The Quakers are a religious group that originated in England. They are known for their simplicity, pacifism, and their emphasis on personal freedom. In the United States, the Quakers have played an important role in the abolitionist movement and the civil rights movement, advocating for the rights of all people regardless of race or religion.

In the context of the text, the Quakers are mentioned as an example of a group that has worked for freedom and justice. They are seen as an example of how individuals can work together to effect change, even in the face of opposition. The text acknowledges the unique approach of the Quakers, who have emphasized nonviolent action and inner transformation as the key to social change.

The text also notes that the Quakers have been involved in civil rights activism, and that their methods have sometimes been criticized. However, the Quakers continue to be an inspiration for those who seek to promote justice and equality.

In conclusion, the text provides a brief overview of the Quaker faith, highlighting its emphasis on personal freedom and nonviolent action. It also acknowledges the challenges and criticisms that have been directed at the Quakers, but provides an example of how their approach can be applied to contemporary issues.

DANGEROUS PROPOSALS

The great public dialogue suggested in your last editorial reflects the proposal of amendments to the Constitution. These 'state' rights' amendments, which are proposed by the states, are a travesty on the national government, and one of the surest means of destroying the United States as a nation. We must fight against any proposals of this kind, regardless of party affiliation.

COMMENCEMENT TIME

Most schools are in the midst of their commencement exercises. Academic conventions are a significant part of the current atmosphere of the world, and they are a delight to all who witness them. The commencement exercises are a manifestation of the national character. It is a noble custom, and it is only one of the many valuable traditions that foster the advancement of knowledge.

Bridal veil and sashplain, whose dress of pale blue of Panama silk was trimmed with a 30-inch train of red and rose pink roses, revealing the bride in a gown of blue and gold. The bridesmaids, in blue and gold, complemented the ensemble and were also adorned with flowers.

The groom was attired in a tuxedo and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man and ushers were dressed in matching suits.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Reverend Martin, and the couple exchanged vows in a traditional manner. The reception followed, and guests were treated to a sumptuous meal.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon in Hawaii, and are planning to return to their home in Springfield, Massachusetts, to begin their married life together.

WOMEN ON CAMPUS
This week the campus of Lanwneys College received a new student in the form of Phi Alpha fraternity. The new group was organized by a group of women who formed Phi Alpha fraternity at last year'sPhi Alpha convention. Woman students are being encouraged to participate in the activities of the fraternity.

The music of Phillips Rec- tory and his band, with guests featuring Allen Morris and John Farns, was enjoyed by all.

Among the sorority tours was the Kappa Kappa Gama and Chi Phi sororities. The tour was held at the Phi Alpha fraternity house, where Phi Alpha fraternity members played a game of bridge.

Lakeviewing with Gerri
Humboldt News
Juno, the month named for Juno, Venus and Ulippus, the patron goddess of marriage, is a time when marriage and love are in the air. There are many words whose beginnings indicate love.

It has been a favorite month for many people to renew their love, as well as to celebrate their marriage. The beauty of the month is that it is a time when love and marriage are most celebrated.

If you don't yet get to celebrate love in your own way, it is not too late. You can always plan a special date for the month of June.

The Lakeviewing with Gerri column is written by Gerri, who is a beautiful woman. She is a married woman, and she is a member of Phi Alpha fraternity. She is a very special person, and she is very dear to me.

Segregation: Is The Dam Breaking In Dixie, North?

The TV news across the nation last night was showing the Asian wave pushing out of the north.

"We want freedom," we heard a voice shout over the TV sound. "We want respect!"

This is the Asian wave, which is a movement that began in the 1960s, and it's spreading all over the United States. As an Asian, I know that this movement has been happening for a long time, and it's only getting bigger.

In many places, this wave is causing a lot of problems. In fact, I've heard that some places have had to shut down businesses and schools to try to keep the Asians out.

But I believe that this movement is necessary. We need to stand up for our rights and demand respect. We need to put an end to the segregation that has been going on for too long.

I urge everyone to support the Asian wave and stand together to fight for our rights.
SPORTS HORIZON

The 1963 Tri-State Defender All-Star football team was recently announced in the league's annual meeting. The team was selected by the league's coaches, who gathered at the Courthouse in Memphis, Tenn., to discuss the season's top performers.

Eight players from the University of Memphis were chosen to the All-Star team. They are: Jimmie Brown, center; David Johnson, guard; and Fred Jaffe, tackle. Other players selected were: John A. Tull, guard; and Fred Jaffe, tackle. The remaining players are: Jack Eubanks, guard; and Fred Jaffe, tackle.

The All-Star team was announced by the league's secretary, John Tull, who said the selection was based on the players' performance during the season. The team will play against the Southwestern Athletic Conference All-Star team in a game to be held later this month.

Booke Washington High Presents 50 Awards In Dinner For Athletes

Fifty awards were presented to Booke Washington High athletes at a dinner held recently in the school's auditorium. The awards were presented by the school's principal, Mr. W. C. Bledsoe, and the local chapter of the National Association of Negro Athletes.

The recipients included a number of outstanding football players, including the school's quarterback, James Eubanks, who was selected as the most valuable player. Other awards went to the school's best basketball player, James Hanks, and the best track athlete, W. B. Little.

The dinner was attended by a large number of parents and friends of the athletes, who were invited to hear the selections made by the school's faculty and staff.
