ELKINS EXPLAINS.

His Connection with the Maxwell Grant Tersely Set Forth.

HE WAS THE ATTORNEY,

But Never Anything of a More Compromising Nature.

An Interesting Letter to the Land Commissioner—Cleveland's Latest Apointments—Many Army Promotions—Horse Thieves Lynched by Wholesale in Texas—Defeat of the Chiricahua—Topics from Chicago—Ysout Dudley on Trial—Foreign Flashes.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The following letter has been sent to this commissioner of the general land office since the publication of the report of the commissioners to the secretary of the Interior.

DEAR SIR:—In your recent report to the Secretary of the Interior on the "Maxwell Grant" in New Mexico, extracts from which I have seen in the newspapers, the following appeared:—"The contract for survey was given to a brother of the alleged owner of the grant, and the alleged owner was the bondsman. In as much as my brother, John T. Elkins, was the Deputy United States Surveyor who made the surveys, and I was on his bond, I assume you refer to me when you use the words alleged owner. In this you are in error, which I beg you will allow me to correct. I am not now and never was an owner, directly or indirectly, in the Maxwell Grant, this grant was confirmed by an act of congress in 1860. In 1867, after obtaining the written opinions of some of the leading attorneys of the country, among them George T. Curtis, Mr. Everts, Judge Noah Davis, Mr. Bayard and that of Judah H. Benjamin of London, as to the validity of the title,—which opinions are on file in your office—some foreign capitalists purchased and paid for this grant $1,400,000, and subsequently organized a company in New Mexico to own and develop it. I had no knowledge whatever of the confirmation of the grant by congress, or the sale in 1869, until it was consummated. After the organization of the company, I was made its attorney in New Mexico, Barlow, Lavacque and Mac Farland, being the attorneys in New York and Mr. Benjamin, attorney in London. The law requiring three resident directors in New Mexico, I consented to act as a director of the company without any share in the management and in order to qualify me, and partly as compensation for being an attorney, I was given a few shares of the capital stock, less than one hundred, which proved of no value. In 1873, I ceased all active connection as attorney, and in 1875 resigned, both as attorney and director. In 1878 or 1879, I was employed by the receiver of the company to represent him before the Interior Department in an application for a patent, Judge Lucien Burdette, being the attorney for the company. About this time the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Tomeling vs. the United States Free Hold and Emigration Co., reported in third O. to, page 644, was announced, which determined the effect of a confirmation by congress of a Mexican grant. Upon this decision I was informed that a patent was granted, Mr. Carl Schurz, being Secretary of the Interior. I have no interest directly or indirectly in the suit now pending in the courts to set aside the patent, and am indifferent as to the result thereof. I find myself obliged to make this statement because on your report, a number of papers have connected my name with the grant as being an owner and being interested in the pending litigation and therefore a party to what your report makes a fraud upon the government. I would thank you to furnish me any information or fact in your possession which leads you to believe I was an owner, and if not already convinced, I will show you it is not true. May I ask you to have this letter placed among the papers on file in your office in the case of the Maxwell Land Grant.

Very Respectfully,
S. B. ELKINS,
The Honorable Commissioner of the General Land Office.
WASHINGTON CITY.
The Secretary of the Navy, today asked for the resignation of Frank Adams, an $1,800 clerk in the bureau of Provisions and Clothing in the navy department. Mr. Adams is a nephew of Paymaster General Smith.
The President has appointed James M. Adams Register of the land office at Spokane Falls, vice J. M. Armstrong, suspended, and Benjamin F. Peach, pension agent at Boston, Mass., vice Daniel W. Gooch suspended.
The paper to be used hereafter for United States checks, will be distinguished by a water mark of the letters "U. S. T. D." instead of by silk threads as formerly.
The president has made the following appointments: To be receiver of public monies, John O'Keefe, at Vancouver, W. T.; Michie J. Cody, at Reno, Cal.; J. D. Allison, at Humboldt, Cal.; Arthur N. Delaney, United States Attorney for the eastern district of Wisconsin, vice Hazleton suspended. W. C. Perry, United States attorney for the district of Kansas, vice Hallock, resigned.

A committee representing Tammany Hall waited on the president today and urged that the organization be recognized in the appointment of either the United States marshal or district attorney for New York city.

The death of Lieutenant-Colonel Gentry causes the following promotions: Major J. C. Van Horn, 13th infantry, to be lieutenant-colonel 25th infantry; Captain D. M. Vance, 14th infantry to be major 13th infantry, and First Lieutenant and Quartermaster W. V. Richards, 16th infantry to be captain 16th infantry.

Ralph Balin and Joel W. Bowman, examiners in the department of justice, have resigned, to take effect June 30th, and D. A. Fisher and J. Munroe Heisket have been appointed in their places. Two more examiners and a general agent will be appointed tomorrow. There is to be no reduction in the force of examiners.

The postmaster general has decided to set apart two weeks following the fourth of July, for the purpose of disposing of a large number of presidential post offices, which have been prepared for consideration, and for transaction of other necessary and pressing business. Therefore he announces to all intending applicants that he cannot during that time hear personal applications for appointments. This announcement is designed for the benefit of intending visitors and with a view of expediting the consideration of cases. It does not relate to the first assistant's offices.

Twelve Thieves Lynched.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., June 28.—This district has recently been purified by Judge Lynch. A week ago three horse thieves were hanged near Healdtown. Gil Williams was the ringleader, while Frank Morgan and a youth were members of his band. Williams was first taken. A band of thirty-two determined men visited his house and arrested him. Williams told his family an affectionate farewell, and told them if he did not return in two days they might know he was dead. Williams was then led several miles into some thick timber, where they were met by another party, having in charge a man named Moore. By unanimous vote the men decided to hang Williams and Morgan. Some contended by reason of the boy's youth it was best to turn him loose with moderate punishment, but it was finally decided, as there were great probabilities of his becoming a troublesome criminal, it was better he should die. Accordingly all three were hung up on one limb. Some of the posse climbed the limb and let down their feet upon the shoulders of the criminals in order that they might die quickly. After the men were dead they were cut down and all buried together. The posse then started one man to hunt up to Wichita river, and reports came back that they had captured and lynched nine more, this making a total of twelve. Later reports, however, lack confirmation, and means of communication are so uncertain that the facts are hard to get. A noted detective, Jack Duncan, at the head of a squad of well armed men, has gone to the Indian Territory in search of outlaws, Jim and Hank Lee.

He has three well trained blood hounds with him which he will use when the trail is struck. It is learned three other squads are about in the field on the same errand. Lee's boys have long been terrorists to Delaware Bend people. For the last few months they have been looting about that section, stealing indiscriminately. They have repeatedly announced they would never surrender, and interesting news may be expected from that quarter.

Chicago's Striking Carmen.
CHICAGO, June 29.—The conductors and drivers of the West Chicago Street Car Co., numbering one thousand men have given notice of their intention to strike at 10 o'clock tonight unless the company restate in its service a number of conductors who served as a committee recently in placating the grievance of the employes before the company, and who were afterward discharged.

London's Recent Explosion.
LONDON, June 29.—The police have ascertained that an American revolver and ammunition and Remington rifle cartridges were employed to effect the explosion at the Admiralty office, which took place there some time ago. Mr. Swanson, chief clerk in the secretary's department, who was seriously hurt by the explosion, has almost recovered.

Boyle Whips His Man.
MILWAUKEE, June 29.—A desperate five round hard glove fight between Doyle Jones of South Chicago and John Doyle of San Francisco, took place here last night. The fight was for $250 a side and was won by Doyle, Jones refusing to respond to the call of time in the sixth round. Both men were battered up terribly. Doyle showed the most punishment but his superior endurance won.

Wreck of a Train.
DALLAS, TEX., June 29.—News has arrived here that the east bound through San Francisco & St. Louis express train over the Texas & Pacific road, was wrecked six miles from Colorado river and about thirty miles from Dallas. It is known the entire train is ditched. It is reported that several passengers were fatally injured.

The Sharon-Hill Case.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The Supreme Court today rendered a decision in the celebrated Hill-Sharon divorce case, denying the plaintiff's motion to dismiss appeal, and staying all proceedings for the payment of counsel fees and alimony pending the appeal proceedings.

Succeeding Gladstone Men.
LONDON, June 29.—The following is the correct list of minor appointments: Viscount Barry, under secretary to the war office; Henry S. Northcote, M. P., financial secretary of the war office, and the Earl of Dunraven under secretary for the colonies.

Strung up by a Mob.
JACKSON, Miss., June 29.—Ben Holt, colored, was lynched this evening at Adams Station, this state by a colored mob, for the murder of his wife. The murder was committed last Wednesday.

Fair to Turn Banker.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Joseph G. Fair, who lately sold his interest in the Nevada Bank, is preparing to open a bank in this city, in the real estate associated building, which he recently purchased.

ness called by the prosecution. Being asked his name, the dynamite chief replied, Jeremiah O'Donovan Rossa.

"That's not his name!" cried out Mrs. Dudley. "Where did he get Rossa from?"
The next question was "What is your business?"
"Dynamiter!" shouted Mrs. Dudley. Rossa then quietly said that he was a journalist. The case is still on.

Route of the Chiricahua.

FORT BOWIE, A. T., June 28.—A courier has just arrived from the troops in the field in the Mexican territory bringing dispatches from Captain Crawford, who is in the mountains southeast of Opolo. He says that on June 23 the scouts and troops struck the camp of the Chiricahua, killed one buck and captured fifteen women and children, five horses and a quantity of supplies. The squaws and children are en route to Bowie and they will reach San Bernardino ranch tomorrow. This is the band of renegades who attacked Captain Lawton's supply train in Guadalupe canon and killed three soldiers. Captain Crawford is following the trail of another band leading into the Sierra Madre mountains.

Trouble in Afghanistan.

BOMBAY, June 29.—It is reported from Cabal, that Isa Khan, supported by Russian allies, has risen against Abdullah Khan. Isa Khan marched upon Kananad and seized the treasury there, valued at £1,000,000 sterling, belonging to the Ameer of Afghanistan.

Abdullah Khan is governor of Bombay, the extreme northern province of Afghan. The Turkistan town of Kananad is situated about sixty miles of the river Ason.
Political difficulties at Cashgura are becoming serious, and reinforcements of troops are being northward.

Passengers Slightly Hurt.

SALIDA, Colo., June 29.—As passenger train No. 7, due in Salida at half past four this afternoon, reached a point about half way between Parkdale and Texas Creek, the middle coach left the track, derailing another first class car and the sleeper; the three engines being thrown on the side opposite the river. After caring for the injured the train came to this city. The passengers on board were all slightly scratched but no one was seriously hurt.

TUESDAY, JUNE 30, 1885.

JUNE rains make good July grass, and good July grass makes splendid September beef.

It was not necessary for man to bother his brain yesterday about topics allied to irrigation.

Ex-Senator Dorsey is nothing if not pronounced, as will be learned by a perusal of the third page of to-day's GAZETTE.

ALBUQUERQUE is rent and torn by the hilarious excitement of a trifling local campaign.

SENATOR VEST, the brainy little man who aids in representing Missouri so ably on the country's Senate floor, seems to be having a monkey and parrot time with the newspaper correspondents.

A MINING boom in this territory at an early day, need surprise no one. Billions of precious metal in a crude state, are stored away in the Cerrillos, White Oaks and other districts.

THE oldest inhabitant was kept busy yesterday spinning yarns about the weather. He succeeded in weaving a woof of first rate stability.

alleys of Las Vegas than could a broom brigade of a thousand men in a week's honest toil.

A NUMBER of improvements are needed in and about Las Vegas, and not the most unimportant of the multitude are those of the soul-harrowing and bone-racking roads which lead to the Hot Springs.

PROSPECT WORK.

The Leadville Herald recently published the following sensible article regarding the importance of claim owners understanding the geological formation and vein structure of their properties.

Had the geological structure and vein characteristics of Yankee Hill been better understood in the earlier days of our camp the magnificent ore body would never have remained undiscovered for years.

words as he handled the sword. His disgust at the shilly-shally policy of the Government, which had sent him on his perilous way to Khartoum and then abandoned him, is told without reserve in his short and graphic way of binding sentences together.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Stock of all kind, never looked so well as now since the settlement of the Black Range country.

Jacob Mitchell, of the Sierra County Advocate, has been appointed census enumerator of Sier a county.

The Taos county Herald, is authority for saying that "probably not more than one fourth part of the transfers of real estate in the county, have been recorded."

Early Saturday morning the dead body of a man named Kaufman, was found hanging near Graham's slaughter house in Silver City.

John Jackson, a sheep herder, says the Black Range, was shot and killed on his ranch near the head of the Macho, fifteen miles east of Lake Valley, last week.

Gold ore is being taken from the vicinity of Gold Hill, which nets $150 to the ton.

MINING MATTERS.

A shipment of fourteen tons of ore was sent out of Hermosa last Friday. It was the joint product of the Palomas Chief, Ocean Way, Nane and Anielope.

The Kingston mines are working with good results. The Lady Franklin, Brush Heap and Black Colt mines are the heaviest producers.

Henry Westerman and Eugene Knapp are working their Columbus mine which is located near the Silver Monument.

Since the Indian scare has somewhat subsided, the miners of the Black Range section have resumed work and every shot exploded brings to view fresh metal which encourages the miner and reassures him that this county will yet prove the bonanza mining country of the southwest.

EX-SENATOR DORSEY.

He Chats Entertainingly About the Nation's Vexed Politics.

In Favor of Logan Three Years Hence—Kind to Cleveland—Content with New Mexico as She Is

Ex-Senator Dorsey is spending a few days in Denver. A News reporter last evening called on him at the Windsor and took down the following interview:

"I understand you have just returned from an extended trip through the east, and I should like your views respecting the political outlook, if you have no objections to giving them."

"Oh, I never object to anything much. The only political outlook I know of now is looking back. Both parties are in a fog and I doubt whether there is any issue by which either party can raise breeze enough to lift the fog. It seems to me it is fair, now that the noise and din of the political contest is over, to say that the administration of Mr. Cleveland has not brought about the disastrous results to the business interests of the country which the noisy newspapers and noisier stump speakers claimed it would."

"No political party, and especially no executive power, can in the slightest degree affect any business interest in the country, even if they wished to do so, and it is absurd to say that any man who could possibly be elected president of the United States, would desire to do it. The limitations of the law surround every act and point out the duties of every official of the government, which cannot be evaded or trampled upon. The course Mr. Cleveland has pursued in regard to appointments is a matter to be discussed between those who have secured the offices and those who failed to get them. There are fifty disappointed applicants where one is made happy, and it is a queer fact that Mr. Cleveland seems to have a larger support among the Republicans than he has within the lines of his own party. But he has three years yet, and no one can anticipate what the result of his policy will be."

"Well, what do you think about the election for governor of New York this year? Who will be the candidate for the Democracy, and have the Democrats a good show of success?"

"The Democrats have a dozen candidates for the nomination, Hill, Slocum, Flower, Smith, Weed, and I don't know how many more. It looks now as if Hill, the present governor, would be nominated, and if he is he will be beaten. I think the chances are largely in favor of the Republicans if a wise nomination is made. The factional quarrels of the Democratic party in New York and Kings county are increasing daily. It is not a question now between Tammany hall and the field, it is the host of disappointed Democrats who intend to show the administration that they will not be 'ignored.'"

"Well, what show have the Republicans got, and who are they going to nominate?"

"The Republicans of New York are united, or nearly so, as they have ever been. There is a large number of candidates, Ira Davenport, Cornell, Warren, Drexel, the banker, and several others. At present it looks as if the contest lay between Drexel and Davenport, the chances largely in favor of Davenport as a man of brains and Drexel as a man of cash, and somehow each seems to win in most political contests."

"What effect will the elections in New York and Ohio have on the next presidential campaign?"

"Oh, I think the greatest effect. If those two states elect Republican officers, as I believe they will, this fall, the Republican party will elect a president in 1888. The governor elected this year in New York holds his office during the next presidential campaign, and that office carries with it vast political power, if the governor saw fit to use his personal influence and official position in behalf of the candidate of his party. You must remember that New York in the late election, in a poll of 1,100,000 votes, was only carried by Mr. Cleveland who was governor, by about 1,100 majority, and that result was attained only through the stupidity and imbecility of the Republican national committee."

"Well, if you think the Republicans are going to elect the next president, is it fair to inquire who the candidate of that party will be?"

"Oh, that is the merest guess work and it is guessing at long range, but if you want an opinion, unless something not anticipated occurs, that General Logan will be the nominee of his party. Logan bore himself splendidly throughout the late campaign and since. When he lost the vice presidency he won a senatorship. A man of capacity, of integrity, with nothing to apologize for or defend, he is incomparably the strongest man with the people in the Republican party and he deserves all that he has won."

"What about Arthur?"
 "I do not know much about A. Arthur beyond the fact that he is about as well equipped for the presidency of the United States as a goose struck by lightning. But Arthur has his good points, which are appreciated by his barber, his tailor and his wine merchant. Personally, he is a dude; politically, he is a eunuch, and intellectually cheap beef. His character on the whole is only equal to the obscurity into which he has fallen. Detested by those who put him in power, shunned by the ablest and best men of his party, he will have from this time on in his maudlin moments leisure to reflect how expensive ingratitude is. Arthur has not political influence enough to make a lean shadow, and he is scarcely remembered now by the masses of the people as a person who ever occupied a public office."

"What has become of Garfield's and Arthur's cabinets?"

"You mean the personnel I suppose. As to Garfield's cabinet, Mr. Blaine is writing a book with wicked thoughts about the past; Mr. Windom is building a railroad in Mexico; Mr. Lincoln is bearing all he ever had—his name; Mr. James, who gave Vanderbilt $500,000 out of the United States treasury, is running a little bank as the quid pro quo, which Mr. Vanderbilt provided for him, in the upper part of New York; McVeagh, that moral, intellectual dyspeptic, having quarreled with every body that he ever knew, is now fighting himself. I think in the course of a year or two he will die of a morbid hate of his own name. He is a little son-in-law of a great father-in-law. As to Arthur's cabinet, Brewster was lying drunk in New York the last I heard of him, and they were preparing to ship him to Europe as the great curiosity of the western hemisphere. The only two respectable men Arthur had about him, Senator Teller and Judge Gresham, you know all about."

"What about New Mexico coming in as a state?"

"I understand that you democrats are trying to have it admitted, I suppose for the reason of securing two more Democratic senators. Those of us who have to pay taxes down there are satisfied to have it remain a territory, and especially while we have a Democratic administration at Washington."

A RELIGIOUS RIOT.

Fatal Climax of a Factional Church Quarrel in Ohio.

TOLEDO, O., June 29.—For a long time there has been serious trouble in Toledo between the Polish Catholic church, and a faction who were opposed to him. Over a year ago in a row growing out of this trouble, a man was killed, and the failure to convict the parties who were guilty of the offense, stimulated the opposition, which has been increasing in force. A few days ago an attempt was made to blow up the church building with dynamite, and this afternoon trouble culminated in a general riot in which fire arms and all manner of weapons were freely used. Two men were killed and several were injured, while a large number of houses were partially or entirely destroyed. The police have made a large number of arrests and an extra force was stationed on the grounds to prevent another outbreak. The priest, of the parish in which the riot occurred, the Rev. Vincent Swardanski has for the past three years in some way made himself obnoxious to a portion of the flock; but he has heretofore declined to resign, ascertaining that the bishop would not fill his place should he leave. Today, however, he gave notice from the pulpit that he would leave tomorrow. This seemed to infuriate his friends, and shortly after the close of the service, an angry crowd collected and went to the saloon of Peter Yelaskiewicz, who was strongly suspected of being implicated in the attempt to blow up the priest's house a short time ago where a fight was very soon started. Mr. Yelaskiewicz was driven from his house and several shots were fired at him, but he escaped with a wounded hand. The mob then went to the house of Albert Delnowski, close by, and entering the house, dragged him and his wife out, shot him several times, beat him terribly over the head with clubs, killing him. His wife was also badly clubbed and is likely to die. The mob completely demolished the house. During the riot many shots were fired. Not less than one hundred men, women and children were engaged in the fight. The force of policemen are determined to keep peace for the night, but the excitement is intense.

Twenty-two men and five women have been placed under arrest for complicity in the riot in the Polish settle, ment yesterday. Several of those were slightly wounded. All persons directly implicated in yesterday's murders, are doubtless already in custody, although not yet fully identified. Other arrests will follow until all suspected persons have been secured.

SHEEP AND CATTLE.

They are Reported Doing Nicely Throughout the Territory.

The rain of the past few days, has been hailed with delight by the stockmen throughout the country. The Territory has not suffered on account of drought, but some of the neighboring States have. In parts of Kansas and Colorado, rain has not fallen for weeks, and the grass is almost too dry to afford sufficient nourishment to the cattle browsing thereon.

Capt. J. G. Clancy who owns a large sheep ranch at El Alamo Gordo, in conversation yesterday with A GAZETTE reporter, on the subject said:

"The country near my ranch has not suffered any for want of rain, on the contrary, there has been an abundance of it. The wool this year weighs much lighter than it did last year on account of the heavy rains."

"How does the rain effect the weight of wool?"

"Well, rain washes the oil and dirt out of the wool, and consequently it does not weigh as heavy as if the dirt remained."

"Then wool raisers did not do as well this year as they did last season?"

"Yes they did; at least I did. The washed wool commanded a better price than the dirty wool of last season, and the yield of this year was in excess of the previous year. I only got 16 1/2 cents a pound for my crop of wool last year, and this year I got thirteen cents. I sold my entire clip of wool 57,871 lbs., the other day to Gross, Blackwell & Co., at thirteen cents a pound."

"How are sheep thriving?"

"They are doing well, the spring has been very favorable. The losses thus far have only been about ten per cent. The lambs too, are doing nicely, fully eighty five per cent dropped are alive."

"The sheep owners have no reason to complain?"

"No, contrary to the general opinion, those who have good sheep are now earning good interest on their investments."

Mr. Crockett's clip amounted this spring to 30,000 pounds and John De Oliveira's to 24,000 pounds. I mention these two gentlemen because they are large sheep owners. We have no cause for complaint. The grass has been good all the year, but the rain has improved it. In this portion of the country, there have been some few complaints made, but the country generally has had good grass."

"How are the cattle in your section?"

"They are thriving and there is no disease among them to speak of."

Mr. Sam Doss, a prominent cattle owner from Fort Sumner, when asked by the reporter how the cattle were thriving at Fort Sumner, said:

"They are doing well. The grass was better than usual this spring, a least it was for fifty miles around Fort Sumner, but I believe the want of rain has been felt further south. The calves this year were as good as last year, if not better. In fact, a great many people claim, that they have branded more calves this year than ever before."

"Is there any disease among the cattle?"

"Not among the cattle in the territory, but the Texas cattle are quarantined on account of a disease known as Texas fever, that is prevalent in some sections among them."

"Do you think the disease would have any serious effect on the cattle in the territory, if transmitted among them?"

"Well, a great many have died from the disease in Southern Texas, but I do not know whether it would cause any great havoc among the cattle here, on account of the great altitude in this territory. It certainly would not have as great an effect on them here as it would in the south and east."

Mr. L. D. Coggins, manager of the New England Live Stock company at Fort Sumner, said in reference to the subject:

"That although some of the cattle in Southern Texas were dying from fever, there was very little probability of its breaking out in the territory. The quarantine law is too strict. The cattle in the territory are thriving but prices are low."

"Why are prices low?"

"On account of the quarantine in Texas. They want to sell and cannot. Then again they have held their cows for so long that they are now overstocked with them and the ranges are overrun."

JOHN T. DRESSER'S DEATH.

Causes Which Prompted Him to Commit Suicide.

At an early hour on Sunday morning the jury impaneled to investigate the circumstances which led to the death of the late John T. Dresser, met, and after hearing the evidence, returned the following verdict:

We, the undersigned justices of the peace and jury, who sat upon the inquest held this 28th day of June, 1885, on the body of John T. Dresser, found in precinct No. 29, of the county of San Miguel, in the territory of New Mexico, do find that John T. Dresser came to his death by reason of a rope fastened about his neck and by which we found him suspended. And we further find that said hanging was done by the said John T. Dresser, and that said Dresser committed suicide.

On the body of the unfortunate man, which was found suspended by a rope, from the rafters in the loft of a stable near his residence, was found a note addressed to his wife, containing the following words:

"You will find a letter in my pocket book which explains everything. I was never in such a frame of mind, J. O."

A search in the pocket book discovered the letter which was written on Browne & Manzanara's letter paper and unsealed. The letter was at once placed in the hands of Mrs. Dresser who made known its contents to Mr. L. P. Brown, from whom the following extracts were obtained:

"My dear wife and daughter:—When you read this I cannot reply to anything I have written. I have been so discouraged and down-hearted for the past six months that it just seemed I could not live any longer. My health has been so poor, no one knows how I have suffered in past six months in trying to work all times it seemed as if I'd drop down. I tried all in my power to get my business settled up so I could send you and dear Almee home, as the doctor thought that better than medicine, but it seemed as if everything was against me, and in trying to raise money to go into business myself it seemed impossible to raise any with even good security. Poor health and disappointment in finances has caused all this. I tried to keep up but could not. All I was living for was for you and dear Almee, and when my health failed I did not know what to do. I know I am not doing right but I nearly crazy."

Some instructions regarding his funeral and his private affairs followed, then the letter continued:

"I wish I could have gotten my business settled in a little better shape, but oh, you do not know what I have suffered. I have a dear, old wife and daughter."

After this was a request to the Rev. D. M. Brown, whom he wished to officiate at the funeral. He also expressed a wish that his letter be not published.

The deceased man was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the Knights of Pythias. He had his life insured in the former for $2,000, and for $3,500 in the latter. He was also insured in the Select Knights for $500.

The remains will be escorted to the depot this afternoon by both the A. O. U. W. and the Knights of Pythias and will be shipped to Stockbridge, Mass.

SHOT BY A FRIEND.

A Lincoln County Stockman Used For a Target.

The many friends of R. P. Siegrist, the well known stockman of Seven Rivers, Lincoln county, will hear with regret, that he is lying at his ranch in a very critical condition. His illness is the result of a bullet wound which he received in the right shoulder a few days ago, during a quarrel with a friend.

The facts of the case are these: Mr. Siegrist and a friend named Collier, had been allowing their cattle to run together for some time back. On the day of the shooting, Collier came to Siegrist and told him that he had decided to move his cattle elsewhere, and had gathered them together for that purpose, at the same time he asked Siegrist to come and look at them and see if there were any of his (Siegrist's) cattle among them. Siegrist acquiesced, and after looking the cattle over, remarked that he thought there were some of his among the herd. Collier told him to cut them out, and Siegrist, who was mounted on a mule, rode into the herd and cut out two or three cows. He was looking for more, when Collier's foreman, who was present, rode into the herd and threatened to draw his revolver and shoot if Siegrist cut out any more. Collier, who was standing near, reached for his rifle, seeing which, Siegrist at once rode out of the herd, and in an angry tone said, "If you want to shoot I will accommodate you," at the same time drawing his revolver. Before he could discharge it, however, Collier fired and hit Siegrist's mule. Siegrist returned the shot, but without effect. Collier fired again at the mule, the bullet taking effect and knocking the animal down. In falling, however, the mule pinned one of Siegrist's legs under it. Siegrist opened fire at Collier, who returned it by shooting him in the right shoulder joint, shattering the bone badly.

Collier at once gave himself up to the deputy sheriff, and was released under $1,000 bond.

The affair has cast a gloom over the community where it occurred. Both men were highly respected and had prior to the shooting been good friends.

NEVER HEARD OF IT.

An Alabama Man who Knew Nothing About Connecticut.

It is pleasant to know that there is one thing, even if it is ignorance, that can prove a barrier to sectional feelings. The experience of the Yankee who tells the following story, was that in spite of the prejudice against the part of the country to which he owed his origin, he actually suffered less inconvenience from confessing his nativity than from trying to conceal it.

Traveling in Alabama soon after the war, he met a man upon the road who accosted him as follows: "Whar are yer from, stranger?" The traveler, knowing the prejudice of the Yankee people against the "Yankees," although he had never been in Richmond in all his life, he replied, "From Richmond."

"At this answer the man said, 'I once knowed a heap o' people in Richmond, and I've got right smart o' kinfolks ther too; maybe ye mought know Jim Johnson, of Main street?'"

To this the gentleman was obliged to answer in the negative.

"Waal, now stranger, do you know Jake Brown on Broad street?"

The traveler said he had not the pleasure of this gentleman's acquaintance either. Several other interrogatories about Richmond were made and answered in a similar manner, greatly to the confusion of the gentleman, who, notwithstanding the southern prejudices against New Englanders, resolved the next time he was questioned to tell the truth.

He soon afterwards met another man, who said to him:

"Whar did yer come from, stranger?"

"I came from Connecticut, sir?"

"Whar did yer say?"

"From Connecticut."

"Connecticut? Connecticut?" repeated the man, with a puzzled look.

Waal, now, stranger, I don't mind hearin' o' that thar town afore, I'll be ble's'd if I do."
