year, will welcome any challenge from championship aspirants.

BING CROSBY

Bing Crosby, featured in "The Big Broadcast," coming to the Strand Theater, Orono, Wednesday and Thursday Dec. 7 and 8, was born and raised in Spokane, Washington. He had his first singing experience in the glee club at Gonzaga College, and did so well that the idea of making a profession of singing was born full-fledged.

In cooperation with a classmate he organized a seven-piece dance band, which clicked so successfully that it was soon touring Pacific Coast vaudeville houses and dance places. In Los Angeles, playing a vaudeville date, they met Paul Whiteman. He liked them so much that he signed the two leaders to sing for him. A third man was added to their duo, and Paul Whiteman's Rhythm Boys, as they were soon known, became a sensation.

They toured with Whiteman for three years, and when the maestro made the movie, "The King of Jazz," and packed up to start back east, they remained on the coast. Crosby had roles in more than a dozen talking pictures before departing for the east to score phenomenal success on the Columbia Broadcasting System network.

Intramural bowling which began last month has been progressing rapidly, and at present the leading teams are Lambda Chi Alpha in the southern league, Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the northern league, and Hannibal Hamlin B in the Freshman league. Lambda Chi Alpha has not lost a single point as yet. .
