COMPROMISE POSSIBLE.

Developments in the Hearing in the Blaine Divorce Case. NEW YORK, January 7.—The suit for divorce brought by Mrs. James G. Blaine Jr., in Dakota was again before Commissioner Daniel Lord, Jr., in the equitable building yesterday although no testimony has been made public. The lawyer agrees that there has been no reflection by either side upon the reputation of the parties in interest, the only issue being abandonment. Counselor John A. Deady, who represents young Blaine, said his client would not object to the divorce were it not for the child whose custody is at stake. If some arrangement can be made by Mr. Blaine to keep the boy with him a portion of each year he may agree to the compromise which has been discussed.

READER, IF YOU HAVE ANY DOUBTS ABOUT THE TRUTH OF THE FOLLOWING, INVESTIGATE FOR YOURSELF. OUR TESTIMONIALS ARE ALWAYS TRUE. PARDON US FOR SAYING, "DANA'S IS THE KIND THAT CURES."

HAMPDEN, ME., Oct. 4, 1891.

Gentlemen.—I have received so much benefit from the use of DANA'S SARSAPARILLA that I feel it my duty to write you regarding my case. For years I have been troubled with Enlargement of the Liver and Spleen, also had Kidney Trouble. I was so bad that for two kind years I was unable to work. For weeks was unable to get from the bed to a chair without help. I have doctored in Chicago, Detroit and Boston without receiving any benefit. By the advice of Mr. Baker, I doctored with THAT GREAT DIFFERENT DOCTORS, SPENT HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS WITHOUT RECEIVING ANY BENEFIT. I came to the State of Maine and, by the advice of Mr. Baker, tried a bottle of your SARSAPARILLA, and I received so much benefit that I CURED. I took four more, and to-day I am a well man.

You are at liberty to publish this, and I will stand behind it.

Respectfully yours,

DREAM OF THE ALLIANCE.

Peffer's Bill for a Loan to Indiana Farmers By Uncle Sam.

A WARNING TO THOSE NATIONS WHICH REFUSE RECIPROCITY.

Other Washington News—Springer's Free Wool Bill Drafted but not yet Presented—Measures New and Old Dumped by the Hundreds into the Congressional Hopper—Tariff, Silver and Postage the Most Frequent in the Titles.

WASHINGTON, January 7.—Senator Peffer of Kansas, today introduced a bill of a purely Alliance and paternal character. The preamble recites that the people of Indiana are laboring under the burden of enormous interest charges made possible by the great scarcity of money, the direct result of legislation favoring credit to owning capitalists and hostile to the wage earner and producer, resulting in the enforced mortgaging of lands in Indiana to such an extent as to threaten their loss. The bill authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue treasury notes to the amount of one hundred million dollars, these notes to be loaned to the people of Indiana on mortgages upon their lands. Every one who accepts a loan of this description is to give a promissory note for the amount, and is limited in his borrowing to half the cash value of his land. To secure a fair rate of interest on the money loaned, the governor of the state is to collect semi annually a tax of 1 per cent and turn it into the national treasury.

TARIFF, SILVER AND POSTAGE. Some of the Bills Which Appeared in the House Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, January 7.—Bills were introduced and referred as follows in the House today:

By Mr. Pierce, of Tennessee, for the free coinage of silver; for the imposition of an income tax; for prevention of trusts.

By Mr. Lenham, of Texas, for the free coinage of silver.

By Mr. Stewart, of Texas, placing bagging and cotton ties on the free list; to promote reciprocity between the United States and Mexico; fixing the Presidential term at six years.

By Mr. Culberson, of Texas, to prevent the contraction of the currency; to increase the volume of the currency.

By Mr. Bailey, of Texas, to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy.

By Mr. Crot, of Vermont, for the issue of fractional silver certificates; providing for a Congressional Representative from Alaska.

By Mr. Covert, of New York, for the transfer of the revenue cutter service from the treasury to the navy department.

By Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts, directing the committee on manufactures to investigate the so-called sweating system of tenement labor.

By Mr. Buxton, of Wisconsin, providing that all silver dollars hereafter coined shall contain one ounce of pure silver and for the free coinage thereof.

By Mr. Halverson, of Minnesota, to fix the freight rates on all interstate railroads.

By Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, to regulate immigration.

By Mr. Post, of Illinois, to reduce letter postage to one cent an ounce.

By Mr. Abner Taylor, of Illinois, to establish a registered parcel postage, and to reduce the registration charge.

By Mr. Buchanan, of New Jersey, to pension officers and employees of the life saving service; to abolish tonnage dues on American shipping.

By Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, to prohibit national banks from acting as agents of lottery companies.

By Mr. Buchanan, of Tennessee, to repeal the McKinley law; to repeal the ocean mail subsidy act; to reduce the expenses of Senators and Representatives attending Congressional functions.

By Mr. Miller, of Wisconsin, authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to use a sufficient number of vessels to carry to Russia all the contributions made by citizens of the United States.

Mr. Blount, of Georgia, entered a motion to reconsider the vote by which the House decided yesterday to indefinitely postpone the Senate joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to transport certain contributions to the suffering poor of Russia.

The House then adjourned until Monday.

Three hundred and seventy bills of a general character were introduced in the House today, making a total for the two days of over 700 bills exclusive of a large number of individual pension bills and others of a private nature. Many of the bills introduced were measures of the last and previous sessions which failed of a passage, and in some instances, of consideration.

GIVEN FAIR WARNING. President's Retaliatory Proclamation Coming in March.

WASHINGTON, January 7.—In view of the provision in the reciprocity section of the tariff law of October 17, 1890, making it the duty of the President, after January 1, 1892, to suspend by proclamation the free admission of sugar, molasses, coffee, tea and hides, from such countries producing these articles as, after that date, maintain tariff duties upon American agricultural and other products which he may deem unequal and unreasonable, the President submitted to the attorney general the question whether the law authorized him to issue a proclamation fixing a future day when the duties imposed by the virtue of the proclamation would take effect. The Attorney General has given an opinion that the duties must attach and be collected on and after the date of the proclamation.

Owing to this decision and to the fact that justice to importers of the articles named in the section of the tariff law requires that reasonable notice should be given of the President's action, Secretary Blaine today sent notes to the diplomatic representatives here of Austria-Hungary, Colombia, Hayti, Nicaragua, Honduras, Spain for the Philippine Islands, and Venezuela, informing them that March 15, next, the President would issue his proclamation unless the mentioned countries satisfactory reciprocity arrangement should be made with the countries named. The notice to Spain only applies to the Philippine Islands. Negotiations with France and some other countries have reached such a stage as in the opinion of the President to warrant the Secretary of State in withholding notices to them.

SPRINGER'S FREE WOOL BILL. A Part of the Scheme of Attack Against the McKinley Law.

WASHINGTON, January 7.—The free wool bill, drafted by Chairman Springer of the ways and means committee, has not been yet introduced in the House nor approved by a majority of the ways and means committee. The bill provides that on and after January 1, 1893, all wools, woolen rags, and waste shall be exempt from duty. The bill also wipes out all except the ad valorem duties on woolen and worsted yarns, cloths, shawls, knit fabrics, blankets, hats and furnishings of wool, women's and children's dress goods, coat linings, Italian cloths, and goods of similar character, ready-made clothing, wearing apparel, felts, plushes, pile fabrics made partly of wool, cloaks, dolmans, jackets, talmas, ulsters, etc.; webbing, gorings, suspenders, braces, belting, shirtings, braids, galloons, fringes, gimps, cords, cords and tassels, dress trimmings, laces, embroideries, head nets, buttons for ornaments made principally of wool or worsted, carpets of all kinds, druggets, bookings, mats, rugs, hassocks, art squares and other portions of carpets and carpetings.

HILL'S BIG SCHEME. More About the Plot Regarding the Selection of Electors.

ALBANY, January 7.—The story which comes from Pittsburgh to the effect that Senator Hill contemplates the scheme of placing the election of the Presidential electors of the state in the hands of the legislature is not new here. It has been quite discussed this week, but generally discredited on the theory that it might defeat Hill in the National Convention if New York state was sure for the Democracy. If a Democratic legislature assumed the authority of choosing the Presidential electors before the National Convention any New York man would do.

A new phase has been given to the story, however, which entirely changes the complexion of the rumored scheme. It is said that the probable change in the method of choosing electors will not be proposed in regular session. The plot which, it is said, has been hatched in the minds of the Democratic Big Four, is to defer the extraordinary session, which must be held to pass the reappointment bill, until after the National Convention has met. New York will then hold out to the National Democracy, as an inducement to make its choice the nominee of the party, the deliverance of 36 electoral votes of New York without the expenditure of a cent.

If the bargain is struck, then Gov. Flower can recommend for the consideration of the legislature, according to constitutional requirement, in an extra session, a bill transferring the choice of electors from the people to the legislature.

The report is not entirely without foundation. Within a month the ex-Governor remarked to a friend, who was in Albany, that he would not be surprised if the election of the Presidential electors was transferred this year to the legislature. Since that time the same hint has been dropped to several prominent Democrats, and the fact that there was so much discussion concerning the matter during the organization of the legislature indicates that the scheme is being thoroughly considered.

It is believed that Cleveland has obtained wind of the story. Since the decision of the Court of Appeals Cleveland told a gentleman who used to be one of the Cleveland fishing parties, both during his gubernatorial and Presidential term, that he felt quite positive that he would not be the nominee of the next National Convention.

Then follow the provisions for establishing a hospital at Oakland, Cal., with a portion of the estate estimated at $600,000; and next is the bequest to Bowdoin College, which will amount to $400,000. Respecting this, the language of the deed is as follows:

That the remaining four-tenths [4-10] part of said moneys and securities shall be paid, transferred or assigned to "The President and Trustees of Bowdoin College," an educational corporation existing under the laws of the State of Maine, the same to be held by them in trust.

1st. That the same shall constitute a perpetual fund, to be known as the "Seward Garcelon and Samuel Merritt Fund."

2d. That said corporation shall safely invest the principal of said fund, and 5 per cent [5 per cent] of the income there of shall annually be added to and invested as principal.

3d. That the remainder of said income shall be used by said corporation, the one-half for the benefit and advantage of the medical department of its college, or of the Medical School of Maine under its care and direction, and the other half thereof for the benefit and advantage of the College of Letters. The mode and manner of its expenditure is left to the discretion of said corporation, stating that the Kneadive was in a critical condition. It was believed at that time that he must soon be dead. At 7 o'clock his death was announced.

CANADIAN MUD SLINGING. Now Lady MacDonald Is Accused of Wrong Doing.

TORONTO, Can., January 7.—The Regina Leader, conservative, the other day made a charge to the effect that while the Hon. WOMEN AT THE POLLS. Three of Their Number Elected to Office in Toronto.

TORONTO, January 7.—Returns of the city election show that for the first time in the history of Canada women have been elected to office. Mrs. Mary McDowell, leader of the Canadian woman suffrage movement, Dr. Augusta S. Gulmen and Mrs. Harrison were elected to the public school board. Numbers of women taxpayers voted for all the city officers and were very courteously received at the polls.

THAT WAR CLOUD. Its Shadow Yesterday Rested on England and France, AND MADE THINGS VERY GLOOMY IN THE STOCK MARKET.

The Scare Was Probably Without Foundation, but It Shows How Europe Looks for War—Lady MacDonald's Name in the Mire of Canadian Politics—Death of the Khedive—Women Elected to Office in Toronto.

LONDON, January 7.—The stock exchange today was in a state of wild excitement owing to a very warlike rumor. This report as spread was to the effect that the British war vessels at Tangiers landed a force of blue jackets and marines at that place. It was added that the French admiral there gave the British admiral notice that France gave England 24 hours in which to re-embark her landing party, and if this was not done at the expiration of that time the Foreign fleet would attack the British war ships. It is supposed that this startling report is simply a canard, circulated by bourse speculators, but the excitement prevailing shows how dangerous the situation in Morocco is believed to be. Inquiries made at the admiralty and at the French office failed to obtain a confirmation or a denial of the news referred to, but the report spread with marvellous rapidity and was soon the crazy topic of London. The report, though discredited on all sides, caused a most dangerous feeling in the stock market.

The wild rumors are set at rest, but they tend to show the feverish state of European affairs, and how, from unexpected quarters, that long looked spark which is to set half the world in a blaze of war may appear.

MR. BLAINE DOING WELL. He Expects To Be at His Office Again Today.

WASHINGTON, January 7.—Enquiry at Mr. Blaine's house at 10.30 tonight elicited the response that he was much better and so expected to go to his office tomorrow. The Secretary is in good spirits and passed a portion of the evening in the drawing room with members of his family.

AS SHERMAN SEES IT. Mr. Blaine's Health and the Presidency—Free Silver Bill Will Be Vetoed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., January 7.—Hon. John Sherman was in the city tonight en route to Washington. Concerning the Presidential question, he said Secretary Blaine could have the nomination if he wanted it, but he did not think his health would permit his acceptance. With Mr. Blaine out of the way, he thought President Harrison should be nominated. His administration had been wise and clean. Regarding national legislation, Mr. Sherman said a free silver bill would pass both houses and be vetoed by the President. A tariff would pass the House only to be defeated in the Senate.

THE DEAL MADE. Parsons in Control of the New York and New England.

NEW YORK, January 7.—The Sun today says: The change in the management of the New York and New England Railroad Company, which was predicted in these columns, was formally announced yesterday, after a meeting of the board of directors in this city. Charles Parsons, ex-president of the Rhode, Watertown & Ogdensburg railroad, and his friends are now in control.

CHEATING UNCLE SAM. Exporters Said To Be Guilty of Violating the McKinley Law.

NEW YORK, January 7.—It is believed that treasury agents here have stumbled on a big scheme of fraudulent drawbacks carried on by exporters. The McKinley act provides that when imported materials, on which a duty has been paid, are used in articles manufactured in the United States, there shall be allowed on the exportation of such articles a drawback equal to the duties paid on materials used, less one per cent. It is said the treasury agents have discovered that many exporters claimed drawbacks on articles which had never been imported. The agents refuse to give particulars, but say a number of warrants will be issued tomorrow.

Other Vessels in Trouble. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., January 7.—Yesterday noon the two masted schooner C. H. Zaton of Ogdensburg, Me., captain Sinclair, with 300 tons of coal from Port Johnson for Portland, in tow of steamer William T. Slater, went ashore about half a mile east of the Wallis Sands life saving station. Captain Wells and crew of the station put off in a life boat and after two hours of search, the vessel succeeded in reaching the vessel and rescuing the crew.

The three masted schooner Carrie Berrie, with lumber from Eastport for New York, lies near the ledge just outside of Fort Point in a dangerous position. She has been there since yesterday. Tug Cochee went to the vessel's assistance last night but the captain refused to pay the price asked by the tugboat.

West Paris Manufacturing Company in Assignee's Hands.

(Special to the Press.) WEST PARIS, January 7.—The West Paris Manufacturing Company assigned this morning to George A. Wilson, assets, $60,000; liabilities, $58,000. The business will be run by the assignee with a view to manufacture the stock now on hand preparatory to final disposition of the property. This plant is splendidly equipped, and offers good inducements to anyone to continue the business here, as the product of the factory has now become favorably known and is in good demand everywhere.

Androscoggin County Farmers.

LIVERMORE FALLS, January 7.—The Androscoggin County Farmers' Institute, meeting provided for by the State Board of Agriculture, convened here today. The general subject of co-operative butter making was opened by Hon. Z. A. Gilbert, secretary of the Maine Board of Agriculture. Other subjects discussed were the breed for butter-making, by Charles E. Wheeler; profits of the business, C. V. Knight; corn as a fodder crop, Thomas Daggett; farming for a living, Hon. E. R. French.

Mr. Smith Gets His Insurance.

SACO, January 7.—The first verdict at this term of the York county supreme court was rendered tonight in the suit of Samuel P. Smith of Biddeford vs. the California Insurance Company. The insurance was for $100,000, insurance on property burned at Woburn, Mass. The jury brought in a verdict for $1648.80.

Mr. Ford May Not Accept.

BIDDEFORD, January 7.—Radcliffe H. Ford, who has been appointed United States consul at Leghorn, Italy, says he has not yet decided whether or not to accept the appointment. He put in his application two years ago, he said, and he was at that time ready to take up at short notice a consul's duties, but now his private business affairs will not allow of so abrupt a termination, and unless he can satisfactorily arrange them he may not see fit to take up a residence in Italy's sunny clime.

John Haines Suing Nelson.

BIDDEFORD, January 7.—C. H. Nelson of Waterville was in town today to secure counsel to answer to a law suit which John F. Haines has brought against him, and which will be tried at the present term of court. Mr. Haines sues Mr. Nelson for $300, he alleges, are due him as wages, while in Nelson's employ. He was to have received, according to agreement, he says, $100 per month, and expenses, and he says that not only did Nelson neglect to square up his wages but that he was obliged to pay out a matter of $126 while on the western trip, for expenses, which should have been included in his salary. B. F. Hamilton will look after the plaintiff's case, and George F. Haley after the defendant's.

Maine Notes.

The late Mrs. Seward Garcelon of Oakland, Cal., has relatives in Brunswick and in Auburn, who, it is understood, will share in the benefits of the large estate left by her. Her husband, Dr. Seward Garcelon, was a cousin of ex-Gov. Garcelon of Lewiston. Dr. Seward Garcelon was born near Garcelon's Falls, and was graduated from Bowdoin College, and settled in Benton, afterwards moving to California.

C. H. Nelson is said to have made a deal with Beverly (Mass.) parties for his favorite stallion, Colonel Osgood, receiving the neat sum of $2000. Colonel Osgood is a brown stallion, 15 1/2 hands high, sired by the famous Wilkes.

FOUR GENERATIONS ITS VICTIMS.

Re-appearance of a Disease Which Terrorized New York in 1812.

New York, January 7.—Four generations in a Brooklyn home have been suddenly carried off by bilious pneumonia, a disease which has not visited this country since 1812, when 1703 persons were swept off by its ravages in Saratoga county alone.

The victims were members of the household of Dr. J. Barney Low, at No. 231 Fifty-third street, one of the best known physicians in the city. A wife, a daughter aged 12, and a son aged 3, with his wife's mother, Mrs. Margaret Barrow, and her mother, Mrs. Mary A. Burgoyne, aged 92, comprised the physician's family.

Mrs. Burgoyne, whose age was so much against her, was taken ill with the grippe December 1, and was making good progress toward recovery under the constant care of Mrs. Barrow, when Dr. Low's daughter was prostrated by what appeared to be a combination of grippe and bronchitis. Her little brother showed similar symptoms the next day, and Mrs. Barrow, exhausted by incessant care and watching, also fell ill. Mrs. Low, the doctor's wife, succumbed next and died a few hours after giving birth to a child.

Mrs. Barrow sank rapidly and died December 24. The shock of her daughter's and granddaughter's death, added to the malady, carried off Mrs. Burgoyne a few days later. Mrs. Barrow and Mrs. Barrow were buried in the same grave at the Holy Cross Cemetery, Flatbush, last Saturday. Since then the 12-year-old daughter has died.

As soon as Mrs. Low, the doctor's wife, died, Mrs. Rushmore, Shepard and Parsons, who had been called in consultation, pronounced the disease bilious pneumonia. It is an epidemic and is said to be fatal in four cases out of five. The patient expectorates mucus in ordinary pneumonia, but in bilious pneumonia this symptom is wanting. The disease is terrible in its rapidity and does not give the physician a chance to make a fight. The lungs become clogged with a stringy mucus until the patient is asphyxiated by its solidification.

Dr. Low administered a large dose of mercury on his own responsibility to his little son, aged 3, and believes that in consequence the little fellow is out of danger. The mercury sent his pulse up to 147 degrees, and his temperature to 104, but started the secretions moving again and saved his life.

It is believed that bilious pneumonia is prevalent at this time, and that many more cases will be recorded. It is not contagious, strictly speaking, but is epidemic in form.

When the disease ravaged this country in 1812 Saratoga county appointed a committee of its leading physicians to examine into its cause, and suggest, if possible, a cure. Although nothing was accomplished in the line laid out by the committee, Dr. Low thinks it a singular coincidence that his grandniece, Dr. A. C. Barney of Greenfield, was one of the physicians of the committee.

ABOUT CANDIDATES.

You Cannot Tell What Nominating Conventions Will Do.

Dark Horses Have Often Won the Presidential Prize—Men of Great Wealth Feared—This is a Nominating Year, and Here Are Pertinent Facts.

(Special Correspondence.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—It may be as well said of presidential conventions as it has been said of juries that no one can predict accurately what they will do. With the exception of the great soldiers who have been nominated and whose selection was indicated unerringly before the conventions which nominated them met, and with the exception also of two cases where the renomination of a president has been inevitable, it may be said that ever since the national caucus system was adopted, some sixty years ago, the action of the conventions of all the parties has been in the nature of a surprise. It is the unexpected which appears to be most likely to happen with national conventions. Nobody, for instance, expected that James K. Polk would be nominated in 1844. He was almost unknown. Martin Van Buren was regarded as the certain candidate, and he did have in fact a majority in the convention, but curiously enough, a rule which he had himself devised to secure his nomination in 1836, which provided that a two-thirds vote must be secured before any candidate should be declared nominated, prevented his receiving the honor in 1844.

In 1848 it was thought for a time that General Scott or possibly Daniel Webster would be chosen by the party they represented, but a single remark by Zachary Taylor, uttered in the heat of battle in Mexico, as well as certain machinations of the politicians, brought him of a sudden to the front and he captured the prize, leaving such great men as Scott and Clay and Daniel Webster behind in the race for the honor.

Perhaps the most striking case of surprise occurred in 1852. The convention of the Democratic party seemed then unable to agree upon anybody. The little giant of the west, Stephen A. Douglas, then barely forty years of age, was unable to secure the vote of the convention, although he was immensely popular with his party, and in despair the managers turned to the little delegation from the state of New Hampshire and said to them, "Name your man and we will take him," and thus it happened that a person so obscure that most of his party had never heard of him, Franklin Pierce, became president of the United States.

In 1876 the result of the Republican convention was a surprise to the country. Blaine had run a noble race; Morton, Conkling and Brewster were splendid competitors, and yet the man who took the prize was so inconspicuous at the beginning of the balloting that his name attracted but little attention. The nomination of General Garfield in 1880 and that of Benjamin Harrison in 1888 were signal illustrations of the tendency of conventions to do those things which are surprising.

Thurlow Weed used to say that in the race for the presidency the dark horse has the best chance, and he always felt that William H. Seward would have received the nomination for president in 1860 had he been as obscure as Abraham Lincoln was.

National conventions have always been afraid of men of great wealth. Washington was the richest president, as he was the first. The two Adamses and Madison had a very small property. Jefferson was dependent upon his salary, left the White House in debt and was obliged to borrow money and sell some of his books to support himself in his old age. Martin Van Buren was worth about $60,000 when elected, and he accumulated property after he left the presidency. William Henry Harrison was so poor that he was dependent upon his trifling earnings as clerk of a little court in Ohio for his support while the presidential canvass was progressing.

Henry Clay might have earned a large fortune by practice at the bar, but he was an improvident man. He had continually to borrow money on notes, and he was in some pecuniary embarrassment, it is said, when he became the candidate in 1844. General Pierce had a small property, Buchanan an income of some $4,000 and General Scott was absolutely dependent upon his salary as a general in the United States army when he was nominated.

Lincoln was very poor. In the winter of 1860, some three months before he was nominated, he was in New York city, and he there met a friend whom he had known in Illinois.

Said Lincoln to this friend, "Well, how are you getting on in worldly goods since you left Illinois?"

"Oh, I suppose I'm worth $100,000," was his friend's reply.

"Well, that ought to be enough to keep you handsomely the rest of your life," said Lincoln. "I haven't done so well. I have $3,000 in money and my house in Springfield, which is worth about $6,000." Then he added with a merry twinkle in his eye: "Some of my friends say they are going to nominate me for vice president with Seward for president. Well, if they do and I'm elected, I ought to save $10,000, and that with what I've got will be enough for me, I reckon." Lincoln was then fifty-one years of age, and he seemed to look forward with content to the possession of about $20,000 as enough for him in his old age. His aggregate salary in the four years that he served was $100,000, and he was able to save about $40,000 of that and counted on saving as much more during his second term, so that he thought he would be worth about $100,000 when he left the presidency, a sum which he regarded as a very great fortune.

Grant had nothing but his salary

when he was nominated, and only eight years before his nomination he had been living on $1,000 a year, and two years before that had been peddling cord wood in the streets of St. Louis. Mr. Hayes was comparatively well off when he was nominated, his fortune being estimated at about $100,000, and he was the wealthiest man, with two exceptions, nominated by either party in more than sixty years, and probably the wealthiest president elected since General Washington.

General Garfield was a poor man when nominated. He owned a house in Washington, but it was mortgaged, and he had some slight investments. After his death his property was so well handled that it was said to yield his widow something like $50,000. General Arthur and Grover Cleveland were each worth about $50,000 when they entered the White House. Each of them had made fortunate real estate investments, which in the course of a few years increased their wealth. Arthur's fortune at the time of his death was estimated to be $150,000, due almost entirely to appreciation of real estate which he owned in New York city. Cleveland is estimated now to be worth about $200,000, while his wife's fortune is considerably more than that sum. President Harrison had a very small property when he was nominated, and those who know his circumstances at that time declared that all his possessions would not amount to $40,000.

Only twice, perhaps three times, in the past sixty years have men who were rich in the modern meaning of that word been nominated for the presidency. Mr. Tilden at the time of his nomination was called a millionaire, but the greater part of his wealth did not come to him until a year after the presidential election of 1876. Through certain investments in railway stocks, and especially by the enormous appreciation in the value of the stock of the elevated railway in New York, Mr. Tilden vastly increased his estate, and when he died his executors estimated his wealth at about $5,000,000. Another wealthy man nominated for the presidency was Horatio Seymour. He had large possessions in lands and stocks, but he was so charitable in the use of his property, so wise in the administration of it, that his wealth was not considered a detriment.

Moreover, the leading candidate for the nomination against him, George H. Pendleton, was also a wealthy man. He was not so rich as Governor Seymour, but he was one of the few prominent Democrats whose wealth made him conspicuous as well as his abilities. In 1848 the candidate of the Democratic party, Lewis Cass, was a man of wealth. He was, however, so conspicuous as a statesman and leader in his party that but little attention was paid to the fact that he had accumulated great possessions, mainly by the rise in value of property in Detroit, which he had years before bought for a very small sum.

Many of those who were candidates or were prominently mentioned in connection with the presidency and two or three who served as president died in poverty. Stephen A. Douglas after his brilliant career was practically penniless when he died, although he had lived a few years some land which he owned in the then suburbs of Chicago would have brought him a fair sum. James Monroe died in almost absolute poverty in New York city. John Tyler was a poor man after he left the presidency. Daniel Webster did not have much property, except his estate at Marshfield, and Henry Clay's place, called Ashland, was about all he left to his heirs. Jefferson's struggles with poverty furnish the saddest episode in his career, and John C. Breckinridge struggled hard in his practice at the bar to support his family.

A change in the disposition of conventions respecting the age of candidates has been noticed. Formerly the tendency was to select men who were well on in years. Jackson and Buchanan and William Henry Harrison were old men when they were elected to the presidency. The average age up to 1850 of candidates and presidents when elected was about sixty-two years. With the war era, however, the tendency to choose younger men began to be very marked.

Stephen A. Douglas was only forty-seven when he was nominated. Fremont was nominated when only forty-three, but he was the first candidate of a new party. John C. Breckinridge was barely forty years of age when he was nominated in 1860, and he had scarcely passed the constitutional limit when he was nominated and elected vice president in 1856. Gray hairs have not been the rule with candidates whether defeated or elected since 1860. McClellan, who was the youngest candidate ever nominated to the presidency and who was of most youthful appearance, was associated with another young man, George H. Pendleton, who was only forty-two years of age while McClellan was thirty-nine. Grant was only forty-six when he was first elected, Garfield was forty-eight and Cleveland forty-seven.

In the earlier days it would have been esteemed a rash thing to think of choosing a president who had not passed fifty years, although Henry Clay was only forty-six when he was first a candidate, and Alexander Hamilton might have been a candidate had he permitted it soon after he passed his thirty-fifth year, for although Hamilton was of foreign birth yet the constitution provided that persons who were of foreign birth at the time of the adoption of the constitution might be eligible for the presidency, and it has always been thought that this clause was put in for the possible benefit of Hamilton. Blaine was only forty-four when he made his exciting race for the presidential nomination the first time and but forty-eight when he and Grant tested strength for many days before the Chicago convention of 1860.

It will be seen, then, from these few illustrations that the tendency of conventions is to make an unexpected nomination, and also that men of great wealth, or even of fair fortunes, are not likely to be put in nomination, and, moreover, that in this day of activity conventions are likely to look for men who have scarcely entered their prime.

MOTHERS

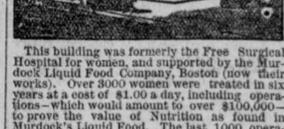

Realize the great loss of their children when young from disease, or lack of vitality, and many times it comes from carelessness of the attending nurse. Be it inherited, climate, or disease developed from carelessness, there is relief and life is saved by the use of MURDOCK'S LIQUID FOOD.

This is one of many cases that we can furnish, to show the value of our Liquid Food OVER ALL OTHER TREATMENTS. WHEN ALL OTHER TREATMENTS FAIL.

450 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY. MURDOCK LIQUID FOOD CO., BOSTON, MASS. Gentlemen—I have written you by mail a photograph of my four children (boys), thinking that it might interest you a little, as they were all four brought up on your Liquid Food as their standard diet, most especially the one on the right of the picture. When he was about six months old he was very sick from having been given sour milk by a careless nurse. In fact was so bad the physician was unable to leave the house for two weeks, during which time the child was virtually dead from want of nutrition, as he was unable to keep anything whatever on his stomach. After trying all the known prepared diet, most especially the domestic none of which were of any use—the physician, as a final hope, had me buy a bottle of your Liquid Food, and from the very first five drops given he began to rally, and has been in most excellent health since.

Whenever any of them show any signs of weakness whatever we immediately give them your Liquid Food, and it always acts like a charm in restoring them to health. Very truly yours, ARTHUR J. PURSELL.

Any case that has been under medical treatment for three months and no relief will carry free of expense, with Murdock's Liquid Food until cured or made better.

This building was formerly the Free Surgical Hospital for women, and supported by the Murdock Liquid Food Company Boston (now their works). Over 3000 women were treated in six years at a cost of $1.00 a day, including operations—which would amount to over $100,000—to prove the value of Nutrition as found in Murdock's Liquid Food. The last 1000 operations were made with the loss of 5 deaths.

The last 382 operations were made with only one death, an consisted of: Capital cases, 45; Expiration of the throat, 12; Laceration of Cervix, 40; Vaginitis, 129; Retention of Knee, 9; Erysipelas, 9; Excretion and Drainage, 2; Yecnia Vaginalis, 9; Removal Ovaries, 2; Removal of Ovaries, 2; Replacing Uterus, 3; Polypus, 5; Distention of Uterus, 12; Nævus, 1; Expiration of Labia, 1; Recto, 2.

The women of Massachusetts die, 29, New York 32, Pennsylvania 30, to the 1000, annually. These results show that the value of Nutrition as found in Murdock's Liquid Food in preventing relapse after operations, as it is as great as in curing all classes of disease, as it makes new blood faster than all food preparations known, and new blood will cleanse the system of disease, as well as heal the wounds after operations.

HARDSHIPS OF COUNTRY DOCTORS.

How a Dexter Physician Visited Grip Patients in the Woods.

[Dexter Gazette.]

One day last week a Dexter doctor received a telegram summoning him to Greenville. In half an hour he was aboard a train and at 9 o'clock in the evening stepped upon the platform at Greenville Junction. One of four brawny young men stepped up to him and asked, "Is this Dr. B. of Dexter?"

"The same."

"Well, we have orders to take you to East Outlet on a handcar."

The distance is 10 miles, the night was cold and dark, and the doctor was obliged to sit cramped up in the front of the car. To add to the general discomfort the men announced cheerfully that they were expecting to meet a Canadian Pacific train at almost any time and warned the doctor to keep a sharp lookout. At every curve they stopped the car and listened for any sounds that might signal the expected train. However, they reached East Outlet safely before midnight. At that place was waiting a nervy looking lumberman, resplendent in a red shirt and carrying two pairs of skates.

"Can you skate, Doc?" he inquired. The latter with some inward misgivings, announced his willingness to try, and the pair started on an eight mile journey up the lake. They dragged their belongings on a moose sled and had the yellow beams of an old tin lantern to guide them. Every once in a while the woodsman would order a halt, advance alone, and with a muffled exclamation about "one or them damned wrinkles," would jab his pickpole into a big hole in the ice. A "winkle" in an ice field, by the way, is a long chasm caused by the ice being fixed up. A person who steps upon a "winkle" goes down and never comes back.

The lake was but partly frozen anyway, and its surface was thickly dotted with holes, wrinkles and thin spots. Dozens of long detours were made. Sometimes the pair were obliged to tramp for rods over masses of broken ice, every cake on edge. The mass would crack, groan and sigh in a most disquieting manner. Then, too, the doctor was not particularly reassured by a little piece of news that the guide reported. He said that only two days before two young men had been drowned at that place, in broad daylight, too.

When the doctor helped pull the heavy moose sled on shore at Lamb's farm nearly opposite Kineo, he felt well imagine!

He found nine members of the Lamb family prostrated with grip and pulmonary troubles. Next day he started on a six mile tramp through the woods to Mistry Stream, and at this suggestively named place found 17 men out of Terrill's crew of 40 in a lamentable condition. The influenza was raging in the camp and the men were well nigh demoralized.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Adeline G. Hutchison. Mrs. Adeline G. Hutchison, who died January 4th at the age of 80 years and 11 months, was buried yesterday from her late residence, Rev. Mr. Frost conducting the services which were of a very impressive character. Mrs. Hutchison was born in Portland on February 17, 1805, the daughter of Capt. George Gooding, U. S. A. She was married November 17, 1828, to Capt. John Hutchison, who died on July 11, 1879. When a child she visited her father at his station at the Falls of St. Anthony, returning to Portland in 1823, where she has since resided. In 1827 Mrs. Hutchison joined the Chestnut street Methodist Episcopal church, remaining in that fellowship until 1876, uniting then with the Congress street Methodist church, where she continued an honored member until the day of her death.

Mrs. Hutchison leaves two daughters—Mrs. Isaac Hatch and Mrs. Charles M. Smith—five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, all resident of the city. Of robust constitution, remarkably preserved and very vigorous for her years, she gave promise of a much longer life, until the gripe developed heart trouble which proved fatal.

Mrs. John Matthews. Mrs. John Matthews died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Sands, in Deering, Monday. Her age was 75 years and 6 months. The funeral services were held yesterday and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Hodgdon. Mrs. Matthews was for many years a resident of Cushing's Island.

Dr. Robert William Wood. Dr. Robert W. Wood died at Jamaica Plain, Monday. He was born in Stow, Mass., April 23, 1803, and entered Waterville College, now Colby University, where he graduated in 1829. From Bowdoin he received the degree of M. D. in 1832. After completing his professional education Dr. Wood practiced in Aurora, Me., where he resided until 1838. From that time until 1866, he lived in Honolulu, then returning to this country.

SUPERIOR COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE BONNEY.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Bonney heard the civil case of Lyman, Son & Guphill against W. D. Gover without a jury. It is an action to recover $2,454.20 on an account for top bills furnished a vessel built by the defendant in Calais in the fall of 1889. The defendant admits the items in the account and the prices charged. But he claims that the plaintiffs agreed to take five-sixty-fourths of the vessel in consideration that they should be allowed to furnish the top bills; that they have been one-third second, which the defendant declined to accept; that when the order subsequently came they supposed it was in the general course of business without reference to the talk; that the two checks for dividends were applied to credit of the account, and this defendant notified at once that they were not owners in the vessel, never purchased or agreed to purchase. Decision reserved. Benjamin Thompson for plaintiff. Eugene D. Carver of Boston for defendant.

Their Birds Score Well.

Among the competitors at the Lewiston poultry show from this vicinity were these:

In Silver-laced Wyandottes, George B. Jacobs of Stroudwater has two pairs of fowls, score 904, 904; chicks, 884, 904. A. S. Davis, Portland, six pet game cocks.

Charles W. York, Auburn, cock and hen, black B. red game. M. Thomas Brunswick, has a pen and pair of leghorns. The pen score, 904, 92, 904, 94.

The Stroudwater flocks of George B. Jacobs, seven in number, score as follows: Pen, 88, 904, 894, 874; a pair of chicks score 854, 88.

In the Light Brahma class, Mr. Charles E. Gould, Cumberland Mills, has a fine exhibit of fowls. The first breeding pen score as follows: Male, 904; females, 92, 914, 904. The pen score is 12, 114, 92, 94 pounds. A pair of chicks score 91 and 92; weights 94 and 74. As no prizes were attached to the coops of this class, reference to the premium list will tell the tale of preference.

A good scoring lot of light Brahmas are those of Mr. Stevens of Stroudwater. Mr. Stevens has 15 birds. His breeding hens score 92, 90, 824, 904. A pair of chicks have a mark of 92-1.3, 91; another, 92, 90; another, 91, 914.

Veteran Firemen's Meeting.

A meeting of the Veteran Firemen's Association was held last evening at the Myrtle street ward room, President Henry Fox in the chair. There was a fair attendance. The members talked over the matter of securing rooms, but did not decide upon any location. It was voted to join the New England Firemen's League, and President Fox and J. W. Plaisted were appointed to represent this organization as delegates to the league. The meeting then adjourned for two weeks.

Mad Randall Loses a Leg.

While the Machias bark Miranda was hauling out of dock at Philadelphia the other day, Mate Randall, of Machiasport, while letting out the line got his leg caught in it, and suffered such severe injuries as to necessitate its amputation.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Andrew J. Morrison Struck by a Locomotive at West Falmouth. Andrew J. Morrison of West Falmouth a section hand on the Maine Central rail road, was struck by the locomotive of the first outgoing train yesterday morning, at West Falmouth. The wheels passed over his body, badly mangling it and killing him instantly. He was about 45 years of age and unmarried.

Coroner Perry and Mr. Bert Rich went out to the scene of the accident, and a jury was impanelled who viewed the remains and adjourned to Wednesday next when an inquest will be held in this city. It seems that Morrison had been ill with the grippe, and was not entirely recovered. He was all bundled up in clothing and cleaning out the switch at a point where there is a curve in the road. The engineer saw him, but could not stop the train in time. Morrison had an arm and leg, and his jaw bone badly broken, while the blow from the engine killed him. Mr. Morrison, while he boarded at West Falmouth, had his home at Cumberland. He leaves a brother, who resides at No. 99 Wilmot street, in this city.

Steamer Notes.

The Sarnia, of the Dominion Line, left Liverpool yesterday, for Portland. She will touch at Monville and Halifax, arriving here about a week from Monday.

The Texas, of the Dominion Line, left Bristol yesterday, for Portland direct. A liner named Isner fell into the hold of the Toronto yesterday, and was quite badly out about the head. His injuries are not considered serious.

Later advices state that the Parisian's passengers will land at Halifax instead of Portland.

The Toronto, of the Dominion Line, Capt. Daveis, arrived here yesterday from Liverpool, having sailed from that port on the 29th. She left Halifax Wednesday morning. She brought a full cargo, mostly going through to Canada. She had one passenger, Rev. Father I. Dozous, of Montreal.

Steamer Numidian, Capt. Macnichol, of the Allan Line, sailed for Liverpool yesterday. She takes 4420 barrels of American apples and 7518 barrels of Canadian apples. Her other United States cargo consisted of 400 cattle and 291,160 pounds of bacon.

The Longshoremen's Ball.

The Portland Longshoremen's Benevolent Association is one of the most valued charitable institutions of Portland. Every year a ball is given, the proceeds of which are dispensed in aid of deserving members of the society, who are out of work or sick. Last night's annual ball at City Hall, was very largely attended, and when the American Cadet band struck up the grand march the floor was well covered with guests. The dance orders of the gentlemen were neat, and those of the ladies very attractive. A gilded horseshoe in gold, studded with four leaved clover, ornamented the cover. There were eighteen dances and it was early in the morning when the last quadrille was called. The dance orders were printed before the recent departure of the Canadian longshoreman for home, so that some of those whose names appeared in the list of floor managers, were in Montreal last night. Mr. John A. Banks was floor director, with Mr. Alexander Brockmann as assistant, and Nessrs. Morris J. Cramer, William T. Kelly, John F. De Costa, William Brockmann, Thomas Boyce, and Henry Smith, as aids.

Mr. Atkinson and the Plush Mill Enterprise. We are glad to announce the recovery of Mr. Isaac C. Atkinson sufficiently to attend to a little business yesterday. One hour was allotted to him by his medical adviser, and in that time three representatives of three different industries waited on him to know the result of the plush mill enterprise.

Just as soon as the plush mill is decided on favorably the others will be only too glad to accept of the liberal offer made by Cape Elizabeth and Mr. Atkinson and commence operations, so that by the middle of May we may expect quite a boom in manufacturing, from which Portland will receive a direct benefit for many months to come and one indirect benefit always.

City's Vote in Ogdensburg Meeting.

A special meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen was held yesterday afternoon to direct the mayor to attend the annual meeting of the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad and cast the votes of the city's stock in the election of the new board of directors. The instructions are to vote for the old board, with the exception that James F. Hawkes is to be voted for in place of Fred N. Dow, and George W. True in place of Holman S. Melcher. A petition has been forwarded for a charter for the formation of a new council of Princes of Jerusalem, ancient and accepted Scottish Rites, to be formed at Machias, and to be named George W. Deering Council, after the late George W. Deering of this city and Berlin Falls.

Ladies' Night at the Portland Club.

Last evening was Ladies' Night at the Portland Club. There was a very good attendance. There was no elaborate entertainment. Those of the lady friends of the members who desired spent the evening informally at the club with cards and conversation.

Bowdoin Alumni of New York.

The Bowdoin Alumni of New York held their annual dinner at the Hoffman House Wednesday evening. About 40 members of the alumni were present, most of them natives of Maine. Among them were: John H. Meeting of the Board of Trade.

The managers of the Board of Trade held a meeting yesterday morning. Messrs. Albert B. Hall and Augustus Champlin were appointed a committee to audit the books and accounts of the treasurer. Hon. Nathan Cleaves, Lyman M. Cousins and Thomas S. Laughlin were appointed a committee to nominate a list of candidates for the several offices of the board, to be presented at the annual meeting, the 11th inst. President Winslow was appointed a delegate, with power to choose an associate, to attend the dedication of the new Chamber of Commerce building in Boston, January 20th and 21st. A reply was received from the Weather Bureau at Washington denying the application that the Portland station should be raised to a first class. A resolution was adopted urging the transfer of the revenue marine to the navy.

Public Meeting about Roads.

Wheelmen are devoted advocates of improved highways. The subject of "Good Roads" has never received a thorough presentation here, and looking to that end there will be at the Wheel Club house, High street, this evening, a public meeting for the discussion of the matter in its various phases. The public are cordially invited to attend, especially owners of bicycles or horses. Mr. James E. Marrett, president of the club, will be chairman, and the programme will consist of the reading of a paper by Mr. Percy H. Richardson, C. E., on "Roman Roads." Mr. Geo. Fernald, C. E., will describe the "Building and Maintenance of Telford Roads;" Mr. Frank A. Elwell will talk about the "Roads of Europe and America from a bicyclist's point of view," following which Mr. John Calvin Stevens will deliver an address upon "Better Roads." A large attendance is desired.

A Sad Case of Destitution.

A sad case of destitution was reported to the police last evening. A mother and daughter living on the Hill, near the Shaler school house, were found yesterday by the neighbors, each too sick to assist the other, and without any assistance or resources. It is reported that they had been deserted by the husband and father. Neighbors went to the office of the overseers of the poor last evening; but not finding any of those officials at that hour, reported the case to the police. Dr. Brock, the city physician, was sent to the house. When he arrived a neighbor was assisting to make the sick ones as comfortable as possible. Dr. Brock found both mother and daughter very sick, the former apparently suffering from pneumonia.

The Infantry's Election.

At the election of officers of the Portland Light Infantry, Co. A, 1st Infantry, held last evening, First Lieutenant George E. Dow was elected captain and Sergeant Fred E. Doe first lieutenant. The following civil officers were elected: Treasurer—Sergeant A. S. Knight. Standing Committee—Corporal F. E. Robinson, Privates Welch and Freeman. Committee of Inquiry—Lieutenant Doe, Sergeant Smith, Corporal Thomas, Privates Egan and Baker.

The company is free from debt and now has 58 members on the rolls. Sergeant Walden was appointed clerk and Private Baker armorer.

Portland Club.

The monthly dinner of the Portland Club will be held at their rooms on Monday evening, January 11, at 6.30 o'clock. Distinguished speakers will address the club. Members who desire to attend will leave their names with the committee or steward at the house as early as Saturday evening.

Not a Local Disease

Because Catarrh affects your head, it is not therefore a local disease. If it did not exist in your blood, it could not manifest itself in your nose. The blood now in your brain is before you finish reading this article, back in your heart again and soon distributed to your liver, stomach, kidneys, and so on. Whatever impurities the blood does not carry away, cause what we call diseases. Therefore, when you have a snuff or other inhalant can at most give only temporary relief. The only way to effect a cure is to attack the disease in the blood, by taking a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which eliminates all impurities and thus permanently cures Catarrh. The success of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

As a remedy for Catarrh is vouchered for by many people it has cured. N. B. Be sure to get Hood's.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

RED PRICES ON CLOAKS

Will continue another day.

During the rush of yesterday many had not the time they desired to examine our cloak bargains. COME TODAY AND SEE THEM.

All our CLOAKS are marked down from $2.00 to $15.00 each, so that those who want nice garments will get bargains as well as those who get cheap ones. We call particular attention to the following:

- One Lot Ladies Jackets ALL THIS YEAR'S STYLES formerly $3.50 to $6.00, now $2.00
One Lot same, formerly $5.00 to $7.50, now $3.00
One Lot same including Astrachan trimmed, formerly $7.50 to $12.50, now $5.00
One Lot Ladies' Newmarkets, formerly $8.00 to $20.00, now $5.00

The above are all good garments and in good sizes and our only reason for selling them so low is because they are odd lots and we want to clean up our stock.

We have a lot of Astrachan Muffs which we will sell at $1.25

All our Fur Capes are going at less than half price.

A few Ladies' Wool Suits at $1.00 and $2.00

We have a fair assortment left of our Marked Down Cotton Underwear.

These and many other GENUINE, THROUGH AND THROUGH PURE GOLD Bargains may be found in our Cloak Department TODAY.

Eastman Bros. & Bancroft.

The weather today is likely to be stormy. PORTLAND, Jan. 8, 1892.

THE response to our announcement of a mark down in lace nets and gauzes for costumes was generous and continuous. The counter was crowded all day yesterday and yet there's enough left for another day's selling.

The prices were $1.00, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50, now they're all 50c.

The offering includes our entire stock of fancy colored silk overnets, gauzes, fishnets and mouselines, the goods are in perfect condition, and were never more in favor for fashionable costumes. Our reason for slumping prices to this absurd figure is to close the stock out quick.

The Black India Silks with polka spots, hair line stripes and small figures at 75c a yard are marvels of cheapness and they're going fast.

They're fit for dresses, blouses, waists—they are the handsomest goods for the price ever offered here.

There are two other special bargains in this silk sale—one at 50c and another at 37c, both worthy of your immediate attention.
