VOTE!

There is a widespread theory that the team spirit here at Marian leaves something to be desired and there are those who wish to rectify this.

It was suggested by one Jim McLaughlin that a boosters club be organized to cheer for our team at every game. If anyone is interested, please sign the paper on the bulletin board by the snack bar.

It was further suggested (by Dan Dufour) that we sponsor a contest to compose a fight song. Any offers for a prize???

Thursday is a free day. Free to study, to clean house, to wash the car, to go to work, to start the term paper. Oh goody, Thursday is a free day.

ORCHIDS TO our new little typist - Mary Ann Wolf.

HIP! HIP! HURRAH!!!

Will our cheerleaders be elected this year? The "M" Club has committed itself in saying that it is their opinion that the cheerleaders should be elected by the entire student body after the nominees have been picked by a committee. What do you think? Any other ideas?

Are you hoarding news? Friends, if you are, drag it out of the dusty cupboards and let us have it. Leave all news items, big or little, in the box provided in the Information Room. We'll collect the news every Tuesday morning at 8:30. Yes, we are going to try and keep the Carbon on a schedule, and with your help we might make it.

This is NATIONAL CATHOLIC YOUTH WEEK, Oct. 28-Nov. 4 "Trust in Youth"

Carbon

Oct. 31, 1956

Maybe next week is exam week, but there is more than that happening. The Frosh have planned a dance to help you celebrate on Friday night. Called the "Stairway to the Stars", the dance features the Skyliners, a fifteen piece group that will play from 8:30 to 11:30 for you. Semi-formal, tickets are $1.50 per couple. Circle the date - November 9. See you there!

FASHION FARE

For the fashion-minded Marian maid, there will be a talk on college fashions in the Clare Hall Assembly Room on Wednesday at 4:30. Ayres' models will show off the latest trends and fancies of the experts. All the gals are invited.

Dieters' Downfall

The CSMC will tempt all of you with homemade cakes, cookies and candy at a Bake Sale Wednesday noon in the cafeteria. No need to remind you that the missions can always use some help, but we think that you benefit most from this affair.

Feeling literary? The Fioretti staff would like to see what you can write. Deadline for copy for the winter issue is November 15. Mark material "For the Fioretti" and leave in the publications room (Room 310). Try a short story, poem or essay; maybe you, too, can be a published author.

It has been suggested (in reply to our impassioned plea) that the Mixed(Ugh!) Lounge be renamed the Knight Club

Opinions pro and con are welcomed.

P.S. According to liturgical sources, Thursday is not a free day, but a HOLY Day. This means no work!

One observer at the Beaux Arts Ball suggested that most of the people probably chose their costumes because of some hidden secret desire. Well, now you know.

Congratulations to Harry Reith, Dorothy Wilkerson and Jane Davis for being the lucky winners for the best costumes.

The End of the Trail

Sunday is the climax to a grueling season for our local pigskin warriors. The Bears will play the Browns at 1:30 Sunday at the Park School Practice Field for the championship. Everyone is urged to witness this episode in man's bloody struggle for survival.

Attention, Ladies!

Once again the Class of '58 offers you the chance to invite the guy of your choice to the Sadie Hawkins' dance. Yes, it's earlier this year 'cause it seems that true Dogpatchers have this affair in the fall. Tickets are $1.50 per couple, 8:30 to 11:30 on November 16.

Overheard in the Percolator:

My the people in this school sure do speak slowly.

A new book will soon be here: "I Was a Redhead for the FBI" (Senior madness, and it's not even near time for comps)

Anonymous quote: "Exams already? I'm still looking for some good secondhand books!"

Predicted song hit: "Slow Boat to Egypt." (Lyrics by Nasser)
