FIVE OF HEARTS

Calli Katzelnick

This piece was created for a final project in Jason Travers's 2D Design class. The assignment required each student to research a particular artist or design and recreate a playing card by using characteristics from his or her style. I based my project on the designer Evan Hecox, who specializes in recreating scenes from urban environments. My work was created using various Photoshop techniques, and adapted to represent a New York City street corner with the main focus on particular colors and overlapping styles.
