❧ The Journey ❧

Miracle 1997

It is not the practical activities that are the strength of this Bible Training College--its entire strength lies in the fact that here you are immersed in the truths of God to soak in them before Him.

You have no idea of where or how God is going to engineer your future circumstances, and no knowledge of what stress and strain is going to be placed on you either at home or abroad. And if you waste your time in overactivity, instead of being immersed in the great fundamental truths of God's redemption, then you will snap when the stress and strain do come. But if this time of soaking before God is being spent in getting rooted and grounded in Him, which may appear to be impractical, then you will remain true to Him whatever happens.

The 1998 Cedarville College Miracle

Pilgrim's Progress is an allegory of a venturesome journey—a journey as true for us today as it was in 1678, when John Bunyon dipped his fountain pen to inscribe the tale. The path was and is narrow. The circumstances were and are burdensome. God's Holy Word was and is consistent. And, the destination remains the same: the Celestial City.

This school year was part of that journey. Whether you were a freshman welcomed by a fuzzy bee, or a senior who walked across the graduation platform, the memories God gave will be sure to encourage you. I trust that through the pages of this book, you will be reminded of this timeless truth—you are on a journey, and in the end you will hear "Well done, good and faithful servant. Enter into the joy of the Lord." May God bless you.

Dedication

A life of service: Dr. David Drullinger

But as for me, it is good to be near God. Psalm 73:28a (NIV) Known as an avid San Francisco 49ers' fan and a friend of the students, Dr. Drullinger is a familiar face around campus. Described as a man of conviction, Dr. Drullinger exemplifies his life verse Ps. 73:28a in his ministry at Cedarville. This verse is his guiding principle, a "North Star" for his life. It guided him to Cedarville in 1989, to pursue a ministry in teaching and equipping young men and women to be all they can in Christ as they prepared to go out in their various fields and vocations.

A graduate of Western Baptist College, Dr. Drullinger pursued his Masters Degree at Golden Gate Baptist Seminary and received his Doctor of Ministry Degree from Western Baptist Conservatory in 1980. Before arriving to Cedarville, he taught at Western Baptist College for seven years, served on their board of trustees, and pastored a church in Keizer, OR for seven and a half years.

Dr. Drullinger's arrival at Cedarville shows how God guides people where He wants them to be. Dr. Drullinger had taken a year off the pastorate and felt called back to teaching. He and his wife were in a cabin without the modern conveniences when he received a letter from Cedarville College. He didn't apply for a job, but agreed to visit and has been here ever since.

His ministry at Cedarville has been varied. Teaching is the fo-investment in the future, for he sees each student's "world changing potential." His goal is to help the students have a dynamic relationship with God based on the internal, and his affinity for liberal arts helps him train the students for the future and the ministry they will have in their different areas. He loves the interaction with the students for they have enthusiasm. He is also a writer of Sunday School curriculum for Radio Bible Press, the spiritual advisor for CAB, pastor at Washington Heights, and conference and chapel organist. In the past year, he has written and recorded a daily program, Minute for the Church, which has been broadcast on eighty radio stations in the United States. He is a friend the lay person and addresses the challenges of living out your faith in Christ through involvement in the local church. The program has faithful listeners and has received positive comments from pastors, counselors and even prison inmates.

Dr. Drullinger is described by students and faculty as an excellent teacher, one who challenges students to think and is concerned about student needs. His peers describe him as a godly man, a man of conviction, yet willing to listen. His love for people is seen around campus. Dr. Jack Riggs, Chairman of the Bible department, says "Dr. Drullinger often uses the word 'wonderful' with a sense of emotion and awe to describe something. To use his word, I consider him to be a wonderful man of God, a devoted husband and father, faithful teacher of truth, and a trusted friend."

No article about Dr. Drullinger can be written without mentioning his helpmeet. Throughout their 36 year marriage, Mrs. Drullinger has supported Dr. Drullinger's ministry, and has contributed in her own way. During her recent bout with cancer, their realization of the fragility of life has increased their oneness. It has also strengthened the message of Ps. 73:28a. In context, some things will not matter, but other things will. As they begin their tenth year of service here in Cedarville, there is nowhere else they would rather be. "We thank God [literally] everyday for bringing us to Cedarville College."

Dr. Drullinger not only serves as a Bible professor at Cedarville college, but he also helps shepherd the Washington Heights Baptist Church (below).

Once Upon A Time

Homecoming Parade

This was a special weekend of seeing familiar faces and remembering the old times. "Once Upon a Time" was the theme for this year's Homecoming festivities; and what an appropriate theme it was.

Dr. Dixon started the weekend with The State of the College Address. In the Address, he talked about Cedarville's growth and plans for future development.

The music faculty presented The PRISM concert and reflected on how the Cedarville music department has grown in the many years since its establishment. The presentation, narrated by Dr. David Matson, related the musicians' "attempt to serve Jesus Christ with [their] talents." The brass choir opened the evening with "Fanfare for the Common Man." The Concert Chorale, Men's Glee Club, and Symphonic Band followed the brass choir's numbers. The Cedarville College Orchestra closed the evening with a patriotic "American Salute."

In addition to groups of student musicians, the faculty also contributed their musical gifts. DiCuirci, Dr. James Colman, Pagnard, Dr. John Mortensen, Dr. Charles Clevenger, and Mr. Mark Spencer displayed their marvelous talents.

The Saturday morning parade continued with the "Once Upon a Time" theme. As many people lined the streets, they saw floats representing castles, nursery rhymes, and even a more recent past, the hippie era. The afternoon's activities gave the alumni a chance to interact with one another and to reminisce about their memories at Cedarville. The graduates shared old memories and present students created new memories. Both the graduates and present students will carry these memories with them happily ever after.

Homecoming Court 1997

Homecoming is more than a time of reunions, parades, and canoe-racing engineers. It's a time for a queen and her court. This year, those leaders were Jodie Bathrick, Nursing; Jody Hovis, Music Performance; Alison Stone, Elementary Education; Angie Wenzel, Communications Arts; and the 1997 Homecoming queen, Brenda Dixon, Nursing. Although the personalities of these women are as diverse as their majors, they share a common creed: commitment to their Savior, Christ Jesus.

That commitment to Christ breeds an awareness of our weaknesses. Each woman works to bringing her share of weaknesses. However, God took the potential within these energetic girls and transformed them into the class of 1998's leading women. According to Inion, Cedarville's "somewhat unreal greenhouse environment" nurtured these saplings, providing an environment which "forced [them] to grow spiritually. An essential part of this growth was the feeding received through special speakers in chapel--"especially Dr. Dixon's Monday messages," said Bathrick.

Cedarville faculty and staff actively participated in nurturing the women as well. Family and friends, even while away from home, fostered growth.

In light of all that Cedarville has contributed to these women, they hope to leave behind valuable reminders. Inion encourages Cedarville to praise the LORD constantly, no matter what. Hovis challenges prayer as an indicator of reliance on God; simply yet deeply "praise Him for breaking you, teaching you and holding you; and rely on His strength and His wisdom." Integrity is very important to Stone because of the lack of it in contemporary society; do "what's right, no matter what the cost." Bathrick exemplifies the conviction that "we should be modeling Christ-like faithfulness."

Through the years that God has pressed, molded, broken, and reformed, these women have come to know that "the Lord will guide you always; He will satisfy your needs in a sun-scorched land and will strengthen your frame" (Is. 58:11).

judged separately. Maddox 8's time machine and Lawlor 14's haunted house were the unit winners, and Willetts New York City Christmas and McChesney's Sherwood Forrest were the hall winners.

For the first time, Open House was split into two nights to allow Dr. Dixon and all the students to visit more units and halls. Dr. Dixon said he enjoys making it to every student's room, and that he "look[s] forward to the open houses every year. It is a great time to be with the students in their 'home away from home.' The atmosphere reminds me of why I remain excited about being a part of Cedarville College."

Focusing on Desire and Discipline

Fiveland

Jason Maloney was this year's SGA chaplain. He challenged the student body to become more Christlike through his messages on desire and discipline. (above)

Entering the chapel on many Fridays, the sound of music filled students' ears. Before long, the lights dimmed as Jason Maloney and Matt Rexford took the stage. Within seconds, they had us laughing even as they gave the announcements. The band led singing, encouraging students to praise God without reserve. The music relieved the stress of the week as our minds sought to worship God. The Top Ten List was always original and left many laughing so hard they cried, wondering where Jason and Matt came up with the ideas. One of their greatest moments came during the singing of "This is the Winter Quarter," a parody of Stephen Curtis Chapman's "The Great Adventure." Eventually, the mood became more serious as Jason shared some thoughts and convictions, usually starting with a personal example.

Jason's goal was to increase awareness of the need to become more like Jesus Christ. His focus was on desire and discipline, as he challenged students never to settle for where they are in their Christian walk—waiting for God to drop another tragedy into our lives. Jason encouraged us to put on the armor of God, remembering that the reason there is not armor on our knees is because we should be on them.

The SGA chapels brought a great mix of fun and insight, focused on our growing relationship with God.

Festival of Friendships

Getting Started 1997

Eight hundred and thirty of Cedarville's newest students experienced Getting Started '97's "Festival of Friendships." Getting Started provided Cedarville's largest class of incoming students with the opportunity to meet new friends and get acclimated to college life.

Small groups served as an integral part of the process. The 641 freshmen were divided into 56 small groups, and the 121 transfers formed their own small groups. Each group of ten to twelve students had two or three upper-classmen leaders.

Friday morning new students began to arrive for housing registration and a day packed with orientation activities. The Getting Started staff and RAs assisted students as they moved into their residence halls.

That evening, the Athletic Center housed the annual Early Arrival Party. Orientation events continued on Saturday. "Calling Home," a drama depicting the changing parent/child relationship was a highlight. The traditional "New Student Picture" was shot from the top of the Centennial Library Saturday night.

The Getting Started Program followed, kicking off in the Dixon Ministry Center. New students met their small groups and then headed over to the Athletic Center for games. Sunday was a day of worship with Morning Worship in the DMC and an evening praise time with John G. Elliot.

When the Fall Bible Conference started on Monday morning, everyone had met new friends, settled into their dorms, and had a taste of what their time at the 'Ville would be like--busy.

Guest Artists Perform at the 'Ville

The year began with a special visit from GLAD during Homecoming weekend. This group of men sang both traditional hymns and popular contemporary Christian songs for an evening the audience would remember. The goal of their concert was that everyone involved would get a glimpse of Christ, and the college family experienced true worship at the concert.

After the Royalty Banquet for the Homecoming Court in October, the college family benefitted from the musical talents of Michael W. Smith.

In November, Wes King, Sarah Hart, and Scott Kripayne brought a concert to the Dixon Ministry Center from their

"Room Full of Stories" tour. King began the concert with "I Believe," a song that made him popular among Christian music lovers and Hart and Kripayne performed a couple of their fresh, new songs. Students, faculty, and friends of the college family stood, clapped, and sang along as King and his fellow artists lifted up praise to the Lord.

Cedarville was also blessed with the ministry of Steve Green during the Fall Quarter.

When the winter quarter began in January, students were awaiting the Point of Grace concert scheduled for the first Friday night of the quarter. Although the concert had a rough start due to technological and sound difficulties, it culminated a glorious ending with a blending of voices from both the audience and the artists in the familiar song "Circle of Friends." Throughout the concert, Point of Grace made evident that all the glory goes to God.

Steve Camp visited Cedarville in February to give a concert and speak in chapel. During his concert, Camp accompanied himself at the piano and presented songs from his latest project, Mercy in the Wilderness. Cedarville's Jubilate choir joined him on seven different numbers including "The Beauty of Holiness" and "We Stand In Grace." At the end of his concert, Camp challenged his audience to be more like Christ—perfectly righteous.

Lil Sibs at the 'Ville

A Family Gathering

*H*undreds of kids and teenagers invaded Cedarville February 13-15 for Li'l Sibs Weekend. This weekend provided siblings with the opportunity to explore our world. Boys followed their older brother's lead around campus, and girls mirrored their older sister's relations with people. Siblings, cousins, and younger friends alike absorbed the atmosphere of Cedarville College.

Li'l Sibs Weekend offered several opportunities for visitors to see their college sibs in action. The weekend exploded with the Winter Games in the AC. Coordinated by CAB, students and visitors had a variety of events in which to compete. Pitching contests, mountain climbing, velcro-suit obstacle challenge and a bungi run. In between contests, sibs had personal caricatures drawn or participated in karoki. Siblings used these games as warm-up for late night activities. This year, late night skate and late night bowling were highlights at the midnight hour. In addition to these activities, the Lab Band presented a free concert in the Jeremiah chapel to accommodate those jazz loving visitors, or those without energy for the Games.

A baseball card show was held Saturday afternoon. Then Saturday evening, Cedarville Jackets were the highlight. Next generation Cedarville fans grooved with the pep band and cheered on the players with "we back the Jackets all the way!" After the game, students and sibs moved up to the Second Floor for ADO/DOE's annual Cupid's Bash.

Helping kids with their trays at Chuck's, being cautious on sidewalks when rushing to class, and enthralling them with dorm life is a welcomed treat for Cedarville students.

Career Links

Recruiting for Jobs, Internships, and Graduate Studies

Every quarter the Career Services Office invites businesses, colleges, and various other employers to come to Cedarville's Career Link Days to recruit college students for jobs, internships, or graduate studies. These days make employers more accessible to students and give employers a chance to recruit some of their best future employees.

Career Services had a great turnout at the Business and Communications Career Link Day. Twenty-eight companies visited the college to recruit fresh talent on this day. Students attended the job fair and spoke to representatives of companies such as AirTouch Cellular, Aerotek, State Farm Insurance Companies, Mycom, and Sherwin-Williams Company.

Career Services also held a Career Link Day featuring seminaries and graduate schools from many states. The seminars and post-graduate institutions set up their display booths inside the Dixon Ministry Center. Baptist Bible Seminary, Masters Theological Seminary, Trinity Seminary, Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary, Biblical Theological Seminary, and Columbia Biblical Seminary all attended the conference to interview prospective students.

Career Services hosted a Career Links day for Engineering, Science, and Math in the Engineering, Nursing, and Science Building. This event brought representatives from the U.S. Navy, Lucent Technologies, Beta Laser Mike, Lincoln Electronics, Prince Corporation, Ohio Electronic Engraving, and others to campus.

In January, Career Services hosted Social Services Day. Among the organizations present were Shepherds Home, Te Ranch, Lifeway for Youth and Toward Independence. Students had the opportunity to interact with employers they normally might not have been able to meet.

Career Services also brought in career recruiters, Christian Schools, healthcare organizations, and international businesses to career days throughout 1998.

Although Career Days are primarily activity for seniors, many juniors participated in the events. This demonstrates the initiative and drive that characterizes Cedarville students

Charter Day 1998

Cedarville's 101st Birthday

*O*n January 26, 1998, Cedarville College celebrated its 101st birthday since the building of Founder's Hall in 1897. Symphonic Band and Jubilate helped to lead the festivities during the Charter Day chapel through special music. Symphonic band played a rousing rendition of Cedarville's alma mater.

The guest chapel speaker was Dr. Timothy George, senior editor for Christianity Today. Dr. George gave an inspirational message on faith and assurance of salvation. He told of Martin Luther's search for a gracious God and his journey to find the Lord and have an intimate relationship with Him. His last words were, "The body they may kill, the Kingdom abideth still." This promise was especially important on Charter Day as we examined the past, present, and future of Cedarville College.

Some have said that there are three ingredients for Cedarville's success: a strong constituency, strong leadership, and strong community support. The College has been richly blessed because of its foundation and God-honoring priorities of devotion to Christ, an academically strong, God-honoring education, and service to the community. From two graduates in 1898 to 410 in 1997, God's blessings of growth and strong leadership are extremely evident. Our past presidents have left a legacy of dedication to God and a desire for college growth, and this legacy is being carried on by our current president, Dr. Dixon. If we continue to look to our Savior and our godly heritage for guidance, the 21st century will also be marked by a superb quality of education and a never-ending devotion to Jesus Christ our Lord.

Memorial Day Service

Cedarville Salutes Chaplains

Memorial Day is the day we remember those that have fought for our country in WWI, WWII, Vietnam, Korea, Persian Gulf, and Bosnia. This year Cedarville College chose to remember a special division of the armed forces that does not usually get much recognition, and that was the Chaplains of the Armed Forces. As the college recognized Louis Zamparini and all those who have fought or served in the Armed Forces, we were also reminded of the role chaplains have in the service. Dr. David Robey wrote a dramatic performance of the story of the four chaplains who gave their lives and helped maintain order as their ship was sinking. After the dramatic performance, the symphonic band under the direction of Mr. Michele Di Cuirci played a piece based on that story called "The Light Eternal" which portrayed through music the celebration of life, the sinking of the ship, and the faith of chaplains.

Parents Weekend

Parents Weekend 1998

The smell of fresh cut grass, the decorative floral arrangements, and the mobs of parents again signals to the student body that parent's weekend has arrived. Many parents came to the chapel service Friday to witness their sons and daughters receive awards in the Honors Day chapel. Others streamed in from all over the country to visit with their students and share in their Cedarville experience.

Many students panic at the thought of entertaining their family for a weekend, but the college provided a plethora of activities and concerts for families to enjoy. The spring play, The Heiress, ran for its second week while the old radio show On the Air, ran at the historic Opera House. In-between shows, parents and students could enjoy complimentary hot dogs, sandwiches, and horse-drawn carriage rides. The weekend concerts were again the Pops Concert, featuring the Symphonic Band, Chorale, Men's Glee Club, Brass Choir, and Lab Band. Dick and Mel Tunney provided the entertainment for the Saturday night Artist

Series. Unfortunately, the fire alarm added a bit of extra percussion to the performance, yet the audiences still enjoyed the music and ministry of the Tunneys.

Although showers filled the weekend, periods of sunshine persisted, which gave parents an accurate perception of Cedarville's weather. Parents' weekend provides a unique opportunity for students to share with their families the professors, classes, and friends they have at Cedarville and the work Christ is doing in each of us.

Grandparents Day

Grandparents Day 1997

On Friday, November 14th, six hundred grandparents filed into the chapel for the tenth annual Grandparents Day chapel. Grandparents day is a celebration of families, and many generations of families were able to come together at Cedarville and enjoy fellowship with each other this year.

The Friday morning chapel hour was solely dedicated to the grandparents. During chapel, each grandparent received a message or a boutonniere from their respective grandchild. The Campus Activities Office helped hand out the flowers. Performing on stage that morning were the Symphonic Band, the Concert Chorale, and the Lifeline Players. A video aired on the big screen with students talking about what grandparents meant in their lives and why they were important. Senior communication arts major Alissa Whitten and junior finance and accounting major Matt Hamer emceed the events.

Included in the chapel hour were special giveaways called "Get to Know the Grandparents," and the members of Campus Activities helped out by running up and down the stairs with the roving microphone. Some of the categories were the grandparent that traveled the furthest, the oldest, the youngest, the grandparents with the most grandchildren, and the grandparents who had been married the longest. The results were surprising. Many grandparents have celebrated the golden anniversary, and one set had been married for 62 years. One set of grandparents was very proud of their 23 grandchildren.

During their stay, each grandparent received a free lunch pass for a meal on Friday, a coupon for the bookstore, and an invitation to a reception held by Dr. and Mrs. Dixon in the Dixon Ministry Center Friday afternoon. Both Dr. Dixon and Mrs. Dixon greeted them as they arrived to this reception. Many grandparents also attended the play, Marvin's Room, during the weekend and an exciting basketball game on Saturday night.

No doubt, all of the grandparents felt very honored to be recognized, and they enjoyed spending time with their grandchildren.

*M*r. Spencer is probably best remembered by his students for calling them, "My dear ones." His longevity at this college and his ministry in the English Department allows him to do what he believed the Lord called him to do, and that is teach.

Mr. Spencer received his undergraduate training at Ashland College in Ashland, OH, and received his theology degree at Faith Theological Seminary in Wilmington, DE. He completed his Master of Arts at the University of Dayton and did

Ph.D work at Bowling Green University. During his years here, he has served as department chair, yearbook advisor, advisor for Delta Chi (when it was a literary organization) and is now on the tenure, student life, educational policies and department chair committees, and is the coordinator for freshman composition.

Through his teaching, he seeks to reproduce in student's lives things that are an important part of him, not just impart information. He tries to relate to students that people are the most important part of life.

Academic Honors Day Chapel

by Ruthanne Pierson

Every year the faculty, administration, students, and parents gather to honor those students who have achieved academic excellence throughout their college career. The annual chapel always falls on the Friday of Parents Weekend so parents can also participate in the ceremonies and honors given to the achieving students. The Alumni Association awards an annual scholarship to a student from every discipline. Additional awards and scholarships are given based on grades, extracurricular activities, leadership, and Christian service.

Companies and organizations also recognize students who have displayed propensity and achievement in vested fields. Such individuals included Andrew Litteral, a junior mechanical engineering major, whom the American Society of Mechanical Engineers selected to receive one of two scholarships in the United States and Canada.

Additional award categories included the Cedarville College Christian Ministries Award given to Tiffany Hamilton and Josh Halulko. The Ruby Jeremiah Scholarship, awarded to a married student involved in Christian ministry and academic involvement, was given to Virginia Opperman McDole.

Not only does the college recognize outstanding students, but the faculty and staff of the year are also awarded during this chapel. The 1998 staff of the year was Leigh Hunt, Director of New Construction, while the faculty of the year award was given to Mrs. Deborah Haffey, Associate Professor of Communications. Although Cedarville has numerous students and faculty who have achieved academic excellence, this chapel honors just a few who have set a standard of discipline and continue to challenge their peers and themselves.

Communications Associate Professor Deborah Haffey

Huck

One of the greatest honors a professor can receive is when the students recognize his or her dedication and excellence in the classroom. Cedarville is committed to a standard of quality education not only for students, but also its faculty. Thus, the faculty member of the year award, voted on by the students and college administration, is probably one of the greatest achievements any professor can obtain. In 1998, the students selected Mrs. Deborah Haffey, Associate Professor of Communication, to receive the 1998 Faculty of the Year Award.

Mrs. Haffey, a '68 Cedarville graduate, continued with her Master's in Speech Communication at The Ohio State University, finishing her degree just one year later. For two years, she taught high school and then came back to Cedarville and taught adjunctly from 1974 to 1985. Shortly thereafter, she became a full-time faculty member in 1987. She is currently pursuing her Ph.D. in Speech Communication at The Ohio State University as well as teaching full-time at the college. Not only is Mrs. Haffey a dedicated professor, but she also coaches the college debate team, an additional challenge she began in 1987 and presently directs today. Her family is also active in the college as her husband, David Haffey, serves as a legal consultant for the college and all three of her children have or currently attend the college.

Mrs. Haffey began a hesitant return to Cedarville when her husband relocated to the area due to work. Yet, she has found it to be an interesting and fulfilling decision. She continues to teach at Cedarville, because, "First, the students are so motivated and bright, above the national average." Her second reason links back to Aristotle, the father of rhetoric. She explains, "Aristotle would only teach a student rhetoric who had a well-developed moral character—he wouldn't give such a powerful tool to a person who didn't have a sense of ethics."

When asked why she has stayed with the field of Speech Communication she reasons that rhetoric is an exemplar of the liberal arts. She reasons, "The field demands that one must know about many things and people in order to communicate—I am never bored."

In addition to this award, some of Mrs. Haffey's professional highlights have been gaining tenure, working with the Honors Program, and participating in the faculty integration program headed by Dr. Estes. Her personal highlights, she humbly replies are, "going to the classroom." She loves teaching.

Mrs. Haffey's students have been supportive and mindful of her family commitments throughout her years of teaching. She recalls their graciousness and understanding of her flex-time. She also describes them as being honest, lovingly confronting when necessary, and spiritually challenging.

When asked what kind of legacy she would like to leave, she candidly answered, "For a student to come and take my place and do a better job." She also shared, "I want to give to students a holistic experience, to live life wholly with the ability to bring everything together, not just a good life spiritually, but a complete life and a good sense of the work around us. I want them to critique it, analyze it and capitalize on it, informed of what we know of God." As her students will testify, she is steadily working toward that goal.

Director of New Construction Leigh Hunt

Students, faculty, staff and visitors often take the buildings on campus for granted. But for Mr. Leigh Hunt, these buildings represent his work as Director of New Construction. Hunt helps plan the new buildings, coordinate with the administration and contractors, architects, and workers, inspect the work being done, and pay the bills. In his fifteen years at Cedarville, he has helped with the building of the Centennial Library, the renovation of the Business Administration building, the building of Alford Annex, Brock, the Willetts wings, the Three M Dorm, the Dixon Ministry Center. Currently, he is working on the renovation of Cedar Hall to the future Technology Center and plans for a Student Union.

Huck

Hunt started his education at the Baptist Bible College of Cleveland. In his senior year, the Baptist Bible College became Cedarville College and he was in the first class of Cedarville graduates. After his schooling, he stayed in the area and started construction work. When there was an opening at Cedarville in the physical plant department, he applied and has been here ever since.

His ministry is not only in his position as Director of New Construction, but in befriending students and inviting them to his house. He and his wife love getting to know students, and keep close contact with many of them though the years.

Mr. Hunt has enjoyed his years at Cedarville. He likes working with the staff and the administration and does not see his work as a job, but a ministry where the Lord has placed him. Hunt, given the opportunity to leave words of wisdom, said, "I encourage people to appreciate what we have at Cedarville—students, faculty and staff alike."

A freshman meets a lot of new people his or her first year, but an important and memorable person to every freshman is the class advisor. The class of 1998 will remember Kirsten Gibbs as their hard-working and dedicated class advisor. Kirsten, a 1993 graduate of Cedarville College, has served as the Resident director of Faith Hall and currently Willetts Hall. Besides her many duties connected to student life, Kirsten meets with the class officers to aid and facilitate with every class activity, chapel, and special event. From putting floats together, to organizing class chapels, Kirsten has helped this class develop a heart of service and an attitude of worship. Kirsten's two brothers are also Cedarville graduates while her father directs career services and her mother works in the campus activities office. Kirsten's leadership, humor, and dedication has definitely molded and directed the class of 1998 in their journey through Cedarville College.

by Ruthanne Pierson

September 17, 1994, marked the warm fall day when 658 freshmen stepped onto the green grass of Cedarville College, no longer high schoolers, yet barely college students. The day began as students pulled up to the Athletic Center in mini vans carrying all their worldly belongings. They were immediately marauded by a bee and given a balloon. It was then that their fun really began—they stood in lines. Lines would continue to mark their college experience, but every line they must have a starting point. In these early lines and in Getting Started groups, friendships formed as they desperately tried to remember the myriad of names, faces, majors, hometowns, and abbreviations of buildings.

At their first fall Bible Conference, Warren Wiersbe spoke about “Abundant Living.” The freshmen quickly realized that if they wanted a seat on those harvest-gold pews, they would have to arrive early. Some were even sent to satellite locations where they watched chapel on the big screen.

Many were frustrated because they couldn’t drive, and quickly familiarized themselves with any upperclassmen who had wheels. After homecoming, many of the freshmen took their dates to Mom and Dad’s Dairy Bar for dessert—where could you go? Those early days were spent lounging by the tennis courts, which used to be by the lake. If you were looking for the action, that was found outside of Printy dorm. The unseasonably warm summer facilitated groups congregating on those famous Printy benches.

The class of 1998 has come a long way on their journey through their college experience, but the journey is not over. It’s only just begun.

Who's Who

chapel

An old adage states, "If you want something done, ask a busy person." Busy leaders are all over Cedarville campus and this year 54 of those busy seniors were honored to represent Cedarville's selection for "Who's Who Amongst American Colleges and Universities." The Who's Who committee, headed by counseling director Sandra Entner, selected these students based on GPA, campus involvement, and Christian character. This year's Who's Who selections represented students from almost every major with involvement in athletics, music, drama, Christian ministry, and a variety of organizations.

As the group met to plan their annual chapel presentation, Dean Rickard asked the 54 seniors, "If you could say one thing to the college campus, what would it be?" The group responded—"Simplify." As representatives of over-committed, planner-toting, sleep-deprived students, they chose to share their struggle for balance in the areas of involvement and investment. Senior Kirk LeBlanc chaired the committee that planned the chapel presentation.

The seniors chose to segment the chapel into three topics dealing with areas of resume building, self-esteem, and popularity. By spoofing overly busy students who were basically unable to simplify their lives, the group drove home the principle of true investment over involvement. Humorous commercials were laced throughout the chapel presentation and the program concluded with a video highlighting each of the students in their various activities. Seniors Laura Refior and Laura Foeldvari planned each of the segments, while Chris Vitarelli headed up the video commercials and humorous skits.

Ironically, videographer Shelly Stock had a difficult task tracking down each of these busy students who were unavailable due to overseas student teaching, internships, or just absent attending an endless array of meetings. Yet, the message and model of true humility came across loud and clear in the silence of the last scene—the cross.

Senior Recitalists

Music and Communication Arts Performances

For Senior music and communication arts majors, the year culminates as they present their senior recital. The recitals serve as a four-year climax of training at Cedarville. Some seniors were very creative this year with some performing very unique concerts.

Steve Weber, senior music major with an emphasis in keyboard pedagogy, invited his own piano students to the recital. After he played piano music from the baroque period to the present, featuring works from Bach, Mozart, Chopin and others, Weber taught the students who attended how to perform a selection of his featured works.

Rebecca Lakes, senior music performance and music education double major, performed an elegant flute and piccolo recital. She was accompanied by a guitarist and a pianist for the majority of her recital.

Jody Hovis, senior music performance major, presented a voice recital including art songs and romantic period vocal pieces. She also sang her own miniopera for this dramatic vocal concert.

Anson Hanbury, senior communication arts major, presented a speech recital featuring Jekyll & Hyde, an original compilation of material taken from the Robert Louis Stevenson short story, the play, and the Broadway musical, "Jekyll and Hyde."

Senior Chapel

Until the Day . . . Philippians 1:9, 10

A time of reflection and learning and humor, the Senior Chapel is one of the students' favorite chapels of the year. Recounting their last four years at Cedarville, this year's senior class presented a video, designed by Shelly Stock; several skits; and a number of personal testimonies. One of the personal testimonies was that of Christ Vitarelli. During his testimony, he attested of the Lord's leading and direction in his life. Vitarelli said that he, once a timid freshman who was afraid to sacrifice for Christ, is a senior who will someday look for a church in which to minister fulltime.

The senior class concluded their chapel with an original composition by Mark Warren, based on the class verses Philippians 1:9-10, entitled Until the Day. The class gathered together on stage as a collage of pictures from their past four years appeared on the big screens. At the end of the slide show, Mark Warren, Jody Hovis, Sarah Lightly, and Anson Hanebury lead the seniors in their class song.

"This is probably the best senior class we've ever had," Dr. Dixon said as he walked up to the stage at the end of the song. Looking around Dr. Dixon began to cry and then lead the student body in prayer for the seniors, who would leave Cedarville to become salt and light in this contemporary culture—more so than they have ever been before. The senior chapel was a true reminder of the journey the seniors have made together as well as the journey that lies ahead of them.

Senior Reception at the Dixon's

*W*ith the grass freshly cut and dandelion free, the Dixon's welcomed the graduating senior class of 1998 to their home. Shifts of vans shuttled the seniors to the Dixon's home where they had the opportunity to visit with the Dr. and Mrs. Dixon, enjoy refreshments provided as always by Pioneer Food Service, and spend one last time saying good-bye to friends.

Students could mingle outside and enjoy the warm, humid afternoon, or peruse inside the Dixon's spacious house. For many, it was the first time in the president's home. Pictures were taken by the famous hammock, with Dr. and Mrs. Dixon, and with special friends. Mostly, it was a relaxing time to enjoy friends and say good-bye and thank to Dr. and Mrs. Dixon for all their leadership and investment in the lives of the seniors. As usual, Dr. and Mrs. Dixon were exceptional hosts and the students left one step closer to graduation.

Performing at the 1998 Cedarville College Junior/Senior, Avalon, the 1998 Dove New Artist of the Year, lead the students in worship and entertained the students as well.

tiful hotel lobby. The students continued to enjoy each others company as well as the refreshments until dinner was served at approximately 7:00 p.m.

Dinner started with a delicious caesar salad along with fresh baked rolls. The main course followed, consisting of sirloin of beef, accompanied by a baked potato, and a vegetable medley. The crowd then enjoyed an intermission to mingle and take more pictures before returning to enjoy a rich dessert of white chocolate mousse cake.

Shortly after dessert, the banquet committee was asked to stand, consisting of Becky Crosson, Heidi Jo Dean, Paul DiCuirici, Tim Walker, and chairperson, Meaghan Lemke. After due recognition was given, the evening reached its peak as the entertainment of the evening, Avalon, came onto the stage. The popular Christian singing group proceeded to lead the enthusiastic group through a perfect combination of their upbeat hits along with some of their more worshipful slow songs.

After the concert, a slide show was shown that captured some of the great moments the seniors of Cedarville College have spent together over the years. It was a time for all Cedarville students present to reminisce and realize just how special their time at Cedarville has been.

The banquet concluded with Avalon coming back to the stage and singing the theme song for the night, "Dreams I Dream For You." The song was a reminder to everyone present that the dreams and plans Christ Jesus has for His children are greater than the dreams they dream for themselves. It made for a beautiful ending to a beautiful evening.

On the evening of May 22, anyone driving through Cincinnati would have begun to notice college students dressed in formal wear walking the streets. Filled with excitement and anticipation, these students were making their way to the Regal Hotel to attend the Cedarville College Junior/Senior Banquet.

The buzz of excited conversation combined with the flash of cameras greeted everyone entering the beautiful

A Day at the Beach & a Cruise

Senior Day 1998

*W*hat do you get when you combine a day at the Beach, one of the top five water parks in the nation, and a three-hour riverboat cruise—a cruise with the beautiful Cincinnati skyline in view? Senior Day. The Saturday before graduation, seniors piled into their cars for a day of fun in the sun, and afterwards, dinner and an evening of reflecting on how far they have come their last four years. “It seems like yesterday that we crashed the Senior Day at the end of our freshman year. Now we’re here, and we’re the ones who are leaving,” senior Adam White, C.E. Youth and Marketing major said.

Along with reminiscing how far they had come, the seniors enjoyed cheering some of their friends on as they created new memories with a game of limbo. Andrew Cooper, C.I.S. major, planning to move to Connecticut for a full-time PC networking position, took first place in the limbo competition.

The riverboat cruise ended as the sun set, leaving both a beautiful Cincinnati skyline and beautiful memories for the seniors who participated in Senior Day.

G r a d u a t i o n 1 9 9 8

On June 6, 1998, Cedarville College conferred the associate's and bachelor's degree upon 534 members of its graduating senior class. The processional began as family, friends, and college family members proudly recognized the graduates filing into the packed James T. Jeremiah Chapel. Dr. Bill Rudd, chairman of the board of trustees, opened the ceremony in prayer; the choral and brass choir then filled the sanctuary with music and praise.

The president, Dr. Dixon, addressed the students and challenged them directly from their class verse, Philippians 1:9,10. His theme was "Excellence in Love" and he addressed three areas where the graduates could demonstrate this theme in their lives. The class song, written by graduating senior Mark Warren, "Until the Day" again reiterated the theme of loving Christ until the day of His glorious return.

Matt Murphy, the senior class president, presented Dr. Dixon with the senior class gift—a clock that will be displayed in the new Technology Learning Center. The clock commemorates the theme for the academic year—"Timeless Truth for Contemporary Culture." The clock is meant to serve as a reminder to students to live every hour for Christ, faithfully serving Him.

The highlight, the conferral of degrees, was concluded with the last graduating senior leading the class in the changing of the tassel. An honorary doctorate of divinity degree was also conferred to Pastor Eddie L. Hawkins, a prominent African American pastor in Cleveland. The Cedarville College Medal of Honor, presented by the board of trustees to distinguished servants and friends of the college who were sensitive to the vision and dedication to the advancing of the college, was presented to Gene and Betty Miller. Student academic achievement was also recognized as five graduating seniors, Heather Fourman, Erin Johns, Heidi Neumann, Laurie Weber, and Lisa Weber received scholastic recognition for achieving a cumulative grade point average of 4.0 all four years. The president's trophy award was also presented to Ruthanne Pierson and Jason Malone.

Kirsten Gibbs, the senior class advisor, led the senior class, parents, and college family in prayer for the graduates as the ceremony closed with the singing of the alma mater and chancellor James T. Jeremiah's benediction. The graduates left swelling with pride and filled with a sense of accomplishment, gratitude, and eagerness to embrace their culture for Christ and apply all that they have learned during their years at Cedarville College.

Student Government Association

by Jennifer West

For the Student Government Association, this was an eventful year characterized by change. Throughout the year, a team of four officers, various committees, and appointed class representatives, worked to fulfill all of their normal responsibilities while also restructuring the SGA.

Scott Van Loo, SGA president, was responsible for all the restructuring, as he directed the committee that prepared everything for next year. With the growth of the student body, it was time for a new system, and the changes that they made will guide the Student Government officers for years to come.

Angie Wenzel, SGA vice-president, was the woman in charge of homecoming. She also organized Hoopla '98, which was the kick-off for the new SGA, designed to take the appearance of a government party convention. Angie said that the purpose of the SGA is to get students to become involved in politics.

Dean Rickard was the advisor for the SGA, Jeff Beste a close assistant. Along with Scott and Angie, Christy Farris, Alissa Whitten, Scott Vandegrift, Tim Walker, Josh Amos, and Jeff Motter helped restructure SGA.

Jamie Dato, SGA treasurer, kept the soda machines and change machines filled. His role in the SGA was to take care of money issues. The SGA also helped campus organizations with funds and also awarded two scholarships.

Jason Malone led the SGA chapels, which took place on Friday mornings. As chaplain, it was his responsibility to address the student body. Throughout the year he addressed desire, discipline, getting back to basics, and the armor of God. Senior Matt Rexford helped him by integrating worship into the chapels.

Altogether, the SGA organized homecoming, the new SGA, and chapels, along with many other campus events. They ran the Special Olympics held at the college; they helped to promote cultural awareness throughout the year; and they led the efforts of Homeless Awareness Week. The SGA administrates every organization on campus, and they also organize elections for each class.

The people involved in the SGA this year did a fantastic job of offering support to the student body and reminding them why the SGA exists. They helped to get students involved, from homecoming to Hoopla. Hopefully their leadership will cause Cedarville students to make political activity part of their future.

Dr. Dixon sees the vision of the New SGA and encourages the student body to take part in Hoopla '98.

Jeremy Mix, Barry and Bernie Gorsuch, Matt Hamer, and Joel Shank show their support for '98-'99 SGA treasurer, Lance Harkleroad.

Campus Activities Board

by Ruthanne Pierson

This year twenty-one juniors and seniors comprised the Campus Activities Board. The Office of Campus Activities, headed by Dick Walker and his hard-working staff, selected these students the previous year based on campus involvement, service, student and faculty recommendations, and leadership. The tee-shirt laden students perform tasks ranging from pulling Li'l Sibs activities together, to handing out hot cocoa to students on the way to class during cold mornings. You might find them shoveling snow in front of community homes, picking up trash along highway 72, or helping guests find their seats at concerts. Whatever the task, their purpose is to serve and assist the Campus Activities office with any activities or special events.

The group arrived early on campus September 10th, and promptly departed on the "Possum" (a large overnight bus) for their annual "Trip." The "Trip," this year began with a lesson at the Annapolis Sailing School. After a few beginner basics, the group headed out to sea on the Chesapeake Bay to try out their newly discovered skills. From Annapolis, they road-biked to Washington D.C. and ended the two-day, 90-mile bike excursion in Leesburg, VA—tired and extremely sore. Cedarville graduate and Grand Rapids Seminary student, Jeff Burr ('93), led the group in a message series entitled "Seizing the Opportunities of the Storm." The purpose of the "Trip" is to develop team building and a sense of team unity, which is crucial to the success of any leadership team, early in the year.

Senior CAB member Charity Rizer explained, "The CAB provides the opportunity to serve and have a lot of fun doing it." Yet, fun is always tempered with the humility of service. Bible professor, Dr. Drullinger, shared with the team, in their weekly meetings, a series entitled, "The Sacred Order of the Towel," highlighting the servant aspects of leadership. Service in leadership is truly what CAB exemplifies.

Issues in Debate

The debate and forensic teams enjoyed successful seasons in 1997-98. The two intercollegiate speech teams competed against colleges across the nation. Team members spent hours each week researching and writing speeches, then sacrificing their weekends to travel to tournaments. While the rest of the campus goes out on Friday nights and sleeps late on Saturday mornings, these dedicated students traveled across the country, competing late into the night on Fridays and rising early on Saturdays.

Blackburn

Debaters prepared cases to address each semester's topic. This fall they debated the resolution, "Casino gambling is detrimental to U.S. society." The winter topic was "Resolved: that the United States should abolish the use of peer jurors." The debate teams placed among the top eight teams in each division and won top speaker awards at every tournament. They won the novice division at the Western Illinois University tournament, one novice team broke semifinals against open division debaters, and teams nearly swept a tournament at Anderson, taking second, third, and fourth places. They competed at the national debate tournament in Illinois during the 1998 Spring Break.

Forensics teams competed in several types of events, including public address, oral interpretation, limited preparation events, and Lincoln-Douglas debate. The season began early in the fall and culminates in the Ohio state novice and varsity tournaments. The novice team had the most successful state tournament ever, taking home 21 out of 63 total trophies. The varsity team placed second in individual events behind The Ohio State University.

Concert Chorale

Under the direction of Lyle Anderson, professor of music, the Concert Chorale experienced another year of ministering through song and enjoying fellowship together. Dr. Anderson has been a Cedarville professor since 1970, and has been the only director in this choir's history. Approximately ninety students made up the Concert Chorale this year. They sang in the Grandparent's Day chapel, in the annual praise chapel, at graduation, and in a special mini-concert in the recital hall along with the Men's Glee Club.

The chorale focused on ministry, and Dr. Anderson encouraged this by making prayer a priority and providing the group with ministry opportunities. Each year, the Concert Chorale has the opportunity to go on a small singing tour to spread the gospel. This Easter Break they were able to tour England, where they sang in small and large churches, and they also performed a few impromptu concerts. Although ministry was the first priority of the trip, the chorale also had the opportunity to see London and Oxford.

Lab Band

On several occasions this year, the Cedarville College Lab Band dazzled audiences through jazzy tunes, swing, and pop music. Playing classic melodies from various decades, the 22-member group displayed its diversity by selecting tunes from the swing of the 1920s to the pop of the 1990s. Their repertoire includes songs such as "Midnight Passage," "Soon and Very Soon," "Caravan," "Bugle Boogie Blues," and many other favorites. The Lab Band kept a very active concert schedule this year. They presented several great concerts to the Cedarville family and surrounding communities, including a swing concert at the opera house featuring guest soloist Jody Hovis. Another exciting concert by the lab band was held during Lil' Sibbs weekend.

The Lab Band has been together for nine years, sharing their musical abilities with thousands. Mr. DiCuirci, the band's director, commented that this group is "highly committed and talented." He added, "this year has been a banner year for the band."

Women's Choir

*W*omen's Choir is one of Cedarville's unique ministries. Under the direction of first-year faculty Mrs. Beth Porter, the Women's Choir provides a singing opportunity for women who are looking for a musical outlet. The Choir is open to any female student who is interested, and it requires an audition. The repertoire ranges from classical sacred music to popular Broadway tunes.

This year, the group has performed at the Winter Showcase concert, Chapel, and several local churches. Porter has enjoyed working with this group because she, "loves working with individual voices and making them sound like a solid group. It is so fun for me to share my musical wants and desires with the girls, have them respond and make music together."

Men's Glee Club

The Men's Glee Club was established in 1992 by Dr. Lyle Anderson and "exists to provide meaningful, enjoyable musical experiences for men as they sing God-honoring sacred and secular music." Men's Glee Clubs have existed for over 100 years in many different colleges and universities. They started out with male voices singing sentimental songs known as "glees" and have now diversified their repertoire from classical to contemporary popular music. Cedarville's Glee club consists of men from all majors and academic classes. This year, the 50-member group has been able to minister in chapel, in the annual POP's concert, on their tour to Alabama, and singing the National Anthem for the Dayton Bombers hockey team and the Columbus Crew's soccer team.

Anderson says, "My role as the Men's Glee Club director has been very gratifying because of the high caliber of young men who constitute the group. Coming from many academic majors, the members manifest a 'one-for-all, all-for-one' attitude spiritually, musically, and socially."

Symphonic Band

The Symphonic Band had another very successful year. The band played at a variety of different concerts, ranging from the Homecoming Concert to the Newt Gingrich Rally. They also participated in a Brass Conference, a Pops Concert, the Winter Enrichment Conference, and the Music Showcase Concert.

Michael DiCuirci, professor of music, leads the Symphonic Band. DiCuirci has led many other excellent bands at Cedarville. "This has been a great band to work with. I sense a professional spirit coupled with a lot of talent. This version of the Symphonic Band reads quite well, and to date, their concerts have been fabulous," according to DiCuirci.

The future of the Cedarville Symphonic Band looks quite bright. DiCuirci's goals for the band are "more great concerts, guest artists, and even a better product into the 21st century."

Brass Choir

They met twice a week to practice everything from classical to contemporary music in order to perform in chapels and special concerts throughout the year. Their concert schedule included three major performances in the Homecoming Praise concert, the annual Brass Players Conference, and Music Showcase.

The Brass Choir was made up of a talented group of students who had to audition to be involved, and went through a very selective process. Nineteen students were able to display and develop their talents this year on french horn, trumpet, trombone, baritone, tuba, and percussion.

Brass Choir was a great opportunity for the instrumentalists. The music was more intense than symphonic band music, and the small number of people allowed them to learn to work well together and to receive one-on-one instruction with their director, Mr. Charles Pagnard.

Mr. Pagnard is the principle trumpet player for the Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra, so his professional experience added even more to the one-on-one instruction he gave the players.

A CEDARVILLE COLLEGE STUDENT PUBLICATION

Pressure...Deadlines...Latenights...Early mornings...CEDARS. These are just some of the byproducts involved with journalism. The Cedars editorial staff is all too familiar with these and more like them. Senior news editor, Joy Wickholm said, "Cedars really taught me to be flexible and ingenious with my time - especially when you work from three in the afternoon until three in the morning a few nights in a row." Cedars is a biweekly publication and every other week its staff spends all afternoon and most of the night editing stories, cutting headlines, and doing other related tasks to have the paper ready for the printers by Thursday morning.

Cedars is the only Cedarville College news source of its kind, printing everything from past campus events to fashion columns. Within the confines of a single issue one can find music reviews, the latest Yellow Jacket Sports scores, and even information on where to take a date.

The editorial staff consists of the four people with the addition of a business manager and photographer. These four have individual responsibilities for each issue, but they work in conjunction to bring the final product together the week the paper is issued. Cedars utilizes a larger base of anywhere from 10-15 writers to follow stories and submit them as assigned.

The Cedars base of operations is located as high as one can go in the old Fine Arts Building in a tiny, but cozy attic office that becomes the sight of the biweekly, late-night ritual. The cramped quarters and stressful catastrophes have brought the staff together in a unique way. Wickholm concluded, "We've had a great time getting to know one and another while under the influence of caffeine and sugar, and while enduring power outages and ice storms. These are lasting friends and I will miss them."

Marvin's Room

F a l l P l a y 1 9 9 7

The Department of Communication Arts and Director David H. Robey presented Scott McPherson's play, Marvin's Room, on November 13-15, 1997, in Alford Auditorium. The theme of the play was hope in the midst of despair.

Marvin's Room gave us a realistic account of one family's struggle through a terminal illness. The play took place in various locations of Florida and Ohio in the 1980's. Featured in the play are Bessie and Lee, two sisters who have not seen or heard from one another for quite some time. Bessie is a single woman who has spent the past 20 years caring for her dying father, Marvin, and her crippled Aunt Ruth. Lee is a single parent with two troubled sons.

The crisis began when a doctor diagnosed Bessie with leukemia. Because she needed a bone marrow transplant, her sister and nephews had their bone marrow tested. The situation caused the family to grow closer in hope that one of their bone marrow types would match Bessie's. In the end, they found that nothing matched. Despite Bessie's circumstances, she remained content with her life.

The play presented the many obstacles this family had to overcome after Bessie's diagnosis, as well as the lifestyle contrasts between the two sisters. Love and selflessness contributed to Bessie's happiness throughout her life while Lee's selfishness destroyed many of her years.

Marvin's Room also aroused emotions; tears were intertwined with laughter. It was a play that showed some of the harder issues of life: parenting, aging, and the reality of death.

Crossing Delancey

W i n t e r P l a y 1 9 9 8

Jusan Sandler's Crossing Delancey, a play dealing with conflicts between modern love and traditional ways, was just in time for Valentine's Day and Li'l Sibs weekend. Under the direction of Mrs. Michelle McIntosh, an adjunct professor of communication arts, the cast and crew of Crossing Delancey spent between 10 and 12 hours a week preparing for 4 performances.

Senior speech education and communications major Sara Romang, the stage manager, explained the basic story line of the play. She said, "Izzy, a bookish dreamer, must choose to be loved or be in love. In choosing one, she can have both, but her fear of tradition and the old ways of her beloved Bubbie (her grandmother) cause her to be hesitant. In reality, it is her Bubbie's conception of love that is the truest, as demonstrated when she fondly reminisces about her husband, "When someone wanted me so much he was ready to make a fool of himself, it was easy to see he would be good to me." The play had a definite Yiddish flavor to it—all but one of the characters are Jewish. One of these characters, Sam

Posner, marked the end of senior Chris Vitarelli's seven role career at Cedarville.

McIntosh chose Crossing Delancey as the winter play because she likes the story and the characters. She enjoys directing because it enables her to work closely with students and be creative. In the past, McIntosh has directed Cedarville productions including The Diary of Anne Frank (1994) and A Christmas Carol (1995). Her most recent project was directing The Best Christmas Pageant Ever over the holidays. In addition to earning a Master of Arts in Dramatic Productions and directing high school and college plays since 1977, McIntosh acted with a traveling Christian drama group.

The Heiress

Spring Play 1998

The spring play, The Heiress, under the direction of Mr. Gary W. Barker, Associate Professor of Communications Arts, graced the stage of Cedarville College for two weeks. This moving and intriguing tale of love, control, and power presented a technical challenge for the nine cast members.

The Heiress is based on Henry James' novel Washington Square (recently made into a film of the same name), and adapted by Ruth and Augusta Goetz. This play was last produced on Broadway in 1995, to huge critical acclaim. Set in mid-1800 New York City, The Heiress tells the story of Catherine Sloper (Joanna Robinson). Catherine is a shy and plain young woman who falls desperately in love with a delightful young fortune hunter (Jeremy Brown). Catherine's father (Brenon Christofer), a successful doctor,

disapproves of the match and forbids their marriage. Catherine must decide whether she will allow her father to rule her, or follow her heart into marriage with a man who may not be worthy of her love.

Cast member Kelsey Perkins recalled that she found the play challenging, requiring audience members to stick with the plot. Perkins explained, "The play does not give a neatly wrapped ending yet I think it caused a lot of people to think about issues and relationships in their lives." Junior Jeremy Brown concluded that this was one of his most challenging roles. His past characters have required more physical acting and exterior emphasis, while the character of Morris Townsend concentrated on internalization of text and meaning.

Overall, the play received a generous turnout. The story evoked many emotions yet successfully delivered a meaningful message wrapped in artistic talent and ability.

Exceptional talent. Beautiful music. Incredible variety.

Jeffrey Siegel, a world-renowned classical pianist, came to Cedarville in November. His concert combined a lighthearted sound and an educational flavor. Siegel calls his concerts "Keyboard Conversations," because he interacts with his audience and explains each piece in order to enhance their musical experience.

Cedarville also benefitted from the presence of Christopher Parkening, one of the premier guitarists of his time. Baritone Jubilant Sykes, a critically acclaimed soloist of the Metropolitan opera, shared the stage with Parkening in the Dixon Ministry Center on January 22, 1998. Sykes performed two medleys, the first consisting of three Spanish folk songs and the second containing three Negro spirituals. Both medleys were arranged by composer Patrick Russ. Sykes's virtuosity, flexibility in range, and stage presence combined beautifully to impress the audience. He and Parkening, both Christians, blessed the College family with this opportunity to listen as they performed to the glory of God.

Cultural Awareness

C u l t u r a l F e s t 1 9 9 8

Many Cedarville students come from small towns and have little intercultural experience. Known to some as "The Bubble", Cedarville would insulate students even further against cultural awareness if it were not for the cultural organizations that have been started around campus. These organizations are Beta Rho Delta, Iota Chi Phi, Mu Kappa, and the Spanish Club.

In some way, all of these organizations promote cultural awareness here at Cedarville. Beta Rho Delta (the German Club) focuses on the German culture. The Spanish Club helps make students aware of Spanish cultures. Iota Chi Phi promotes general cultural awareness. Finally, Mu Kappa focuses on serving the needs of international students and missionary kids (MKs).

Most Cedarville students know at least one other student who was raised as an MK. One of these MKs is Ben Nordaas, a senior elementary education major. Nordaas was raised on the mission field in Brazil. Preparing to come to Cedarville, he attended an MK school. After living in Brazil most of his life, Nordaas said, "I thoroughly enjoyed it. I call Brazil my home - after 17 years of the same place, I think anyone would. It wasn't all too dissimilar to [the United States] with some exceptions of the culture, but mostly the language. I know English well enough but enjoy speaking Portuguese, too." Nordaas continued to say that many Cedarville students have at least some interest in cultural awareness, whether it is the desire to hear stories about the mission field or the pursuit of learning about other cultures.

Cedarville's cultural organizations seek to address the needs of international students and MKs, as well as students who seek to learn more about other cultures. We are fortunate to have organizations such as these to bring a new perspective to the Cedarville bubble.

Mark Matthews directed the Intramural Sports program this year through the Campus Activities Office. He encouraged good sportsmanship and enjoyment for all students, faculty, and staff who participate in sports teams because God has called us to "do all to the glory of God," even when we play and recreate. In most sports, teams compete for the champion award and the sportsmanship award and win prizes in each category.

This year, several new sports were added to offer even more variety. Along with wallyball, racquetball, volleyball, softball, basketball, flag football, soccer, sand volleyball, tennis, and ski trips, the college family could participate in orienteering, group exercise classes, the class clash, and the home run derby.

A very popular event, orienteering was a great opportunity for recreation which combined navigational skills with speed and agility. The goal was to complete a designated course as quickly as possible. Two orienteering events were held for the college family this year, both on campus and at Possum Creek Reserve in Dayton.

Standing in the Gap

On October 4, 1997, hundreds of thousands of men met on the Mall in Washington D.C. to worship, pray, and confess their sins before the Lord. Several men from Cedarville were among the many Promise Keepers gathered at the capital to stand in the Gap between God and their nation.

The foundations of the organization are "The Seven Promises of a Promise Keeper." These statements affirm a man's commitment to Christ, God's Word, purity, marriage and family, local churches, racial and denominational reconciliation, and the Great Commission. At the conferences, most of which are two-day affairs, men focus on these commitments through song, testimony, confession, and prayer. In 1997 alone, the organization hosted events in 19 different cities.

At each of the 1997 conferences, men were challenged to consider making a pilgrimage to the United States capital, not for the purpose of making a political statement, but rather to make a spiritual confession. These men came from around the continent, and Ohio men were no exception. On Friday afternoon, Oct. 3rd, Interstate 70 was jammed with vehicles streaming to D.C.

The stage sat in front of the Capitol, facing the Washington Monument. Men filled the entire Mall past the obelisk to the Reflecting Pool. An estimated 25,000 men spilled over onto the Ellipse in front of the White House. Twelve Sony Jumbo-Trons and speakers were positioned in the crowds so that those standing blocks away could see and hear what was happening on stage.

Dr. David Warren, was one of several faculty members who attended Stand in the Gap. "My initial reaction was to be blown away by the volume of people.

It was an exhilarating feeling to be there with all these men who love the Lord.

There was an instant sense of camaraderie, closeness, and friendship," he said.

The first segment began when a speaker asked the men to acknowledge God. From the start of the six-hour assembly, it was evident that God had brought these men together. The speakers' names were intentionally not announced. All those who spoke to the crowd were dressed alike. Besides McCartney, the most recognizable speakers were veterans of Cedarville Bible Conferences. Joe Stowell's message early in the conference challenged those gathered to consider their personal sanctification.

Tony Evans took the platform later in the day, during a segment that focused on reconciliation. "Tony Evans spoke on male leadership in the family," said senior Bible major Jason Malone. "He said that Promise Keepers weren't a threat to all the women who were upset, but that the husband had to be a helpmate to his wife." Malone said he saw a few of those women protesting at the rally but considered their presence insignificant when compared to the overall experience attending Standing in the Gap.

Sophomore communications major Michael Dorsey said that Stand in the Gap was the fifth Promise Keepers event he and his father have been able to attend together. Each conference has touched on the theme of racial reconciliation. "I look around and see you've got Blacks, Hispanics, Asian American Indians and think, that's what the kingdom of heaven is going to be like," Dorsey said. The men were asked to interact and pray together. Dorsey, who is black, has not had a problem with racial issues, but knows that other people have. At the rally in D.C., men came up to Dorsey and his father in tears, apologizing for their attitudes towards people of other races.

Speakers also dealt with sectarianism. From the stage, Max Lucado asked the men to show their denomination. The response was a ecumenical ecophony. Then he asked who was their Lord and Savior. They answered in perfect unison, "Jesus Christ is Lord." Senior Christian education/youth major, Jonathan Basner was impressed with this segment. "The biggest thing I took away from it was that even though I didn't agree with everything everybody there held to doctrinally, we all came away... realizing that the Kingdom of God was bigger than I ever thought it could be."

Upon departure from the conference, the speakers challenged the men to maintain accountability among Christian men in their churches and communities.

"We're going to take two years, and we're going to sweep this nation clean," founder McCartney told the crowd in Washington. At the end of this time, on January 1 of the year 2000, men will gather on the steps of their state capitol to reaffirm the Promises of a Promise Keeper.

Newt Gingrich

Blackburn

Speaker of the House, Newt Gingrich, addresses an audience of students, faculty, and townsmen from Cedarville.

The average rural Midwestern county is not high on the list of national political priorities. Greene County, Ohio, however, can boast of electing a Republican Party member to every office, plus being home to a sitting Senator and Representative. When Congressman David Hopson went looking for a speaker for his county's annual Lincoln Day dinner, he went straight to the top of the GOP.

Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich spoke before a crowd of around 2,000 people on Friday, February 6 in Green County's largest auditorium, the Jeremiah Chapel. The Greene County Central Committee for the Republican Party played host to the event and solicited use of the building. As the college administration frequently emphasized, Cedarville merely provided the facilities.

Education professor Dr. Dwayne Frank has been a member of the county Republican committee for five years. "The evening went very well. When you don't get that kind of a national person too often, you can't lose," said Frank. This is his first year he has sponsored the Cedarville Young Republicans Club. Under the direction of president Kirk LeBlanc, the club organized 180 students to volunteer as security guards, hostesses, and parking attendants.

Approximately three fourths of the crowd at the rally were from the college family. "I'd like to think that the average Cedarville student went out of intellectual curiosity... If Teddy Kennedy were here, I'd like to think we'd have the same response," Frank said.

Senior communications and political science major Jonathan Hammond, while not a personal fan of Gingrich, was glad the rally gave Cedarville students a chance to be politically active. "Anytime anyone gets a chance to attend a political rally, they should go, regardless of whether or not they like the speaker. You need to hear them out whether you agree with them or not. Until you've given them that time, you're not in a position to agree or disagree," Hammond said.

Mr. Gingrich's speech was preceded by the Symphonic Band's rendition of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and a concert version of the "Star Spangled Banner" performed by music professor Beth Porter. As is decorum at most political gatherings, a series of introductions preceded the speaker. Dr. Dixon introduced Cedarville College to the crowd and introduced his "neighbor," Senator Michael DeWine. DeWine welcomed his colleague from the House of Representatives, Mr. David Hopson. Hopson explained the process of getting Gingrich to Greene County, including the Speaker declining a dinner invitation with Saddam Hussein for that very night.

Gingrich directed his speech at the local residents. He spoke of PTA meetings and writing letters to the school board. In an atmosphere like that of a one-sided town meeting, Gingrich proposed initiatives that must be encouraged at the local level.

A large show of hands went up when Gingrich asked the college students how many believed that with the present system, they would get nothing back from what they were paying in to Social Security. The Speaker did not blame them. "More people probably believe in UFO's than believe that they'll get Social Security," he said. Gingrich then proposed a new program that would issue each American a personal social security account and offered figures that showed its significant increase in savings from the present system.

Overall, attendees had a positive reaction to the event. Frank can recall hearing political speeches as far back as Truman. "I've heard a lot of political speeches in my life. The Newt speech was the best delivered and had the best substance of any speech I've heard," he said.

Bible Conferences 1998

Every Bible Conference is a new challenge, a challenge to look at our lives spiritually and examine who we are and what we are doing for Christ. At this year's Fall Bible Conference, Dr. Warren Wiersbe helped the Cedarville family do just that. Dr. Wiersbe has pastored at Calvary Baptist Church in Covington, Kentucky, and at Moody Memorial Church in Chicago, Illinois. He has authored over one hundred books, and has spoken all across the United States.

Throughout the fall conference, Wiersbe addressed the importance of unity within the body of Christ. Using John 17 as his foundational text, Wiersbe directed the Cedarville family to look at Christ's prayer in John 17 and challenged the family to flow Christ's example. Wiersbe said, "If Jesus Christ prayed while He was here on earth, with all of His Purity and all of His power, where does that leave us?" Wiersbe also made special note of the life of Ezra. According to Wiersbe, Ezra had five things that we need to have: a divine call, a prepared heart, a studious mind, an obedient will, and a serving spirit.

Speaking and leading worship at the Winter Bible Conference was Dr. Richard Allen Farmer. Farmer grew up in the Upper Bronx and attended Trinity Baptist Church--a church with deep roots extending to the late 1890s. Dr. Farmer is no stranger to Cedarville, as he led worship at the 1997 Missions Conference.

For the Winter Conference, Dr. Farmer adapted his series to Cedarville's theme for the year: Timeless Truth for Contemporary Culture. "Nick at Nite," "Who's the Boss?," and "The Guiding Light" were a few of the themes for his messages. In his messages he focused Matt. 5:13-16 and I Thess. 5, as well as many other Scripture passages.

The Missions Conference, the conclusion of the year's Bible conferences, was an event that few other conferences could be valed. "This was the greatest Missions Conference we've ever had," asserted Dr. Dixon. More than 500 students were forward to pray during the invitation Thursday night.

Each morning a new speaker took the platform to share about their ministries, their lives, and the people they have reached for Christ. Speaking at the evening services was the keynote speaker, Rev. George Murray, the general director of TEAM. To begin the evening services, Rev. Murray presented messages explaining the sovereignty of God and he concluded by presenting the importance of logical evangelism.

Traveling Teams

Each year the Christian ministries department commissions six touring teams to represent the college through music and drama. These groups act as vital links to local churches, schools, and community homes, providing exposure for the college, but most importantly, ministering to people. These teams strive to move beyond a Sunday-church experience, but rather, integrate biblical Christianity by demonstrating a servant's heart in all areas of life. Although the formal ministry occurs through the performance, the teams have ample opportunities to minister to each other, the hosting families, and the people with whom they come in contact.

According to Brandon Waltz, director of the drama teams, "Drama and music are merely tools—ministry is the goal—therefore, those who are involved must be more than good actors, good musicians, or good puppets; they must have a heart and love for people."

This year, the students demonstrated their heart and love for people as they traveled nine weeks during the school year, and they anticipate eight more weeks this summer. During the spring and fall quarters, the team covered as much as a 250 mile radius, usually performing three times a weekend. When they are not traveling, they are usually rehearsing about six hours a week. With such busy schedules, the students have committed themselves to discipline and focus, yet are able to convey a balance of energy and enthusiasm that truly reaches people.

The response to this year's team has been encouraging and rewarding. The Lifeline players have had opportunities to perform at youth rallies numbering 600-800 teens. There have been many decisions for Christ and some churches have even reported doubled attendance on the days that the teams perform. Church youth groups, local church bodies, and families have all commented on the demonstrated sincerity and servant's attitude of these students.

Such ministry occurs only after careful thought, prayer, and commitment. Each year, the teams travel to Brownsburg, Indiana to plan and prepare for the year. Here they quickly learn programs, pull together skits, develop themes, and form friendships for life. This year's team members have demonstrated again excellence in music and drama that God can effectively use when combined with a humble and willing heart.

Day of Prayer

by Ruthanne Pierson

Hands firmly clasped, huddled groups, and bent knees once more marked the National Day of Prayer. This year Cedarville commemorated this nationally recognized day of prayer by cancelling morning classes and dedicating a special hour and half long chapel to the topic and action of prayer.

The morning began at 8:00 am with refreshments and at 8:30, groups met all over campus to pray for the nation, missions, and unsaved parents. Since all classes were cancelled until 1:00 pm, students and faculty were free to attend the focus group and fellowship in the fervent activity of prayer. This year has been a time of trial and tribulation for many of the students and college faculty and staff. The death toll numbered twenty-eight—many included parents of students, staff, and faculty members.

Yet, this was a time of hope in the midst of suffering. Dr. Dixon invited Danielle Parker and Dr. Lois Baker to share their personal stories of survival from serious car accidents—two living examples of the power of prayer. Reverend Ware, a prominent African-American pastor in Indianapolis, spoke on racial reconciliation and shared his own story of provision and grace that God has extended to his family as his son remains paralyzed after a high school basketball injury. Annual prayer emphasis was again given to unsaved parents and grandparents as well as graduating seniors. Although only a day of prayer, Cedarville has purposed to honor and commemorate an activity that on this campus is a year-round event.

After the Sabbath, at dawn on the first day of the week, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary went to look at the tomb. There was a violent earthquake, for an angel of the Lord came down from heaven and, going to the tomb, rolled back the stone and sat on it. His appearance was like lightning, and his clothes were white as snow. The guards were so afraid of him that they shook and became like dead men. The angel said to the women, "Do not be afraid, for I know that you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified. He is not here; he has risen, just as he said. Come and see the place where he lay. Then go quickly and tell his disciples: 'He has the city and reported to the chief priests everything that had happened. When the chief priests had met with the elders and devised a plan, they gave the soldiers a large sum of money, telling them, "You are to say, 'His disciples came during the night and stole him away while we were asleep.' If this report gets to the governor, we will satisfy him and keep you out of trouble." So the soldiers took the money and did as they were instructed. And this story has been widely circulated among the Jews to this very day. Then the eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain where Jesus had told them to go. When they saw him, they worshiped him; but some doubted. Then Jesus came to them and said, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age."

Ministry Through Missions

The Department of Missions Involvement Services of Cedarville College allows students to gain short-term missions exposure that presents a life changing experience. This year, a record 245 students traveled overseas representing Cedarville in missions involvement.

No matter the major, discipline, or talent--MIS has a place for almost every student. The unique opportunities range from paddling through the Amazon, singing in Australia, pouring concrete in Jamaica, and performing with puppets in Italy.

This summer, twenty Cedarville teams will span roughly thirty countries, not counting the individual students heading out with independent missions organizations.

The purpose of MIS is to expose students to a missions experience which will change their concept of missions, whether or not their decision is for full-time involvement. Students are trained and sent to assist the missionaries who have extended an invitation for a particular type of ministry.

Years of experience for some team leaders, as well as mission hosts, help teams develop and become a valuable asset to the established work.

Because of the college's keen interest in the development of Christian service, they maintain a full-time director for overseas missions, and in the fall, the College will add a full-time assistant director.

While everyone is excited about the number of students desiring to go on an MIS trip, each applicant is required to wait approximately two weeks for their involvement to be approved. This process is tedious, yet the department takes every measure to ensure each representative displays a servant's heart and maintains academic discipline.

The student is an ambassador for Christ and for Cedarville College, as well as for those who cannot go. The opportunity affords the challenge of letting the Lord navigate through our uncertainty. Yet, the uncertainty is worth the joy of the harvest reaped through student missions involvement.

Brian Nester (left), Director of MIS, and Ed Lewis (right), Representative for TEAM Mission, both share the desire and understand the importance of preparing students for the mission field.

Shirley Johnson, MIS secretary, assists Brian Nester, processing Missions donations and helping organize passport photos, along with many other vital MIS duties.

Christy Taylor, Junior MIS student-assistant, works to forward the cause of Christ through the MIS program.

Dr. James T. Jeremiah Recognition Chapel

A vice president for Bob Evans Farms, Inc., humorously awarded the chancellor a special Bob Evans tie and the Gentleman Farmer Award for Dr. Jeremiah's faithful patronage of his favorite restaurant. The award entitled Dr. Jeremiah to one square foot of the Dan Evans Farm in Rio Grande, Ohio. SGA president, Scott Van Loo, also awarded Dr. Jeremiah a Thomas Nelson New King James Version Bible. The Bible represents Dr. Jeremiah's work and contribution toward the development of the version.

Mr. W. Thomas Younger,

former chairman of the board of trustees and current trustee of Cedarville, spoke to the audience highlighting some of the areas of Dr. Jeremiah's influential ministry. Additional honors included the announcement of a new scholarship bearing the chancellor's name. The scholarship will be an annual award given to a graduating senior entering seminary who intends to pursue the pastorate. This year's first recipient was senior Brian Bell who plans to attend either Dallas Theological Seminary in Texas, or Master's Seminary in California.

In April, the trustees voted to give Dr. Jeremiah his choice of condominiums in California, which will allow him to spend three months of the year with family. This announcement was made during the chapel, as well as the presentation of a box of letters from various college family members expressing their gratitude and appreciation to the chancellor. A commemorative painting displaying the various aspects of Dr. Jeremiah's 45 years of ministry at Cedarville College was the final presentation and gift.

October 4, 1997 marked the annual Organizational Fair featuring numerous Cedarville clubs and organizations. Students flocked to the Athletic Center for plenty of food, folks, and fun.

The Campus Activities Board (CAB) sponsored the majority of the exciting events. CAB operated the Bungy Bull, Human Foosball, Barrel Racing, and Volley Bounce. In addition to these, they caricatured attendees and entertained them with a juggler.

Along with the entertainment provided by CAB, the organizations offered a wide variety of foods fitting to their groups. Students could sip Mu Kappa's tea, chomp Alpha Psi Omega's nachos and cheese, let Kappa Epsilon Alpha's cotton candy melt in their mouths, slurp Alpha Delta Omega's ice cream floats, or crunch the Student Government Association's snow cones. They could also drop by Colonial's and Giovanni's booths and eat some pizza for the festivities. Heard throughout the AC were the sounds of U99.5 with frequent interruptions of karyoke. "Brady Bunch," "Happy Days," "Loveboat," and "Achy, Breaky Heart" were just a few of the numbers performed by Cedarville's songsters.

Sports lovers enjoyed Delta Omega Epsilon's jousting contest, Alpha Chi's soccer challenge, Kappa Epsilon Alpha's speed pitch, and Varsity C's double shot. They took part in the Undergraduate Alumni Association's tractor pull, the Music Educator National Conference's shooting gallery and miniature golf hole. Participants could win goldfish at Theta Roe Epsilon's goldfish races and play Twister at Phi Epsilon Beta's corner after they decorated its members with sundae and hot dog toppings. Students also took turns striking the piñatas of candy at the Spanish Club's booth.

Some organizations allowed students to show their creativity and intellect. At the Earth Stewardship table, students planted their own flowers.

They made spin art at Phi Gamma Psi's booth. They were entertained by Pictionary Playdough at Chi Delta Nu's table, and got their faces painted or hair colored by Epsilon Alpha Pi. Chi Delta Epsilon created tie-dyed apparel. Mu Kappa gave students a chance to experience foreign culture and have their pictures taken while wearing native clothing. The Christian Nurse's Association photographed students in an ER setting. The Cedarville College Emergency Medical Services collected students' funny stories, and the best writer received a cash prize. Tau Delta Kai awarded a cash prize to its trivia contest winner.

Commuter Crossroads surrounded a car with maintenance tips. The fair allowed freshman and transfer students to get to know a little more about the clubs and organizations available on campus as well as to meet new people. The event was fun for all who attended as it successfully informed Cedarville students about the organizations.

the search for talent

Alpha Chi

by Christine Wiesert

Alpha Chi sponsored its 31st annual talent show on February 21, 1998. Jon and Donna Purple conducted the ceremony, encouraging audience involvement and providing humorous entertainment between talent acts.

Students demonstrated musical ability, both vocally and instrumentally. The Caylor Sisters performed two original songs. Their great ability to harmonize and to play guitars impressed the audience. Tim Phillips performed a "musical comedy" with men from his unit on the Hill. They parodied a Veggie Tales song and generated laughs from the audience because of their witty rewrite.

Nathan Radford, an annual Alpha Chi Talent Show participant, brought more variety to the show with ventriloquism. He brought the audience to life with his exceptional talent. He presented his well-known "Auction Song" with his dummy, and then ventured to perform human ventriloquism with an audience volunteer.

BethAnne Kapansky captivated the crowd with her tap-dancing routine and gymnastic abilities. The Purples told students that Dr. Dixon added wood to the back section of the stage specifically for her routine in the talent show. While this was not the case, it did come in useful for Kapansky's act. Another returning participant, Jess Gamiere, amazed the crowd with illusionary card tricks. He also caught female students' attention by incorporating Celine Dion's "My Heart Will Go On" into his act.

Nathan Radford and the Caylor Sisters placed first, for non-musical and musical talents, respectively. Jess Gamiere placed second, while The Tim Phillips Group came in third.

Cupid's Bash

by Angela Lenhart

All the little siblings came to Cedarville for a special weekend in February to spend time with their big brothers and sisters. The brothers and sisters were happy to have them come, but when struck with the thought of spending the whole weekend stuck in the dorm with little sibs running around, they realized there had to be a better way. So the search was on; everyone was looking for something to do. That's when a couple of campus organizations planned the Cupid's Bash after the basketball game on Saturday.

The Cupid's Bash was put on by Delta Omega Epsilon (DOE) and Delta Pi Sigma (DPS). The organizations served cotton candy, ice cream treats, and played the game, "Singled Out" with the audience of college students and siblings. Lindsay Peterson's little sister chose one special little brother as her "date" to the Second Floor activities. During the evening, a band including several of Cedarville's best musicians played funky tunes while the audience played "name that song." Many little sibs won Cedarville apparel to take home with them. The event was a perfect end to a fun weekend and gave little siblings a small taste of college life.

Jackets Reach for Victory

The women's volleyball team rolled to a 30-12 overall record for their third straight 30-win season.

The Lady Jacket volleyball team rolled to a 30-12 overall record for their third straight 30-win season. The spikers finished third in the Mid-Ohio Conference at 11-5, won two invitational tournaments, and again qualified for the MOC Tournament under second-year head coach Teresa Clark.

Junior hitter Julie Opperman became only the fourth player in school history to surpass 1,000 career kills as she raised her total to 1,386. She led the MOC in attack percentage (.371) and ranked second in kills per game (4.11). Opperman was voted to the All-MOC First Team and the All-NCCAA Midwest Region squad. Classmate Julie Barkhaus joined Opperman on both of those all-star teams with her all-around performance. She rated first for Cedarville in assists and was second in kills and digs. Suzanne Lehman, another junior, was voted to the All-MOC Second Team after leading the squad in digs. Setter Lori Bunger earned a spot on the All-MOC Freshmen Team. Senior all-around performer Lisa Wood racked up numerous academic honors and graduated with a 4.0 grade point average. She was recognized for NAIA and NCCAA All-America Scholar-Athlete accolades for the second straight year. Additionally, she was named to the GTE Academic All-America Third Team. On the court, she committed just eight service errors in 823 attempts for a .990 accuracy and finished second on Cedarville's all-time serve percentage list. The Lady Jackets notched tournament championships at Olivet and Indiana Wesleyan. They placed second in the 10th Annual Cedarville Invitational.

Lady Jackets Shoot to Win

The new varsity sport on campus in 1997 was women's soccer and the Lady Jackets had a lot of positive things to talk about following a 4-7-1 season under head coach Dave Dillon. Cedarville qualified for two postseason tournaments and even hosted one game, had two players earn All-America honors, and had three members garner All-America Scholar-Athlete recognition. The historic first match in school history resulted in a 4-1 setback at Bluffton. Freshman Allison Hume netted the program's first goal. It didn't take long for the women to record their first win as they blew past host Huntington, 9-0. Rookie forward Kristen DeVinney scored four goals in the match and Rachel Soderstrom was credited with Cedarville's first-ever assist.

Women's Soccer establishes itself as a new varsity sport.

Following three shutout losses, two by 1-0 scores, the Jackets played their home opener against Bluffton. This time they turned the tables on the Beavers, 2-1, with DeVinney getting both goals. The biggest win of the season came in a 2-1 upset of Walsh, who entered the match ranked No. 6 in the NAIA Great Lakes Region. Stephanie Aittama scored the gamewinner with only 12 minutes left. After ending the regular season with a 2-0 win at Notre Dame College, the Jackets dropped a four overtime marathon at home to Tiffin, 3-2, in a Mid-

Ohio Conference playoff match that was decided on penalty kicks. Cedarville's initial season finally ended in the NCCAA playoffs to eventual national champion Indiana Wesleyan. Junior back Lisa Thomson was voted the team's MVP and along with DeVinney, who led the team in scoring with 10 goals and one assist for 21 points, were NCCAA All-America Second Team performers. Freshman goalkeeper Katie Mummau was voted to the All-NAIA Great Lakes Region First Team. Thomson as well as seniors Meredith Allgrim and Rachel Soderstrom were rec-

Jackets Kick Way to Victory

Men's Soccer team uses new talent to achieve success on the field

The Cedarville College men's soccer team finished the 1997 campaign with a 6-9-1 record overall and 2-4-1 in the Mid-Ohio Conference under John McGillivray, who wrapped up his 24th year as head coach. The Yellow Jackets began and ended the season with impressive victories to go along with another Homecoming win. The kickers opened with an exciting 3-2 home victory over Mid-Ohio Conference power Tiffin University. The Dragons entered the match having won 10 of the previous 13 league titles along with a nine-game winning streak over Cedarville. However, once Dave Rutledge scored the season's first goal

11:30 into the match, the home team never trailed. Rookie goalkeeper Matt Powers made his collegiate debut with 16 saves. The Jackets later became the only regular season opponent to win at Mt. Vernon Nazarene. David Rooke scored the winner in the 2-1 decision and Matt Powers stopped a penalty kick. Cedarville edged Philadelphia College of Bible by a 2-1 count in the annual Homecoming match. The two teams played a scoreless first half before Dave Rutledge scored for the 'Ville. After the Eagles tied it, Michael Hidalgo netted the game winner with David Rooke assisting. The remaining highlight came in the season finale where seven Yellow Jacket seniors bid farewell with a 4-1 home victory over longtime rival Asbury College. It was fitting that a senior figured in every Cedarville goal. Rooke paced the team in scoring with six goals and two assists for 14 points. He was named to the NCCAA All-America Second Team, the All-MOC Second Team, and was selected team MVP. Rutledge, who tied Hidalgo for second in team scoring with five goals and three assists (for 13 points each), was again voted to the All-MOC First Team. He joined Rooke on the All-NCCAA Midwest Region First Team. Rockwood was tabbed to the All-NCCAA Midwest Region Second Team while Powers was an All-MOC Second Team choice. Seniors Andy Shaw and Ben Haffey were NCCAA All-America Scholar-Athletes.

A Race For The Finish

Cedarville men's and women's cross country teams return to the NAIA Championships.

The Cedarville College men's cross country team made its way back to the national scene by returning to the NAIA Championships, while the women's team maintained its position as one of the top NAIA women's cross country programs in the country for 1997. The Lady Jackets were rated as high as 14th in the nation before placing 19th at the national meet for their fifth straight Top 20 finish. The women placed second in their own Friendship Invitational, third in the MOC, and eighth in the All-Ohio Championships. Head coach Elvin King watched as they were also the NCCAA runner-up. The men's 12th-place showing culminated an outstanding season in which they were also fourth in the NCCAA, first in their own Friendship Invitational and the Rochester Invitational, and second in the Mid-Ohio Conference. The Jackets were ranked as high as 17th prior to moving up five slots on the national championship course.

More importantly, the women were as successful in the classroom as on the field of competition. Cedarville was presented the NAIA Team-Scholar Award for having the highest combined GPA (3.67) of any team at the national meet.

Finishing at the top in five of the eight meets, Junior Ben Thompson progressed to the number one position on the men's team. Thompson was an NCCAA All-American (top 30 finishers) upon placing eighth of 142 runners in the national meet. He was fourth in the MOC and was 36th out of 336 runners at the NAIA Nationals.

Freshman Ed Letts made his presence felt as Cedarville's number two performer, joining Thompson on the All-American unit. The rookie was eighth in the MOC and 37th at the NAIA. Senior Eric Crawford, closing out his career in the third spot for the men, was the team's lone NAIA All-American Scholar-Athlete and MOC Scholar-Athlete. Seniors Chris Leverette and Steve McGillivray joined him on the NCCAA All-American Scholar-Athlete team.

Junior Becky Jordan moved up to the ladies' number one position and garnered NAIA All-American honors for the third straight year by placing 25th for the 5,000 meters. Jordan also picked up NCCAA All-American honors and finished third in the Mid-Ohio Conference. She was the team's top finisher in seven of the eight meets and she broke the 20:00 barrier five times during the season.

Lady Jacket's Persevere in MOC

Freshmen add talent and depth to the 97-98 Jacket's Team

It was another year of rebuilding for the Cedarville College women's basketball team with nine of the twelve players on the roster being freshmen or sophomores. The Lady Jackets finished 9-20 overall and 4-12 in the tough Mid-Ohio Conference.

"We had a lot of young players who matured throughout the season," said head coach Kathy Freese. "We're optimistic about the future if we can keep this group together."

Three rookies ended up in the starting lineup led by six-foot center Julie Nourse. Her 12.6 points and 8.0 rebounds per game were team highs. She paced the squad in shooting accuracy at 58.4 percent from the field and 77.9 percent at the free throw line.

Nourse earned the bulk of postseason honors including being tabbed the Mid-Ohio Conference Freshman of the Year. She was named to the NCCAA All-America Second Team, the All-MOC First Team, the All-NAIA Division I Great Lakes Section First Team, and the All-NCCAA Midwest Region First Team.

"We really couldn't ask for anything more from Julie as an incoming freshman," Freese commented. "She ended up doing more than a typical first-year player and really had a good season."

Summer Bennington, the lone senior, served as team captain and ranked second in both scoring (10.9) and rebounding (7.5). She finished with 955 points during her three-year Cedarville career and was voted to the All-NCCAA

Midwest Region Second Team.

Junior guard Heather French averaged 8.3 points with a team-high 91 assists and joined Bennington on the NCCAA Midwest Second Team. Rookie guard Amanda Porter added 9.8 points and was All-MOC honorable mention.

French and junior forward Gillian Gombis were NAIA and NCCAA All-American Scholar-Athletes. They were also recognized as MOC Scholar-Athletes.

Their schedule was highly demanding. The MOC included NAIA Division II national champion Walsh as well as three-time defending regular season league champion Shawnee State. Central State and Findlay both qualified for the NAIA Division I Nationals, and Liberty was one of only two unbeaten NCAA Division I teams in the country.

Jackets Start Off With A Bang

Jackets win first six games to cruise to a 23-10 season

Cedarville College got back to playing winning basketball in the men's program. The Yellow Jackets finished 23-10 overall for their first 20-win season in three years. Their 9-7 Mid-Ohio Conference record tied for fifth place in the nine-team league. "We felt like it was a good season for us considering the new players we incorporated into the system," mentioned head coach Jeff Reep. "It's something we can continue to build on."

Junior forward John Krueger averaged 22.4 points to lead the Mid-Ohio

Conference and the NAIA Division I Great Lakes Section. He has piled up 1,778 career points during his first three seasons and ranks ninth on Cedarville's all-time scoring list. Krueger was named an NCCAA Second Team All-American and was voted to the All-NAIA Division I Great Lakes First Team, the All-MOC First Team, and to the All-NCCAA Midwest Region First Team. He was selected MVP of the 20th Annual Cedarville Invitational after scoring a career-high 41 points in the final game and was also MVP of the Jackets' Thanksgiving Classic.

Mid-Ohio Conference Freshman of the Year Jesse Deister scored more points (580) than any Yellow Jacket rookie in history which computed to an average of 18.1 points per game. He was one of the top free throw shooters in the country at 87.9 percent and also paced the squad in field goal accuracy at 55.8 percent.

Deister was named to the All-NAIA Division I Great Lakes Section Second Team and the All-MOC Second Team. He joined Krueger on the five-player NCCAA Midwest Region First Team.

Athletic Trainers

Special Thanks and Recognition

Collegiate sports provide an opportunity for students to display their discipline, dedication, and God-given talent. Yet, behind the scenes, a team of students has spent countless hours helping these athletes reach their peak performance through their own discipline, dedication, and God-given talents. These students study their discipline in the classroom and then practically apply it through 1500 required hours in the training room—they are the athletic trainers.

Athletic training is the care, prevention, and rehabilitation of injuries within the athletic population. Athletic trainers provide care when an immediate injury occurs. These students assess and provide immediate treatment. Prevention occurs when the trainer tapes, braces, and/or stabilizes an already existing injury or joint. Finally, the trainer engages in rehabilitation, the main components including strength, endurance, proprioception, and functional return to activity.

Senior Jason Grahame explained that he chose the athletic training program because he loves sports, had a positive relationship with a high school athletic trainer, and enjoyed the sciences. Athletic training combined all three of these elements together. When asked what an athletic trainer's greatest satisfaction is, he responded, "helping other people." And helping others is exactly what athletic trainers do.

Women's Tennis

The Lady Jacket tennis program enjoyed another successful season despite having the youngest team in Pam Johnson's 22 years as head coach. The 13-player roster consisted of just one junior, six sophomores, and six freshmen, but the youth movement produced a 10-2 overall record and a runner-up showing in the Mid-Ohio Conference.

Cedarville was impressive in rolling to eight 9-0 victories, a noteworthy 4-3 win at Ohio Wesleyan, and a 7-2 decision at Mount St. Joseph. It took a good team to beat the Jackets. They lost 5-4 at Transylvania University without the services of one of their top players. They were also nipped 5-4 at four-time defending MOC champion Walsh University.

"Our team matured a lot during the season," recalled Johnson. "We used four sophomores and two freshmen as our main lineup and many times we faced experienced opponents. We have every reason to be optimistic about the future."

Number one player Casey Ruffin posted a 10-3 record during her sophomore season. She was named to the All-MOC Team in singles after running her career record to 20-5.

Freshman Katie Koeppen, who played in the second position, and sophomore Ginger Butler, who held down the third spot, earned All-MOC honors in both singles and doubles. They had a 11-2 mark as the squad's top doubles pairing. In singles, Butler had a team-best 12-1 record for the second straight year and Koeppen was 9-3. Freshman Jenny Brayer (12-2 record) and sophomores Beth Wolfe (10-2) and Julie Gregory (9-5) rounded out the top six singles spots. As a team overall, the Lady Jackets had a 66-18 record in singles and a dominant 37-5 mark in doubles.

In the MOC Tournament, Walsh won the event with 43 points and was followed by Cedarville (37), Malone (26.5), Tiffin (15.5), and Shawnee State (13). The Yellow Jackets had players in all six singles finals and in two of the three doubles finals.

Butler was the No. 3 Flight singles champion and did not lose a set in the process. Wolfe and Brayer rolled to the doubles title in the No. 3 Flight and finished the year with a 9-1 record.

Men's Tennis

The Cedarville College men's tennis team posted a 12-10 dual match record during the 1998 season. Like the women, the Yellow Jackets put together their winning season without the benefit of having a senior on the roster.

Coach Alan Edlund's team could have easily finished with a more impressive record. The netters dropped all four one-point matches that they were involved in.

"We're quite satisfied with our season," remarked Edlund, who completed his fourth season at the helm. "We didn't have the experience to win those close matches, but that will come as the players mature. This year was a big stepping stone for us to consistently get back to playing winning tennis."

One of the 5-4 setbacks occurred against Olivet Nazarene in the National Christian College Athletic Association Invitational which Cedarville hosted. The Jackets won two out of three matches to finish as the tournament runner-up. Cedarville also finished second in the Mid-Ohio Conference race and was fourth in the NAIA Great Lakes Sectional.

Brian Wilbur, a junior completing his second year in the program, held down the team's number one singles spot. He had a 10-14 record against the opposition's top player and is 21-22 for his career.

The rest of the lineup had winning records for the season. In order of singles position, Carl Weise was 12-11, Eric McVey was a team-best 18-6, James Metsger was 14-7, Matt Taylor had a 13-10 slate, and Reuben Duncan recorded a 11-7 mark.

Cedarville was 85-55 as a team in singles with an overall doubles record of 40-28. Duncan and Metsger had a 11-6 record in doubles while McVey and Jason Hall were 4-1.

Wilbur, Weise, and Duncan were named to the NAIA All-America Scholar-Athlete squad. The elite team recognizes juniors and seniors who maintain a minimum 3.50 cumulative grade point average.

Jackets' Trio Offers a Bright Future

The freshmen newcomers give Coach Jim Kragel a good foundation on which to build

The Cedarville College men's golf team proved to be noticeably more competitive in 1998 with the addition of a trio of freshmen who took over the top three spots on the squad. The Yellow Jackets still have some work to do before joining the elite opponents on the schedule, but the newcomers certainly give head coach Jim Kragel a good foundation upon which to build.

Russ Toms ended up with the lowest average on the team at 81.1 strokes per 18 holes. Six of his seven rounds were 82 or lower including a season-best 77 that he fired at the 11-team Walsh Invitational which placed him in a fifth-place tie individually. He also carded a 78 at the Heidelberg/Tiffin Classic and paced the linksters in the Mid-Ohio Conference Championships with rounds of 82, 80, and 82.

Toms' freshman classmate Matt Dunn averaged 81.3 with two scores in the 70's and it could have been more. He turned in an 80 in five of his ten rounds. One of those was the 17th Annual Cedarville Invitational at Beaver Creek's Country Club of the North which was won by Mt. Vernon Nazarene. His 247 total in the MOC was second-best on the team.

Dunn's season-opening 77 at the Urbana Invitational placed him third individually in the tournament and the score matched Toms for low round of the year. The Jackets ended up fifth out of 13 schools at Urbana which was their highest finish of the season.

Joe Mulvaney, the third newcomer, averaged 85.1 strokes. His low score was a 79 in the second round of the Mt. Vernon Nazarene Invitational.

Senior Troy Page carded an 81 in the Cedarville Invitational and averaged 85.8 for the season. Classmate Steve Burchett carried an 86.2 average, but his rounds of 83-83-82 in the MOC were third on the team. Additionally, Burchett was named to the All-MOC Scholar-Athlete Team which includes juniors and seniors who maintain a minimum 3.50 cumulative grade point average.

Kragel summarized the campaign by saying, "We're heading in the right direction. I appreciated the leadership of our seniors and the young players gained valuable experience at the varsity level. We are not far away from having the overall talent to challenge for some tournament titles."

Women's Softball

The Cedarville College women's softball team labored to a 4-21 record overall and a 1-15 mark in Mid-Ohio Conference play during the 1998 season. Only ten players dotted the roster and eight of those started all 25 games.

Freshman outfielder Maria Lattanzio posted a .413 batting average to rank among the Mid-Ohio Conference leaders. She became only the sixth player in school history to hit .400 or better in a single season.

Lattanzio was first on the team in at bats (75), hits (31), runs scored (13), doubles (5), triples (2), home runs (1), and slugging percentage (.573). She was an honorable mention pick in the MOC.

Bonnie Schaefer, a junior, was the team's number two hitter with a .297 average which included a team-low two strikeouts in 64 at bats. The righthander was forced to pitch 127 1/3 innings out of a total of 157 due to injuries to the rest of the pitching staff. She had 19 complete games with a respectable 4.01 earned run average.

Behind the plate for every inning as catcher was Bonnie's older sister, Julie, who batted .246 during her senior season. The Schaeferes were All-America Scholar-Athletes as well as MOC Scholar-Athletes which includes juniors and seniors with a minimum 3.50 cumulative grade point average.

The other senior on the team was first baseman Andrea Butz. She handled 165 fielding chances with a .970 accuracy and was even pressed into pitching three times. She hurled an 8-2 victory against an Urbana team that eventually qualified for postseason play.

Junior outfielder Beth Weaver had a team-high 13 runs batted in while recording a .278 average. Sophomore leadoff hitter Becky Summers scored 12 times and had 15 walks which were the most on the club.

"I was pleased with the effort put forth by the women," remarked second-year head coach Dave Gaffner. "Bonnie was pressed into a difficult and tiring position as our primary pitcher, yet she responded well along with the rest of her teammates."

Jackets Swing into Action

Jackets gain strength and momentum as season draws to a close.

The 1998 version of Yellow Jacket baseball was no different from many of the other Cedarville spring sports teams in that they were extremely lean on experience. No less than 13 of the 16 players were either freshmen or sophomores and 11 of them were newcomers to the program. The result was a 4-27 record overall and 2-14 slate in the Mid-Ohio Conference.

Senior co-captain Josh Lunney batted a team-high .354 and was voted to the All-Mid-Ohio Conference Second Team at third base. He was also named to the All-NCCAA Midwest Region squad.

Lunney paced Cedarville in nearly every offensive statistical category. He was tops in hits (29), runs scored (18), doubles (6), triples (2), home runs (3), slugging percentage (.585), walks (13), and stolen bases (13) for the season.

The other senior co-captain was infielder Mark Wood, who was an honorable mention selection within the NCCAA Midwest Region. He was the only player to start all 31 games during the season. Freshman infielder Ryan Creeden hit .319 to rank second on the squad at the plate. Twin brother Trevor batted .277 and struck out just three times in 55 plate appearances.

Sophomore outfielder Gabe Schlappi joined Lunney on the All-NCCAA Midwest Region Team. He started all

30 games in which he played with a .272 batting average, 13 runs scored, four doubles, and 12 walks.

The Yellow Jackets fashioned a 6-3 victory at Tennessee Temple in the opening doubleheader of the season. They later surprised Walsh, 6-5, at home and the Cavs eventually qualified for the MOC Tournament. Cedarville followed that decision with a win at Malone in their very next game by the same 6-5 count.

The Jackets experienced their best offensive contest in the next to last game of the season. In the NCCAA Midwest Regional, they drilled Lincoln Christian, 13-4, by hammering a season-high 16 hits.

Jackets Take 1st and 2nd Overall

The Yellow Jacket men's track and field program challenged for the NCCAA and Mid-Ohio Conference titles once again, and finished second in the NCCAA for the sixth time in seven years. The women's team won the NCCAA banner for an unprecedented fifth straight time and regained the Mid-Ohio Conference championship in 1998. Paul Orchard was voted the NCCAA and MOC Coach of the Year.

Nate Freeman's performance was the highlight of the season. The oldest men's record entering the outdoor season was the high jump mark of All-American Bud Davis at 6-feet 9-inches set in 1965. Freeman quickly erased that and twice cleared 6-10 3/4. At the NAIA Nationals he earned All-America honors by finishing fourth, and claimed the NCCAA and MOC high jump titles.

Senior thrower Dan Hudson scored the most points for the Cedarville men in the 1998 outdoor season. He was the NCCAA and MOC discus champion and the MOC javelin champion. Hudson and distance runner Eric Crawford, who won the MOC 10,000 meter run, were NAIA and NCCAA All-America Scholar-Athletes.

Leverette was named an NCCAA All-America Scholar-Athlete and Jon McGinnis won sixth place in the pole vault at the NAIA Indoor Nationals for All-America recognition. Linton Ellis won the MOC 100 and 200 meter dashes, and Jason Alexander won the pole vault.

Junior distance runner Becky Jordan paced the women's team during the outdoor season with the most points scored in competion. She finished as an NAIA All-American and placed sixth in the 5,000 meter run. An NAIA All-American indoors in the 5,000, she set outdoor school records in the 3,000 and 5,000 meter runs and the 3,000 meter steeplechase. She won the NCCAA 5,000 meter run and was an NAIA and NCCAA All-America Scholar-Athlete. Sandy Swales took first in the hammer throw with a heave of 139-feet 4-inches.

At the NCCAA Nationals, the women piled up 113 points to edge fellow MOC member Malone College, who finished with 105.5. The Lady Jackets won just two events total and placed second in only two others, but won the team title.
