New York Just Loves A Winner

Members of the New York Mets Monday had a ball (left) as they rode through a blizzard of ticker tape on the "Canyon of Heroes". But parades such as these can mean a real mess (photo below) for sanitation workers to clean up. But is anything too much to do for that gang of "rags-to-riches" athletes from Flushing Meadow? ## 7 Americans Killed in Sharp Battles

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops killed seven Americans, wounded 18 others and damaged two helicopters in two sharp fights Monday near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. The U.S. Command said 16 of the enemy were killed.

Farther south along the border, other American air cavalrymen exchanged machine-gun and rifle fire for nearly three hours with North Vietnamese troops 58 miles northwest of Saigon. Two helicopters supporting the ground troops were hit by machine-gun fire which wounded three crewmen, but the helicopters made it back to their bases.

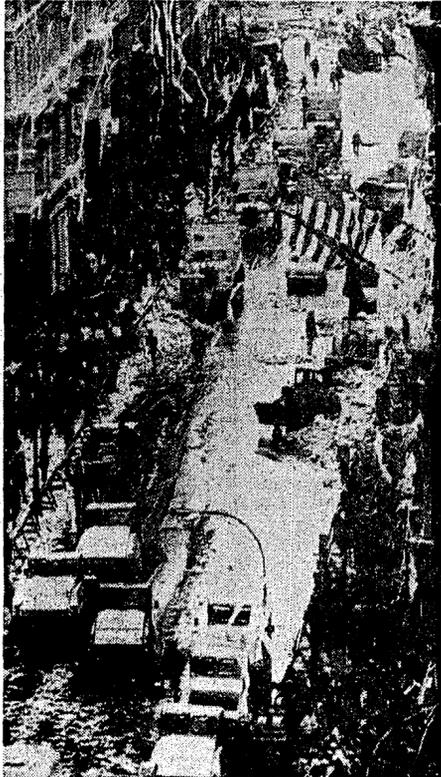

U.S. spokesmen said two Americans were killed and two were wounded on the ground, and two enemy bodies were found on the battlefield.

One North Vietnamese force apparently took about 150 troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division by surprise as they waited in a landing zone 85 miles northeast of Saigon for helicopters to pick them up after a reconnaissance patrol.

The North Vietnamese opened up with a 25-round mortar barrage and machine-gun and rifle fire, killing five Americans and wounding 13 before the company could take cover.

American artillery, helicopter gunships and dive-bombers raked the enemy positions, and 14 North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed in the 30-minute counterattack.

As the lull in the war continued in its seventh week, South Vietnamese headquarters reported a slight increase in enemy terror attacks.

Let's Wait

The cynic describes a pessimist: "Someone whose secretary says 'Good morning,' and he answers, 'Let's wait and see'..." Safety note: The trouble with the car of tomorrow is that it's being driven on the highway of yesterday by the driver of today. . . . What do you call people whose children have grown up, gotten married and had children of their own? You call them baby-sitters.

OF HAYNSWORTH

Few Seem Swayed by Strong Nixon Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Nixon swayed any undecided senators with his strongly worded defense of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., they are keeping it to themselves.

The more than 20 Senators who hold the key to confirmation of Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court didn't show any signs that Nixon's statement Monday would start a stampede to back the administration.

Such senior Republicans as George D. Aiken of Vermont and John J. Williams of Delaware still are listed as undecided with an expected vote on confirmation about two weeks off.

Nixon said at a surprise news conference Monday Haynsworth has been subjected to "vicious character assassination." The President said he would not withdraw his nomination even if Haynsworth requested him to do so.

Aiken said later he still hasn't decided how he will vote on Haynsworth's confirmation.

"I doubt if the President made any votes by his statement," Aiken commented.

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, ranking Republican member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he is more confident than ever the Senate will confirm Haynsworth, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, said conflict-of-interest charges he has made have not been refuted by the administration "and make an eloquent case against confirmation of Judge Haynsworth."

IN DEBATE OVER VIETNAM

Scott Appeals for End to 'Name Calling'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, rebuking Vice President Spiro T. Agnew without naming him, has called for tolerance and an end to "name calling and accusation" in the debate over Vietnam.

Scott, in his most evident disagreement with the White House since his election, the GOP's Senate leader a month ago, said "the administration must accept the sincere intent of this debate and of demonstrations" as a phenomenon of freedom and a product of anguish over the war.

The Pennsylvania senator said such protests "will not be stifled or talked down."

In New York, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the administration has "listened with respect" to opponents of the war.

"Our President is striving for peace in ways that only the man in that office can," Rogers said at the Council of Churches annual "Family of Man" awards dinner.

While there were some "unpleasant aspects" of last Wednesday's demonstrations, Rogers said, "on the whole, it seemed to me that a great many of the demonstrators wished principally to register dramatic but dignified expression of their deep concern for peace in Vietnam. And we listened to these voices with respect—because we, too, have a deep concern for peace in Vietnam."

And the Republican national chairman, declaring flatly that President Nixon is "bringing our involvement in Vietnam to an end," accused administration critics of playing politics over policy.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland dismissed Nixon critics as "sound officers."

Scott's written statement, volunteered late Monday, did not mention Agnew. But a source close to the GOP leader made clear the statement was prompted by Agnew's Sunday attack on the war protest movement.

Agnew, in New Orleans, said leaders of the protest movement are "hard core dissidents and professional anarchists."

The vice president said they are being encouraged by "an effete corps of impudent snobs who characterize themselves as intellectuals."

Scott said the American people have heard "enough of invective against Americans who feel a different way."

At the same time, Scott said, Nixon already has responded to public opinion "with significant moves in the direction of peace."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee which will open a week of Vietnam hearings next Monday, called the Agnew speech undignified. He accused the vice president of "very poor manners."

SAYS HE SOUGHT EXAMINATION

D.A. Contradicts Autopsy Report

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis took the witness stand today to contradict earlier testimony by an associate medical examiner who said Dinis had told him he did not think an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne was necessary.

Dinis said he had first sought an autopsy on July 20, one day after the young woman's body was recovered from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's automobile in a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

By that time, Dinis said, Miss

Kopechne's body already had been flown to Pennsylvania for burial in nearby Larksville.

Dinis testified before Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court in the second day of a hearing on Dinis' petition to have the body of the 28-year-old secretary exhumed for an autopsy.

He says an autopsy is vital to an inquest he has scheduled into her death.

Dr. Donald R. Mills, associate medical examiner for Dukes County, Mass., testified Monday about a telephone conversation he had with Dinis "on Thursday, July 24 or thereabouts."

Mills quoted Dinis as saying: "Mills, you're quite sure of your diagnosis of death by drowning?"

"My answer was, 'I certainly am,'" Mills said.

"Then Dinis said 'I don't think an autopsy is necessary, do you?' and I answered 'No I don't,'" Mills testified.

Dinis today denied he had discussed the advisability of an autopsy with Mills. He said he only discussed whether or not the physician was satisfied with his findings.

Joseph F. Flanagan, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., who are opposed to the autopsy, objected strenuously again and again as Dinis sought to give his reasons for pursuing the investigation into the girl's death and his need for an autopsy.

Armand Fernandes Jr., assistant to Dinis, asked the Massachusetts prosecutor whether he was satisfied with the investigation conducted by the police.

"I am not satisfied," Dinis said loudly just as Flanagan shouted an objection.

"It is not Mr. Dinis' determination to make, whether he is satisfied or not," Brominski commented in sustaining the objection.

"With reference to the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, what investigation if any has your office done?" Fernandes asked.

The objection to this was overruled and Dinis answered, "the district attorney has endeavored to speak to the parties who were present prior to and after the estimated time of death of Mary Jo Kopechne but has been unable to do so."

"None of the witnesses was available," Flanagan then asked that this answer be stricken.

Brominski ordered it stricken. Under cross examination by Flanagan, Dinis said that he has authority to order an autopsy "if I am unsatisfied with the conditions as they existed at that time."

"You had authority at that time?" Flanagan asked.

"If I had knowledge upon which to base my judgment."

"You are the authorized district attorney of the four southern (Mass.) counties?"

"Yes."

"Did you order any police officer to do anything?"

"I am the chief prosecutor of the courts. I have no authority over the police. I have no authority to order any police officer to do anything."

Dinis said he decided to take formal action only after Kennedy made his nationwide television address on July 25, explaining his part in the accident.

"Didn't you tell Dr. Mills an autopsy was not necessary?" Flanagan asked.

"I did not," Dinis said.

"You say you ordered an autopsy at 10 a.m. on July 20?"

"I positively did," Dinis replied.

"When did you learn that the body had been flown off the island?" Flanagan asked.

"I learned it at that time," Dinis said.

"Did you take any additional steps to reclaim the body?"

"No, I did not," Dinis said.

"No, I did not," Dinis said.

failed to reveal internal injuries."

Spelman was a key witness Monday in Common Pleas Court during the first day of a hearing on a petition by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., to have the body of the pretty, 28-year-old secretary exhumed.

Dinis said he expected to finish his presentation today and that he would subpoena a video tape of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's nationally televised statement on events before and after the girl's body was found in his car.

Her father, Joseph A. Kopechne, also said he was prepared to testify.

Dinis maintains he needs an autopsy for an inquest he has

RECOMMEND DRASTIC ACTION NOW

Merchant Fleet 'Deteriorating'

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
WASHINGTON — Since World War II the U.S. merchant fleet has been deteriorating and today 96 per cent of imported raw materials arrive in America aboard foreign ships.

The situation is so serious that the new chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission, Helen D. Bentley, says it is necessary to act now "before our own stupidity and the Russians bury us at sea."

In a Washington speech, Mrs. Bentley said the Russians speak "of the foreign ports they enter and boast of the fact that their seamen serve as ambassadors to the people of other countries, cementing friendship for Russia and advancing the communist view among Indications are that sometime this week, perhaps today, President Nixon will send to Congress a message outlining a program to upgrade this country's merchant fleet.

Why the call for action? What is the status of the fleet? Where does the United States stand today in comparison with the world's great seafaring nations?

These are other questions examined by William J. Waugh of the Washington staff in this AP news special.

the people of foreign lands

The Nixon Administration has indicated it wants at least 30 percent of the nation's overseas trade handled on American ships by the mid-1970s.

The AFL-CIO at its 1969 convention in Atlantic City went even further, passing a resolution saying:

"We must aggressively seek a declaration by the administration and Congress that at least 50 percent of our foreign trade should be carried in American bottoms."

Immediately after World War II, American flag ships carried 57.6 percent of U.S. foreign trade. By 1968 the figure had dropped to 6.4 percent. The United States now ranks sixth in the number of cargo ships and fifth in cargo capacity.

Insofar as raw materials are concerned, the United States is almost entirely an importer. Television sets, yard chairs, stoves, automobiles — almost every item around an American home represents the use of raw materials brought to this country by ships.

The list of most import items is long and impressive. A few and the amount of import in relation to use: Bauxite for aluminum, 87 percent; columbite-tantalite used in aerospace and nuclear activity, 100; chrome for ammunition and jet engines, 100; beryl for sparkplugs, 89; manganese, 89; rubber, 100; tin, 99.3.

Understanding on Okinawa Reached

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Japan have reached an understanding for the return of Okinawa to Tokyo's administrative control by 1972 while maintaining the U.S. military base on the island, official sources say.

The agreement will call for taking U.S. nuclear weapons off the island, held by the United States since the Japanese defeat in World War II, according to the officials.

President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato plan to issue a joint statement about the transfer when they conclude their Nov. 19-21 meeting in Washington, the officials said.

It will provide the date and the conditions to be embodied in a formal agreement negotiated after the Sato-Nixon meeting.

Negotiation of the final agreement, Nixon administration officials said, may take a year or more. When the United States and Japan reached an agreement in 1967 for the return of Iwo Jima and the Bonin Islands, it took seven months to negotiate the final details.

Officials say that the details are far more complicated in the case of Okinawa and the Ryukyu Islands. U.S. officials are not willing to detail in advance conditions for use of Okinawa as a major U.S. military outpost in the western Pacific.

But Japan will take over the job of actually defending the strategic chain with its own sea, ground and air defense units, they said.

The U.S. base on Okinawa would be operated under the same conditions as prevail on other U.S. military bases in Japan under the existing security treaty between the two nations.

scheduled into the death. In his petition to Judge Bernard C. Brominski, Dinis said the condition of the body when recovered "may or may not have been consistent with death by drowning."

asking Dr. Donald R. Mills, the Massachusetts medical examiner, and Spelman whether the presence of bloody froth about the mouth or nose could be associated with manual strangulation. Fernandes also raised the possibility of a skull fracture. Spelman said that although three months have passed since

Miss Kopechne's burial in nearby Larksville it still would be possible to make many observations and draw valid conclusions. "The fact that her body was found in a car under water," he added, "raises the possibility in my mind that significant injury might have occurred."

The car driven by Kennedy plunged from a narrow bridge into a pond on Chappaquiddick Island off Massachusetts. Dr. Mills, associate medical examiner of Dukes County, Mass., who made the original ruling of death by drowning, and two chemists who conducted laboratory tests testified that blood was present in Miss Kopechne's nose and on the back, both sleeves and collar of her blouse.

Police Groups Set Strategy On Search

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A meeting of seven police agencies from an area terrorized by the Zodiac killer has developed a general strategy aimed at identifying and capturing him.

But, says Police Capt. Martin Lee of San Francisco, "I can't say we're any closer to catching him."

Lee told newsmen after the three-hour closed session Monday that he could not reveal the strategy. But he said that "handwriting, ballistics and fingerprint experts linked the same man" to five slayings in the San Francisco Bay area since last Dec. 20.

In another development, Walt Hile of the San Francisco Crime Laboratory said the best clue may be the gun used to kill four of the victims—a 9 mm pistol of which only 143 have been sold in the past three years in this area. The fifth victim was stabbed.

"It's a gun for killing," he said. "It has a terrible impact quality." Permit applications for persons who bought such guns are being checked for comparison with handwriting on the Zodiac notes.

Police have said they believe they are dealing with a madman. He has boasted of the slayings in telephone calls to police and notes to newspapers starting, "This is Zodiac speaking." He has written cryptograms which he says give clues to his identity.

In a recent threat, he envisioned "picking off the kiddies as they come bouncing out" of a schoolbus. Up to 70 police units are accompanying school buses as a precaution.

Lee said he thinks the conference gave officers "a stronger and better picture" of the man they're hunting.

The 26 men at the meeting included representatives of the Napa and Solano County sheriffs offices and Vallejo, Napa and San Francisco police as well as the California Highway Patrol and the state Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

Merchant Fleet

As of last Aug. 1, the privately operated fleet—scheduled liners and the so-called "tramp" steamers—amounted to 995 vessels. These included 25 freight-passenger; 555 freighters and 274 tankers.

And the fleet is old. Seventy per cent of the freighters, 90 per cent of the bulk carriers and 50 per cent of the tankers are more than 20 years old. They are expensive to operate and maintain.

The United States does have a massive reserve mothball fleet of 930 ships. But these are so old that one maritime official estimates that within two or three years only 135 to 150 will be effective.

The figures do not include the so-called runaway fleet—the more than 400 American-owned vessels sailing under foreign flags.

U.S. ship owners register their vessels in other countries where taxes are lower, crews come cheaper and maintenance costs are down.

The runaway fleet supposedly is under the "effective control" of the United States in an emergency, but the seagoing labor unions say this hasn't worked during the Vietnam war.

The shortage problem is particularly reflected in wartime. The United States learned in both Korea and Vietnam that the military shipping service cannot keep up with the nation's needs.

But while the United States has allowed its maritime strength to shrink, the Soviet Union has taken an opposite course.

Spurred by a ship shortage during the 1962 Cuban crisis, Russia has been building merchantmen at the rate of a million deadweight tons a year and today ranks only behind Great Britain and Japan in cargo vessels.

Here is how the major maritime nations line up by Ships and Deadweight Tons (millions):

United Kingdom 1840, 29,917; Japan 1776, 29,220; USSR 1634, 11.9; Liberia 1613, 45,145; Norway 1308, 30,593; United States 967, 15,346.

Deadweight tons is the amount in long tons of cargo, fuel, crew and supplies that a ship can carry.

Can the United States overcome its shipping shortage? A spokesman for the Ship Building Council of America says yes.

He said there are 25 yards that could build general ships, including five or six capable of handling the 250,000-ton vessels planned to carry oil from the new Alaska fields.

A major problem in revitalizing the U.S. maritime industry is expense. The cost of building ships in the United States is high. As an example, a ship costing $10 million in Japan probably would run $20 million in this country.

At the present time the U.S. government has a shipping subsidy but only 14 scheduled liners share it. The subsidy, totaling about $300 million a year, falls in two categories—operational and construction.

Under the operational subsidy, the government picks up the tab for the difference between U.S. wages and those paid cheaper foreign crews. The construction subsidy permits the government to pay up to 55 per cent of the cost of a vessel.

While there is a difference of opinion on how the United States should revitalize its position, maritime forces say there should be an overall program to cover foreign trade, shipbuilding, the inland waterways and the fisheries.

The challenge is also found in a new area of shipping. According to Paul Hall, SIU president, the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959 "made the Great Lakes the fourth seacoast of the United States, enabling ocean-going vessels to carry their cargoes from the Atlantic Ocean into the heartland of the American continent."

The volume of trade is underscored by the fact, Hall said, that "more tons of cargo pass through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie each year than transit the Panama Canal" and the seaway is closed about four months a year because of ice.

The American Great Lakes fleet is very over age. About 45 per cent of the fleet was built before 1915 and, Hall noted, "not a single new U.S. flag vessel has joined our Lakes fleet since 1961."

And he concluded: "The Russian maritime threat, so manifest on the high seas, is no less serious along our fourth seacoast. This past year, ships flying the hammer-and-sickle made 19 trips through the St. Lawrence Seaway carrying ocean going import-export cargo into the Great Lakes. And the United States flag fleet made the same number of trips—19. Of this number only 14 were commercial trips."

plunged from a narrow bridge into a pond on Chappaquiddick Island off Massachusetts.

At one point, Brominski told Fernandes: "I want you to stay away from that line of questioning, please."

Kennedy did not attend the hearing. He was in Brussels, Belgium, attending a meeting of the assembly of the North Atlantic Assembly.

After the accident last July Kennedy pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and was given a suspended sentence of two months, with a year's probation.

Mills testified Monday that when he examined the body about a half hour after it was recovered from the submerged vehicle he saw "at least one cobweb of blood which clearly came from the edge of the nostril." However, he said, that was common in drowning victims.

Dr. George Katsas of Boston, a pathologist, supported Spelman's view that an autopsy could be informative.

He said that it was his opinion "that an external examination of the body does not exclude the possibility of internal injuries that may have contributed to, or caused, the death."

Katsas said there were three tests that could be given an exhumed body that would show conclusively whether drowning had occurred.

Dr. John J. McHugh, supervisor of laboratories for the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety, and Melvin Topjian, a chemist for the Massachusetts State Police, testified that tests made by them showed the presence of blood on Miss Kopechne's clothing.

Mills testified, "It was obviously a clear case of drowning."

He said his examination of the body took 10 minutes. "She had no evidence of injuries on her body, such as bruises, cuts, broken bones," he said.

Mills said he arrived at the accident scene about 9:30 a.m., July 19, about a half an hour after John N. Farrar, a skindiver from nearby Edgartown, had recovered the body.

Mills said he fixed the time of death at six hours or more before the examination.

Mills said that when he turned the body over to the undertaker, he directed that it not be embalmed until he gave further instructions.

"I wanted to talk to the district attorney to determine whether an autopsy should be done," Mills said.

Flanagan questioned Mills on what inquiries he had made about an autopsy.

"You did that by placing a phone call to whom?" Flanagan asked.

"Through the state police to the district attorney's office," Mills said.

"Did you make any direct contact with Dinis?" "I don't recall, there were so many calls," Mills said.

Flanagan produced what he said was a memorandum Mills had prepared about a week after the accident.

Mills then said he remembered that Dinis had called him on July 22 and asked about the blood sample.

"Did you at that time discuss the question of an autopsy?" Flanagan asked.

Feel IRS Selling of Some Data Might Be Invasion of Privacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service is considering selling some data collected from tax returns to private businesses, which could—in the opinion of one congressman—encourage an invasion of privacy.

Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., says the information also will target the nation's citizenry for tons of junk mail.

O'Hara said in a statement: "Winona Daily News, Winona, Minnesota, TUESDAY, OCT. 21, 1969"

Monday more than a half-dozen firms engaged in direct mail advertising—including the biggest in the industry—are seeking the information.

Among them, he said, are Sears, Roebuck and Co.; Spiegel, Inc.; Associated Merchandising Corp.; American Mail Associates, Inc.; and R. L. Polk and Co., which furnishes mailing lists to various businesses promoting their products through direct mail advertising.

Since 1960, the IRS has published income statistics for the nation's major metropolitan areas. This year, by using the first three digits of the five-digit zip code taken from every taxpayer's return, it published the information for 827 zip code regions.

The information shows the number of returns and levels of income in each area, and has been made available to other government agencies. It can be purchased by industry or private firms at cost to the government.

Now the IRS is thinking of going further by using all five digits. An IRS spokesman said this would break the information down for 34,000 residential areas across the country.

O'Hara contends the information, when broken down into these smaller areas—some as small as a few city blocks—would be invaluable to direct mail advertisers. They could use it, he said, to pinpoint moderate and wealthy neighborhoods and not bother with areas where their products would have little appeal.

In a letter to the tax agency O'Hara wrote: "I question whether it is the business of the Internal Revenue Service to draw targets for commercial interests who can proceed to invade the privacy of citizens who happen to live in moderate or relatively high income areas as identified by the IRS statistics."

The IRS said this would not constitute invasion of privacy because none of the information could be used to identify individuals. Nevertheless, a spokesman said, the proposal is being reviewed by IRS lawyers.

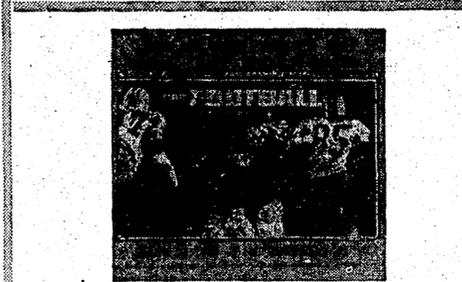

The spokesman said the law permits the IRS and other government agencies to publish statistical data and charge a user's fee to private firms or individuals buying it.

Goodview Council, MPCA Set Meet

The Goodview village council will discuss the construction of the village's secondary sewage treatment plant with representatives of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency at a special meeting Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the village hall.

This announcement was made at the Monday evening council meeting, following the reading of a communication from the MPCA in which is requested a meeting with the Goodview council for the purpose of determining the reasons for the decision to build a plant in Goodview and to request re-consideration of that decision.

COPIES OF the letter were sent to James Kleinschmidt, engineer; Carroll J. Fry, Winona city manager, and G. Robert Johnson, special assistant attorney general.

Goodview Village council members voted unanimously Sept. 25 to order construction of the village's own secondary sewage treatment plant.

The decision was the result of a standing vote at the public information meeting attended by 36 residents. Thirty were in favor of a new Goodview plant and six were in favor of joining the village sewer system to that of Winona.

COMPARATIVE estimates indicated that it would cost the village about $398,000 over a period of 21 years of built, finance and maintain its own plant. Combining the village system with that of Winona would cost about $347,500 for the same period.

In other action, a resolution was adopted to certify certain unpaid sewer service charges to the county auditor for collection with the 1970 taxes. A temporary transfer of $5,771.30 from the liquor store surplus net revenue fund was authorized to pay for the costs of the 43rd Avenue sewer and wafer extension. These costs will be assessed to the benefited property at a later date.

It was decided to amend village ordinances which have a penalty for violation, increasing those penalties to a maximum of a $300 fine or 90 days imprisonment, or both. This will be in accordance with changes in the statutes made at the last session of the Minnesota Legislature.

Maintenanceman Elmer Obitz was authorized to attend a water plant operators' meeting at Hayfield on Oct. 29. A gas installer's license was approved for the H & M Plumbing Co. An additional street light was authorized to be installed on 9th Street east of 37th Avenue.

New Attorney Joins Local Legal Firm

The firm of Streator, Murphy, Bronsahan & Langford, attorneys at law, announces the association of Julius E. Gernes with the firm.

Gernes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius W. Gernes, 473 E. Broadway, is a native of Winona. He completed his secondary education at Cotter High School, and secured a bachelor of arts degree in English cum laude from St. Mary's College in 1961.

Gernes is a member of a national scholastic honor fraternity and appointed to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. He obtained his juris doctorate from William Mitchell College of Law in 1969, graduating third in a class of sixty.

After graduation from St. Mary's, Gernes worked for State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company for 6 1/2 years, first as a claims representative, and later as the assistant personnel manager. For the year 1969-69 he was the legal clerk for Justice William P. Murphy of the Minnesota Supreme Court.

Gernes gave the response for new admittees to the practice of law during a Friday luncheon program at the St. Paul Hilton Hotel, St. Paul, welcoming new lawyers to the practice of law in the state of Minnesota.

He resides at 473 E. Broadway with his wife, Lois, and two boys, Julius and Marcus.

Considered Action for 10 Months Youth Verifies Burning Draft Card

By ROGER LACHER
The 18-year-old Winona State College freshman who burned his selective service card at the moratorium convocation last week has explained his actions.

First of all Roger Kiemele denied reports that it was not his draft card. He verified it. Answers to other questions:

A. It was my current Selective Service classification card.

Q. Was this a spontaneous action or had you considered it prior to Wednesday's assembly?

A. I have considered this sort of public action for about 10 months. I destroyed my previous draft cards privately.

Q. Could you briefly give reasons why you took such drastic steps?

A. I feel that it is my duty to peacefully disagree with a law which I consider contrary to mankind's interests. The only person I am hurting is myself. I do not feel that a group of a half dozen men has the authority to control one's life and future. I felt that moratorium day was an appropriate time to symbolically express my beliefs.

Q. Do your parents know about your action?

A. Yes, I called them Friday night. My folks feel that they have taught me to do what I think is right and are behind me in my decision, although they don't agree with the action I took. My father served in Sicily and France during World War II.

Q. You are, of course, aware that the destruction of a draft card is illegal. What sort of legal repercussions do you expect now?

A. Draft law states that maximum penalty is a $10,000 fine and/or five years in prison. I am aware of the consequences and fully prepared to accept. I have considered Canada but chose to remain in the United States with my beliefs.

Q. In your statement before the student body Wednesday you mentioned that you are a conscientious objector. Could you give a short summation of the conception of your belief and your draft board's reaction to this belief?

A. My objection to war started with my home life and the orthodox Christianity of my parents. I was taught to respect life in all forms. My draft board asked me if I would have fought against Hitler. I don't know. I was born in 1950. I love my country and if an invasion took place I would defend it.

I stated this in my C.O. (conscientious objector) appeal before Mower County draft board in an interview in April. This appeal was turned down because I was a high school student at the time but I was classified I-A even though my student status entitled me under law to a I-SC deferment. My personal appeal for C.O. status was accepted for consideration in August of this year. A week later I was notified that my appeal was turned down and I was sent a I-A classification card. That was the card I burned Wednesday. No reason was given for this rejection even though I formally asked for one. I plan to submit my case to the state appeal board. Letters of reference applying to my case have been submitted by my mother, a lawyer in Austin, a St. Paul minister, a Marine Corps major, and five others.

Q. If the state appeal board grants you C.O. status are you prepared to accept civilian duty in compliance with selective service policy?

A. I've been considering VISTA but understand that this might not qualify for alternative duty. If my draft board specifies alternative social work I will probably comply. It's hard to say at this point. I am not 19 years old yet and a full-time college student. I might add that I am a former member of the football team and candidate for freshman senator at Winona State.

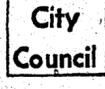

Q. Are there any comments you would care to make that would sum up your attitudes?

A. Yes, after local news coverage of my action Wednesday I'm sure many people would consider me unpatriotic and possibly having "communist" intentions. I feel patriotism can come in many forms. My philosophy of patriotism is in helping my "brothers" and not in threatening human lives with hostility — the position we are now taking in Vietnam. Furthermore, I never have or will be associated with the communist party or any radical groups. This, I feel, would contradict the beliefs for which I stand.

Plan Council, Board Talks

City Council members agreed Monday night that closer relationships should be established with the Board of Education for School District No. 863.

The council voted, at the suggestion of Councilman Earl Laufengraber, to invite the board to a joint meeting for a discussion of common interests and problems. The date will be arranged by city and school administrators.

COMMUNICATION between the two agencies is almost nonexistent, Laufengraber said, despite the wide range of common concerns. City voting machines are housed in schools, the district buys gasoline and tires under contract rates afforded the city, and school properties are used for city summer and winter recreation programs, he said.

"If we work together — or at least think together — we will become more aware of coming problems in advance," Laufengraber stated.

He foresaw some advantages, including the timing of bond elections to avoid their coinciding, better advance knowledge by the school of subdivision plans and more consideration for ways to increase utilization of school facilities.

Some lost opportunities also were cited. Councilman Howard Hoveland regretted that school and city administrators did not collaborate in setting up electronic accounting, billing, payroll and bookkeeping equipment in a single location. This might have saved taxpayers thousands of dollars, he said. Now each agency has its own system.

THE JOINT approach also fell apart when city and county nursing systems were reshuffled, recalled Laufengraber. As a result, the school system has its own nursing setup and so does the county, he noted.

Laufengraber's motion for such a meeting was followed by another authorizing the mayor and councilmen to attend a Governor's Conference on the Lighted School Dec. 5-6 in Minneapolis. Called by Gov. Harold Levander, the conference will explore ways in which communities can make maximum year-around use of local school facilities.

'Visitors' Pick Wrong Foster Home

PRESTON, Minn. — Authorities are expected here from Slayton, Minn., to pick up two juvenile boys who took a pickup truck there and came to Spring Valley Monday night to see a girl they had met in a foster home.

Residents of a foster home at Slayton, they came to the home of Val Erion at Spring Valley, who has a foster home for girls. Erion, who is a member of the state Highway Patrol, notified the Spring Valley police who brought the boys to the Fillmore County jail here this morning where they are being held by Sheriff Carl Fann for Slayton officials.

Philadelphia Has New Air Pollution Code

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor James H. J. Tate signed a tough new air pollution code Monday and the city's biggest industrial polluters pledged full cooperation in cleaning up dirty air. But ironically the biggest noncomplier with the new code will be the city itself.

"Even if City Council gave me $50 million I just couldn't make the six city incinerators comply with the new law," said Streets Commissioner David M. Smallwood.

Mull Enforcement Of Housing Code

Questions of divided authority and enforceability of the city housing code arose Monday night as the City Council mulled a complaint by several citizens about alleged noisy parties in a High Forest Street neighborhood.

Thirty persons signed a petition that charged frequent parties, sometimes lasting all night, accompanied by loud shouts, offensive language and other noise, are conducted by residents of a house at 412 High Forest St. Records show it is owned by Mrs. Ray Bronk, 623 Main St., and is rented to students.

PETITIONERS STATED that the situation has existed for a year and that conferences with the owner and complaints to police had brought no improvement.

New investigations are to be made by Police Chief James McCabe. Action will be forthcoming, he said.

THE TIME HAS come, said Councilman Barry Nelson, for a charter change that would put the city attorney's office under control of the manager. In this way, he said, there would be centralized responsibility and control. "We can't wait a year for these kinds of corrections to be made," Nelson declared.

It's time to find out whether the city's housing code is enforceable, said Mayor Norman E. Indall. He said the code should be put to the test and, if found wanting, should be amended as necessary.

Under the housing code, property owners are required to meet certain standards before their properties can be occupied by tenants. When all code standards are met, a certificate of occupancy is issued for the property.

Councilmen adopted a motion to withhold further action pending reports from the manager on various facets of the problem including code status of the house, police responses and the current progress of enforcement actions.

ROGER KIEMELE

City to Act Against Housing Code Violators

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer
Spurred by student complaints and a story in the Winona State College newspaper, City Council members voted Monday night for renewed efforts to enforce the city's housing code.

Councilman Dan Trainor Jr., chairman of the council's college relations committee, said the committee had been supplied by the WSC student senate with a list of student dwelling units that are in violation of the code. The list will be turned over to the city housing administrator and city manager, he said.

A story in the Winona, WSC student publication, charged last week that many students are living in dirty, dilapidated rental units for which exorbitant rents are being charged. The story added that, if all city codes were enforced to the letter, there would be an instant shortage of student off-campus housing.

THE COMMITTEE is concerned, Trainor said, over the apparent fact that there are many abuses despite a supposedly comprehensive city program of inspections and enforcement.

Councilman Dan Trainor Jr. said he thought more than the housing code may have been violated. Such offenses, if proved, constitute a clear violation of ordinances dealing with disorderly houses, he said. Trainor asked why police action had not been taken under these laws.

Fry said he has asked for full reports from Police Chief James McCabe. Action will be forthcoming, he said.

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — Lawrence Ellenz, 55, Caledonia, remained unconscious this morning at Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse, after a fall Monday at 11:30 a.m.

Maintenance helper at the Caledonia post office, he was assisting eorge Lampert, the maintenance man, putting on a scaffold outside and Lampert was handling him the windows from the inside. Ellenz missed his step in moving from the scaffolding to the ladder and fell eight feet, landing on his head on the cement below.

His sisters, with whom he resides, said he received only a small cut, but he was reported in critical condition. He was taken to the hospital by village ambulance.

Set Hearing for Rezoning Request

A public hearing will be conducted Nov. 3 by the City Council to take up the question of a rezoning petition filed by Ray A. Hagen, 342 Oak St.

told the council he had issued a direct order in at least one recent instance. If it isn't obeyed, he said, the matter will be turned over to the city attorney for court action.

Fry admitted that "there are some pretty crummy places but probably not as many as people think." He added that aggressive action by the city could solve the housing problem. He said the Neighborhood Development Program is temporarily short of funds at federal level and that projects likely to win approval are those oriented toward rehabilitation as well as renewal.

The council should decide either to enforce the housing code or forget it, said Trainor. He predicted that two or three successful prosecutions would do wonders for the rates of compliance.

RENTS MAY go up because

Police Car, Fencing Contracts Awarded

City Council members Monday night opened bids for a new police car and fencing for Tillman Park. Contracts were awarded low bidders.

Low among four bidders on the police car was Tousey Ford Co., with a net price offer of $1,941.86. Other bidders were: Quality Chevrolet, $1,975.32; Winona Auto Sales, $2,112.14; and Nystrom Motors Inc., $2,150.

Standard Lumber Co., Winona, was low bidder for the park fence at $2,462. Century Fence Co. St. Paul, offered a bid of $2,708.

of the extra costs for landlords, suggested Councilman Howard Hoveland. Many are getting premium prices now, Trainor replied, and the market will determine whether landlords can command excessive rates.

Getting at the surface problems is like treating a case of pimples by covering them with cosmetics, observed Fry, who often resorts to farmhand lexicon to illustrate a point. What the city really needs, he said, is a long-range program of housing improvement and development. He proposed that the city's colleges be brought into the process since "it's their problem too."

One of the complicating factors is that students prefer off-campus housing, said Trainor, as an expression of their freedom. He added that, in demanding to be treated as adults they also should be willing to accept adult responsibilities including those of maintenance of premises they occupy and respect for rights and privacy of others.

Trainor also recommended that the committee set up meetings with landlords to discuss their problems as well.

FRY SAID one approach might be to license rental facilities and require landlords to post bonds to insure compliance with city regulations. This drew a motion from Councilman Earl Laufengraber, expressing support for the idea. It was adopted.

Saying he'd like to see the legal department "move these cases off the desk," Trainor moved that the city attorney be directed to proceed legally against all housing code violators now listed. The motion was adopted without debate.

Board Hears Safety Report At La Crescent

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special) — The Board of Education of District 300 last week heard a report on the school safety inspection by the St. Paul Fire Marine Insurance Co. The only item not yet corrected was the need for a fume hood in the elementary kitchen. Quotes will be asked from fabricating companies.

Mrs. John Haugan, a lay helper in the trainable program, was given a raise from $2.25 to $2.50 an hour. Louis Witt and Donald Jordan were given full pay for the one week of summer instruction instead of the usual 80 percent paid in summer work. In lieu of summer lessons they held an intensive one-week training session in instrumental music before school opened.

BEVERLY LOH was given permission to attend the five-day national convention of speech and hearing in Chicago and was granted $100 for expenses.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Milton Kludt, school secretary.

The board will ask for bids at the November meeting for the maintenance of the kindergarten building and the Methodist trainable classroom on a price per school day. Also, bids will be opened on a nine-passenger station wagon for school use.

A MEETING was held Thursday with the union representative for cooks and maintenance, and the state mediation service. School census figures for this year show a net gain of 272 in the 0-20 year-old age group since 1965.

Condemnation Case Starts in District Court

The fourth land condemnation case of the September term of District Court began Monday afternoon with Judge Glenn E. Kelley presiding.

Allyn R. Hoppe, Winona R. 2, is appealing from a commissioner's award of $15,960 for approximately 6.32 acres taken from his 120 acre farm for Highway I-90 right of way. The farm is located on Highway 76 eight miles south of Winona. Hoppe is seeking to increase the award while the state is counter-appealing to reduce it.

The right of way severs the farm into a southwestern section of 40 acres and a northwestern portion of 74 acres on the latter of which the farm buildings and house are located. There is no public access to the 40 acre portion.

William Baudler, Austin, and Joseph F. Herrick, Lanesboro, are attorneys for Hoppe and Lawrence T. Collins, St. Paul, special assistant to the attorney general, is appearing for the state.

Jurors are: Mrs. Ralph Carlblom, 1335 Lakeview Ave.; Melvin Meyer, Lewiston; Mrs. Richard Fischer, rural Utica; Mrs. Richard Todd, 80 Fairfax St.; Sharon Kaisersott, 845 38th Ave.; Goodview; Joyce Morris, rural Dresbach; David J. Weinmann, 513 E. 3rd St.; Robert G. Anderson, 462 E. Howard St.; Mrs. Joseph Krier, 312 Wilson St.; Mrs. Dalum Gerry, St. Charles; Mrs. Joseph Christopherson, 807 W. Howard St.; and Mrs. Jan Armstrong, 776 W. Howard St.

Some Chance Of Snow Seen Wednesday

The chance of some light snow in the Winona area returns to the weather forecast for Thursday following a brief period of clearing and a slide in temperatures.

This morning's heavy overcast was to break during the day and give way to fair to partly cloudy skies tonight and Wednesday but then increasing cloudiness will set up the possible arrival of some scattered light snow on Thursday.

Temperatures which have failed to reach normal highs the past few days will remain below normal at least through Thursday.

Monday afternoon's high was 58, a low of 33 was recorded this morning and light drizzle accounted for .03 of an inch of precipitation in the 24 hours ending at noon today.

It was 48 at noon, a low of 26 to 32 is forecast for tonight and a high between 48 and 52 Wednesday.

Telephone Truck, Car in Collision

Police investigated one accident Monday morning. There were no injuries.

A 1969 model ladder-truck, owned by Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., and driven by Donald D. Harlow, 361 W. Belleview St., backed into a 1967 model sedan driven by Leo J. Dooney, 68, 276 E. King St., at 9 a.m.

Police said the truck was parallel parking on Lafayette Street 100 feet north of West 4th Street, backing northward on the west side of the street when the Dooney car pulled up behind the truck and was backed into. Damage was $180 to the front of the car. No damage estimate was given for the truck.

Council Approves 1970 City Budget

Formal approval was voted Monday night by the City Council for the 1970 city budget and the detailed budget for the city water department.

The budgets previously had been given tentative approval so that a city tax levy could be certified to the county auditor by Oct. 10.

The city budget totals $3,687,332. It calls for a tax levy of $1,505,289, a reduction of $205,416 from the $1,791,705 levied for this year's city operations.

totals $235,000 and is financed wholly by revenues.

In accompanying program comments, the superintendent, Glendale E. Cass, noted that 1,063,856 gallons of water will have been pumped by the end of 1969, compared with 1,158,834,000 in 1968. Exceptional rainfall in spring and part of the summer kept consumption down, the department reported. Much less lawn sprinkling was done this year and air conditioners also got less of a workout because of cool temperatures.

The estimated volume for 1970 is 1,750,000,000 gallons. It is anticipated, according to the program resume, the city water and sewer superintendent will be given responsibility for municipal airport matters. This will place all city utilities under his direction.

Kate Sold Out 2 Months Ahead

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — There's a glamorous Broadway first night coming up two months from now that you probably couldn't get a ticket to even if you started this minute.

It's the Katharine Hepburn musical "Coco" Dec. 18. Producer Frederick Brisson anticipated the great demand for tickets that would come from Parisian couturiers, from the world press, from friends in Beverly Hills and Palm Springs, and from regular NY first-nighters. He began blocking out seating two months ago. It'll be B'way's "toughest ticket" in many, many years.

Roz Russell Brisson will have finished her 50th movie, "The Unexpected Mrs. Pollifax," shortly before, and will be there with her producer husband and James Galanos the couturier. "I am bringing my own designer!" she announces.

One day after publisher Harry Evans got a hole in one on the 17th hole at Creek Club in Locust Valley, his friend Mrs. Carl (Bubbles) Holmes, got one on the same hole. Seeing her, Evans sneered, "Copy cat!"

Lee Marvin was a sartorial smash at the "Paint Your Wagon" premier party at the Americana in suede formal bellobot toms with a big flowing artist's bow tie in white... but he said, "Wait'll you see old gorilla Clint Eastwood in a Russian marmot coat" — and sure enough, there was old Clint, looking like he was in mink, though the gals could tell the difference.

Celebrities waited in line at a bar at the Americana — but one didn't wait. He walked over to the bar, picked up a bottle and poured four scotches while a bartender kept telling him "You can't do that." Shrugging, he walked away with the scotch. My B. W. noticed that the culprit was well-known American author-journalist Michael Stern, now a resident of Rome, who grinned and said, "I only speak Italiano."

All MacGraw, the new star who was there with Bob Evans, on of the Paramount bosses, obliged me at the party by drawing pictures... Young Tom Ligon who did so well in the film is a Joshua Logan discovery. Saw him in "Your Own Thing"... Iowa-born beauty Jean Seberg, who didn't attend the premiere though playing the leading feminine part, is holed up quietly and incommunicado in Majorca, reportedly ill.

Virginia Warren Daly, now in excellent health, flew to Rome with her father, former Chief Justice Earl Warren, to join her mother — waiting for a night flight so her father could watch the World Series

DINE IN FRENCH CAFE

Cosmonauts See Broadway Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts took in a Broadway show and dined in a French restaurant on their first day in the United States. They drank only vodka.

One of them said their warm welcome "revealed humanity at its best."

Maj. Gen. Georgi T. Beregovoy, 48, a civilian, arrived in New York Monday from Moscow. They immediately declined an invitation to Mayor John V. Lindsay's reception for the New York Mets, the baseball world champions.

"They have just had a 12-hour jet trip and they're pooped," said Col. Frank Borman, the U.S. astronaut who is their host on the two-week tour.

Beregovoy and Feoktistov went to their Plaza Hotel suites to rest, then went to see "Hello, Dolly!" with Pearl Bailey and Cab Calloway.

Miss Bailey brought the Soviet spacemen and Borman on stage after the show, to a standing ovation from the audience. "I love you," she said, and kissed each on the cheek. "But tell me, how do you manage to fly up in space like that?"

"You have to have time and ability to do everything," Beregovoy told her. "How well I know, honey. How well I know," Miss Bailey chortled, and the audience roared. The party then went to Chez Vito for a late supper. The cosmonauts ordered coquille st. jacques—a scallops-in-cream-sauce dish—steak and vodka.

Beregovoy told newsmen, "I was very much impressed not so much with just the city as with the people and especially the memorable people in the theater whose welcome surpassed cordiality because it revealed humanity at its best."

The spacemen surprised their American hosts by announcing they could not make their scheduled stop at Cape Kennedy, Fla., where America launches its moon missions.

They gave no explanation, but some Americans traveling with the party speculated that Moscow feared if the two visited Cape Kennedy then Washington might request that American astronauts be allowed to visit the Soviet secret take-off center at Baikonur in central Asia.

Beregovoy and Feoktistov fly to Houston today, where they will visit the Manned Spacecraft Center and hold a news conference.

Nelson May Ask Probe of Birth Control Pills

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said Monday night he is considering asking the Senate for a thorough investigation of possible health hazards involved in the use of birth control pills.

"I think there is a very serious question about the pill," he said. "It's being used for the first time in the history of this country on nine million healthy people, and we aren't really sure of all the side effects."

Nelson, in a televised interview on WTMJ, said questions have been raised as to whether the pill may cause blood clotting and carcinoma, a cancer-like growth.

Asked if he thinks the pill should be withdrawn from the market, Nelson said: "I haven't reached a conclusion on that. I think we should have some pretty careful re-evaluation."

"Women using the pill are not being told of the possible side effects," he said.

75 Explorer Officers to Take Part in Meeting

ROCHESTER, Minn. — More than 75 Explorer Post officers and their adult advisers from the seven county Gamehaven Council are expected to participate in the first Gamehaven Council exploring program planning conference Sunday at the Rochester Sportsman's Club. The conference will begin at 10 a.m. and run until 5 p.m.

Lewis Gasink, Winona, will help with various functions of the conference which will get under way with trap and rifle shooting. Participants will bring their own rifles and shells. Part of the morning program will be a muzzle leading and shooting demonstration. The noon meal will be a bag lunch of personal choice.

Purpose of the afternoon conference is to bring together the leadership of the Explorer Posts of the council to share unit program success; develop activities of common interest (interpost activities); select the teen-age leadership to plan, promote, and conduct the activities selected; share leadership skills; learn techniques of post operation and activity planning, and learn of regional and national Exploring activities.

Parliament Expected To Name Leader

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — Parliament is expected to name a successor for assassinated President Abdirashid Ali Shermarke within a month. Acting President Muktar Mohamed Hussein and Abdullah Issa Mohamed, minister of commerce and industry, are reported among the top candidates.

Shermarke, who was elected in June 1967, was to be buried here today. He was shot to death last Wednesday during a tour of the drought-stricken north.

Trial Scheduled in Shooting of Hunter

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Trial has been scheduled Nov. 4 on charges against a Green Bay hunter stemming from the fatal shooting of a man Oct. 5.

Kenneth H. Kuntz, 35, pleaded innocent last week to two misdemeanor charges — carrying a loaded weapon in a motorboat and causing the death of another by reckless use of a firearm.

Alex F. Nier, 44, was shot while in some tall weeds with his son.

Authorities said they were told the fatal shot had been fired at a mud hen. Kuntz is free on $1,000 bond.

No Decision On What to Do With Products

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Spokesmen for two major supermarket chains in the Twin Cities say no decision has been reached on what to do with products on their shelves containing cyclamate, a sweetener barred by a federal order.

"We want our attorneys to look into the ramifications of this first," said an executive of Red Owl Stores.

A Super Valu representative said Monday the company "wants to learn what the manufacturers' policies are, since we are just a link in their chain."

Gold Medal Beverage Co., St. Paul, bottler of Diet-Rite Cola, said the firm would discontinue using cyclamate after it uses up its current stock, enough for about one week's production.

A spokesman for Coca-Cola Bottling Midwest, Inc., also said it was too early to tell what policy would be. "But... it'll cost a helluva lotta dough," he said.

Pillsbury Co. spokesmen said its researchers are working on a replacement for cyclamate sweeteners it has been using in some products.

The government said Saturday that a possible link between cyclamate and cancer in animals necessitated ordering the sweetener off the market by early 1970.

Queen Decides To Forego Radio Message

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has decided to forego her usual Christmas broadcast this year and instead issue a written message to Britain and the Commonwealth nations on Christmas Eve.

The tradition of a royal Christmas broadcast was started by the Queen's grandfather, King George V, in 1931.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said the Queen had decided on the change because of wide publicity received by the royal family in other activities already this year.

'Carol Burnett Show' Praised

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood producers and directors have learned how to dress up musical numbers for an endless stream of television variety hours, but most slip into doldrums in the comedy sketch department.

"The Carol Burnett Show," breezing along in its fourth season, is, along with "The Red Skelton Show," exceptional in that it specializes in sketches and adds musical numbers mostly for a change of pace. The hour is entertaining and has a friendly informal atmosphere.

On Monday Carol had her usual strong support from Harvey Korman, a fine sketch actor, and an extra assist from Tim Conway, a funny little guy. Conway sparkled particularly as a 91-year-old Lohario in a sketch that satirized the slow and improbable pace of daytime soap operas.

Ken Berry, seen earlier in the evening playing solid Sam Brown in "Mayberry, R.F.D.," put on his dancing shoes to guest on the show and uncorked a thoroughly acceptable singing voice in a couple of numbers with the star.

Obtain Restraining Order Against Magazine Firm

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota's attorney general Monday obtained a temporary restraining order against a Minneapolis magazine subscription firm which allegedly used eight types of deceptive selling practices.

Atty. Gen. Douglas Head filed the complaint against the Civic Reading Club of Minneapolis, operated by Ed Kasner who Head said holds a franchise from the Civic Reading Club, Inc., Des Moines, Iowa.

A hearing is scheduled Nov. 6 before Judge David Marsden in Ramsey County District Court on whether a permanent injunction should be issued.

At that hearing, Head will seek a court order directing the Minneapolis firm to make refunds for all subscriptions obtained through illegal sales practices.

The attorney general said he hopes the new case will result in a code of ethics for the magazine industry.

Head urged consumers to be wary of "free" subscription offers and sales pitches in which the price of magazines is described as "only a few cents a week."

In some cases, salesmen said they were conducting a survey and asked consumers to check the names of three magazines they enjoyed. The consumer was then told the preference list was a contract, Head said.

He said customers listening to telephone sales pitches were told they were then obligated to sign a contract, merely because they had listened.

Heart Surgeon Asks Pledges to Further Research

BOSTON (AP) — Noted heart surgeon Dr. Paul Dudley White is asking others to join him in pledging $1,000 in personal funds to help continue a research project threatened with curtailment because of a cut in federal funds.

White said the cut will affect the Framingham Heart Study, a 20-year project that involves regular examinations of selected Framingham residents to determine the role of heredity and environment in heart disease.

White said the cut comes just when the study is reaching the point where the exhaustive research promises to reach some conclusions.

Dangerous Working Conditions Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been told pockets of 19th-century-like working conditions in U.S. industry are endangering the safety of working men.

The testimony before congressional committees came on a clutch of bills intended to provide a comprehensive occupational health and safety program for the nation.

Witnesses painted a bleak picture of the situation in some industries:

—A group of British scientists found 60 workers out of 500 employed by a southern mill suffered byssinosis—caused by breathing cotton dust—which leads to chronic bronchitis and emphysema. The British did the test because they found the disease among their own workers in England who were handling imported American cotton.

Other materials such as asbestos, talc, beryllium, laundry soap enzymes, sugar cane fiber and even moldy silage also were tabbed as among substances that can cause damage to workers if they are not handled with special care.

Other legislative targets are unsafe machines, gauges, pipes

—the total job environment.

—Estimates showed 14,000 workmen die annually because of job injuries; another two million are disabled for anywhere from a day to life. In the last four years more have died on the job than in Vietnam. And five times more man-days have been lost to accidents than in strikes.

Safety codes laid down by major industries, the states and insurance companies are patchy, consisting more of recommendations than rules.

Federal legislation covers only selected groups, such as coal miners.

And the congressmen were told there are twice as many game wardens—1,600—as there are safety inspectors at the state and federal level.

Of the half-dozen bills before Congress, the strongest are the administration proposal favored by business and the measure of Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., backed by labor.

Both measures would encourage a uniform code in the states, prod research into safety problems, and work toward a comprehensive set of statistics. In the latter area, it is thought, much of the danger still is undetected because smaller firms either do not keep figures or do not report them.

Five Children of Jayne Mansfield To Get $22,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jayne Mansfield's five children will receive $22,000 each in a settlement of a suit filed after the actress died in a car crash.

Superior Court Judge Arthur Marshall also approved Monday an agreement that three of the children receive an additional $5,000 each because of their injuries in the accident that killed their mother June 29, 1967.

Miss Mansfield was on her way from Biloxi, Miss., to New Orleans, after a nightclub appearance.

The settlement was reached with Gus Stevens, the nightclub owner in whose car Miss Mansfield was riding.

The children, by three husbands, are: Jayne Marie Mansfield, 19, Miklos Hargitay, 10, Zoltan Hargitay, 9, Mariska Hargitay, 5, and Antonio Cimber, 3.

To Your Good Health Where Does A Fallen Stomach Go

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am told I have a fallen stomach. Where does it fall from, and where does it fall to? Also does one need to be on a diet? I am elderly, and very, very constipated. Can you help me? — E.D.J.

Chances are that you are too much alarmed by the words "fallen stomach." It sounds ominous but as a rule isn't.

The stomach, bowel, and some of our other possessions have no bone structure. They are pliable, flexible organs, as is necessary. They are held in place by a type of tissue called mesentery, which contains strong fibrous material. They are supported also by fat and by other organs.

The stomach normally is under your lower rib margin, but it can sag (or "fall") in lean and elderly folks. With age, the supporting tissues become relaxed, and a good many of us also lose fatty tissue, too.

So the stomach can "fall" lower than it used to be. Maybe "droop" would be a better word, because this is a gradual, slow process. The stomach may sag to about the level of the navel.

This doesn't necessarily cause any symptoms or trouble, and if there are no symptoms, forget about the whole thing. No diet necessary.

Your constipation, however, may be another matter. It DOES bother you, evidently.

The cause may well be a similar sagging, but involving the colon, or bowel.

For the constipation, diet can help you: More bulk (vegetables, fruits, indeed, more food in general but mainly the ones that leave more waste, such as vegetable fibers), more fluids, which are very helpful as a rule for anyone with constipation, prunes or prune juice, for the gentle laxative action.

Returning again to the "fallen stomach," if it bothers you in any way, a firm girdle gives added support, and adding a little weight, if you are lean, as I rather presume you are, will help.

But mainly keep in mind that this is not a serious problem. As a physician, I want you to be comfortable and untroubled, but I am not worrying that a "fallen stomach" is endangering your general health, because it isn't.

The universal lacing for sweetness can push local consumption of a little-known food simply because it has a sugary taste. Take sikret. This Asiatic herb, similar to the salsify or oyster plant, was first cultivated in Europe because its tuberous root tasted sweet. This made it popular, especially along the Mediterranean coast of southern Europe, Asia, and northern Africa.

For easier turning

Most cities in the United States, large and small, allow a right turn on a red traffic light after a full stop. The picture shown here was taken this week at Red Wing, Minn. You will find similar signs at Hastings, Rochester and throughout the United States.

What are our city officials waiting for? Permitting a right turn on red after a full stop would speed up traffic greatly at Franklin and Broadway, 5th Street and Huff, Broadway and Huff, Main and 4th, Main and 5th and Broadway and Main. The same idea could apply at the junction of Highways 14-61-43 at the Holiday Inn intersection and in the West End at the intersection of Highway 14-61 and Gilmore Avenue. State Highway Department approval would be required where state highways are involved.

The situation at 3rd and Lafayette is something else again with the completion of Levee Plaza. Perhaps the traffic lights should be removed there and the intersection made a three-way stop. Better yet would be to call in an expert traffic engineer. The time for action is overdue. — G.R.C.

Help for downtown

One of the most gratifying things about the forthcoming downtown urban renewal project is the special consideration being given to firms that might want to relocate within the area.

Efforts are being made by the Housing and Redevelopment Authority to promote construction of a substantial building in a prime location that will accommodate a number of these firms in modernized, efficient quarters. Downtown firms wishing to stay in the area after it is cleared have priority. Several advisory meetings have been conducted over the past few months under authority sponsorship.

ALL OF THIS helps reassure those who feared that urban renewal would mean the ruthless shoving aside of smaller, largely defenseless businesses.

Firms within the project area have the unique opportunity of access to Small Business Administration financing for a cooperative building enterprise. The current SBA loan rate of 5 1/4 percent for such expansions is the sort of bargain that shouldn't be lightly dismissed. Services of the housing authority in helping to arrange this financing have been put at the disposal of interested individuals who hope to recruit others for the joint project.

One of the factors that keeps small businesses small is under-capitalization. The explosive surge of a healthy infusion of needed capital often is ruled out by interest costs and, sometimes, by the imposed limitations of conventional lenders. Here, then, is an opportunity for eligible and ambitious smaller firms to break out of the low capital-limited credit cycle.

UNFORTUNATELY the response hasn't been overwhelming to the authority's offer of various kinds of help. The Chamber of Commerce also is deeply involved in the affair and hopes to build interest in the affected business sector.

When redevelopment of the renewal area gets under way, it conceivably could be the package project of outside interests. The chamber and housing authority are to be commended for earnest efforts to encourage the greatest possible degree of participation and activity by Winona-based concerns. Such participation would be one of the better guarantees of eventual success for the redevelopment concept. — F.R.U.

Humphrey emerges- as himself

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has re-emerged, and most aggressively so, as the titular leader of the Democratic party.

Even more importantly, he is at last cutting out a foreign-policy position of his own quite independent of all his rivals for the 1972 presidential nomination.

PHILOSOPHICALLY and generally, he has rejected the extreme dove line on Vietnam of such as Sens. Edmund Muskie, Eugene McCarthy, Edward Kennedy, George McGovern and Fred Harris, the last of whom is also national chairman of the Democrats. Specifically and highly practical, Humphrey has taken up a posture of open resistance to the long efforts of very liberal Democratic senators to make it appear that the entire party is bent both upon pell-mell retreat from Vietnam and tireless attack upon President Nixon on the war issue.

This is by any measure the most important development within the Democratic party since Humphrey's own defeat for the presidency in 1968. For it gives some assurance, and for the first time, that the rank and file will have some choice as between the increasingly emotionalized "antiwar" position of the current Senate Democratic hierarchy and the far less soft, if also far from hard, line now adopted by Hubert H. Humphrey.

For many months it had been impossible to discern much difference between Humphrey's views and those of Muskie, McCarthy, Kennedy, McGovern, Harris and company. Now there is both a difference and a distinction.

THE DIFFERENCE is that Humphrey has come down on the side of the only-gradual and far from open-ended disengagement from Vietnam that is the core of President Nixon's own approach. The distinction is that Humphrey has become the only realistically available Democratic presidential possibility who is not prepared to assist the sheerly partisan assault upon the President that is being so cheerfully thrown in by the others.

There are, of course, varying opinions as to what is and what is not reflective of the "real" Hubert Humphrey. The Democratic far-liberals are furious with him now, accusing him of running out on past attitudes. Democratic conservatives, if still not exactly enchanted with him, see him at all events in a much less unfavorable light than heretofore. This columnist's own detached opinion, from the sidelines, is that the Humphrey now on display is in fact the genuine article.

His earlier flirtations with the "peace" extremists were wholly uncharacteristic and no doubt caused by the profound trauma he suffered from the savage violence of the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago at which he was nominated with such travail.

To go farther, there has always been a question as to whether he would have lost to Mr. Nixon in the first place had he simply stood pat on the "reasonably firm Vietnam plank" adopted at Chicago over such bitter leftist resistance. At any rate, he did not stand fast. Rather, he progressively retreated under fierce pressures from advisers whose opposition to any kind of Vietnam line short of immediate pull-out was so fervid as ultimately to isolate him from more moderate counsels.

MOREOVER, he left Chicago basically defending Mayor Richard Daley's conduct in the riots; and then turned about, again under left-wing pressure, and became a Daley critic. If this did not cost Humphrey the state of Illinois in the election, then, as the popular ballad goes, God didn't make little green apples and it did not rain in Indianapolis in the summertime.

So there is now either a "new" Humphrey or simply a return to the old Humphrey. Either way, there is certainly a new vigor in his challenge for the 1972 nomination. It was hard to see beforehand how he could possibly hope for it so long as he was simply me-tooing all the others.

Careful answer to hard questions

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — There was no ambiguity in this city about the effectiveness of the Vietnam moratorium. It was a moving, an unforgettable expression of deep public desire to get the United States out of the war.

The police said there were 50,000 people at the meeting on the green, which would be a third of New Haven's population. It was a mixed crowd, old and young, square and hip. And the speaker also covered the spectrum, old-style politicians and reformers, white and black, leaders of business and labor. For two hours they sounded the theme that we must get out.

BUT EVEN in New Haven one could not forget that there are Americans on the other side. A sound-truck filled with counterdemonstrators circled the green, bearing a savagely simple sign: "Destroy, not appease."

And in Washington, it is clear that the politicians worry about the other side. They fear that if things go wrong after an American withdrawal — if people in South Vietnam are killed, if respect for our other world commitments is eroded — there may be a delayed and damaging public reaction. Some call this fear the Weimar syndrome, one aroused by memory of the German feeling after World War I that victory had been frustrated by a stab in the back.

This is why the most impressive speech on the green in New Haven was one that lasted barely five minutes. It came at the end, and it was by the president of Yale, Kingman Brewster Jr.

In a dozen paragraphs of understated rhetoric, he addressed himself to the basic political concerns that held Lyndon Johnson in Vietnam and that obviously inhibit Richard Nixon in his search for a way out. Eschewing the simple emotion of righteous anger, he told those who understood him that hard political questions had to be faced if the war was now to be brought to an end.

"LET US not make the mistake of saying that defeat is easy to take," he said. "If our country is to survive this wound, let us be more honest in the pursuit of peace than we have been in the pursuit of this war."

"Let us admit that it is not easy to stop short of victory in a cause for which so many have fallen."

"Let us say simply that we cannot tolerate the abuse of their memory as a justification for continuation of the killing and the dying at the behest of a corrupt Saigon Government which rejects both democracy and peace."

"Let us admit that it is not easy to abandon the anonymous masses of South Vietnamese who have relied upon us."

"Let us say simply that their interest as well as ours can no longer be served by the perpetuation of terror and death."

"Let us admit that the retreat of our power in face of a persistent enemy might invite other aggressors to doubt — and, doubting to test, our will to help keep the peace, in Europe, in the Middle East, in Asia."

"Let us say simply and proudly that our ability to keep the peace also requires above all that America once again become a symbol of decency and hope, fully deserving the trust and respect of all mankind."

KINGMAN Brewster would not pretend that his answers are a program; he has separately offered specific suggestions for a cease-fire and a timetable of withdrawal. But what he said on the green — in those few phrases, almost Gettysburg-like in their simplicity after so much oratory — should have significance for both President Nixon and his critics.

He admitted to supporters of present policy, and reminded its critics, that there is a political risk in a bold program to withdraw on a fixed schedule and, thus, put the Saigon government at hazard. But there always is a risk in hard political choices, and Brewster's argument was that to temporize further in Vietnam carries even more terrible risks. Perhaps, because he recognized the difficulties, the administration will listen.

Middle East rotting

KRAK DES CHEVALIERS, Syria — The Middle East, an area whose development has been retarded by centuries of warfare and external domination, is dotted with splendid ruins left over from past conflicts and of these, the crusaders' castle at Krak des Chevaliers is one of the most magnificent.

If today's trend of events continues much longer, a new set of ruins, far less impressive than the crusaders' Krak, is bound to feature this landscape.

FOR ALL across a region where so much history has been lived and written, dry rot is spreading, a malediction that threatens to erode existing social and political structures while offering nothing in their stead. Discontent caused by the continuing Palestine conflict and fed by three successive Arab defeats is bound to destroy prevailing systems of government unless a settlement can be arranged — and soon.

Before World War I no independent state existed between the Suez Canal and Turkey's present frontiers. Now there are 10 — Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Israel, North and South Yemen, Muscat-Oman plus the semi-states of the Persian Gulf.

Most of these are threatened in one or another way. Not simply in terms of direct threat, as is the case for Israel, but by the indirect threat of political disintegration. But the greatest new menace to stability comes from the burgeoning Arab guerrilla organizations.

This menace is expressed in varying ways. Syria, for example, has never really accepted Lebanon's existence and dislikes having a successful capitalist democracy neighboring its own restless Socialism. It, therefore, encourages one guerrilla group, As-Saika, to undermine the Lebanese regime.

FOR MONTHS there has been no legal Lebanese cabinet and the state is administered by caretakers. The guerrillas insist on the right to attack Israel from Lebanese bases but Lebanon hopes to avoid active belligerency. Nevertheless, no Beirut government dares oppose the guerrillas on this emotional issue and next spring the crisis will come to a head with probably dire results.

The fedayeen — generic word for the various guerrillas — are gaining strength throughout the Arab world and this is one reason that, despite stern public statements, many people suspect that both Nasser in Egypt and King Hussein in Jordan would like a Palestine settlement simply in order to survive. Nasser is being pressed by jingo younger officers and Hussein's position is steadily worsening.

The courageous little Jordanian ruler says: "Things are rotting all over, even in Egypt, and here they are clearly getting worse. The majority of guerrillas are reasonable people, but some of them are subject to increasing penetration of leftist or opportunist movements."

THESE DAYS the United States embassy in Beirut is guarded by Lebanese sentries after guerrilla warnings of intended violence. Following anti-American incidents, the embassy in Amman is similarly patrolled and the ambassador is followed by armed guards assigned to protect him.

Fedayeen in uniforms ranging from tiger suits to red-bereted battle dress wander through Amman fingering tommyguns and even assign representatives to traffic road blocks. They have established in Jordan something like a parallel government with their own hospitals, social security, youth organizations and tax collectors. The king's writ doesn't run down certain wadis or in some regions near the Israeli border.

Saudi Arabia buzzes with subversive rumors. Libya has just had a coup; Jordan squashed one this month; Lebanon is paralyzed and Syria intermittently convulsed.

The most interesting fedayeen organization is Al Fatah. I talked with several Al Fatah leaders who insist the Israeli war is "Palestinian" and not "Arab Jewish."

They claim to seek "a democratic, nonsectarian Palestine where Jews, Moslems and Christians will work, worship and live peacefully together" but they add Al Fatah is "part of the Arab revolution and believes in the common Arab cause." Obviously, however, Al Fatah aspires to take land from Jordan as well as Israel.

THE MEREST glimpse into desolate Arab refugee camps explains the enormous emotion generated by war, defeat and forced emigration. Frustration engendered by protracted conflict has brought about mass despair ready to strike at any government and offering nothing but continued war or chaos.

Gradually, uneasily, this sentiment is edging leftward, an anarchic, despairing left which, if unchecked, will end by once again ruining this often ruined region. If peace is not brought soon this mindless movement must almost inevitably conquer the Middle East.

In a recent column from Athens listing peripheral democracies of the Mediterranean I carelessly omitted Lebanon. This is an unforgivable error. I wish here with to rectify it and to apologize to this vigorous, if troubled, little nation.

Gen. Hershey moves on

An editorial in Washington Post

Gen. Lewis Blaine Hershey received the Distinguished Service Medals of both the Army and the Navy in 1946.

They were richly deserved, for this crusty career soldier had directed the Selective Service System in its judicious deployment of American manpower resources during World War II. Although he himself never fought in a war, Gen. Hershey was well qualified to administer the wartime draft; he had been responsible for studying and planning emergency manpower procurement as early as 1936. During the war Hershey presided over some 200,000 devoted Selective Service workers — most of them volunteers — and his dedication to fairness equaled theirs.

Once again during the Korean conflict, although some of the draft's weaknesses began to appear, he served wisely and well.

By the time the war in Vietnam started, Gen. Hershey — not entirely by his own design — had held his office long past time. He was stubborn in his refusal and/or inability to understand that old solutions and techniques which had worked well in earlier conflicts were obsolete both in fighting this war and in recruiting for it. His departure from office was thus a welcome and necessary event.

Nevertheless, as a special Presidential adviser beginning next February, Gen. Hershey will undoubtedly be in a position to draw on his early experience and offer valuable counsel in many areas of military recruitment.

Reassessment Made At Request of County

We are aware of some misunderstanding regarding the reassessment of property in Winona and other towns and villages in our county. This reassessment was ordered by the state—complying with a request from our county assessor and county board.

Meetings of all governmental bodies in our city are public and present at these meetings is a good way to learn about government. The Oct. 7 hearing arranged by the School Board, attended by only nine people, was another good opportunity to learn. We hope more people will make use of these opportunities to become informed citizens.

Will Nation Return To Peaceful Sleep?

On Wednesday, Oct. 15, 1969, a day that will live in perpetuity, the national will was cruelly and maliciously attacked by the myth-breakers who employ themselves for the yellow-skinned peril which has vowed to bury Americans by deliberately attacking that courageous abode of democratic action, South Vietnam.

What right have these few, a minority we suspect since we have pledged ourselves to wait for the "silent, forgotten" ones, to slap our cringing consciences with the fact that in this war we have spent more time exploding more bombs delivered by more airplanes more frequently and more impersonally than in any other proud struggle for liberty in which we have partaken?

What rights do these have to tell us slowly but painfully that 40,000 of ours have died, 100,000 of ours have been wounded, unknown thousands of allies have been killed and maimed, at a price which could have given each man, woman and child in South Vietnam enough food to let them survive for a decade, all so that a crooked slice of real estate would have a selected dictator?

Could they not have let us sleep? Sleep, sleep, sleep behind that iron facade of magic myth, government inspired so that things could be justifiably done to correct the bursting seams of yet another myth which had been manufactured earlier? Can these marching legions see no value in our sleep? Can they not turn off their own minds, as we do and have done, with our easily spoken cliches: Vietnam must be made safe for democracy; the end is just around the corner; troops will be home by the middle of 1968; we can see the light at the end of the tunnel; we've lost 5,000 Americans and we can't back out now; just give us 50,000 more troops and we'll wipe the South clean of this part of the global conspiracy; the end is just around the corner; we want only to permit free elections; we've lost 10,000 Americans and we can't back out now; the end is now in sight? Could they not sleep and dream too?

What rights do these have to talk of the causes of a war? We are not historians, reporters, moral theologians. We are only citizens, trying to make it in a world of foreign aid, ballistic missiles, support of dictators or whatever else is going on. Can't we just sit back and trust those to whom we have given power?

And how have they grown? Where once there were only the nervous nannies from scattered college faculties and idealistic abodes, with a few unwashed bearded, there are now thousands and thousands, even some of those who once cried support.

Where shall this end? Does this universal outburst spell the end to the decision making few and the propagandizers who then convince the many? Or shall this whole outpouring quickly end so that we can collectively return to peaceful sleep?

Much More Reading Than He Ordered

MILES CITY, Mont. (AP) — Jack Coffrin returned home from a business trip to find 4,980 pounds of books he didn't order.

The 74 cartons were accompanied by two other items which, Coffrin said, gave him a shock — a freight bill for $376.99 and invoices from the publishers for $9,095.53.

Coffrin says he ordered about $200 worth of books from the company. He said his order must have gotten mixed up with a book store order.

18 Children Killed When Pit Caves In

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Eighteen children were killed Sunday night when a sand pit caved in and buried them, according to reports reaching the capital today. Four youngsters escaped.

The children, 8 to 16 years old, reportedly had been recruited to bring sand for work on the church in the village of Tere-mendo, 10 miles north of Morelia. The overhang of the excavation collapsed as they were filling their buckets.

Plan Federal Safety Rules For Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by the "new and catastrophic potential for death and destruction" in train wrecks, the Nixon administration has proposed the first comprehensive federal railroad safety legislation.

Sending the recommendations to Congress, Transportation Secretary John Volpe last week cited "a steadily rising trend" in rail accidents, many involving shipments of hazardous poisons and explosives.

"Existing rail safety statutes are inadequate to enable the government to respond to the problem," Volpe said, noting that—in an abrupt about-face since last spring—the railroads themselves now seem to agree. Unlike airlines and trucks, railroads thus far have escaped any sort of comprehensive minimum safety standards set by the government, despite attempts in the past to pass such legislation.

The proposal itself does not outline specific safety measures, rather it would permit the secretary of transportation to draw up regulations setting minimum standards for, among other items, tracks, rolling stock and loading procedures. The administration bill, written from the report of a task force composed of railroad management, labor and government representatives, is the third such safety measure to be introduced this year.

Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., have introduced their own bills—both of which remain in committee.

Since 1964, derailments of trains carrying hazardous materials have forced the warlike evacuation of more than 40 American communities.

Train accidents have increased from 4,149 in 1961 to 7,294 in 1967, up 75.8 per cent. Train accidents exceeded 8,000 in 1968.

New Boy, Girl Dorm Plan 'Great'

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Young men and women at a Stanford University dormitory are living in adjacent single rooms in what officials call an experiment in advanced coeducational living.

"It's going quite well," says William Leland, associate dean of students.

Many of the students' parents approve. No parent has complained.

Joseph Katz, executive director of the school's Institute for the Study of Human Problems, said the 40 students' coeducational living may have led to a "partial moratorium on sex."

Students initiated the change last spring by drafting a floor plan assigning names of men and women in next-door rooms at Roble Hall, previously an all-women's dorm and one of the oldest structures on campus.

Peter Bulkeley, a new dean visiting Roble, saw the suggested plan on a wall and thought the assignments already had been approved.

"Sounds like a great idea," he said.

Asst. Prof. John Palmer and his wife, directors of the dormitory, understood Bulkeley's remark to mean official approval and men were moved into rooms assigned by the plan.

The bath-and-toilet problem was resolved by assigning one to men and one to women.

"I approve 100 percent," said Mrs. Anne Huston Gilliam of Corvallis, Ore., whose daughter Sue lives in the dorm. "When I went to Stanford 25 years ago, the boys were at one end of the campus and the girls at the other. Dates became too important. They created tension between boys and girls."

Coed Monica Floeser of Santa Clara, Calif., said she senses a more relaxed attitude toward women among men students.

Robert Brees of Los Angeles, a Dartmouth graduate whose son is in the group, said, "It's a fine idea. I'm not shocked at all."

Katz said the coeducational units avoid "over idealization" of the opposite sex and a good deal of the mutual teasing and destructive behavior characteristic of campus dating.

On a longer-range basis, Katz said, participants may develop attitudes that will lead them to stronger marriages.

Tolerance for Unusual Social Behavior Gains

By LOUIS HARRIS

Despite continuing demonstrations against Vietnam and over civil rights, public annoyance over nonconformist political and social behavior has not changed markedly over the past four years. However, public tolerance of unusual social behavior is generally much higher than for individualistic expression in the political arena.

In 1965 and again in September of this year, a cross section of 1895 households was asked:

"America has many different types of people in it. But we would like to know whether you think each of these different types of people is more helpful or more harmful to American life, or don't they help or harm things much one way or the other?"

TOLERANCE OF NONCONFORMIST TYPES
"More Harmful"
1969 1965

Political and Professional Behavior	59	60
American communist party members	85	89
Student demonstrators at colleges	72	65
People who don't believe in God	69	72
College professors active in unpopular causes	63	58
Anti-Vietnam war protesters	59	68
Civil rights demonstrators	59	68
Working career women

Harris Survey

with young children	46	50
Members of the John Birch society	45	48
Lawyers who defend notorious criminals	35	34
Prostitution	41	45
Women who gossip	67	70

Homosexuals	63	63
Beatniks	54	52
Young men with long hair and beards	43	52
High school students more interested in athletics than their studies	40	45
Women who wear bikini bathing suits	24	26
Young people who like rock 'n roll	11	10
Young people who read books most of the time	8	10

THE RESULTS show clearly that nonconformity associated with college campuses whether in the case of demonstrations or professors "active in unpopular causes," has become a cause of increased public concern over the four-year period.

By the same token, people appear to have become more accustomed to protests over Vietnam and civil rights.

Although much has been written about America as a traditional home for the politically oppressed and much of our history is filled with long struggles to defend the rights of the individual to be different, these results again illustrate that the tradition of tolerance for nonconformist types probably has always been thin among the people themselves.

HOWEVER, there are significant differences in the results by age groups. A special over-sample of 453 young people between 16 and 20 years of age was asked this same series of questions. Here are the results by age on three key items:

	Long-Anti-Civil Haired Viet Rights	Young Protes-Pro Men ters testers
Total Public	43	59
16-20	28	48
21-29	33	56
30-34	36	58
35-49	48	61
50 and over	62	69

Clearly, the most sizable generational gap is over the dress and hair styles of the young themselves. But closely allied in the minds of both the young and the old are the twin issues of the war in Vietnam and the race question.

However, as the young grow older and as time passes, it is apparent that the war of attrition over nonconformity is moving favorably toward the side of the young people. At the moment, their relentless assault on the older establishment appears to have more staying power than the ability of older people to resist.

COLD SPOT REMOVER!

1. Adding a room?
New bedrooms, new wings, etc., can be heated economically without touching the existing ductwork or upsetting the furnace.

4. Cold entry?
The door opens and closes dozens of times a day. The entry area is bound to get cold, but there's a simple solution: a natural gas room heater or baseboard heater.

2. Unheated garage?
It's easy to add heat to keep your car warm on sub-zero mornings or make a comfortable work area. Put in a direct vent or through-the-wall heater. Easy to install—inexpensive to operate.

5. Remodeling your home?
Get rid of cold spots at the same time with a space heating system. It provides multi-room comfort without costly pipes and registers. Duct kits are provided for easy hookup with adjoining rooms. Attractive systems come in many models, including units with furniture styling.

3. Finishing a recreation room?
Install a gas fireplace-heater for extra comfort. Permanent asbestos logs glow realistically. Heat is directed by special vent system to the floor.

Both are attractive and unobtrusive. They provide a great deal of heat from a small source.

Simonson-Allen Nuptials Said In Blair Rite

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — The Rev. K. M. Urberg performed the ceremony uniting Miss Candace M. Allen in marriage to Michael L. Simonson Oct. 11 at Blair First Lutheran Church. Mrs. Gordon Simonson was organist and Mrs. John Allen, soloist.

The couple are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Simonson, Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Allen, Blair.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a floor-length gown of white linen fashioned with long tapered sleeves, empire waist, high neckline and an A-line skirt. Venise lace decorated the neck, sleeves and front skirt panel and a white linen full train was fastened at the waist. The gown was made by the bride's mother. Her bouffant veil of bridal illusion was held by a double crown of chantilly lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, carnations and ivy.

Miss Nancy Allen, Litchfield, Minn., served as maid of honor and Miss Irene Aubart was bridesmaid. They wore gold brocade gowns with empire waists and A-line skirts. Their headpieces were secured by moss green velvet bows and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and fugi mums.

Ray Dean Simonson, Taylor, was best man and Thomas Dahlby was groomsmen. Seating the guests were John Allen, brother of the bride and Paul Olson.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Showers honoring the couple were held at Blair First Lutheran Church and at the Taylor Lutheran Church.

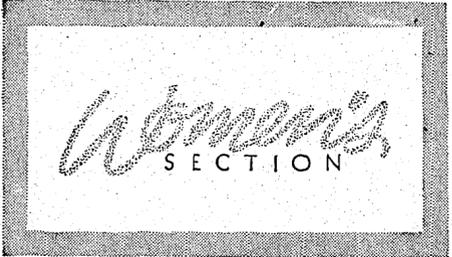

The bride is a graduate of Blair High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Taylor High School and is presently serving with the U.S. Navy aboard the USS Pocono. Following a honeymoon to Northern Minnesota, the couple will be at home at 6365 Chesapeake Blvd., Norfolk, Va.

Wenonah Players Hold Luncheon

Ninety-two alumni and current members of Wenonah Players attended the annual Wenonah Players' Homecoming Luncheon Saturday at the Park Plaza.

Arrangements were in charge of president Mike O'Toole, Laverne; corresponding secretary, Edith Bierbaum, Eyota; treasurer Mark Orlowski, Owatonna; and Patricia Tolmie Frisby, Winona. Decoration of the homecoming parade cars was the work of Keith Anderson, La Crescent.

A program of short speeches followed the luncheon. President O'Toole introduced officers and current members to the alumni. The latter then introduced themselves and spoke briefly of their respective occupations.

Prof. Dorothy B. Magnus, director of the college theatre and adviser to players, welcomed the new members and the alumni, and announced the opening of the Players 1969-70 season with Moliere's "That Scoundrel Scapin" running Nov. 1 to 8.

An informal social hour followed the program.

Newlyweds Make Oronoco Home

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — St. John's Lutheran Church, Lake City, was the scene of the Sept. 20 marriage of Miss Virginia Haglund and Floyd Maiwald. Mrs. Richard Ellison, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Curtis Zillgitt, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Haglund, Lake City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Esther Maiwald, Zumbrota.

Miss Sherryl Passe, Plainview, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Miss Irene Wolfe and Gloria Haglund, sister of the bride.

Lavern Haglund Jr. was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Norbert Adler, and Walter Macchnig. Ushers were Gary Adler and Robert Gunderson.

A reception was held at the Lake City Sportsman's Club following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln High, Lake City, and is employed as a dietary aide at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester. The bridegroom attended Lincoln High, and is employed at Red Wing Iron Works.

Following a trip to Western States, the couple will make their home in King's Park, Oronoco, Minn.

DEAR ABBY: Respect for Dead Too Late

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our family is divided on something and we'd like your opinion. Our father and mother were married for 32 years. Eight months ago, Mother died after a lingering illness and Dad was so broken up over it we thought we were going to have to bury him, too.

After six months Dad's grief miraculously vanished when on a vacation to recuperate he met a woman slightly younger than Mother. You guessed it. They are planning to be married soon. Some feel that out of respect to Mother, Dad should wait a full year to remarry. Others say it's not necessary. What do YOU say, Abby?

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLS.

DEAR NO: Waiting to show "respect" for the deceased is a pretense. The time to show "respect" is while that person is living.

If your father made your mother happy, and gave her a good life, that is all the "respect" any woman wants. If he wasn't a good husband, waiting a year to remarry (or 20 years!) will not show "respect" to a deceased wife. It's too late. She is gone!

DEAR ABBY: Our teen-age daughter's boyfriend recently went into service. He wrote and asked her to send him a picture of her in a BIKINI, and one in a SHEER SHORTY NIGHTY. He said he wants to put it on a display board!

Out daughter doesn't have any pictures of herself that fit that description yet, but she wrote and told him she would have some taken right away and send them to him.

We disapprove, for frankly we think Christians should not be seen in lustful attire as he has requested. But it seems that she desires to fulfill his every wish rather than abide by our teaching.

Don't you think if this boy really respected her he would not have asked for such pictures? Also, don't you think that if she had proper respect for herself and her parents she would try to forget this boy? HEARTBROKEN PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Since the boy did ask, and your daughter responded in the affirmative, I would say the matter is out of your hands. But you are correct in stating the boy lacks respect for his "girl" and she lacks respect for herself.

DEAR ABBY: I notice that some of your readers object to people referring to "police officers" as "cops."

Why? There is nothing derogatory about it. I am told by a British friend that "COP" is short for "CONSTABLE ON PATROL."

In San Francisco where I grew up we had a beloved Irish cop who settled our baseball disputes and was our friend and Father Confessor. We all called him a "cop" and meant no disrespect. Of course this was a long time ago, as I am a veteran of World War I and II. Best regards. CHET IN ATASCADERO

FATHER OF TWIN BOYS: Talk with the boys. Neither accuse nor condemn. If your suspicions are correct, arrange for professional counseling. This could be a "stage" through which they will soon pass, but take no chances.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FLOOR COVERING NEWS

This month we thought we would share with you our recent carpet mill trip as guests of Magee Carpet Co. at Bloomsburg, Pa. We witnessed the milling of all different types and textures of carpets from the raw state to the loading of the finished product. No customer has any conception of the amount of time it takes to produce a roll of carpet — from the design department, testing, dyeing, tufting or weaving, till the back sizing and drying departments. The first production of yarn produced from the spinning frames on every lot of yarn is sampled and sent to the laboratory for testing. The yarn is reeled, conditioned and tested for tensile strength, twist and count yards per ounce. It is constantly tested for color fastness to sunlight and wash fastness — also for wear or abrasion resistance and soiling. Magee really has a terrific quality control on all aspects of their product. We feel privileged to have their fine line of carpets. It is a very large mill as we walked for 1 1/2 days seeing the various departments and in addition took part in very informative seminars etc. We feel even more knowledgeable in the retailing of carpeting now and will gladly share it with you our customer.

CWU Speaker Stresses Planning for UNICEF

Giving Winona women a "quickie" tour of ten countries Monday afternoon, Miss Ann Pellowski emphasized the need for overall planning on a long-term basis to relieve the needs and privations of the children of developing countries.

Speaking at the Church Women United UNICEF tea at Holy Family Hall she explained the funding of UNICEF by voluntary contributions and the governments of the United States, Canada and the wealthy countries of Europe. A budget which allots 40 percent for education has been set up because only through education will a developing people become able to help themselves, Miss Pellowski said.

In addition to starting local self-help projects in needy areas throughout the world a center has been established which will serve as a primary source of children's materials for publishers, filmmakers and educators, said the speaker. The center aims to upgrade international education in contributing countries. In exhibiting the ankling, Miss Pellowski expressed the hope that U.S. children might have sets of these instruments to use and experiment with in learning of Indonesia instead of only reading about them.

Starting her journey in Iran, Miss Pellowski said 800 tent schools have been established by UNICEF for the education of the children of the nomads. The teacher training curriculum is unique there for its course offering "How to Ride a Camel" for camel back is how teacher and school are transported. IN Afghanistan, UNICEF's work has consisted mainly of a teacher training program for natives and help in production of educational materials locally. In West Pakistan the distribution of local children's books through the National Book League was aided by UNICEF. The all women's organization of Pakistan was also assisted in social welfare work such as midwifery training, baby care, health checkups, sewing centers and reading centers.

"No film, story, or picture can possibly show you the people of India," said Miss Pellowski. "One is overwhelmed by the numbers. The government can't reach even 50 percent of the villages. UNICEF has given midwifery training to 50,000 but this covers only one-tenth of the villages."

"Education is attempting to hold its own at the primary level with an illiteracy rate of 60 percent in some areas. The Children's Film Society, a mobile unit showing films on language, health, self and home care, and cleanliness is used in south India where there is a higher percentage of educated people."

"A pre-school education program for children from two to seven years of age has been started in Madras. This is a good age level because after seven a child is usually expected to work but before that time he is generally unsupervised and uncared for while his mother works," said Miss Pellowski. In speaking of conclusive results from UNICEF's efforts,

Miss Pellowski cited Taiwan where much assistance was given and through this and the hard work of the Chinese a stable base has been established. There is now a literacy rate of 90 percent and the people are the best off of any Asian country even though assistance has been withdrawn for the past few years.

UNICEF aims to train natives to run its programs and conduct them so there will always be someone there who will stay with the program. And yes, family planning is very much on the minds of all governments, both practiced and preached, said Miss Pellowski in answer to questions. "I saw only one elephant in India and he had a huge sign for family planning on his side," she commented.

Ten Winona schools are participating in the UNICEF Halloween collection which is sponsored by Church Women United who are assisted by the Winona Lions Club. Mrs. Clayton Fosburgh, chairman of the drive, said "the money Winonans put in the UNICEF canisters will go to help children of 20 different countries to a better future."

Mrs. Douglas Johnson, Cathedral council president introduced Mrs. Sherman Mitchell, Church Women United president and the Rev. David Arnold who welcomed the women. Mrs. Joseph Lovas was chairman of the coffee hour.

Add grated orange rind to an oil-and-vinegar dressing and serve with a watercress and orange salad.

300 Attend Jefferson PTA

Three hundred attended Jefferson School's first PTA meeting Monday. Mrs. John Martin presided at the business meeting. David Mahle, principal, welcomed the parents and extended an invitation to them to visit the classrooms and observe their children's work. It was announced that Camera Art Studio will photograph all Jefferson students Nov. 3. Ways and Means chairman, Mrs. Thomas Stoltman, encouraged parents to bring preschool children as well as older children — as this is the single money-making project of the year. Mrs. Martin also introduced the following chairmen: Mrs. Paul Brewer, vice president; Mrs. Jack Critchfield, secretary; Mrs. George Grangaard, treasurer; Mrs. Brent Rossi, historian; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barge, membership; Mrs. Richard Renk, hospitality; Mrs. Arnold Waldron, publicity; Mrs. Leo Boelker, magazine; Mrs. LeRoy Jasnoch, kitchen; Mrs. Joseph Stoltman; Ways and Means; Mrs. Ivan Olson, program; Jack Eifealdt, safety; Mrs. Linton Krause, kindergarten roundup, and Dr. Curtis Siemers, legislative. Refreshments were served in the gymnasium with kindergarten and first grade mothers acting as hostesses.

Elect Brandt Chancellor of West Germany

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — A newly developed vaccine for rubella or German measles will not be given to children whose mothers are pregnant or are likely to become pregnant in the next two months, the Olmsted County Health Department said Monday.

Dr. Clarence Henke said the department doesn't expect much difficulty in determining by questionnaire which children have pregnant mothers.

But Dr. Henke admitted narrowing down the second category could be more difficult. He said he hoped proper wording of the question would solve the problem but would not elaborate.

Dr. Henke said the reason the vaccine will not be given to children whose mothers are or are likely to become pregnant is to limit the possibility of such women catching the disease from a vaccinated child.

If a pregnant woman catches measles, it can cause birth defects in the unborn child.

Hennepin Co. Official Named to Rights Board

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Harold Levander Monday named Hennepin County Commissioner Thomas L. Olson to the State Board of Human Rights, effective immediately. Olson, 32, and a former Levander staff aide, was elected to the county board in a recent special election. The Board of Human Rights sets policies for the state Human Rights Department and serves as an appeal board in enforcement actions.

New Officers Preside at Central PTA

The PTA at Central School met Monday with 175 parents and teachers present. New officers presiding were Mrs. Charles Schafer, president, Mrs. Dean Sanden, vice president, Mrs. Lavern Lawrenz, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Perry, treasurer.

Robert Hogenson, principal, introduced teachers and staff and recognition was given to parents of students now to the school.

Carroll Lehman presented an overview of the new math program adopted by the school district and sessions were held in classrooms for discussions of specific grade level materials.

The traveling trophy for best attendance went to Mrs. Deloris McVey's morning kindergarten. Lunch was served by kindergarten and first grade mothers. The next meeting will be Nov. 17.

Exchange Rings In Ettrick Rite

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Eva Jane Patten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Patten, Ettrick, became the bride of Thomas Nicholas Theisen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Theisen, La Crosse, Minn., Oct. 11 at St. Bridget's Catholic Church.

The Rev. Francis McCaffrey received the couple's nuptial vows and music was provided by Miss Angie Cantlon who sang and played the guitar.

THE BRIDE chose a lace-gown of organza trimmed with scalloped lace and her cathedral-length silk illusion veil was also bordered with lace. She carried a single long-stemmed red rose.

Miss Chris Christianson, Washington, D.C., maid of honor, was gowned in gold chiffon over taffeta and she carried a yellow rose.

James Theisen, La Crosse, attended his brother as best man and Carl Pederson ushered.

Dinner for the immediate families was held at the Green Meadow Supper Club, Blair, and an evening reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

THE BRIDEGROOM attended Coleman Technical Institute, La Crosse, and served two years with the U.S. Navy. He is employed by the Norplex Co., La Crosse. The bride is employed at the Galt Products Co., Galesville.

Following a wedding trip to the Southern States, the couple will be home near Galesville.

Pre-nuptial parties honoring the bride-elect were given by Mrs. Patrick McCormick, La Crosse, and by the Mmes. Robert Hanson, Dennis Bortle, Ronald Thomas, Harvey Twesme, Glen Erickson and John Cantlon and Miss Betty Erickson at St. Bridget's social hall.

Mayonnaise, Peanut Butter Used

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal drug expert says youngsters in some parts of the country have taken to injecting peanut butter and mayonnaise into their veins as a substitute for narcotics.

In several documented cases the result has been death, Ernest A. Caraballo Jr., a lawyer-pharmacist in the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, told a news conference Monday.

Caraballo said the information that peanut butter and mayonnaise would send users "on a little trip" was contained in an underground recipe book purporting to outline "culinary escapes from reality."

Other recent fads, he said, included the use of paregoric, cleaning fluid, the local anesthetic ethylchloride and freon, the pressurized propellant gas in aerosols.

Caraballo said users of narcotic substitutes confused the bizarre and toxic reactions with the so-called "high" provided by such drugs as heroin or marijuana. He cited the smoking of dried banana skins, a fad of a couple of years ago, as an example.

Frank Gulich, a narcotics bureau official stationed in Chicago, said the underground "cook books" usually sell for about $1 and often give the formulas for preparing drugs such as LSD.

Drug users, Gulich said, are "always looking for new drugs that won't be a violation of the law."

Caraballo and Gulich appeared at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Caraballo urged hospital and control centers to help the narcotics bureau by reporting new fads among users of drugs or substitutes.

"Hopefully, with this type of information, we can eliminate the necessity of waiting for a widespread manifestation of a particular form of abuse," he said.

He did not specify the areas where the peanut butter-mayonnaise fad had cropped up, or how many deaths had been caused.

HHH Has 30-Minute Talk With Hirohito

TOKYO (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had a 30-minute audience Tuesday with Emperor Hirohito at the Imperial Palace.

Empress Nagako, Mrs. Humphrey and U.S. Ambassador Armin H. Meyer were present.

Officials said Hirohito and Humphrey sipped tea and discussed a variety of topics.

Contribute That Dancer May See

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Astrodella, a topless showgirl, isn't supposed to cry—it might slow her recovery from her eye operation.

But when dancers and musicians chipped in to help pay for her surgery, "I just bawled my head off," said the dark-haired dancer, whose real name is Janet Boyd.

Astrodella pops out of a "space capsule" nightly at Howard Hughes' Silver Slipper casino. Then she does an exotic dance and a strip act.

The 22-year-old dancer, a 6-footer with a 38-24-36 figure, makes about $425 per week. But she ran short of money two months ago paying for a cancer operation for her mother, who died last month.

Then, during a routine visit to a doctor, Janet was told she would lose her sight unless she had surgery within a week.

Both eyes were affected by a hereditary condition, and the trouble was aggravated when she was shaken up in an auto accident last summer.

The operation has been performed, and the dancer expects to regain full vision.

But her health insurance had lapsed, she couldn't work while recuperating, and she faced a bill of about $5,000.

Fellow dancers and showgirls chipped in $160. The orchestra gave her $100.

Entertainers urged friends to send contributions. News columnists and radio and television people passed the word along.

"So far there's $500 in the kitty. 'Show people seem to rally around their own,'" said Janet, who will recuperate at home and undergo treatment for another month.

Vote to Issue $10 Million in Airport Bonds

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Metropolitan Airports Commission has voted to issue $10 million in bonds to finance an airline's request for additional facilities at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport.

The commission took that action Monday after a request for additional funding by Northwest Orient Airlines.

The airline was granted a $5 million bond issue in July but said it needed more space to provide for a hangar to house the new Boeing 747 "jumbo jets" and other facilities.

Commission Chairman Lawrence Hall said the Monday agreement has apparently halted any intention by Northwest to move facilities to Seattle, Wash., which it had earlier threatened to do.

The airline had announced it would delay its planned $25 million expansion of the Twin Cities facility when it could not get commission sanction of the bonds.

'U' Enrollment More Than 50,000

Enrollment at the University of Minnesota for the fall quarter of 1969, as measured by registration counts at the end of the second week of classes, has increased on all campuses compared with 1968. The University now serves 50,415 students, compared with 49,454 a year ago.

Total students registered on the Twin Cities campus are 42,906. Units showing significant growth are the College of Education (208 increase), the Graduate School (Twin Cities) (416 increase), the Institute of Technology (222) the Morris campus (246) and the Duluth campus (168).

Three Killed; State Traffic Toll Now 767

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three persons were killed in Minnesota road accidents Monday, increasing the highway death count to 767, compared with 842 through this date a year ago.

Two persons were killed near Austin, the third victim died near Ortonville.

A father and son were killed late Monday afternoon when their pickup truck collided with a semi-trailer rig eight miles southeast of Austin.

Mower County authorities identified the victims as Roger Kvale, 42, and his 13-year-old son, Bruce, rural Austin. The semi-trailer driver was not injured. The accident occurred on Mower County Road 5 about 5:25 p.m.

The Big Stone County victim was identified as Ewald Stock, 65, Correll, Minn.

The Highway Patrol said Stock's pickup met with a car driven by Mrs. Francis Grothe, LeMars, Iowa, head-on about 8 p.m.

Mrs. Grothe and her husband were hospitalized at Ortonville in fair condition Monday night.

Declare Mistrial Of Nine Arrested In Confrontation

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Hennepin County Municipal Court judge Monday declared a mistrial in the case of nine persons arrested in an Aug. 14 confrontation with police on the city's north side.

Judge Neil A. Riley said he took the action because of rumors that one of the defendants, Matthew Eubanks, had been cited for contempt of court.

That rumor began after Eubanks left a courtroom to speak to a group protesting the trial of three students in an attempted takeover at the University of Minnesota in January.

The jurist said he had taken a prosecution request for a contempt citation under advisement but that the rumor spread that the citation had been issued.

Riley said a new jury will be empaneled in the case Nov. 5. The defendants were charged with obstructing traffic and unlawful assembly.

Lawyers Get Off Hook on Reporting How Days Spent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government lawyers have been given a brief respite from recording every 12 minutes how they spend their working days.

But the efficiency evaluation program, conceived last March by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, will start again Jan. 1 and run for a full year.

The Justice Department's administrative chief, Asst. Atty. Gen. Leo M. Peller, said Monday the new 12-month test is to "acquire accurate case weights and to qualify the non-case related work loads as well as to determine the amount of attorney time devoted to each time case and activity."

That means, Kleindienst says, the department hopes to show its lawyers are overworked and need more help.

The first seven months of the program, limited to government lawyers in Washington, drew complaints from employees. On Capitol Hill Sen. San J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., described it as "nit-picking of the nittiest kind."

Bundestag Re-elects Hassel President

BONN, Germany (AP) - West Germany's new Bundestag re-elected Kai-Uwe von Hassel, a former defense minister, as its president Monday to pilot the next four years of parliamentary work.

The 56-year-old Christian Democrat was voted back into office by a 411-72 majority as the new assembly, elected in balloting Sept. 23, launched the federal republic's sixth legislative term.

CST Lobby Has Beetle Exhibit

A new hobby, "beetle watching," has been started at the College of Saint Teresa due to Dr. Ronald Zwonitzer's display of beetles in the front lobby.

Lecture-discussions on the subject, open to the public, will be given on Oct. 22 and 29, and Nov. 5, 12 and 13.

The first lecture, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., will be in the Bonaventure Room, Saint Teresa Hall. Lecturers will be Walter Steiner, of the history department, and Oscar Horner, biology department.

The display, set up and planned by Dr. Zwonitzer, consists of cages in the shape of continents, representing the 10 geographic areas of the world. In each cage he has a number of beetles comparable to the projected 1970 population of these areas. On each successive day for the next 30 days Dr. Zwonitzer will add more beetles in accordance with the projected yearly increase of population of these areas for each year up to the year 2000.

The scale model of the population explosion as delineated, shows the surface areas of the continents in their correct proportions. Plastic barricades have been used to divide the major political and geographical obstacles as they existed in 1968, and roughly outline the major population subdivisions of the world of 1970. Dr. Zwonitzer has used the black beetle as a scale model of two million human beings and the beetle populations grow at the rate that the population of mankind grows.

Purpose of the beetle display at the college is to create interest and focus attention on a series of lecture-discussions arranged by the office of academic affairs on the various aspects of what is known as the population explosion. The lecture series are inter-disciplinary and as planned will cover the historical, biological, nutritional, psychological, political, sociological, economic, philosophical, and theological aspects of the "Population Explosion."

Friends may call at Menig's Funeral Home from Thursday afternoon.

County GOP Commends Nixon, Plaza Committee

Two resolutions were adopted by the Winona County Republican executive committee, meeting Monday at the Mrs. Donald Hittner home, 175 McConnon Dr. The first commending the Levee Plaza committee for raising $175,000 and beautifying the downtown area without using tax monies; the second commending President Nixon for the way he is handling the State of the Nation.

Mrs. Harold LeVander will be appearing at the tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Richard Callender, 301 W. Broadway, Thursday, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The committee voted to donate money to the walk for the poor that will be held Saturday.

County chairman, M. J. McCauley, said that anyone interested in becoming a census enumerator or crew leader should contact Mrs. David Sauer, 363 E. Broadway, 1970 Winona County census planning chairman.

Executive committee members, besides McCauley, are Mrs. Hittner, county chairwoman; Frank Utecht, vice chairman for city of Winona; Ellsworth Simon and Robert Hall, vice chairmen for the rural area; Mrs. Ray Brooks, vice chairman for Winona city; Ronald Putz, publicity director; Harold Doerer, representative to the state central committee; Robert Shoup, county treasurer, and Tim Slade, neighborhood chairman.

Two Killed in Light Plane Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two persons were killed in light plane crashes in Minnesota, a Princeton, Minn., physician in a Twin Cities crash and a man from Bemidji, Minn., in the crash of his stunt plane near Bemida.

The physician died and a companion was critically injured when their single-engine Beechcraft Musketeer crashed on takeoff from Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport.

Identified as the deceased was Dr. Paul H. Hedenstrom 43, head of the Princeton Medical and Surgical Center.

The second occupant was Clem Ryan, a Cannon Falls, Minn., flight instructor. Ryan was reported in critical condition at an Edina hospital Monday night.

The plane crashed near the intersection of 34th Avenue and 62nd Street in Richfield. An incoming pilot reported hearing a radio transmission from the plane saying the engine was failing.

Killed near Bemida was Waldo W. Wattles, 57. Authorities said Wattles was performing aerial acrobatics when his plane failed to come out of a slow roll and crashed into an area of small pines.

Wattles was the owner of an aviation service at Bemidji.

Soviet, Czech Leaders Begin Moscow Talks

MOSCOW (AP) - Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders today began talks in the Kremlin that Prague said would lead to a declaration of "basic political importance."

Czechoslovak communist party secretary Gustav Husak, Premier Oldrich Cernik and President Ludvik Svoboda arrived Monday for a nine-day visit. Today they settled down to formal talks with Soviet communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

A brief official announcement gave no indication of the subjects being discussed, but observers here believe

Houston County Museum Is Termed a 'Triumph'

CALEDONIA, Minn.—There was standing room only in the meeting room of the Houston County Historical Society Museum on the county fairgrounds at its dedication here Sunday afternoon. The museum is complete except for the decorative native store front.

Virgil Johnson, Caledonia, society president, made the introduction, accepted the key to the building, and introduced speakers: Arch Grahn, field director of the state Historical Society and professor Henry Hull of Winona State College, who gave the dedication address.

David Ophus, vocal director at Caledonia High School, led an acapella group in singing.

Miss Gladys Lapham, Hokah, secretary, served coffee and cookies.

Happel accepted the key to the building from Clarence Johnson of Johnson Construction Co., Spring Grove, building contractor. The over-sized replica of the key, Happel said, was made by Walter Rahn of the Arches Branch Museum, Lewiston, and presented by Rahn with compliments of the Winona County Historical Society.

GRAHN said of the museum. "This is a triumph." He said he became acquainted with the Houston County people when he came down from Minneapolis to organize a committee to assist in preparing for the state centennial. At that time the county historical society was organized.

"We are gratified with the increased interest in history in the last dozen years," he said. "A child who is proud of his ancestry will not become a vandal. We must teach children to be proud of their community and ancestry and the best way to do that is to show them the artifacts."

"Museums are never large enough, they always become small. But if yours isn't large, make it the best museum in the state," he urged. The building is 34 by 54 feet and contains several rooms, with treasured artifacts already stored in one area. A counter near the entrance is made of pine over 100 years old from Winnebago Township, supplied by Lyle Lapham, treasurer of the society.

PROFESSOR Hull said that of the 6,000 years of recorded history, only part has been written, with much about generals, kings and dictators—the Caesars and Napoleons—some of whom had the good of the people at heart and some not. These leaders were only a segment of history, he pointed out, while everybody leaves an imperishable record behind—the men of the 19th century whose artifacts testify to how they settled this area are the teachers, the bookkeepers, the lawyers, etc.

The museum carries a record of these all too often forgotten people, he said. It preserves the artifacts which tell the story of the travail of building civilization.

"YOU GOOD people are to be strongly commended who have built this society and museum," he declared.

In his introduction Mr. Happel said Prof. Hull originally came from South Dakota where he was a farmer, blacksmith and laborer. Now he teaches midwest, American economic, local and ancient history sequence at Winona State and is on the board of the Winona County Historical Society.

Happel paid tribute to the people who had helped make the museum possible, including William Murphy, Caledonia, first building chairman who had deposited a sum in a Caledonia bank for construction provided a museum was built by 1970; Arthur Renner and Ove Fossum, Spring Grove, who succeeded Murphy as chairman, Fossum serving during construction; I. G. Iverson, Houston lumberman, who drew the plans but could not be present Sunday on account of illness; J. C. Evans, who was in charge of the artifacts when they were in the Caledonia municipal building, and Miss Georgina Lommen, Caledonia, librarian of the family histories that have been written. Miss Lommen's father, John Peter Lommen, was the first white child born in Houston County, on Dec. 12, 1852, in the area that is now Spring Grove.

HAPPEL announced that the society is receiving a century-old store building at Eitzen from the Minnesota Crippled Children's Society which is heir to the Bunge Estate.

Tentative plans are to refurbish the interior as a country store of the 19th century and perhaps use part of the building as a store where antiques will be for sale.

Mason A. Witt, Houston, is vice president of the society and William Lockhart, Brownsville, a director.

The program was closed by a silent prayer of dedication. Among guests present from a distance were Donald Harries of Duluth, son of Capt. William Harries who came to Houston County after the Civil War; William Lommen and wife of Winlock, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shisler of St. Paul, formerly of Portland Prairie and South Ridge, Houston County, respectively, and LeRoy Schmidt, Waukon, Iowa, president of the Allamakee County Historical Society.

Station Attendant Beaten, $200 Taken In BRB Robbery

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—A man was beaten and a cash register containing $200 was taken at the junction of I-94 and Highways 12 and 27 at Black River Falls shortly before midnight Monday.

Jackson County authorities are looking for the persons who entered the Nortman Service Station, held the attendant, George Hart, 50, at knife point, and then beat him before escaping with the cash register and contents. Hart was not cut with the knife.

Hart went to the Country Kitchen next door and the call was received at the sheriff's office at 11:50 p.m. Hart told officers there were two men, two women and possibly two more men in the car.

TALKING THINGS OVER . . . Grouped in front of the U.S. flag which adorns the front wall of the meeting room of the Houston County Historical Society were, from left, Prof. Henry Hull, Winona, speaker at the dedication; Ove Fossum, Spring Grove, chairman of the building committee; LeRoy Schmidt, Waukon, Iowa, president of the Allamakee County Historical Society; Wesley Happel, Houston, County Society president; Miss Georgina Lommen, Caledonia, family history librarian, and William Lockhart, Brownsville, member of the society board. # Knowles Renews Appeals for Tarr Adoption MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles renewed his appeals for adoption of the Tarr task force's shared-tax program as legislators returned to the Capitol today to review their objections to the bill.

"It would be a tragedy if we were to pass up this opportunity to eliminate the existing inequities in the state tax distribution system, and fail to improve the administrative nightmare which now exists," Knowles said Monday.

The bill, the Republican governor added, "provides a clear opportunity" for the Republican-controlled legislature to demonstrate its desire for tax reform.

The Tarr bill calls for elimination of many of the discrepancies between community property tax rates, a new formula of sharing state tax revenues with cities, and methods of easing local tax burdens.

The state secretary of revenue, James R. Morgan, issued a new round of statistics in support of the bill.

His latest report indicates 64 percent of the state's taxpayers would benefit. Earlier figures had indicated 57 percent.

The Tarr formula, coupled with the latest increases in school aid, could mean lower tax rates for 76 percent of the population compared with an earlier estimate of 72 percent, the report said.

Estimates made last year indicated 69 percent of taxing districts would benefit. The latest report indicates 63 percent. Coupled with recently raised school tax aids, 77 percent of communities should benefit, it said.

Spokesmen for the Wisconsin Alliance of Cities, which had asked Knowles to address legislators today, have said 70 percent or even 75 percent of the state's citizens would benefit from the Tarr plan.

Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee said last week Wausau and Green Bay would gain more from the bill than had been forecast in 1968.

Morgan said additional cities which would gain include Beloit and Madison.

Taxing districts which might lose are in towns for the most part, Morgan added.

Date Set for Start of Murder Trial in La Crosse

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — Trial date was set at Jan. 26 Monday in the case of Donald Shortt, 44, of Madison, who is charged with first degree murder in the loan office slaying last November of Miss Bonnie McDougale, 22.

Shortt pleaded innocent on Friday and was returned to jail without bond Monday to await trial.

Shortt was arrested in Madison following a finance company holdup in Watertown. He still faces questioning about the slayings last December of an Eau Claire loan company employe and a customer and of a loan office manager in St. Paul, Minn., on the same day as the school tax aids, 77 percent of

Atlanta Voters Picking Mayor

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Voters pick the winner today of a fiery race for mayor livened by last-minute charges of campaign irregularity and anti-Semitism.

The city's 218,000 registered voters had a choice between Sam Massell, a Democrat and present vice mayor, and Rodney Cook, a Republican alderman and state legislator.

Retiring Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a fellow Democrat, had urged Massell to quit the race on the ground that he "badly used his position" during the campaign. Massell struck back

Monday at a news conference, declaring:

"Money and power shall not dictate to the electorate."

Massell said he was being opposed by a five-man big business "power pack" including Allen and Cook, because they could not control him and because he is Jewish.

Allen, who did not seek reelection, urged Massell Sunday to withdraw his candidacy because a police captain assigned to his campaign was called on to accompany Massell's brother on fund-raising visits to nightclubs.

Massell replied that his brother had used "bad judgment" but denied any personal wrongdoing.

Negroes who make up nearly 40 per cent of the eligible voters generally were regarded as the key to the election.

In balloting two weeks ago, Massell led Cook by some 4,205 votes but did not receive a majority.

Dr. Horace E. Tate, the city's first black candidate for mayor since Reconstruction, who finished third in the eight-man field two weeks ago, endorsed Cook in the runoff.

Massell was supported by Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and several other Negro leaders.

A spokesman for Cook said the candidate's own advertising manager was Jewish and "there's no prejudice of any sort" in the campaign.

Moravian Hymnal To Be Introduced

BETHANY, Minn. (Special)—The new Moravian hymnal will be introduced to the Winona County Moravian congregations at a workshop at Bethany Moravian Church Friday at 7 p.m. Mrs. Edwin Kortz, Bethlehem, Pa., will have charge of the workshop scheduled for organists, choir directors, pianists and pastors.

At 8 p.m. the second part of the workshop will begin for choir members and any other individuals who are interested in the new hymnals and in church music.

Other participating congregations are Berea, St. Charles, and Hebron, Altura.

Two Return; They Felt Safer in Jail

FAIRMONT, Minn. (AP) — Two Blue Earth, Minn., brothers who squeezed through a narrow opening in a cell window at the Martin County jail Sunday, turned themselves in late Monday afternoon.

The erstwhile escapees were identified as Danny A. Willette, 21, and George C. Willette, 19.

Sheriff William Musegades said the boys told him they had used a hacksaw blade they found on a window ledge in the cell, formed a handle with brads and a metal strip under the window and sawed through a bar to make their escape.

It had been believed earlier that the saw had been slipped to the boys through a crack along side a window.

The sheriff quoted Danny Willette as telling him "we wanted to come back" to the jail because "we feel safer inside."

The brothers said they had hitchhiked to their parents' home Sunday night. When they returned to the jail Monday, the parents were with them.

The Willette brothers had pleaded guilty in District Court to charges of auto theft and were awaiting sentence.

Musegades said he didn't know if any additional charges would be filed against the pair.

Vote to Lease Blufftop Site For Tower

With some of the blanks still to be filled in, the City Council Monday night voted to lease a blufftop site for a broadcasting tower to Radio Station KAGE. Final action will come when a detailed report is submitted by the city manager covering rentals and provisions for interim negotiations. The lease would run for 20 years.

City Council

THE SITE is about 2,000 feet west of Wincrest Drive and covers about 2.75 acres. The location is agreeable to most of the Wincrest homeowners and residents, reported City Manager Carroll J. Fry. A previous request by KAGE for permission to build the tower had been opposed by a number of Wincrest residents. They complained it would interfere with television reception, would be a hazard to children of the neighborhood and would be unsightly.

Noting that KAGE proposed a 20-year lease, Councilman Earl Laufenburger suggested that periodic review of the terms be provided. Councilman Barry Nelson suggested, and later moved, that the document have a clause allowing reopening after 10 years. He also moved that the lease provide for appointment of an arbitration board to settle differences if parties cannot agree.

A report by the city assessor's office showed that taxes for the property, at the present mill rate, would be $149.38. Station Manager Jerry Papenfuss said his firm would be willing to pay taxes at the current rate each year plus an agreed flat rental. This would provide the city a flexible return, he said, instead of tying it down to a rigidly defined figure for a number of years in advance.

THE COUNCIL adopted Nelson's motion which also instructed the city manager to negotiate rental fees and other details with KAGE and submit the lease for council ratification at an upcoming meeting.

Y-Teens Begin Holly Program

The YWCA Y-Teens have begun their annual holly sale once again. They are offering individuals the chance to decorate their homes with fresh Christmas greens.

The sale, currently in progress, runs through Oct. 31. Orders can be made for delivery to the homes in December.

Y-Teens agree that the most popular item offered is the holly English holly. In addition to this favorite, they are again taking orders for the alpine Christmas wreaths, western cedar garlands and the home decorator kits.

Profits from the sale are used by the individual Y-Teens in their club activities. The holly sale contributed in a large part to the 9th grade Y-Teen trip to Chicago last March.

Bid Awarded on Fillmore Co. Project

ST. PAUL — An apparent low bid of $200,474 was received Oct. 7 by State Highway Commissioner N. T. Waldor for grading, plant-mixed bituminous base, and plant-mixed bituminous surface on one-tenth mile of CSA 36 between Trunk Highway 16 and one-tenth mile No. 16 in Whalan. Also included in the contract is construction of a bridge into Whalan from Highway 16. The apparent low bidder was H. S. Dresser & Sons Inc., Winona. Work is to start Nov. 3, and is to be completed by Sept. 18, 1970.

On a dollar basis, although over all benefits paid show a lesser reduction, the trend, nevertheless, is apparent. Changes in the law as passed by the legislature in their recent sessions, raised weekly unemployment compensation payments. The total amount paid out by the Winona Office from January through September, was nevertheless lower by $79,000. Payments for the first nine months of 1969 totaled $481,000 as compared to $402,000 for the first nine months of 1968.

On the basis of present trends with payroll totals moving ahead every month, unemployment compensation filings should without question, reach their lowest total ever recorded for a complete year.

Council Votes to Back Transit Fare Increase

City Council members voted Monday night to back moves by Winona Transit Co. to increase adult fares (but no others) and reduce some services.

Winona Transit Co. proposes to increase the adult fare from 20 cents to 25 cents and to offer four tokens for 90 cents (22 1/2 cents each). Line schedules would be adjusted to eliminate some portions that return less than $1 an hour per bus.

According to a report, the company showed losses of $2,658 in 1968 and estimates losses for 1969 will be $8,357 without considering possible extra labor costs after Nov. 22, expiration date for the present working agreement.

The company proposes to operate under the following schedules, beginning next Monday:

MONDAYS through THURSDAYS and on Saturdays — 30-minute base service on all lines from 6 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., from the downtown terminal at 3rd and Lafayette streets.

Fridays — 30-minute service on all lines, 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., from downtown terminal.

Saturday — 30-minute service, 7 to 8:45 a.m. and 2:30 to 5:15 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, by shuttle bus connecting with regular line buses at 5th and Orrin streets. Hourly service on Saturdays during these times.

ADDITIONAL service will be provided during morning and afternoon riding peak periods, Mondays through Fridays. The company wants to eliminate some lightly-patronized runs and to adjust routings of its shuttle services to Goodview and St. Mary's College.

Surveys show that while operating costs are $5.21 an hour, revenues run at rates of less than $1 per hour per bus on some runs, the report said.

According to Ray M. Fey, bus company general manager, the service cutbacks can be accomplished by council approval; no Public Service Commission hearing is necessary. The commission must hear the rate request, however. He said the commission may even authorize a trial period for rate increases.

He asked the council to permit reduction of low-return schedules immediately and to endorse whatever fare schedule the PSC authorizes. Fey said the firm's school and charter operations help subsidize the losing segments but that they aren't plentiful enough to balance the losses.

THE COUNCIL adopted a motion by Councilman Dan Trainor Jr. calling for a study by the department of feasibility of reducing speed limits in the section bounded by Main, Huff, Sanborn and Mark streets.

Five different missionaries will be in Winona Wednesday through Sunday to share their experiences with members and friends of the Lakeside Evangelical Free Church.

The meetings will start at 7:30 each evening. The public is invited, according to James Martens, chairman of the local congregation.

THE CONFERENCE will begin Wednesday with Miss Adeline Sprang, a nurse and teacher of nurses in the Republic of Congo for the past nine years. She was in the Congo in its turbulent years of 1961 and 1964 and was an experienced nurse before she headed for the mission field in 1960.

On Thursday a report on missionary work in Japan will be given through word and colored slides by the Rev. Lewis Wimerly. He is home from Japan on his first furlough and will tell of the church planning, university student work and other evangelism efforts among the people of Japan. He first went to Japan in 1966.

The Rev. John Nelson, missionary in Venezuela for 16 years, will speak and show slides of his work on Friday night. He is serving a new seminary in Venezuela which opened in the fall of 1969. Pastor Nelson has served in Venezuela since 1953. During these years he has been involved in pastoral work, evangelism, directing and teaching in the Bible institute, directing the missionary children's school and assisting in the radio ministry.

NORRIS Anderson, a candidate to Malaysia, will speak of his work on Saturday night.

The final service of the conference will be Sunday evening with William Carlson, a missionary to the Congo telling of his work. He is a teacher in a secondary school, the director of an agricultural school, and has helped start a branch church in Gemena.

Youth Sentenced for Breaking, Entering

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special) — Roger Lockington, about 25, Alma Center, was sentenced in Jackson County Court Monday to two years in the Green Bay Reformatory on a charge of breaking and entering the Gilbertson Garage at Melrose during the night of September 14.

He pleaded guilty to the charge, which involved the theft of a tool box, some mechanics' tools and car parts. He and his family are former residents of the Stevenswood and Melrose areas. Judge Richard Lawton presided.

Council Seeks Parking Lot Traffic Control

An ordinance permitting city control of traffic on privately owned parking lots was introduced at Monday night's City Council meeting. It will be up for final passage in two weeks.

It would enable the city to enter lots such as those maintained by food markets, said City Manager Carroll J. Fry, to prosecute those drivers who endanger others or who drive at speeds that are not reasonable with respect to existing conditions. The absolute speed limit imposed is 30 miles an hour. The penalty is a fine of $10 or more or a jail sentence of 10 days or more. For second conviction the penalty escalates to $25 minimum fine or 30-day minimum jail term.

COUNCILMAN Barry Nelson asked whether the ordinance will be enforced or, as he put it, "just left lying around." He told colleagues he has seen many such ordinances passed but few tangible results.

Prosecution becomes the task of the city's legal arm over which he has no control, said Fry. He promised a report to councilmen on backlogged cases.

Councilman Dan Trainor Jr. wondered if the ordinance would eliminate driving on Levee Plaza. Both he and Nelson said they had seen numerous instances of driving and parking in portions of the plaza that are supposedly off limits for vehicles.

FRY SAID the council has power under various ordinances, including this one, to exercise reasonable control over street users. Nor is it necessary to vacate such streets, he said, to impose such traffic restrictions.

Trainor's motion for introduction got unanimous approval.

Eagles Protest One-Way Traffic Through Alley

A protest against one-way traffic in a downtown alley brought a City Council move for a study of the situation.

The protest came in a letter from the Winona Eagles Lodge, signed by the secretary, John D. McGill. The letter noted that lodge members had voted unanimously disapproval of one-way traffic in the north-south alley between 2nd, 3rd, Center and Main streets.

The alley passes the rear entrance to the Eagles club rooms which front on 115 Center St. City Manager Carroll J. Fry noted that the pattern had been set up as part of Levee Plaza planning. It was suggested by Chamber of Commerce sources, he recalled. Fry promised a study, observing that the city "would need more than a mere expression of dislike" as a basis for action.

One-way traffic was recommended in the plaza plan for the two mid-block alleys north and south of 3rd Street, between Center and Main streets. The alleys are escape routes for 1-way eastbound traffic entering the half-block of 3rd Street east of Main.

K of C Installs Borzyskowski

John F. Borzyskowski, 300 Mankato Ave., was installed as faithful navigator of the Bishop Francis M. Kelly General Assembly 4th Degree Knights of Columbus at the Holiday Inn on Sunday morning. The installation followed breakfast and a meeting of the assembly.

Borzyskowski, 57, a mortician, has been a knight for 31 years. Installing officer was Frank R. Hill, St. Paul, state master of the Minnesota District of 4th Degree Knights of Columbus. Other officers installed were: James W. McCabe, admiral; Paul M. Brom, captain; Robert Bork, "Trempealeau, Wis., pilot; Thomas M. Buscovic, comptroller; Willard D. Angst, scribe; Alphonse Lemmer, inside sentinel; Dominic Pelowski, outside sentinel, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harold J. Dittman, friar.

About 30 members of the assembly and their wives attended the breakfast following Mass at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart.

Trustees elected recently are: John Stejskal, La Crescent, Minn., three years; Andrew Lemmer, Minn.-Skn., two years; and Anthony Winczewski, Winona, one year.

Council Approves New Air Service

The outlines of an agreement with Mississippi Valley Airways Inc. for use of Winona airport facilities were approved Monday night by the City Council.

Councilmen directed the city manager to draw the lease along lines proposed by the commuter airline. Mississippi Valley is expected to be in operation shortly and will replace service being withdrawn by North Central Airlines.

The commuter firm will not start flights next Sunday, as was previously announced, reported City Manager Carroll J. Fry. He said the Civil Aeronautics Board ruling covering withdrawal by North Central — and its backstop guarantee of service, should Mississippi Valley fail — will not be issued for another week or more.

Terms suggested by Mississippi Valley included a $100 monthly rental for office space at the airport administration building under a lease renewable from year to year. In addition, suggested the letter by C. Norman Elsy, president, the firm would pay the city one percent of its gross revenues in place of landing fees.

Fry told the council payments to the city by North Central add up to about $2,200 a year, including office rental and landing fees. He agreed with Kermit Bergland, Chamber of Commerce vice president, who told the council the revenue percentage seemed to be an entirely equitable arrangement. At La Crosse, said Bergland, Mississippi Valley will pay $600 a year for office space and a $2 fee for each landing.

The council also placed on file a letter from Winona Air Group withdrawing its request for use of a small city-owned hangar. Councilmen speculated that the space might be usable by Mississippi Valley since it plans to base operations at Winona.

James Bennett, Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota chapter, will make the award to Quie in the name of the national CEC. Dr. Maynard Reynolds, chairman of the department of special education, University of Minnesota, and a former national president of the CEC, will preside.

Rep. Roy Schulz, Mankato, chairman of the House Education Committee of the Minnesota Legislature, will deliver the keynote address, "How Organizations Concerned with the Handicapped Can Work Effectively with the Legislature."

HONOLULU (AP) — Paul Kantner, lead guitarist of the Jefferson Airplane rock musical group, has been ordered to appear in District Court Wednesday to answer a charge of possession of marijuana.

Kantner, 28, was arrested early Sunday by Honolulu police narcotics officers at a house he and the rest of the group rented during their appearances here. Kantner was arrested while crawling through bushes near the house with a marijuana cigarette between his lips, police Sgt. John Borges said.

Kantner appeared at arraignment proceedings Monday and was freed on $100 bail.

Banners Above Plaza are 'Out'

Those overhead banners stretched across downtown streets are on their way out.

That's the message in a City Council decision Monday night on where to permit display of a banner by public-American Education Week.

The request for permission to display the banner during the week of Nov. 9-16, at 3rd and Center streets, came from a committee at Winona Senior High School.

Council noted a letter from the Winona Area Chamber of Commerce in formulating their reply. The chamber advised the council that most of the overhead wires were removed from 3rd Street in connection with Levee Plaza remodeling. New holiday decorations will not depend on such wires, the chamber's letter said, and in any event the banners would clash with the beautification objectives of the plaza. The chamber recommended that this "outmoded" form of advertising be abandoned.

The council rose to the occasion with a compromise. Councilman Barry Nelson voted to permit display of the banner outside of the plaza area. This means, he explained, that the banner could be placed across 3rd Street at the west side of the Main Street intersection, for example, but not the east side since the latter is a plaza entrance.

The vote was unanimous for Nelson's motion.

Quie to Receive CEC Award for 'Contributions'

Cong. Albert H. Quie will travel to Minnesota on Oct. 24 to receive a special legislative citation from the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC), a branch of the National Education Association. The award will be made at the opening banquet of a two-day workshop on legislation for the handicapped to be held on Oct. 24-25 at Camp Courage, Annandale.

Quie will be honored for his outstanding contributions in the area of legislation affecting the education of handicapped children. As co-author of the Handicapped Children's Early Education Act of 1968, Quie has helped to launch a program of early childhood education for children with orthopedic, sensory, emotional and intellectual deficits. Minnesota's Department of Education has received funds with which to develop a model early education program for hearing impaired children under the terms of the Quie legislation.

As a member of the influential Education and Labor Committee of the House of Representatives, the Minnesota congressman has strongly supported the Elementary and Secondary Education Act's Title VI, the federal program specifically dedicated to helping school districts to develop services for handicapped children.

James Bennett, Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota chapter, will make the award to Quie in the name of the national CEC. Dr. Maynard Reynolds, chairman of the department of special education, University of Minnesota, and a former national president of the CEC, will preside.

COLLEGE EDUCATION
NOW 1/3 COST

It's not a special. It's the financial fact our colleges and universities are facing. There are over 7,000,000 students. Costs of facilities, and faculties, average 2/3 more than tuitions now pay. To keep higher education moving ahead, more people must help with voluntary gifts.

Give to the college of your choice.

Organized Crime Begins to Move In on Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Law enforcement officials say organized crime has begun moving in on the Alaskan oil boom.

"They have already tried to work into the state, mainly through legitimate business," declared Mel Personett, state commissioner of public safety.

Douglas Bailey, U.S. attorney for Alaska, said he had also seen evidence of big-time criminal activity and commented:

"The economic situation up here now is such as to attract organized crime. And now is the time to get in on the ground floor."

Alaska's economy long has been dependent on federal spending, mostly by the military.

But the state's new-found oil wealth, publicized by the sale last month of more than $900 million in oil and gas leases on the North Slope, is changing the state's economic picture.

Bailey says Valdez, Fairbanks, Anchorage and Kenai are among the likely targets for Mafia and other crime syndicate operators.

Buffalo Naval Training Center Short on Funds

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Naval Training Center may have to scrimp and save a little through December—it has an operating budget allowance of $10.

Officers at the center said Sunday a Defense Department economy move has left its 14 units with the sum.

The officers said they were given $703 at the beginning of October but that $693 of it went for the telephone bill, garbage collection and gasoline.

Operating expenses for items such as office supplies have been curtailed.

Some of the men don't seem to mind the inconveniences. A shortage of triplicate forms has held up the processing of reservists going on active duty.

Voice of the Outdoors

Duck Prospects Better

Mid-week duck hunting should be improved slightly over last weekend, according to duck population reports at the wildlife refuge office here.

There were, refuge manager Don Gray stated, 12,000 Mallards and 10,000 Baldpate in the Winona-Weaver area. Don made a trip up the refuge from its southern tip during the past weekend and found hunters waiting for the ducks to come.

However, reports from Canada are that there is an abundance of waterfowl on all the lakes across southern Canada. Here are a couple of paragraphs from the Oct. 14 report of Ducks Unlimited:

"Good duck hunting weather

— wet and miserable — has dominated the prairies for the past three weeks enhancing the prospects of a repetition in 1970 of the prime water conditions of the past year.

"Ducks are plentiful and waterfowl hunting, as might be expected under these conditions, has been good although muddy side roads have made travel difficult. All reports confirm that the flight south will be the best in a long time. How visible it will be will depend on time, place and freeze-up conditions—a quick and early winter could result in a spectacular passage.

"So far, aside from a snowstorm in central Saskatchewan on Oct. 4, there has been nothing to initiate a large-scale migration from the prairies. Northern conditions associated with the weather disturbances of early October resulted in a movement of geese into central Saskatchewan and southern Manitoba where these birds are now present in good numbers.

Pheasant Results
Hunters that worked hard or had a dog got pheasants in Trempealeau County over the weekend. And there are still plenty of birds remaining for the mid-week hunter. The daily limit has now doubled — to two a day, four in possession.

Hunting was hard over the weekend. It was warm Saturday. The weed growth in the marshes and even along the edges of the cornfield was dense and heavy. Most of the heavy crop of corn has to be harvested. On Sunday, the fields were wet, and hip boots were popular—if one was ambitious enough to go hunting.

The hunting pressure Saturday, in good and known pheasant areas, was greater than a year ago. There were more outside hunters. La Crosse and Eau Claire parties were common.

Here and There
Thus far, George Meyer, Whitewater refuge, has registered five deer killed by bow-hunters. No hunters have presented a deer to Bill Gannaway for registration in Winona.

Fishing continues to be slow. Game wardens working the river north from La Crescent Saturday reported that few walleyes were taken. White Bass were hitting below the Dresbach dam. Some small sauger were taken below the Trempealeau and Winona dams.

Gray said he saw more snow and blue geese on his trip upriver than in recent autumns. District managers reports indicate that more geese are being harvested along the river this year.

The boundaries of the Rochester refuge are again popular as goose hunting areas. The big Canada geese regularly move from the refuge area and beyond the city limit to feed.

Up to this writing no local pheasant hunters have reported on their South Dakota trip. It is probably too early, since the limit is three a day and 15 in possession.

Lie Detector Test Admitted Into Court

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lie detector test results were admitted into a Hennepin County District Court case Monday in an unusual ruling.

The admission was believed the first in a Minnesota court over prosecution objections. In the past, test results have been used when a county attorney acquiesced to their admittance.

But Judge Dana Nicholson said in his ruling Monday the proven reliability of the tests made them proper in this case.

Andrew Ferrando, 31, Minneapolis, had been convicted of lurking with intent to commit petty theft but after Nicholson's ruling, the jury acquitted Ferrando.

He had been accused of hiding inside a northeast city bar and the wife of the establishment's owner identified Ferrando as the man from a group of photographs shown her by police.

After being convicted in municipal court, Ferrando took a lie detector test at the University of Minnesota and authorities said the test showed Ferrando was telling the truth.

Ferrando testified that he was asleep in bed at the time of the incident.

Williams Manager of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The ragamuffin cast was virtually the same, but Washington's Senators produced an astonishing about-face last season thanks to the personal magnetism and knowledge of the game that made Ted Williams baseball's last 400 hitter.

The freshman manager, who readily admitted he was uneasy about bossing a club despite a million dollar contract, took a collection of ball players that finished dead last the season before and guided them to their first winning season in 17 years.

And, for that bit of masterminding, Williams has been named The Associated Press American League manager of the year in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Twins to the Western Division championship.

Earl Weaver, who guided the Baltimore Orioles to a runaway triumph in the Eastern Division, was third with 70 votes. Lefty Phillips, a mid-season replacement who guided California to third place, received one vote.

Williams is in Zambia, Africa, filming a hunting show for television and was not available for comment.

However, late in the season he scoffed at the idea when it was suggested that he might be named the AL's manager of the year.

The award should go to Weaver, Williams said, because he won the pennant and "that's what you're supposed to do."

"I can tell you one thing," he added, "I'm not going to any of those banquets if I get it."

Williams had never managed anywhere until Bob Short, owner of the Senators, lured him away from a leisure life of hunting and fishing with a salary and stock in the Senators that totaled more than a million dollars.

Williams was presented at the start of the season with a group of players that had won only 65 of 161 games in 1968.

But he "bubbles with enthusiasm and it's contagious," said Ed Brinkman, summing up the respect that Williams commanded from his players.

Under the master teacher, Frank Howard had his greatest year ever, and players such as Mike Epstein, Brinkman and Hank Allen turned from 220 hitters into 230 hitters. Even the pitching staff improved 100 per cent.

The end result was an 86-76 campaign and a fourth place finish—the first time since 1952 that the Senators had finished better than 500 and the first time since 1946 that they had finished as high as fourth.

Martin, the peppery former New York Yankee second baseman, took Minnesota to a seventh place finish in 1968 to the divisional title.

But he was continually undermining himself, feuding first with Williams, then the Twins' front office officials and finally with Minnesota's 20-game winner Dave Boswell outside a Detroit bar.

And, although Martin was popular with Twin fans, owner Calvin Griffith fired him after the season ended.

Key Players Will Return To Badgers

MADISON (AP) — Coach John Coatta says a couple of his key football players are off the injury list and should be ready to start this weekend against Indiana.

Linebacker Chuck Winfrey and running back Greg Johnson missed last week's embarrassing loss to Northwestern. They were on the sideline with injuries.

Coatta said both should be back.

Running back Randy Marks, who last week came up with a knee injury which indicated he could be lost for the season, joined Monday's brief workout.

Coatta said his knee is in better shape than had been feared, but that Marks probably won't play against Indiana.

The Badgers reviewed films of Saturday's 27-7 loss to the Wildcats, and studied some Hoosier game films.

Gopher Cranston Moves to Tackle

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ted Burke regained the starting center slot and John Cranston moved onto the first team at offensive tackle Monday as the Minnesota Gophers began preparations for Saturday's battle against Michigan.

Burke, the 6-foot-6, 223-pounder from Stewart, Minn., retook the center position from Ron King.

Cranston, who saw his first extended action against Ohio State last Saturday, filled in at the tackle spot for the injured Jim Wrobel. Cranston is a 6-3, 229-pound junior from Rochester.

Alvin Ray Hawes, who missed the Ohio State game, is again doubtful at offensive tackle for the battle for the Little Brown Jug.

SCOTT SPOUTING OFF

SEATTLE (AP) — Fraser Scott, Seattle fighter recently disqualified for butting in a title bout in Italy with world middleweight champ Nino Benvenuti, had a couple of pointed comments about the outcome at a sports writers' luncheon Monday.

"When they cut the Star Spangled Banner short, we knew we were in trouble," Scott said.

"They talked about another fight in Italy, but that'd be a little bit like Custer going back to the Little Big Horn."

County Stadium Could Have Baseball in 1970

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A newspaper sportswriter stood in Milwaukee County Stadium's cramped press box two years ago and watched the Green Bay Packers slip and slide across a muddy, rain-soaked baseball diamond during a pro football game.

"There's no doubt about it," he said sadly. "We have the best baseball sandlot in the National Football League."

The Braves transferred their National League franchise to Atlanta after the 1965 season. The county was left with a little-used white elephant that was no longer drawing healthy revenue.

This week's outbreak of reports that the Seattle Pilots of the American League might transfer to the 17-year-old stadium renewed official assurances that the structure could be restored to top shape for a new resident ball club.

"It could be made ready for a major league baseball club at a moment's notice," stadium manager William R. Anderson said Monday.

The baseball field has seen little activity in recent years, except for occasional Packer games, the abbreviated summer series of American League games played by the Chicago White Sox, and some lesser events.

Anderson said the stadium's lighting system, press boxes and some seating facilities need overhauling. Existing lights, he said, are "not adequate for night color TV pickup."

Milwaukee County's Board of Supervisors voted a commitment in 1967 to add 10,500 seats if a baseball franchise were awarded, raising capacity to 54,000 seats for baseball and 56,000 for football.

As of July 1, 1969, the county had invested $8.9 million in construction and improvements, excluding $5.4 million for operation and maintenance.

The talk of a Pilots transfer came as a surprise. There is nothing in the 1970 budget concerning the seating improvements.

But the county is considering $105,000 for press box improvements, and $65,000 more in 1971. The press facilities were "inadequate from the day they were designed and built," Anderson said.

Possibly through a dearth of use, the field itself is still in prime condition.

"It was the most beautiful turf to look at," Anderson said in a remark about some sod having been torn loose in a recent football game.

Milwaukee's franchise seekers have repeatedly told pro baseball they think their stadium is one of the city's best bid features.

They expressed particular annoyance during recent league expansions when clubs were assigned to cities which, at that time in their opinion, had less satisfactory facilities. Ironically, one of them was Seattle.

Tennessee drubbed Alabama 41-14 last Saturday and jumped high into the Associated Press poll released Monday.

Ohio State, 34-7 winner over Minnesota, remained in first place with 27 first-place votes and 666 points. Texas, idle last Saturday, was second with five first-place ballots and 612 points, while Arkansas, also idle, remained fourth with 417 points, 18 points less than Tennessee.

Southern California, third last week, dropped to seventh after a 14-14 tie with Notre Dame which fell from 11th to 12th.

The poll of sports writers and broadcasters saw Penn State, fifth last week, drop from fifth to eighth after edging Syracuse 15-14. However, the Nittany Lions did get one first-place vote.

Missouri advanced from sixth to fifth and UCLA jumped two places to sixth. Louisiana State and Florida stayed 9th and 10th respectively.

None of the Top Ten has been beaten. Oklahoma heads the second 10, followed by Notre Dame, Georgia, Auburn, Purdue, Wyoming, Mississippi, Kansas State, Stanford and Air Force. Kansas and Air Force are newcomers to the rankings.

Dropped from the list were Michigan, 13th last week, and Alabama, who was 20th.

Watkins Team Sets Records

Watkin's Cosmetics paced the Pin Topplers circuit at Westgate Bowl to a flurry of record setting performances Monday night. Irene Pozanc, a Watkin's substitute, belted 235-641 to lead her adopted team to 892-2,760.

Irene's 235 stands third on this year's records and the 641 jumps her ahead of the field into first place for the 1969-70 season. Her 641 compares third with last year's top efforts and four more pins would have given her a spot on the all-time list.

Watkin's team series ranks second this season while the team game holds down the fifth position and would have placed seventh over last year.

Betty Engerth fired 200-374, Eleanor Stahl 202-546, Mary Hengel 530, Irene Bronk, 525, Carol Ives 518, Vivian E. Brown 514, Ruth Hopf, 509, Bonnie Webster 508, Esther Pozanc 506, and Marge Moravec, who also knocked off the 4-7-10 split, 503.

Hal-Rod Lanes' City leaguers did some record changing also as Sunshine Bar and Cafe ripped 1,112-3,056. The team game ranks third among this season's best and second when compared to last year. The 3,056 moves Sunshine into sixth place for the year.

John Walski led individual bowlers with an errorless 240-649. Bob Dennis shot errorless 237-646, Gordie Fakler paced Dennis with identical errorless games (both had 206-203-237-646). Lyle Jacobson had 625, Vince Suchomel 610, Ron Fitch 601, and Bob Winstorfer 601.

HAL-ROD LANES: VFW John Pozanc hit 245-600 for Blanche's Tavern and Chuck Hagedorn contributed 212-604 to Robb's Coyle Shop. Wason's Supper Club collected 1,048 and Robb's fired 2,923. Ray Gabrych hit 587 errorless.

WESTGATE BOWL: Ladies—Pauline Cummings of Haddad's tripped 212-567 and Laehn's House of Beauty tipped 931-2,654. Arlene Soback felled 201-520.

Community — Tempo's Con Schacht hit 226 and LaVern Scharmer pitched 590 for Sunbeam. Blumentritt's downed 2,825.

Alley Gaters — Pauline Cummings led another league Monday night with 211-534. This time, she rolled for Jeanette's Beauty Salon. Linahan's compiled 895-2,645.

Mary Emmons rapped 518, Larry Donahue 514, and Carol Fenske 501.

ATHLETIC CLUB: Monday—Ted Bambeck, Joswick's Fuel and Oil, shot 204-589 and Bunker's Apco recorded 929-2,745. Go Getters — Orville Cisewski tossed 172-477 for EB's Corner and Ruppert's shelved 852-2,458.

Allen Rates Ram Offensive Line Best in League

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Herald-ing the unheralded, Coach George Allen of the undefeated Los Angeles Rams declares: "We feel we have the best offensive line in the National Football League."

Allen, known as a defensive genius, said he didn't want to take anything away from the great play of quarterback Roman Gabriel, yet pointed out the line has given him time to throw.

Guard Tom Mack, a four-year veteran from Michigan, was named pro player-of-the-week by the Southern California Football Writers on Monday, following Sunday's 34-21 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Mack, a 250-pounder, checked the defensive guard of the renowned Henry Jordan. The veteran Joe Seibelli, from Notre Dame, holds down the other guard position, with Ken Iman from Southeast Missouri State at center.

Seibelli and Iman are playing their ninth pro year with the former sealing 265 and the latter 240.

At the tackle are Bob Brown, the former Philadelphia All-Pro who joined the Rams this season, and the veteran Charlie Cowan. Brown, 290, is a collegiate product of Nebraska, and Cowan, 265, came from New Mexico Highlands.

Those unsung five plus tight end Billy Truax, provide a big reason Gabriel completed 17 passes against Green Bay to bring his career total to 1,019. That beats the Ram record of 1,011 set by Norm Van Brocklin.

"Our offensive line has been doing a great job," declared Allen, who also said his offensive backfield situation "is the best it's been" since he arrived on the scene in 1966.

No. 13 Not Unlucky For Jets' Maynard

NEW YORK (AP) — When Don Maynard shows American Football League pass defenders the No. 13 on the back of his New York Jets jersey they're usually out of luck.

TAKING TO THE AIR . . . Quarterback Joe Namath (12) of the New York Jets fades back behind teammate Roger Finnie (61) as he prepares to pass at 10 yard line in second quarter of game with the Houston Oilers at New York's Shea Stadium, Monday. In on the play is Pat Holmes (79) of the Oilers. (AP Photofax) ton the back of his shirt Monday night as the Jets downed the Oilers 26-17 to grab first place in the AFL East.

Joe Namath fired touchdown strikes of 57 and 54 yards to Maynard and Jim Turner kicked four field goals as the Jets won their home opener before a roaring Shea Stadium crowd of 63,841—largest in AFL history.

Maynard streaked past Farr with 6½ minutes remaining in the second quarter and took Namath's float in for a 10-7 New York lead.

Then, 18 seconds before the halftime gun, he snared another—as Houston slipped and fell on the chewed-up Shea turf—and loped into the end zone, tying Art Powell's AFL career record of 81 touchdowns.

"You've got to use a few more moves on these guys after 11 years," said the slender Texan, who caught seven passes in all for a total of 212 yards.

"They're awful quick and they don't wear as much padding as I do.

"I don't think I'm slowing up, but they seem faster."

Maynard, who breaks his own all-pro record for receiving yardage every time he makes a catch, isn't planning on letting the defensive backs off the hook.

"I train better than anyone around," he said. "I like playing football. The game has been great to me and I owe it to myself to keep playing as long as I can."

"He's one of the best," said Houston, who spent a trying night shadowing the elusive Jet veteran. "He's got the speed and he can catch the ball. And he has the experience, too."

The playing surface, resodded piecemeal in the past four days after the riot that followed the New York Mets' World Series triumph in which fans walked off with huge strips of turf, proved treacherous for both clubs.

But Farr and Houston refused to use the poor field condition as an alibi and Jets placekicker Turner, who has booted 15 field goals in 21 attempts this season, said it didn't affect his kicking.

"I didn't have to kick from the sod," said the AFL point leader, who connected from 17, 49, 45 and 21 yards. "I had to dig in on the long one because I was kicking off the dirt and against the wind."

"We've been here five years and they haven't fixed it yet," said Maynard. "But when you win, you can't complain."

Vasko Assigned To Salt Lake City

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Wren Blair is taking out insurance on his new rough-house defense tactics.

Blair, general manager-coach of the National Hockey League team, announced Monday he had signed defenseman Elmer "Moose" Vasko to a contract and assigned him to Salt Lake City of the Western League.

Vasko, 32, captain of the North Stars in 1968-69, had refused to sign his contract after the training camp ended with him still on a minor league roster.

Blair said Vasko agreed to a major league contract in financial terms. Salary was not disclosed.

"We feel he's capable of performing in the National League once he plays himself into shape," said Blair, who wants Vasko to reduce from 235 to 225 pounds.

The North Stars, who play the Boston Bruins Wednesday night in the Metropolitan Sports Center, are playing more aggressive, hard checking hockey than a year ago.

Big rookie defenseman Barry Gibbs became a casualty of the new style of play Saturday night against St. Louis, sustaining a severe charley horse in his leg. He is expected to return to action this Saturday night at the Met Sports Center against the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Blair said Monday he plans to start rookie goalie Ken Broderick at least once during the three-game homestand. Broderick's sharing duties so far with Cesare Maniago, is unbeaten in two games.

The homestand closes Oct. 29 against the defending Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens.

The North Stars, splitting a recent four-game road trip 2-2, are tied with the St. Louis Blues for first place in the West Division, each with three victories and six points. Oakland is in third place with five points on two victories and a tie.

HARVARD STILL NO. 1

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Harvard, owner of five shutouts in six victories, still is the No. 1 team in the New England intercollegiate soccer ratings announced Monday.

Maynard streaked past Farr with 6½ minutes remaining in the second quarter and took Namath's float in for a 10-7 New York lead.

Then, 18 seconds before the halftime gun, he snared another—as Houston slipped and fell on the chewed-up Shea turf—and loped into the end zone, tying Art Powell's AFL career record of 81 touchdowns.

Race Team Signs Lucrative Pact

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Roger Penske of Philadelphia, who heads one of America's most successful auto racing teams, will join American Motors for the 1970 season, the Associated Press learned today.

Penske and AMC are expected to announce a five-year deal at a news conference scheduled in Los Angeles Wednesday. The contract is said to involve as much as $5 million.

Under the agreement, Penske and his star drivers Mark Donohue and Ron Bucknum will campaign AMC's Javelin cars on the Sports Car Club of America's Trans-American sedan circuit.

FORMER LION . . . Wide receiver John Henderson of the Minnesota Vikings is one of four Vikings who once played for the Detroit Lions, Viking opponents at Met Stadium next Sunday. Henderson is currently enjoying his finest year in the NFL. He caught two touchdown passes on Sunday against St. Louis.

BEST EVER?

Daugherty Talks Buckeyes

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: Is top-ranked Ohio State unbeatable? No, says Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, one of four to try—and fail—this season.

"But," he adds, "they're going to be a prohibitive favorite in every game. Woody Hayes is in an enviable position. If anyone gets fat-headed as a result of their success last year and this he can sit them down with no appreciable drop in talent."

"Ohio State is more mature and more experienced than a year ago. Not only is just about everybody back from last year, but they've got a lot of the fine sophomores, whose primary purpose, I'm sure, is to keep last year's sophomores on their toes."

"They've got greater depth and experience than last year and they don't seem to have lost any incentive."

Best team ever, Duffy? "I wouldn't say that. They're as versatile as any team I've ever seen on offense, but I don't think they're as good defensively as our Michigan State teams of 1965 and 1966 or the Notre Dame team of 1966."

In those days, Michigan State featured Bubba Smith, George Webster and Jess Phillips on defense while Notre Dame spotlighted Alan Page, Kevin Hardy and Jim Lynch.

This week's grist for the Ohio State mill is Illinois, winless in five games but the last team to beat the Buckeyes. That occurred 18 games ago in 1967 and the score was 17-13. Last week, the Illini barely fell 31-24.

Ranger Gilbert Blasts Hull

NEW YORK (AP) — Rod Gilbert believes that the Chicago Black Hawks' problems stem not only from the absence of Bobby Hull but from the reason for that absence as well.

Gilbert, high scoring right winger of the New York Rangers, is convinced that Hull's contract problems with Chicago have rubbed off on the rest of the Black Hawks.

Hull, the National Hockey League's top drawing card, has sat out the Hawks' first five games—all losses—in a bitter squabble over contract details.

"I hope he stays retired," Gilbert pointed out that there was a small-sized revolution in Boston when defenseman Ted Green suffered a fractured skull in an exhibition game before he had signed his 1969-70 contract.

"The Bruin players were angry until the Boston management agreed to pay Green the salary. I'm sure it's the same with Hull," Gilbert said. "He said that the management wasn't fair with him. The players see that and it has to affect their play."

Hull's battle with the Black Hawk management is over promises Bobby says the club agreed to last year when he signed a four-year contract, but which have not been fulfilled.

There had been some talk around the NHL that if the Hawks could not satisfy Hull, perhaps another team could, like, perhaps New York.

"Nope, not us," said Emile Francis, general manager-coach of the Rangers. "The subject hasn't even been discussed. It's the kind of thing that you can't even suggest. Hull, if he plays, will play with Chicago. You can't trade for a player like him. You know they won't deal him and even if they would, you couldn't give up what they would ask for him."

All Gilbert, Francis and the rest of the Rangers are asking is that Hull stay away . . . for a few more days, at least.

Lake City Jaycees Win Golf Tournament

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — The Lake City Jaycees won the Lake City Senior and Junior Chamber Golf Tournament held here Saturday at the Lake City Golf Course.

Marcol booted his 62-yarder—

it cleared the crossbar with room to spare—in Saturday's 20-13 victory over Fairmont, W.Va., State.

Back to Daugherty, it's not often someone puts one over on him, but tiny Hillsdale College did just that—and got a record 62-yard field goal out of sophomore Chester Marcol as a result.

"We couldn't get him in here because he couldn't pass the English entrance exam and they wouldn't let me give him the test myself," quipped Dezo Marcol's high school coach, who just happened to be a Hillsdale grad, took him to his alma mater, where Coach Frank "Muddy" Waters started thinking.

"Since he wasn't an American citizen at the time, we let him take English as a foreign language and enrolled him as a foreign student," laughed Waters. "I'm sure Duffy could have done the same thing if he'd thought of it."

Marcol booted his 62-yarder—

Four Vike Starters Were Former Lions

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Four Minnesota Vikings starters were former Detroit Lions Sunday at Metropolitan Stadium.

Flanker John Henderson, offensive tackle Grady Alderman, defensive back Karl Kasulke and linebacker Wally Hilgenberg were with the Lions briefly before dealt away.

Alderman was not protected in the 1961 National Football League expansion draft, from which the Vikings took their present offensive captain and 35 players for their first team. Alderman is the only survivor of that team.

Kasulke was drafted by the Lions in 1963 and acquired on waivers by the Vikings the same season.

Hilgenberg injured a knee in a 1967 preseason game while playing with the Lions and was traded to Pittsburgh in 1968. The Steelers gave up on him and the Vikings signed him up.

And Henderson caught only one touchdown pass in three seasons with Detroit before being picked up by the Vikings last year.

"Maybe I didn't do what they expected of me," said Henderson. "Maybe I didn't fit into their system."

Henderson does blend in with the Vikings' high-powered offense, which averages 30.4 points per game. With defenses double-teaming Viking deep threat Gene Washington, Henderson helps keep them honest. He caught two touchdown passes Sunday as the Vikings beat the Cardinals 27-10.

The Vikings won both games they played with Detroit en route to the Central Division title. Minnesota will be after its fifth straight victory Sunday, trying to improve their current division leading 4-1 record. Detroit and Green Bay, which plays Atlanta, are tied for second at 3-2.

Gillman Wants More Points

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers' explosive but mostly pointless offense must feel snake-bitten.

The Chargers eked out their fourth straight American Football League victory, 13-10 Sunday at Boston, after two opening defeats. Only once this season have they scored more than 21 points, a 34-27 win over New York.

Six times San Diego marched to within 21 yards of the Patriots' goal without getting anything more than field goal attempts.

"Just give me some blankety-blank way to get the ball over the goal," Coach Sid Gillman said Monday at the quarterback club meeting. "It seems every time we get down there, we're hit by a series of circumstances (tumbles, broken plays)

It's hard to explain. "We're hopeful the cash register will begin to ring. It had better by next Sunday, that I guarantee."

That's when the Chargers meet the unbeaten but once-defeated Oakland Raiders in San Diego Stadium.

"It will take the same type of effort we had against the New York Jets," Gillman said. While the Chargers have scored a total of 55 points in their last three games, Oakland tallied 50 in crushing Buffalo Sunday.

"It's the same thing we've been having all along — mental and physical mistakes," said San Diego quarterback John Hadl. "We've got to get them corrected."

Pilots Not Moving

CHICAGO (AP) — President Joe Cronin and a group of American League owners met with representatives of the Seattle Pilots Monday and put down any possibility of a franchise move.

Rumors that the Seattle franchise would be moved to Milwaukee or Dallas - Fort Worth were cut down by Cronin and attending league owners.

The session was informal and requested by Seattle interests who apparently feared reprisal over the fact the Pilots drew only 690,000 in their initial year.

Although a scheduled joint meeting of the American and National leagues is on tap Tuesday, Cronin said the American League had no plans for a separate meeting which would involve any snit of the Seattle franchise.

"Why they asked for this meeting, I don't know," said Cronin in reference to the Seattle delegation request for a meeting with the league. "We are concerned about some things in Seattle but nothing that can't be worked out."

The league set an Oct. 30 deadline for Seattle on three items, Lenny Anderson, Seattle Post-Intelligencer baseball writer said.

The items are plans for expansion of the present stadium to 28,000, concrete facts indicating a permanent stadium will be ready by the spring of 1973 and notification of who would take over in the event of a change of ownership, Anderson said.

Winona JV Wins 42-16

Winona's junior varsity football team picked up its first victory of the season Monday afternoon with a solid 42-16 triumph over Eau Claire Memorial at Jefferson Field.

Halfback Dick Sauer ran for three touchdowns and scored a two-point conversion on a pass from quarterback Mike Semling. Semling ran for two touchdowns, ran for an extra point and passed for four other two-point conversions.

End Joe Ferguson caught two of the passes for two-point conversions, Sauer had one and Gary Mueller had the other. Tim Smith also scored a safety for the Winhawk JV.

The game was tied 16-16 at halftime. The Winhawks, now 1-4-1, meet Red Wing there next Monday.

Official Winnings For Carol Mann Listed at $46,515

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carol Mann managed only a second-place finish in the Quality Check'd tournament at Waco, Tex. Sunday but she stretched her lead in money winnings on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour to $1,919.

Mills Mann's performance brought her $1,450 and she now has $46,515 in official and unofficial winnings on the tour, the LPGA headquarters here announced today.

Kathy Whitworth, second in money winnings, finished in a tie for seventy and now has won $44,590.

Mary Mills' victory at Waco, worth $2,250, still wasn't enough to boost her into the top 10 money winners. She is 17th with $13,803.

Sandra Palmer moved into 10th position among money winners with her total of $17,044. That dropped Sharon Miller to 11th.

The gal golfers will stay in Texas this week, playing in the $15,000 Corpus Christi Civitan Open at Corpus Christi.

The University of Alabama is in its 75th year of intercollegiate football.

The Jaycees had a score of 260 while the seniors scored 290. Fourteen golfers competed.

Winless Gophers Set Goal For Final Half of Season

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minneapolis Gophers, Coach Murray Warmath feels, have turned the corner in the right direction. The Gophers are winless at the halfway point of the 1969 football season with a 0-4-1 record going in Saturday's game in statistics mean anything, there you have them. But there is only one statistic that is important and you know what it is. Tailback Barry Mayer continues to lead Minnesota rushers with 408 yards and has scored three touchdowns. Carter has rushed for 370 yards and five touchdowns. Hagen now has passed for 534 yards and two touchdowns. Ray

Beard Maintains Lead in Earnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Beard, who was second in the past weekend's Sahara Invitational tournament at Las Vegas, maintained his position Monday as top money winner on golf's pro circuit this year. Beard pocketed $11,400 in the Sahara and boosted his 1969 earnings to $171,838, the Professional Golfers Association of America said.

San Francisco Shopping for Another Quarterback

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "How come," San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie once asked, "they say Joe Namath has a 'quick release,' but they say I 'unload'?" Brodie can't unload anymore, and today the winless 49ers went shopping for another quarterback.

Twins' Manager May Be Rigney

Market Gains Strength in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gained strength in fairly active trading early this afternoon. Advances held a firm lead over declines by a margin of 713 to 475 among individual issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 5.81 at 845.04. Brokers said the rise in the level of the Dow had brought some investors into the market who previously had been absent. As a backdrop to the market's price rise were Vietnam peace hopes fueled by President Nixon's speech in November, scheduled one day before elections, and some signs of a cooling economy.

Chrysler, which announced an 87 per cent decline in third-quarter earnings was delayed and opened off 2 1/2%. By early afternoon the stock was off 1 1/2% at 39 1/2. Among the 20 most actively traded issues on the New York Stock Exchange, 8 advanced, 11 declined, and 1 was unchanged.

Mail order-retail, utilities and metals were generally higher. Aircrafts and electronics were lower. Some of the producers and users of cyclamates whose stocks dipped Monday after a government ban on the artificial sweeteners, effective next year, were higher.

And sugar stocks which had shown sharp price increases were lower. Analysts attributed the development to emotional buying and selling on Monday and said the stocks are reacting today.

TOTEM COACH ABSENT
SEATTLE (AP) — Murray Costello, executive director of the Western Hockey League's Seattle Totems, had an interesting excuse for the absence of Totem Coach Bill MacFarland from a sports writers' luncheon Monday.

"We had a change in practice time at the arena."
"We have to share the Seattle Center facilities with the Girl Scouts National Convention here this week."

"The way we've been playing sixth in the seven-team league, MacFarland thinks that is appropriate."

Vote 9-1 Against Nude Go-Go Girls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The City Council, apparently unimpressed by a plea that topless and bottomless entertainers help relieve the tensions in society, has voted 9-1 to ban them from Los Angeles bars and nightclubs.

The balloting Monday was a preliminary move involving approval of a committee report and directing the city attorney to draft ordinances to cover the situation.

Space engineer James E. Nasar, who said he had a "keen interest" in sociology, argued unsuccessfully that for "appreciative men" to see naked women dancing is "helpful in helping preserve the fiber of society."

Councilman Edmund D. Edelman, who cast the nay vote, said he believed such ordinances would be declared unconstitutional.
