SHALL INTERUEBAN FRANCHISE BE RENEW. ED BY THE CITY?

It is perhaps not generally known that Honand has an interurpan problem on his hands or that it will have such a problom in the not distant future. The present franchise by which the Michigan Railway uses the streets of Holland, entering at the east limits, going along Eighth street, kiver avenue and Thirteenth street, and leaving the city at the west limits, will expire in about 3 years-

In 1927, to be exact. When that time comes the people of Holland will be called upon to decide whether they wish to renew the franchise or whether they want some other arrangements made. Franchise questions are admittedly some of the hardest problems for any city to solve, and since the date for making a solution is only three years away, the time is here to begin thinking about it, Mayor Stephan thinks. He called at-tention to the problem at the meeting of the Rotary club on Thursday noon.

"Originally when the franchise was given," said the mayor, "it was with the thought in mind that eventually we would have a city railway system and so a blanket franchise was given to the company covering every street in the city of Holland.

"This anticipation has never been realized and never will, and it is now an interurban road running a car once every hour and a half and freight trains all hours of the day and night. We are now running trains of five, six and seven cars, and it's no great stretch of the imagination to ee that in the near future we will have strings of cars of fifteen and twenty coming down our main streets Now then, do we want to renew this franchise or should we begin considering some other route, some other plan, some other method of handling our interurban business ?"

The mayor left the matter there. having thrown it out as a suggestion so that the people of Holland can begin thinking about it. It will have to be given serious consideration before very long.

MRS. KING IS CONVICTED ON A LIQUOR CHARGE

Mrs. Henrietta King of Grand Haven was found guilty of liquor law violation charge by circuit court jury. Mrs. King's case took the greater part of the day in court and fol-lowed the record disposal of the Frank Cech case. Atty. C. E. Misner.

Addicer L DeWitt, on the witness stand, testified that when the King home on Washington street was raided he scooped up a handul of water which was in a dishpan and that it tasted like moonshine liquor. Mrs. King testified later that the liquor referred to was the contents of a mustard water footbath which she had just taken to relieve a headache.

The women of Ottawa County will be asked to make 200 Japanese childdrens kimonos before the first of December. The call has just come, to Mis. G. J. Van Duren by special de-ivery and she has wired acceptance, confident that the women of the coun y will rise to the occasion.

Immediately after the earthquake Red Cross chapters all over America were asked to make clothing for the sufferers. Ottawa was ready to do its share but this county was not called upon at that time. The present call will be the opportunity of Ottawa wo-men to help in this work.

One hundred have been assigned to north Ottawa and one hundred to south Ottawa. Usually south Ottawa takes a larger per centage of the work than half, but the women of this part of the county have just accepted the task of knitting sleeves in 24 sweaters. Mrs. Van Duren is appealing to ladies aid societies to help make the kimon-os. The material will be sont from headquarters and as soon as it arrives she will parcel out the work.

MAYOR URGES CLUB TO BACK ZONING MOVE

Before the Rotary club Thursday oon Mayor E. P. Stephan read a paper that is expected to have epochmaking results in Holland's city government. The subject assigned to the mayor was, "What the Rotary Club Can Do to Apsist and Help the Mayor of Holland," and Mr. Stephan named three great problems that the Rotary club can help to solve-sewage disposal, the renewal or non-renewal of the interurban franchise, and the creation of a city planning and zoning system in Holland. The greatest of these, said the mayor, was the last On this point the mayor spoke as follows, at the conclusion of his paper urging the Rotary club to get back of it and work it out: "The third and what I consider the greatest problem and the most difficult and important job so accomplish is the city planning and zoning law. Both are very desirable and the city of Holland ought to have both, but if we can't have both we at least ought to have the second one which is zoning. Now what do we mean by city planning and city zoning. City planping is where we take our city as it is and try to improve on our already Frank Cech case. Atty. C. E. Misner, counsel for Mrs. King, stated that he would appeal the case to the state su-preme court following the decision against his client. Testimony of city police officers who made the raid, testimony of Mrs. King and others was taken. Mrs. King was arrested following a raid which occurred on Monday. Oct. 29. Infor-mation was gained by the police thru arrests made on Sunday. water mains, extensions of our elec-tric light system, we have something to go by which will guide us and disect us how these should be constructd to take care of future needs. City buildings without a plan is like try-ing to build a magnificent home or a building without any plans or spe-cifications to go by. It is done in a haphazard way with the result that work done today has to be rebuilt tomorrow on account of the unexHolland City News wo really go hand in hand because .oning to be done with wise foresight must take account not only of existing conditions and obvious tendencies of growth but of possible changes and improvements of many sorts. "It is part of the general planning problem which relates to the trans-portation system including streets, street railways and other local transportations with freight and passenger any: It relates also to public works and utilities, parks; schools and many special public and private undertakings. A zoning ordinance needs to be based on a comprehensive and de-tailed study of the precise local conditions both present and prospective There is no short cut to good zoning in any community through blindly ac-cepting what has been done for an-other community. The only safe path is a thorough open-minded, examination of the facts in each community as to existing uses, existing densities and height of buildings accustomed o the people and the trend of affairs.

"The zoning of the city requires ex-pert professional knowledge just as the presentation of a case in court requires legal training, but just as the lawyer depends upon the layman to secure his facts, so must the professional zoning expert call upon the citizens for much of the accurate in-formation upon which any good zon-ing regulation must be based. "A zoning ordinance consists of one or more maps dividing the city into different kinds of districts and a statement of method of regulations to be employed in every district in regard to the rights in which property may be put, the height and size of buildings, the amount of space to be left vacant, with adequate provisions for enforcement.

"Now then if the business of getting the city planning and zoning is start-ed in this or any other city, the public must first of all be interested and educated by conferences, pblic meetings and lectures. dissemination of litera-ture and news articles."

WINS STATE PRIZE IN ESSAY CONTEST

Miss Thelma Haas won the state prize for high schools in the essay contest, which was put on by the W. C. T. W. in the public schools last April.

The result has just been announced In the state temperance paper, the "Michigan Union." The prize was $25. The prize for the eighth graders, $15, went to Miss Georgia Kelderhouse of Charlevoix; and that of the sixin graders, $15, to Miss Katherine Edy-yean of Crystal Falls.

About 50 attended the W. C. T. U. meeting at the home of Mrs. Martha D. Kollen on Friday afternoon. Rev. J. C. De Vinney of the M. E. church gave an address on the subject, "Ade-quately Meeting a Great Crisis" in which he said, "Law-breaking is no new thing; there were many viola-tions of the liquor laws before the 18th amendment was adopted." There is always a swing back to every great moral reform, caused in part by its supporters who give up too soon, thinking the battle had been won. We are suffering now from the criminal backwash of the war; every war has bad it, caused by war conditions. Some laws are a mockery, the punishment for their violation is so inadequate. Must criminals have foreign names. Americalitation's the ereat remedy for this national problem he said, give them as opportunity to becoane g and Amerian cickens. Criminais shound not be a lowed to land at Ellis .7 . d. In order to prevent this there should be right inspection at the point of embarkation, thus saving a return ocean voyage. Another rem-edy is the removal of all disloyal executives. The women should use their right of franchise at the primar. ies as well as on election day, to make sure that only good candidates are placed on the ticket.

Largely because of the education of total abstinance principles in the public schools, which the W. C. T. U. instituted a generation ago, we have what we have today.

John Lloyd Kollen played a group of Chopin's preludes. Tea was served by Mrs. Etta Whitman, Mrs. David Damstra and Mrs. J. C. Post.

Residents of Saugatuck were ex-tremely glad to learn that the resigna-tion of W. R. Takken as a member of the Allegan county road commission was not accepted by the board of su-pervisors. Mr. Takken has been a member of the body for several years and under his leadership many im-provements have been made on the sections of the city which we did not figure on. "Now what is zoning? Zoning is the application of common sense and fairness to the public regulations governing the use of private real estate. It is a painstaking, honest effort to provide each district or neighborhood as nearly as practical with just such protection and just such liberty as are sensible in that particular district. It fosters civic spirit by creating confidence in the justice and stability of the protection afforded. "Zoning gives every one who lives or does business in a community a chance for the reasonable enjoyment of his rights. At the same time it protects him from unreasonable injury by neighbors who would seek private gain at his expense. Why do we need zoning? Some one has asked "Does your city keep it's gas range in the parlor and its piano in the kitchen? That is what many an American city permits its household to do for it. "We know what to think of household in which an undisci daughter makes fudge in the parlor in which her sister leaves solled clothes soak in a bath tub, while father throws his muddy shoes on the stairs and little Johnnie makes beautiful mud ples on the front steps.

"Yet many American cities do the same sort of things when they allow stores to crowd in at random among private dwellings and factories and public garages to come elbowing in among neat retail stores or well kept department houses. It is this stupid. wasteful jumble which zoning will prevent and gradually correct. We must remember, however, that while zoning is a very important part of city planning, it should go hand in hand with planning streets and providing for parks and playgrounds, etc. Alone it is no universal panacea for public ills but as part of a larger program it pays the city and the citi-zens a quicker return than any other form of civic improvement.

"Zoning protects property and health. Suppose you had just bought some land in your neighborhood and built a cozy little home where there are two vacant lots south of you. If your town is zoned no one can put up a large apartment house on those lots, a large apartment nouse on those lots, overshadowing your home, stealing your sunshine and spoiling an invest-ment of 20 years saving. Nor is any one at liberty to erect a noisy melo-dorous public garage to keep you awake nights or to drive you to sell out for haif of what you put in your home. "If a town is zoned property values become more stable, mortgage com-panies are more ready to lend money and more houses can be built. Zoning will prevent junk yards and a little factory to spring up and operate on a main street or in residential districts, and in so doing cast a bl., i . . . n an otherwise valuable and •.sirable neighborhood. We have known of an otherwise valuable and •sirable cil of war they carafully examined the neighborhood. We have known of spot with a magnifying glass where people selling their home and proper- the car had last stood and then es-28 ty at a loss simply to get ana. nous a certain netyfliorhood on account of some undesirable condition arising there, and we know of homes in this city which are otherwise good homes but are absolutely unsalable on ac-count of their environment. Now there are many other things that could be said in favor of zoning which would convince you of the urgency and need of a prompt action of this kind. The question is, are we going to accomplish a proposition like this and what must be done to set the machinery going that will eventually work out a satisfactory, sensible and comprehensive zoning law?

As a beginning the Chamber of Commerce office on the second floor in the city hall will be open daily from one to three p. m. Miss Jeanette eidman will be in attendance and any inquiry of a Chamber of Commerce nature left with her will be promptly taken care of. At present a complete directory of the Industrial, Commercial and Professional life of Holland is being made up for record purposes It is surprising to know what a great diversity of effort exists in our city. The office telephone number is 2644. We have a few publications in our rew "library" which may be of in-terest to the members and which are always available for their inspection and perusal. Among them are: Vols 8 and 9 of the Fourteenth U. S. Cen-sus of Manufacturers; E. M. F. 1923 Electrical Year Book; MacKaes Year Book for 1923; Directory of Chicago's ndustry; Annual Report of the Chief Inland and Coast-Wise Water Ways Service and the monthly reports of the International Institute of Agriculture. The Board of Directors is very an

rious to receive the full co-operation of the members. Should some line of thought or action occur to you that ou would like the Chamber to follow up, please do not be bashful about submitting the idea thru any mem-bers of the Board. To refresh your memory, the board members are E. F. Stephan, Austin Harrington, John Arendshorst, W. C. Vandenberg, Fred Beeuwkes, G. J. Diekema, A. H. Landwehr, Henry Winter and Roy B. Champion.

Just a word about advertising. I is believed that advertising placed with the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association or with our own Publicity Committee, when it is ready will be more advantageous to yor than when placed with private enterprises of a similar nature.

'STOLEN'' AUTO CAUSES FUN AND EXCITEMENT

Mike Schoon Friday night parked his car in front of the Chevrolet garage while he went on an errand else where. He had an arrangement with the garage to store his car there during the winter months and at locking up time they ran his car in as a mat-car of his brother-in-law, John Arendshorst. Later Schoon arrived on the scene and found his car gone. He sent an S. O. S. to the police. The hard-boiled, cornbeef eating platoon pergeant lined up his birds and gave them the order of "Sound off!" They executed a perfect "Squads North. and the chase began. Holding a coun-with Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, Muskegon and other towns, and pa-trols were sent in all directions. John Arenshorst then joined the chase. Going to the garage he took his own car from the stall right next to the "stolen" car of his brother-in-law, and he was so intent on protecting the interests of his insurance com-range in which the Schoon car was naturally insured that he never no-ticed it, although he had to step on its running board to get into his own machine.

The chase was finally abandoned un-til morning, and then the true state of affairs was discovered. The "stolen" car was still reposing peacefully in its County roads. Mr. Takken is director and cashier cal official body to initiate the work car was still reposing peacefully in i of the Fruit Growers State bank here, of zoning and city planning. CANNED FRUIT DRIVE GETTING WELL UNDER WAY

Some facts concerning Michigan and its part in the Great World War which were brought out at the American Legion's National convention at San Francisco will be interesting to people of Holland as citizens of Michigan.

Do you know that Michigan gave more men and lost more men in proportion to its population than any other state in the Union?

Michigan is acknowledged to have accomplished more for the disabled former service man in the way of hospitalization, compensation and bonus than any other state.

Michigan was the first state to es-tablish the Children's Billet and Michigan has the only American Legion hospital for tuberclars.

This greatest helpful institution grew out of the desire of loyal citi-zens to aid, comfort and restore those battling, though the war was considered over, with the great white plague. It is essentially Michigan's hospital, not an individual enterprizo run for profit but a full 100% "Ser-vice" institution conducted wholly for the relief of our tuberculous soldier boys of Michigan. There are other government hospitals, but they needs must be run on the army plan and freedom and routine there are the same as that a soldier experiences in the army. For men suffering with tuberculosis those hospitals can do but little good as compared with an institution like the Roosevelt Memorial hospital.

Through the efforts of the Legion and the Legion Auxiliary lodges, civic organizations, patriotic organizations, citizens, churches, schools, much has been done to help along the success

Mr. Bierce mentioned no names and created a mild sensation at the meet. Ing of the Holland Retail Merchants association Tuesday night by describ-ing a party that was held in Grand Rapids some time ago and which Mr. Bierce and others witnessed. Holland according to Mr. Bierce, has a repu-tation in Grand Rapids for a certain reserve on the part of its citizens when appearing at public functions Mr. Bierce mentioned no names and he did not even give a hint as to the identity of the local citizen who drew identity of the local citizen who drew identity of the local citizen who drew all this attention. He merely used address to show how the bars are be-ing let down along all lines. But he set the members of the merchants' as-rociation guessing and they were still when the meeting adjourned.

STORES TO BE OPEN THREE NIGHTS BEFORE CHRISTMAS

At a meeting held in the city hall Tuesday evening the Holland Mer-chants Association passed a resolu-tion to keep their stores open on the Friday, Saturday and Monday even-Fiday, Saturday and Monday even-ings previous to the Christmas holi-inson. Mr. Westveers subject was days. This meeting is the last that will be held by the association this year, the next meeting being slated for the third Tuesday in January when tency and its prosperity or lack of the annual business meeting and also prosperity or lack of the annual business meeting and elec-tion of officers will be held.

Following the reading of the minutes a communication from Mr. Ben Mulder, relative to the conference re-port was read by the secretary. Be-cause of a prolonged illness, Mr. Mul-der was prevented from attending the meeting in person and the report which he was scheduled to have giv-en in detail was booked for the next tracting of the association. The exrateting of the association. The as-sociation expressed their feeling of sympathy and voted to send flowers to Mr. Mulder.

The subject of business othics was interestingly discussed Tuesday evening by Lee H. Bierce, secretary of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce, at the last meeting of the year of the Holland Retail Merchants association Tuesday evening. Post-war confusion, declared Mr. Bierce, has to a large degree shattered faith in the code of ethics that once existed and the time has come for business men everywhere to rebuild it. There is a feeling abroad in the land that there are many unnecessary factors in the journey of a product from the manufacturer to the consumer.

The speaker went into detail on the subject of the relation of the manufacturer, the retaller and consumer, and showed that the three are unavoidably essential to each other. The manufacturer must choose between selling to the retailer or the consumer, he asserted. The retailer has a right to expect protection from the manu facturer as he in turn protects his patronage. "An effort has been go-ing on to establish a code of ethics," said Bierce, "so that the retailer can deal fairly with the consumer on the one hand and the manufacturer on the other." But the war brought about the change. The code of ethics is broken not only in business but in social life as well. The habit of smoking cigarettes is today also a feminine trait, not excluding the city of Holland, and the passing of 18th amendment has proven to be insufficient to stop the trade in liquor. "We seem to be developing law ignorers,' said Bierce, and the same result is evident in business. The speaker went on to explain how the code had been violated time and again, and cited numerous cases to prove his contention. That the re-tailer and merchant stand face to face with the proposition that "the condi-tions are bad, and that the code of ethics must be rebuilt" was an em-

For a long period in the early days beans formed the medium of exchange in that country. Later a metal curency was established and that has had its ups and downs dur-ing the troubled history of that country-mostly downs because of revolutions and counter revolutions. The Mexican money system is still considerably demoralized, said the speaker, so that many business men maintain bank accounts in American banks just across the border as a matter of prudence. How different Mex-ican banking is from banking across the border is shown by the fact that There is little faith in the checking system among the illiterate workers and often it is necessary for a con-struction company to ship large quantitles of coin to out of the way engineering jobs at great risk. Mr. Westveer described the ups and downs of currency in Mexico during the troubled times of the last fitteen or twenty years and he outlin-ed what steps have been taken since the beginning of the present Obregon regime to stabilize the currency. He predicted that a brighter day is ahead for Mexico and that the opportunities in that country will be very great during the next few years.

LOCAL PARENTS GO TO SCHOOL TUESDAY NIGHT

Nearly 500 fathers and mothers went to school again Tuesday evening. They gathered in Holland High school to attend a regular school session. No lasses were held in the afternoon but nstead they were held in the evening. There was no departure from the veval routine. The classes were conducted exactly as they would have een had no parents been present. The abject was to give the parents a clear idea of just exactly how their children are being taught from day to day in the schools. Most of the parents naturally went to the classes of their own children, but others went from class to class with the idea of getting a comprehensive idea of how the high school is being run. There were classes that had as many as 25 to 30 visitors and in some cases the number was so large that it was almost hard to find the students among the parents. Some of the things that interested many parents drew a large number of visitors. Students in the manual training department are making furniture for the new Junior high school

NECK-TO-NECK RACE MAINTAINED IN SMALL POX WAR

Holland City Nows

The number of new cases of small pox is maintaining a neck-to-neck race with the number of cases that are discharged from quarantine, according to the health officer Tuesday. There are at present 18 cases of the disease in Holland, and week after week the number remains about the same although the quarantine is being lifted daily from the homes that have been shut up by the disease. New cases are constantly being reported and the net effect of this is that the small pox situation is almost becoming chronic.

That small pox is no respector of age, race or color and that a home is not immune because. all the rules the border is shown by the fact that in all Mexico there are only 77 banks. There is little faith in the checking disease is attacking people all the way from babyhood to old age. One man was quarantined a day or two ago who is sixty years old. Bables are occasionally attacked also. School children are almost completely free from the disease. The pre-school children and adults are the two classes that have been least protected by vaccination and hence the new cases are recruitd from them. Health Officer Godfrey Tuesday explained one objection that is frequenty raised to vaccination. People argue that they know of cases of persons who have caught small pox after they have been vaccinated. And the health officer does not deny that. Often people have been exposed several cays before they were vaccinated. They then have the vaccination done and later develop small pox. They catch the disease before they are vac cinated and it breaks out after vaccination, lying dormant in their systems meanwhile. Vaccination cannot prevent a disease that is already there, but it can prevent small pox if it has

EDUCATION WEEK IS OBSERVED IN HOLLAND

The week of November 18 to 24 is being observed as "Education Week" here and throughout the country. In this city programs are being given. each day and evening this week in the high school assembly room. The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings. A detailed program will chairman of Education Week, has contributed the following:

Such a large number of weeks has been set aside for activities that there seems to be danger of using every one in the year for some particular line of community interest. Some of these activities are so important that pains should be taken to see that they are not lost or crowded out by things of minor importance. One of these i education, and the week given to it should be used to the best possible advantage.

At no time in history have such rapid and important changes taken place in our schools as at present. The old gives place to the new so rapidly that educators and teachers find it hard to keep abreast. The general public find it much harder to keep itself intelligently informed concerning school matters. This week is used with the idea of getting the people acquainted with their own schools. Programs are being given that will make clear the methods, the aims and purposes of modern education.

These aims and purposes have be-come so broad that every part of the community life is touched. Many contend that the schools have taken too much on themselves but others believe, and can justify their belief, that there is no other organization so well fitted to handle these various lines of work as the schools. People should become informed concerning these urposes and the means the schools are using to achieve them.

The broadening of educational aims leads to the need of more and larger leads to the need of more and larger buildings, a larger number of teach-ers, and more equipment. These things are provided by taxation and people should know where their mon-ey goes and that these aims are worthy and that they are accomplished by the means used.

The general aims of schooling have been formulated as follows: training in citizenship, guidance in selection of life work, the worthy home membership, health, and character. The people of Holland have reason to be proud of their schools and the work they are doing. They are to be congratulated on their interest in this sort of work and the progressive steps they are taking.

This year the national plans have teen made earlier than usual, and over 100,000 copies of the basic program have been distributed. American Education Week is supported by the American Legion, the National Education Association and the U. S. Bureau of Education. The general slogans for the week are: Children today, citizens tomorrow.

The retailer who has his retailer's rate in one line becomes the consumer in every other line. To stick to the code of ethics and make business legitimate in every way is the task that confronts the merchant.

task that confronts the merchant. What the merchant can do and ought to do, for the protection of business and the public, is to co-op-erate, said the visitor. The confidence of the public is only safe-guared when the public mind is assured against fraud in unscrupulous retailers, fire-sales; illegitimate advertising, fake sales, and other means of deception. The speaker cited how the Honest Advertisers Law is helping to protect the public, and how the co-operation the public, and how the co-operation of the newspaper with the merchants' associations in the land is a means to foster, a better business atmosphere and good-will. The Holland Merchants' Association also, it was point-ed out, by definite action, and co-op-eration with the local newspapers, can do much to win the confidence of the public.

Such methods as are useful in making Holland a community in which the retailer and public may equally share in the advantages of business opportunities were then taken up in the discussion that followed the ad-

OTTAWA R. C. HAS DISBURSED $41.444.33 SINCE BEGINNING

Since the Ottawa County Red Cross was organized in 1917 it has disbursed the sum of $41,444.33 for philanthroric and relief purposes. This statement was one of the interesting facts brought out at the annual meeting of the organization in the city hall on Saturday afternoon. This sum includes the money expended for relief in all parts of the world.

The receipts for the current year were $1,310.60, and the disbursements for the same period were $1,347.47. Ottawa still has the reputation of being one of the best organized and one of the best working organizations in the Central Division of the Red Cross. Last year the enrollment in Ottawa county was 3008, of whom 1,784 were in south Ottawa, and 1,-224 in north Ottawa. The books and accounts of the organization were audited and approved by the field representative of the Central division up to September of this year. The meeting Saturday afternoon in the city hall was a very satisfactory one. A fair representation was present from all parts of the county and the affairs of the organization were discussed. Reports were made by the secretary and treasurer. On account of the absence of G. VanSchelven, the reasurer, on account of illness, his report was read by the secretary, Arthur Van Duren. Both reports of the secetary and treasurer showed that the fairs of the Ottawa Red Cross are in good condition.

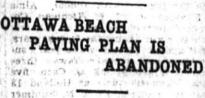

Seven directors were elected for a three-year term. There are 21 dithree-year term. There are 21 di-rectors in all, seven new ones being elected each year. All who were named Saturday were re-elected to office. They are: G. Van Schelven, Ar-thur Van Duren of Holland; Mrs. E. G. Mc Nett and Mrs. Edw. Holma of Grand Horser, Mrs. L. D. mucous from the lungs may be the forerunner of tuberculosis. I should be eliminated at once by removing the cause.

Weakness in the bronchial or lung region of the body is due to spinal bone displacement in the upper dorsel region of the spinal column. If a cough is stubborn, and cannot be thrown off as easily as you have thrown off other attacks, it is as good a danger signal as the on coming of the white plague, tuberculosis, over sives The thing to do is to see a chiropractor at once, and start a course of spinal adjustments to remove the cause The record of chiropractic in the influenza epidemic was many times better than that of any other healing method, and that record is equally good in other varieties of lung and bronchial troubles There is no substitute for chiropractic. Neither medicine, diet, message, ner osteopathy moves spinal bones.

HOLLAND LOSES THRILLING GAME TO ST. JOSPEH, MICH.

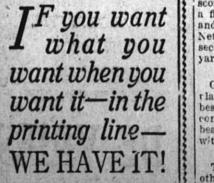

Coach Hinga's ball toters were defeated by St. Joseph Saturday afternoon in one of the most thrilling sames of the season, the final score was_26-20. Coach Howe presented a smashing offense and a fair line but Holtand should have been the victor. Inability of the secondary defense to solve the passing attack of the vis-itors cost the locals the game. Holland scored easily in the first quarter, Kleis and Van Raalte pushed the ball to the two yard line and Nettinga scored. St. Joseph's first score was on a fluke, Karsten recovering a fumble and racing fifty yards. Passes from Nettinga to Kleis gave Holland their second touchdown. Kleis goin-yards on one play for six points.

Grand Haven should get a chance to lay for the class B title with next best claimnant or the school has come nearest of any state school to beating Muskegon the only team with a clear record in Michigan.

The locals second team added another victory Saturday when they de-feated Fennville High 13.0

SOPHS TRIM FROSH IN GRIDIRON BATTLE

The Sophs at Hope College evened up matters with the Frosh for their. defeat suffered at the pull, and hand-ed the green topped lads a neat 8-0 trimming. The game was played on a mud-covered field which tended toshow up both elevens. The Sophs' touchdown came in the second quarter when their coach pulled some strategy. The Frosh were forced to punt on their own 20 yard line, Fell's punts were poor and the men with mud clad shoes were real slow in get-ting down under them. Albers was substituted and sent to catch the punt. Being fresh and light of foot he easily romped thru the Frosh team and tan the 60 yards for a touchdown. The other score came in last quarter when Kleinheksel fumbled a punt behind his own goal line and was down-ed. Vander Woude and Fell were the stars for the Frosh, while Albers and VerMeulen were on points for the Scophs. This is the second year that the Frosh have been downed in foot-ball, but the present Junior class was successful in both their Frosh and Soph. year.

The coach found this out early in his career at the Grand Haven institution but a traveling man who called on the mentor recently to try and sell some athletic goods didn't know this. He entered and shut the door so that the lock snapped. After some time during which the air got pretty stuffy in the small, windowless office, the school janitor was able to get the door unlocked with a skeleton key.

explain your answer. What do you mean by other things ware brought to your attention'?" -

The doctor replied slowly, "The facts I will mention were brought to my attention by Mr. John Bartley, the famous criminal investigator, whom I found at the house when I arrived."

At the mention of Bartley's name a little murmur of surprise went over, the room. Half way down the room the reporters, for the first time, were ' ing. writing hurriedly, and in a minute a telegraph boy went out with a mass of telegrams. Within an hour the fact youthful face flushed under the many that Bartley was working on the case would be in all the newspaper offices In New York.

The doctor continued: "Mr. Bartley aided me in making my examination of the body. The wound was, as I have said, one that a man could have easily inflicted upon himself, but such a wound causes death within a few seconds after it is made. I thought at first sight that it was suicide, but Mr. Bartley pointed out that the hands of the dead man, one of which held the revolver, were under the bedclothes and that they were pulled up smoothly around his neck. It would have been impossible for Mr. Slyke himself to have done that. I mean he could not have killed himself and then placed his arms under the clothes, after first pulling-them up around his chin. He would not have had time before he died, had he fired the shot. As Mr. Eartley pointed out -and as I should have thought of for myself-in cases of violent death the eyes are open. Mr. Slyke's eyes were' almost closed. How they were closed after death, Miss Potter has just told us."

Again there came a murmur of astonishment. The doctor's statement had been entirely unexpected by most of the audience. For the first time it was suggested that, instead of Slyke's having killed himself, he had down two flights of stairs, undressed and put into bed. A gasp went around STATE OF MICHIGAN-The Probate the room at his words, and I could see from the faces of the listeners that they could scarcely believe the story he was telling them. The sensation was increased when he spoke of the removal of the revolver from the dead man's hand while we were in the upper moom of the tower. This was, without doubt, so far the most dramatic moment of the inquest. While Bartley had been giving his testimony, the storm had come nearer. A thunderstorm is never a cheerful thing at the best, and this one was making every one very uneasy. At each clap of thunder, someone would give a start and glance nervously and is hereby appointed for hearing around.

The next witness, the photographer, was only on the stand a short time. He told of taking the pictures of the room in which the body lay and of the body itself, and stated that he had seen no revolver in the dead man's hand.

The testimony of the following witness was also brief. The boy who worked around the garage, although very much frightened, stuck to his story that he was getting into bed when he heard a shot, and that it sounded as if it were up in the air. Court for the County of Ottawa. The time, he thought, was somewhere between two and three in the morn-

When he had returned to his seat the step-daughter took his place. Her eyes that were turned upon her, and she never looked up. Her story was and she added nothing new to it. In answer to a question as to whether she had glanced at her step-father's door when she passed it the night of the murder, she replied that she had and that it was closed. Catching the district attorney's eye at this point, Bartley motioned him to his side and they whispered together for a moment. The district attorney then asked the girl if she had seen the dog when she came in. Rather surprised at the question, she answered that the dog had met her at the front door, smelled of her dress, and followed her to the stairway before going back to his rug. When she left the stand, her testimony had not added anything to what we already knew.

"I realized suddenly that we knew no more about the crime than we had STATE OF MICHIGAN-The Probate when the inquest began. Though I was sure in my own mind that Slyke had been murdered, I had grave doubts Haven in said county on the 13th day if it could be proved satisfactorily to others. The almost entire absence of clues made it seem more mysterious than it had at first, if that were possible. Even the next witness, Mr. Lawrence, added nothing to our knowledge. He said that, at the close of the party. Mr. Slyke had asked him to stay behind, for what he did not know at the been murdered. All awaited eagerly time. Though it was the first time that whisky had in the Holland City News, a newspapbeen introduced into the case, I doubt ty. if anyone regarded its mention as important. The laughter made Lawrence more nervous than ever, and he talked faster and more indistinctly. He had stayed only a few moments, he said, though Slyke had urged him to remain longer. A moment after he had been released from the stand, I remembered that he had not mentioned the fact that Slyke had told him he was expecting another visitor. Whether Lawrence had forgotten it or did not wish to volunteer the information, I could not decide. It seemed to me to be a very important point for him to have omitted.

"Then you would say that Mr. Slyke was murdered?" came the question. The doctor's answer was a long time in coming. "I hardly know what to say. What Mr. Bartley pointed out to me causes me to believe that Mr. Slyke was killed. Of course, there is a possibility that the wound might have been self-inflicted, and someone else arranged the bedclothes around his neck after he was dead."

He paused again, then continued, "That might have been done, but the chances are that he did not kill himself. I cannot positively state, however, whether it was suicide or murder

His hesitation started a long argument between him, the coroner, and the district attorney. If Slyke had killed himself, then someone else must have pulled up the bedclothes and arranged the body. What had been the person's reason for doing it? If, on the other hand, he had been murdered, then a very definite attempt had been made to make it look like suicide. The revolver in the dead man's hand came under discussion, and Doctor Webster said that, though it could be placed in a person's hand after death, any trained eye could detect the fact. . His evidence, while it had for the first time suggested that a murder might have been committed, had yet done little to clear up the mystery. I could see by the doubt and bewilderment in tion of said estate be granted to himtheir faces that his uncertainty as to whether it was murder or suicide had communicated itself to the audience. They looked eagerly about for the next witness, wondering what his testimony would disclose. There was little enough, as I knew too well, that any witness could tell that would throw light on Slyke's death.

The coroner glanced at a piece of paper and said: "Will Mr. John Bart- A true Copy- Judge of Probate. lev kindly take the stand?"

There was a little stir of excitement as Bartley, with easy grace, arose and took his seat in the witness chair. Every one was eager to see him, and he became at once the center of all eyes.

with questions, but allowed him to tell his story in his own way. He recounted our arrival at the house and our examination of the body. As he told of his reasons for thinking that Slyke had been murdered, the room became very still. He described our search for clues in the tower rooms, and what he had found on the balcony. Slowly the audience realized that Slyke had not been killed in any of the rooms of the house, but on a tower sixty feet in the air.

He pictured in short, concise words the body had been carried
