Nixon Asks Poor Be Excused From Taxation Floods Now Threaten New England, South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Swiftly rising rivers, swollen by heavy rains, posed new threats to New England and the South today while flood control workers along the rampaging Mississippi held their breaths, hoping newly built levees would hold.

In northern New England, some rivers began rising above flood stage over the weekend after a heavy rainfall.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Hartford, Conn., issued a warning of flooding later "on many major rivers in New England."

Roads were closed by flooding in Vermont. Telephones in Westminster, Vt., were knocked out when water damaged a cable under a bridge over the Connecticut River.

The Connecticut was reported to have risen five feet in 24 hours at White River Junction. A flood watch was set up throughout the state.

In the South, flooding was predicted today along the Savannah River at Augusta, Ga. Along the Chattahoochee River in Blountstown, Fla., waters rose two feet above the 15-foot flood stage. The flood was expected to crest at 20 feet Tuesday.

The situation was, for the most part, under control along the Mississippi, which began its rampage last week.

With the precautionary evacuations out of the way and levee construction virtually completed, Wisconsin settled down to a week of high-water watch in confidence.

James Gruentzel, deputy administrator of the state's Division of Emergency Government, said the levees should hold, unless unexpectedly heavy rain upsets the high-water forecasts.

More than 600 Wisconsin residents have been moved from dwellings along the Mississippi banks with as many as 100 more ready to move if necessary.

The Souris River, locally called the Mouse, continued to batter Minot, N.D., in lion-like fashion.

The Souris swelled to the highest level in 65 years at Minot Sunday with the worst still to come.

The swirling waters forced 11,864 residents from 2,544 homes in the city of 35,000.

The seven-mile-wide town has been cut in half, with U.S. 83 linking the two sections closed to all but emergency traffic.

Other traffic took a 20-mile detour around the floodwater.

Floods elsewhere in the northern Midwest were reported receding.

The Red River, still a lake from Fargo to beyond Grand Forks along the North Dakota-Minnesota border, was receding along most of its length. The Big Sioux in South Dakota, the Minnesota in that state and the Des Moines in Iowa were no longer a threat.

In all, the floods drove 19,000 persons from their homes and caused damage estimated at $31 million in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Would Reduce Surtax in January

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon sent to Congress today an eight-fold package of tax reforms including a "low-income allowance" to excuse 1 million poor people from income taxation.

He also recommended repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit effective at once.

Nixon changed his position on a one year extension of the 10 per cent surtax, to make it apply in full only until Jan. 1, 1970 on which date it would be cut to 5 per cent.

This is made possible, the President said, by the estimated $3 billion in revenue to be recovered by repeal of the investment tax credit. He added:

"If economic and fiscal conditions permit, we can look forward to elimination of the remaining surtax on June 30, 1970."

The reform package, which Nixon's statement called "long overdue," also includes a tax-the-rich provision to assure that the affluent pay some tax despite their ability to use deductions.

The new "minimum income tax" would set a 50 per cent limit on the use of the major tax preferences that are subject to change by law.

"This limit on tax preferences," Nixon's message said, "would be a major step toward assuring that all Americans bear their fair share of the federal tax burden."

At the other end of the income scale, the President said, the "low income allowance will remove an estimated 2.2 million lower income families from the tax rolls and assure that families in poverty pay no federal income tax."

The message said a family of 4 would pay no income tax on income below $3,500; a married couple with $2,300 in income would pay nothing, instead of the $100 they now pay; single persons, students and others who earn up to $1,700 in taxable income and now pay $117 in tax, would pay nothing.

The recommended repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit was a reversal of the Nixon administration's position. The change was made because the tax credit, a stimulant to business investment in new plant and equipment, has been widely criticized as fueling the flames of inflation.

The President announced also that he is asking Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy for a complete review of the entire federal tax system.

The recommendations should be in hand by next November 30, Nixon said.

Meanwhile, Nixon called on Congress to "take important first steps in tax reform legislation during this session." He listed these:

—"Much stricter surveillance" on tax exempt organizations, including private foundations.

—"Curbing of the practice of many corporations of breaking their business up into multiple subsidiaries and affiliated companies to take advantage of the lower tax rates on the first $25,000 of corporate income.

—"Tougher rules governing losses on farm operations to prevent abuses by so-called "tax farmers" who use tax losses to cut the tax on other income.

—"Tighter screening of deductions for charitable contributions. Nixon said these would operate "only to screen out the unreasonable and not stop those which help legitimate charities and therefore the nation."

—"New rules on certain mineral transactions to prevent companies from creating artificial net operation losses in the mineral industries. These would affect so-called "carved out" mineral production payments and "ABC" transactions, but the statement did not provide details on this point; the Treasury was to provide them shortly.

—"A requirement that taxpayers who have certain nontaxable income or other preferences would have their nonbusiness deductions reduced proportionately. This proposal also awaited further explanation.

"Special preferences in the law permit far too many Americans to pay less than their fair share of taxes," the statement said. "Too many other Americans bear too much of the tax burden."

133 Arrested After Clashes In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Racist clashes following a Maryland Youth for Decency Rally in Memorial Stadium, home of the Baltimore Orioles, resulted in the arrest of 133 persons and injury to 88, including seven policemen.

"How do you find decency after this?" asked Lynn Dorsey, a high school senior on the rally planning committee, after the outburst of violence Sunday.

The rally, attended by 40,000 teen-agers, was modeled after an orderly and successful event last month in Miami's Orange Bowl protesting lewdness and obscenity in America. Its themes were "brotherhood, respect, responsibility and love."

Wade H. Poole, deputy police commissioner, said some of those at the Baltimore rally apparently became bored during the entertainment and speeches.

As the departing crowd streamed down exit ramps, fighting broke out.

Witnesses, including a Negro police officer, said Negro youths clustered around the exits began taunting, shoving and hitting whites as they passed through the gates.

More than 500 police descended on the area in an attempt to restore order, but the violence spread to downtown Baltimore where a number of windows were smashed.

About half of those arrested downtown were adults, most of them on charges of disorderly conduct or assault.

The injured included a youth who was stabbed in the chest and a policeman with a broken kneecap. Another police officer was taken to a hospital after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Charles E. Moylan Jr., state's attorney for Baltimore, said it was difficult to place the blame for the outbreak. He expressed doubt, however, that it was advisable to bring so many teen-agers together in a rally without stricter supervision.

35 Military Bases, Towns Hit by Reds

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong stepped up its spring offensive again Sunday night, shelling at least 35 military bases and towns. One barrage killed 35 South Vietnamese soldiers and wounded 175 at a training camp. A rocket landed among about 100 U.S. Marines watching a movie near Da Nang, killing two and wounding 46.

Eight more Marines were killed in hand-to-hand battle with North Vietnamese regulars just below the demilitarized zone. And in Vietnam's southernmost province, AN Xuyen, eight South Vietnamese were killed and 60 wounded in a mortar barrage.

With the enemy offensive now entering its ninth week, the purpose of the increased attacks obviously was to raise the allied casualty toll at small cost to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

New alert points also showed up on the war maps, in the central highlands along the Cambodian border where Green Beret troops encountered two North Vietnamese battalions infiltrating into the country. Authorities said 38 North Vietnamese regulars were killed over the weekend as the battalions sparred with two bands of irregulars led by American Special Forces men.

Other attacks hit the airfields at Da Nang, Nha Trang, on the coast, and Vinh Long, in the Mekong Delta. Authorities said damage was light and apparently only one aircraft was hit.

Other barrages hit the highland city of Pleiku, a district military headquarters about 50 miles southwest of Saigon, the headquarters of the American Green Beret force in Vietnam at Nha Trang and the U.S. 9th Infantry Division base camp at Dong Tam, 40 miles below Saigon.

Fresh North Vietnamese regulars fell upon a night camp of U.S. Marines less than half a mile below the demilitarized zone. For two hours the attacking force tried to overrun the band of fewer than 100 Marines, getting inside the perimeter at one time and hurling satchel charges and grenades before being thrown back in hand-to-hand fighting.

At dawn, with a gunship raking them with 6,000-round-a-minute bursts of minigun fire, the North Vietnamese pulled back, leaving 20 bodies and four badly wounded men.

Laird: South Viet Power Key To Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The South Vietnamese army's ability to contain the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong is the only basis for unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops from the war, says Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Lacking sufficient South Vietnamese strength, Laird said, American troops would not be removed otherwise unless there is a withdrawal by the enemy by agreement at the Paris peace talks.

Laird spoke on the Metro-media television program "Evans-Novak Report."

The secretary said he does not rule out inclusion of communists in a post-war government.

AFTER WEEKEND BOMB BLASTS British Troops Guard Key Installations in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops guarded key installations against sabotage today after weekend bomb blasts rocked Northern Ireland and rioting scarred the city of Londonderry.

The 6,000 British troops in Northern Ireland were under orders not to intervene in any civil disorders, leaving anti-riot duties to the police. The 3,000-man Royal Ulster Constabulary was reinforced by 1,000 special reservists and another 1,000 were to be called up, officials said.

Prime Minister Terence O'Neill called on the British army for help Sunday night after explosions crippled Belfast's power and water facilities and a series of firebombings left nine city post offices and a bus station blazing.

The bombings were believed to be politically motivated, protesting the division of Ireland and Northern Ireland's membership in the United Kingdom. The Londonderry riots were sparked by religious feuding, aggravated by charges of police brutality.

Two days of rioting in that city left an estimated 260 persons injured—110 Saturday and 150 Sunday. The official casualty toll listed 180 policemen and 79 civilians hospitalized.

Roman Catholics, who comprise about a third of the province's 1.5 million people, first took to the streets of Londonderry last October, charging that Protestants were favored in jobs, housing and local voting procedures. The Protestant Unionists in turn accused the Catholics of seeking to sever the ties with Britain.

In Londonderry on Saturday the police intervened to head off a clash between Catholics and Protestants, but the demonstrators turned on the police. In the fighting that followed, a mob tried to storm a police station but was beaten back by police charging with nightsticks.

Hornet, 10 Other Ships in Sea of Japan

TOKYO (AP) — The carrier Hornet and 10 other American warships sailed into the Sea of Japan today, apparently to join in protecting U.S. intelligence flights off North Korea.

The Japanese Maritime Agency said that between 2 a.m. and 8 a.m. the 33,000-ton Hornet, an escort of five destroyers and four other warships passed through the Tsushima Strait between Japan and South Korea.

U.S. officials would not comment. They said warship movements are classified.

The arrival of the Hornet indicated that the reconnaissance flights off North Korea, which President Nixon has ordered continued, will be covered by carrier planes. Japan's Kyodo news service said the U.S. government had informed the Japanese government that the escorts would not come from bases in Japan.

The intelligence collecting flights were suspended after North Korea shot down a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane with 31 Americans and special electronic equipment aboard April 14. North Korea said the plane invaded its air space but the United States insisted it had stayed far out over international waters.

Armed Students Leave Cornell

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Armed Negro students wearing bandoliers of ammunition led a march from a Cornell University building after a signed agreement with school officials ended a 36-hour siege.

The evacuation followed day-long talks Sunday between Cornell administrators and leaders of the campus Afro-American Society (AAS), during which the school agreed to take no action against the students involved.

Later, standing before a row of followers carrying rifles, shotguns and improvised spears, Edward Whitefield, president of the society, read the agreement from the front steps of the organization's headquarters.

"We only leave now with the understanding the university will carry out the agreement reached," Whitefield said. "Failure to do so will result in further confrontation."

The occupied building, Wilford Straight Hall, was entered at 6 a.m. Saturday by about 100 Negro students. The hall houses the Cornell Student Union, but was being used as a weekend guest house for 30 adults attending the annual Parents Weekend.

The invading students ousted the parents and 40 maintenance workers.

Spokesmen for the society said the occupation was a protest against reprimands imposed last week on three members involved in campus disorder last winter.

White students led by some university athletes attempted to evict the occupying group Saturday night but were beaten back in a fist-swinging melee.

The AAS leaders said the guns were brought into the building later for self-defense. Ithaca city police said the weapons were not loaded and therefore no city law was violated.

The AAS-school agreement calls for 24-hour protection of the AAS headquarters and of Wari House, a cooperative residence for Negro women which was the scene of a cross burning early Friday.

The university also agreed to assume responsibility for any damage to the Student Union.

Fire Damages Trailer MINNESOTA CITY, Minn. — "Our home is one big mess!" said Mrs. Junior Krage in reference to the Sunday morning fire which destroyed their 10-by-35-foot trailer home and badly damaged an adjoining 12-by-40 living room.

The Krages were not at home at the time, but their rat terrier was asphyxiated. MRS. KRAGE said she could not estimate the loss which is not covered by insurance: "When we made the last payment on the trailer we dropped the insurance," she explained.

She added that fire inspectors said the oil burning furnace blew up. It was located in the center of the trailer between two bedrooms.

The fire apparently broke out when we normally would have been in church, said Mrs. Krage. She added that they had left for the Twin Cities Saturday noon and returned home Sunday at 8 p.m.

Twenty members of the Minnesota City Volunteer Fire Department were at the scene as well as members of the Goodview Fire Department. The Winona fire department also sent a truck but turned back when it was apparent nothing more could be done.

THERE WAS a mix-up on which fire department should answer the call, said John Reinke, mayor of Minnesota City. Therefore, the fire trucks

Egyptians Hit Israeli Forces Near Suez

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS An Egyptian commando squad crossed the Suez Canal today and attacked Israeli forces for the second time in three days. Arab and Israeli guns again duelled across the Jordan River, and Israeli warplanes hit suspected guerrilla positions in Jordan.

An Israeli army spokesman said the Egyptians crossed the canal 19 miles north of El Qantara and attacked an army patrol in the occupied Sinai Desert. One Israeli vehicle was damaged and three Israeli soldiers were wounded, he said, before the attackers were driven back across the canal.

Late Saturday night Egyptian commandos crossed the canal and attacked an army position, but the Israelis said they fled across the waterway without inflicting major damage.

Hostilities on the Jordanian front erupted at 5:20 a.m. when Arab guerrillas in the Beisan Valley fired at an Israeli army patrol near Beit Yosef and Neve Jr., Israeli spokesmen reported.

Two or three Israeli jets were seen strafing and bombing the Manshiyeh area, sending up plumes of smoke and fire. A Jordanian military spokesman said two Israeli jets raided an area west of Waqas village in the northern Jordan valley with rockets and napalm but inflicted no casualties.

Israeli spokesmen said Jordanian and Iraqi long-range artillery then opened up, pounding the Beisan Valley south of the Sea of Galilee and the Jordan Valley. The Israelis fired back with tanks and artillery.

Apart from a 10-minute lull around 9:30 a.m., artillery barrages were reported continuing along the entire front from the Sea of Galilee to the occupied Golan Heights of Syria.

Neither side mentioned any casualties. A spokesman in Amman said Israeli planes were used more than once. He said Deir Abu Saeed, Manshiyeh and North Shuneh in the Jordan valley came under heavy mortar and tank fire; artillery from the Golan Heights pounded areas around Irbid and "Israeli jet fighters raided intermittently the Soum and Zimal villages, using machine guns and rockets."

"At 9:30 a.m. the Israelis widened the scope of their attack using various kinds of weapons, and extended the clash to the whole of the confrontation line in the northern Jordan valley," he said.

Indian Holyman Ordered to Appear in Court

PATNA, India (AP) — One of India's top four Hindu holy men, the Jagadguru Shankaracharya of Puri, has been ordered to appear in court Thursday in connection with charges that he publicly advocated untouchability.

The government last week announced in Parliament it had urged the Bihar state government to prosecute the Jagadguru for allegedly defending the practice of untouchability in a speech here last month.

The court hearing was called to help determine whether there are grounds for prosecuting under the 13-year-old untouchability act.

If convicted, Jagadguru could be jailed for up to two years and be fined $133.

Private Plane Hits Trainer; No Injuries

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A twin engine private plane glanced off an Air Force T37 jet trainer in a near miss of a head-on collision at 20,500 feet.

A three-foot length of the jet's vertical fin was sheared away in the accident Sunday and a big hole knocked through its Plexiglass cockpit canopy.

The private plane's instrument panel was torn loose, jamming the controls. Both made it safely to El Paso International Airport, four miles away, with nobody seriously injured.

The pilot of the jet was Capt. William Norton, with Lt. Gilbert Harder as co-pilot. Both are from Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, Tex.

The pilot of the private plane was Gary Garner of Salt Lake City, on an aerial mapping mission with Peter D. Christenson of Alpine, Utah, as photographer.

"I saw the jet coming at me lined up dead center," said Garner. "I just had time to pull back the control wheel. We went

General Praises City For Flood Preparation

The deputy chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Maj. Gen. Frederick C. Clarke, told city officials and area Corps of Engineers personnel Sunday afternoon that they should be proud of the effort put forth for the preparation and protection of the Winona area against encroaching flood waters.

Gen. Clarke, who will become Chief of Engineers Aug. 1, made a flying trip into Winona shortly after noon Sunday, made a helicopter tour of the flooded areas with city officials, and then flew to Clinton, Iowa, to inspect that community's flood emergency.

THE GENERAL, who came to Winona after inspecting conditions in Minot, N.D.; Mankato, Minn., and Guttenberg, Iowa, said he was happy to see a river community in which "people don't have to spend a Sunday afternoon moving their furniture out of their house and getting it to higher ground."

The general and his staff were met by Mayor Norman Indall, City Manager Carroll J. Fry, members of the City Council and several city department heads. Accompanying the general and his staff on the flying trip over the city were Indall, Fry, City Engineer Robert Bollant, Councilman Gaylord Fox, John Pullin, St. Paul office of the Corps of Engineers and William Pearson, area engineer for the corps.

The tour was taken on a U.S. Marine Corps helicopter with a Marine Corps crew. The general and his entourage arrived in a twin-engine civilian plane (with civilian pilot) leased from a Twin Cities flying service.

Gen. Clarke said his Winona trip was part of a nationwide inspection tour in which he was checking on corps activities and their relationship and cooperation with local communities on flood preparation. He said his office would report to President Nixon on the results of his inspection trip.

GEN. CLARKE indicated satisfaction with the situation in Winona but declined comment when asked about permanent flood control dikes for the community. He said he believed the corps was justified in spending "15 to 20 million dollars on preparation for floods when it looks like it might save $150 million or more in property damage."

Accompanying him were Brig. Gen. Robert M. Tarbox, Chicago, north central division engineer; Col. Ferd Anderson, Washington, D. C., office of the Chief of Engineers; Col. Richard J. Hesse and Lt. Col. Marvin Rees, Office of Emergency Preparedness.

'60 Model Stolen On Johnson Street

Police are investigating the theft of an automobile owned by Richard Burnett, 628 Winona St., some time Saturday night.

According to Chief James McCabe, the vehicle is a 1960 model Chevrolet forder, white over blue, Minnesota license 1JF723.

Burnett reported the auto missing Sunday morning and said the ignition was locked.

Crest Past; Help Needed

Stressing that the flood danger is far from past, city officials said today that a steady supply of volunteer sandbaggers and dike patrollers still is needed.

The Mississippi River at Winona was at a stage of 18.85 feet at 11 a.m. today, about 7 inches below the 19.44-foot crest reached late Friday night.

Other river points were reporting similarly slow declines today. At Lake City the river stood at 19.2 feet this morning, a 3-foot drop in the preceding 24 hours. Wabasha reported 16.7 feet, a drop of 4 of a foot.

A MINIMUM of 14 persons is needed on each shift of dike patrols, City Manager Carroll J. Fry said today. He said there has been some difficulty in getting enough individuals for the around-the-clock patrol that must be maintained. Patrols must be furnished by the city for seven miles of dikes.

National Guard troop strength here was cut back from the previous 50 men to 28 at midnight Sunday. The cutback was ordered by mutual agreement between Mayor Norman E. Indall and Guard officers. The troops released from active duty still are on call, however, in case of need.

As of today, a total of 850 unpaid volunteers had been registered by the Minnesota State Employment Service here. The recruits were from the city's two high schools, three colleges and the area vocational-technical school.

FRY CALLED the students' contribution the difference between success and failure of the floodfighting effort.

"The secret of the city's success has been its youth power," he said. "It's a previously untapped resource. We called on it for this emergency and the young people came through in tremendous fashion. Without their help we would have lacked the forces necessary for sandbagging, emergency crews and dike patrolling."

City expenses and commitments to date add up to $37,222, Fry said today. He said he is "cautiously optimistic that the city outlay can be held to $75,000 or less."

In 1967 the city spent $252,000 for flood protection. The river that year reached a 17-foot crest.

THIS YEAR, the Army Corps of Engineers assumed principal responsibility for dike construction under a contract with Winona Excavating Co. for $111,610.

Fry said equipment rentals and materials purchases still cannot be predicted because the situation remains serious and still subject to many variables.

Some 720 High School Boys, Girls on Dikes

Nearly 40 percent of Winona's high school students have been or are assisting in this spring's flood fighting effort as dike patrollers or on sandbag filling assignments.

Dr. Carroll H. Hopf, principal of Senior High School, said this morning that he would estimate that since last Thursday some 350 Senior High boys and about 150 girls have volunteered for flood emergency assignments.

AT COTTER, the Rev. Paul E. Nelson, principal, reported an estimated 190 boys and 30 girls from among the school's student population of about 550 have been engaged in various flood duties, beginning last Wednesday.

Students at both schools who worked on night shifts were excused from classes the following day.

Most of the girls who volunteered for flood work were assigned to filling sandbags on day shifts.

Dr. Hopf said that this morning a group of boys who had worked the midnight to 6 a.m. shift today reported for classes this morning "dog-tired from working over the weekend" and were excused from school for the remainder of the day.

HE SAID that this group had volunteered for and would report for duty again on the midnight to 6 a.m. shift Tuesday but would attend classes on Tuesday.

Senior High's approximately 600 volunteers were drawn from a total student population of 1,352.

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. — This newspaper erred Sunday in reporting the area flooded from the Mississippi River cottages inland and downriver.

The area was estimated at 10 to 12 square miles instead of the much larger figure given.

By 8 a.m. today the flow at the dam had dropped to 186,000 cubic feet per second compared with 220,000 at crest Saturday.

Little Rain In Forecast For Week

Skies here cleared this morning after a damp and blustery Sunday and there's a good possibility the Winona area will enjoy at least two or three days of pleasant spring weather.

Intermittent rain that began falling Sunday afternoon and continued into the night produced .04 of an inch of precipitation but no mention of additional rain is made in the area forecast through Wednesday.

THE NEXT FIVE days may be a little cooler than normal but precipitation through Saturday shouldn't amount to more than a tenth of an inch.

The extended forecast calls for temperatures to average 5 degrees below the normal range of 63 and 40 with a warming trend to be felt late in the week.

Despite mostly cloudy skies the mercury Sunday reached an afternoon high of 66 and dropped to an overnight low of 47 early today.

IT WAS 60 at noon, a low in the 30s is predicted for tonight and a high in the 60s Tuesday.

Skies are expected to remain fair to partly cloudy tonight and will be partly cloudy Tuesday. Little change in weather is seen for Wednesday.

Everyone Agreed On 19.44

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Staff Writer

The Mississippi River in Winona—and this is official now—crested at 19.44 feet at 7 a.m. Friday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Minneapolis earlier had reported an "official" crest of 19.55 feet Friday, but a check this morning revealed that figure to be in error.

According to Joseph Strub, chief meteorologist at the Minneapolis bureau, the figures he uses for his daily river bulletins are relayed to his office by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The corps contracts for twice-daily readings from Winona with Paul Gruber, 528 E. 2nd St. Gruber telephones his readings to officials at Dam 5A who, in turn, relay them to the Twin Cities.

A spokesman at Dam 5A this morning said that no reading higher than 19.44 had been received from Winona and Gruber confirmed that statement.

"Essentially there has been an error in transmission," Strub said. "Your crest then was 19.44 feet and we will change our records to read that way."

Strub also had received a stage of 19.45 feet Saturday, but both the dam and Gruber said that the 19.44 figure had also been recorded by them on that day.

The program was produced by the Winona State audio-visual department.

Veterans Service Center Urges Record Check

Winona County Veterans Service Center, in conducting a review of veteran's pension files, notes there are many veterans, particularly World War I veterans, who are receiving Veterans Administration pensions in the amount of $78.75 a month.

It is pointed out that many of these veterans could be entitled to greater pension payments if they took advantage of recent legislation. If new law elections are made prior to May 1, 1969, retroactive benefits are payable back to Jan. 1, 1969.

Veterans should contact the veterans service center in the courthouse and review the possibilities.

Additional payments are available for veterans who are housebound or in need of regular aid and attendance, payments being $40 and $100 additional.

Sawyer to Be Judge

S. A. Sawyer

The Daily News learned this noon from an informed source in St. Paul that S. A. "Jim" Sawyer, Winona County attorney for the past 15 years, is to be named as judge of Winona County probate court to fill the unexpired term of Judge E. D. Libera who died April 9.

The announcement will be made by Gov. Harold LeVander's office this afternoon or Tuesday morning.

JUDGE Libera was last elected to a six-year term in 1964 and the term will expire in 1970.

The $18,500 a year probate judgeship also entails additional duties in juvenile court matters for the county. Nearly 400 juvenile cases were handled in the court during 1968.

The probate court has unlimited original jurisdiction in law and equity for the administration of the estates of deceased persons and all guardianship and incompetency proceedings.

Sawyer, 44, was born in Owatonna and has lived here since moving to the city with his parents in 1935. He was graduated from Winona Senior High School, attended St. Mary's College, Winona State Teachers College and the University of Minnesota.

HE WAS graduated from the St. Paul College of Law (now William Mitchell College of Law) in 1953, was admitted to the bar the same year and has been practicing law in Winona since returning here in 1954.

Sawyer is a member of the local, district, state and national bar associations and is a past president of the Winona County Bar Association.

The new judge is a member of the First Congregational Church, where he is chairman of the board of trustees and past chairman of the board of deacons. He is a past president of the Lions Club, a Community Chest captain, member of American Legion and a director of Winona Area Chamber of Commerce. He is a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the YMCA Indian Guides.

Sawyer served as an infantry sergeant during World War II, fought in the European theater and received the Purple Heart for injuries received during the Battle of the Bulge.

A member of the law firm of Sawyer, Darby & Brewer, he is married and has three children. His home is at 427 W. 5th St.

Theis Denies Living In Rooms of Lobby

Rep. Frank Theis today labeled as falsehoods statements that he had lived in a plush hotel suite in St. Paul in return for voting against a double-bottom truck bill last month.

The charge was contained in a story published Friday in the Rochester Post-Bulletin. The story, by Jack Erwin, Post-Bulletin correspondent, said Rep. Theis had voted last month with a 16-5 majority in the committee on regulated industries to continue the state ban on tandem truck trailers.

REP. JOHN Wingard, Anoka Conservative, was cited as authority for the statement about Theis' vote. The story also said Rep. Theis declined to say how he had voted. No record is kept of committee votes, which often are by voice and sometimes by a show of hands.

Railroad lobbyists have campaigned strenuously against the double-bottom truck bill when ever it has been introduced in the legislature.

As a result of his alleged vote against the double-bottom truck bill, the news story charged, Rep. Theis had been a live-in guest at a St. Paul hotel suite maintained by the Minnesota Railroads Association. The multi-room suite contains two bathrooms, living room and bedroom and a well-stocked bar for visitors.

Legislators who live outside the Twin Cities receive $24 per day expense allowances. A 1951 law prohibits a legislator from directly or indirectly receiving any compensation for services before any state board, commission or public agency when the activity creates substantial conflict between the legislator's private interests and the public interest.

REP. THEIS today said he had abstained from voting on the bill in committee. He said his contention could be verified by Michael Wardwell, president of Briggs Transportation Co. The trucking firm executive was present in the committee room when the vote was taken, Rep. Theis said.

The vote was by a show of hands, Rep. Theis recalled. The Winona legislator said he has receipts to prove that he stayed at other lodgings every night last week. He said he has stayed at the Holiday Inn, Travelodge Motel and in St. Paul Hotel rooms 932 and 935.

Calling the story "irresponsible reporting," Rep. Theis said he will take steps to have the matter clarified.

Car Hits Pole, Two Injured

Two Winona men were slightly injured in a one-car accident at 6th Street and 54th Avenue, Goodview, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, according to Mervin Iverson, village marshal.

George D. Pawlowski, 18, 216 Olmstead St., told the officer he was driving east on 6th Street when he swerved his vehicle to keep from striking a child who had run into the street. His car struck a light pole and he and a passenger, Robert Pflughoff, 18, 702 Mankato Ave., received minor bruises but were not hospitalized.

Damage to the vehicle, a 1959 sedan, was estimated at $200.

Holmquist Says Taconite Tax Hike Proposal Not Dead Yet

ST. PAUL (AP)—Chances for legislation to hike the production tax on taconite aren't dead for this session, says Sen. Stanley Holmquist, Grove City, the Conservative leader in the Minnesota Senate.

"There is always a chance, until we adjourn, to pass such a bill," Holmquist said today. "I think further study will indicate that the production tax on taconite could very well be increased."

His remarks came shortly after Gov. Harold LeVander indicated in a talk with Iron Range citizens that the tax could be raised. While not saying outright that it should be, the Republican governor said, "I see no reason why there should not be some increase in the production tax."

LeVander and Holmquist represented the Republican-Conservative majority who addressed a crowd of some 300 or more persons on the Capitol steps.

Chiefly, the Liberal-oriented protesters came to hear Democratic Farmer - Labor spokesmen, and they whooped up applause for about a dozen, including Sens. Karl Gritter and Nicholas Coleman, of St. Paul, the Senate minority leaders and DFL chairman Warren Spannaus.

One who appeared in the background lineup of introductions at the tail end of the program was Sen. Donald Wright, Conservative chairman of the Senate Tax Committee.

Mention of his name drew a catcall, echoing one of about 50 cardboard signs the protesters had carried before the speeches which read: "Wright is Wrong."

The committee voted April 11 by a 14-5 margin along party lines against a measure introduced by Iron Range senators which would hike the production tax from 5 cents to 45 cents a ton. Sponsors were Sens. Rudy Perpich, Hibbing, Tony Perpich, Eveleth, and Norbert Arnold, Peggilly.

Wright, asked for comment on LeVander's statement after the rally, said he had none.

Many Iron Range homeowners are complaining about skyrocketing real estate taxes, which they say have gone to $1,000 or more on a home valued at $20,000.

Some of their ire Saturday was directed at Tax Commissioner Rufus Logan, who they say had ordered that assessed valuations be jacked up.

"Rutus, don't spoof us," read one placard.

LeVander told the rally that the state wasn't responsible for real estate tax rates, and that these monies go to local governments directly. There's been criticism from some legislators and Logan that the Range is still living with too many trills in municipal government costs—hence it is passed on to taxpayers.

Examples given are more police and fire protection than needed, and snowshovelers for homeowners' sidewalks, both out front and leading up to the steps.

But critics at the rally heaped blame on the taconite industry, which they claim could very well stand a tax boost, and the Republican-dominated legislature, which was described as business-oriented.

Tony Perpich said the taconite industry, through the 5-cent a ton levy, contributes $1.4 million annually in production levies. By hiking it to 40 cents, the take would be about $12 million. He said the industry gets by with cheap taxation now—a total of $6.7 million annually, with no property taxes and few sales taxes.

Perpich said protesters may have to take to banners the plans as the next step on their home grounds.

Back in the legislature, he wasn't prepared to say whether he'll initiate legislation for, say, a 20-cent increase in the production tax. He said the biggest obstacle to finding agreement is that the Conservatives on committee won't go along with his proposal for distributing the tax returns over the entire Iron Range.

Revenues historically have remained in the area where collected.

SIX TEEN-AGERS FROM SAUK CENTER

19 Killed in State Traffic Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nineteen persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents in Minnesota, including six teenagers in a car-train collision at Sauk Centre and three persons in a head-on crash near Marshall.

The 1969 state highway toll stands at 174, compared with 261 a year ago. Sixty-four persons have died in the first 20 days of April.

Killed in the Friday night crash of a car and the Great Northern's "Winnipeg Limited" passenger train were Robert "Porky" Anderson, 18; Kevin Ufkin, 14; Nancy Hoeschen, 16; Bruce Botz, 14; Raymond Berg, 14; and Sharon Mathews, 16, all of Sauk Centre.

Ray Korte, station master at Sauk Centre, said the train usually travels about 70 miles per hour at the crossing, which is marked with a railroad crossing sign but no stop signs or signal lights.

A second car carrying three teen-agers was following the death car.

Anderson's brother, Bill, 15, and two of his friends were in the second car. All of the teen-agers had been to the opening night of a drive-in theater near Sauk Centre and were on a gravel road leading to McCormick Lake two miles east of Sauk Centre.

"I saw the train and I wondered if Porky was going to stop," said the younger Anderson. "Then I saw his brake lights go on and I said, 'Thank God!'"

He said it appeared the train had passed. "Then I saw sparks flying all over the place and I knew something had happened."

When Anderson and his friends arrived at the crossing they found the car with its front torn away and five bodies lying around it. They apparently died at the scene. The sixth died minutes later at a hospital.

Elmer Gruhot, 32, Marshall; his wife, Catherine, and a Chandler Air Base serviceman, James D. Dahl, 31, died late Saturday in a head-on crash on Highway 23 a mile southwest of Marshall.

A passenger in the Dahl car, Vernon Halverson, 33, also of the Air Force station, was hospitalized in serious condition at Marshall.

Louis Gawarecki, in his 20s, Marshall, and two Gruhot children, Mark 7, and Kent, 5, were passengers in the car driven by Gruhot.

One child and Gawarecki were taken to University of Minnesota hospitals in critical condition while the younger child was listed in serious condition at Marshall.

Two young Albert Lea men were killed early Sunday when their car went out of control and struck a power pole in that southern city. Police said John A. Frederickson, 21, and Michael F. Farmer, 18, were dead on arrival at a hospital.

Clayton Knutson, in his 20s, Alexandria, died early Sunday when his car left Highway 20 about one mile north of Alexandria. A passenger, Gwen Miller, also of Alexandria, was hospitalized.

Late Saturday John Sovania, about 40, rural Bowls, Minn., was killed in an accident on a Morrison County road 18 miles south of Little Falls and four miles from the victim's farm home.

Rhonda Shoaf, 16, Owatonna, was killed and Josephine Zylstra and Annette Skalsky, both 16 of Owatonna, were injured when their car went off a curve on a road near Owatonna Saturday night.

Conservatives Balk On Brandt Ouster

By GERRY NELSON

ST. PAUL (AP)—House Conservatives have balked at a unanimous recommendation by the Elections Committee that Conservative Rep. Edward R. Brandt of Minneapolis be unseated for violating the Fair Campaign Practices Act.

After two hours and 45 minutes of debate, the House voted 77-48 along party lines Saturday to delay a decision on Brandt's ouster by one week. The Elections Committee was instructed to investigate whether DFL'er John P. Skeate also should be involved in the Unfair Campaign Practices Act dispute in the 41st District.

The delay means that even a subsequent decision to oust

Brandt, 36, a University of Minnesota graduate student, would be too late to permit a special election before the May 28 winding up of the 1969 Minnesota legislative session.

There is a possibility the Conservative - controlled House might give both Brandt and Skeate an official reprimand, but stop short of unseating the two.

Forty-five DFL'ers and Conservatives Robert Christensen, St. Paul; John Winter, North St. Paul, and Arlen Erdahl, Blue Earth, voted against the delay motion.

Brandt and Skeate were elected in the two-member Minneapolis district last fall. Brandt was challenged by former DFL Rep. Alpha Smaby, but Skeate had not been involved earlier.

However, a House subcommittee that investigated the Brandt-Smaby dispute said that Brandt and Skeate were both "directly involved" in the preparation of a campaign pamphlet that deceived the voters.

But the subcommittee recommended action only against Brandt, since Skeate was not challenged in the usual manner.

The surprise move was called unprecedented by House DFL Leader Martin Sabo.

The House Committee was given the power of subpoena and was told to report on the Skeate side of the case by next Saturday.

This Vacation Wouldn't Be Good

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A very dear friend of mine has three children all in school. Her husband is begging her to go to Florida with him for a two-week vacation, but she's the type who "can't leave" her children.

Her husband works hard and he NEEDS a vacation, but she says she won't go without the children. He says WITH the children it's no vacation.

It's not like she'd be leaving them on a doorstep. She has good help in the house and her own mother has offered to move into the house to supervise, but no, this foolish mother won't go.

How can I convince her that it's her DUTY to go with her husband? She says if she goes, she'll worry. I am only thinking of her poor husband.

A DEAR FRIEND

Abby

DEAR DEAR FRIEND: I'm thinking of her "poor husband," too. And I can't imagine anything worse than being with a martyred wife who vacations with her husband out of "duty." She'll have a rotten time because she's all set to worry. And he'll have a rotten time, too. She'll see to that. Stay out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning my Sweet Sixteen party and have run into a problem. My best girl friend is going with a boy who, quite frankly, I can't stand. I want her, but not him. Should I invite them both, or just my girl friend?

PLANNING MY PARTY

DEAR PLANNING: You'll not have a "successful" party unless all the guests have a good time. If you don't invite your best friend's boyfriend, SHE won't have any fun. Invite him. At age 16, it's time you learned to "stand" people you "can't stand" occasionally to please good friends.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister's daughter is getting married in June and they're having a big wedding for her. I don't know if I'm wrong or right, but I'm not going. I didn't tell her that, I'm going to wait until the time comes. Here's the reason:

Two years ago my daughter eloped. I was very unhappy about it, but all is forgiven now. I tried to help them get started so I bought them a refrigerator, sheets, pans, etc. My mother and friends gave her little things for housekeeping, too.

My husband's mother and sisters said they were going to buy her something and kept asking me what she "needed." I said she needed most everything and I told them what she already had as a guide.

Well, none of them gave her so much as a dish towel. Now, here's the way I look at it, what's good for my daughter is good for their daughter. In their words, an eye for an eye. Am I wrong?

TURN ABOUT

DEAR TURN ABOUT: I think you are. The only thing wrong with the "eye for an eye" game is that it results in total blindness. Don't punish your sister-in-law's daughter for her mother's thoughtlessness.

DEAR ABBY: A woman recently asked you if she should "give" her husband a divorce, and you said no.

In the first place, anybody who has been through a divorce knows that it's not a "gift." It's pretty expensive. In the second place, it's the judge who "gives" the divorce. In most states anyone who wants a divorce can get one.

When a man tells me that his wife won't "give" him a divorce, I laugh, because I know he really doesn't want one. I think any time a man ASKS his wife for a divorce, he wants her to say "no." If he really wanted one, he'd get one in spite of everything.

MAC GREGOR IN SENATE RACE

LeVander Reorganization Plan Strongly Supported

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gov. Harold LeVander's proposed reorganization of state government received strong bipartisan support over the weekend, while Rep. Clark MacGregor threw his hat in the 1970 Senate race — for keeps.

Warren Spanghaus, DFL state chairman, said the proposal by the Republican governor for a cabinet-type executive branch in Minnesota "would be a major step forward for responsible and responsive government."

Meanwhile, MacGregor said Saturday that his decision to seek the GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate is "irrevocable."

The 3rd District lawmaker also said he would not run for another term in the House if he did not receive the Republican endorsement for the Senate.

Spanghaus told the sixth DFL Women's Federation Conference in Minneapolis Saturday: "It is sheer lunacy to encumber every new governor with a half-dozen department heads appointed by his predecessor and with two years yet to serve."

"With responsibility should go authority. The governor now has all of the responsibility for administering state government for four years, but he lacks adequate authority."

Added Spanghaus: "Whether the governor is a Republican or a DFL'er, he ought to be able to select his own top men."

MacGregor was given a standing ovation by the 3rd District GOP convention at Wayzata.

Arcadia Band Fund Increased by $300

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The fund for the Arcadia High School band trip to Winnipeg, Canada, next summer was boosted by two contributions last week. Arcadia Council 1654, Knights of Columbus, contributed $100 and Arcadia aldermen voted to appropriate $200.

For several years the council has paid the band $200 for Friday night concerts during the summer months. After the railroad depot was removed and the area returned into a parking lot, the concerts were discontinued. Aldermen agreed that the sum be contributed this year without the concert provision.

Pepin Board Meets

PEPIN, Wis. (Special) — At the organization meeting of the village board, President Alex Pfeiffer appointed committees and the Pepin Branch of the American Bank of Alma was named depository. The board purchased bonds for the municipal justice, constable-marshal, treasurer and clerk from Sutherland Insurance Agency. Aldermen also voted to purchase a group health insurance policy from the agency for William Mountain, Lucius Byington and Ruth Hartung, the village paying one-half the family premium for Mountain and the full individual premium for Byington and Hartung. The baseball club was granted licenses to sell beer at home games.

CORE Considers Milwaukee Headquarters

OSHKOSH, Wis. (Special) — The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) will re-establish itself in Milwaukee, Roy Innis said. In an interview, Innis, national director of CORE, said Milwaukee "would provide the perfect spot to direct our operations throughout Wisconsin and even into Chicago."

Innis was one of four speakers at a "Black View of White America" symposium held Friday and Saturday at Oshkosh State University. The symposium was sponsored by the school's Division of Extended Services.

An advocate of "black control over black destinies," Innis was the leader in CORE's shift from a goal of integration to one of black power and black nationalism.

"WHITES no longer can belong to CORE," he said. "One of the qualifications for membership is to have an African ancestry. This is like the Italian-American organizations that limit membership to those with Italian ancestry."

"If whites want to help us, they can belong to a 'Friends of CORE' group that assists us financially but has no say in our policies," he said.

"Before, CORE was composed of autonomous chapters. This wouldn't do. Every chapter was going its own way. Now, the direction is set by the national office and we have strong control over the local chapters," he added.

Innis said some problems exist where "brothers profess their belief in black power and black determination, but they aren't willing to back up their words with actions. They preach black power and black determination, but they back down when it comes to implementing the program."

"We must have control over the distribution of goods and services in black communities. Integration won't work because the whites will always have the upper hand," he said.

"THE POWER structure over-simplifies everything. They say that the only alternative to democracy is totalitarianism," Innis charged. "There are other things, other ways to move and get things done."

"Democracy will never work for the black man in this country because the whites will always be in the majority," he said. "Look at Washington. There are 100 senators, and only one is black. Since we are 10 percent of the population, we should have at least 10 black senators."

"Using this same figure, we should have 43 to 50 representatives. We don't have even 10."

"The white man has isolated us in the urban areas. We don't have to move. All we want is control over your destinies, over the flow of power in our own communities—whether that power be education, money or services," Innis said. Another speaker, author Claude Brown, said he was not in favor of physical separation, but did believe in cultural separation.

Mrs. Medgar Evers, widow of the Mississippi civil rights leader, called for "pulling together — black and white" to solve the nation's racial problems. ALSO ON the program was Julian Bond, black member of the Georgia state legislature. He called the integration of buses, restaurants and the voting booth "hollow victories." "Young people are the solution," Bond said. "But young people today are concerned primarily with on-campus problems to the detriment of off-campus problems." More than 2,400 attended the two-day symposium.

Traffic Safety Programming Paying Off

THE INCREASED emphasis on traffic safety programming in Wisconsin is paying off in the area where it really counts — saving lives.

So says Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles who cites state motor vehicle records which show that in the combined last quarter of 1968 and the first quarter of 1969 traffic crashes in Wisconsin claimed 447 lives, but in the same period just one year before, the loss reached 578.

"Today in Wisconsin 131 persons are living whose names would have been included in the traffic fatality records had we continued these past six months at the same killing pace as just one year before," Knowles said.

No single reason can be cited for the very encouraging new trend, just as no single cause has been found for the occurrence of auto tragedies. However, major contributing factors do play a noticeable part, he said.

It has been well established in recent years by blood samples of those killed in Wisconsin crashes that more often than not, the victims had been drinking intoxicating beverages prior to accident involvement. It also has been well established that more often than not the drivers and passengers killed were not using that life-preserving and injury-minimizing device — the safety belt — at the time of accident occurrence.

IF OFFICIALS AND civic safety leaders can keep hitting hard on these two factors in their fight for better road safety, the governor feels his state can continue the improved safety trend that has developed in the past six months. With heavier traffic bound to come in the spring and summer months ahead, a stronger effort must be put forth now — not next fall or winter.

"Now, while lawmakers are convened here in Madison, we must give the most serious consideration to adopting an implied consent law, a minimum drinking age of 21, and lowering the presumptive level of alcohol impairment as tools to deal more effectively with the drinking driver," the governor said.

"Now also is the time to seriously consider making use of the safety belt mandatory."

Knowles added that the long-range public safety education program on the theme, "Are You Putting Me On?" started in September 1968, and now being pushed hard by numerous groups in the state, has been bringing in more favorable response and more appeals for materials and help than any safety campaign in the state's history.

HE POINTED TO other factors also influencing the improved safety picture: Tougher driver controls such as the probationary license for new vehicle operators; a new motorcycle code requiring use of helmets and display of headlights in daytime; mandatory rather than voluntary cooperation of coroners with state health and safety officials in securing blood samples from traffic dead to determine presence, extent, or lack of alcohol; stronger enforcement pressures from state, county, and local officers on major violations; spot improvement of road locations whose crash experience has been high, as uncovered by county accident review committees; dedicated and intelligent coordination of safety promotion efforts at all government levels; increasing numbers of persons taking defensive driving courses; more students participating in driver education; more school patrols daily protecting their classmates; more new highways and more improvements on existing roads and streets; and increasing involvement by citizen groups in insisting upon needed safety laws to strengthen overall safety efforts in state, county, and local jurisdictions.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Term 'Surplus' Is Misleading

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Isn't the United States government really running in the red every year? Why are the people being told there will be a "surplus"? The average person is unfamiliar with the way the government keeps its books, but virtually every businessman will wonder whether the terms being used are misleading and, indeed, what is the true meaning of the figures being bandied about which imply that the government's finances are on a sound basis.

Prior to January 1968, the budget sent to Congress by the President — known as the "administrative budget" — followed a system of accounting which had been in use for many years. Then it was changed upon the recommendation of a presidential commission headed by David Kennedy, now secretary of the Treasury in the Nixon Administration.

ANYBODY WHO knows anything about bookkeeping for corporations would arch his eyebrows if someone told him that money being put into trust funds by employees and companies for pensions could be described as "cash receipts." But this is exactly what the government is doing when it formally designates the money in trust funds as federal income.

Politics, of course, played an important role in the adoption by President Johnson of what is called a "unified budget," in which trust funds were included. The Nixon Administration now is necessarily using the same type of budget.

What this means is that, for the fiscal year which begins on July 1, there is an estimated "surplus" of $5.8 billion, as contrasted with LBJ's projection of a $3.4 billion "surplus." But if the trust funds are taken out of the totals and the "administrative budget" is considered, an entirely different picture emerges — instead of a "surplus," there would be a deficit of $5.9 billion.

The "administrative budget" has shown an annual deficit since fiscal year 1961, ranging from $3.9 billion to $28.4 billion in 1968. In other words, last year the actual receipts — excluding contributions to the trust funds — amounted to $114.7 billion and the expenditures in the federal budget were $143.1 billion. In the face of continuing deficit of large proportions, the politicians decided there ought to be other ways to define the word "budget."

BILLIONS HAVE been poured into the Social Security Trust Fund for payment of benefits in future years. The federal government feels free to utilize this money for current operating expenses by borrowing from the Social Security Trust Fund. This, of course, is less costly in interest rates than borrowing from the general public or through the banks or by the issuance of new bonds.

Certainly there are some advantages, apart from politics, in lumping the trust funds with the general funds. For the total net intake of the government, including trust funds, is the determining factor in how much the treasury needs to borrow in cash from the outside. This could have a bearing on the fight against inflation.

But the fact remains that the figures on the "administrative budget" basis show the federal government in a deficit position in every one of the ten fiscal years from 1961 through 1970. The cumulative deficit for this period now amounts to $83 billion.

No wonder that there is concern among fiscal experts about the size of the national debt, for certainly the U.S. Treasury cannot ignore the huge borrowings from the trust funds. This method of financing doesn't have any direct impact on interest rates. But if the government had to borrow from the public as much cash as it takes from trust funds, interest rates would be forced up to higher and higher levels.

WHAT THE U.S. Treasury is doing, however, under the new budget concept applied by the Johnson Administration and maintained by the Nixon Administration is not in accord with what are generally accepted as sound bookkeeping principles. The government is simply borrowing money from trust funds that are supposed to be independent of general operations, and classifying these sums as "receipts."

The truth is the government is still spending far more than it is taking in each year, and the deficits of the last ten years are being continued in large amounts.

Just What Are Workable Reforms?

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, Jr.

Mr. Nixon was apparently pressed to adumbrate his proposals for domestic reform ahead of schedule, and he was good-humoredly annoyed. He wanted to take his time, one gathers. So that, in his press conference, he chided some of his pursuers by observing that reforms are very easily proposed by those who have merely to tap them out on their typewriters; but that what he strove after was "workable" reforms.

Now a "workable" reform can mean one of several things, and Mr. Nixon was careful not to specify which he had in mind. By "workable" he might mean a) a reform that he might hope to pass through a Congress which, after all, is organized by Democrats. Or he might mean b) a reform which the public would tolerate, the public and the Congress not being, on all matters, agreed. Or he might mean c) workable in the sense that it would work, i.e., that things would actually improve, by almost everybody's reckoning, upon the passage of such a reform.

Consider a few examples. Lowering taxes, at this particular moment, could probably get through a) and b), but not c) — the threat of inflation being as it is. Lowering the oil depletion allowance substantially might get past b) and c), but not a). Eliminating the draft and substituting a volunteer military would probably make it through tests a) and c), but not, Gallup tells us, b).

It is in such quandaries as these that one sees especially the necessity for the leader, who concerns himself primarily with what is workable in fact, and then mobilizes public opinion and Congress to go along. The politicians' temptation is usually in the other direction — to consult first what a Congress led by the opposition party will likely consent to go along with; keeping a weather eye on public opinion — and ignore even a fight for what it is that should be done and which a morally and empirically alert public might be persuaded to sanction if the case for it is cogently made.

Mr. Peter Drucker has written an essay which, really, Mr. Nixon and his advisers should closely read. It is a part of his book, The Age of Discontinuity, and it is called the "Sickness of Government."

Government, Mr. Drucker said, is precisely not a "doer." It's role is to focus on that which, in behalf of people, needs publicly to be accomplished. But the moment the government seeks to do what needs doing by itself, it almost guarantees poor results. Mr. Drucker goes so far as to observe that if the government had done absolutely nothing at all in the big cities, said cities would probably be better off today than they are now. And he gives examples in other parts of the world which lend credence to his gruesome conclusions.

One of the reasons why government is not a doer, he stresses, is that it proves almost impossible to get governments out of a bad engagement. He cites, among others, the farm subsidy program, which goes on and on and on, because the elimination of it would be blocked by a). The virtue of private business is perhaps what it can accomplish. But its principal virtue, viewed as a coordinate institution of government, is that it is capable of going broke. There is, always, some relation between the goal of a business and the survival of a business. Henry Ford the First was forced to retire his Model T and Henry Ford the Third was forced to retire his Edsel. If the Fords had been the government, the Model T would still be chugging along. Could we not gear all government enterprises to performance, providing for their automatic elimination when they cease to provide what services they are set up to achieve?

Mr. Drucker's thesis, as elaborated by him is above all exciting because it is eminently workable according to standard c). The notion, for instance, of turning over the Post Office to some sort of a public corporation was proposed even by a Democratic postmaster, Mr. O'Brien. If Mr. Nixon were to strike out audaciously, in pursuit of a new relationship between government and the executives of government policy, he might, just might, win the approval of a dumfounded Congress. Certainly he could attract the excitement of the public. Granted there would be many casualties: Precisely those expensive accretions (the Brooklyn Navy Yard multiplied by one thousand) which we need to do away with in order to get government back to the business of governing, rather than doing, or administering.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

America Can Be Proud Of Their Men in Vietnam To the Editor:

Thank you for printing "Profile of Vietnam GI by GI Squad". In order that more people might read it, may I suggest that you reprint it at a later date after the excitement being caused by Ol' Man River dies down.

Although we're Navy, this article is an echo of some comments my husband made recently in one of his letters about the "men" he had come in contact with in Vietnam.

"I am really surprised with the attitudes of the people in the fleet. They are pros. Pros with a lot of young people working under them. Pros with the same problems city police have with our youth. Surprise! Problem youths are a very small minority — minute! These kids, over here, are literally working their tails off. For what? When they quit there is no liberty, no benefits of home. I've been to just about every Naval activity in I Corps and I'm here to tell you that the youth of America are great. Precision, smooth, take nothing for granted, hard working, and hard playing. BE PROUD OF THEM! Our children will soon be part of them. They won't let us down!

"Those newspaper headline-makers (hippies) are a farce. Entertainers — good in their place. But America can be proud of their children in Vietnam. I know that I am. They're MEN!"

What more can be said . . . but it should be said often.

I just finished reading the Letter to the Editor written by Charles Evans. I would like to answer Mr. Evans and anyone else criticizing the police officers.

I think people should keep in mind that the occupants of the car that stole the beer and then tried to outrun the police are the criminals, not the courageous police officers.

I agree it is tragic that lives were lost and injuries sustained but disagree with the wording of "a few cans of beer".

A look into some of our laws might be helpful. In order to take a case into court the police officer needs more than a license number of the car in question. Knowing the owner of the car doesn't prove that person was driving the car, in the car or involved in the theft of the beer.

Supposing the police officer radioed the license number to other cars and gave up the chase. Then what happens? The possibilities are: 1. The car is later spotted. Would the car stop for the second police car? 2. The occupants of the car get time to drink some of the beer and become intoxicated. Then they drive the car and become involved in an accident killing or injuring some innocent person. 3. The occupants get away with theft by hiding, selling, or drinking the beer. They are then free to break another law.

The attitude of anyone criticizing the police officers is ridiculous. Maybe part of where these young people went wrong is they didn't respect the laws and police.

The people of Winona should thank God they have dedicated conscientious men on the police force who are willing to put their lives on the line every time they report for their shift. They are working to protect the public and doing a fine but thankless job. They should be commended not criticized.

What would the public's attitude be if it was known these officers gave up the chase in the same circumstances and some innocent person got hurt?

Would anyone criticizing the police be willing to take over the officers' job for even one shift? Especially considering the small wages they receive, danger, etc.?

Anyone reading the coverage of the event couldn't help but be moved by the horror of all events at both accident scenes. If just one person could picture himself in this type of situation and decide that his or her actions would change, then I say the reporter brought some good out of a tragic situation. Most people seeing crime on TV, or reading about it in books think that it is just a story. Maybe there is a message for the people in these things.

As to why I feel compelled and qualified to write this answer: I was born and raised in Winona so know a little about the city and its police force. I'm also the wife of a law enforcement officer and can see the other side of the coin. I live with these facts all the time.

Tranquilizers Work in Reverse for Her

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The doctor gave me tranquilizers and they worked the opposite way. I was so full of pep I couldn't stop moving, and I didn't sleep at all. Does that happen to many people? If so, why? — D. R.

It happens to some, although not to most people to the extent you describe.

This "opposite" effect, although infrequent, is known to happen with morphine, too. A time-honored sedative, it has an excitatory effect on some patients.

The explanation apparently lies in the fact that the systems of some individuals metabolize drugs in different ways, a factor thought to be influenced, at least in part, by heredity.

In one recent study of hospitalized patients, it was found that a third of them had adverse reactions — "side effects" — to at least one drug.

This does not mean that unwanted reactions were so extreme as to reverse the intended purpose of the medicine, as in your case.

But let's take the other side of the coin. If one patient in three has some undesirable result from a drug, or drugs, it also means that two out of three did not have trouble with any drug.

I would hope that this may help put into proper perspective the frequent concern about "side effects." Too often, I receive letters from nervous readers who have refused to take prescribed medicine because they have "heard about side effects."

This is looking at the whole thing backward. Most medicines, in most instances, will have no unpleasant side effects, or at least not to a noticeable or deleterious degree.

Side effects, in short, are not a sure accompaniment. Rather, they are unwanted effects which MAY occur in SOME cases.

It makes perfect sense for both patient and doctor to be on the alert in case such effects do develop, but it is not logical to take it for granted that they WILL develop. More often they won't.

Even in the case of medications which are known to produce side effects with continued use, cortisone being one, that does not prohibit the use of cortisones. Rather, one knows in what direction to look for possible side effects, and can discontinue the medication when and if they appear.

As to the tranquilizer that works in reverse, in these rare instances the recourse is to try a tranquilizer of some different chemical composition, or even to rely on other mild sedatives rather than tranquilizers.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am inquiring about a new type of shot which, if injected, would destroy tonsils. My son, 3, has had several doctors say his tonsils should be removed. Is there any possibility this injection could be used instead of surgery? — Mrs. J. B.

I am not familiar with such an injection procedure. The conventional, neatest method is by surgery. With several doctors agreeing that the tonsils should be removed, I'd go ahead with it.

Oslo Teacher Speaks At International Night

"Schools can teach us to read and write but who will teach us how to live?" asked Miss Gunhild Skard, quoting a Swedish student, during the Oslo Night program Sunday at Winona State College.

Miss Skard, a teacher at the Huseby School in Oslo, Norway, spoke in place of Oyvind Scott-Hansen, Norwegian consul-general for the Upper Midwest, who was unable to attend because he was recalled to Norway.

THE GUEST speaker told the 100 in attendance that it is important for students to have Christian and moral training. Knowledge in itself is not enough.

She explained that the school where she teaches is in a transitional period, changing from a seven-year compulsory school to a nine-year teaching program.

Miss Skard had words of praise for many of the elementary schools she has visited in the United States. She said they are smaller than those in the Oslo school system. In smaller schools the teachers are able to cope with a child's total personality, she maintained.

During this visitation period Miss Skard is staying at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Wedul, 418 Grand St. In early May she will leave to visit Washington, New York and New England. She then will come back to the Wedul home for a time and will return to her native land in June.

DR. NELS Minne, master of ceremonies and member of the Oslo committee, introduced the foreign and exchange students. Miss Amanda Aarestad, chairman of the interinstitutional affiliation committee at Winona State, introduced Duane Lee and Elaine Lea, foreign students who were in Norway last year, and Linda Arneberg, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Gordon R. Arneberg, 707 W. Howard St., and Diane Mager, Le Center, Minn., Winona State students going to Norway next year.

Slides of Norway were shown by Gunnar Apeland and Inger Oegrey, foreign students from Norway currently attending Winona State. Duane and Elaine contributed a folk dance exhibition.

Dr. Wedul, housing chairman, thanked the various individuals who have provided housing for foreign exchange students.

Four Shots Fired Into Auto of Moorhead Student

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP)—Police are searching for the person who fired four shots into the car of a Moorhead State College student here Saturday night.

Authorities said Floyd Thomas, a sophomore at the school, had dropped off his date at her dormitory and was driving to his own dormitory when two bullets struck the right front window of his car, another struck the right door and a fourth hit the rear fender of the vehicle.

Thomas, a black student from New Castle, Del., was not injured.

Honor Students Visit WSC

Winona and area high school honor students were participating guests in the season's third Tri-College Seminar Saturday at Kryzsko Commons on the Winona State College campus. Larry Connell, chairman of the department of sociology at Winona State, was the principal seminar speaker and discussed "The Sociology of Involvement."

Citing a recent case in which a group of bystanders took no action to assist a girl attacked and killed on a New York street, Connell analyzed sociological aspects of group behavior in the incident. He also related other cases concerned with group involvement, or lack of involvement, considered possible reasons for behavior in these cases and commented on shifts in acting and thinking, as well as some aspects of present public morality.

After his address Connell, assisted by Winona State staff members Ronald Stevens and Henry Hull, discussed the problem with the 10 honor students and Sister Janet Sullivan, College of Saint Teresa, and Thomas Schaeffer, St. Mary's College, members of Saturday's Tri-College Seminar committee.

Subjects discussed included criminology, delinquency, provincialism, economic history and social problems. After lunch at Kryzsko Commons, Tim Dalton, retiring president of the Winona State Student Senate, escorted the visiting high school students on a tour of the Winona State campus.

The spring term of Winona County District Court opened at 11 a.m. today with Judge Daniel F. Foley, Austin, calling the calendar.

Judge Arnold Hatfield, Wabasha, who maintains chambers in Winona, underwent open heart surgery in February and is not expected to return to the bench until after May 1. Other judges in the 3rd Judicial District have been sharing Judge Hatfield's caseload.

The spring calendar lists a total of 63 cases, four of which fall into the criminal category and 59 civil. Of the civil cases, 42 will require a jury and 17 will be heard by the judge. There are 24 jury cases carried over from the previous term and 18 new ones. Twelve court cases have been carried over and five new cases have been filed.

Jury work started at 1:45 p.m. today, according to Joseph C. Page, clerk of court.

OF THE FOUR criminal cases, three are traffic charges which have been tried and are being appealed from municipal court.

Steven Paul Bauer, 19, West Burns Valley Road, is appealing a careless driving charge which allegedly occurred last Oct. 5 on Highway 61-14 just south of Lamolite.

Another case is that of a parking violation which is alleged to have occurred just off the interstate bridge in the early morning hours of last Aug. 8. Dennis A. Challean, a Winona attorney, is appealing the case in his own behalf.

The third appeal is by Richard Lee Delaney, Warrens, Wis., on a drunken driving charge. He was arrested by the Highway Patrol Feb. 11 at Dresbach.

The fourth criminal action is against Roy Northrup, operator of the Friendly Bar, 500 W. 5th St., on a charge of sale of intoxicating liquor without a license. The alleged offense occurred last February.

FIRST CASE scheduled for jury trial on the new calendar is a civil action brought by Mary Joy Matejka and Donald Matejka, her husband, 173 Chalfield St., against Lambert Sadowski, Rochester, and Emily Czaplowski, 877 E. Broadway.

Plaintiffs claim they were tenants of Mrs. Czaplowski at 623½ E. 5th St., and on July 5, 1965, Mrs. Matejka was attacked by a dog owned by Sadowski which caused her to fall down a stairway from which she received permanent injuries. Plaintiffs are asking $75,000 damages.

HIGHEST amount of damages asked among the new civil cases filed on the calendar is $150,000 asked by Walter Stock, 220 W. 2nd St., who is suing Chester Szwel, 834 E. 3rd St.

The action arises from an accident on Dec. 8, 1966, at East 3rd and Kansas in which Stock claims he was struck by Szwel's auto which was operated in a careless and negligent manner. Plaintiff claims he received permanent and disabling injuries as a result of the accident.

GEORGE MERTEZ, address not given, is suing Royal Yellow Cab Co., Winona, for $10,000 damages arising from alleged permanent and disabling injuries he received in an accident on Nov. 14, 1966, at West 4th and Main streets.

CHARLES N. Brown, 607 E. 2nd St., father of Dennis Wayne Brown, against William Schultz and Sally R. Schultz, 926 E. 5th St., for $25,000. The action arises from an accident July 3, 1965, in which Dennis Brown, then age 3, allegedly received permanent and disabling injuries.

Plaintiff charges carelessness and negligence on the part of Sally R. Schultz.

HAROLD K. Carrigan, Rochester, against Robert Timm, Winona Rt. 2, and Erwin J. Maus, 68 E. 4th St., defendants, and 3rd party plaintiffs against Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Co., 3rd party defendants.

Plaintiff alleges he received severe and painful injuries about his head, shoulders, hands, arms and neck as the result of the carelessness of defendants Timm and Maus which caused an accident 3¼ miles east of Plainview on a county road Aug. 24, 1966. Plaintiff asks $57,000 damages.

RICHARD Donke, address not given, is suing Thomas Smith, St. Charles, for $1,635 damages to his automobile which he claims was the result of defendant's negligence and carelessness in causing a two-car accident four miles north of Altura on Highway 3 Dec. 17, 1967.

The third appeal is by Richard Lee Delaney, Warrens, Wis., on a drunken driving charge. He was arrested by the Highway Patrol Feb. 11 at Dresbach.

The fourth criminal action is against Roy Northrup, operator of the Friendly Bar, 500 W. 5th St., on a charge of sale of intoxicating liquor without a license. The alleged offense occurred last February.

FIRST CASE scheduled for jury trial on the new calendar is a civil action brought by Mary Joy Matejka and Donald Matejka, her husband, 173 Chalfield St., against Lambert Sadowski, Rochester, and Emily Czaplowski, 877 E. Broadway.

The action arises from an accident on Dec. 8, 1966, at East 3rd and Kansas in which Stock claims he was struck by Szwel's auto which was operated in a careless and negligent manner. Plaintiff claims he received permanent and disabling injuries as a result of the accident.

ALICE AND Herbert Goede, 1656 Kraemer Dr., are suing O & J Motors, Inc., St. Charles, and an employe, Kenneth Feine.

Plaintiffs claim that Feine misrepresented the trade-in value on a vehicle owned by the Goedes and ask $1,000 damages.

ELTON E. and Jeanine M. Gellow, 915 39th Ave., Goodview, against Arne and Evelyn M. Odegaard, 840 44th Ave., Goodview.

Plaintiffs claim defendants misrepresented the materials and workmanship in their home which was purchased from the Odegaards March 2, 1968. Plaintiffs ask $2,000 for the alleged reduced value of the property.

SHARON Gruber, a minor, by Paul Gruber, 528 E. 2nd St., her father, is suing Ray M. Fey, Fred L. Fey and Ray M. Fey, Jr., doing business as Winona Transit Co., Eau Claire, Wis., for $35,000 for alleged permanent and disabling injuries to Sharon on Nov. 30, 1965, while she was a passenger on a bus operated by defendants.

Plaintiffs claim defendants were careless and negligent in the operation of the bus.

NEIL J. Monahan, Homer, against Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. Plaintiff claims he was injured in an accident near Belvedere, Ill., May 6, 1967, and is asking payment for damages incurred under the provisions of a policy issued by defendant.

Defendant answers by denying plaintiff's allegations and claims that the terms of the policy did not provide coverage.

DONALD AND Judy Haedtko, 318 Lafayette St., against city of Winona and William M. Harot, 450 E. 5th St., in an action for $18,500.

Plaintiffs claim Mrs. Haedtko slipped and fell on the ice at East 3rd and Walnut streets on Jan. 20, 1967 and received permanent and disabling injuries due to the negligence of defendants.

CENTURY Building Supply Co., Minneapolis, is bringing a mechanic's lien action for $1,151.40 against Lawrence J. and Gertrude Russell, 652 Walnut St., and the Mohan Construction Co., for material allegedly used by Mohan on a siding job on the Russell house in May 1967.

Mrs. Russell answered that the full cost of the job, $2,573, was paid to Mohan on June 20, 1967. Mohan answers that his firm declared bankruptcy May 1, 1968, and is no longer responsible for its debts.

DIVORCE CASES filed for the new term of court include: Philip G. Meiningner, 30, against Pamela Ann Meiningner, 29, addresses not given. The couple was married in Rock Island, Ill., June 29, 1957, and have five children.

Alice A. Morpheus, 525½ W. 4th St., against Leonard Morpheus, 411 Franklin St. The file was not available.

Jean D. Rinn, 47, against Herbert N. Rinn, 56, both of Rollingstone. They were married Sept. 6, 1944 at Winona and have six children.

Divorce cases carried over from the previous term include: Elsie DeBough against Adrian DeBough; Donald W. Schmanski against Dorothy E. Schmanski; Frank V. Michalowski against Donna M. Michalowski, and Beverly F. Wos against George W. Wos.

Utica Carrier Boy Suffocates in Fire

UTICA, Minn. (Special) —A 12-year-old Utica boy, Ronald Boutelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Boutelle, died of asphyxiation shortly before 9 p.m. Saturday when the interior of the family residence on the west side of the village was destroyed by fire.

Ronald and his one sister and three brothers were at home alone; their father was at work in Rochester and his wife was there on a shopping trip.

TAMMY, 7, accompanied by her brother, Clarence, 3, came to the Dale Becker home to the east of the Boutelle residence shortly before 9 to report that the house was on fire. Mrs. Becker took the two children to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Greethurst on the west side of the burning house, and Mr. Greethurst called the Lewiston fire department.

Lewiston firemen called for assistance from the St. Charles fire department. Tammy and Clarence were downstairs and hadn't retired yet but the other three boys were upstairs asleep. Paul Kronebusch, Altura, who was visiting at the Greethurst home, held a small tree near the house while Becker crawled up the tree armed with a baseball bat to break an upstairs window.

By that time both stories of the home were filled with smoke. Becker got Jeff, 5, and Clayton Jr., 6, out of the second floor and handed them down to Greethurst. They called for Ronald but he didn't answer nor did he come.

BUD YACKEL and Dave Poloma, Lewiston firemen, fighting the smoke, found Ronald's body about 10 feet from the front door. Both parents returned to the scene during the fire, first Mrs. Boutelle, then her husband. They and their remaining four children stayed overnight at Beckers and left Sunday afternoon to stay with relatives at Byron.

The fire, which burned everything in the house, left only the shell. Firemen had to chop through slate shingles which had been laid over wood shingles. The fire apparently came up the walls. They stayed on the scene until about 3 a.m. Sunday; two Lewiston firemen stood guard the remainder of the night.

THE RESIDENCE, which had been purchased by the Boutelles from Merlin Nisbit, was near the Greethurst house. Mrs. Greethurst said a 6-foot wood fence standing on their property on the Boutelle side, caught fire. She feels that this served as a buffer against the blaze, and that the aluminum siding on her residence helped keep it from igniting. Also, firemen kept wetting down the nearby residences. A southeast wind was blowing.

Roy Schultz, Lewiston chief, said the state assistant fire marshal believes the blaze started from wiring in the garage. The double garage was attached to the house. Since both cars were gone, the doors stood open. Chief Schultz said he could see flames coming from the garage area as he and the firemen approached.

Death by smoke inhalation at 8:50 p.m. was the ruling of the Winona County coroner, Dr. R. B. Tweedy.

RONALD LEE Boutelle was born March 13, 1957, in Rochester. The family had lived in Utica the last two years, moving here from Rochester. Ronald was a student at the St. Charles school and a carrier for the Winona Sunday and Daily News.

Survivors are: His parents; three brothers, Jeffrey, Clayton Jr., and Clarence; one sister, Tamra Jean; his paternal grandfather, Clarence Boutelle, Rochester; paternal grandmother, Mrs. William Sanford, Togo, Minn.; maternal grandfather, Lester Olson, Rochester; maternal grandmother, Mrs. LeRoy Porter, Eyota, and maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Olson, Byron.

FUNERAL services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Homestead United Methodist Church, Rochester, the Rev. Merle A. Dunn officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Grandview Gardens, Rochester.

Pallbearers will be Gene Jensen, Michael Arndt, David and Dwight Boutelle, Dale Becker and Marvin Kuehn. Friends may call at the Jacobs Funeral Home, St. Charles, from 2 p.m. Tuesday until noon Wednesday, and at the church one hour before the service.

A-Frame Includes Four Bedrooms

By ANDY LANG

A-frame houses have become popular as second homes or all-year houses in suburbs and country areas. They seem to answer the yearning for something different.

Architect Lester Cohen had added an extra room in answer to requests for a four-bedroom A-frame.

The standard design usually has two bedrooms and one in the upper peak, but with larger families and more use made of vacation homes, the four-bedroom layout is sure to be put to good use. With its picturesque chalet exterior, this house offers a wealth of living amenities.

There's a lot of activity possible on the lower level. From the garage at the rear, you can go to the storage room, utility room laundry and to a side door. The stairway to the living level also is there. The recreation area or family room on the same level is big and will be a star attraction whether this house is for vacation or all-year use.

Cozy, friendly furniture groupings suggest themselves—around the fireplace, centered in the room or around the walls; even in front of the window wall at the front.

SUPPLEMENTING the garage, for shore or lake use, there is a boat stall. This opens into two dressing room areas and a full-scale bathroom with a stall shower. In ski country or suburban acreage, the boat space will be utilized for another car, and the dressing rooms by ski gear or gardening equipment storage.

To enter the living levels, you can go up the stairway at the front and cross the sun deck, or come up from the side yard to the dining balcony, especially if you are heading toward the kitchen. Even vacation-minded families like several means of entering a house to spare the living room floor or rugs the brunt of through traffic.

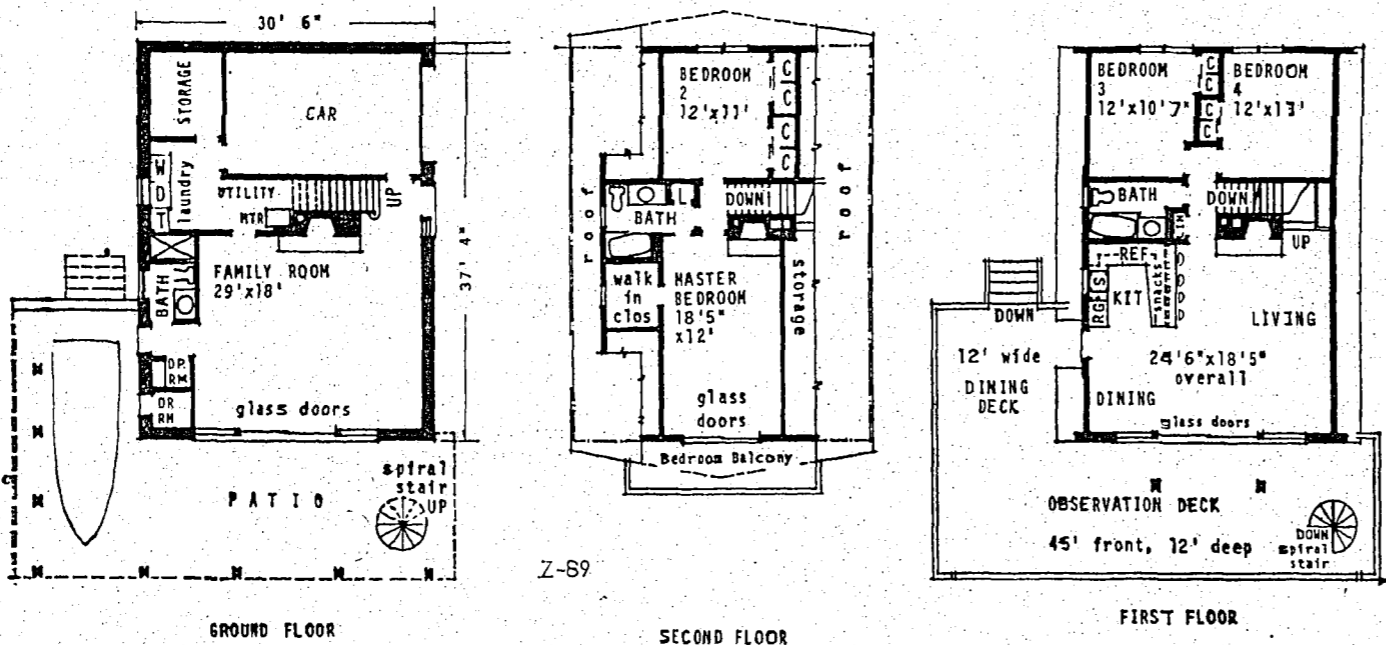

The view through the big picture windows will be an important feature for living and dining rooms in any interior decorating scheme. There's a second fireplace outlined by the open stairways from below and above, and a planter to one side.

THE KITCHEN is self-contained and easy to work in. A snack bar with overhead hanging cupboards forms the divider between the kitchen and living areas. Meals are easily handled at the bar, in the dining area, or best of all, when the weather warrants it, outside on the dining balcony. When the sun shifts or you just want a change, there's the equally inviting front deck. At the back, two bedrooms share a closet wall and have another bathroom to themselves.

On the second floor are the

A-FRAME CHALET of this type is becoming increasingly popular as a vacation or second home. This one has four bedrooms and all the extras which would make it suitable for an all-year-round house in most country areas.

main family bedrooms. The master bedroom gives the owners large quarters, their own balcony, excellent closet space and private access via a pocket door to the third bedroom. A fireplace in the bedroom is a delightful country-estate extra. The second bedroom features a closet wall and has a fine view to the deck.

ALTHOUGH the dimensions of the basic house are very modest—37 feet 4 inches by 30 feet 6 inches—the observation deck at the front stretches 45 feet and is 12 feet deep, which means that the covered area below is the same size. Plenty of room there for outdoor relaxing or entertaining in the sun or the shade.

Four times as much softwood lumber as hardwood is used in America. Predominant in construction, softwoods come from the needle-bearing trees, such as firs, pines and spruces. Broad-leaved trees yield hardwoods, which go into furniture, flooring, paneling and the like.

Home Permits Top Building Activities

Residential construction and remodeling dominated the local scene last week according to building permit applications on file at the city engineer's office.

Herbert Nichols, Jr., 4 Lenox St., drew a permit to build a new house on an existing foundation at that address. The one-story dwelling will measure 24 by 40 feet and will be heated by gas-fired forced air. Gudmundson Construction Co. is the contractor and cost is listed at $9,000.

Wilmer Larson, 261 Vine St., drew a permit for construction of a garage at 813 Hickory Lane at a cost of $2,000.

Floyd Rowland, 861 E. King St., received a permit for remodeling and construction of a 15-by-30-foot addition to his house. Cost was listed at $3,000.

Other permits included: R. Peter Roehl, 521 Deborah Lane, $700, 12-by-14-foot porch; George Karsten is contractor. Arvid Jenkinson, 373 E. Howard St., $700, remodeling; Bruce McNally is the contractor.

A. J. Boettcher, 720 W. 4th St., $500, build garage. Karl Grabner, 226 Pelzer, $250, remodeling.

Louis Sheekanoff, 1114 W. Broadway, $100, remodeling. Dollar valuation for permits issued so far this year is $2,699,756 compared with $2,318,764 on this same date one year ago.

Seven permits for new houses have been taken this year compared with eight for the same period in 1968.

BUILDING AT ETRICK
ETRICK, Wis. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Twesme are erecting a dwelling on Lake Road in Galesville.

MILLIONS OF SEEDS
The consumer and Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture points out that even though fine-textured grass seed costs more per pound, there are more seeds per pound too. For example, it takes more than seven million bentgrass seeds, a fine grass, to make one pound while it takes only 225,000 tall fescue or ryegrass seeds, coarse grasses, to make a pound of each. So, really, which grass seed is more expensive?

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: About a year ago, while visiting in another state, I was in a home where all the inside window sills were covered with the same kind of plastic you see on coffee tables. I don't know whether this setup was put in when the house was built or whether it was done later. The window sills looked very neat and trim and I imagine they were easy to clean.

Is it possible for me to put the plastic on our window sills, most of which are pretty well worn and in need of painting? Also, would the wood have to be treated first?

ANSWER: To answer the first question first, no, the wood requires no special treatment, assuming that the old paint merely has worn off and isn't peeling. If the latter, scrape and sand the sill to provide a smooth surface for the plastic laminate. The hardest part of the job is cutting the plastic to size. The safest way is to make a cardboard pattern of the sill, which usually has curves in it at the sides.

Allow about one-eighth of an inch extra at the front for later trimming. The cutting must be done with a saw that has very fine teeth regardless of what type of saw it is. The big danger is that the edges of the plastic may chip. To avoid this, place the plastic upward on a firm surface with the cutting line beyond the edge of the table or bench. Hold the saw almost parallel with the plastic, so that the saw teeth wear through the finished portion before cutting into the backing material. Move the saw slowly and steadily on the forward stroke, lifting it to clear the plastic on the back stroke. Support the cutaway portion so it won't sag and tear.

Test the plastic on the sill to be sure it fits snugly. Apply contact cement to the back of the plastic and the top of the sill, spreading it evenly and thinly. Wait about 20 minutes, then place the plastic on the sill. Be sure you do this carefully, because it is almost impossible to snift the plastic once it is in position. Use a hammer and a piece of scrap wood to pound down the plastic at every point so it is securely bonded.

Wait until the next day, then take a coarse file and trim off the excess plastic at the front until it is flush with the sill edge. Hold the file with both hands, moving it in downward strokes and lifting it on the upward returns to avoid chipping.

MOST GRASS PERENNIAL

If you're concerned with planting a lawn, experts in the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture remind you that most lawn seeds are perennial, that is, they live from year to year. One major exception is annual ryegrass, which dies out after one season.

Clark Joins Same Law Firm As Goldberg

NEW YORK (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has joined the same New York law firm as Arthur J. Goldberg, who served on the U.S. Supreme Court with Clark's father.

The law firm, Paul, Weiss, Goldberg, Rifkind, Wharton and Garrison, announced the move Sunday.

Clark, 41, practiced law in Dallas until he went to Washington as assistant attorney general in the administration of John F. Kennedy. When President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed Clark in 1967 to head the Justice Department, Justice Tom Clark retired from the Supreme Court to avoid any conflict of interests.

Goldberg left the court to become U.N. ambassador on the death of Adlai E. Stevenson, who had been a partner in the law firm.

Clark said he would divide his time between New York and Washington, and would retain his home on Lake Bancroft in suburban Virginia. He said he probably would move to New York in five years or so.

3 Country Western Stars Visit Injured Policemen

Tex Ritter, Little Billy Sprout and Sherwin Linton, all Country Western stars who were appearing at Winona Junior High School, made an impromptu visit to Patrolman Milton Ronnenberg at Community Memorial Hospital between shows Friday evening.

Ronnenberg is recovering from injuries received April 4 in the collision of a police patrol car and another vehicle while conducting a chase of a third car.

THE THREE performers visited with the police officer for about 20 minutes and Ritter and Linton autographed albums by their respective groups. Ritter then visited with the nurses and several patients including Terry Lembke, 502 Collegeview, and Mary Ann Johnson, Rushtord.

Ronnenberg said that his condition is slowly improving although he is still completely confined to bed. He suffered a broken pelvis and several broken ribs in the collision.

He said he is hopeful he will be able to leave the hospital in about two weeks but will require several additional weeks of convalescence.

IN A SEPARATE but related accident which occurred a few seconds after the crash of the police car, four persons were killed and two seriously injured. Of the two, only Edward Smoluch, 16, 871 E. Sanborn St., remains in St. Marys Hospital, Rochester, where he was transferred shortly after the accident.

Hospital authorities reported Saturday that Smoluch is off the serious list and is in satisfactory condition and continuing to improve. He received severe head injuries in the accident and was in critical and semi-conscious condition for nearly two weeks.

The other survivor, Kenneth H. Kinowski, 18, 755 E. Mark St., was treated for severe facial lacerations, stayed several days in the hospital, and was released.

Just Couldn't Forego Party For Wine Limit

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State Sen. Jack White of Shelby asked at a committee hearing whether champagne was included in a bill to remove North Carolina's one-gallon limit on the fortified wine a person can buy in one trip to a store.

When he was told no, he proposed an amendment to include unfortified wine, and to raise the purchase limit to three gallons. The amendment was approved and the bill was given a favorable report.

White said, "My little secretary is getting married and we plan to have some parties for her. I don't want to have to get a bunch of friends to go to the store for a gallon."

AT WINONA STATE

Research Center Benefits Outlined

Benefits to be realized by Winona area residents as a result of the designation by the federal government of Winona State College's Maxwell Library as an Educational Research Information Center (ERIC) were cited Saturday by Edward T. Jacobsen, Winona State director of library services, at an annual Southeastern Minnesota district meeting of the Minnesota Association of School Librarians.

As one of the nation's Government Bureau of Research and Information centers, Jacobsen explained, Maxwell Library will be able to supply a substantially expanded volume of information on research in such fields as science, library science, counseling and guidance.

SPEAKING to school librarians from 13 area communities at the meeting at Winona Senior High School, Jacobsen told librarians that all present and former Winona State students may use the ERIC resources and all other interested persons may apply at the library for user privileges.

Nineteen small research centers, he explained, assemble and evaluate documents which are then computerized and distributed to user center. These summary reports are put on microfiche cards — microfiche — which can be read from a viewer.

As many as six can read at the same time from one viewer, he said. Viewers are sent free to ERIC depositories and users may purchase duplicate microfiche films or hard copy reprints.

Addressing the meeting on "Innovations in Library Service," Jacobsen asked, "How can we get information our users need? How can we put the information into users' hands? Patrons cannot live on promises. School librarians must give service to students and we feel that librarians need not change their methods; they must continue to work with and for people but should understand scientific innovations and new developments in methods of communications."

ATTENDING the meeting were librarians from Chatfield, Eyota, Harmony, Hokah, La Crescent, Lanesboro, Peterson, Rushford, Winona, St. Charles, Spring Valley and West Concord.

During the day there were tours of new Winona school libraries including those at Winona State College, College of Saint Teresa, St. Mary's College and Winona Senior High School.

Mrs. Marian Turner, Chatfield school librarian who is chairman of the Minnesota association, reported on recent meetings she had attended and of developments of interest. She spoke of the new media standards recently published by the American Library Association and the division of audio-visual instruction. She told of the state-level organizational integration of media training centers for use of both print and nonprint materials. This merging has been achieved in Nebraska and is being discussed in both Minnesota and Iowa.

Miss Charlotte Nelson, West Concord, who is district membership chairman, and Larry Gifford, Rochester, treasurer, each gave information of forthcoming district meetings to be held this spring or next fall in Albert Lea, Pine Island, Le Sueur and Rochester.

Mrs. Laura Elstad, librarian at Harmony who is Southeast district chairman, was in charge of the meeting and Miss Janet Newcomb, Winona Senior High librarian, made local arrangements and extended a welcome to the librarians attending.

Lunch was served at the student concourse of Senior High School by Roy Grausnick, public schools' director of food service, assisted by four Senior High library aides, Nadine Wood, Carol Gady, Janet Summers and John Rossin.

St. Paul Tot Dies of Burns

ST. PAUL (AP) — Michael Powers, 3, died in a St. Paul hospital Saturday of injuries suffered in a house fire.

Firemen said the boy was trapped in his home Friday afternoon when flames broke out. On their arrival, firemen encountered fierce flames and dense smoke. Eventually they managed to enter the burning house and found the boy lying on the kitchen floor.

Michael's mother, Mrs. Patrick Powers, was outside when the fire broke out.

Bjornson Says He Has Not Been Offered Post

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota State Treasurer Val Bjornson said today he has not been offered the position of U.S. Ambassador to Iceland.

Washington sources said Saturday that Bjornson is under consideration for the appointment by President Nixon. Bjornson, 62, in his seventh term in the state post, would succeed Karl Rolvaag, a former Minnesota governor, as U.S. envoy to the North Atlantic ally.

Informants in the nation's capital said Bjornson was of Icelandic origin, had served there during World War II and speaks the language.

There was no immediate comment from the White House on the report.

Bjornson, a 1930 University of Minnesota graduate, also was a newspaperman and radio commentator. He formerly was associate editor of the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch.

40 Years Later, He's Still on Wagon

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Jim Saunders has been on the wagon for 40 years. He hasn't touched a drop since he was 73. Jim, born 114 years ago in Charleston, still smokes, chews, likes his candy and yearns for beans, potatoes and bacon fat. Still in good health and with a clear mind, he resides in a privately operated care home.

Arcadia Cites Two Retiring Councilmen

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Two retiring councilmen were commended for their past services to Arcadia by the City Council this week.

Morris Jensen, 1st Ward alderman and council president with 10 years of service, and Eugene Killian, 3rd Ward with four years of service, were replaced by Gerald Myers and Albert Galuska at the reorganizational meeting Tuesday, having been elected April 1.

A REQUEST from the city planning commission to amend the zoning ordinance to change three locations in the city from residential to commercial property was read by City Clerk Warren Shankey. Land involved includes a lot on the west side where a 24-hour car wash may be constructed, and clinic properties. A public hearing is set for May 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall concerning the passage and adoption of the proposed amendment.

Mrs. Bruno Weaver again was granted a concession permit to operate a stand at the city ball park. A Class B picnic permit was granted the Arcadia Lions Club at Cashes Park for Broiler-Dairy Days May 30, 31 and June 1.

Building permits were granted the W. B. Massure Co. for remodeling and new facing on its Washington street side; M. C. Jensen for construction of a garage; Erwin Ganschow for addition of rooms to his dwelling, Rudolph Klink, and Albert Skroch for new siding on their homes. A bartender's license was granted Lloyd J. Rebhahn.

The proposal by Midwest Natural Gas for conversion of the present heating system at the city hall to a gas power burner plus gas incinerator and piping for $784 was accepted.

Maintenance of the Paelow swimming pool was put in charge of the water and sewer utility commission. Dave Drett was given the responsibility for repair work. Applications are being accepted for pool help.

The city donated $200 to the band - parent organization to send the band to Canada in June.

BILL GIEBEL, owner of Arcadia TV, presented the council with printed guidelines for a proposed cable TV installation for study. The franchise, which was discussed only briefly, would involve a tower setup and a cable fee to users. It would bring in five stations. Giebel will appear at the May meeting to discuss the proposed franchise more fully.

Registrations Made Fast for Camp We-No-Nah

Registrations for YMCA Camp We-No-Nah are coming in twice the rate of previous years, according to Larry Schiller, camp director.

More than half the available reservations for day camp have been taken. The second period is filled but three other periods still have openings.

Camp periods still open are: June 16-27, boys only; July 14-25, boys and girls; and July 28-Aug. 8, boys and girls.

Camping programs for junior high school boys have openings in all periods. Two 5-day canoe trips and three 6-day travel camps are offered.

A number of ninth grade boys have been invited to participate in a new "leaders-in-training" program, Schiller said.

Registrations also are being made at a lively rate for YMCA Camp Olson. Period two for girls is filled but openings remain for girls in period one and for boys in three periods. Family camping is also offered at the end of the children's season.

Debt Case Set In Fillmore District Court

PRESTON, Minn. (Special) — A jury case was scheduled to begin in District Court for Fillmore County this afternoon, Judge O. Russell Olson presiding.

Allied Mills, Inc., is suing Ben and Hildegard Ryan, husband and wife, for payment of a $3,503.94 promissory note, on which the firm alleges defendants have failed to make payments. Plaintiff is asking for a judgment on the note plus interest at 7 percent. Plaintiff also charges the Ryans are indebted to it for $1,861.95 for merchandise sold and delivered to them on request, the amount being represented by a series of notes executed by defendants at delivery time.

A jury to hear this case was drawn last week.

ALSO ON the jury calendar is a $15,000 suit brought by Loren T. Jeche against Sharon J. Gusa and Dennis D. Cox arising from a rear-end collision Jan. 28, 1968, at approximately 12:15 a.m. Both were proceeding east on Highway 80 three miles west of Fountain.

Jeche, driving a 1966 car, charges that Cox, driving the 1961 vehicle belonging to Sharon, stopped in the eastbound lane and his car struck it in the back. Jeche says he suffers injuries which will be permanent, caused him to be absent from employment, and his car was damaged and depreciated. Date for this case hasn't been set.

To be held over the term is the case of Amos Thoen, who is asking a $95,000 judgment from Lanesboro school District and Lemoine Holton, operator of a school bus involved in an accident on Highway 52 near Lanesboro.

Thoen asks for $20,000 in medical expenses incurred at the time of the complaint, plus loss of income, alleged permanent disability, and more medical expenses in the future.

A COURT case scheduled at a special term June 16 is brought by the Southern Minnesota Broadcasting Co. against the state. The broadcasting company is appealing from the valuation placed on its property by the commissioner of taxation charging that the commissioner has discriminated against the company by assessing it at a much higher value than the county board.

The company charges that the building, tower and antenna were assessed in excess of market value, contrary to state statutes.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Pros, Cons of Speed Reading

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D. University of S. California Dear Dr. Nason:

What is your opinion of the recently developed form of "speed reading?"

Can someone following this system actually retain much in the way of valuable facts and knowledge? To a person who has learned to grasp 10 or 15 words, would there not be a tendency to forget them before the whole concept has been read? Shorthand writers often do this and have little idea of what they have written until it has been transcribed.

F.C., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Answer: Speed reading trains students to process words through the mind rapidly and in groups. This can be a distinct advantage to a student provided that, while reading, he thinks about what he is reading and concentrates on grasping its meaning.

The balance between the brain power used in grasping words and that used in grasping meanings varies with the material being read. Science and mathematics reading must give high priority to understanding, thus reducing the actual speed. Exploratory reading, which may be primarily a matter of skimming, allows the student to put his major emphasis on speed.

Students will find speed reading an advantage unless they attempt to use it where it is not appropriate.

Dear Dr. Nason: My 8th grade son does well in all his studies except history. He complains that he reads slowly and doesn't remember anything. The counselor reports that he is two years behind his grade in reading comprehension. The boy gets along well in all classes that require little or no reading. What do you suggest? Mrs. J.N., Pomona, Calif.

Answer: Grasping ideas from the printed page requires skill in visual perception. The whole process that takes place between seeing the words and registering the idea in the mind is complex and little understood. However, it is a learned process and skill in its use can be developed. In a similar situation involving 8th grade history, I worked with a lad who grasped ideas through hearing better than through vision. The following procedure proved successful:

The boy and I spent time discussing the situations he was to read about, setting up a background for easier understanding during the reading process. He then studied to grasp the ideas as he read, checking himself every paragraph or so by reciting the ideas to himself.

Dear Dr. Nason: I am a 9th-grade student who is not doing too well in school. I have just finished reading your column about the City University of New York, which selected 9th-graders who were not doing well and helped train them for college.

If possible, I would please like to know more about this study program. Could you please send me further information. R.R., Drexel, Pa.

Answer: Programs such as this are local. Discuss the matter with your school principal or counselor to find if such a program is available in your area.

If there is no organized program which you can enter, work out your own program. Someone in your own high school should be willing to help you plan the activities which will improve your chances of success in college.

Water Whips Against Dikes Along Mississippi

LA CROSSE (U) — High winds, blowing across Lake Onalaska, threatened more water damage to the west side of French Island today but on the sheltered east side, the first cleanup operations were under way.

The Mississippi River crested at 15.7 feet Sunday but receded and residents feel the threat is over.

"I'm feeling pretty good now that the water is down," said Mrs. Henry LaFond, whose home had four feet of water in the basement. "Our pump is working and we should get it out."

"We put the motor back on the pump," she said. "The water heater's enclosed, so that wasn't damaged."

A temporary dike protected the La Fond home from the river. The water in their basement was seepage.

On the river side of the dike, water was lapping at garages and trickling into basements.

"We wanted to be near the water and we are," said O.

Asland, as he raked debris out of the water in his back yard. "We'll have to rake up this debris and burn it," he said. "The dead fish are beginning to smell."

On the northwest side of the island, whitecaps splashed into backyards. A wooden fence erected to hold back the water had gaping holes battered by the waves.

"If this wind gets any higher, we're gonna have real trouble," said Hank Hoesley as he worked to shore up another wooden fence. "This area took quite a beating from the wind and water."

"Each time we fight a flood," he said, "we learn more about how to handle them."

He had brought a fresh load of lumber to strengthen the eight-foot fence. Concrete walls nearby held much of the water back.

Another resident, William Sheeley, rowed around neighbors' yards in a small boat checking the water level. It had receded 10 feet or more from the debris-marked high water of Sunday.

"I was going to throw a big party at my place," he said; "but that's off for this spring."

Residents were generally thankful the flooding was no worse than it was. All took pride in showing the high water marks of the 1965 flood painted on posts or notched in sides of homes. The marks were three to four feet higher than Sunday's high water marks.

They said the protective measures had saved them a lot of damage.

"If it hadn't been for the dry road," said Mrs. LaFond, referring to the raised dike road in front of her home "it would have been a lot worse. They're going to make that a permanent dike now."

"We're awful thankful," she said, "for the workers and the sandbagging. We're fortunate."

HIGH WINDS . . . Winds began washing out the riverside road at Buffalo City Sunday. It also blew bathhouses ashore, and damaged many floats, motors and equipment buildings along the frontage road. Buffalo County employees and local youth put sandbags into the washed areas, with snowplows, to break up the waves and help hold the sandbags. Up to this time Buffalo had done no sandbagging. ## Nixon Approves Radio Hookup In Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-way shortwave radio for the Soviet embassy in Washington has been approved by President Nixon, according to administration officials, as another step demonstrating the working relationships between the superpowers.

Another such example, the officials said Sunday, was the Soviet naval cooperation last week in the search for the U.S. plane shot down by North Korean jets. Under the radio agreement, a set will be allowed for the American embassy in Moscow. An embassy-controlled transmitter is considered valuable by U.S. diplomats in countries where commercial facilities are poor or political conditions unstable.

Previously, Washington and Moscow had agreed to private teletype circuits to their embassies and the right to carry away diplomatic pouches from commercial flights without customs inspection.

Wabasha Adds 5th Pump

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — A fifth pump has been installed at Wabasha, Mayor Ray Young said this morning because the city is having more trouble with seepage than when the Mississippi crested Friday.

There are three pumps in the harbor, two 16-inch and one 12-inch, one of which is new. The two others are in other parts of the city. Volunteers are needed to keep the pumps operating—they are running around the clock. Civil defense headquarters is open in the city hall and patrolling of dikes continues 24 hours a day.

Tom Lindgren is in charge of the pump operators.

No damage was done to the dikes by wind Sunday. There were many sightseers.

Burglars Enter Lake City Firm

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Officers are investigating a break-in at the Hassler & Herman Implement Co. in Lake City Sunday night.

Making entry by breaking the window in the front door, the burglars took batteries, tractor radio and other radios, a copying machine and a typewriter, but the cash register wasn't touched. One battery was dropped by the door and left behind.

Josten's to Transfer Some Operations

OWATONNA, Minn. (AP) — Josten's Inc. of Owatonna plans to transfer some of its staff functions to a new Bloomington, Minn., office this summer.

The jewelry firm said Saturday personnel from Springfield, N.D., and Edina offices will relocate to consolidate sales, marketing and other corporate functions.

Why Are You A PoorTalker?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Conversation, 833 Diversey Pkwy., Dept. 471-914, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

Queen Named at Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Cathleen Marquardt, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Marquardt, Wabasha, was crowned queen of Loyalty Day at a program sponsored by Wabasha's VFW Post Saturday night.

The crowning was performed by Dorothy Deming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Deming, Kellogg, last year's local and 1st District queen. Also present was the new queen's sister, Mary, who was the 1967 local and district queen.

CATHLEEN will be a candidate for district queen at the contest at Waseca May 3. Dorothy Deming will crown the new queen there.

First runnerup in the contest here is Kathy Curdue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Curdue, sponsored by Deming Ford of Kellogg. Second runnerup is Mary Quesenberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Quesenberry, sponsored by Wabasha Electric.

The 29 candidates were judged by Dr. David Martin, Mrs. I. J. Burkhardt, city librarian, and Mrs. Morris Flatten, district patriotic instructor. All were introduced by Mrs. Elden Schlessler, committee chairman.

The new queen, junior at Wabasha High School, plans to attend college but hasn't chosen her field of study. She will attend Girls State this year. A straight A student, she is a member of the National Honor Society, Job's Daughters, is a cheerleader and active in girl scouting. She likes sewing, reading and all sports.

Kathy Curdue, 17, is a senior, A student, member of the honor society, is honor queen of Job's Daughters, alternate to Girls State, alternate winner in the Masonic scholarship, and winner of the Minnesota Heart Association fellowship. She plans to attend the University of Minnesota.

Mary Marquardt, 15-year-old sophomore, has won many honors in piano recitals and is accompanist for her church choir. She's a member of Job's Daughters, active in Girl Scouts, is assisting with the special education classes at school, and plans to major in mathematics when she goes to college.

TOMMY ABBOTT, son of the James Abbotts, and Jane Markey, daughter of the Donavan Markeys, were crown bearer and flower girl at the ceremonies. Ernie Reek, Arcadia, whose band played for dancing after the program, was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Raymond Kosidowski sang, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Curtis Herman.

Mrs. Quinton Lindgren, auxiliary president, presented the queen with a $25 savings bond and gift certificates to the runners-up.

Sheriff Ed Lager assisted in bringing Barbara Lovejoy, one of the candidates, her parents, the Roy Lovejoys, the sponsors and Mrs. Fred Butterfass Jr., state Loyalty Day chairman, to the event from Sand Prairie. They came on the duck that has been provided for the flood duration by the National Guard.

Assisting Mrs. Schlessler with the queen contest was Roger Owens, Mrs. Ruth Hall, Mrs. William Schmidt, Mrs. Arlin Brehmer, Mrs. Adelaide Harms and Mrs. Walter St. Jacques were on the decorations and lunch committee.

THE NEW QUEEN will help with the Loyalty Day parade Saturday, featuring elementary children in a March from the public school, through the downtown section and to the VFW hall, where prizes will be awarded. Judges will be Mrs. Butterfass and Sam Jacobson, Kenyon, past district commander and currently department Voice of Democracy contest chairman.

Joanne Sigurdson, 15, Albert Lea, who won the state Voice of Democracy contest, has been invited to attend the American Academy of Achievement at Dallas, Tex., June 26-28 as one of 200 outstanding high school students present.

The American Cancer Society says: Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check.

Extension of Tire Law Agreed Upon

ST. PAUL (U) — Senate-House conferees agreed to a two-year extension of a law allowing metal studs on tires.

The joint committee announced Saturday they'd agreed to permit use of the metal stud tires during the Oct. 15 to May 1 period each year.

The agreement stipulated that the Highway Commissioner will investigate effects of the studs which have been promoted as safety devices by some and criticized by others as erosive to road surfaces.

A milk promotion bill passed the Senate and awaits House approval today. A $25,000 appropriation is needed to launch the program which would then be supported by processors with a 1 per cent fee on their production.

A bill is awaiting the governor's signature which authorizes an Edina bond issue to build a bridge on suburban Highway 100.

Find Prisoner Hiding In Jail Compound

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A prisoner missing at Long Bay Jail since April 17 was found early today—still in the jail.

Erroll Kavanagh, 22, had been hiding under huts in the jail compound. He came out for air and surrendered quietly when he was spotted.

Czech Students Boycott Classes Over Switches

PRAGUE (AP) — Students in two departments of Charles University boycotted classes today to protest the leadership change in Czechoslovakia's Communist party last week.

The city-wide Prague student parliament, however, ended a long meeting early today unable to agree on proposals for a coordinated strike. Students said two of the 25 members of the parliament had decided to go on a hunger strike to protest the party's indecision.

Despite trade union opposition, some workers were reported attending student meetings at the university. Czechoslovakia's large trade union organizations have decided Gustav Husak, the new party leader, should be given a chance to end the crisis in Soviet-Czechoslovak relations and have asked the workers to avoid protest actions.

Husak is expected to go to Moscow for a session Tuesday of the Soviet bloc's Council of Mutual Economic Assistance. All Communist party chiefs in the bloc are due in Moscow.

As expected, the Czechoslovak party newspaper Rude Pravo carried a long editorial today echoing Husak's acceptance speech and the resolutions of the party Central Committee meeting at which Husak was elected to succeed Alexander Dubcek.

Queen Elizabeth Observes 43rd Birthday Today

LONDON (AP) — Flags flew on public buildings and royal gun salutes were fired today to mark Queen Elizabeth II's 43rd birthday.

With her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen spent the day at Windsor Castle, 40 miles west of London. She had no public engagements.

Public celebration of the birthday comes in June when there is less likelihood of bad weather spoiling the military review that is the high point of the occasion.

250 Attend Bridal Day

More than 250 persons attended "A Day For The Bride" Saturday at Winona State College Union. Yvonne Lindquist, Station KAGE, women's director, was mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Lindquist told the group that the secret of a perfect wedding meant planning well in the future.

It is important to set dates and to contact the church, place of reception, the florist and many others early, giving them the date of the wedding so they may reserve the date for you, said Mrs. Lindquist. She also told the audience how to announce their engagement and wedding. Also discussed were the important points of wedding etiquette, shower ideas, choosing china and silver, sending wedding invitations and menu planning for the wedding reception.

Guest speakers included Dorothy Farmer on the styles of invitations; Ray Meyer, receptions and other bridal parties; Richard Alf, wedding photography; Kenneth Nelson, money management for the young couple; Cal Friesen, purchasing appliances, and Lavern Lawrenz, furniture. On display was a large six-layer wedding cake which Mrs. Lindquist showed how to cut. The wedding cake was later served to the guests. After lunch the guests enjoyed a style show of wedding dresses, bridesmaid fashions and a collection of trousseau fashions. The brides and bridesmaids carried wedding bouquets which were later given away.

Immanuel WSCS Sees Skit, Elects Officers

A skit, "Two in a Tussle," was presented at the Thursday evening meeting of Immanuel United Methodist Women's Society for Christian Service by the Meses. George Kratz, leader; Lavern Scharmer, narrator, and Allen Osborne, speaker. It portrayed two distinct sides of one person. One side which hides behind a mask and does not reveal the true person. The other as the same person appears to herself or who she thinks she is in the sight of God. The purpose was to come to know, understand and accept one's true self to seek new and unique ways of relating to new forms of mission. Officers elected who will be installed in September: Meses. Clarence Krenz, president; Fred Kleinbach, vice president; Allan Osborne, secretary, and August Benck, treasurer.

Van Hoof Loses in AAU Finals

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (Special) — Winona's Tom Van Hoof made it into the finals of the national AAU boxing championships in the 178-pound division before running into old nemesis Dave Matthews of Akron, Ohio. Matthews, who had beaten Van Hoof in the semifinals of the National Golden Gloves championships a month ago in Kansas City, was awarded a decision in a blood-soaked 10-nip match.

A cut which Van Hoof had reopened and it took nine stitches to close the gash following the title fight. Matthews, on the other hand, received a pounding which required 13 stitches to close facial cuts.

Van Hoof, who will enter the Mayo Clinic in Rochester next week to have corrective shoulder surgery, went farther than any previous Upper Midwest Golden Gloves champion in a National AAU tournament.

In the semifinals he had defeated Milomir Gaelc of Cleveland, the Lake Erie area champion. Matthews, on the other hand, had won all his bouts up to the championship match by knockout.

AFTER 12-1 WIN OVER ANGELS

Boswell's Happy Feeling Miserable

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Dave Boswell felt lousy after he pitched and helped bat the Minnesota Twins to their sixth straight victory, a 12-1 romp Sunday over the slumping California Angels.

"I feel miserable," said the 6-foot-3 right-hander, who pitched with a bad cold and 100-degree fever.

But Boswell probably is happy feeling miserable rather than pitching with a minor league team in Florida, where he would have been until late April.

Boswell sliced a tendon in his fielding hand while cleaning fish during spring training, and Twins Manager Billy Martin contemplated putting his accident-prone pitcher on the disabled list until April 29.

Matthews, who had beaten Van Hoof in the semifinals of the National Golden Gloves championships a month ago in Kansas City, was awarded a decision in a blood-soaked 10-nip match.

"I didn't have my real good fastballs," said Boswell. "I was trying to pitch to my infield. I don't like to alibi but I was getting weaker. You can thank (pitching coaches) Art Fowler and Early Wynn. They told me to keep the ball down."

Fowler said, "The only time he got in trouble was when he got the ball up. He did a heck of a job considering his cold."

Martin said the Twins had given Boswell "such a big lead I decided to leave him in there."

The Twins exploded for five runs in the first inning, and had three home runs off Angel starter Andy Messersmith before a man was out. Tony Oliva, who hit a solo homer in the second, slammed a run-producing single and Harmon Killebrew a 430-foot two-run double to center to highlight the outburst.

"We didn't really have a chance," said Angels Manager Bill Rigney after his club had lost its sixth straight game. "We have to get our pitching straightened out. We haven't been hitting."

The Twins pounded out 14 hits and had their starting pitcher go nine innings for the second time in three days.

Oliva stretched his hitting streak to eight games.

"When I hot," says Oliva, now batting a league-leading

COTTER COACH HONORED AT SURPRISE BANQUET

Nett Overwhelmed by Tribute

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

"John Nett: Coach-Teacher-Friend."

So the inscription read, and all of those facets of his life were laid open for over 400 well-wishers to view Sunday night in Holy Family Hall of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart as the Cotter High School coaching veteran was the surprise recipient of a testimonial banquet.

Nett, a graduate of Cotter High School and St. Mary's College, was honored for the 23 years he has spent as a teacher and coach at the high school. He was presented with a trophy by Tom Riska, a current Cotter senior who spoke on behalf of all the athletes who have passed under Nett's tutelage.

HE WAS the recipient of an arm-load of letters and telegrams from well-wishers who could not attend. And he and his family, all of whom were present, were presented with a color television set as a token of appreciation for his many years of service to the school and community.

Nett, who thought he was going to his mother's house for Sunday supper, was guided into the throng of 400 at Holy Family Hall with a surprised and bewildered look on his face. But he quickly recovered his composure and sat through an hour-long program of tributes and salutations.

Following the program he rose, obviously caught up in the emotion of the moment, and haltingly said his thanks. He briefly touched on the philosophy by which he has coached for 23 years, said he wished to stay at Cotter as long as it would have him and then paid his own tribute to his mother (who, along with Mrs. Nett's mother, sat at the head table), wife and family as the factors which have played the major roles in shaping his life.

THEN, TYPICAL of his reticence, he quickly left the microphone and returned to his seat, attempting to look as inconspicuous as the central figure of a testimonial banquet can look.

The program, emceed by Chuck Williams, began with a portion entitled, "This is the Game of Your Life." Walt Aoyotte, a one-time student whom Nett taught, garbed in referee's togs, narrated the chronology which included pictures of his early life shown on a movie screen.

It brought back such old memories as the 1936-37 basketball season when Nett was a Cotter co-captain of a team which won the state title and represented Minnesota in a national tournament in Chicago. Or of a few years later when, as a member of a St. Mary's College basketball team, he played on two conference champions and one national NAIA tournament entry.

FOLLOWING his graduation from St. Mary's in 1942 he joined the Air Force and became a bomber pilot for the duration of World War II. Upon his discharge in 1946 he joined the Cotter staff and coached all three of the school's sports at that time, football, basketball and baseball. At the same time he married the former Jean Enright.

From 1947-51 he coached his basketball team to the state tournament every year. In 1951, with an all-junior team, he saw his team take the consolation title. But he was unable to realize the dream of a state champion when he returned to active duty in the Air Force during the Korean conflict. The 1952 Cotter team won the state title.

He returned to Cotter in 1953 and from then until 1965 his teams missed the state tournament only once.

IN 20 YEARS of basketball coaching at Cotter he has compiled a 289-167 record.

Following the chronology and Riska's presentation, Sister Carlan spoke on behalf of Nett's fellow teachers. She offered him as a candidate for canonization, calling him a "real Christian gentleman."

Father Paul Nelson, current principal at Cotter, spoke on behalf of all those who were related to Nett and his family only as friends. He also introduced all the family members.

Swinsen's 605 Best in City

Bob Swinsen slashed a 216-605 to pace the dads in the Father & Son league at Westgate Bowl Sunday, while Daryl Anderson had 211-527 for the sons. Team honors went to Schneider-Anderson with 403-1,117. Grote-Grote downed Schneider-Anderson in a rolloff for the title.

Nord Overland socked a 616 series, but The Double O's lost to the Kings & Queens in a league rolloff at Westgate Bowl Sunday. The Bowlers won the team crown 2,262-2,244.

In a Guys & Dolls league tournament at Westgate Rich Chuchna (607) and Sue Glowczewski (824) combined for a 1,221 for first place. Mary Douglas stirred up the biggest rumpus, however, when she blasted 225-604 to pace herself and Fred Huff to second with a 1,211 combined total.

Hor 604 was the 19th women's 600 fired in the city this season.

Bob Hogenson, who teamed with Sandy Frederick for a 1,188 and third place, socked a 609 series, and Lyle Jacobson hit a 211 game. Peggy Jacobson had a 542 and Gen Chuchna a 502.

Blues Await NHL Finals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Winners of eight straight Stanley Cup playoff games, the St. Louis Blues today await the final National Hockey League series.

They'll face the winner of the Boston-Montreal set cleadecked at two games apiece. St. Louis belted the Los Angeles Kings Sunday night 4-1 for a 4-0 series sweep.

Meanwhile, the future of Red Kelly as coach of the Kings is in doubt. His two-year contract will be up this summer and general manager Larry Regan said the situation will be assessed in the interim.

Rumors are that Kelly won't be rehired. He said only, "I'm not assessing my future right now. I'm not saying anything about my future."

Coach Scotty Bowman of St. Louis declared, "We like to get this chance again in the finals. We're better than last year. We must have something to win eight straight."

The Blues, who lost to Montreal four straight a year ago, wiped out Philadelphia and Los Angeles to win the West Division playoffs this time.

"The rest before the Los Angeles series really helped us," Bowman continued. "Now we'll have another week's rest."

The Kings scored the opening goal before the 7:38 a.m. at the Forum when Eddie Joy of slammed a 10-footer past Jacques Plante with the game just 1:40 old. That 1-0 lead held up about 10 minutes before Terry Crisp scored for the Blues and the period ended 1-1.

"I think we got a good lift from that first goal of ours," Bowman said.

St. Louis scored twice in the second stanza with Red Berenson and Gary Sabourin tallying. It was Berenson's seventh goal of the playoffs and the sixth for Sabourin.

Carmille Henry tallied in the third period on a power play when three Blues converged on Kings goalie Gerry Desjardins.

Kings owner Jack Kent Cooke commented, "It just wasn't meant to be this year. Last year we made it to the quarter-finals. This year we made it to the semifinals. Next year we'll get to the finals."

While Cooke was talking, the Blues were singing merrily in their locker room.

Boston started its second victory with two goals while short handed in the first period.

Veteran Eddie Westfall, teaming with Derek Sanderson as penalty killers, rebounded a Sanderson slap shot and bowled over defenseman Jacques Lapierre and goalie Rogatien Vachon for the first score, and after Jacques Lemaire tied it for Montreal, Westfall set up Sanderson for another score that put the Bruins ahead to stay.

The decisive goal came when Westfall set up Bobby Orr for a close in shot on a beautiful give-and-go passing show at 10:13 of the final period. Trailing 3-1, Montreal pulled Vachon and Sergio Savard tip in a shot seconds later with one minute to go, but the Bruins held on.

The rugged, action-packed series now shifts back to Montreal for the fifth game Tuesday night.

Clendenon Ends Cubs' Win Streak at Seven

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Donn Clendenon's first Expos left him out in the cold. Then it was the Chicago Cubs' turn to suffer.

Clendenon, who snagged a winter trades between Montreal and Houston by abruptly quitting baseball, then was permitted to return to the National League expansion club, finally started swinging for the Expos over the weekend.

Saturday, the big first baseman went 0-for-5 at the plate as the Expos dropped a 6-5 extra inning verdict to the torrid Cubs in frigid (30 degrees) Montreal.

Sunday, the mercury at Jarry Park soared to 40-plus and Clendenon heated up, too—hitting a three-run homer that carried Montreal to a 4-2 victory in the nightcap of a doubleheader, ending Chicago's winning streak at seven games.

Rookie Mike Wegener, with late relief help from Dan McGinn, made Clendenon's first inning blast stand up after the Cubs took the opener 6-3 behind Ferguson Jenkins' five-hitter.

In NL single games, the New York Mets handed St. Louis' struggling Cardinals their seventh loss in as many home games, 11-3; Los Angeles ran its winning string to five games by nipping Houston 2-1; San Francisco shooed San Diego 3-2; Cincinnati drubbed Atlanta 7-1 and Philadelphia took Pittsburgh 7-1.

In the American League, Chicago swept a doubleheader from Seattle, 3-2 in 10-innings and 13-3; Detroit divided a pair with New York, winning the first game 5-2 and bowing 2-0 Oakland split with Kansas City, taking the opener 5-1 and then losing 7-5; Washington trimmed Baltimore 5-2 after a 2-1 first game loss; Minnesota bombed California 12-1 and Boston beat Cleveland 9-4.

Clendenon, who was selected by Montreal in the expansion draft and then traded, with Jesus Alou, to the Astros for Rusty Staub, touched off a storm five weeks later by announcing his retirement. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn finally returned Clendenon to Montreal, upheld the Staub-for-Alou swap and ordered the Expos to deliver another player or players to Houston to replace Clendenon.

The Expos sent pitchers Skip Guinn and Jack Billingham to Houston, talked Clendenon back into uniform and then waited impatiently while he worked his way into playing shape.

After striking out twice in his Saturday debut, the 33-year-old slugger walked as a pinch hitter in the eighth inning of Sunday's opener. Then, after Staub walked and Mack Jones singled in the first inning of the nightcap, Clendenon tagged Joe Niekro for his first hit as an Expo—an opposite field homer over the right field fence.

Staked to a 3-0 lead, Wegener checked the Cubs on five hits for 7-3 innings, earning his first victory, and McGinn completed the six-hitter.

Al Spangler drove in three Chicago runs in the first game while Jenkins held the Expos hitless from the second inning until the eighth when Jose Laboy homered.

Kevin Collins' two-run homer keyed a five-run fifth inning burst that swept the Mets past the Cardinals, who have lost four games in a row and eight out of 12 over-all. Jerry Grote belted a three-run double in the ninth and Ron Swoboda delivered three more New York runs with a double and single.

Wes Parker's third homer of the year broke a 1-1 eighth inning deadlock at Los Angeles and gave Claude Osteen, 3-0, the pitching decision in a southpaw duel with the Astros' Denny Lemaster.

Pitcher Bob Bolin's two-run double in the sixth inning propelled the Giants to their sixth victory in seven early-season meetings with San Diego.

Jim Maloney fired a six-hitter and Lee May crashed a three-run homer, leading the Reds past Atlanta.

Cotter Track, Net Teams in Action at Austin

Cotter High School's tennis and track teams competed at Austin over the weekend.

The netters finished second in a triangular, scoring five points to seven for Rochester Lourdes. Pacelli was shut out. Pat Wadden, Bill Van Deine and Ed Hoepfner all won singles matches, and Wadden and Van Deine combined for a doubles win to account for the five points.

Next action for the Ramblers netters is Friday at La Crosse Aquinas.

The track team opened its season in the Knights of Columbus Relays in Austin. The 15-team meet was dominated by St. Cloud Cathedral and La Crosse Aquinas. Saturday the Ramblers will take part in the Aquinas relays. Sunday Cotter travels to Rochester for a triangular meet.

The best individual Rambler performance Saturday was a 5-6 effort by Mitch Eichman in the high jump. Coach Marv Rouse also singled out Sam Wolfe, Paul and Phil Drazkowski, Jack Krage, Mike Bundy and Al Janikowski as turning in fine performances.

"We only practiced one day last week because of the rain," said Rouse. "Individually some of our boys did real well, and there were some disappointments. But this meet gives us something to work with for the future."

Jerry West, who tired in the last quarter, contributed 21 for the Lakers. Chamberlain had 16 as did Little Johnny Egan.

Coach Bill van Breda Kolff of the Lakers commented "I told Elgin in the first part of the game that he was playing like a high school player. I told him to take his shots and make his move for the basket. If he misses the shot, he misses the shot."

A happy Baylor explained, "I felt I just had to keep taking my shots and eventually they'd start dropping. The thing I tried to do was get my shots off quicker. The team has been encouraging me all during the playoff series. I'm glad we're going to play the Celtics because it wouldn't seem like a championship if Boston wasn't involved."

Warmath Satisfied With Gophers' Spring Practice

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Murray Warmath, poker-faced Minnesota Gopher football coach, has expressed satisfaction with spring training progress.

"We started so far back because of the loss of so many regulars by graduation but I can't complain with the results of our practices so far," said Warmath, in his 16th season as Gopher head coach.

Warmath continued to be pleased with his power-laden backfield after a scrimmage Saturday. Quarterback Walt Bowser and sophomore halfback Larry Stevenson combined for a 50-yard pass play for the longest gain of the day.

The Gopher coach said he was impressed by the running of halfbacks Barry Mayer and Terry Addison and fullback Jim Carter. Mike Curtis, a flanker last year, is adjusting to the defensive backfield, Warmath said.

Cotter's baseball opener against Alma, originally scheduled as an away game, was to be played at Gabrych Park, beginning at 4 p.m. today.

PLAYER DROPS $30,000 PUTT . . . Gary Player gets lots of help from the gallery as he concentrates on sinking the winning putt for his par on the 18th green at LaCosta Golf Course in Rancho LaCosta, Calif., Sunday. Player captured the 17th annual Tournament of Champions with a 284, two strokes better than runnerup Lee Trevino. (AP Photofax)

Now Player Can Take 3 Week Vacation

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Gary Player went flying home to South Africa today for a three-week vacation from golf and was armed with $30,000 to finance the holiday.

"From tee to green, this is the finest I've ever played," the tough-minded little Johannesburg rancher said Sunday after winning golf's $150,000 Tournament of Champions.

He had a final round 72 for 284, four strokes under par for four trips over the demanding 7,114-yard, par 72 La Costa Country Club course.

Lee Trevino, the wise-cracking U.S. Open champion, was ambushed by a pair of bogeys on the back nine, fell out of a share of the lead and finished in second, two strokes back at 286. He had a final round 74.

Arnold Palmer, with a 71, and Dave Stockton, 70, tied for third at 288.

The final round was strictly a two-man fight between Player and Trevino as most of the rest of the elite field of 28 struggled and strained with the deep-clinging rough. They were tied starting out and remained there most of the way. Player finally moving in front to stay when Trevino took bogeys on the 13th and 14th holes.

Player, meanwhile, was ripping his irons at the flag with methodical regularity.

It was Player's first tour victory in the United States since he won the U.S. Open at St. Louis in 1965. And the $30,000 was the biggest check he's ever pulled down.

"I can use the money," he quipped. "I've got a wife, five kids and 30 horses to feed."

Player, the current British Open champion, lauded the tournament "as one of the top six in the world."

"I may have had a slight advantage," the little globe-trotter said. "I'm more used to playing a course like this, one with rough that penalizes a bad shot."

LEADS LAKERS TO NBA FINALS

Elgin Baylor Breaks Slump

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We need Elgin Baylor against Boston," declared big Wilt Chamberlain and it appeared the Los Angeles Laker captain has snapped out of his slump at the opportune time.

Baylor scored 29 points in the 104-96 victory over Atlanta on Sunday afternoon. That sends the Lakers against the Celtics of Boston on Wednesday night in the first meeting of the best-of-7 final National Basketball Association playoff series. In addition to dropping 14 of his 18 field goal attempts and adding one free throw, Baylor grabbed 11 rebounds and contributed 12 assists.

"There is no way you can stop the great ones forever," commented losing coach Richie Guerin of the performance. Baylor had averaged just 12.2 points in this season's playoff games against San Francisco and Atlanta.

"This could be the key for them to go all the way," Guerin added. "The Boston-Los Angeles series should be well balanced and will be tightly contested. I like LA's chances."

With the first two games slated in the Forum, home of the Lakers, Wednesday and Friday nights, Los Angeles has the home court advantage. Even more important, says Tom Hawkins, "We have Chamberlain this year."

Los Angeles lost to Boston in the playoffs a year ago in six games, but the 7-foot-2 Wilt wasn't on that club.

"There are so many things he has done for us, I'd hate to think about going into this series without him," Hawkins said.

Atlanta trailed by 17 points with 5:31 left in the third quarter Sunday and then came on to actually move into an 87-86 lead at 7:30 of the final period. Two field goals by Baylor against a single free throw by Zemo Beatty put the Lakers back into the lead.

At that point, Chamberlain blocked three straight Hawk field goal attempts and thwarted the hopes of a successful comeback.

Baylor wound up with 30 points matching Baylor's twelve in the final stanza. Bill Bridges hit for 26 and Lou Hudson for 21 in the losing cause.

Jerry West, who tired in the last quarter, contributed 21 for the Lakers. Chamberlain had 16 as did Little Johnny Egan.

Coach Bill van Breda Kolff of the Lakers commented "I told Elgin in the first part of the game that he was playing like a high school player. I told him to take his shots and make his move for the basket. If he misses the shot, he misses the shot."

A happy Baylor explained, "I felt I just had to keep taking my shots and eventually they'd start dropping. The thing I tried to do was get my shots off quicker. The team has been encouraging me all during the playoff series. I'm glad we're going to play the Celtics because it wouldn't seem like a championship if Boston wasn't involved."

Wendlandt Stars For Winona State Track Team

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa — Winona State's track team, minus the services of star sprinter Pete Wade, still managed to acquit itself admirably in the 14-team Howard Dickinson Relays on the campus of the University of Northern Iowa, here, Saturday.

The Warriors' top finish was turned in by the shuttle relay team of John Martin, Glen Sniesrud, Terry Suneson and Arlie Wendlandt. Their time was 1:06.2.

Wendlandt was Winona State's individual standout with a fourth in the hop, step and jump and a fifth in the high hurdles. He leaped 43-8 1/2 in the hop, step and jump and had a 15.4 clocking in the hurdles, his best ever.

"He's really improving and did a great job down there against pretty tough competition," praised WSC coach Bob Keister.

In other events, the WSC 440-yard relay team of Bob Membrisse, Dennis Murray, Sniesrud and Russ Jacobson (who filled in for Wade, attending an Army Reserve meeting) was fifth at :44.3, and the 880-yard relay team of the same foursome was sixth at 1:33.2.

The sprint medley relay team of Mike Greenless, Jeff Evert, Murray and Membrisse was seventh with a time of 3:32.

"All in all, I was pretty pleased with the way the kids performed. We did a lot better than I expected in the sprint relays without Pete, although I was disappointed in our distance relay teams," reviewed Keister.

Winona State's next meet is the Luther College Invitational, April 22.
