DIRECTOR AND CHORUS IN A UNIQUE EVENT

Director Frederick Alexander has charge of the music at the dedicatory performance in George G. Booth's new Greek Theatre, June 26 and 27, and thirty Normal College Conservatory students will appear in the Greek chorus which forms the initial episode of the Cranbrook Masque, as the performance is entitled. The theatre itself as well as the masque, is unique, being perhaps the only private edifice of its sort in the country. It is situated at the summit of one of the picturesque hills of Oakland county access being afforded by a winding driveway which, rounding a screen of spruces at the summit, exposes concentric rows of stone seats in the immediate foreground falling away to a small stretch of green in the middle distance, behind which the Greek stage rests against the panoramic background of Bloomfield Hills, whose rolling slopes are visible for miles in all directions. The theatre is merely one feature of Mr. Booth's beautiful estate, and the owner, his own landscape gardener, has developed all according to his fancy, erecting a magnificent residence of the English type upon it, and employing an army of caretakers to maintain its lawn and shrubbery.

As to the masque, it was written by Sidney Howard, of Harvard, who was selected by Sam J. Hume, of Cambridge. Mr. Hume had charge of the recent Community Pageant at Newark, New Jersey, and is an English producer of recognized authority. The principal actor in the production is a Harvard undergraduate who was assistant stage-manager in the recent Caliban Masque at New York city, on the occasion of the Shakespeare Tercentennial celebration; he will be supported by a well known actor from the Little Theatre, Chicago while Miss Constance Binney of New York will have charge of the dances.

The masque consists of four episodes; the first, Greek, will see the entrance of the chorus, in Greek costume of the classic period. This feature of the production, like the others, will have as a basis a careful study of the dress of the period, and will be authentic in every detail. The costumes are being secured in the East, at the expense of Mr. Booth, expressly for the present production, and have not been, nor will they be, used in any other. In this first episode, the chorus will appear in costume, and to harp and flute accompaniment, will sing, in Greek, the Hymn to Apollo, written 289 B. C., and representing one of the oldest melodies extant. In the Italian episode, which is second, they render a Gregorian number, "Al-lucers.

la Trinita," unaccompanied; in the third, which is Old English, "Summer is Iucmen In," the oldest piece of polyphonic music, will be heard, while in the fourth, a return to the Greek. Rehearsals of the principals have been taking place for some time at the theatre, and following the College Commencement, Mr. Alexander will take his chorus to Cranbrook, where they will remain from Thursday to Wednesday of the next week, devoting two days previous to the first production to rehearsals. Mr. Booth has fit-

MISS SMITH LEAVES NORMAL TO TAKE UP WORK IN EAST

Miss Laura Grover Smith who has been a regular contributor to the News this year, reviewing current periodicals and having charge of the library department, will attend the Library School of Columbia University this summer, and will not return to the Normal next year. She will engage in writing, probably in the East.

Miss Smith's work on the News has been commented upon favorably by many this year, as being a feature worthy of continuance. In addition to her connection with the paper, she has made many friends in the Library where she had charge of the periodical department. Her compilation of indexes to the periodical reference material for use in debating made the platform societies her everlasting well-wishers, and her departure will be keenly felt in more directions than one.

HAROLD RIEDER ENDS HIS STUDENT CAREER

GRADUATING RECITAL SHOWS TALENTED NORMAL MUSICIAN AT HIS BEST

The last of the season's graduation recitals was given Thursday evening, June eighth. The graduate was Mr. Harold Rieder, pianist and the assisting soloist was Mrs. Charles A. Bowen, contralto from Detroit.

Mr. Rieder is conspicuous in college circles for his organ recitals and is well known in Detroit by reason of his position as organist of the Woodward avenue Presbyterian church and because of his membership in the American Guild of Organists. Since June, 1914 he has given five organ recitals, three of these without an assisting artist and the sixth recital which will present transcriptions of Mendelssohn's incidental music to Shakespeare's play "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is already scheduled for an afternoon during the first week of the summer school. The Conservatory has never graduated any one before with such a large repertory of organ and piano classics. His graduating piano recital was therefore anticipated with special interest. The program was catholic in range and superb in quality—presenting the Bach-Tausig Toccata and Fugue in D minor; the Beethoven Appassionata Sonata; Schubert's lovely "Impromptu" Op. 142 No. 1; a Schumann Romanze (in f sharp); Sebussy's "Danse de Puck;" Moszkowski's "En Automne" and Schumann's great concerto Op. 54.

Mr. Rieder's splendid performance of the Bach Toccata and Fugue established at once the special qualities of his mind and art. A clearly defined intellectual grasp of the structural features of the composition; a mastery of all the varied technicalities involved; a clarity and accuracy that are almost above criticism and withal a seriousness and artistic purpose and an evident joy in playing—these are the chief characteristics of this young artist's work. Furthermore there are fundamentally great qualities. He who possesses these should make a

ASSOCIATIONS UNITE IN VESPER SERVICE SUNDAY

The Christian Associations joined in an outdoor Vesper service Sunday afternoon, at 5:30 o'clock, on the campus in front of Starkweather Hall. Chairs were moved out from the building and the congregation, which was large, listened to President McKenny, who was the speaker of the afternoon. This outdoor service will probably be an annual occurrence, according to the Association officers, who are anxious that the final meeting for the year be of extraordinary interest.

J. Palmer Lindow, of Lansing, Who Will Edit the News Next Year.

LINDOW MANAGES NEWS NEXT YEAR

J. Palmer Lindow, of Lansing, has been picked to manage the News for next year, and will assume his duties as scribe upon the commencement of the summer term, during which the paper will appear three times weekly, according to present plans.

Mr. Lindow entered the Normal last summer, and this year has taken an active interest in all lines of college life. An officer of his class, he is a member of the Lincoln debating society, which he represented upon one of the college debating teams against some of our 1915 platform opposition, and he won the junior public speaking contest a fortnight ago.

Along the line of work with which he will be associated next year, he has worked upon one of the Lansing newspapers as a reporter, and is well qualified to take up the task of chronicling campus events for News readers.

A number signed up for the paper next year at senior assembly Tuesday afternoon, but the number was far from representative, partly due to the fact that attendance was poor. The indispensability of the News will be more apparent to the graduate next fall than now, a fact attested by the remarks of Alumni to that effect when they remit for their year's paper. There is no reason why financial considerations should interfere, because payment may be made any time up to the close of the school year, that is, up to June, 1917. The News office will be open at all hours for further subscriptions, and graduates are urged to leave their names this week and next.

ASSEMBLY SEES AWARD OF COLLEGE HONORS

YEAR'S DEBATERS, ORATORS AND ATHLETES RECEIVE RECOGNITION WEDNESDAY MORNING

The fourth annual awarding of college honors occurred in Pease auditorium Wednesday morning, and was marked by the attendance of practically every student in the institution. President McKenny presided, announcing as an opening number a song, "March Onward," by the Men's Glee Club. Professor Lathers gave the first talk of the day, "To the Victors," in which he paid tributes to the school and to those whose work in representing her was being acknowledged at that time.

Prof. Sampson had charge of the athletic awards, in which sixty-seven students figured. A feature of the athletic awards which was included for the first time was the recognition of physical efficiency among the girls, four of whom received the honor. The presentation of the Switzer Cup to the Lincoln club, which has been preeminent in the year's forensic activities, was handled by Prof. Elliott, who accompanied the presentation with fitting remarks.

Public speaking awards to individuals were made by Prof. Lott, twenty being honored in this department. Of interest in this connection was the presence of W. N. Lister, of Ypsilanti, who won the first Oratorical Contest in the Normal College, the Normal News contest, of May 10, 1889. At that time, Governor Luce presided, and Don M. Dickinson, later postmaster general, was a judge. The winner's medal, won by Mr. Lister, was pinned on him by a Miss M. Louise Jones, another of the judges, and a repetition of the occurrence was staged, Mrs. Lister officiating in the capacity of Miss Jones, using the same medal as that won by Mr. Lister twenty-seven years ago.

President McKenny read the added honor list at this point, and delivered some pointed remarks on the subject of the year's work and the awards, after which the meeting broke up in the Field song, and a general demonstration. The list of honor follows:

HIGH SCHOOL OPERETTA A PRETTY MUSICAL EVENT

The cantata given by the musical departments of Ypsilanti and Normal high schools Friday evening in Pease auditorium was remarkably fine, and attracted a large number, who speak enthusiastically of the work of Miss Murphy and Miss Bivins, who had the production in charge. Woven thru the musical numbers was a simple plot, and the whole affair was carried off in a pretty fashion. The proceeds are divided between the two participating high schools.

1916 NINE IS AT END OF A FAIR SEASON

The last game of the season was lost to Central Normal, 4-2, on the local field. The game which was to have been played with U. of D. at Bois Blanc Thursday was called off because of wet weather.

The Normal's record for the season ended up with six games won, seven lost and one 12 inning tie with the University of Michigan Freshmen, the score being 2 to 2. The losses are accounted for by the fact that the Normal played what was probably the hardest schedule in its history; the schedule including both the University of Michigan and M. A. C. for the first time. The Polish Seminary also had a veteran team while the University of Michigan Freshmen are credited as being unusually strong this year. With the smaller colleges of the state, the Normal fared very well, winning three out of four games with the M. I. A. A. teams. These games resulted in victories over Albion, Hillsdale and Adrian, while the one game lost was to Alma by the close score of 3 to 2. The season was featured by the good pitching of Torrey, Lawson, of whom much was expected, failed to return to form this year suffering from a sore arm all season. Practically the entire team will be back again next year. Of the twelve men receiving their "N" letters, only one of them, Lamb, is certain of not returning to school. With this veteran material, which has had the experience of facing the University of Michigan and M. A. C. teams on their own fields, the Normal should face a rosy season in 1917.

The summer prospects are good for half a dozen games, two with the University of Michigan summer aggregation, and others with Detroit Y. U. of Detroit Engineers, Detroit Business College, and possibly a Masonic league team, appearing likely. The University games are the most interesting as a rule. Last summer there were two, the first being a defeat for the Normal and the second a victory. The third, which was to have played off the tie, was prevented by rain. Coach Mitchell will have charge.

The players receiving letters for baseball this spring are Captain Murray, Barnes, Langon, Torrey, Lawson, Lamb, McIntosh, Freeman, Erwin, McClear, Locke and Rector. The new captain, Jiles Freeman, played a remarkable game at shortstop this season, and his election comes as a reward of merit. The averages for the season are of interest, and are appended. Freeman leads in stolen bases, with seven, Murray and McIntosh are tied for greatest number of sacrifice hits, and Freeman and Barnes have nine runs apiece to their credit. The plan of publishing the averages will be continued in future seasons, Coach Mitchell announces.

McClear leads as a slugger, with a total of five extra base hits to his credit. Freeman has the highest batting record, .316, being the only .300 hitter. Barnes is on top in the field with a perfect record for the entire season.

Harold Hodge was elected athletic council member representing the trackmen next year, Reid, football, Barnes, baseball, Hynes, soccer, Hutchinson, tennis, and Engleman, basketball.

SENIOR LATIN STUDENTS ENTERTAIN UPPERCLASSMEN

The Junior members of the Societas Latina together with a few invited guests were entertained by a dramatization of "Cupid and Psyche," arranged for production by Minnie Wells, a student of the department. The parts were all taken by the Senior sodales, who staged the performance in the Training School chapel Friday afternoon. The cast was: Minerva, Ruth Snyder; Cupid, Katherine Bergegrun; Psyche, Wava Graham; Venus, Nica Roodie; Mercury, Grace Brown; Ceres, Vena Calif; Juno, Thea Dilts; Jupiter, Sadie Way; Mars, Elsie Miller; Apollo, Hattie Williams; Sisters of Psyche, Isabel Darby, Zola Otis.

The costumes were designed and made by the girls themselves, and Dr. D'Ooge characterized them as remarkably correct. He was well pleased with the work of the students, who have twice carried off such a production successfully this year, the first occasion being several weeks ago, when the Juniors were the actors.

OUR FAREWELL

With another year behind it, the News takes this occasion to thank the students for their support, which has again enabled it to successfully chronicle their goings out and their comings in during the past month. While the debater, the orator and the athlete have been making history, it has been the privilege of the News to record their achievements to the best of its ability, and whatever success it may have achieved in this line is its sufficient reward. It has been the aim of the News to reflect the spirit of the campus, and certainly it has had the cooperation of her students in this aim. Theirs it is to voice the verdict on our success for the year, a favorable return taking the form of continued support, which we feel certain will be accorded our worthy successor.

Ypsilanti business men deserve a large portion of credit for their support, which has been loyal and continued. They will find the News their medium thru which to reach the students next fall, and we trust that their experience this year will warrant their further connection with the paper. Our sincere hope is that the News may continue to mirror the life of the college, and thru the cooperation of her fifteen hundred students, grow with the name and fame of this splendid institution.

NEW "AURORA" IS A BEAUTIFUL BOOK

DISTRIBUTION TAKES PLACE MONDAY; LIMITED NUMBER REMAIN FOR SALE

Distribution of 1916 Auroras occurred Monday, and the amount was eagerly taken. It proved one of the most attractive which has yet appeared, the general color scheme confining itself to brown and gold. The cover, half-leather with gold Normal seal in the center, resembles that of last year, and is decidedly rich in appearance.

As was expected, the sepia plates of the campus buildings proved a noteworthy feature of the book, the views used being extraordinarily good, and including cuts of Main building, Stark-weather hall, Training school, President's mansion, Gymnasium, Science Building, Library, Health cottage, Water tower, Woodruff school, and two river scenes. There is in addition a color plate of Poaso auditorium, from a photograph.

A new arrangement of Faculty pictures has been used in this year's book and several were revealed upon to get new pictures made expressly for the volume. The other cuts throughout are of unusual merit, the name plate inside the front cover, and the sorority and fraternity heading being among the best.

The campus snapshots this year appear in greater variety of subject and pose than is often the case, and fill several pages of the athletic and joke department. The latter is filled with satiric personal references calculated to bring out a laugh, and to fittingly conclude one of the best class annuals yet issued.

RIEDER RECITAL

(Continued From First Page) long and refreshing journey on the road of artistic achievement. The content of the Bach composition is not so rich or so imaginatively absorbing as in the great G minor or the B minor Preludes and Fugues of the superb Passacaglia but for massing of tone for a somewhat spectacular passage work and for brilliant variety of technical effects the Tocatta is a masterpiece. Mr. Rieder gave it a tonal splendor that was convincing and the fugue he read with a incisive clearness and a technical security that are rarely accomplished except by mature artists. His pulse was revealed throughout the program in the Beethoven sonata with its tremendous difficulties, in the Schubert Impromptu with its exquisitely rippling scale passages and in the treacherous Moszkowski etude. Particularly brilliant in technical cleanliness and speed was the "Danse de Puck" by Debussy—a charmingly modern composition full of magically shifting harmonies, like fitful sunbeams dancing through tropical forests and over bubbling steppes. It was wonderfully played. The brief Schumann "Romanze" revealed the young musician in a momentary mood of tenderness which was unique and delightful. But the first movement of the Schumann Concerto offered perhaps the finest opportunity of the evening for Mr. Rieder's artistic sympathies. Here the rugged introductory idea obtained a stately and tumultuous reading that was really splendid and the great variety of rhythmic and harmonic features received at all times a sympathetic and fine treatment. We congratulate Mr. Rieder on his brilliant achievement. We appreciate the superb qualities of his teacher, Mrs. Baskerville, and we quo congratulate Normal Conservatory on being able to present so fully balanced a young pianist.

Mrs. Bowen, the assisting vocalist, sang songs by Coleridge-Taylor and J. H. Rogers and Goring Thomas' aria "My Heart is Weary." Her voice is lovely in rich contralto quality, of wide range and splendid power. She was enthusiastically received, responding to a double encore that was insistent and well deserved.

CRANBROOK MASQUE

(Continued from page one) ted up dormitories for their accommodation, and that of the other participants who are already on the scene. The entire production is under the direction of the Arts and Crafts society of Detroit, of which Mr. Booth is president, and to which he is donating the amount necessary to the masque. Admission is three dollars per single seat, five dollars for two, and the proceeds go to the society itself. Mr. Booth bearing all expenses. As the capacity of the little theatre is limited to three hundred, the financial end is, of course, receiving no emphasis, the masque being unique rather for its beauty and dramatic correctness and authenticity. Mr. Alexander and his department are to be congratulated on having been selected to participate in a production so extraordinary.
