

R.M.R. and Navy Bands Here

Two Outstanding Bands Will Appear Here Next Week

Rocky Mountain Rangers Active Army Band and Royal Canadian Navy Band from Esquimalt will Give Concerts on Monday and Thursday Evenings Respectively—Concerts at Oval of Athletic Park—Victory Loan Publicity Committee Arranges Week of Outstanding Music—Penticon Reeve R. J. McDougall Speaks Monday Evening, Major Harold Brown, of Vancouver, Thursday Evening—Naval Band at Fashion Show

Penticon Co-operation Helped

THANKS to the generous co-operation of the Penticon Victory Loan Committee, Kelowna next week will have the unprecedented opportunity of hearing the two outstanding bands in this province, the Rocky Mountain Rangers, Canadian Army Active Force, which will appear here on Monday next, and the Royal Canadian Naval Band from Esquimalt, which will be here on Thursday next.

That Kelowna is to have the privilege of hearing the Naval band, acknowledged to be the outstanding band in this province, is due solely to the kindness of the people of Penticon, altering their arrangements to make it possible for the band to come here.

With these two outstanding bands here next week, the people of Kelowna are assured of a feast of music such as never been heard before in this city. Two huge band concerts have been arranged for Monday and Thursday evenings in Athletic Park. There is no admission charge.

Both bands come here under the auspices of the Victory Loan publicity committee, and in this respect Kelowna has been extremely fortunate in obtaining the band touring the northern section of the province and the one touring the southern cities. It will probably be the only city in the Interior which will entertain both these bands.

Outstanding speakers have been arranged for both band concerts. At seven-thirty a parade will form at the Armory. This will consist of all uniformed organizations, both Reserve Army units, the Canadian Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Sea Cadets, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and School Cadets. The Brownies and Cubs will not parade.

The parade will proceed down Bernard and along Abbott to the Armory at eight o'clock. As a large crowd is expected to hear both these outstanding bands, it is thought that more seating arrangements should be made.

Torch Ceremony Is Solemn Climax Of Patriotic Day

Over Six Thousand Persons Participate in Impressive Pledge Ceremony—Fitting End to Brilliant Day Marked by Many Patriotic Episodes—Basic Training Centre Troops Gave Outstanding Military Demonstration in Afternoon—Dawn to Dark Celebration was Blessed by Weatherman and Proceeded Without Slightest Hitch—Evening Parade Was Spectacular

Over six thousand persons took part in the impressive Torch Ceremony at Athletic Park on the evening of Empire Day and pledged themselves to "stand shoulder to shoulder with the Motherland and Empire in our righteous cause through victory and enduring peace." The Torch Ceremony was the climax of a dawn-to-dark celebration which started with the pet parade in the morning and continued through the crowning of the May Queen and track events to the military display by the troops from Basic Training Camp 110 which was witnessed by nearly thirty-five hundred persons.

The day is acknowledged to be one of the outstanding events of this nature in the history of the city. After all participants had given their due praise, there are three factors which contributed to make this year's Empire Day outstanding: weather which could not have been bettered had the ingredients been hand-picked, Gyro organization which passes all praise for smoothness and efficiency, and a spirit abroad among Kelowna citizens which, while no surprise to anyone who knows Kelowna spirit, certainly brought a warm glow to many a heart.

Grand climax of the day's events was the monster Torch parade, including most Kelowna organizations, which brought to the park the replica of the "Torch of Freedom" which is being flown to England. Following selections by the choir, and community singing, the Torch was dedicated. After a stirring address by Hon. R. L. Maitland, Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, the vast audience, numbering over six thousand persons, repeated the Pledge.

Through a breakdown in one of the transport trucks a large crowd was kept excitedly waiting for a few moments for the beginning of Empire Day. The huge scheduled military demonstration lined up at the Canadian Legion by over a hundred men from party which included the Mayor, the boys, and the City Council, a guard of honor through their paces not one of the for the Torch led by H. S. "Pete" Atkinson, bearer of the Torch, and eight other war veterans, and the arrangements provided for Major Brown addressing a much larger gathering at the band concert which will be given by the Royal Canadian Navy Band from Esquimalt at the Athletic Park oval on the same evening. Major Brown will be tendered a complimentary dinner by the Board of Trade. At this dinner representatives from various organizations will be asked to attend.

TRADE BOARD ASKS BULL FOR ACTION

Writes Local Member Asking For Action on Ferry Situation—Time for Evasive Answers is Past

PROBLEM LONG STANDING

Capt. Bull Replies He Feels There is no Justification for Board's Request

The Kelowna Board of Trade has written Capt. C. R. Bull, M.L.A., on a "matter which the Board of Trade considers of prime urgency"—the toll charge on the Kelowna-Westbank ferry. The letter reviews the ferry situation and urges Capt. Bull, as the member representing this constituency, "to take this question up with the proper authorities and have suitable action along the lines we have suggested taken without further delay," as "the time for evasive answers from the Department of Public Works is past."

The Board of Trade's letter to Capt. Bull follows:

"At a meeting of the Executive Council of this Board, held on the 20th inst., I was directed to call your attention to a matter which the Board of Trade considers of prime urgency. "The Board have, covering a period of several years, asked the Provincial Government to reduce the toll charge on the Westbank Ferry to now stands at 75c per car and driver, to a more reasonable rate. Our argument has been that the occasional visitor to the Okanagan Valley should not be snubbed with an extra charge of 50c over and above that which is paid by the regular traveller who is able to purchase commutation tickets. "Furthermore, we are of the opinion that the ferry, being an integral part of the Okanagan Valley highway system, should be operated for the convenience of the travelling public and not maintained as a Turn to Page 12, Story 6

TRADE BOARD PRESIDENT IS CAUSTIC

Lashes Out at Members For Failure to Co-operate in Victory Loan Parade

President R. G. Rutherford was in a caustic mood on Tuesday when he reviewed the support the Kelowna Board of Trade members and the Retail Merchants' Bureau gave the Victory Loan Committee in its parade on May 24th.

"It was a disgrace to this organization and a slap in the face to the Victory Loan people," he said. "Only three men turned up to participate in the parade. I appreciate that several of our members were Gyros and one or two others were working on the Victory Loan Publicity Committee and could not attend the parade. Nevertheless, there are some two hundred members of this Board and only three turned out.

"Some I know went fishing. I suppose that is their own business but if that is their idea of supporting a patriotic endeavor, then God help this country.

"The members of this Board were asked to give but very little effort to this event. In fact it was a sorry thing. They were asked to turn out and march in the parade. And only three men did so. If the members of the Board of Trade show such a spirit of non-co-operation as this, how can we expect the general public to show much enthusiasm?"

MINISTER COMES HERE THURSDAY

Word has been received here that Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, accompanied by T. W. S. Parsons, Commissioner of the Provincial Police, and Inspector Moodie, will be in Kelowna on Thursday next, June 5th, to discuss at a public meeting with Kelowna citizens, matters concerning civil protection.

It is understood that similar discussions are taking place in Kamloops on Tuesday and in Vernon on Wednesday.

In view of the many events here on Thursday, it has been suggested that Mr. Wismer might come to Kelowna on Wednesday and return to Vernon on Thursday. Details of the meeting were very meagre at press time.

BROWN DINNER IS CANCELLED

The dinner meeting called of the general membership of the Board of Trade for Thursday, June 5th, to hear Major Harold Brown speak on the Victory Loan, has been cancelled.

This step was taken as subsequent arrangements provided for Major Brown addressing a much larger gathering at the band concert which will be given by the Royal Canadian Navy Band from Esquimalt at the Athletic Park oval on the same evening. Major Brown will be tendered a complimentary dinner by the Board of Trade. At this dinner representatives from various organizations will be asked to attend.

TORCH TO CHURCHILL ON ITS WAY

The symbolic Torch which Canadians are flying to Prime Minister Winston Churchill, left Toronto place on May 24. At left, artist Ted Watson is shown with the completed Torch. The symbol is constructed from materials distinctly Canadian. The base is of maple and the shaft of Canadian pine, and the whole is finished with 23 carat gold-leaf. At right is shown the inscription on the base: "Canada's Victory Loan 1941—Part of the Tools."

Canadian Naval Ship Launched Yesterday Is Named "Kelowna" Capt. J. Horn Represents City

Naval Department Grants Local Board of Trade's Request and Links This Interior City Definitely With Royal Canadian Navy by Naming New Addition to Fleet After City—Corvettes Have Demonstrated Their Effectiveness—Accepting Submarine Service Life in Corvette Hardest in Navy—City Will Make Presentation to Ship When She is Put Into Commission

Men Who Sail Her Must Have "Stomach of Brass"

WITH the launching at Prince Rupert yesterday afternoon of H.M.C.S. "Kelowna," this city, far in the interior of the province, now has a definite link with the Royal Canadian Navy. The corvette "Kelowna" slid down the ways of the Prince Rupert drydock during a colorful ceremony yesterday afternoon at which her patron city was represented by former Alderman, Capt. J. H. Horn. Arrangements are already being made by city officials to make a suitable presentation to the ship as soon as she is completed and ready to be put into commission. Just what form this gift will take has not yet been decided, however, a committee has it in hand. As the ship slid down the slip yesterday afternoon, Mrs. D. J. Matheson, wife of the City Commissioner of Prince Rupert, officiated in the traditional manner and christened the new craft "His Majesty's Canadian Ship Kelowna."

OYAMA LAD DROWNED IN LAKE

Leslie Kornitsky, 14, Failed to Reach Boat Drifting From Shore

Leslie Kornitsky, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kornitsky, of Oyama, was drowned in Woods Lake on Saturday, May 24th, while trying to recover his boat which had drifted from the shore.

He had been out fishing and returned home to show his mother his catch when he noticed that his boat had started to drift out into the lake. He tried to swim out to it but a slight wind kept it just out of his reach and he failed to reach it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kornitsky and family came to Oyama in November last and during their short residence the parents and children had become highly respected residents of the community.

Young Leslie was well liked by his classmates at school, being of an athletic nature. He was born in Kamloops, February 10th, 1927. Mrs. Ann Bavelock, of Regina, sister of Mrs. Kornitsky, arrived on Monday to attend the funeral which was held in Vernon from the All Saints Anglican Church. Interment in Vernon cemetery.

LEARY TO SPEAK TO TRADE BOARD

Will Address Board of Trade Members at Noon on Wednesday

Hon. C. S. Leary, Minister of Public Works in the Provincial Government, will address a general meeting of the Kelowna Board of Trade at a luncheon in the Royal Anne Hotel at noon on Wednesday, June 4th.

Mr. Leary will arrive in Kelowna on Tuesday afternoon but it was impossible to arrange a meeting for that evening. He has kindly consented to remain here until after lunch on Wednesday, so that the members of the Kelowna Board may have the privilege of hearing him. All members of the Board are urged to be present.

American war department officials are busy in Ottawa shopping. They are making plans to place the first orders of what may in a year amount to $300 millions worth of Canadian war materials and equipment as provided in the recent HYDE PARK declaration. The bulk of this export, it is expected, will be in shells, rifle cartridges, trucks, universal gun carriers and perhaps anti-aircraft guns. In the naval line corvettes will be a prominent item, but these will likely be bought by Americans for delivery under the lend-lease bill to Britain. Raw metals are expected to loom large in war exports of Canada to the United States. The latter, as it turns more and more to war production, is finding itself woefully short. Already steps are underway to curb civilian use of nickel and aluminum and it is believed that restrictions will be widened. American officials are looking into Canadian aluminum possibilities and it is likely that part of our recently greatly increased capacity will be diverted to U.S. war production.

Canadian farmers have been following closely the general price rise across the border. There has been some hope of advantage to Canada but this now seems premature so far as new exports are concerned. Already arrangements are being discussed to keep Canadian wheat shipments down to the tiny average of normal years. Moreover, U.S. agricultural experts have been in Ottawa recently discussing the general situation with a view towards preparing Canada for any steps that may be taken to stop the sudden flow of farm products across the border. Recent wartime price rises plus the premium on U.S. funds, apparently have threatened to undermine what has hitherto proved a most substantial tariff wall.

Students of Canadian geography have had an easy time of it so far in this war, especially when compared with the almost hopeless jumble of Europe. Recent developments, however, indicate that some changes may be imminent. A break with the Vichy government of France would almost certainly be followed by Canadian acquisition, temporary or permanent, of French islands of ST. PIERRE AND MIQUELON, far down the Gulf of St. Lawrence and ten miles off the coast of Newfoundland. The gain would be largely strategic, these little bits of land having had no economic importance since prohibition days. They were chiefly valuable to France as bases for fishermen operating off Newfoundland.

Canadian EXPORTS IN APRIL were up almost fifty per cent over a year ago, according to official returns. Extra war demands, of course, were responsible. Principal gains were in automotive equipment, up over $8 millions, and in food stuffs, especially wheat and bacon. Total export was valued at almost $125 millions for the month against $85.6 millions for April, 1940.

COST OF THE AIR TRAINING PLAN has been revised upward, according to Air Minister Power. When first broached it was estimated that the three year scheme from April, 1940, would cost $600 millions, of which Canada would pay $350 millions. Now the total to April, 1943, is expected to be about $824 millions of which Canada's bill will be $531 millions. The United Kingdom will contribute $194 millions and the balance will come from Australia and New Zealand.

Most contentious regulation facing the Government just now is P.C.7440, the order-in-council governing standard wages and cost of living bonus for workers. Labor does not like it; industry does not like it, each for different reasons. While primarily designed to please labor, the order fails to cover one very important feature, namely, that of strikes, especially in war industries. There is talk PC7440 is due for an overhauling and if that happens, some attention will be paid to controlling disputes which have reached the stage where neither employee or employer agree on the findings of the conciliation board.

Drastic steps have been taken to curb the drain of U.S. dollars through HEALTH VISITS OF CANADIANS TO THE UNITED STATES. Following negotiations with the Canadian Medical Association, a new ruling has been made by the Foreign Exchange Control Board. Hereafter, only in exceptional cases will it be possible for citizens to go to the United States for medical treatment. The F.E.C.B. has apparently accepted the claim of the Canadian Medical Association that almost without exception Canadian citizens are assured of the best medical care in Canada. Under the new system the patient applies directly through his bank to the F.E.C.B. In this application must be cited the reason for wanting to leave Canada; also the name of the doctor. The applicant's bank then send the doctor a form of medical report which he will fill in after an examination of patient and which the doctor will forward to Ottawa. The patient need not see the report or know what is being confidentially reported by his doctor to Ottawa. Unlike the former system in which the doctor was required to make a definite recommendation as to the trip, no such recommendation is required. Instead the doctor will be asked to report only on the actual condition and past history of the patient and from such evidence the decision of the Board will be made.

Apple Agreement Now Awaits Approval of Finance Dept.

An agreement has been reached between B.C. Tree Fruits and representatives of the Dominion Government on terms of the agreement between the Okanagan fruit industry and the Dominion Government to cover the 1941 crop.

While the terms of the agreement will not be made available until after they have been approved by the Minister of Finance, it is understood that local fruit officials are quite satisfied with the arrangement and feel that the apple growers will be entirely satisfied with the measure of assistance that will be extended by the Government this year.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture have accepted the agreement, the finance department must also accept it. It will be remembered that some weeks ago a similar agreement existed. Local members of the delegation to Ottawa left the city quite confident that the agreement reached at that time would be acceptable to the Government, but the finance department demurred, with the result that this second agreement was necessary.

However, it is expected that the terms of this tentative agreement will be released in part to the banks that they may make provision for extending credit to growers.

The Ottawa party reached the Okanagan on Saturday and on Monday immediately began its conference with fruit officials here. With the former agreement as a working basis the two groups found no insurmountable difficulty in reaching a common ground.

The Ottawa party consists of Col. R. L. Wheeler, Assistant Director of Marketing Service and Chairman of the Fruit and Vegetable Board of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Dr. A. G. Richards, of the Economics Branch, and Mrs. W. F. Chown and O'Mara. L. F. Burrows, Secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council, also attended.

BAND TO SUPPLY DANCE MUSIC

Late Wednesday night J. J. Ladd, Chairman of the Victory Loan Publicity Committee, announced that on Monday night the R.M.R. military band would play a number of popular dance numbers during its concert in the park and that the public will be invited to "dance on the green." A space will be reserved for dancing and it is said that the smooth sward makes an excellent floor for popular dancing. The invitation is there for you to dance to this outstanding military band. Take advantage of it.

A Fitting Dedication

The Empire Day celebration was probably the outstanding patriotic event ever held in this city. The Gyro Club had arranged the events of the morning and afternoon with its customary thoroughness and forethought and co-operated with the Victory Loan publicity committee to make the evening Torch Pledge Ceremony the most impressive public service ever held here.

It was not a money-making day for the Gyros. This year they decided their community service would strike a patriotic note and they bent all their efforts in this direction. The result must give them considerable satisfaction.

From the pet parade in the morning till the dances at night the schedule clicked successfully. The outstanding event of the afternoon was of course the demonstration of the troops from Basic Training Centre 110. For the first time the people of Kelowna had an opportunity of seeing the type of training the men at this camp are receiving and the result of the first month's training was thrilling to the crowd of nearly four thousand which witnessed the demonstration.

The celebration climaxed in the Torch Ceremony and it was a fitting climax. The parade was one of which many a large city might be proud and a no more impressive ceremony could have been arranged than that which over six thousand people attended to pledge their all to assist the Motherland win freedom for the world.

The Torch Ceremony was most effective and Kelowna may rest assured that, while larger cities may have had larger and more ornate ceremonies, the Torch received nowhere a more impressive and sincere dedication than it did right here in this city.

Result Of Co-operation

May 24th, 1941, will long be remembered in Kelowna, as a day of entertainment, patriotism and purpose, climaxed by the solemn Torch Ceremony in which more than six thousand people pledged themselves to keep the Torch of Freedom burning brightly.

The day was a complete success from the first bleat of a lamb in the pet parade until the final note of "Home, Sweet Home" at the dances. That the day was the success it was was due to the efforts of two organizations, the Gyro Club and J. J. Ladd's Victory Loan Publicity committee.

While the Gyro Club and the Victory Loan publicity committee were in charge of the day, they could not have made it the success it was without the assistance and co-operation of a whole host of individuals and the general public. Yeoman service was rendered by men and women who gladly inconvenienced themselves that they might lend a hand to the cause.

Facing Reality

There comes a time in the lives of most men when they come face to face with reality and cannot dodge it. Such a time has arrived for every man and woman in Canada who has a sum of money over and above that needed for ordinary expenditures.

There are few Canadians who do not treasure money, either for the protection it affords the individual against unforeseen calamity or for the value it represents in terms of goods which it will buy. Some treasure money because it is the concrete result of years of hard work. Others are reluctant to part with money because to them it is a sheltering arm around the family.

Now, however, Canadians are faced with the realization that, no matter how highly they regard their personal cash reserves, they must loan it in order to keep it.

The battle against Germany can be viewed in part as a battle in behalf of Canadian cash in hand. Let Germany win, and the assets of Canadians will dry up almost to the vanishing point.

Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and Canada have been left alone to fight the Nazi monster. The challenge, undoubtedly the most stupendous in world history, demands the active help of every Canadian. Those with money, be it fifty dollars or two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, must loan their cash to the government if Canada is to carry on with her present share in the big battle.

The man or woman who shrugs his or her shoulder and deliberately attempts to duck from under the responsibility of each individual in this time of national crisis will earn the contempt of his fellow citizens.

FUNCTIONS OF THE PRESS

This is one of a series of editorials specially designed to acquaint our readers with the various functions of the Press in a democratic community.

The Press and The Churches

One of the most easily misconstrued relationships in the publishing field is that between the newspaper and the churches in the community it serves. The newspaper man asks himself the question: "What should be my attitude toward the churches?" He endeavors to answer that question so that he will be fair to both the churches and to himself.

Churches sometimes assume the attitude that as they are supported solely by voluntary donations, and as they are a spiritual and moral force in the community, any publicity desired should be given without charge by the newspaper. Strangely enough the churches do not expect the same privilege from any other business or profession. It should be remembered at the outset that most publishers are church members, and that as individuals they are decidedly interested in the welfare of the church with which they are affiliated.

While newspapers are more generous with space to churches than to other institutions, this is simply a recognition by the press of the premier place held by the church in the spiritual and moral sphere of the community. However, the church has no legal right to expect the press to give more generously than any individual church member. It is not expected of the man who sells the church fuel, or the public utilities which serve the church. In larger centres it is not expected that the organist should give his services free, or the caretaker should work without remuneration.

The press, we believe, will always recognize the position and value of the church in the community. It will realize that the community without the church would be like a rudderless ship, not knowing whence the tide of events and fortune might lead it. The press will continue to give service to the church as one important institution to another, but the church must also realize that to continue its service, not only to the church but to the community, the newspaper must have an income, and that income can only come from the space it sells in its columns. This same reasoning must apply to charitable organizations in the community. To them the publisher and the men and women who work for the publisher give generously of their private means and of their time and talent. They too must prosper if they are to continue the support to the church, and all kindred organizations seeking to carry out an uplifting work in the community.

Remove Recruiting Barriers

Colonel Ralston, Minister of Defence, has made a strong plea for eligible men to join the armed forces for active service. He has denied any suggestion that universal service is necessary or advisable. He has expressed confidence that the young men of Canada possess the necessary spirit and will join in sufficient numbers of their own free will.

No one will dispute the fact that the armed forces of the democracies need men. They need well-trained and well-equipped men. Eventually we must meet the Germans in the field, and, while we may never hope to amass an army numerically equal to the German army, past experience has shown that we can beat them if the odds are no more than two to one against us, and provided our men are at no disadvantage in the matter of mobility and weapons. Everybody knows that this is a struggle between two groups of highly skilled men specializing in the operation of intricate machines of death.

Many Canadians believe that universal service is the only just and equitable system of raising the men who may be required for active service, and sparing from malicious speculation those who are not in uniform for medical reasons or for reasons of their greater usefulness in some other occupation. They believe that universal selective service would prevent the draining of manpower of certain sections of the country to fight for benefits equally enjoyed by all. Whatever internal disaffection may be caused by the adoption of compulsory enlistment for overseas service, it might be as nothing compared with the passionate hostility with which those sections of the country which filled the ranks and threw their men into the breach will later regard those whose salvation has been assured without comparable sacrifices.

But if the Government refuses to consider a measure for compulsory enlistment for overseas service while still calling for volunteers, everyone must support the campaign for recruits. This we do. And we share with Col. Ralston the belief that there is nothing the matter with the spirit of Canadian youth. At the same time, it should be pointed out that there are many factors which restrain the impulse to enlist. Some of these the Government itself could remove.

In the first place, most young men have relatives or friends in the army, and they will know that some of them have spent a year in uniform without having been made any more capable of taking part in modern military action than they were when they joined, except, perhaps, for some improvement in their physical endurance. This is due to the lack of equipment and, while it is said this deficiency is rapidly being remedied now, the impression persists that few artillerymen have seen a modern twenty-five pound gun, few infantry men have felt the heft of a modern automatic rifle and few men of the tank regiment have ever had a ride in a modern tank.

Instead of spending time in any attempt to conceal or justify the deficiency of modern equipment for training purposes, the Government might do better to explain the need for men by outlining a clearly intelligible military policy so that the public may understand what use will be made of the men who enlist, what preliminary training they may expect, and what value such preliminary training may have in the absence of adequate modern equipment for training purposes.

The average young man is apt to feel that, instead of joining the army, he would be of much more value learning the mechanical arts, so that at least he could take a hand in repairing the de-iciencies in equipment, without which the uniformed troops, however well disciplined and however valorous, offer little more than a moving target for German automatic arms.

And, if there is now no shortage of equipment, the Government should make haste to make it very plain that there is plenty of equipment available for the complete training of all active service troops.

This, after all, is a country in which men cherish the right to think for themselves, and Colonel Ralston ought to do more than appeal—he should explain. He will then be able to judge for himself the spirit and quality of young Canada.

Face and Fill

In telling her age, a woman is often shy in more ways than one.

The Hood for the Bismarck. —We can afford the trade.

Hitler and Lindbergh should now have little doubt of what the American President thinks of them.

If Roosevelt acts the way he talked on Tuesday night, the United States is definitely in the war.

Did Roosevelt mean that American troops were already on their way to occupy the Azores, Cape Verde Islands and Greenland?

A strike, explained a baseball fan who could be a commentator on general news, is when one has an opportunity to hit the ball but does not do it.

A dive bomber can plunge at the rate of six hundred and twenty miles per hour. That is getting back to earth almost as fast as a modern idealist.

In those sampling polls of national sentiment eight per cent of those approached say they "don't know." They are really the wise ones of America.

Brief Backgrounds in the Careers of Canada's Captains in War.

Air Commodore Ernest Walter Stedman, O.B.E., A.R.C.Sc., is Air Member for Aeronautical Engineering on Canada's War Council, and had it not been for a broken oil feed line on a commercial aeroplane back in 1929, he might not be serving Canada in this key position.

Stedman was born in Malling, Kent, and took his early schooling in Maidstone. He comes of a family of doctors and army officers. His great uncle General Sir Ernest Stedman, served for many years in India. But from grammar school days on, Ernest Stedman looked straight down a gun barrel line at his own future—he intended without doubts or diversity of interests to be an engineer. This single purpose reigned in his mind from the time he was a school boy.

Stedman trained in the "Sandwich System" in England, taking jobs in shops and factories, going to school two afternoons and three evenings each week, moving from foundry gins on Canada's Air Council to boiler and fitting shops and drawing sections. Today he is in England picking their draughtsmen and designers from this type of student apprentice. After four years, Stedman was awarded a Whitworth Exhibition scholarship in London. He took a B.A. in cash prize and a Whitworth scholarship that brought him about £125 a year for three years, one of which he spent at City Guilds

College, London, the other two on nominal salaries, gaining experience with industrial firms.

Stedman took his wife for an evening's entertainment to a "Conversation" at the National Physical Laboratories at Teddington, an institution that corresponds to our National Research Council. Fascinated by observed experimental work in aerodynamics, Stedman realized this was the engineering job of the future, and arranged immediately to join the Teddington staff with salary no object.

During World War One, Stedman as a commissioned Lieutenant attached to the Royal Naval Air Service, gave his country distinguished service. He began at the Admiralty on design and inspection of planes, became technical observer for new types of craft, did test work with pilots on the first Handley-Page bombers during their development and went to France with the first squadron as Station Engineer charged with keeping them in the air. In 1918, in charge of No. 4 Aeroplane Repair depot at Guines, the ancient "Field of the Cloth of Gold," he was awarded the O.B.E. for organizing production and repair work under bad conditions and for keeping depots going in the open while they were subject to air raids.

A year after the Armistice, Stedman came to Canada accompanying Handley-Page's entry in the Daily Mail prize contest for the first West-to-East Atlantic flight. Flying from Newfoundland to New York, the plane developed a broken oil feed line and crashed at Parrsboro, Nova Scotia.

Stedman, who had not gone along on the flight, was rushed to the scene of the mishap. It was there, during the months spent in making the repairs that Stedman came to realize what a natural "air country" Canada was, with its vast distances, its inaccessible north country and its limited population.

In 1920, he took Ottawa's Civil Service Commission examination for Technical Director on the Air Board, came out top, and when the R.C.A.F. evolved, was commissioned Wing Commander. From 1920 to 1935, he did the work he loves best—peacetime development of aircraft design and skill to advance commerce and develop new country. Air Commodore Stedman is an author of distinguished standing in aeronautical journals of the United States, Great Britain and Canada.

Kelowna In Bygone Days

(From the files of the Kelowna Courier)

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, May 18, 1911

"Over eighty men have been in the Central Okanagan Lands" tree planting gang during the past week."

"Refreshing rains of the past week have had a beneficial effect upon the growth of vegetation, and the country looks at its best in its spring dress of verdant green."

"The Farmers' Exchange shipped to Calgary on Saturday the first whole carload of rhubarb ever shipped from Kelowna and possibly from the Okanagan."

"Mr. Thos. Ryall, of Montreal, arrived on Monday to make his home in Glenmore. His property has been planted and is being cared for by the Central Okanagan Lands."

"The lake is steadily rising, and it is a relief to note that passengers can board the s.s. 'Okanagan' without much danger—unless they are unduly tall—of bumping their heads against the top of the doorway."

"Those from the city who have taken a drive through Glenmore within the past two weeks agree, one and all, that they have never before seen such rapid development in any district as has been going on in the newly irrigated valley. It was a surprise to many to see the immense irrigation system in operation carrying water to the different lots which are now planted in trees, mostly winter apples and pears. The Kelowna Irrigation Co. are to be congratulated on the early completion of their system which is working so perfectly."

"A new line is being run for the Kettle Valley Railway survey in an attempt to avoid the almost insuperable difficulties encountered in crossing Sawmill Creek on the first survey. A higher elevation will be taken, which will mean that the line will be entirely out of reach so far as the passenger and freight business of this district is concerned. To obtain the desired results, it has been necessary to increase the grade from slightly over one per cent, which was secured on the preliminary survey, to over two per cent and from Sawmill Creek to the Okanagan-Kettle River summit the grade will be almost level."

The automobile mail stage went over the bank near the 9-mile post on the Vernon road on May 14th, apparently through the front wheels striking a patch of sand and rendering the car unmanageable. Five passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Homuth and their three children, escaped with a few bruises, but the driver, Mr. Scott, was pinned behind the steering wheel and sustained a broken shoulder together with a deep cut on the face and other injuries, which necessitated his removal to the Vernon Hospital.

"Spanish silver coins the size of an American silver dollar are in circulation in the city, and some have been passed for a dollar. They are worth only five pesetas, or fifty cents."

"Oh, Skin-nay! Come on, in!" is the familiar cry of the kids at the old swimmin' hole these warm days. The boys with aspirations for swimming honors at the Regatta this year—and those with no nobler ambition than to cool off—have been in evidence in numbers (and in bathing suits) at the Aquatic this week, preening Father Neptune's whiskers for what promises to be a particularly active season. The lake is not yet a hot spring, but the water's fine."

The Kelowna Aquatic Association operated in 1930 at a loss and concluded the season with a deficit of over $600, it was revealed at the annual general meeting, held on May 7th. The loss was attributed to insufficient financial support by the public, expenditures having been pared to a minimum. Directors elected for the ensuing year were: K. MacLaren, W. R. Carruthers, F. V. Tennest, C. D. Gaddes, E. B. K. Loyd, E. M. Carruthers and F. Foot. The Board elected Mr. MacLaren as President for the third successive term. E. M. Carruthers was re-elected Vice-President, and W. R. Carruthers succeeded H. B. Everard, who resigned as Secretary after two years tenure of office.

Two Kelowna students graduated in Arts at the University of British Columbia with honors, David C. Murdoch securing a first class in mathematics, and Miss Joan D. Foster a second class in the same branch.

Mission Creek School repeated its victory of 1930 in taking first place in the aggregate of points at the Rural Schools Track Meet, held on the Rutland School field on May 8th. Its total of 74 points was fifteen ahead of Oyama. Rutland secured third place.

I AM THE SPIRIT OF CANADIAN CONSCIENCE. "Old Face-the-Facts," they call me, speaking to each one of you who has a financial stake in the Dominion of Canada.

I HAVE KNOWN YOU MORE intimately than any living being. Wherever you have gone, I have gone. Nothing that you have done has escaped my attention. I have followed your every thought and your every action just as closely as I one followed the curious-eyed explorer as he tramped through the wilderness of Canada years ago. I have travelled with you in your heated trains and planes and motorcars as I travelled with your forefathers on a roughly-hewn wagon drawn along rutted trails by oxen.

I TRUDGED NORTH WITH the United Empire Loyalists, with those men and women who gave up new homes for rough shacks and unending toil in order that they might stay under the flag of their forefathers. I was with bearded statesmen who planned Confederation and staked the course of freedom for generations of Canadians to come. I went out West with adventurous, courageous pioneers who braved scorching heat and intense cold to break the rolling prairies into wheat fields. I accompanied the trapper and the prospector into the North. I flew in flimsy crates with the first airmen over northern Alberta.

AS CANADIANS TOILED AND sweated to build up a national prosperity, I tagged along. Always I have been close to those in every generation of Canadians who have sought to temper prosperity with an economic justice for all the citizens of the country.

I KNOW YOU AS I KNEW your father, your grandfather and those before him. I know exactly what price you have paid for a community which neither stifles individualism nor tramps on the masses. I know this community of Canada to be outstanding in the whole world, as a happy home for a free man.

I KNOW SOMETHING else. I know that you know that the very existence of this community is threatened. I know that a horde of millions, like a great pack of hungry wolves, would swarm over this country—if they could. I know that they will, if Canadians hold back even partially in the great common effort to set up a barrier against the pack.

I KNOW—AND YOU KNOW—that Canadians are engaged in a struggle of life or death that allows no lukewarm, half-way measures. And death would not be for the youngsters in uniform alone, but for Canadian business, the Canadian home, Canadian freedom, Canadian happiness.

DON'T STICK YOUR HEAD in the sand. Get into the thick of the fight. Turn over your dollars to your country in your own selfish interest. Turn them over for the sake of your family, your friends, for the protection of everything that has contributed to your present freedom. Make your subscription to the War Loan so big that the signing of your cheque constitutes a hardship. Canada was built on hardships and it cannot be kept away from the ravaging hands of dictators by her present protectors without hardship.

MAKE SURE THAT YOU are doing everything that YOU can to build and maintain the indomitable fighting machine which democracy must have to survive.

THE CHALLENGE TO CANADIANS today is emphatic. Every member of the community must be prepared to lend all he can, let the pack get through and shall leave him with nothing.

YOU CAN'T FOOL ME. I am your conscience, the conscience of every one of your fellow citizens. You fully understand this situation in 1941, and understanding it, you are not going to try to fool yourself and hold back dollars which must be forthcoming if your country is to survive.

ON APRIL 17th THIS COLUMN reprinted a little doggerel about every available bit of silk in Britain being used for the balloon barrage, to the inconvenience of milady and her stockings. A very good friend of mine who happens to also be a public relations counsel has taken me gently to task for one or two of my remarks. I strongly suspect he has seized the opportunity to do his job as publicity counsel rather than through any very definite objection to the remarks, still his letter is interesting enough to reproduce in full. So let's give him a chance to tell us a bit about the silk industry under war conditions.

"Four columns of April 17 carried that little verse from the Manchester Guardian about silk in the balloon barrage. It was a clever little bit. But your lead on that item, was to my mind, slightly off centre as to the facts. The points I have in mind are that Canadian women are still getting smart stockings; hose in the shops at present has cotton or rayon in the tops and feet, but retains silk legs. The phrase 'tops and bottoms are growing closer together,' which came from a Canadian Press story quoting some unnamed C.M.A. official, hardly describes the situation. What is happening is this: new types of stockings are being made with silk and rayon mixed in the legs. The mixing is done by twisting fine filaments of rayon or lisle with filaments of silk in the making of the yarn, which yarn is used to knit the leg panels. At present, anyway, a certain percentage of silk is being maintained in women's stockings; it is considered necessary. These new types of hosiery ('composite yarn stockings' or 'mixtures') are barely putting in their appearance on the market, so it seems odd that enough women in Western Canada could have bought them yet to form a unanimous opinion on their merits or demerits. And as for taking the general agreement of women as a criterion—well, Roy, you probably know that women will never be completely happy about stockings (or say they are happy, at least). They demand sheer hose, so sheer that the threads of silk required to make up one pound in weight would stretch a distance of 180 miles. And yet they expect these fine filaments to stand up to hard wear, knocks, catches and interminable stretchings. The new stockings are well enough to, even if the silk content is being reduced. And that brings up an unusual point. There has always been an aura of 'glamour' and 'romance' to silk; it can be traced back to its early oriental origin. In the case of hosiery, however, silk has been used not principally for its appearance but for its strength. Silk is the strongest known natural fibre. Hence its reduction in hose should cause no great loss in attractiveness.—It is this remarkable strength of real silk, in fact, that makes wearers consider a certain amount of it must be retained if the high standard of Canadian hose is to be maintained. Here are a few facts in connection with Canadian full-fashioned hosiery which might interest you—possibly I should explain that

Life in R.C.A.F. Recounted By Former Kelowna Boy

N. Izowsky Writes of Experience While Training for Air Force

"We certainly do get a lot of apples here," writes Nestor Izowsky, formerly Linotype operator in the Courthouse, mechanical department, and now with the R.C.A.F. at Rivers, Man., to George Wilson, of Kelowna.

"They set out six or eight boxes on the tea tables about three evenings a week instead of dessert and, if at any meal the dessert runs short, out comes another box of apples.

"And the boys sure go for them by the twos, threes or fours. Guess they use as many as the sergeants' and officers' messes, as well. The last couple of weeks they were Maes from the Crown Fruit, Kelowna. They make me think of Dick Parker, to say hello to him for me when you see him, and also to his mother.

"The apples also make one a bit homesick to see all the orchards in bloom now. Tonight they opened a box of 1138, extra fancy Delicious that are as firm as the day they were packed. I brought six to the bunk with me.

"Am surprised to see the Maes still good and firm for this time of year. A few have the odd black bruises and there are usually three or four that have spoiled, but the wrapping saves the rest.

"Let Mac (R. P. MacLean) and A. K. Lloyd know what I've said about the apples, and if there is any surplus on hand, they should try to get them into the hands of every airman and soldier in the country, as the boys sure do go for the apples.

"At Brandon, we were never given raw apples (seeing there were around 2,000 there) but we could buy them, two for five cents. So I don't know how many stations are as fortunate as we are in being able to help ourselves.

"Besides that, we have apple pie and apple sauce a couple of times a week.

"While in Brandon, I noticed that small wrinkled apples, that I wouldn't have cared to give away, were selling for six pounds for 25 cents and the extra fancies at three pounds for 25 cents.

Nestor also gives an interesting description of night flights at this training centre.

"They are sure doing a lot of flying here, day and night, all blind flying and instrument flying. It's really pretty, George, to see the planes take off at night. They start about 8.30 to 9.00 p.m. The runways are all lit and the sun has just gone down over the flat horizon. The earth and the red moulding into an orange, then yellow, then grey, and the blue sky above with the stars beginning to appear.

"The planes take off with their lights on port (red) starboard (green), tall and head lights on. As they rise into the multi-colored western sky, you can see the outlines of the planes appearing black in the weird light. Then they circle and, as they come towards you, you only see the red, overhead the green shows up, as it is facing backwards. Then, as the plane heads into the light, the red disappears and you only see the green and yellow tail light.

"The green fades, and all you can see is the tail light disappearing into the vastness like a moving star among the millions of others which brighten this prairie sky.

VETERAN MAKES PLEA FOR MORE CONSIDERATION

Old People Find Public Services Hard - Too Much Standing

"Those who arrange public ceremonies here should bear in mind the elderly members of the Canadian Legion and other organizations who are requested to parade on such occasions and have to stand stiffly at attention or in the ironicaly-named position of 'stand-at-ease' for considerable periods," a sixty-nine-year-old veteran complained to a Courier reporter. He went on to say that the old boys showed comfortably seated in the grandstand on the evening of Empire Day probably did not realize that for the so-called hour-long ceremony the veterans of the War and the sixties and seventies, had fallen in at seven o'clock and remained on their feet until dismissed at nine o'clock. It did not matter so long as they were seated, but when they were asked to stand they could still step out with the best of them; it was the long period of standing in line without a chance to move and prevent elderly joints and muscles from stiffening that proved trying.

An invitation, he said, should have been extended to all the organizations that paraded to be seated during the musical part of the program, which seemed unnecessary and lengthy and should have been restricted, in his opinion, to "O Canada," "Land of Hope and Glory" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers" - just half of the numbers rendered.

This, he declared, was in no spirit of disparagement of the splendid services of the massed choir, but merely in mercy to a bunch of tired old men and others not so old but more or less stiffly on parade many in uniform and carrying heavy equipment.

Church parades during the Great War rarely lasted more than half an hour, if the padre in charge knew his business, and veterans, incensed during the ten-minute sermon it was the custom to invite the troops to be seated.

The padre believed that Sunday should be a real day of rest for the elderly, when the war drill and training, and they did not expect them to remain standing for unnecessarily long periods.

To go a little further, the veteran said, in the matter of consideration for the elderly, it was time to change the foolish practice of male members of the assemblage remaining unclothed during the annual Remembrance Day service at the Cenotaph, when the weather is generally raw and chilly. It did nothing to enhance the respect and honor in which are held those who gave their lives for the Empire in the years 1914-18 to witness many of their survivors, in their hard drill and scantily-clad pates exposed to the piercing November air. It was due to a chill at the funeral of a colleague that the Empire lost its great admiral, Earl Beatty, and the illness of King George V was attributed to similar exposure on Armistice Day. It should be sufficient to honor the memory of the glorious dead by removing hats for the elderly, and then all should be requested to replace their coverings.

"So, on the double ground of consideration for the elderly and the good old adage that brevity is the soul of wit, it is suggested that programs of ceremonies or other public functions, or who are to address a gathering, make it short and snappy, and so leave the occasion as a pleasant memory for the older folks, instead of a period of long torture," the sixty-nine-year-old pleaded.

BOYSCOUT COLUMN 1st Kelowna Troop

Troop First! Sell Last!

Orders for week commencing Friday, May 30, 1941:

Duties: Orderly Patrol for week, Cougars; next for duty, Beavers. Rally: The Troop will rally at the Scout Hall on Friday, the 30th of May, at 7.45 p.m., in full uniform, for the public entertainment, which will commence at 8.15 p.m. sharp. The program should last just over two hours and will be followed by the dance to one o'clock. There will be no further rallies of the Troop until further notice, but all Scouts are asked to bring in their returns from the sale of tickets at the earliest moment possible after the entertainment. They are particularly asked not to bring them in the night of the entertainment.

We would again like to extend a cordial invitation to Scouts and Cubs of all other Troops and Packs in uniform to attend our show. Refreshments will be sold by our Mothers' Auxiliary as soon as the entertainment is over.

Subject to some possible minor changes and adjustments, the program will be as follows:

LOCAL CADET UNITS GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

Sea Cadets And School Cadets Are Inspected—Both Organizations Complimented

High praise was given the Kelowna School Cadet and Sea Cadet Corps by Major W. R. Critchley, O. C. Cadet Services, M.D. 11, and Sergeant-Major C. M. Henry, Q.M.S.I., at the inspection last Thursday afternoon and evening.

The School Cadet Corps fell in at the school at 1.45 p.m. and marched to the City Park, where Major Critchley, accompanied by Sergeant-Major Henry, took the salute. Then the corps was inspected and marched past. Following the general salute, there was a display of physical exercises. Major Critchley took the High School section, asking for certain special manoeuvres, while Sergeant-Major Henry did likewise with the Junior High section. After further manoeuvres in squads, the battalion then broke off while the First Aid and signalling sections were inspected. The remainder of the signallers' inspection was carried out at the school, following the general dismissal at the Park. Sergeant-Major Henry took this while Major Critchley was inspecting the orderly room.

Both in his remarks to the cadets and to the cadet instructors following the inspection, Major Critchley expressed himself as most pleased with the amount of work accomplished by the corps and the enthusiasm shown by the boys. Mentioning the arms drill especially, he felt that it was equal if not superior to any that he had witnessed in his cadet inspections.

Sea Cadets At 8.00 p.m., in the Kelowna Armory, Major Critchley and Sergeant-Major Henry inspected the Kelowna Sea Cadets and took the march past. The group then broke up into two squads and went through drills with petty officers in charge. Later, smaller squads were formed for classes in duty, compass, navigation, knots, first aid and signals. These groups were inspected by Sergeant-Major Henry and all proved satisfactory. Major Critchley inspected the orderly and store rooms. Finally the corps was brought together again and the inspectors witnessed fire drill. After the salute to the flag, the corps was dismissed.

In speaking to the corps, Major Critchley remarked on the number of former members who are now in the Navy. In spite of the handicap of living so far from the Coast, the local corps had done splendid work, he declared.

The praise given by the inspectors was reflected in the high marks the corps received.

Kelowna Man is Mentioned For Judgeship

Prominently mentioned for the judgeship to be vacated by His Honor Judge John D. Swanson on July 31 next are a Kamloops, a Kelowna and a Vernon lawyer.

The Kamloops barrister is J. Ross Archibald. The Okanagan aspirants are said to be C. W. Morrow, defeated Liberal candidate in the last federal election, and H. V. Craig, of Kelowna.

At 8.00 p.m., in the Kelowna Armory, Major Critchley and Sergeant-Major Henry inspected the Kelowna Sea Cadets and took the march past. The group then broke up into two squads and went through drills with petty officers in charge. Later, smaller squads were formed for classes in duty, compass, navigation, knots, first aid and signals. These groups were inspected by Sergeant-Major Henry and all proved satisfactory. Senior County Court Judge Leaves Office Next Month

Judge Swanson Appointed to Bench in 1910—Will Live in Vancouver

His Honor Judge John D. Swanson, senior judge of the County Court of Yale and local judge of the Supreme Court of B.C., has tendered his resignation to the Minister of Justice at Ottawa.

In a personal message to His Honor, Mr. Lapointe wrote: "It is with deep regret that I learn of your decision to resign your judgeship on July 31 next, but after more than 31 years of faithful service it may well be said that no one is more deserving of permission to lay down his burden."

His Honor stated that he and Mrs. Swanson plan to make their home at Vancouver, where now reside their three children, Mrs. A. Carr Lumsden (the former Mary Swanson), J. Alex. Swanson and John Swanson.

Judge Swanson was appointed to the bench of the County of Yale January 25, 1910. His service to His Majesty the King as a County Court Judge therefore exceeds thirty-one years.

PEOPLE OF MODEST MEANS CAN HELP

Victory Loans Low as $50—May be Purchased on Installment Plan

Recognizing the value of the dollars of people of modest means, Finance Minister J. L. Halsey, who is making his announcement of the forthcoming Victory Loan to raise $600,000,000 to meet current war expenditures, stressed the fact that the bonds will be sold on an installment plan so that incomes in the lower brackets will be channelled to purchase Victory Bonds.

The bonds, offered in four denominations of fifty dollars, one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars and one thousand dollars, will be available with payments spread over a six-month period, the Finance Minister pointed out. Details as to the operations of this plan would be announced later, as would the interest rate and the term of the loan.

The new loan will be the third and largest war loan in Canada since hostilities opened.

Subscription books will be opened on June 2. When announcing the Victory Loan in the House of Commons, Mr. Halsey said: "Canada will ask her citizens for $600,000,000 in the jurisdiction. He has held the chief offices within the gift of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society, and for some time now has been Honorary President of the Kamloops Society."

Mrs. Swanson has interested herself in church and women's organizations, and has been noted for her good works.

Great Responsibility of Municipal Government in Britain is Told

Hon. Malcolm MacDonald's Stirring Speech to Canadian Mayors is Outlined

"You are the Prime Ministers of local government and the units of local government are the cells which build up together a vital part of the democratic body politic," declared Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, High Commissioner to Canada from the United Kingdom, at a dinner on April 22, on the occasion of the fourth annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, held in Ottawa.

"The bonds of this Victory Loan will be available in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, and may be purchased outright or upon easy terms of payment. The installment plan which has been worked out will enable any purchaser to pay for bonds over a period of six months. These arrangements will enable every Canadian to give the greatest possible support to this loan."

"In November of this year there will mature an issue of $140,000,000 Dominion of Canada 5 per cent bonds. Holders of these bonds will be given the privilege of turning them in, at an attractive price, in exchange for bonds of the Victory Loan, 1941."

"The success of a war loan is not measured merely by reaching or passing an objective; it is measured also in the number of individual subscribers. If, as is fully expected, large numbers of Canadians, in all walks of life buy Victory Bonds, it will speak the will and the determination of this nation emphatically."

"The dollars of the man and woman of modest means are just as important in this war as those of the wealthier individual or the large corporation. We believe that Canadians generally will rally to this loan in a manner that will help our own defence, give heart to our allies and raise the admiration and consolidate the support of our friends across the border."

The installment plan which has been worked out will enable any purchaser to pay for bonds over a period of six months. These arrangements will enable every Canadian to give the greatest possible support to this loan."

"In November of this year there will mature an issue of $140,000,000 Dominion of Canada 5 per cent bonds. Holders of these bonds will be given the privilege of turning them in, at an attractive price, in exchange for bonds of the Victory Loan, 1941."

"The success of a war loan is not measured merely by reaching or passing an objective; it is measured also in the number of individual subscribers. If, as is fully expected, large numbers of Canadians, in all walks of life buy Victory Bonds, it will speak the will and the determination of this nation emphatically."

"The dollars of the man and woman of modest means are just as important in this war as those of the wealthier individual or the large corporation. We believe that Canadians generally will rally to this loan in a manner that will help our own defence, give heart to our allies and raise the admiration and consolidate the support of our friends across the border."

Why CANADA MUST BORROW $600,000,000

A Statement by the Minister of Finance

In money alone, this war is costing Canada in round figures, $4,000,000 a day. That is three and one-quarter times the daily cost of the last year of this conflict costs so much more because it is a battle of giant, swift machines . . . as well as of men. And to build other than the very best machines would be futile. They must be worthy of our men.

Canada dare not . . . and will not . . . sacrifice men for lack in quality or quantity of fighting machines. Hence we must produce them on a scale hitherto undreamed of.

To do this, Canada needs now to borrow from her citizens at least $600,000,000 in addition to the revenue raised by taxes. To obtain this money Canada will on June 2nd offer Victory Bonds.

Fortunately, Canadians have the money to buy these Victory Bonds. This is shown by a greatly expanded national income and by record savings deposits.

If every person who has savings or who can make payments out of wages or income will invest in Victory Bonds, the Loan will be quickly subscribed. But the wholehearted support of every citizen is necessary.

What Canadians have done before, Canadians can and will do again. Our population was less than nine millions in 1918 and 1919. Yet in November, 1918, our people invested $616,000,000 in Victory Bonds. Eleven months later, in October, 1919, they invested $572,000,000. The total subscribed for Victory Bonds in those two loans was $1,188,000,000. This year, with our population increased to more than twelve millions, the nation that did it before can do it again—and in greater measure.

The terms of the Loan will be announced May 31st. Get ready to buy every Bond that you can.

EMPIRE DAY SIDELIGHTS

The most impressive thing about the whole Empire Day ceremony to which the evening crowd participated in the Torch Ceremony, Sunday, Sunday School, 9:45 a.m.; first and third Wednesdays, Testimony Meeting, 8 p.m. Reading Room open Wednesday afternoon, 3 to 5 p.m.

The school children were particularly quiet, seemingly impressed with the solemnity of the occasion. The only incident which marred the program in the slightest degree was the action of two boys under the grandstand. They created considerable noise during the prayer until they were chased away. . . . The Torch Ceremony lasted just under the hour and the only suggestion for improvement that has been heard was that too many verses of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and one other song were sung. . . . The massed choir under Cyril Mossop did much to the cheering and J. W. B. Browne excelled himself as master of ceremonies. . . . There were no cheers and no applause. Every individual in the gathering seemed to realize that there was a job to be done and that it was to be done in a quiet and unobtrusive manner. . . . R. L. Maitland's address was a masterpiece. He came prepared to speak for twenty minutes but fell in with the wishes of the committee that his address be limited to ten minutes. He did not exceed it, but what a lot he put across in that short period. . . . The picture was taken at the Park before six-thirty and took their places in the grandstand. The entire grandstand was well filled before the parade arrived. . . . All Kelowna was well represented, from babies to the aged. . . . The surprise event of the day was the appearance of the "bomber" which swooped over the city and dropped bombs, using the popular belief that what is happening in Europe can prevent here and to take action to prevent it by subscribing to the Victory Loan. The pilot of the plane was Cliff Renfrew, while the mechanic who handled the bombs was J. J. Ladd, chairman of the Victory Loan publicity committee. The multi-colored leaflets made a pretty picture floating down out of the sky, a picture vastly different from the grim one made by the real thing. The "bombs" almost wrecked the afternoon events in the Park at that point, as the youngsters—and not a few oldsters—rushed out on the lawn to obtain one to satisfy their curiosity. . . . The replica of the Torch of Freedom was impressive. Five feet tall, it was carved out of an old telephone pole and gilded. A clever contrivance kept it burning steadily and satisfactorily throughout. Some have questioned why the torch was lit just before the actual dedication and not after. The answer is that the burning flame which is dedicated. With the flame the torch is a dead and useless thing, just as is any people without the flame of patriotism, freedom and sacrifice. . . . It was a fine feature of the day, the course, who was the Guardian of the Torch. The Guard of Honor were veterans of the South African War: Col. V. H. Moodie, H. J. Hewson, G. L. Dore, M. Donnelly, G. B. Ford, A. P. Wheeler, A. P. G. Gowenlock. The augmented Guard of Honor during the dedication ceremony consisted of two members of the Reserve Army, two Sea Cadets and two B. Scouts. The significance here was the handing down of the Torch of Freedom from the veterans to men of the present generation and to men of future generations. . . . The decorations in the town were greater than usual. . . . The Mayor, while business districts made an effort to comply with the Mayor's request, the residential districts lagged. . . . One flag for a block was the exception rather than the rule. Most people just too thoughtless or lazy to go to the trouble of hanging out even one tiny little flag. . . . One of the most effective ways to control the youngsters is to amuse them. . . . The boys gave a very realistic illustration of how to run an enemy through and how to use the feet to pull the bayonet out again. . . . The boys certainly did not drill like soldiers. . . . The Mayor Queen ceremony was pleasing as always but isn't it about time that an innovation of some sort was introduced here? Hasn't this ceremony lost its crowd appeal? The girls carried themselves off like veterans and made a pleasing scene. . . . The background of rich green framing the tastefully decorated platform. . . . The dignitaries in the official party included His Worship the Mayor and members of the City Council, the Chairman of the School Board, the Chairman of the Hospital Board, Reeves Gummow and Moubray representing the districts, Magistrate T. F. McWilliam representing the government officials, members of the clergy taking part, the President of the Board of Trade representing business and the speaker of the evening, R. L. Maitland. . . . MINISTER SURE LOAN OBJECTIVE WILL BE REACHED

Hon. K. C. McDonald Tells Rotary Okanagan Will Not Fail to Do Its Part

"I have no doubt whatever that the Victory Loan will be completely satisfactory not only in Kelowna and the whole Okanagan, but throughout the entire province of British Columbia," Hon. K. C. McDonald, Minister of Agriculture, told the Rotary Club on Tuesday. "There is an inherent loyalty and enthusiasm here which will not permit this loan to fail to reach its objective."

"Critics of our way of life," Mr. McDonald said, "seem to forget the many very great blessings which they are endowed. They should remember, and remembering they seldom get hot in food, that they are the luckiest people in the world. There will be dark days to come but through our abiding faith and determination we will win through. We should fall upon their knees and give thanks for those blessings."

"There will be dark days to come but through our abiding faith and determination we will win through. We should fall upon their knees and give thanks for those blessings."

"Sons of Okanagan families have sanctified the dark waters of the North Atlantic, have conquered the sea, and as one officer who served in them said, 'only men with stomachs of brass can escape seasickness.' Some of the personnel are fishermen accustomed to every harsh mood of the wintry western coast. They seldom get hot in food. They are usually wet to the skin with salt water. And the confinement in a small rolling and pitching vessel in storms can be trying to even the most equable temperament. Yet the men who serve in them would not change their jobs for anything you could offer them."

"Outside the submarine service," they say, "the toughest job afloat is that of a ship's cook. It is a happy family. Everyone realizes that he must never let down the ship's company, no matter what happens, and you can get a feeling of co-operation only possible where men know each other intimately and know they can rely on each other."

Corvettes, as well as, destroying the piratical Huns, often rescue men from their victims from death in open boats, or escort torpedoed vessels to safe harbors.

"They are now coming out of shipyards as rapidly as men can build them—mass-produced, one might say, like a modern automobile. Their crews do not number more than fifty men—another advantage they have over destroyers. Moreover, their small size makes them difficult targets to hit either from the air or from under or on the sea."

"It's this type of hard-working, hard-hitting little ship which has been given the proud name 'H.M.C.S. Kelowna.'"

7 CANADIAN NAVAL

These queer craft about which there has been much secrecy until recently, when the Admiralty released news of them, are designed along the lines of whaling ships. They have long funnels, ride low in the water, are heavily armed against both sea and air attack and cost much less than destroyers. They make out the toughest sailors seashore at times.

"When the war broke out," a naval expert said recently, "we had to have large numbers of small craft for the protection of our merchant ships against the U-boat over and above the ships the navy provided. As everyone knows, we employed trawlers in considerable numbers but this was not enough. So we had to consider quick construction of small fast well-armed ships and we evolved the corvette type inspired by the kind of craft used in the whaling industry. We placed orders in Canada and elsewhere and now we are getting numbers of very useful vessels working in convoys and other duties."

Life aboard a corvette is hard and uncomfortable. They are very "live" craft, and as one officer who served in them said, "only men with stomachs of brass can escape seasickness." Some of the personnel are fishermen accustomed to every harsh mood of the wintry western coast. They seldom get hot in food. They are usually wet to the skin with salt water. And the confinement in a small rolling and pitching vessel in storms can be trying to even the most equable temperament. To My Many Friends

On the eve of my departure to assume my duties in the Royal Canadian Air Force, I wish to thank you for all the many kindnesses you have extended to me, and the implicit confidence you have placed in me, during my social and business relations with you.

My call has come—my duty clear—and I would like to extend to each of you a friendly hand-clasp before I leave, but the call is immediate and the word must be the act.

The staff will continue to extend to you the same service and courtesy that I have endeavored to give and I solicit your continued patronage and goodwill till I return.

Sincerely yours,
JACK GORDON.

IMPORTANT RADIO TALK ON FRIDAY

Radio fans and non-radio listeners are all urged to tune in on CKVO on Friday, tomorrow, at one p.m., and listen to H. B. McMillan address the Vancouver Board of Trade on "We Have What It Takes." Mr. McMillan is a splendid speaker and knows his stuff, as he has been for many months intimately connected with the Department of Munitions and Supply at Ottawa.

SENTENCE REDUCED IN "WITNESS" CASE HEARD AT VERNON

VERNON—An interesting appeal case was heard by Judge J. D. Swanson at Vernon last week when three men accused of being members of the illegal Jehovah's Witness sect, appealed convictions and fines of $150 or six months. At the conclusion of the appeal, Judge Swanson reduced the jail terms in each case to four months.

The three men were J. J. Bickert, Frank Buechert, and Henry T. Donovan. C. W. Morrow acted for the crown, while C. W. Hodson of Vancouver defended.

and Mrs. George Weeden had a limit catch. Mr. and Mrs. Walrod, Mr. Roth and party, S. Adams and party, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Powell, of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Strech and party, of Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. Deal, of Oliver, had limit catches.

Beaver Lake: As reported last week, Beaver Lake has come back into its own and all parties caught their limit catch at 2 to 3 lbs. Fred Ketch and party, F. Colton and party, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thomas, Charlie Little and party, of Vernon, caught fish up to three and a half lbs. Dr. Patton and party and Don Loane and party had limit catches. Mr. and Mrs. C. Persell, of Spokane, had a very fine catch.

FISHING REPORT

Mara Lake: Mr. and Mrs. John Cushing, Miss V. Scott, of Vancouver, and Miss Brocklebank of the Kelowna, teaching staff, spent the holiday at Mara Lake at Swanson's Fishing Camp. Miss Brocklebank was high rod with three fish over 5 lbs., caught on a small plug. Claude Newby and party had a fine catch, the largest fish being a steel head over 12 lbs. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Knowles and Mrs. Tucker spent the week-end at Mara Lake and report fishing very good.

Okanagan Lake: Mrs. Tommy Thompson, of Okanagan Mission, caught seven up to 7 lbs. on a small F.S.T. Jud Ribelin, of Manhattan Beach, caught 10 fish in two hours. The big fish story of the week comes from C. Nickel and party of Penticon, fishing off Mission Creek. They got 90 lbs., the largest being nineteen and a half lbs.

Mr. Matsumura, of Kelowna, caught another prize fish of ten lbs. George Melike, trying his luck off the Aquatic, surprised himself by hooking a 5 lb. beauty on a light fly rod, which took 25 minutes to land.

Dee Lake Chain: D. Laurie and party, of Vernon, caught their limit up to 3 lbs. at Dee Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Hammersley, of Vancouver, got their limit catch at Dee Lake. J. Krimer and party got their limit too at Dee Lake. Bill Tocher, of Vancouver, (fly expert) and party got their limit catch. Dr. Gray and party got their limit catch at Crooked Lake. Mr. Baker, formerly of China, and party got their limit catch in Dee Lake Chain. Mr. and Mrs. C. Persell, of Spokane, had a very fine catch.

tion, the track events were run off to schedule and were as usual a pleasing feature of the day. The pet parade seemed to have more zip than usual and the variety of entries made a look-see worth while. A larger crowd than usual was present and had many a laugh to reward it for its enthusiasm. There was, for instance, the one poor mongrel which was very put out because it was not entered in the parade. It seemed to know what it was all about, return that it could find a sponsor it would take the ribbon. The youngsters themselves were as interesting as the pets and a movie camera could have found excellent examples of the entire range of emotions in the expressions on the kids' faces. It is understood that one section of the city is petitioning the Gyros to give up the pet parade. The reason? One youngster entering his pet for the first time made the rounds of the neighbors, hours in the very early morning hours to be sure that all the neighbors were there to see the pet in the parade. . . . The dances were well attended. Something over 450 were present, 'tis said, at the I.O.O.F., and half that number at the Aquatic. . . . Day?

BETH GELLATLY IS PRETTY BRIDE AT VANCOUVER

Married Trooper Gordon Campbell Allan, of Kelowna, —Is Former Westbank Girl

Allan-Gellatly A wedding of interest to the Okanagan, and particularly to Kelowna and district, was solemnized on Tuesday evening, May 20, at 8:00 o'clock, in the Riverview United Church, Manse, when Elizabeth Marie Colborne (Beth), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gellatly, Vancouver, became the bride of Trooper Gordon Campbell Allan, B.C. Dragoons, 9th Armoured Regt., Esquimalt, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Allan, of Richter St., Kelowna. Rev. T. S. Paton officiated at the ceremony, which took place beneath an arch of syringa, pink roses and a large white bell. Miss Kathleen Paton played the nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in an afternoon frock of romance blue crepe, matching blue sweetheart hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses and white carnations.

The groom was supported by Mr. George A. Gordon. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 220 East 50th Ave., when Mrs. Gellatly received the guests, wearing a navy crepe dress with applique trimming and a corsage of blue carnations.

The wedding cake was flanked by pink tapers in silver sconces and pink roses. Presiding at the tea table, which was centred with roses, were Miss Thelma J. Fink, Mrs. H. Foss and Miss Mavis Rogers.

For going away the bride donned a beige costume and matching accessories. Tpr. and Mrs. Allan spent their honeymoon in "Victoria."

The family of the bride and the groom are known throughout the district. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gellatly having lived at Kelowna and prior to that at Westbank for many years.

A miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Beth Gellatly, whose marriage to Tpr. Gordon C. Allan took place in Vancouver on May 20, was held at the home of Miss Isabel Lee, Vancouver, by the Friendly Circle of Riverview United Church, Vancouver. The gifts were numbered and hidden about the room, the guest of honor being asked to find the parcels and open them in order of their number. Contests and refreshments were enjoyed during the evening.

Westbank United Women's Auxiliary planned to entertain a neighborhood W.A. at the June meeting, which will be held in the church on the third Thursday of that month. It was decided at the regular meeting held at the home of Mrs. D. Gellatly on Thursday, May 22.

The President, Mrs. T. B. Reece, and twelve members were in attendance. Following the devotional period conducted by the President and Mrs. J. U. Gellatly, it was decided not to hold the Strawberry Fete and that members will themselves donate the equivalent of their usual outfit to the fund of the organization. It was felt that this would make up for the work and uncertainty connected with the fete, which has been held regularly during the past several years.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. C. D. Dobbin, served tea following the close of the meeting.

Pte. Wyndham Lewis, of the New Westminster Regiment, again spent a short leave at his parents' home last week, returning to the Coast on Thursday to rejoin his unit.

To Okanagan

J. N. McPHERSON

Lately with the Canadian Pacific's Foreign Freight department, and formerly with the general and city freight offices in Vancouver, Mr. McPherson will take over his new post on June 1st as the Canadian Pacific Railway's Travelling Freight Agent in the Okanagan, with headquarters at Vernon. He succeeds James W. Peters, who is returning to Vancouver to replace S. M. Andrews, retired, as District Freight Agent, B. C. Coast Steamship Service. Mr. McPherson has been with the C.P.R. freight traffic department in Vancouver and Victoria since 1918.

4 TORCH CEREMONY

From Page 1, Column 7 and the Chinese League.

The grandstand filled rapidly, including besides the general public the guests of honor, a choir of one hundred voices. With the parade formed up in the oval, the rest of the crowd behind, and surrounding all a close circle of automobiles, it is doubtful if the Park ever held a greater or more serious crowd.

Officials and guests present were: Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.L.A., Major W. R. Critchley, O.C. Cadet Service, M.D. J. J. Caplan, C. R. Bull, M.L.A., Reeve Gummow of Peachland, Reeve Moubrey of Glenmore, Mayor McKay and members of the Kelowna City Council, Magistrate T. F. McWilliams, Rev. C. E. Davis, Rev. Dr. W. W. McPherson, J. W. B. Browne acted as Master of Ceremonies.

The choir was under the baton of Cyril Mossop and was assisted by an orchestra composed of Mrs. M. C. E. Davis, Rev. Dr. W. W. McPherson, W. H. H. McDougall, W. Murray and T. M. Rittich.

After the singing of "O Canada" and a number of selections by the choir, the torch was brought in by the guard of honor and placed in the stand by Alderman J. J. Ladd, where it remained throughout the ceremony under the guard of its bearer, "Pete" Atkinson.

Following the singing of "Land of Hope and Glory" the Rev. C. E. Davis lit and dedicated the Torch, "the symbol of freedom and the principles of Christianity and loyalty. Be ours to hold the Torch on high."

The dedication given by Rev. Davis after he had lighted the Torch was: "This Torch symbolizes the Freedom of all God's free people, and the principles of Christianity, which, now are challenged, and for which we will fight to the death."

"It symbolizes our loyalty to the King, our devotion to the leadership of Winston Churchill and our admiration of the magnificent and unconquerable spirit of Britain, the forces of the Empire and those of our Allies."

And now in the Name of the Ever Blessed Trinity, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, we dedicate and bless this Torch to the cause of Freedom and the Spirit of Christ, to Victory over the powers of evil, and the principles of Christianity, Peace and Brotherhood among the Free Peoples of the earth. Be ours to hold the Torch on high."

The Master of Ceremonies then recounted how since ancient times the torch has been the symbol of life, through the preservation of fire, and later the symbol of freedom.

"Tradition records the inclusion of a huge golden torch, encrusted with jewels, among the treasures of King Solomon. Therefore, in answer to Churchill's clarion call, and as a symbolic pledge to Britain that Canada will keep the fires burning in all-out defence against the enemy, a beautiful five-foot torch is being flown across Canada and across the Atlantic Ocean to the Motherland, where it will be presented to the Prime Minister of Great Britain in the name of all Canada. Each community is dedicating a replica and, signed by the Chief Magistrate of each, a scroll which reads as follows:

CANADA'S VICTORY LOAN, 1941 To the Right Honorable Winston Churchill, P.C.

Canada, with other nations of the British Commonwealth and with their allies, will fight on to victory, no matter how long and toilsome the road.

Given the tools, we shall finish the job. Canada's Victory Loan, 1941, is part of the tools. This scroll represents the pledge of our people, signed, sealed and delivered, that we shall fight on to the end, and that we shall be victorious.

The scroll was then signed by Mayor G. A. McKay, Captain C. R. Bull, M.L.A. and Chairman of the Kelowna Victory Loan Committee, Magistrate T. F. McWilliams for the citizens of Kelowna, and Reeves Gummow and Moubrey for the citizens of Peachland and Glenmore. Mayor McKay referred to the signing as a highlight of his term of office as First Magistrate of Kelowna. At the conclusion of the signing, the choir sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and Rev. Dr. McPherson offered a prayer for Victory.

Hon. R. L. Maitland A moving address was then given by Hon. R. L. Maitland, who had come to Kelowna specially for the occasion. After paying a tribute to the boys' and men's organizations he had seen contribute to Kelowna's Empire Day celebration, Mr. Maitland drew a comparison with Nazi Germany.

"Seven years ago, Germany worked out a plan to dominate the world, and when Hitler organized he led—he put Annanias to shame." "The youth of Germany had fallen first victims to his tyranny, and now, from the tip of Norway to Greece tonight these people stand handcuffed. Nothing remains but the British Empire and the United States to save the world."

Speaking of the magnificence of the Empire's response so far, Mr. Maitland was greeted by a roar of applause when he said: "If history is written a hundred, a thousand years from now, history will say that between August and October, 1940, the Royal Air Force saved the world. But they can only go on," continued the speaker, "if we stand behind them. So few of us realize even yet just what freedom is. Instead of taking our money, the Government asks the people for a war loan, and what must our response be?"

Mr. Maitland recalled an incident he had encountered as a young city prosecutor in Vancouver. Three small girls in a family died of diphtheria needlessly because a busy doctor put off coming till the next day. "Till the day that man died that scene stayed with him, and the words, 'If I had only been in time.' My friends, we can't wait any longer. Over there where they have lived and died for us, where they have faced hell, all that they ask is that we be not too late to give them the tools."

Mr. Maitland closed with the words of the American philosopher-poet, Edwin Markham: "Must I be giving again and again?" The weary, wondering question came.

"No," said the angel, piercing me through. "Just give till the Master stops giving to you."

After Mr. Maitland's address, Mr. Browne led the assemblage in the pledge of loyalty to His Majesty the King and the Empire:

I hereby declare my belief in Almighty God and re-affirm my loyalty and allegiance to His Majesty the King, and further declare my support for British institutions.

I pledge myself and my all to hold the Torch on high and to march shoulder to shoulder with the Motherland and the Empire in our righteous cause through Victory and enduring Peace.

At the conclusion of the pledge all united in singing the National Anthem, the Torch was restored to its guard of honor, which this time included young men as a symbol of the handing on of the Torch to the younger generation, and the procession moved off for dismissal at various points. The Torch will remain at Victory Loan Headquarters at the west end of Bernard Avenue.

Musical Program The complete musical program of the evening was as follows:

1. "O Canada." 2. "And Did Those Feet in Ancient Times"—Massed Choir. 3. "The Maple Leaf Forever"—Community song. 4. "The King, O God, His Heart to Thee Upraised"—Choir, second verse solo by James deGeer. This is said to be King George's favorite hymn. 5. "There'll Always Be An England"—Community song; verse solo by Foster Mills. 6. "Land of Hope and Glory"—Verses solo by Mrs. Phyllis Trenwith; chorus with full choir. 7. "Onward, Christian Soldiers"—Community hymn. 8. "God Save The King."

1ST RUTLAND TROOP

"Do a Good Turn Daily" Orders for the week ending May 31st: The troop will parade at the Community Hall corner on Friday at 7:15 p.m., in full uniform. After roll call and inspection the troop will proceed to Kelowna to attend the 1st Kelowna Troop's annual entertainment. Those Scouts with bikes are to go in by this means, cars being provided for the others. The members of the troop have been very kindly invited by the Kelowna troop, to attend their entertainment free of charge, but Scouts who wish to attend the dance must pay the usual admission, which is only fair in view of the full evening's entertainment they will receive.

Duty Patrol: Beavers—(P.L. Harry Smith). Mr. W. G. Webster very kindly

took charge of the meeting last week, which was attended by about thirty Scouts. The Kangaroo patrol on a little spirit to add to their points in the patrol competition, but need to step on it a little harder yet to get back into the running. Lecturer Tells How Christian Science Answers Problems

Peter V. Ross, C.S.B., of San Francisco, Addresses Large Gathering of Members of Local Christian Science Church—Member of Board of Lectureship

"Christian Science: Its Answer to Human Problems" was the title of a lecture given by Peter V. Ross, C.S.B., of San Francisco, to a large gathering of the members of the local Christian Science Church in the Oddfellows' Hall, Ellis Street, on Friday evening last.

Following are Mr. Ross' remarks: Is there any ill-knowledge that cannot be remedied by spiritual enlightenment? Not if we accept the statement of Christ Jesus, "The truth shall make you free." Our difficulties then must rest in misapprehension or ignorance of reality. Their cure must come in the understanding for which Solomon prayed, and which, when acquired, awakened him somewhat to the fact that then and there was he in possession of all things needed—wisdom, knowledge, riches, honor.

Spiritual understanding, it will be conceded, is the universal necessity. Without it one has an inadequate if not a wretched state of existence. With it one begins to see the real universe and the real man; begins to appreciate the perfection in which God has established His creation. For the universe, viewed as it actually is, assuredly must be an orderly, a kindly realm where there is peace and plenty for every individual.

And man, as genuinely constituted, must be a perpetual manifestation of divine intelligence and inviolable life. He has the strength and the ability to accomplish all that may be legitimately demanded of him. Governed by the divine purpose, he knows no dangers or limitations to interfere with his progress or frustrate his success.

Spiritual Understanding
Spiritual understanding is advanced by recognizing that God is the only Mind, and that this all-knowing Mind finds expression through man and constantly imparts unerring intelligence to individual consciousness. One who gratefully realizes and utilizes the simple yet dynamic truth has the satisfaction of seeing his limitations gradually lessen. He finds his capacity for achievement enlarging and his sense of rightful dominion expanding. He is better enabled to solve his problems, whether social or business or whatnot. A larger degree of success and usefulness is the inevitable result.

What right have we to say that God is Mind? Because we are convinced that God knows all things and is everywhere present. Mind measures up to these requirements. More than once do New Testament writers refer to Deity, either expressly or by implication, as Mind. Thus does Mind, as a name for Deity, satisfy both reason and revelation. In Science, Mind is defined as Soul, which reminds us that Mind, in its fullest sense, is much richer than mere intellect. It embraces the finer qualities of sympathy, love, beauty, animation. In other words, Mind is defined as an adequate name for Deity, must be in accord with divine Principle. The proximate or immediate cause of many of the problems and distresses in human existence is fear, but fear, for the most part, is traceable to either ignorance or conscious wrongdoing. The unknown is peopled with fancied dangers. The unfailing panacea is more light, clearer vision, fuller understanding, unswerving character.

Equipped with spiritual vision and enlightened righteousness, with which God endows man, one feels secure and unafraid. One sees the futility of evil; the illusory nature of disease, and the groundlessness of poverty, regardless of appearances. For it is inconceivable that a beneficent God has projected man unprotected into an unfriendly universe. "Thou openest thine hand," says the Psalmist, "and satisfiest the desire of every living thing."

Promotion of Health
Health is promoted by the intelligent and reverent insistence that really man is in the present and permanent enjoyment of it, rather than by entreaty or impudent appeal for divine help. For Life is God; and therefore Life experiences no disease, no age, no beginning, no end. And this resilient, invulnerable, resplendent Life is the life of man.

It is through man that everlasting Life is made manifest. Man is the indisputable witness to the presence of Life. He cannot die otherwise than feel its constant exuberance. He cannot know suffering because Life can brook no opposition. The functions of Life cannot be silenced or slowed down. They are in perpetual and unlabored operation even to the uttermost recesses of real being. One who meditates on these truths, reasons them out, and assimilates them, will gradually prove the Christian Science proposition that disease is belief, mesmerism, appearance, ignorance as distinguished from actuality.

Intelligent prayer consists, therefore, not in appealing to God for needs and beseeching Him to supply them according to our views, but rather in thankfully recognizing that in providing for man He has left nothing undone. Jesus assures us: "Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask Him." Mrs. Eddy, reinforcing this assurance, declares in her inimitable way (Science and Health, page 7): "The divine mind is not an auditory nerve. It is the all-hearing and all-knowing Mind, to whom each need of man is always known and by whom it will be supplied." Is it not time we began wholeheartedly to admit this glorious fact, instead of through doubt and fear, virtually denying or questioning it?

How touchingly is this illustrated in the experience of Hagard Driven from Abraham's home because of the roof before Jesus, Jesus was not deceived by the appearance of helplessness. He saw through the same intimacy. He knew that it was more than a transient condition. He was clear that in Science, vigor and strength were present, although weakness and decrepitude appeared to material sense.

So full was Jesus' realization of the buoyancy and boundlessness of Life, so searching and glowing was his vision of reality, that the erstwhile cripple himself took on, in his measure, that same sense of life, that same accuracy of vision. Then did he feel the surge of vitality in his sinews. He stood upon his feet and strode out before the astonished onlookers. Life took on a new meaning to people with whom Jesus mingled. The disciples who met him on the road to Emmaus felt their "heart burn" within them. The sick woman who came behind him in the throng realized her expectation, "If I may but touch his garment I shall be whole." So do we all feel strength and courage and kindness when we are in the presence and example of the true disciple of Christ.

Healthful Concepts
Indigestion, high blood pressure, glandular disorders often have their beginnings in destructive emotions, irritability, bitterness, jealousy. Search the Scriptures, read Science and Health, immerse yourself in the truths they announce. These devastating emotions then give place to the healing concepts of faith, hope, charity. Health and peace are then found to be ever-present. The Kingdom of heaven appears close at hand. It rests after all in a normal mood.

It might seem from the apparent prevalence of materiality and mortality in human experience, this is a great mistake. The life we are now living, rightly viewed, is that eternal life for which we have supposed we must depart this world. The departed and despair which appear to abound do make up a thousandth part of human existence. Daily life is largely sound and wholesome. A tremendous purpose runs through it all. This very moment and your thought may be exalted that you all but tread the lofty plains of immortality.

Despair, distress and physical ills, generally, rest in belief in mesmerism, in ignorance. No one in these days likes the word "mesmerism." The word should not stir our pride but rather raise our hope, when it is seen to be the cause or home of sickness and mortality, because ignorance can be extinguished and distress thereby routed by the simple truth that Life is God and everlastingly manifest by man. Mrs. Eddy puts the proposition better, just as she invariably states scientific facts better than others do. "Man is able to do, when she writes, "Man is the expression of God's being" (Science and Health, page 470).

deceived by the appearance of helplessness. He saw through the same intimacy. He knew that it was more than a transient condition. He was clear that in Science, vigor and strength were present, although weakness and decrepitude appeared to material sense.

So full was Jesus' realization of the buoyancy and boundlessness of Life, so searching and glowing was his vision of reality, that the erstwhile cripple himself took on, in his measure, that same sense of life, that same accuracy of vision. Then did he feel the surge of vitality in his sinews. He stood upon his feet and strode out before the astonished onlookers. Life took on a new meaning to people with whom Jesus mingled. The disciples who met him on the road to Emmaus felt their "heart burn" within them. The sick woman who came behind him in the throng realized her expectation, "If I may but touch his garment I shall be whole." So do we all feel strength and courage and kindness when we are in the presence and example of the true disciple of Christ.

Cure for Lawlessness
Every public-spirited person in these days is fired with the ambition to improve world conditions. The world will be better, indeed it will be wiser, if the people are more real, as soon as each individual begins to extract from his mentality realm, intensely, covetousness, suspicion and envy, and replaces them with forbearance, kindness, gentleness and love. This is the ultimate triumph of good. The place to begin to overcome greed, violence and tyranny is in one's self.

The lawlessness too much in evidence in all directions can be quieted by our realizing how impotent are the ambitions and intrigues of men and women. Designing men have fancied that they could rule the world. Nebuchadnezzar succeeded for a time. But as he walked in his palace one night and meditated upon his greatness, there fell a voice from heaven, "The kingdom is departed from thee." The same hour he was driven from his palace to the end of the days he learned, "The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men." Then his reason returned.

The impatient and turbulent utterances of the day scarcely reach the level of intelligence. They are more on the plane of lunacy. No cause then to be alarmed by their clamor. But there is cause for taking down the word "ignorance." Ignorance is the cause of our ills, reducing them to their native nothingness. Since they lack intelligence and reason, they are destitute of the ability to plan or organize or carry on.

We are not helpless in the confusion and turmoil of the times. We have the capacity to extinguish, noiselessly and finally, the fanatical influences bent on upsetting industry and governing society. The light of our own reason is sufficient to do this. And our weapon is of the sort that these inimical influences cannot see or cope with. Our weapon is the truth that Principle governs in all times and in all places, making unerring provision for every effect. "The Lord shall have them in derision."

The leaders in labor, in business, in government, must learn that God directs the affairs of men. He raises them today, just as He has always done, regardless of the apparent rule of selfishness, strife and oppression. "He disappointeth the devices of the crafty." There is no other power but His. Ultimately this government will be seen to prevail. For any man to recognize these facts and to intelligently insist upon their dynamic quality is for him to have a part in bringing about a better order of things.

His Presence
When Moses was engaged in the giant enterprise of leading his people from Egypt through the desert up to the gates of the Promised Land, he at times wavered. He feared the anger of God. He was taking. Then came to him the word from God, "My presence shall go with thee." How many times have you, when faced with sudden danger, acted with "presence of mind"? He did not know the course which directed you to do. So imminent was the danger that you had no time to consider or to argue. You acted, without doubt or hesitation, and disease and still know nothing about it. They cannot long resist it. That weapon is the truth—the truth which you will find on every page of Science and Health and in chapter after chapter of the Bible—the truth which reveals health and goodness as the real and denounces disease and evil as lying impositions.

Isolation of Sickness
Christian Science declines to confuse evil and disease with true being. It refuses to identify them with the individual, speaking to this point Mrs. Eddy declares: "The temporal and unreal never touch the eternal and real. The mutable and imperfect never touch the immutable and perfect. The inharmonious and self-destructive never touch the harmonious and self-existent. These opposite qualities are the tares and wheat, which never really mingle, though (to mortal sight) they grow side by side until the harvest" (Science and Health, page 300).

However intimately or disastrously disease may have appeared to fasten itself upon a person, actually it has faltered utterly to reach his true selfhood. A corporeal mortal, to whom sickness may claim to attach itself, is a mistaken concept of man; for man is spiritual, without a suggestion of materiality or mortality. No other conclusion can be reached when it is remembered that God is Spirit. For an individual to recognize himself as spiritual is to gain the shadow of the Almighty, whence he can denounce disease as illusory and powerless to draw him.

A person who with divine help isolates any malady takes a decisive step toward undermining and destroying it. There is no occasion how the ailment has come about or why it has taken hold of him. Rather will he challenge its claim to presence or existence. He will face the mortal mind, which would foist the deception upon him, and deny materiality and mortality are unknown.

Impartation of Manliness
"Jesus," Mrs. Eddy reminds us, "beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals" (Science and Health, page 478). It was an everyday occurrence with him to accost some hopeless sufferer and to restore him to health. When the cripple was lowered through the roof before Jesus, Jesus was not deceived by the appearance of helplessness. He saw through the same intimacy. He knew that it was more than a transient condition. He was clear that in Science, vigor and strength were present, although weakness and decrepitude appeared to material sense.

So full was Jesus' realization of the buoyancy and boundlessness of Life, so searching and glowing was his vision of reality, that the erstwhile cripple himself took on, in his measure, that same sense of life, that same accuracy of vision. Then did he feel the surge of vitality in his sinews. He stood upon his feet and strode out before the astonished onlookers. Life took on a new meaning to people with whom Jesus mingled. The disciples who met him on the road to Emmaus felt their "heart burn" within them. The sick woman who came behind him in the throng realized her expectation, "If I may but touch his garment I shall be whole." So do we all feel strength and courage and kindness when we are in the presence and example of the true disciple of Christ.

The Fact of Immortality
It is surprising how late were the Hebrews in arriving at the conviction that individual man has everlasting life. Little can be found of it in the Old Testament. But the New Testament abounds with the doctrine. For early in his ministry, indeed throughout his career, did Jesus emphasize it. In conversing with the Sadducean woman at Jacob's Well he observed, "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life." So starting were Jesus' utterances, so remarkable were his doings, that the people wondered who he was and whence he had come. One day he answered: "I came forth from the Father and am come into the world; again, I leave the world and go to the Father." Here in a few simple words he announces the continuity of individual life. Future existence, present existence, present existence are declared in one short sentence—of which more will presently be said.

Then time after time he definitively and openly proved in a doubtful world the truth of his statements. For scarcely a day went by that he did not heal some supposedly hopeless case, thereby demonstrating that individual life is above disease. He went so far, on some occasions, as to bring back to this world those who had taken their departure. The case of Lazarus was the most outstanding. He had been gone four days when Jesus resuscitated him. Afterward, at a dinner given by Simon in honor of Jesus, Lazarus sat as one of the guests, his sister Mary, who had been with him, and his sister Mary, as the meal drew near the end, anointed Jesus.

Finally Jesus made the supreme test of immortality in his own experience. For he permitted his enemies to destroy his body. Apparently they did so. Three days later he came from the sepulchre. He appeared to his friends and talked with them, not once but several times, during a period of forty days. At that he ascended, that is, became invisible to the physical senses. He had demonstrated that individual life is indestructible and continuous.

Life, then, is endless. It does not begin at birth; it does not end at death. Writes Mrs. Eddy on page 429 of Science and Health: "If man did not exist before the material organization began, he could not exist after the body is disintegrated. If we live after death and are immortal, we must have lived before birth, for if Life ever had any beginning it must also have an ending, ending according to the calculation of natural science." The clear implication is that pre-existence, indeed all true existence, is spiritual.

desired to be at his destination and was there, demonstrated his own assertion. "He that keepeth my saying shall never see death." To agricultural man, and really there is no other, the ordinary three-dimensional world with all its restrictions is obsolete. He is in the enjoyment of that Life that does not come or go, does not age, sicken, despair or depart.

It might be thought that the significance of Jesus' stupendous achievements could never be forgotten, but within two or three centuries they were, in large measure, until seventy years ago. Then it was that Mary Baker Eddy discerned that Jesus, in healing the sick and raising the dead, was not working miracles but was practicing a Science which he understood. In the course of years of study and consecration she discovered that Science. In order that the world at large might profit by her discovery, she set forth the fundamentals of the Science, and the rules for applying it in her famous book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

Afterward she established the Christian Science Church, which has since encircled the globe; she founded periodicals, among them The Christian Science Monitor, an international newspaper; and, in what she named The Manual of the Mother Church, she set forth rules for the conduct and government of the Church in all its branches. She placed their control in the hands of a board of five directors. With fine insight and fidelity they have so directed the various departments of the organization that Christian Science has long since been operating successfully in the six continents.

CROP CONDITIONS ONLY FAIR IN OKANAGAN

Agricultural Department Reports on General Crop Conditions

The Horticultural News Letter issued on May 23rd by the branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture at Vernon reports crop conditions throughout the Okanagan as follows:

Salmon Arm, Sorrento and Main Line Fields
As reported May 20th: The weather for the past two weeks has been generally cool with frequent showers and considerable wind. Soil moisture conditions have greatly improved and are now fairly satisfactory. A fall crop should now make rapid growth with the advent of warm weather.

Tree fruits appear to be setting normally in the Salmon-Arm-Sorrento section. McIntosh apples will probably show a slight decrease in tonnage as compared with last year, while there is prospect of an increase in Delicious; other varieties will probably be down slightly. The weather has been unfavorable for spraying lately, and some growers have so far been unable to complete their calyx spray. The crop in the Lytton-Kamloops district is very light.

Strawberries are just past peak bloom at Salmon Arm and prospects look fairly good. In the Clearwater district weather conditions have not been very favorable. Berries have been severely injured all through the Main Line district, and there will be little more than half a crop.

Pea acreage in the Salmon Arm, Chase and Netch hills sections has increased and in general the fields look very promising. Armstrong, Vernon, Oyama, Okanagan Centre, Winfield

As reported May 21st: Since our last report the weather has been quite cool with a few showers and considerable drying winds. The precipitation has been certainly in need of moisture and lacking irrigation. It has also been beneficial to tree fruits in saving evaporation and retarding somewhat the need of early irrigation.

In the orchards there is now apparent a heavy set of stone fruits and pears, although there can be no indications at present as to what might occur in the coming drop of the year. Pears have set more or less unevenly, depending somewhat on the vitality of the tree and the amount of spur injury occasioned by the more tender varieties by the zero spell last November. There is also apparent bud and twig injury to the more tender varieties of tree fruits, otherwise growth is quite favorable.

In the small fruits, strawberries are past full blossom and show promise of a good crop. Raspberries are showing early bud stage, but considerable winter injury will reduce the yield of this fruit. The Kelowna acreage does not appear uniform in its set, some patches carrying very fair to good crops, while others are showing spotty.

In the vegetable crops, most kinds are showing very active growth, particularly the cool weather crops such as spinach, lettuce, beets and onions, but tomatoes, corn and such crops that demand warm weather growing conditions show the retarding effects of the cool, windy weather of the past two weeks. In general field crops, both hay and grain are showing excellent growth. The first cut of alfalfa will be around the end of the month. During the past few weeks, favorable conditions have been favorable to growth on the dry pea acreage, and the fields in general are showing excellent condition.

There is apparently a fairly general infestation of many of our more common pests, with flea beetle and cutworm doing considerable damage in the vegetable acreage. Some onion fields are also showing a fairly heavy infestation of codling maggot. The emergence of codling moth in the orchards has been slowed up somewhat by the cool weather. There are, however, plenty of moths around, which should warn growers to allow no let-up in the spray program for the early control of first brood worms. Unfortunately, the weather has been anything but favorable for spraying operations.

Kelowna
As reported May 21st: Since the last report, there has been considerable windy and showery weather. Spraying has been difficult. Very heavy codling moth emergence can be expected with warmer weather and good spray coverage will be needed to control worms.

Stone fruits and pears indicate a good crop. Cherries set light in some orchards, but the crop is sizing well and there will be a good crop. Indications are that raspberries will perhaps be about the same or a little lighter than last year.

Growers have been very active setting tomato plants in the field during the past week. Cabbage and other cool weather crops are making good growth, but warmer weather would benefit most crops.

Westbank, Peachland, Naramata, Summerland
As reported May 20th: Weather conditions during the past few weeks have been very cool, windy and wet. On the 17th a heavy rain-storm, which included some hail, was experienced, but the damage fortunately was slight. Soil moisture is excellent for the time of year.

Tree fruits are making rapid growth, but crops such as tomatoes, cucumbers and peppers have been very much retarded. The windy, wet weather has upset the codling moth spray program and the growers are very much behind with this work. Cherries have set somewhat better than last year, some orchards have a good set, while others are very light. Apricots show a heavy set and thinning is well advanced. Peaches have taken a heavy drop in some orchards, while others will

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

REPLY TO CAPT. TAYLOR
Kelowna, May 22, 1941.
To the Editor, Kelowna Courier:

Sir: I have just read with much interest the report by Capt. Claude H. Taylor, captioned "To the Youth of the Okanagan," in your issue of today. We believe that Mr. Taylor is in ignorance of many things when he singles out the Kelowna Motorcycle Club for a bit of a going over. We are not slackers and cowards, as he would infer, and we think the following will clear up in his mind and enlighten any others who might be of the same opinion.

First, since the war started we have not put on any events that would be likely to draw from the war effort in any way. Secondly, we have now three members on active service and a fourth just discharged from active service through physical disability. As a member has given his life in the defence of England, one is on call to the R.C.A.F., one to the Navy, and seven are in the militia (all seven are not in a category to be used on active service), two of us have volunteered to be used in any capacity, but have been turned down. The remaining members are not in a position to be used either in Active or Reserve, so I think our record is fairly clean, considering that our membership is below twenty. We would like to call attention to the fact, also, that this club represents less than one-third of the motorcyclists of this district.

Further, we do not think that British fairness has been displayed in selecting our club from amongst the several organizations in this district who are in a position to do much more, but are making sure the public does know every small thing done by them.

Thanking you for your valuable space, we are,
Sincerely yours,
The Kelowna Motorcycle Club,
IAN F. COLLINSON,
Secretary.

have much thinning to do. Peach leaf curl will shorten the crop in many orchards. Pears are showing good set and here again thinning will be a problem where help is scarce. Other orchard pests and diseases are below normal at the present time. Field crops such as potatoes, onions, cabbage, etc. are making rapid

RUTLAND REFUGEE GROUP REPORTS ON ITS FINE EFFORTS

Over 1,000 Garments Sent Overseas — Park Society Holds Annual Meeting and Elects Officers

The Rutland Refugee Sewing Committee held a most successful afternoon tea in the Community Hall on Thursday afternoon, May 22nd. There was a record attendance and the sum of $39.00 was raised at the affair. A display of articles made by the committee was on view, and the President, Mrs. R. B. McLeod, in her address of welcome, stated that the organization had made in the ten months of their existence a total of 1,000 garments and 32 quilts, the majority of the articles going through the Salvation Army to bombed areas in Great Britain.

There was an excellent program for the entertainment of the patrons, after the serving of afternoon tea. Here it is in detail: Toe dance, Betty Cross; saxophone solo, "Land of Hope and Glory," Edith Eutin; dance, "Highland Fling," M. J. Brown; action dance, Audrey Smith; reading, Mrs. T. Lawson; vocal solo, Mrs. H. Glenn; dance, "Lullaby," Betty Cross. Two raffish games held during the afternoon, the winners being Mrs. R. G. Bury and Mrs. C. R. Bull.

Willard Urquhart spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Ruth Urquhart, Willard is employed in a plywood factory at Vancouver.

Ewart Hardie is a patient in the Kelowna Hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis on Wednesday last.

Several soldiers were home on short leaves last week, including C. McLeod and Fred Simmonds, of the 9th Armored Regiment, and Pte. Ralph Smith, of the Irish Fusiliers.

The annual meeting of the Rutland Park Society was held in the library room of the Community Hall on Wednesday evening, May 21. The attendance was not large, but a quorum was obtained by bringing some of the ladies from the Kelowna branch. The meeting was held upstairs. Election of officers resulted in choice of the following by acclamation: B. E. Hardie, A. W. Gray, D. H. Campbell, W. G. Webster and E. Heitzman, with Mrs. G. Magford and Miss M. Judmore as associate directors representing the Women's Auxiliary. At a subsequent meeting of this directorate, the following officers were chosen: President, Earl Hardie; Secretary, A. W. Gray; Treasurer, D. H. Campbell, re-elected.

The President reported on the year's activities and stated that the park had exceeded expectations during the year, the swimming pool had been improved and was now practically a finished job, and the tennis courts had been built and completed. The baseball diamond was now almost ready for use, and trees had been planted around the park and along the driveway. The skating rink had proved an unfortunate venture, due to the mild winter. The deficit for most of the deficit now on the books. It was anticipated, however, with little or no new capital expenditures needed this season, that the revenues would during the year.

The financial statement presented by the Treasurer showed gross receipts of $346.71 and expenditures of $345.58, leaving a balance in hand of only $1.13. There are outstanding unpaid accounts totaling $177.77, with accounts collectible of $28.50.

A discussion of tennis prospects resulted in the appointment of W. G. Webster as convener of a tennis committee. Members in the tennis club was set at $1.50 for adults, $1.00 for high school students, and 50c for children of public school age.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to C. R. Bull for his assistance with completion of the tennis courts. Without his assistance and financial aid the courts could not have been completed.

A meeting of the executive of the Rutland local of the B.C.F.G.A. was held at the home of A. C. Coates on the Belgo bench on Monday evening. The meeting considered the resolution passed at a meeting of the Glenmore local, endorsing the first one, with an amendment, but rejecting the other two resolutions. The third resolution, dealing with economies and the government subsidy, being considered particularly unfortunate, in view of negotiations being now under way with the federal government regarding the 1941 deal.

A number of Rutlanders are attending the militia camp in Vernon at the present time, including Corporals Hepton and Jackson, Ptes. Vic Stewart and Amos Ritchey of the R.M.R.s.

The Rutland Cadets, under the supervision of Mr. W. G. Webster of the Rutland School staff, were inspected at the school field here on Friday morning last by Maj. W. R. Critchley, Victoria, and Sergt. Major C. H. Henry, Q.M.S.I. The boys created a very favorable impression by their smartness.

OKANAGAN MISSION RIDING CLUB

Due to the children's membership increasing so rapidly, the Okanagan Mission Riding Club has been divided into two classes, one held at the Mission under the supervision of Miss Sealy and the other in town under Mrs. C. E. Davis.

The senior class enjoyed a grand day of riding on May 17th when the Mission riders came into town and were met by the local contingent. Seventeen riders were out for three hours, after which Mrs. F. F. Friedman entertained them at tea at her home in Bankhead.

No classes were held over the holiday. The children will meet on Saturday, May 31st, at the usual place at 2:00 o'clock. All other riders will meet at the Mission Community Hall on Sunday, June 1st, at 1:30.

JAMS and JELLIES made with CERTO turn out RIGHT

IT'S THE QUICK, EASY, SURE WAY... NO WORRY... NO GUESSWORK!

Make Your Jam and Jelly This Quick, Reliable Way

REDUCES BOILING TIME
It takes such a short time to make jam or jelly with Certo. For jam you need give only a one-minute to two-minute full, rolling boil—for jelly only a half-minute to a minute. Goodbye to long, tedious boiling and stirring!

SAVES MONEY WITH EVERY BATCH
In this very short boil practically no juice has time to boil away. You get up to one half more jam or jelly from an equal amount of fruit. That means more jam or jelly at less cost per jar.

KEEPS THE NATURAL TASTE AND COLOUR
The boiling time is so short that does not affect the taste or darken the colour as long boiling does. All the natural, fresh taste and colour of the fruit remains unspoiled in your jam or jelly.

NO ANXIETY AS TO RESULTS
With every bottle of Certo you get a book of 72 tested, easy-to-follow recipes—a separate one for each kind of fruit. If you follow carefully the recipe for the fruit you are using, you'll never have failures.

3 out of 4 Jam and Jelly Champions use CERTO

Mr. J. S. Warden of Belleville, Ont.—Pittsburger at both the Sharnoville and Tweed Fairs—writes: "I always keep a bottle of Certo on my pantry shelf. I can make perfect jams and jellies with so little trouble and effort. I appreciate the confidence that Certo gives me in making prize-winning jams and jellies."

WATER SITUATION SERIOUS

Irrigation Districts Make Plans For Very Dry Season—Rains in Hills Needed

Rains in the hills are badly needed to fill the dams which provide water for the irrigation systems in this district. The May rains were very helpful but, despite this, the stored water is about twenty per cent less than that of last year.

At the end of March the snow water content was twenty-five per cent less than that of a year ago, and due to the advanced season most of the snow is melted, and it is doubtful if this year's conditions will improve from this source.

Storage water, in all probability, will be drawn upon earlier than usual and, despite the fact that there is less of it, will have to be spread over a longer period.

Lands not enjoying storage facilities will be definitely short of water owing to the early curtailment of the natural flow of the creeks.

Should heavy summer rains prevail, however, the picture might improve considerably. Irrigation districts are already making provision for a dry season. South East Kelowna system, says Powell, in an address of welcome said he had been pleased that Councilors Washington and Hume had invited the session here.

Black Mountain says it is about the same as last years when it was not so short. However on Tuesday night there was a very heavy rain in the hills tributary to its dam. Although no report had been received late Wednesday as to the effect of this rain on the water in the dam, it is known that Mission Creek rose about seven inches, so a corresponding increase is looked for in the reservoir.

The Scotty Creek system reports being short and very badly in need of rains in the hills.

Valley Municipal Body Discusses Licence, Pensions Changes At Summerland

Quarterly Meeting Passes Key Resolutions Dealing With Dog, Trades Licence, Taxes, Mother's, and Old Age Pension Acts

SUMMERLAND—Matters of both Okanagan Valley, and provincial import were dealt with during the sessions of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association, meeting here on May 15.

Thirty-six delegates from municipalities of the Okanagan Valley, from Salmon Arm to Penticton, attended the convention. They were entertained by Summerland's council at the Dominion Experimental Station.

Penticton's resolutions regarding dog taxes and trades licences and Vernon's respecting old age, and mothers' pensions were passed by the convention.

The Reeve of Summerland, W. R. Powell, in an address of welcome said he had been pleased that Councilors Washington and Hume had invited the session here.

Age Pensions was moved by Councillor Chidley, Peachland, seconded by Alderman Hurt, Vernon, and was adopted. It applies where old age pensioners drift into town after becoming pensioners and are a cost upon the Municipality.

Major Wilde of Vernon then acknowledged the entertainment of Summerland and thanked and complimented the Legion Auxiliary on the excellent luncheon, to which Mrs. A. K. Elliott responded.

At the opening of the afternoon's deliberations, President Wilde of Vernon welcomed the delegates.

Voting was close on Penticton's first resolution, calling for a penalty on dog taxes. This resolution, moved by J. R. Wiglesworth, municipal clerk, and seconded by Councillor Johnson, read as follows: That section 59, clause 202 of the Municipal Act be amended by adding thereto the following, as clause 202A:

"For adding a penalty addition to dog licences which remain unpaid on the first day of January in each and every year, not exceeding one half of the amount of the tax charged for male dogs, and no licence shall be issued to any person who is subject to a penalty until such penalty be fully paid."

It was pointed out by a delegate that Vancouver had got a sharp increase in payment of the tax bylaw which he passed on the subject. Mayor MacKay, Kelowna, stated that city had destroyed 150 dogs but had got a lot of relief from the troubles.

Penticton's second resolution was on collection of trades licences. It also was passed with little debate. It was moved by J. R. Wiglesworth, seconded by Councillor A. J. Tough and read:

"That section 309 of the Municipal Act be amended by adding thereto, as sub-section 2: 'It shall be lawful for the Council of any Municipality, by bylaw, to add to all trades licences which remain unpaid on the first day of January in each and every year, a penalty addition not exceeding ten per cent of the licence fee due, but with a minimum not less than one dollar, and no licence shall be issued to any person who is subject to a penalty under this bylaw, until such penalty be fully paid.'"

Among comments on Vernon's resolution on Mothers' Pensions was one to the effect that municipalities might, if it carried, be saddled with an overweight. It was adopted when the word "decreased" was changed to "following" the word "Wives". It was moved by Alderman Hunt, seconded by Alderman Stevenson. The resolution read:

"Whereas certain parties on securing pensions to the Mothers' Pension Act of British Columbia, have deserted their husbands, leaving such husbands in a position of having to retain services of a housekeeper to look after infant children;

"And Whereas in some cases the husbands of the said parties are incapable of earning any livelihood owing to ill health;

"And Whereas it is the present practice of the Government to discontinue Mothers' Pensions in the cases outlined;

"Therefore be it resolved that this convention is in favor of securing an amendment to the Mothers' Pension Act in order to provide for a continuance of the Mothers' Pension in the event of wives deceased or deserting their husbands, such as to continue as long as there are children to support as defined in the Act.

"Be It Further Resolved that the pension in such cases should, in the opinion of this convention, be made payable to the husband."

The observation was made that the only way to get these problems adjusted was to keep hammering away at the government for recognition of the justice of municipal claims. Alderman Hurt, Vernon, cited specific cases. Alderman O. L. Jones, of Kelowna, was of the opinion that the whole act should be changed and made more equitable to the husband.

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 21st inst., regarding the Kelowna Westbank ferry. "As you know, the government is trying to keep the main highway in reasonably good shape for transportation purposes and for the tourist trade, which, because of the foreign exchange problem, is in the nature of a war effort.

"But I feel there is no justification for a 24-hour ferry service or a reduction in the car toll charge during the war crisis.

"I am forwarding your letter to the Minister of Public Works and I will advise you in due course his reaction to your request."

concomitant would be available in Athletic Park than should the bands play at the regular Park bandstand. In addition, much less damage would be done to the Park flower gardens, which undoubtedly would suffer seriously if the regular bandstand were used.

It is suggested that people bring rugs and cushions to make themselves as comfortable as possible on the grass of the oval.

The Royal Canadian Naval Band from Esquimalt is recognized as the finest band in the entire province. It will appear in Kelowna only after considerable effort on the part of the Kelowna committee.

It will arrive in Penticton on Wednesday night and was scheduled for an all-day appearance in the southern city on Thursday, and providing transportation could be arranged, it could come to Kelowna on Friday, leaving not later than eight on the evening.

It so happened that Major Harold Brown, of Vancouver, was scheduled to speak here on Thursday, and the Kelowna committee, along with Major Brown and the Naval Band together made an outstanding attraction, approached the Penticton Committee, which willingly altered its plans to permit the band to come here on Thursday and appear in Penticton on Friday.

The Board of Trade dinner which had been scheduled to hear Major Brown has been cancelled so that he may speak to the crowd at the band concert. It was felt that his audience to that which might be accommodated at a dinner meeting.

The Board of Trade executive will entertain Major Brown at dinner. Representatives of various organizations will be invited to be present also.

The Thursday evening band concert will follow the same lines as that of Monday. It will be at the Athletic Park but will be one-half hour earlier. The parade will leave the Armory at seven and the concert will start at eight, both times one-half hour earlier than the Rocky Mountain Rangers' band concert on Monday. The time has been advanced so that the band may catch the ferry. Units in the parade will be the same as on Monday evening.

A considerable problem arose about transportation, but the Rotary Club on Tuesday definitely agreed to look after this in some manner.

It is of hard surfaced road, for instance, is laid at a cost of $3,000 a mile, no one dreams of charging the public a special tax to pay for the investment in that piece of road, and the same condition should apply regarding the ferry. "We are all seized this year with the importance of stimulating the tourist traffic, and we are, throughout the Dominion, appealing to tourists to visit Canada. The natural result of a toll such as exists on the Westbank Ferry is to create a sense of annoyance, and the present figure charged is not rightly termed a tourist tax which may have the effect of discouraging travel; it being an axiom that a disgruntled tourist can dissuade many others to travel, whereas a satisfied traveler is the best advertising medium. "Regarding the hours of operation, we feel that this ferry should run twenty-four hours a day, as once again we come back to the highway system of the Okanagan Valley and travel should not be restricted by reason of cutting off the service at any time; and in support of our reasoning we would point out that the New Westminster bridge is open all day and night, as also is the toll gate at Strathmore. "Surely, when you consider that the public operating motor vehicles pays a gasoline tax of seven cents per gallon to the Provincial Government, you must concede that our request that barriers such as the ferry should be kept operating for the longest possible time to facilitate travel is only logical reasoning, as the greater the travel the larger the revenue from this source. "In the time when the new ferry was launched the Provincial Government indicated that the building of the ferry was a very special concession to Kelowna, a statement that was entirely unwarranted; as subsequent events proved; for when the old ferry was taken out of the water, it was found that the hull was in such a rotten condition as to be positively dangerous. In any event, the building of a new ferry for the Kelowna-Westbank run was a matter which did not concern Kelowna alone, but the whole of the travelling public, both Provincial and Dominion. "The Board of Trade are very strongly of the opinion that the time for evasive answers from the Department of Public Works is past, and I am in receipt of your letter, as member for the South Okanagan constituency, to take up this question with the proper authorities and have suitable action taken along the lines we have suggested, without any further delay. "Under date of May 23rd, Capt. Bull wrote the board that "I feel there is no justification" for the request of the board. "On Tuesday morning the executive of the Board of Trade considered Capt. Bull's reply which said: "I am in receipt of your letter of the 21st inst., regarding the Kelowna Westbank ferry. "As you know, the government is trying to keep the main highway in reasonably good shape for transportation purposes and for the tourist trade, which, because of the foreign exchange problem, is in the nature of a war effort.
