STATEMENT OF WORK ORIGINALITY

I honestly declare that this thesis, which I have written, doesn’t contain the work or parts of the work of other people, except those cited in the quotations and the references, as scientific paper should do.

The Writer,

Dwi Rahayuningsih
10202247004
I proudly dedicate this thesis to:

- My beloved husband,
  (His supports and loves have helped me to shape the person I am today)

- My children,
  (Their loving has colored my beautiful days)

- My Mom and sisters
  (I thank them for being such wonderful people in my life)
MOTTOS

Life is like riding a bicycle - in order to keep your balance, you must keep moving. (Albert Einstein)

Give a man a fish, he'll eat for a day. Teach a man to fish, he'll eat for a lifetime. (Ancient Chinese proverb)

Be not angry that you cannot make others as you wish them to be, since you cannot make yourself as you wish to be. (Thomas à Kempis)

Give thanks for what you are now, and keep fighting for what you want to be tomorrow. (Fernanda Miramontes-Landeros)

The only way you may correct the bad things in your past is to add better things to your future. (Shiloh Morrison)
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

First of all, I would like to praise Allah SWT for the blessing and mercy given to me during my study so that finally I can finish this final project.

I really realize that this thesis project is finished with the help of many people around me. Therefore, in this opportunity I would like to thank people who have given their ideas, times, and everything to me during the writing of this thesis. They are:

1. My first consultant, Drs. Suharso, M.Pd and my second consultant, Anita Triastuti, M.A. I would like to express my gratitude for their invaluable time, patience, encouragement, and suggestion in guiding me during the process of writing this thesis.

2. The Principal of SMP Negeri 3 Salam Magelang, Nur Cholik, S.Pd.M.Pd and the staff for their permission and help during my action research in SMP Negeri 3 Salam Magelang.

3. Mrs. Sumarni and all of the students of VIIIB SMP Negeri 3 Salam. I give my most sincere gratitude for helping and cooperation in my action research. The thesis would not be accomplished without them.

4. My husband (Bachrun Gustiar), my children (Widya Puspita Diestyara, Dyana Moorty Diestyara, Noorma Vidy Diestyara, Izmya Aulia Diestyara and Haris Patriosa), my Mom and my sisters for all the loves, supports and patience during the writing of this thesis.

5. All of my friends who have supported me in everything.
Finally, I really realize that this thesis is far from being perfect. Therefore, I welcome all criticism and suggestions from those interested in the similar topic. By looking at the other side of these imperfections, I do expect this thesis will be useful to whoever reads it, particularly the students of English Education Department of Yogyakarta State University.

ABSTRACT

IMPLEMENTING THE GENRE-BASED APPROACH TO IMPROVE
THE READING COMPREHENSION ABILITY OF GRADE VIII
STUDENTS OF SMP NEGERI 3 SALAM
IN THE ACADEMIC YEAR OF 2011/2012

By:
Dwi Rahayuningsih

The objective of the research is to improve the reading comprehension ability of Grade VIII students by implementing the Genre Based Approach.

This was an action research study. It involved 32 students of Grade VIII students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam Magelang in the first semester of the academic year of 2011/2012. The data were collected by means of two techniques. They were non-test techniques and tests. Non-test techniques included observations and a questionnaire. The tests were administered twice in Cycle I and Cycle II. The data were analyzed quantitatively and qualitatively. The Quantitative data were obtained from the results of the reading test in Cycle I and Cycle II. The quantitative data were analyzed using descriptive statistics. The Qualitative data were analyzed by categorizing, coding, and analysing classroom talk. The analysis of the qualitative data was used to find out changes in students’ behavior in the learning process in Cycle I and Cycle II and to find out the improvement of recount text reading comprehension through the Genre-Based Approach (GBA).

The result shows that there is an improvement in the reading comprehension ability of Grade VIII students. The results show improvement from Pre-cycle, Cycle I and Cycle II. Students’ behaviours change from passive students into active students in the teaching and learning process. It means that there is an improvement in reading comprehension ability of Grade VIII students who were taught by implementing the Genre-Based Approach.
CHAPTER I
INTRODUCTION

A. Background of the Problem

Reading is one of the essential skills in English. The basic skill is obtained in reading, namely the ability to gain meaning. By reading, the students are required to understand the meaning of writing, in order to achieve the goal of understanding and fluency. In other words, reading skills are special skills that enable learners:

1. to read in the form of written text as a meaningful language,
2. to read fluently and comprehend text, and
3. to be able to interact with the message.

Reading is the ability that a person needs to be able to understand easily and smoothly without depending on other’s assistance. This should be the goal of each lesson to read and should be improved as learners progress from the beginning. They acquire these skills through practice and observation. Learners must develop certain skills that will help them understand what they read.

At school, reading is one skill that must be learned by students. Based on the School-Based Curriculum, for example in Grade VIII, through reading, students will be able to understand the meaning of short functional text and essay formed descriptive, recount and narrative text related to the environment.

Face to the requirements of competence in reading, it would be very difficult for students to fulfill them. So far, students do not show good results in their reading skills. As a result of their examine low, less than the criterion of standard learning. In this case, in SMP Negeri 3 Salam, the criterion of standard learning is 68. Some students find it is difficult to read. The problem is related to the student’s ability in understanding the text. Most of the students are confused in processing the information in phrases and sentences. They can not connect the relationship between sentences. They just tend to translate the words, one by one word to understand the meaning. Some students also feel that reading is boring. They could not give their best performance in activities that they do not like, as the result, most students are being passive during the reading activities.

These problems occur because of several aspects. First of all, it is the inappropriate method used by teachers in teaching and learning process that leads to some results such as student’s boredom and low activity of the learners. This demonstrates the ability to read who have not fully upgraded. In fact, the methods used by teachers in teaching reading in SMP Negeri 3 Salam are still conventional ones. Most of the teachers in this school believe that reading is so common and so easy. They argue that no interactivities can be used in teaching reading. The students must read and that is all that really matters. Commonly, teacher gives a written text to the students. He makes the students read the text. Then, students are asked to answer several questions both orally and written and to retell the text. This method has been applied from year to year. The barometer of their understanding is the correct responses they can give. In this method, the teacher does not realize whether the students really understand or not. What the teacher wants is generally only the student’s correct answers.
Another aspect that should be the matter is the student's interest in a given text. It will be very difficult for them to understand the text if they are not interested in the given text. It involves a theme, appearance and language of the text. The students are motivated to engage in reading activities if they are interested in that activity. As a result, students who are not interested in reading activities will choose to be passive during lessons. Teachers play important role in this case. Teachers have to worry about the material text, performance text, the used language in the text and the used methods in this activity, so students will be motivated and fully engaged in reading activity.

However, this phenomenon also occurs in most secondary schools in Indonesia. As in SMP Negeri 3 Salam, the teachers used to teach the students with the conventional ones. They use the same method years by years. They give a written text and ask students to read aloud or silently. Then, they ask the students to answer some questions related to the given text. Based on this background, a better teaching method is needed to solve this problem. The teacher must consider how to make the students get better in reading comprehension.

B. Identification of the Problem

The Genre-Based Approach is a potential approach to overcome the learning which refers to the skills of reading, this approach can establish the relationship between spoken and written, quick read on, and provide additional guidance.

In 2004, the Ministry of National Education has decided to bring in a new curriculum in all subject areas, including English. The curriculum was known as Competence-Based Curriculum or Curriculum 2004 which recommended a new approach that is Genre-Based Approach. This new approach has been implemented for four years, however many English teachers in Indonesia are still in doubt. Besides, they lack knowledge and are not familiar with it.

The teaching methods applied by the teachers are important role in determining student’s success in learning English. There are several methods have been applied in the teaching and learning process, however, the purposes of this study have not been fully achieved. To succeed in learning English, especially in reading, Genre-based Approach is a learning process which is quite adequate. The nature of interactivity and discovery in this learning form of encouragement is useful for students who are studying passive and help learners develop their ability to read their second language which is still in the exploration.

Genre-Based Approach helps English teachers to produce materials and to facilitate students in their English language reading process. This study is intended to integrate innovative teaching and reading materials to package in the text that can attract students to improve English comprehension of the grade eight students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam to the academic year of 2011/2012.

This research considered the potential of teaching materials that support the desire of learners to read. We offer new innovations to choose the material in text form and integrate it into instruction effectively and independently. This interactive learning can force students to become active learners, because they are motivated by techniques as well as they are challenged to face the tasks assigned to them within a certain time for each number. The students are dealing with individual text and try to understand the text in a certain time. Based on the facts, in this study, the authors bring forward as a teacher how to teach using interactive learning that has been equipped with the instruction to students, so teachers just need to give some verbal instructions at the beginning of the activity and observe the activities the learners for reading process. This technique will encourage students to become active and independent learners.

C. Delimitation of the Problem

Based on the discussion in the background of the problem and the identification of the problems, the writer limited the problem area into the more specific one. The writer has the courage to conduct a study "Implementing The Genre-Based Approach to Improve Reading Comprehension Ability of Grade VIII students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam in the Academic Year of 2011/2012.

The author focused on Genre-Based Approach. By using this technique, students can fulfil the competency requirements in reading, at least 75% of them can fullfil the criterion of standard learning which is 68, entitled as students interested in reading techniques are provided and are motivated to engage in reading activities.

The limitation was done with regard to the population of the study. The researcher selected SMP Negeri 3 Salam as the place of the research. The researcher also selected the grade eight as the population. According to the observation conducted, the reading ability of the eight grade students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam needed to be improved. It was also found that Genre-Based Approach had never been explored before especially in reading class.
The limitation was also done with regard to the sample of the study. The researcher selected the grade eight students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam in one and a half month (October – November 2011) of the academic year of 2011/2012.

D. Formulation of the Problem

On the basis of what has been limited above, the problems can be formulated into the following questions:

How to improve the reading ability of grade eight students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam in the academic year of 2011/2012?

E. Objectives of the Research

This study is aimed at improving the reading comprehension ability of grade VIII students SMP Negeri 3 Salam by using the Genre-Based Approach.

F. Significance of the Research

There are some expected advantages that can be acquired from this study:

1. Theoretically, the findings of the research are expected to be able to support the educational issue that Genre-Based Approach is beneficial to improve the student’s reading ability.

2. Practically, the findings of this research are expected to give some contributions to some parties:
   a. For teachers, the findings of the research are expected to be an input to improve their ability in creating an attractive learning media and to support the success of English language teaching and learning activities.
b. For students, the findings of research are expected to help the student to learn reading English with an innovative text independently and increase student’s motivation to read.

c. For researcher, the findings of the research are expected to be a barometer whether of a technique is applied to the proper techniques used in teaching reading or not. In addition, researchers can evaluate and improve the teaching because it is action research, so that researchers can make a reflection of what he's done to improve his way of the future teaching.

d. For other researchers, the findings of the research are expected to be useful as an additional reference to conduct similar research.
CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

A. READING

Reading is a complex cognitive process of decoding symbol in order to construct or derive meaning (reading comprehension). It is mean of language acquisition, of communication, and of sharing information and ideas.

In this process, the author has the message in mind (it may be an idea, a fact, a feeling, etc) which she wants somebody else to share. To make it possible, she must put it into the words; that is, she must encode it in a text form. A text is accessible to the mine of another person who reads it, and who might decode the message its contains. After being decoded, the message enters the mind of the decoder and the communication is achieved.

Reading skills acquisition is the process of acquiring the basic skills necessary for learning to read, Davies (1995) review studies by Lanzer and Gardner (1979) Harris Agustein and Thomas (1984) that set out the different types of reading that exist; citied in Nunan (1999: 251):

1. Receptive reading : read a long text for pleasure emphasize on over all meaning.
2. Reflective reading : read a short text to find out specific information.
3. Skimming : searching the main point from the text.
4. Scanning: searching specific information from the text.

Reading Comprehension is defined as the level of understanding of a text. This understanding comes from the interaction between the words that are written and how they trigger knowledge outside the text. Proficiency reading depend on the ability to recognise words quickly and effortlessly. If word recognition is difficult, students use too much of their processing capacity with their ability to comprehend what is read.

A useful, if somewhat disorganized, typology of reading strategies is that developed by Grellet (1981: 12-13); as stated in Nunan (1999:264). He identifies three main types of strategy:

1. Sensitizing: making inferences, understanding relations within the sentence, linking sentences and ideas.
2. Improving reading speed.
3. Going from skimming to scanning: predicting, previewing, anticipation, skimming, scanning.

To develop comprehensive typologies of reading strategies, the teachers in the ELTU at Chinese University noted that choosing the best strategies for different texts and purposes is possible for second language readers to significantly increase both their reading speed and their comprehension. Their typology of reading strategies are: (1) getting a clear purpose and keeping in mind, (2) previewing means identifying among the topic, the main idea and the organization of the text, (3) skimming or searching the general idea, (4) scanning for the specific information, (5) reading clusters of words as a unit, (6) avoiding reading of word by word to get the meaning, (7) predicting the related vocabulary in content, (8) active reading by asking and answering questions, (9) identifying unstated ideas, (10) identifying the overall organizational pattern of the text called as the genre of the text, (11) identifying the organizational structure of a paragraph, (12) identifying the sentence structure both of the main subject and main verb especially in a complex sentence, (13) assigning the correct reference and its function, (14) inferring the meaning of the difficult words, (15) understanding the use of figurative language and metaphors, (16) understanding the new ideas, (17) understanding the writer’s purpose and style, (18) evaluating means assessing the value of textual information, (19) integrating and developing the text through the technique, (20) reviewing and summarizing the text and (21) representing the text to the others.

In addition, Teacher of English to Speaker of Other Languages as is stated in Anderson (1999:41), reading comprehension skill is specifically discussed in the descriptors for this standard:

1. Listening to, speaking, reading, and writing about subject matter information.

2. Selecting, connecting, and explaining information.

3. Analyzing, synthesizing, and inferring from information.

4. Hypothesizing and predicting.

5. Formulating and asking formulation.

6. Understanding and producing technical vocabulary and text features according to content areas.
Reading comprehension is one of reading process, where the readers really understand what they read. At the end of the reading process, hopefully the readers understand the content of the text, what it is about, and access knowledge. The reader can answer questions related to the text and link their personal knowledge and experience with information and ideas in the text. Question, and answering questions should be taken after reading process to evaluate reader’s comprehension.

In reading process, the reader needs some skills in order to find information in the text, while dealing with words in the text, the reader can interact mentally with the text, relates the material read to his/her prior knowledge with his/her reading skills to find information in the text, so the reader is able to create new ideas outside the material read. In addition, some additional skills are also needed in reading activity: (1) comprehension; to understand the message from written material read; (2) Fluency; to read the text smoothly and (3) independence; to read and understand the text without depending upon another’s help. The reader should increase their reading skills in order to understand the text, find information in the text as well as create new ideas outside the material.

In teaching and learning process, especially in reading activity, it is the duty of the teacher to select materials and technique which are suitable applied to the students, so they will learn to understand the text, grasp the messages from the text individually, more easily and enjoyable. Furthermore, the goal of reading is achieved.
From these definitions, it can be concluded that reading is an activity as a communication process between a writer and the reader presented in a text form which contains letters symbol shape and the signs. The writer has messages to share to the readers, so the writer encodes his/her idea in a text. The reader decodes the idea and keep it in his/her memory, tries to understand the idea and at last the communication between the writer and the reader is achieved. Reading is not only know the words from a text, but also the meaning. It can be the writer’s idea, messages that he/she want to share to the reader or a fact.

Reading comprehension is a person’s competence in reading. Someone can be said as a comprehension reader if he/she can identify the meaning of words in the text, identify the forms of words in the text, search certain information from a text, identify characteristic of thing/ person described in the text, identify the rhetorical steps of the text, identify the main idea of the text, and finally, identify the communicative purpose or the social function of the text.

B. Reading at Junior High School

Based on School-Based Curriculum, students will be able to understand the meaning of short functional text and essay formed descriptive, recount and narrative text related to the environment. Students must have the ability in reading. They must have ability in understanding the text. They have to know the information in phrases and sentences in the text. They must have the skill to connect the relationship between sentences. They not only have to get the meaning in word by word but also the meaning in context.

Reading, in SMP Negeri 3 Salam, is one of the skills that should be learnt by the students. Based on the syllaby of School-Based Curriculum, for example in grade VIII, it states through reading students will be able to understand the meaning of short functional written text of simple essay in the form of descriptive, recount and narrative in the daily life context. Furthermore, students are able to respond to the meaning of formal and informal short functional written text accurately, fluently, and acceptable in the daily life context. They are also demanded to fulfill the standard criteria of minimum requirement for their marks.

C. Teaching Reading at Junior High School

The English teaching and learning in Indonesia especially the teaching of reading is based on the National Standard of Curriculum. The Curriculum is developed based on the UU RI No.20/2003 chapter 36, the Education Ministry Decree No.22/2006 and the Education Ministry Decree No.23/2006. The curriculum implements the School-Based Curriculum. The School-Based Curriculum is a curriculum which is developed based on each unit of educational institutions, the local/school potentials, the local/school characteristics, the socio-cultural conditions of the area, and the learners’ characteristics (Mulyasa, 2007: 8).

According to the School-Based Curriculum, the area of reading for junior high school includes the ability of understanding written texts to reach the functional level of literacy and the ability to understand many kinds of short functional texts; procedural texts, descriptive texts and recount texts.

The teaching and learning activities of reading in junior high school are aimed at developing the students’ reading ability. The activities are done by using various kinds of reading materials which are taken from the text books. The teachers select the materials which are appropriate to the students’ level of reading ability. There are 2 types of texts which are taught in the reading class of junior high school. The texts are the short functional text and the essay text. The short functional text includes the invitation text. The essay texts are the descriptive text and the recount text.

In the regular class, as knowledge and technology grow, some teachers of junior high school try to develop their reading class by employing several strategies. One of the strategies is getting know the generic structure of the text and taking note. Here, the teacher asks the students to actively note what they have read. The students can note the important things which they have already read from the text to help them in organizing the ideas and getting know the detail information in the text. The teacher often asks the students to make a summary of the text.

So far, the students in class VIII B have not shown a good result in their reading comprehension. Some students feel that reading is difficult. Some students perceive that reading is boring. They can’t give their best performance and get involved in the activity that they don’t like. On the other hand, they should face many requirements of competence in reading.

The methods used by the teachers in teaching reading in SMP Negeri 3 Salam are still conventional ones. The teacher gives a written text and asks the students to read aloud or silently, and orders the students to answer several questions related to the text given. This method has been done years by years in teaching and learning process.

A better method of teaching is needed to overcome this problem. Teacher should pay attention to how to make reading activities more amusing and understandable. The students need a new method of reading, that is a method that encourages them to get interested and involved in reading activity. One of the methods is using the Genre-Based Approach Technique.

The implementation of Genre-Based Approach is flexible. First, it is not only lockstep or recipe, in meaning that if one of the phase was not done, it would be failed. It states in Callaghan and Rothery, “the teaching cycle does not work as lockstep sequence for the whole class” and “there is no right way to sequence teaching learning activities.” Second, Genre-Based Approach technique can be described in cycle. So, the teaching learning process can be started from anything, depends on the student’s condition and needs. Third, Genre-Based Approach can not be held only in once or twice meeting, it can be more than a month in teaching learning process. Fourth, there is integrated teaching reading in Genre-Based Approach technique. It is not only focused on improving writing skill but also the skills of learning language. Fifth, in explaining the genre of the text, teachers should be more careful, so the genre of the text will not be a formulatic thing. The last, Genre-Based Approach technique is not only an approach that focus on the productivity, but also as an integral part of teaching learning process.

D. Genre-Based Approach

The Genre-Based Approach, also known as a text-based approach, sees communicative competence as involving the mastery of different types of texts. Text here is used in a special sense to refer to structured sequences of language that are used in specific ways.

The Genre-Based Approach model is used by the teachers in Indonesia, according to School-Based Curriculum are Building of the field (BKOF), Modelling of Text (MOT), Joint Construction of Text (JCT), and Independent Construction of Text (ICT).

However, considering Genre-Based Approach continuous to grow, (Hayland 2004:10-11) elaborates the advantages of genre based writing instruction that can be summarised as follows, genre teaching is: makes clear what is to be learned to facilitate the acquisition of writing skills, provides a coherent framework for focusing on both language and contexts, ensure that course objecries and content are derived from students needs, gives teacher a central role in scaffolding student learning and creativity, provides access to the patterns and possibilities of variation in valued texts, provides the resources for students to understand and challenge valued discourse, increases teacher awareness of texts and confidently advise students on their writing.

Hayland’s appraisals towards Genre-Based Approach can be understood when one examines the four stages suggested by the 2004 School-Based Curriculum. To implement the 2004 School-Based Curriculum the four stages recommended are represented in the following diagram:

Cycles and stages of Learning (Hammond et al. 1992:17)
E. Implementing the Genre-Based Approach

The following description of how a text based approach is implemented:

1. Building Knowledge of the field.
   In the first cycle, teacher and students start from the first stage called Building knowledge of the Fields (BKOF) where they build cultural context, share experiences, discuss vocabulary, grammatical patterns and so on. All of these are geared around the types of spoken texts and topics they are going to deal with at the second stage.

   Students listen to statements of recount texts, that are geared around a certain communicative purpose. For example, if students are expected to produce procedural texts, are developed with one main communicative purpose, that is giving instruction or direction. In short, at the second stage, students listen and respond to various texts with similar communicative purposes.

3. Joint Construction of Text.
   At this stage, students try to develop recount texts with their peers and with the help from the teachers.

4. Independent Construction of the Text.
At this stage, students are excited to be able to read what they have talked about. Here students develop reading skills, followed by joint construction in writing texts.

F. Related Research Study

Haylland (2004: 6-7) argues that genre pedagogies have emerged in L2 classes as a response to process pedagogies, as an outcome of communicative methods and consequence of our growing understanding of literacy.

Fisher (1990: 5) states that literacy, the ability to read and write, encourages a more abstract form of thinking, it brings greater precision to the definition of terms, and it allows us to refer back, to think about our thinking, to weigh arguments, to supplement memory, to communicate with others and to learn in autonomous ways. No wonder such a powerful form of intelligence provides the key to success in school and beyond.

In addition, Feez and Joyce (1998: 13-18) conducted a study in education system in Australia that focused on the importance of teacher intervention in teaching learning process. Genre-Based Approach has affected over all the education system in Australia and has been adopted in any grade of education; elementary school, high school, college and professional context and public in program of English as the native speaker and English as the second language (ESL).

Based on that study above, the researcher suppose that the use of genre based approach technique can improve the student’s reading ability.
A. Conceptual Framework

As what have been discussed before, a technique is one of the elements which affects the English teaching and learning process especially in reading. The selection of the appropriate technique is essential in determining the success of its process. The appropriate technique can influence the student’s reading comprehension abilities.

Genre-Based Approach is designed as a creative and effective technique of the mastery of different types of texts which allows greater creativity of recording ideas and information and associating it into visual representations. It uses concise words, pictures, color, associations and other visual aids to convey the essence of the idea or information of the text.

As stated above, the chosen of appropriate technique is essential in determining the success of reading teaching and learning process. There are many characteristics of the effective technique in the reading class. Some of them are choosing the effective strategies which is motivating and encouraging the development of reading comprehension.

In this case, the Genre-Based Approach technique can arouse students’ motivation in learning. This strategy is intrinsically motivating to junior high school students since it employs scanning, skimming, predicting and how to read well. The activity which is included in Genre-Based Approach will also increase students reading strategies.

On the other hand, in grade eight of SMP Negeri 3 Salam, the students get less motivation as there is no new technique employed. The class applies the reading strategies. Here, the students should skim, scan and predict the text which is given to them.

With regards to this consideration above, a conceptual framework is constructed on the relationship between students’ reading comprehension and the effects of the use of Genre-Based Approach technique. This conceptual framework is aimed at focusing the research study on the problem concerned. The implementation of the technique involves the researcher, the English teacher and the students of the year VIII of SMP Negeri 3 Salam in the academic year of 2011-2012.
CHAPTER III
RESEARCH METHOD

A. Research Design

The research method used in this study is Classroom Action Research (CAR). Action research is the application of fact finding to practical problem solving in a social situation with a view to improve the quality of action within it, involving the collaboration and cooperation of research, practitioners and laymen (Burns 1999:293, in Burns, 2010:30).

A self-reflective, systematic and critical approach to enquiry by participants who are at the same time members of the research community. The aim is to identify problematic situations or issues considered by the participants to be worthy of investigation in order to bring about critically informed changes in practice. Action research is underpinned by democratic in that ownership of change is invested in those who conduct the research. (in Burns 2010:5)

Other definition of action research is quoted from Carr and Kemmis, (1986:220, in Burns 2010:5) who defines that: Action research is a form of self-reflective inquiry undertaken by participants in social situation in order to improve the nationality and justice of their understanding practice and the situations in which practices are carried out.

This research divided into two cycles; cycles I and cycles II. The writer gives reading test as Pre-Cycle test in Pre-cycle stage. In the end of cycle I, the writer gives students reading test after using Genre-Based Approach (GBA). The writer will continue to cycle II if the result of test in cycle I cannot reach the goal.

Cycle I and II consist of four phases they are planning, acting, observing and, and reflecting.

B. Research Population and Sample

A population is a number of people with the same characteristics from which the data are collected. The population of this research was the grade VIII students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam Magelang. The total number of the students in the grade VIII SMP Negeri 3 Magelang was 169 students. These students were chosen as the population of the study because they still have some difficulties in comprehending text. The following table shows the specification of the population of the research:
Table 1

The researcher chooses class VIII B as subjects of the study. This class consists of 32 students. There are 14 girls and 18 boys. The age is between 14–15 years old. This class was given the treatment of Genre-Based Approach (GBA) in their teaching and learning process. The students in this classroom are rather passive. Most of them do not have good response in reading activity during the English lesson. They have difficulties in understanding: (a) word meaning, (b) sentence meaning, (c) specific information from text, (d) detail information from text, (e) main idea of the paragraph, (f) reading content and (g) communicative purpose of the text. Based on those problems in understanding reading, the researcher chooses that class as a subject of study.

C. The Focus of the Research

The focus of this research is reading comprehension. It would involve the student’s ability in understanding what they have been read to remember the given information.
D. Data Collecting Techniques

In collecting data, the writer use two technique, they were non-test techniques and tests. Non-test techniques include observation and questionnaire, while the test is about the student’s assessment by obtaining the data of the reading comprehension test. The writer explains descriptively about data collecting techniques as follows:

1. Non-Test Techniques
   a. Observation
      The writer observed the activity of the students in learning activity using observation sheet.
   b. Questionnaire
      It is a list of questions to be answered by the student to get information. The questionnaire collected data on information based on the needs, interest and dislike about the teaching learning process.

2. Tests
   In the Pre-cycle, this is hold as an assessment test to know how far the student’s ability in reading comprehension before they given the action in Cycle I. Based on the test score assessment, it will be understood on how far student’s achievement in learning reading text in the English lesson.

   The writer gives Pre-test, test after cycle I, test after cycle II to the students with indicators test.

E. Research Validity

The data collected need to be proven to see whether they were valid and reliable. According to Anderson, et al. in Burns (1999:161-162), there are five validity criteria that should be fulfilled to get the data validity in action research. They are democratic validity, process validity, outcome validity, catalytic validity, and dialogic validity.

Democratic validity in this action research is shown in every step of the research. From the beginning, the researcher and the research members worked together in determining the problems that would be worked out and then created the actions that would be implemented. Each research member has the chance to give their personal opinions, ideas, and comments about the implication of the research. The research was done collaboratively by the research members. Process validity is related to the criterion to make the action research believable. The process validity was fulfilled by reflecting on the data collection and modifying the strategies to answer the questions occurred during the process. To fulfill the process validity, the data were examined and identified whether the participants were able to go on learning.

Outcome validity is related to the actions that lead to the “successful” result within the research context. This validity depends on the validity of the research process. In this research, the processes were related to the result in the improvement of English teaching and learning process. The catalytic validity is related to the extent to which the research allows the participants to sharpen their understanding of the social realities of the context and how they can make changes within it. Within the process in this research, there were chances for the research members to learn more about the realities in the English learning process and this research was proposed to change the condition to be better. The dialogic validity in this research involved the teacher as the person who was related to the English teaching and learning process. Besides, the research also involved a collaborator as a person who can monitor the research process.

F. Data Analysis Techniques

Technique of analysis data is done by quantitatively and qualitatively.

1. Quantitative Technique

Quantitative data analysis means presenting the data in numerical form. It has a very important place in the way we discover things and present our findings. We can gain insights about the extents, measures or weighings up of the main issues that are important to our research focus.

Quantitative data was got from the result of recount text reading test by using Genre-Based Approach (GBA) in Cycle I and Cycle II. The data in this step are in forms of scores. The collected quantitative data, which numerical were analyzed using descriptive statistics. According to Price (2000)”, Descriptive statistics describe patterns and general trends in a data set. In most cases, descriptive statistics are used to examine or explore one variable at a time.

According to Dornyei (2007), “descriptive statistics offer a neat and tidy way of summarising quantitative data, but cannot be used for generalising results beyond our own context and research participants.” There are two main ways to use descriptive statistics of Action Research. Here are the technical terms of what each term means:

a. Measures of central tendency: a single value is given to the set of quantitative data. The number shows where the set of data collects around a central point. There are three ways of reducing numbers that fall into this category- the mean, medium and mode.

b. Measures of variability: an indication is given of how numbers spread across the data set. When a measure of variability is used with an average score, we get a concise description of the distribution.

Turning to quantitative ways of analysing data and looking at two major sets of measurements in descriptive statistics- measurement of central tendency and measurement of dispersion. The first involved calculating the mean, the median and the mode; the second involved calculating the range and the standard deviation.
1.) Mean

It is commonly called the average. It is the sum of all measurements, divided by the number of measurements.

2.) Median

The median is the number at which half your measurements are more than that number and half are less than that number. The middle value (when the data are arranged in order).

3.) Mode

The mode is the measurement that has the greatest frequency, the one that can found the most.

4.) Range

The range is the measure from the smallest measurement to the largest one.

5.) Standard Deviation

Standard deviation is the square root of the variance. It measures the spread of a set of observations. The larger the standard deviation is, the more spread out the observations are.

2. Qualitative Technique

Qualitative data are those that are analysed without using number. There are two ways of analysing qualitative data, categorising and coding, and analysing classroom talk. Categorising and coding involved identifying emerging content, themes and patterns in spoken and written data and breaking them down into categories and sub-categories. Analysing talk involved identifying the types of patterns that structure the interaction in our teaching situation. Categorising is sorting objects and information into logical grouping in something that human being do constantly in daily life. Qualitative data was got from data non-test, they were observation.

The result of analysis qualitative data is used to know changing student’s behavior in learning process in Cycle I and Cycle II, and it is also to know improving recount text reading comprehension by Genre-Based Approach (GBA).

G. The Procedures of Action Research

The writer did this research in two cycles. Each cycle consists of planning, observing, acting and reflecting. Before the research, the writer asks the students to do the pre-test to know the reading comprehension of Grade VIII B students of SMP Negeri 3 Salam.

There are three activities that would be done in this research, they are:

1. Pre-Test

Pre Test is conducted at the beginning of the research before two cycles. The purpose of this activity is to know the student’s comprehension ability in whether the students can do the test or not.

2. Cycle I

a. Planning

In this stage, the writer does some activities, they are:

- Making the research schedule
- Preparing the reading test
- Making the lesson plan
- Making the student’s worksheet
- Making a questionnaire
- Making test

b. Action

In this Classroom Action Research, the writer gave explanation about Genre-Based Approach technique and the aims that was achieved. This action was done to know the improvement of the student’s reading comprehension. Students were asked to comprehend the text. In this stage, the writer gave recount text. The writer is done the lesson plan as follows:

- Pre-Activity; (a) greeting, (b) checking the student’s attendance list and (c) apperception

- While Activities; (a) explaining what and how Genre-Based Approach technique is, (b) giving the students recount text of the Traveling topic, (c) asking the students to use GBA technique to comprehend the text, (d) observing the student’s activities and helping them if they find difficulties and (e) asking the students to answer the question based on the text

- Post-activity; (a) Discussing the student's worksheet and (giving corrections and suggestions)

c. Observing

The writer observed the activity of the students in learning activity using observation sheet. The writer also gives reading test. It is done to know whether the student’s reading comprehension using Genre-Based Approach (GBA) is good or bad in the learning process.

d. Reflecting

In this stage, the writer analyzed the result of the tests, they were Pre-Cycle test and Cycle I test. The result of analysis was used to know whether the GBA technique was successful in improving student’s reading comprehension and could motivate them learning English. Reflection of Cycle I would be used to change the strategy and to repair of learning in Cycle II.

3. Cycle II

Based on reflecting in Cycle I, the writer decided to continue the treatment in Cycle II in order to improve student’s reading comprehension and made the average score of student’s reading comprehension test. They were explained as follows:

a. Planning

Planning would be done to correct the lesson plan which had been made in Cycle I. In this stage, the writer would give different topic and also prepared for evaluation. There would be test and observation sheet. Then the writer would do a learning activity.

b. Action

Acting in Cycle II would be different from those in Cycle I. In the second cycle, the writer would present new topic. Before conducting the lesson in this cycle the writer would review what they had been already learned in the precious cycle. But the procedure of the activities in the second cycle is almost similar with the first one. The procedures of this action were as follows:

- Pre-activity; (a) Greeting, (b) checking the student’s attendance list and (c) apperception.

- While-activity; (a) giving Recount Text of Experience topic, (b) reviewing GBA technique, (c) asking the students to answer the questions based on the text and (d) observing the student’s activity.

- Post-Activity; (a) discussing the student’s worksheet and (b) giving correction and suggestion.

c. Observing

The writer observed the student's activities in learning process by using Pre-Cycle Test and Cycle II Test.

d. Reflecting

In the Cycle II, the writer analyzed the result of observation sheet, questionnaire and post-test in Cycle II. The result of this analysis was as the reflection to know improving student’s skill to reading using Genre-Based Approach (GBA) and changing of student’s behavior after the students are following learning activity. The writer could also find out the effectiveness of Genre-Based Approach (GBA) technique to improve reading comprehension.
CHAPTER IV

RESEARCH FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

The purpose of this chapter is to analyze the data collected during the research at SMP Negeri 3 Salam. The aim of this study was to find out whether there is an improvement in the reading comprehension ability of the eighth grade students of Junior High School who are given the Genre-Based Approach in the Cycle I and Cycle II. The data were analyzed using quantitative method and qualitative method. Quantitative data was got from the result of recount text reading test by using Genre-Based Approach (GBA) in Cycle I and Cycle II. The collected quantitative data, which numerical were analyzed using descriptive statistics. Descriptive statistics describe patterns and general trends in a data set. To analyze the data, the researcher used the SPSS program version 17.00 for windows. Qualitative data was got from data non-test, they were observation and questionnaire. The result of analysis qualitative data is used to know changing student’s behavior in learning process in Cycle I and Cycle II, and it is also to know improving recount text reading comprehension by Genre-Based Approach (GBA).

A. RESEARCH FINDINGS

1. The Result of Pre-Test

   a. The Descriptive Analysis in Pre-Test

   This research was begun by giving pre-cycle test to the students. It is used to know the student’s reading ability before the writer applied the action. It was done on October 5, 2011. Table 4.1 shows the descriptive analysis of the pre-Test scores before the Genre-Based Approach treatment was applied.

b. Observation in Pre-Test
Observation was done during teaching learning process of the writer and the students of eighth grade of SMP N 3 Salam. In observation, the writer observed the student’s ability to comprehend the text and the student’s attention in teaching learning process. The observation was focused at three behavioral types. There were the activeness of the students to hear the teacher’s explanation, the activeness of the students during reading learning process and the activeness of the students to do the exercise which was given by the teacher.

Based on table 4.3 it could be known that the students still be not active to hear the teacher’s explanation. They were passive during the text learning and doing the duty that was given by the teacher. It means that the achievement of the students learning reading was not good because they were still be passive during the teaching learning process.

c. The Result of Questionnaire of Pre-Test

Questionnaire was done after the writer ended the teaching learning process. Questionnaire was addressed to all of the students. The questionnaire contained of questions that would be answered by the students which were related to the material learning. The material of questionnaire consisted of 5 questions as follows:

a. Do you feel difficult to understand the communicative purpose of the texts?

b. Do you often find English word that are not easy to understand?

c. Do you feel that it is difficult to find the main idea of the texts?

d. Do you feel it is hard to answer the questions based on the texts?

e. Do you feel it is hard to find the similar meaning/ synonyms in mentioned words?
The result of questionnaire could be seen in table 4.4 as follow:

Based on table 4.4, he writer concluded that most of the students still have difficulties in learning the reading comprehension at the Pre-Cycle test, it can be seen through the percentage of the students in answering the questionnaire.

2. The Result of Cycle I

This cycle was early action by using Genre-Based Approach. It is used as an effort to repair and solve the problem in Pre-Test. This result was elaborated in details as follows:

a. The Descriptive Analysis of Cycle I Test

The first cycle was conducted on October 19\textsuperscript{th}, 2011. It was followed by thirty two students, they answered 30 multiple choices that were given by the writer. In this activity Genre-Based Approach was introduced to the students.

Table 4.3 shows the descriptive analysis of the Cycle I test scores after the Genre-Based Approach treatment was applied.

In implementing the Genre-Based Approach in Cycle I, some students were still confused because it was the first time they used this technique. It needed to repeat the action until the classroom action research could be success.

Based on Table 4.7, it could be known that most of the students were interested in Genre-Based Approach. They participated in teaching learning process by using Genre-Based Approach to comprehend a recount text. The students were active in hearing the teacher’s explanation as well, though they still did not give any comment of the material. They answered teacher’s questions and made note of the lesson. The students still had no good result during the text learning. There were only several students that had spirit in reading the text, not all of the students involved during the text learning. They also did not discuss each others during the learning process. On duty, it shows that all of the students did the exercise of reading text, but not all of the students could finish exercise on time which have been determined.

c. The Result of Questionnaire in Cycle I Test

The writer also used questionnaire to collect the data about student’s opinion and responses to the teaching learning process using Genre-Based Approach. Questionnaire in Cycle I was done after the writer gave the students Cycle I test. The result of questionnaire in Cycle I as follows:

Based on table 4.8, the writer concluded that the number of students who had difficulties in learning reading comprehension by Genre-Based Approach was less than in the pre-cycle test. It could be seen through the percentage of the result of questionnaire in Cycle I.

3. The Result of Cycle II Test

The writer continued the action of using Genre-Based Approach in Cycle II. In this Cycle, the writer gave some more improvements by giving students more practice to use Genre-Based Approach to comprehend the texts.

Learning of Cycle II was consisted of observation, questionnaire and test. This result elaborated in details as follows:

a. The Descriptive Analysis of Cycle II Test

The second cycle was conducted on November 9th, 2011. It was followed by 32 students, they answered 30 multiple choices that were given by the writer. In this activity Genre-Based Approach. The result of reading test after using Genre-Based Approach in cycle II can be seen in Table 4.9.

Based on Table 4.11, it could be seen that in Cycle II observation there was a behaviour changing of the students. The students were be more active in teaching learning activity. They gave more attention to the teacher’s explanation. Almost all of the students could answer teacher’s questions accurately. During the text learning, the students had more spirit in reading. All the students involved and discussed in learning process. All the students did the exercise of reading text as well, and they could finish the exercise on time which has been determined.

The result of questionnaire in Cycle II showed that only some of the students in class had difficulties in learning reading comprehension in this research. The numbers of students who got difficulties in learning reading process were less than in Cycle I. It could be seen through the percentage of the result of questionnaire in Cycle II.

B. DISCUSSION

a. The Improvement of Reading Comprehension

The purpose of the study is to find out whether there is improvement in reading comprehension ability of grade VIII students who are taught by using Genre-Based Approach. Discussions of this research were Pre-Cycle, Cycle I and Cycle II. At the pre-cycle, the writer held a reading test to know the student’s reading skill. Then, at the Cycle I, the writer had done the action of using Genre-Based Approach. The writer continued to Cycle II to prove that implementing Genre-Based Approach improves the grade eighth students reading comprehension ability. In addition, the findings of the research proved that there was an improvement in reading comprehension ability of grade eight students who are taught by using Genre-Based approach.

The improvement of the eighth grade students who are taught by Genre-Based Approach in Pre-cycle, Cycle I and Cycle II can be seen in Table 4.13, as follows:

Table 4.13 The Comparison of Pre-Cycle, Cycle I and Cycle II of Reading Test

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

<th>Pre-Cycle</th>
<th>Cycle I</th>
<th>Cycle II</th>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Std. Deviation</td>
<td>2.49435</td>
<td>2.88419</td>
<td>2.92307</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Based on the table 4.13, there was improvement of the student’s reading comprehension by Genre-Based Approach. From these results we can see that the mean, median, mode and standard deviation show greater improvement from Pre-cycle, Cycle I and Cycle II test. The writer concluded that using Genre-Based Approach in teaching reading can improve the English reading comprehension to the eighth grade of SMP Negeri 3 Salam, Magelang.

b. Student’s Behavior Change
Based on the result of observation and questionnaire in Pre-cycle test, it could be concluded that the students did not really interested to study English in reading comprehension. Some of them did not have attention in following the teaching learning process. They had difficulties in finding the communicative purpose of the texts, English word that are not easy to understand and the main ideas of the texts. They were hardly able to answer the questions based on the texts and to find the similar meaning/synonyms in mentioned words.

In cycle I, about a half of students in class were interested and motivated in studying English by Genre-Based Approach because they felt fun when the writer applied in the class. By using Genre-Based Approach, they could find the communicative purpose of the text and main ideas better. Yet, they still had difficulties to answer the questions based on the text and to find the similar meaning/synonyms in mentioned words.

The result of the student’s behavior in Cycle II was satisfactory. They were well prepared and had more spirit in teaching learning process. They were more active and motivated in answering the teacher’s questions. They also were more active and motivated in involving and discussing during the text learning. They also could do the tasks that teacher given to them on time. It can be concluded that the student’s behavior in learning process by using Genre-Based Approach showed better changes.

Based on the above explanation, it could be seen that at the pre-cycle test the student’s behavior was very passive. In cycle I and cycle II test, there were changes of the student’s behavior in following the teaching learning process. They were more active and motivated to study English especially for reading comprehension by using Genre-Based Approach.
CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

There are mainly two parts which are discussed in this chapter. The first part is the conclusions of the research finding, the second part is the suggestions to the students, the teacher and other researchers. Below is further explanation about those parts.

A. Conclusions

Based on the theories, the research findings and the discussion discussed in the previous chapter, some conclusions are proposed. They are as follows:

1. There is an improvement of the student’s reading comprehension by using Genre-Based Approach. From these results we can see that the mean, median, mode and standard deviation show greater improvement from Pre-cycle, Cycle I and Cycle II test. The students were taught using Genre-Based Approach got better scores in reading comprehension test than before. It can be seen through the improvement of the mean, median, mode and standard deviation in Pre-cycle, cycle I and cycle II. The improvement of the mean from pre-cycle test to Cycle II was 3.875. The improvement of the median from pre-cycle test to Cycle II was 4.00. The improvement of the mode from pre-cycle test to Cycle II was 4.00. and the improvement of the standard deviation from pre-cycle test to Cycle II was 4.2872.
2. There was a positive change of the student’s behavior in Pre-cycle, cycle I and cycle II. Before the students were taught by using Genre-Based Approach technique, they seemed to be passive learner. After they were taught by Genre-Based Approach, they became more active students in the teaching and learning process. The result of observation and questionnaire in Pre-cycle test showed the students did not really interested to study English in reading comprehension. At the pre-cycle test the student’s behavior was very passive. In cycle I and cycle II test, there were changes of the student’s behavior in following the teaching learning process. They were more active and motivated to study English especially for reading comprehension by using Genre-Based Approach. They had more spirit in teaching learning process. They were more active and motivated in answering the teacher’s questions, involving and discussing during the text learning. They also could do the tasks that teacher given to them on time.

B. Suggestions

The result of this research showed that there is an improvement of the student’s reading comprehension achievement by using Genre-Based Approach. Regarding the result of the research, the writer wants to suggest teacher as follows:

1. For the english Teacher

The study showed that Genre-Based Approach had an positive effect on the reading comprehension ability of junior high school students. Therefore, the researcher suggests that the teachers should employ Genre-Based Approach to improve the quality of the teaching and learning process especially in the teaching of reading comprehension for junior high school students.

2. For the Students

It is important for students at the age of junior high school students to know their learning characteristics and needs. The study showed that using Genre-Based Approach students be more easily to find the main idea, generic structure and communicative purpose of the text. Students also could find the specific information based on the text and the meaning of the words based on the text. Therefore, the researcher suggests that the students should employ Genre-Based Approach to help them comprehend the text both inside and outside the classroom.

3. For Other Researchers

The study showed that the use of Genre-Based Approach as one of the reading comprehension strategies gave an improvement on the reading comprehension ability of junior school students. The researcher hopes that other researchers will conduct further exploration about the employment of the Genre-Based Approach strategy in learning reading.

The Unlucky Camping

It was the beginning of wet season, but the weather was fine in the morning. My classmates and I went camping to the camping ground.

We set up our tent in the middle of a field near a small river. As soon as this was done, we cooked a meal over an open fire. Everything was alright in the afternoon. But at night while we were singing songs by the campfire a strong wind blew. It brought disorder to our tent. We could not sleep because it was thundering and raining heavily. Lighting intensified the downpours. Soon the surrounding areas became flooded. We all panicked.

The Big Rock

One of my favorite childhood memories happened just down my street. When I was about 8, my sister and I went down to our’s friend Catherine’s house to play. Our friend Kristen was there too.

Catherine said that if you followed the stream in her backyard, you would eventually get to the big rock.

So we walked and walked and walked, following the stream in the forest, on a cloudy August day. It must have taken us half an hour. I said “Kathy, where is the thing?!” Then I turned the corner and saw one of the most beautiful places I have ever seen. I was standing on a sand bank and across from me there was a big, big hollow tree. Underneath it the water seemed to extend forever. There were tons of fish jumping around inside the alcove. The sun suddenly came our and the leaves on the trees glowed a bright green. I saw a frog hop on the sand.

Then I turn ahead. There it was. A big rock. No, wait. The big rock. This thing was so big it needed capitalizing.

I climbed up the back of it. My nose and eyes tipped over the side of the rock, gazing down at the water which must have been 10 feet below me (HEY, that’s pretty high when you’re 8!) From then on I loved to play there.

Then one day I discovered a “computer” and a huge of pile of homework waiting for me.

Recently I went back to the rock by myself. I saw a slaughtered forest. Someone’s Mc. Mansion was getting built right to the Rock Himself. Logs were strewn across the “forest” floor. In the tree’s place there was the foundation for a 4 car garage, just waiting for the 4 ugly SUV to fill it. There were no more glowing leaves, and the stream was mucky and silty.

But Big Rock was still there. And I knew it would always be there, waiting for some other child to discover it and love it for the beautiful chunk of granite that it is.

Visiting Bali

There were so many places to see in Bali that my friend decided to join the tours to see as much as possible. My friend stayed in Kuta on arrival. He spent the first three days swimming and surfing on Kuta Beach. He visited some tour agents and selected two hours. The first one was to Singaraja, the second was to Ubud.

On the day of the tour, he was ready. My friend and his group drove on through mountains. Singaraja is a city of stone. The about 90 thousands people. It is a busy but quiet town. The street are lined with trees and there are many old Dutch houses. Then they returned very late in the evening to Kuta.

The second tour to Ubud was a very different tour. It was not to see the scenery but to see the art and the craft of the island. The first stop was at Batubulan, a center of a stone sculpture. There my friend watched young boys were carving away at big blocks of the stone. The next stop was Celuk, a center for silversmiths and goldensmiths. After that, he stopped a little while for lunch at Sukawati and on to Mass. Mass is a tourist center. My friend ten-day-stay ended very quickly beside his two tour, all his day was spent on the beach. He went sailing or surfboarding everyday. He was quiet satisfied.

Vacation to London

A family was on vacation. They are Mr. and Mrs. Richard with two sons. They went to London. They saw their travel agent and booked their tickets. They went to the British Embassy to get visas to enter Britain. They had booked fourteen days tour. This includes travel and accommodation. They also included tours around London.

They boarded a large Boeing flight. The flight was nearly fourteen hours. On the plane the cabin crews were very friendly. They gave them newspaper and magazine to read. They gave them food and drink. There was a film for their entertainment. They had very pleasant flight. They slept part of the way.

On arrival at Heathrow Airport, they had to go to Customs and Immigration. The officers were pleasant. They checked the document carefully but their manner were very polite. Mr. Richard and his family collected their bags and went to London Welcome Desk. They arranged the transfer to a hotel.

The hotel was a well-known four-star hotel. The room had perfect view of the park. The room had its own bathroom and toilet. Instead of keys for the room, they inserted a key-card to open the door. On the third floor, there was a restaurant serving Asian and European food. They had variety of food.

The two weeks in London went very fast. At the end of the 14-th day, they were quite tired but they felt very happy.

An Excursion to the Botanic Gardens

On Thursday, April 24th we went to the Botanic Gardens. We walked down and boarded the bus.

After we arrived at the gardens we walked down to the Education Centre. Grade Eight went to have a look around. First, we went to the First Farm and Mrs. James read us some of the information. Then, we looked at all the lovely plants. After that, we went down to a little spot in the Botanic Gardens and had morning tea.

Next, we did sketching and the we met back at the Education Centre with Grade Ninth to have lunch. Soon after it was time for us to go and make our terrarium while Grade Ninth went to have their walk.

A lady took us into a special room and introduced herself, then she explained what we were going to do. Next, she took us into a pyramid terrarium and another one. It was most interesting. Later we went back and made our terrariums.

My Personal Experience

When I was in Junior High School, I was not very diligent student. In fact, I was quite lazy. I hated all the subjects that I took during school, especially science. For me, science was very difficult. It was hard for me to remember the chemical processes, physics calculations and biological processes.

Once, my teacher grounded me in the library because I did not do my Biology homework. The teacher asked me to read several books and make a summary about them. When I was browsing the shelves, I found a book entitled “The Inventor of Medicine.” I thought “OK, this is a start.” I took it out then began reading it.

I learned from the book about Edward Jenner. He was an English doctor who found the cure for smallpox. The next one was Louis Pasteur. His interest in bacteria led him to discover the treatments for a rabies and anthrax. Just like Pasteur, Robert Koch’s experiments on bacteria also proved that tuberculosis can be spread to others by contact. Finally, there was Alexander Flemming, a British bacteriologist who found the first antibiotic and penicillin. After I read the book, I realised that science is useful for human kind. By studying, we can discover things that can help human kind. Therefore, since that moment, I managed to change my behaviour and became a doctor.

Bush Dancing

I stayed in Perth almost a month. It is a clean and friendly city to stay in. Last weekend I was invited by Karen Bailey, from SIDE, School of Isolated and Distance Education, to go to a bush dance. I assumed that we would be transferred to some kind of forest with tall grass to do bush dancing. So I thought I would need clothing that can protect myself like a pair of boots to protect my feet, a long-sleeve top to protect me from mosquitoes and a hat of course. Since I didn’t have them I just wore pants, a T-shirt and a pair of sandals. I arrived at the dance to see no forest at all! I entered the building where I saw some friends. There was lots of food and drink and a band. They looked like country musicians—cowboy hats, leather vests and big boots. We started chatting, eating and drinking.

An hour later the guitarist asked us to gather and make a big circle. There were series of dances. First, it was an easy one but it became more difficult and more fun. We basically had to move our arms, legs and head a lot. We jumped up and down a lot and also reversing and changing spots. The beat was slow at first but gradually it became faster and faster. We were not allowed to stop while the music was playing. So, you could imagine how we ended up breathless! Age doesn’t matter. Children, teenagers and adults are all welcome. The only thing for sure is that you must possess strong stamina and be prepared because after dancing you will feel a painful calf! It was fun though. Bush dancing is really fun.

then at 12 o’clock were the biggest fireworks to celebrate the New Millenium.

The fireworks were great. They started off with fireworks on the Harbour Bridge and then at different points around the Harbour. Different lots of fireworks were going off for about twenty minutes. So it was a spectacular sight. It was estimated that about a million people came into Sydney on that night.

There was quite an unusual finish. The word eternity was lit up across the Sydney
Harbour Bridge. There was for many years a man used to go around Sydney writing the word “eternity” on footpaths that was associated with Sydney in forties and fifties. People thought it was a fitting way to end the millenium and to begin a new one by putting the word eternity across the Harbour Bridge.

c. A concluding paragraph (not always necessary) ---- called re-orientation (komentar pribadi atau pengenalan ulang)
FIRECRACKER

When I was a kid, I had a friend who liked to play with firecrackers. His name was Bono.

One day, Bono and his friends were playing in the field. One of Bono’s friends brought an empty biscuit can. He then covered the firecracker with the can and when the firecracker exploded, the can bounced up in the air. Bono’s friends were all impressed and Bono got very excited. He wanted to impress his friends, too.

Not far from here, Bono saw a big piece of cow manure. He put a firecracker on it, which made the manure look like a birthday cake. When the firecracker exploded, the cow manure was splattered all around. When he turns around, his friends laughed at him so hard that he cried: the cow manure was all over his face!

(Taken from: Practice Your English Competence by Nur Zaida)

QUESTIONS:

1. What is the mainly discussed in the text above?
2. What does the underlined word in the second paragraph mean?
3. Where did Bono see a big piece of cow manure?
4. What was the empty biscuit for?
5. Why did his friends laugh at him?
Orientation

Mr. and Mrs. Charly were on a tour to Europe. They were traveling on a guided tour to five countries. They were going to travel through the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and France for two weeks. The guide for the tour was a Swiss. On the first day of the travel the guide told them to check their passports, their traveler cheques and their foreign cash. He told them to keep them safely.

Series of events

They traveled in a comfortable coach with a toilet, music and video. The guide stopped the coach at many famous places. He explained the cultural importance of the places. They stayed in big hotels for the night and ate in the restaurants.

Reorientation

On the way, they stopped at small restaurants to have lunch. In big towns, they went for shopping. They bought many souvenirs for their friends. They enjoyed the two-weeks tour.

QUESTIONS:

1. What does the text tell about?
2. How long did Mr. and Mrs. Charly get travelling?
3. What did the guide do on the first day?
4. Where did they buy many souvenirs for their friends?
5. How did they feel after travelling to Europe?

A Birthday Surprise

I had one unforgettable experience. It happened when I was in high school. One day, I was called for a meeting. All teachers and my friends were scowling at me. The teachers even punished me and asked me to stand on a chair with my eyes closed in the middle of the school yard. I had no idea why they were being so cruel to me. I was so sad that I couldn’t help crying.

Suddenly, I heard my teachers and friends sang “Happy Birthday”. After that, they showered me with water until I was soaking wet. Next, they took me to my class. My classmates congratulated me and gave me presents. I was surprised.

A year ago, my friend and I joined calendar girl audition in a radio station outside our town. We heard about this audition from our neighbor a week before. At first, we were very excited. This was because it was our first time to join such an audition. We went there by bus. It took 2 hours to get there. When we arrived, we saw many people who also joined the contest. After we examined more carefully. We realized that all the contestants wore red and white costumes. Then, we asked the commite why the contestants wore in red and white. The contest meanwhile, my friend and I wore the wrong costumes. I prepared a long blue gown, while my friend prepared a colorful gown. We were very desperate because we could not join the audition. After that we went home sadly.

The Big Rock

One of my favorite childhood memories happened just down my street. When I was about 8, my sister and I went down to our’s friend Catherine’s house to play. Our friend Kristen was there too. Catherine said that if you followed the stream in her backyard, you would eventually get to the big rock.

So we walked and walked and walked, following the stream in the forest, on a cloudy August day. It must have taken us half an hour. I said “Kathy, where is the thing?!” Then I turned the corner and saw one of the most beautiful places I have ever seen. I was standing on a sand bank and across from me there was a big, big hollow tree. Underneath it the water seemed to extend forever. There were tons of fish jumping around inside the aclove. The sun suddenly came out and the leaves on the trees glowed a bright green. I saw a frog hop on the sand.

Then I turn ahead. There it was. A big rock. No, wait. The big rock. This thing was so big it needed capitalizing.

I climbed up the back of it. My nose and eyes tipped over the side of the rock, gazing down at the water which must have been 10 feet below me (HEY, that’s pretty high when you’re 8!) From then on I loved to play there.

Then one day I discovered a “computer” and a huge pile of homework waiting for me. Recently I went back to the rock by myself. I saw a slaughtered forest. Someone’s Mc. Mansion was getting built right to the Rock Himself. Logs were strewn across the “forest” floor. In the tree’s place there was the foundation for a 4 car garage, just waiting for the 4 ugly SUV to fill it. There were no more glowing leaves, and the stream was mucky and silty.

But Big Rock was still there. And I knew it would always be there, waiting for some other child to discover it and love it for the beautiful chunk of granite that it is.

The Richest Mountain

On Saturday morning after end of term two party, Fathur and Haekal rode their bike to my house. They brought camping equipment. They said that they were going to go camping at the closest mountain from my house. I asked my mom if I could go camping too. My mom allowed me to go. So quickly got packed.

We could see a mountain from my house. We headed straight there. We took shortcuts. We went really fast. We went really fast that we couldn’t even stop our bike when the lights were red. A truck was so close to crash us. Luckily we survived, no one was hurt. “That was so close,” Haekal said. The driver of the truck swore at us. Roger was really angry that he swore back to the truck driver.

Then we arrived at a mountain, we didn’t even know what mountain it was. “Finally we arrive,” Fathur cheered. We could see Bandung from the mountain. Then we found a footpath. “Want to go to check it out?” Haekal asked. “OK” I replied. We followed the footpath with our bikes. The footpath led us to the river. We found a safe spot for shelter. Haekal and I built the tent while Fathur went to get some wood. After we built a camp, we washed our hands in the river. The water was so clean.

When I staring at the river, I saw something really shiny behind the rocks. I took the rocks out. I found a block of a gold. Haekal and Fathur were fishing. They made a spear to catch fish. I went up to them and said “I found gold”. “That’s suck!” Roger said. “It’s not fair,” Haekal was jealous. When Haekal threw his spear, it got stuck between two rocks. He lifted the rocks. “I found gold!” he shouted. Haekal found two blocks of gold. He gave one to Fathur. Everyone had gold. At night we told jokes and ate marshmallows at the campfire.

QUESTIONS:

1. What is the main idea of the second paragraph?
2. What is the closest meaning of the underlined word in paragraph 3?
3. How many golden block were in the text?
4. What is the closest meaning of “suck” in?
5. Why was Roger really angry?

Note:

The text is a recount text in written form. A recount text tells us about past events. It could be someone’s experiences, someone’s life in the past, the history of something, etc. The main feature of a recount text is the use of the simple past tense.

What is the generic structure of a written recount?
In Singapore and Malaysia

10 October 2010 was a date that I never forget. That day my friends from SMPN in Bandung and I had a study tour to Singapore and Malaysia. The trip was about five days.

On Sunday we started. We flew with Air Asia to Singapore. We went from Soekarno-Hatta Airport. About two hours traveling, finally we arrived in Changi airport, Singapore. We saw the Merlion F1 Circuit, the Esplanade and passed Orchard street. The tour guide was so funny.

Day 2 we had a lesson from Mr. Sahid about Math and Science Olimpiad and next to that Santosa Island. We also visited The Universal Studio (TUS). There we watched the waterworld show, the funniest show there. Then we played the game., Jurassic Park area. The Mummy area, etc.

Day 3 we visited the AEC college and learnt physics there. And we went to Malaysia by bus. It took about 6 hours. We arrived there late at night. Then we slept in the hotel.

Day 4 we went around Kuala Lumpur. We took photos in Sultan Palace, Datoran Merdeka and Batu Cafe. In Batu Cafe, a Hinduism Temple, I had simple pray there. Then, we went to Genting Highland. It was a kind of theme park located on top of a hill. But I got sick there. Audryan, Chayadi and I waited my friend in the ground.

Last day, we went to USJ 12 school. We were welcome. There, we knew about their habits and their cultures. In the afternoon, we bought some souvenirs in Sungai Wang. We bought lots of things there.

At last, we went home by Air Asia to Jakarta. Thet was an unforgettable moment.

| Series of events | They boarded a large Boeing flight. The flight was nearly fourteen hours. On the plane the cabin crews were very friendly. They gave them newspaper and magazine to read. They gave them food and drink. There was a film for their entertainment. They had very pleasant flight. They slept part of the way.

On arrival at Heathrow Airport, they had to go to Customs and Immigration. The officers were pleasant. They checked the document carefully but their manner were very polite. Mr. Richard and his family collected their bags and went to London Welcome Desk. They arranged the transfer to a hotel.

The hotel was a well-known four-star hotel. The room had perfect view of the park. The room had its own bathroom and toilet. Instead of keys for the room, they inserted a key-card to open the door. On the third floor, there was a restaurant serving Asian and European food. They had variety of food. |
| Reorientation | The two weeks in London went very fast. At the end of the 14-th day, they were quite tired but they felt very happy. |

The Recount Texts

1. The Nice Cafe

The Nice Cafe

A couple of weeks ago I went to a nice cafe in Eltham. It was called Volumes.

When I walked through the door I could smell coffee toast and pasta. It smelt delicious. I got spring rolls with salad. The spring rolls felt oily, but tasted nice. The salad tasted sour and disgusting. My brother got chips and gish. The fish looked gross but the chips were nice. In the cafe they have a mini book shop. I goft a horse stencil book. My brother Liam got a pen with light on the end.

I really like the cafe, then I had to leave the smell.

2. Firecracker

Firecracker

When I was a kid, I had a friend who liked to play with firecrackers. His name was Bono.

One day, Bono and his friends were playing in the field. One of Bono’s friends brought an empty biscuit can. He then covered the firecracker with the can and when the firecracker exploded, the can bounced up in the air. Bono’s friends were all impressed and Bono got very excited. He wanted to impress his friends, too.

Not far from here, Bono saw a big piece of cow manure. He put a firecracker on it, which made the manure look like a birthday cake. When the firecracker exploded, the cow manure was splattered all around. When he turns around, his friends laughed at him so hard that he cried: the cow manure was all over his face!

3. Why Me?

Why Me?

Why me? Every night at 6.45, I, me, myself have to do the dishes. What a job.

Yesterday, I came home from my friend’s house and I looked into the sink- don’t ask me what I saw.

I got the detergent and turned the tap on, got the scrubber and started away. My brother didn’t help – he just pretended to do homework, when really he was reading a comic.

I hated those dishes. They were dirty, grotty things that slipped and slid in the water. I hated having that wet mashed potato in the middle of my fingers. To make it worse, I had to miss my favorite TV show because of the dishes.

Next year resolution is to buy a dishwasher!

4. A Birthday Surprise

A Birthday Surprise

I had one unforgettable experience. It happened when I was in high school. One day, I was called for a meeting. All teachers and my friends were scowling at me. The teachers even punished me and asked me to stand on a chair with my eyes closed in the middle of the school yard. I had no idea why they were being so cruel to me. I was so sad that I couldn’t help crying.

Suddenly, I heard my teachers and friends sang “Happy Birthday”. After that, they showered me with water until I was soaking wet. Next, they took me to my class. My classmates congratulated me and gave me presents. I was surprised.

5. My Holiday

My Holiday

In the last holiday, I went to Bangka with my family. When I knew we went to Bangka, I was very happy. Then I prepared my clothes, playstation, souvenir and some books for studying. However, when I searched my cassette video game, I couldn’t find it. I was gone.

My family and I went to Bangka at 05.30 am. However, we had to go to Soekarno-Hatta airport. The journey from Bandung to airport was about two hours. I was only slept.

When we arrived at the airport at 8.30 am, my family bought five tickets to go too Bangka. And we went in hurry to the airport because the airplane would take off at 9.00.

The journey from Jakarta to Pangkal Pinang was about 50 minutes. During the journey I saw the sea, clouds, many houses, many trees and little cars. When I landed, I was very happy.

In Bangka, my cousins and I played Playstation 3 days 24 hours and went to the beach. The name of the beach is Pemali Beach. In the last day before I went home, my cousins and I slept 19 hours. I think that was my new record.

Calendar Girl Audition

A year ago, my friend and I joined calendar girl audition in a radio station outside our town. We heard about this audition from our neighbor a week before.

At first, we were very excited. This was because it was our first time to join such an audition. We went there by bus. It took 2 hours to get there.

When we arrived, we saw many people who also joined the contest. After we examined more carefully. We realized that all the contestants wore red and white costumes. Then, we asked the committee why the contestants wore in red and white. The contest meanwhile, my friend and I wore the wrong costumes. I prepared a long blue gown, while my friend prepared a colorful gown. We were very desperate because we could not join the audition. After that we went home sadly.

7. After Caught in the Rain

    After Caught in the Rain

    One day, Jane was caught in the rain. When she reached home she started sneezing. Soon, Jane was down with cold.

    The next morning, Jane’s mother took her to the doctor. The doctor said that Jane had flu and he gave her some medicine. He also advised Jane to drink more water and take a good rest.

    When Jane reached home, she went straight to bed. She slept till lunch time. Her mother carried her meal to her bedroom. She also brought Jane her medicine. After eating, Jane went back to sleep.

    When Jane woke up for dinner, she felt much better. Her best friend called to find out how she was. She also told Jane briefly what the teacher had taught that day.

    The next day, Jane had recovered. She missed her friends and was glad to go back to school.

8. The Big Rock

The Big Rock

One of my favorite childhood memories happened just down my street. When I was about 8, my sister and I went down to our’s friend Catherine’s house to play. Our friend Kristen was there too.

Catherine said that if you followed the stream in her backyard, you would eventually get to the big rock.

So we walked and walked and walked, following the stream in the forest, on a cloudy August day. It must have taken us half an hour. I said “Kathy, where is the thing?!” Then I turned the corner and saw one of the most beautiful places I have ever seen. I was standing on a sand bank and across from me there was a big, big hollow tree. Underneath it the water seemed to extend forever. There were tons of fish jumping around inside the aclove. The sun suddenly came out and the leaves on the trees glowed a bright green. I saw a frog hop on the sand.

Then I turn ahead. There it was. A big rock. No, wait. The big rock. This thing was so big it needed capitalizing.

I climbed up the back of it. My nose and eyes tipped over the side of the rock, gazing down at the water which must have been 10 feet below me (HEY, that’s pretty high when you’re 8!) From then on I loved to play there.

Then one day I discovered a “computer” and a huge of pile of homework waiting for me.

Recently I went back to the rock by myself. I saw a slaughtered forest. Someone’s Mc. Mansion was getting built right to the Rock Himself. Logs were strewn across the “forest” floor. In the tree’s place there was the foundation for a 4 car garage, just waiting for the 4 ugly SUV to fill it. There were no more glowing leaves, and the stream was mucky and silty.

But Big Rock was still there. And I knew it would always be there, waiting for some other child to discover it and love it for the beautiful chunk of granite that it is.

9. The Unlucky Camping

The Unlucky Camping

It was the beginning of wet season, but the weather was fine in the morning. My classmates and I went camping to the camping ground.

We set up our tent in the middle of a field near a small river. As soon as this was done, we cooked a meal over an open fire. Everything was alright in the afternoon. But at night while we were singing songs by the campfire a strong wind blew. It brought disorder to our tent. We could not sleep because it was thundering and raining heavily. Lighting intensified the downpours. Soon the surrounding areas became flooded. We all panicked.

The Richest Mountain

On Saturday morning after end of term two party, Fathur and Haekal rode their bike to my house. The brought camping equipment. They said that they were going to go camping at the closest mountain from my house. I asked my mom if i could go camping too. My mom allowed me to go. So quickly got packed.

We could see a mountain from my house. We headed straight there. We took shortcuts. We went really fast. We went really fast that we couldn’t even stop our bike when the lights wee red. A truck was so close to crash us. Luckily we survived, no one was hurt. “That was so close,” Haekal said. The driver of the truck swore at us. Roger was really angry that he swore back to the truck driver.

Then we arrived at a mountain, we didn’t even know what mountain it was. “Finally we arrive,” Fathur cheered. We could see Bandung from the mountain. Then we found a footpath. “Want to go to check it out?” Haekal asked. “OK” I replied. We followed the footpath with our bikes. The footpath led us to the river. We found a safe spot for shelter. Haekal and I built the tent while Fathur went to get some wood. After we built a camp, we washed our hands in the river. The water was so clean.
