The 61st TEFLIN International Conference 2014
Solo, 7 - 9 October 2014

PROCEEDINGS

English Language Curriculum Development: Implications for Innovations in Language Policy and Planning, Pedagogical Practices, and Teacher Professional Development

ENGLISH EDUCATION DEPARTMENT
TEACHER TRAINING AND EDUCATION FACULTY
SEBELAS MARET UNIVERSITY

BOOK 3
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Cover ..........................................................................................................................  i
Foreword ..................................................................................................................... v
Table Of Contents ....................................................................................................... vi

1. Language Policy and Language Planning
   1. Exploring Innovative Framework to Observe ESP Curriculum in Higher Education Context
      Adriadi Novawan .................................................................................................  1
   2. Which One is Better: KTSP (School-based Curriculum) or 2013 English Curriculum?
      Alina Prisilya .......................................................................................................  6
   3. Teachers’ Responses toward 2013 Curriculum: After a Year of Implementation
      Arna Shofiya ....................................................................................................... 10
   4. Standardizing Core Competence in the Curriculum of Academic Education for Prospective English Teachers in Indonesia
      Budi Setyono ....................................................................................................... 14
   5. English as Medium of Instruction and Students’ Language Attitude (A Case of Ex-RSBI Senior Secondary Schools in Pekanbaru)
      Bukhori .............................................................................................................  19
   6. Implementing KKNI in Developing English Curriculum for Shipbuilding Polytechnic
      Desi Tri Cuhyaninggati ....................................................................................... 23
   7. The Emergence of Interference in Students Foreign Language Acquisition
      Dyah Kusumaastuti .........................................................................................  27
   8. Sole Use of English in EFL Classroom: Pragmatism or Belief
      Eka Afrida Ernawati and Wahyu Kartika Wijananda ....................................... 29
   9. Teachers’ Beliefs in Teaching Reading towards National Examination Challenge in Indonesia
      Intan Kusumawardhani and Erwin Suhendra .................................................. 33
  10. The Impacts of Integrated Curriculum
      Maya Defianty and Unmi Kultsum ................................................................... 37
  11. Nuclear Stress: A Candidate of Factors Determining Global Intelligibility of EFL Speakers’ Speech
      Moedjito ............................................................................................................. 41
  12. Back to Basics: Improving Pre-service Teachers’ Quality by Designing Sound Curriculum for Teaching Practicum Program
      Nurrahma Sutisnaati Patri .............................................................................  45
  13. Restructuring English Curriculum: The Implementation of English Corner (EC) in SD Muhammadiyah 8 DAU Malang
      Puji Sumarsono ...............................................................................................  48
  14. The Relevance of the Competence Based Curriculum with the Units of Standard Competencies for the ESP Courses of Tourism Students
      Ratnah and Faradiffah Sapliarti ......................................................................  52
  15. Media Literacy: A Salient Concept for English Language Curricula Planning
      Riani Inkirawangi Winter, Laksmi Mayesti Wijayanti, Sandra Sembel, and Alfred Inkirawang .................................................................  56
  16. The Contributions of Anthropological Studies to the Usage of Genres in TEFL
      Saifil Anwar Matondang ..............................................................................  60
  17. The English Teachers’ Perceptions toward School-based Curriculum (SBC) and 2013 Curriculum; Complaints, Comparisons and Contrasts (An Investigation on English Teachers’ Perceptions in Pekalongan)
      Sarita Dewi Matra .........................................................................................  63
  18. The 2013 English Curriculum: Prospects and Challenges
      Shirlly Rizki Kusumaningrum ........................................................................  67
      Siti Muniroh .....................................................................................................  71
  20. A Cognitive Linguistic Analysis of “Dream” Metaphors in Basic Reading I Course
      Truly Almendo Pasaribu ..................................................................................  76

II. Needs Analysis
   21. Needs Analysis for Developing Supplementary Reading Materials of Automotive Students of Vocational High School
       Affianti, Tety Muriana ..................................................................................  80
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>No.</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>22</td>
<td>Designing the English Textbook with Cultural Based Activities Used for Teaching “Bahasa Inggris” at IAIN Raden Fatah Palembang</td>
<td>Anissa Astrid</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23</td>
<td>Designing an ESP Course: English for Law</td>
<td>Ayu Fatmawati</td>
<td>88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24</td>
<td>Needs Analysis for Pre-departure Training Program</td>
<td>B. Yunita Diyant</td>
<td>91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25</td>
<td>The Effect of Slang Language on The Indonesian Teen Manners Ethical (study on student in IKIP PGRI Madiun, school year 2013/2014)</td>
<td>Ervan Johan Wicaksana</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>26</td>
<td>The Students’ Ability and Problems in Writing a Descriptive Essay across Different Levels ( A case study in One University in Karawang)</td>
<td>Fikri Asih Wigati</td>
<td>99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>27</td>
<td>Teaching Academic Writing based on Need Analysis for Indonesian EFL Learners at University</td>
<td>Hari Prastyo</td>
<td>104</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28</td>
<td>Designing Needs Analysis-Based English Training Materials for Tourist Drivers as a Means of Transportation Service in Yogyakarta</td>
<td>Hermawati</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>29</td>
<td>ESP Syllabus: Compromising Needs and Wants in Higher Education</td>
<td>Ismail Petrus</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30</td>
<td>Needs Analysis of Indonesian Freshmen’s Writing at University of Indonesia: Problems and Solutions</td>
<td>Istianah Ramadani</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>31</td>
<td>A Needs Analysis of Deaf and Hard-of-hearing Students in Learning English as a Foreign Language at Inclusive Higher Education</td>
<td>Iswahyuni and Dian Inayati</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>32</td>
<td>Assessing the Needs of the College Students of the Hotel and Restaurant Department in English Competences for International Careers within ASEAN Countries</td>
<td>Kun Anirol Mahrofi and Gunadi</td>
<td>125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>33</td>
<td>The Role of Need Analysis in Teaching ESP for Nursing</td>
<td>M. Mutiaba Mitra Z</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>34</td>
<td>The Importance of Need Analysis in ESP Materials Design for Hotels and Restaurants Training Program</td>
<td>Made Budiarsa</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>35</td>
<td>Native-like Accent: A Myth or a Goal? A Study on Learner Preferences for English Accents</td>
<td>Monica Ella Harendita</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>36</td>
<td>The Effect of Students’ Speaking learning Techniques (Role Play and Group Discussion) and Cognitive Styles (Field Independent and Field Dependent) Towards the students’ Speaking Ability</td>
<td>Rachmi and Destianda Rahmawati</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>37</td>
<td>Investigating the Listening Needs of English Education Department Students at Universitas Alauddin Daulan</td>
<td>Rahmi Munjungati</td>
<td>145</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>38</td>
<td>Incorporating Students’ Needs into a Course Design: An Example for Designing a Course of English Correspondence for Economics and Business Students</td>
<td>Rini Intansari Meliani</td>
<td>149</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>39</td>
<td>Need Analysis in Learning English for Non English Native Speakers Students in Learning English at SMP Muhammadiyah 2 Surabaya</td>
<td>Rizka Safivani</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40</td>
<td>Planning an ESP Course: Analyzing the Needs of Students in an IT Company</td>
<td>Rohaniatul Makdiah</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>41</td>
<td>Rational Persuasiveness of Arguments in Debate</td>
<td>Ryan Marna</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>42</td>
<td>Needs Analysis for Operators of Petrochemical Companies Studying at English Training Center, Bontang, East Kalimantan</td>
<td>Yulia Hapsari</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

III. Language Syllabus and Lesson Planning

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>No.</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>43</td>
<td>A Proposed Multicultural English Curriculum Towards AEC for Young Learners</td>
<td>Agnes Widyantingrum</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
44. The Use of Modern Drama on the Curriculum Framework in Teaching English as a Foreign Language Context
Astri Hapsari

45. 21st Century Learning Design Project Based Learning: School Campaign for Better Future
Betty Sekarastih Hadji Yani

46. Integrating Concept of Entrepreneurship as a Life Skill in the Teaching Media Syllabus in Universitas Brawijaya
Devinta Puspita Ratri

47. Redesigning the course of Morphosyntax for English Language Education Students
Iutan Pradita

48. English Teacher's Difficulties in Designing Lesson Plan Based on 2013 Curriculum (A Case Study in a Senior High School in Cipatat, West Java)
Jasmi

49. Active Learning Strategies: A Model of Teaching Academic Writing
Listyani

50. Designing Need-Based Syllabus for Engineering Students of Banjarmasin State Polytechnic
Nurfirriah and Ninit Krisdyawati

51. Added Values in the Topics and Materials for Certain English Subjects
Peter Angkasa

52. Developing a Speaking Class Syllabus for the Intensive English Course for the First-Year Students at IAIN Antasari Banjarmasin
Raida Astifiana

53. Writing Critical Reviews in a Content-Based Language Curriculum
Roger Palmer

54. Analyzing Advertisement as an Alternative Way to Teach Semiotics: A Lesson Plan
Susi Herti Afriani

IV. Language Materials Evaluation and Design

55. Developing English Teaching Materials for 4th Grade Students of SDIT Al-Kautsar Sukoharjo
Ahmad Dadang Pramunsinta

56. A Proposed English Syllabus and Instructional Materials for the Seventh Grade Students of SMP Negeri 2 Tarakan
Aries Uomo and Winarno

57. An Updated Framework of ESP Program Evaluation
Arnis Silvia

58. Using Series Pictures to Develop the Students' Ideas in English Narrative Writing
Aschawir Ali and Uswatun Hasanah

59. An Evaluation of an ESP Textbook From Lecturers' Perspectives: The Case of English for Islamic Studies Book
Burhanudin Suvialloh

60. EFL Teachers' Perceptions on Designing and Evaluating Language Materials: A Case Study
Dony Alfarasy

61. Enriching Vocabulary Intake through Book Flood Project
Dwi Wulandari

62. The Comparison between EFL Textbook Evaluations in 2013 Curriculum and KTSP Curriculum
Eka Herdiana Sasanto

63. Designing an ESP Speaking for Journalism Class – A Case Study
Erin Estiana Yanti

64. Designing a Model of English Learning Materials for Eleventh Grade Vocational High School Students of Visual Communication Design Department based-on School Based Curriculum
Evi Puspitasari

65. The Analysis of Appropriate Texts in Reading Comprehension Skills and Strategies 4 Textbook for Use by the Students of the English Department of UNESA
Fauris Zuhri

66. Developing Model for Teaching Paragraph Writing Using Thematic Progression Patterns with Jingle Button Technique
Farikhah

67. Bringing Englishes in Language Classrooms
Flora Deborah Floris

vii
68. Challenges and Opportunities in Developing Blended Culture ELT Materials for Vocational High School
Hesti Wijaya .................................................................................. 274

69. Material Development and Collaborative Teaching for English for Agriculture (ESP)
I Gusti Asti Gde Sasionati ................................................................. 278

70. Exploring Students’ Ability and Problems in Writing Academic Paper
Ihman .............................................................................................. 282

71. The Analysis of Teachers’ Preparation in Using English Textbook
Intan Satriani .................................................................................. 288

72. Language Learning Activities in the Scientific-Method-Step-Based Classroom
Joko Priyana ................................................................................... 291

73. Native English Teacher Examining Bilingual Essays Written by Students of Indonesian-English Translation Class: The Case of English Education Department of Purworejo Mohammadiyah University
Junaedi Setiyono .............................................................................. 295

74. Challenges in Material Development
Kusumarsdyati ................................................................................. 299

75. The Analysis of Thematic Progression in Evaluating EFL Writing
Linda ............................................................................................... 303

76. Developing Supplementary Reading Materials for the Seventh Grade Students of SMP Negeri Surakarta based on Curriculum 2013
Makmun Satriadin ........................................................................... 307

77. Mini Saga as a Tool to Improve Students’ Ability in Writing and Editing
Maria Zakia Rahmainawati ............................................................. 311

78. English Literature in Indonesian High School Curriculum: Are We Ready Yet?
Maudidia Rahmani ......................................................................... 315

79. Developing Listening Supplementary Materials for the Seventh Grade Students based on Curriculum 2013
Mokhammad Sabit Abdul Aziz ............................................................ 321

80. Evaluating and Adapting Reading Materials to Develop Vocabulary and Reading Skills of Engineering Students at Politeknik Negeri Bandung
MV. Joyce Merawati, Sri Dewiyanti ................................................. 325

Ni Wayan Sukawati and I Gusti Agung Paramitha Eka Putri .................. 329

82. Developing Short Video-Based Materials for Teaching English for General Purposes (EGPs) in College and University
Nur Saptaningsih ............................................................................ 333

83. Picture Story Books for Extensive Reading in Madrasah Tsanawiyah
Nur Istimah ..................................................................................... 338

84. Morgen Comics as Appealing Extensive Reading Materials for the Tenth Graders of Senior High School
Paramita Anggreini ......................................................................... 343

85. Adjusting Language Teaching in Polytechnic to Requirements of Industry
Perwi Dormajanti ............................................................................ 347

86. Developing Song-based Materials to Teach English for Grade VII Based on Curriculum 2013
Primanda Dewanti .......................................................................... 351

87. Semi-structured Speaking Games and Materials to Develop Young Learners’ Automaticity and Fluency
Rani Yusnita .................................................................................... 355

88. The Use of Textbook in Teaching and Learning Process (A Case Study of Two EYL Teachers)
Riana Herlinda ................................................................................ 359

89. Critical Analysis of a Unit of a Textbook Using Critical Applied Linguistics and Critical Discourse Analysis
Rina Agustina .................................................................................. 363

90. The Realization of Collocation in EFL Students’ Written Texts across Three Proficiency Levels
Saefulin .......................................................................................... 367

91. Increasing Students’ Cultural Awareness by Using Film in Teaching Cross Cultural Understanding
Serliah Nur ...................................................................................... 371
92. The Linguistic Factors for Readability: A Discourse Analysis of English Student Book for Senior High Schools of Surakarta
Sri Handayani ................................................................. 374
93. An Evaluation Study: The Effectiveness of English Language Coursebook Entitled When English Rings the Bell
Teguh Ariewo ................................................................. 377
94. Grammatical Problems Encountered by Students in Translating English into Indonesian and Indonesian into English
Thahit Manan Andini ......................................................... 382
95. A Prototype for EFL Learners: How to Use Discourse Markers in Various Writing Genres
Titik Rohayu ................................................................. 387
96. Writing to ‘Negotiate’ Versus Writing to ‘Report’
Widhiyanto ................................................................. 391
97. Incorporating Culture in Developing English Textbook through Theme-based Approach
Winarti ................................................................. 396
98. Reflective Pedagogy: A Strategic Response toward Current Curriculum in Indonesia
Yohanes Heri Pranoto ......................................................... 399
99. Evaluating English Textbooks in Three Different Senior High Schools for Grade X: A Case Study in School A, School B, School C Tangerang
Christine Carolina and Yonathan winardi ........................................ 404
100. The Importance of Indonesian Realistic Picturebooks for the Teaching of English Language and Indonesian Culture to Young Learners
Yosep Bambang Margono Slamet ........................................ 408
101. Investing in Academic Speaking through Guided Extensive Reading: A Case Study in Extensive Reading Class at English Department Mataram University Indonesia
Yuni Budi Lestari and Kamaludin Yusra ........................................ 412
102. The Cultural Content of Globally-designed English Course Books and Their Implication in ELT
Martono ................................................................. 416
103. Problematising Culture Content in ELT Textbooks: A Case of Indonesia
Sahara Dina Amalia ......................................................... 421

V. Instructional Design and Language Teaching Methodology
104. Application of Reactive Incidental Focus on Form to English Learning
A.A. Raka Sitawati, I Wayan Dana Ardika, and Ni Ketut Suciati ......................................................... 427
105. Teaching Sociolinguistic Competence to English Learners in Indonesia
Adnan Zaid ................................................................. 431
106. Incorporating Cross-Cultural Speech Acts into EFL Teaching: A Specific Case of Apologizing in Bahasa Indonesia and Australian English
Adrefiza ................................................................. 434
107. Scientific Approach in Language Teaching
Agus Widiantoro ................................................................. 437
108. Interactive Approaches to Literature: Some Strategies in Literary Teaching
Ali Mustofa ................................................................. 441
109. Error Analysis to Compositions with Legal Topics
Amriyati ................................................................. 446
110. Improving Student’s Translation Skill by Using Interactive Method for the Sixth Semester Students of English Department in 2013 – 2014 Academic Year
Anom Sutopo ................................................................. 450
111. Scaffolding for Peer Feedback Session: What, Why, and How?
Anita Kurniawati ................................................................. 455
112. Yogyakarta (Indonesia) EFL Teachers’ Conceptualization of Pedagogical Content Knowledge in Their Instructional Curriculum Design and Practices
Anita Triastuti ................................................................. 459
113. A Phonological Outlook on the Difficulties of Learning English and Its Implication on the Teaching English as a Foreign Language
Annur Rofiq ................................................................. 467
114. The Effectiveness of Process Approach in Teaching Writing Viewed from Students’ Level of Creativity and Its Implication towards Writing Assessment
Arina Rohmatika ................................................................. 470
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>No.</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Authors</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>115</td>
<td>Blended Learning in Teaching Reading: A Pedagogical Practice to Teaching English as a Foreign Language in an Indonesian University Context</td>
<td>Asti Wahyuni, Lectari Sukartiningring, and Atti Herawati</td>
<td>474</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>116</td>
<td>Implementing KWL Strategy in Teaching Reading for Non-English Department Students</td>
<td>Asti Nadya Astari</td>
<td>477</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>117</td>
<td>The Use of Videos to Improve Young Learners’ Speaking Ability</td>
<td>Atiqah Nafira Asri</td>
<td>481</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>118</td>
<td>Designing The ICTs-Based Blended Learning of English Phonology with Assure Model</td>
<td>Bodaruddin, Irwan Al Rajab, St. Hajal</td>
<td>485</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>119</td>
<td>The New Literacy of the Digital Age: Using Electronic Books in the Classroom as a Teaching Strategy for Young Learners</td>
<td>Brigitte Septara Rahausari</td>
<td>489</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>120</td>
<td>Teaching Politeness Norms in English Classes at a Tourism College</td>
<td>Budi Purnomo</td>
<td>493</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>121</td>
<td>The Effect of Using Mind Mapping Technique on the Students’ Grammar Achievement</td>
<td>Chrisna Irmawan Saseno and Sunoko Setiyawan</td>
<td>497</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>122</td>
<td>The Debate on Written Corrective Feedback: Its Importance and Implication for Academic Writing Instruction in EFL Settings</td>
<td>Dang Arif Harsono</td>
<td>501</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>123</td>
<td>Inquiry-Based Teaching (IBT) to Teach Reading for English for Academic Purposes (EAP): Its Strengths, Limitations, and Students’ Achievements (A Case Study on Teaching Reading for EAP for UNS Graduate Students)</td>
<td>Dewi Khristiawati</td>
<td>505</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>124</td>
<td>Designing Communication Strategy in the English Speaking Class at University</td>
<td>Dewi Kencanaawati</td>
<td>509</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>125</td>
<td>Promoting Students’ Reading Comprehension Using Question to Author (QA) to the Eleventh Grade Students of MA Darmussyafat</td>
<td>Dewi Sartika and Ana Susilawati</td>
<td>513</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>126</td>
<td>Integrating Traditional Games into the EYL Classroom</td>
<td>Dian Maya Kurnia</td>
<td>516</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>127</td>
<td>Developing Teaching and Learning Instrument of English for Nursing ‘Daily Communication in Nursing’ through Contextual Approach based on Character Education</td>
<td>Dodi Mulyadi</td>
<td>519</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>128</td>
<td>Fishbowl Strategy: An Effective Way to Improve Students’ Speaking Ability</td>
<td>Dominicus Yaharmase</td>
<td>524</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>129</td>
<td>The Use of Cell Phone in the Teaching of Integrated English Course: A Technique to Cultivate Autonomy Learning</td>
<td>Dwi Fita Heriyawati</td>
<td>527</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>130</td>
<td>Reading Tree in Paragraph Writing Class: A CAR Experience with LEP (Limited English Proficient) Students</td>
<td>Ekawati Dewanti Laksmit</td>
<td>530</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>131</td>
<td>Developing a Skopos-based Translation Activity: From an Offer of Information with a Translation Brief to a Translatum</td>
<td>Eko Setyo Hadinaksa</td>
<td>533</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>132</td>
<td>Process of Teaching English Practice at Islamic School in Banten Based on Culture and Religion Values to Developing Student Character</td>
<td>Eulis Rahmawati and Encep Supriatna</td>
<td>537</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>133</td>
<td>The Implementation of Theory-Based Practice Method to Teach ESP Course for Students of English Education of IAIN Tilungang: Students’ Responses</td>
<td>Erna Ilanti</td>
<td>541</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>134</td>
<td>Improving Students’ Writing Skill by Using Think-Pair-Think-Share</td>
<td>Erniawati Kartikasari</td>
<td>544</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>135</td>
<td>Translation Strategies Adopted by English Department Students in Coping with Non Equivalence Problems</td>
<td>Esti Juniar</td>
<td>548</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>136</td>
<td>Integrating Reading and Writing in Academic Writing Class</td>
<td>Fernandita Gussent Sijantia</td>
<td>552</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>137</td>
<td>The Effectiveness of Integrated Cooperative Learning Method for Reading and Writing to Improve the Competence of Writing News Exposition among Students of Madrasah Tsanawiyah</td>
<td>Firman</td>
<td>556</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
138. Implementing 3D Animation Film as a Device to Enhance Students’ Speaking Skill for 1A Grade Students of IKIP PGRI Madiun
   Fitra Pinandhita ................................................................................................................. 560
139. The Use of the Inductive Teaching Approach with Videoed Teaching Models to Improve Students’ Understanding on Language and Language Learning Concepts
   Gunarto Susiloahadi .......................................................................................................... 564
140. Do University Students Need Games?
   Ida Zuraidah Supri ........................................................................................................... 567
141. The Implementation of Teaching English Writing to Young Learners with Visual Impairments
   Indah Oktasari..................................................................................................................... 571
142. Peer Response: Making It Work in an EFL Classroom
   Indrawati ........................................................................................................................... 575
143. Jazz Chants for Young Learners (A Case Study in TK Bina Insani Semarang)
   Indri Kustantinah and RR Festi Himatu Karina .................................................................. 579
144. Cyber Pal Project (CPP): Building A Cross-cultural Communication through Facebook
   Inggrit O. Tanasale ............................................................................................................. 582
145. Culture Studies Technique to Raise the Students’ Speaking Ability
   Irene Trisisca Rusdivanti ................................................................................................... 587
146. An Instructional Design Model for Classroom Discourse Acquisition: Helping Pre-service Non-native English Teachers Acquire Classroom Language
   Irna Windy Astuti ............................................................................................................... 590
147. Note-Taking in Interpreting Class
   Issy Yuliarsi ....................................................................................................................... 595
148. Teaching through Examples: A Meaningful Way to Teach Academic Writing
   Istiqalaliyah Nurul Hidayati ............................................................................................... 598
149. The Implementation of Role Play: Classroom Practice and Students’ Perception
   Ivonne Susan ....................................................................................................................... 602
150. The Global Village — A School of Motivation
   Ria Fitrierysa and Jennifer Zirbes ..................................................................................... 606
151. Genre-Based Approach in Teaching Writing Islamic History Text
   Jhens Richard Hasan .......................................................................................................... 611
152. The Students’ Perception of The Teacher’s Tasks and Their Accomplishment in the Speaking Class
   Isnaeni Nur Safitri, Joko Nurkamto, and Sunardi .................................................................. 617
153. Teaching Reading and Writing to English Department Students of Low Proficiency
   Julia Eka Rini ..................................................................................................................... 622
154. The Effectiveness of Direct and Indirect Written Corrective Feedback in Improving EFL Learners’ Hortatory Exposition Writing
   Katharina Rustipa ............................................................................................................. 625
155. Show, Tell, and Demonstrate: Tapping into Students’ Multiple Intelligences (MI) in the Teaching of English
   Khoiriyyah and Fadhur Rohman ....................................................................................... 629
156. The Use of Pedagogical Humor as a Motivational Teaching Strategy in an Indonesian Institute of Information and Technology
   Kisno ....................................................................................................................................... 633
157. Finding Non-native English Literatures’ Place in English for Young Learners (EYL) Classes
   Kornellie Lorenzo Raquitcho ............................................................................................. 637
158. Inserting Technology on Performing Drama: Improving Students’ Motivation on Learning English as Foreign Language
   Lia Agustin .......................................................................................................................... 641
159. The Non-English Students’ Responses Toward The Use of Reading-while-Listening in Listening Class of TOEFL Preparation Course
   Lukman Hakim ................................................................................................................... 645
160. Utilizing Project-based Learning to Raise Pre-service English Teachers’ Critical Thinking
   Luhus Irwati ........................................................................................................................ 650
161. The Implementation of Whole Brain Writing Game in Teaching Writing
   Lusiana Dewi Kasumawati ................................................................................................. 654
162. A Collaborative Writing Technique to Improve Students’ Skill in Writing Argumentative Essay (A Classroom Action Research at the Fourth Semester Students of English Education Department of IKIP PGRI Bojonegoro in the Academic Year of 2013-2014)
   M Ali Ghultron .................................................................................................................. 658
163. Frame Variations of a Discussion for Teachers’ Alternatives in a Classroom Presentation
Malikhatul Latifa

164. The Effectiveness of Using Numbered Heads Together Technique in Teaching Reading Comprehension to the Eighth Grade Students of Junior High School
Martiniati and Muhammad Hagi Firdaus

165. Fostering Students’ Wisdom in an Interactively Argumentative Writing Project
Marwito Whadi

166. Instructional Model of English Speed Reading (Research and Development at Christian University of Indonesia)
Masda Surti Simutupung

167. Content Based Instruction and Study Skills for English Teaching at Tarbiyah Faculty of IAIN Raden Intan Lampung
Melinda Riza

168. Developing Video-based Supplementary Materials to Teach Speaking Skill Based on Curriculum 2013 for the Seventh Grade Students
Monika Widyastuti Surtikanti

169. Roles of Feedback to Overcome Grammatical Problems of Academic Writing in EFL Class
Muchlas Suseno

170. The Effect of Process-product Approach to Writing on EFL Learners’ Writing Accuracy
Mujiono

171. Utilizing Video to Promote Students Expressions Skill in Speaking
Nanik A1ariyati

172. Improving the Students’ Reading Skill Using Interactive Model of Reading and Group Work
Ngadiso

Novi Yanti, Witti Anamitha, and Margaretha Sri Yudhastiningingsih

174. Genre-based Creative Writing for High School Students, Why Not?
Nur Arifah Drajati

175. The Efficacy of Workshop Model in Teaching Reading Comprehension
Paldya

176. Facilitating Relevance of Classroom Pedagogy and Professional Needs in an EFL Medical English
Paulus Widiatmoko

177. The Implementation of Content-based Instruction in Mathematics’ Teaching and Learning Process at an International School
Puput Arianto

Rasuna Talib

179. Improving X IIS 3 of SMAN 7 Malang Students’ Ability in Listening Comprehension through Fun Activities: All Ears; Listen and Stand Up
Ratna Nur aini

180. Teaching Intensive Reading through Different Scaffolding Strategies in the Bilingual Classroom Context
Refi Ranto Rozak

181. A Case Study of Enhancing Inference Skills in Reading Comprehension through Directed Reading-Thinking Activity
Reisa Devita Prima and Lanny Hidayat

182. The Effectiveness of Graphic Organizer in Teaching Listening Viewed from Students’ Motivation
Rengganis Siwi Amumpuni

183. Effecting Change in Language Classroom Dynamics through Discourse
Rick Arruda

184. Does the Magic of Cooperative Learning Still Work?
Risa Leynes Pangilinan

185. Active Learning: The Elaboration of Experiences and Knowledges Inquiry-Based Teaching in Enriching Students’ Reading Skill
Risqi Ekanti Ayuningtyas Palupi

186. The Efficacy of Role-play in Speaking Class: An Experimental Research
Rizki Februmulyah

187. A Self Narrative of an EFL Learner’s Experience about Learner Beliefs and Language Learning
Rudi Haryono
188. The Effectiveness of Self-monitoring Approach to Reading and Thinking (SMART) to Teach Reading Viewed from Students' Reading Anxiety
   Ruhy Suryaningtyah ................................................................. 763
189. The Influence of Team-based Learning on the Students' Learning
   Rustiana ........................................................................................... 767
190. The Development of Tadussipulung Cooperative Learning Model in Improving Students' Motivation to Succeed
   Rustan Santaria and Rusdiana Junaid ............................................. 771
191. Incorporating Characters into English Language Teaching: A Lesson Planning
   Sajidin.................................................................................................. 776
192. Cooperative Learning: Promoting the Four Pillars of Education in English Foreign Language Classroom of Higher Education
   Sari Karmina ...................................................................................... 780
193. Improving Speaking Achievement Using Sharing Time at the Sixth Semester Students of English Department of Almuslim University
   Siti Lillista Dewi .................................................................................. 784
194. Postcards to Java Encourages Students to Write
   Siti Asiyah and Matthew Borden ...................................................... 789
195. Encouraging ESP Students' Activeness by Point Reward
   Siti Asiyah .......................................................................................... 792
196. Teacher's Code-Switching to LI in an English as a Foreign Language Classroom in a Senior High School in Banten
   Siti Rosmalina Nurhayati ..................................................................... 795
197. Enhancing Students' Paragraph Writing Ability through Cooperative Learning: A Classroom Action Research at The English Education Department, Ahmad Dahlan University Yogyakarta
   Soviyah .............................................................................................. 803
198. Peer-Tutorial Project in Increasing Students' Achievement in Speaking Skill
   Sri Damayanti ...................................................................................... 807
199. The Effectiveness of Using Carousel Brainstorming Technique to Teach Writing Viewed from Students' Self-Actualization
   Sri Lestari ........................................................................................... 810
200. Developing Rural EFL Students' Writing Skill by Using Cooperative Learning to Promote Character Building
   Sri Sarwanti ........................................................................................ 815
201. “What Happen Next?” Strategy to Improve Students Skill on Writing Narrative Text (A Classroom Action Research at the Eleventh Grade Students of MA Muhammadiyah Malang in Academic Year of 2013/2014)
   Sri Wahyuni ......................................................................................... 815
202. The Strategies Employed by the Students of Manado State College for Islamic Studies (Sekolah Tinggi Agama Islam Negeri Manado, STAIN Manado)
   Srifani Simbuka .................................................................................. 822
203. Developing Character Values in the Teaching of Narrative Texts Using Genre Based Approach (A Case Study at a Senior High School in Bandung)
   Susanti Retno Hardini ......................................................................... 826
   Susiati .................................................................................................. 830
205. The Use of Songs for Promoting Student Participation in the Teaching of English Structure
   Suwartiono and Dewi Puji Rahayivanti ................................................. 834
206. The Effect of Task-supported Teaching on Students' Accuracy in Using Particular Grammatical Forms during Communicative Task
   Sya baimingrum Prahkartini ............................................................... 838
207. De-Fossilizing and Fragmenting Students's Stand-Still TOEFL Score Attainments
   Tedi Rohadi ........................................................................................ 842
208. Students' Attitudes towards Cooperative Learning in Enhancing Their Motivation to Speak
   Tina Privantin ..................................................................................... 846
209. Is It a Necessity to Teach Summary Writing as an Attempt to Improve English Proficiency in ESP Class?
   Titien Indrianti .................................................................................... 850
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Using Personal Blog as Learning Log in Project Based Learning</td>
<td>854</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Effectiveness of Process-Oriented Approach toward Students' Achievement in Learning Argumentative Paragraph: A Study at the English Department of IKIP Mataram in the Academic Year of 2009-2010 - The Third Semester</td>
<td>857</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Developing EFL Speaking Materials for the Second Semester Students of STAIN Samarinda</td>
<td>861</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Implementing Audio Diaries as a Daily Speaking Task</td>
<td>865</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Using Video Games in EFL Classrooms to Enhance Students' 21st Century Skills</td>
<td>868</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Importance of IBT to Teach Writing in Indonesian Junior High School</td>
<td>872</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Development Process of Students' Metacognitive Skill in Listening during the Implementation of Intralingual Subtitling Project</td>
<td>874</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Improving Effective Study Groups in Speaking Class through Inside-Outside Circle</td>
<td>878</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SFL Genre-Based Pedagogy and Student Empowerment</td>
<td>882</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Preparing the Students to be the Champion in Speech Contest</td>
<td>887</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yarsi University Program to Meet the Demand of Student's English Fluency with TOEIC as the Assessment Tool</td>
<td>891</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Effectiveness of Teaching Reading Comprehension Recount Text by Using Facebook</td>
<td>895</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Puppet and Pop up Pictures as the Story Telling Media to Build Students' Motivation in English Competition</td>
<td>900</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Improving Students TOEFL Scores Using TOEFL iBT PRACTICE Android Application</td>
<td>906</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Using Films as Media to Teach Literature</td>
<td>911</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Improving Vocabulary Achievement of the XI Grades of SMKN 1 Pakong-Pamekasan through Interactive Crossword Puzzle</td>
<td>915</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Students' Perceptual Beliefs about the Information Technology for Language Learning</td>
<td>919</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Use of Smartphone to Develop English Skills</td>
<td>923</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Redesigning Instructional Media in Teaching English of Elementary Schools' Students: Developing Minimum Curriculum</td>
<td>927</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prezi: An Online to Offline 'Zooming' Presentation Software in Oral English for Academic Speaking Students</td>
<td>932</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Strength-Weakness-Opportunity (SWO) Analysis of Three Implementation Models for Integrating 'The Knowledge Age' Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs) into School</td>
<td>935</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Effectiveness of Using Tell Me More to Assist Teaching Pronunciation of English Viewed from Students’ Self Confidence</td>
<td>942</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blended Classroom in English Writing Class: A Pilot Project</td>
<td>946</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
234. Integrating Video in the Corrective Feedback Practice: Voices from Indonesia

235. A New Face of Teaching Technique by Making Use of a Popular Social Medium Facebook: Effective or Not?

236. Analysis of Multimodality on L2 Learners as Reflected in Their CAF of the Spoken Performance

237. Moodle and Reading Comprehension Materials for the EFL Students

238. Developing Multi-media Speaking Material for University Students by Integrating Local Tourism Attractions

239. Blog and Culture Integration to Teach English for SMK Learners

240. Developing an Audio Media with Scripted Songs and Its Effect: A Way Out for Fun Learning for TEYL

241. An Accordion Book Project for Reluctant Writers

242. The Utilization of Online Learning for English Classes based on Need Analysis

243. Listening to Write: Writing Narrative Using Narrative Learning Multimedia (NLM)

244. Improving EFL Learner Speaking Ability by Using Digital Series Pictures

245. IT, Knowledge and Practice: Blending Together in Facilitating Teaching and Learning Listening in EFL Setting

246. Students’ Perception of the Use of Search Engine (ICT) as Teaching Media in Reading Course

247. Students’ Attitudes to Podcast as a Supporting Media for Enhancing Listening Skill: A Study of Tanjungpura University Students

248. Utilizing Different Kinds of Technology and Genre-based Approach for Teaching Writing in an ESP Class

249. Children’s Literature: The Relationship between Literary Text and Media Used in Young Learners’ Class

250. Motivating Students through EDMODO (A Blended Learning in Grammar Class)

251. The Implementation of Three Techniques for Teaching Literal Reading and English for Young Learners

252. ‘Mobile Comics’ as a Media to Enhance Literature’s Sense to Young Learners

VII. Language Classroom Management

253. An Introduction to Peer Assessment of Oral Presentations

254. Cultivating Pre-service Teachers’ Classroom Management Skills through Teaching Practicum: A Reflective Practice

255. Teaching English to Large Multilevel Classes Majoring in Math, Biology and Chemistry by Using ‘Burst the Balloon’ and ‘Talking Chips’ Techniques

256. English Classroom Management: A Case Study of Islamic International Primary School

xx
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Page</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Authors</th>
<th>Pages</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>257.</td>
<td>The Transactional Expressions of the Teachers and the Students in Target Language Class</td>
<td>Fahmiuddin Hidayatoni Amini</td>
<td>1043</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>258.</td>
<td>A Study of Foreign Language Anxiety of ESNED Students at Informatics and Computer Science Department</td>
<td>Fatimah and Agus Gazali</td>
<td>1046</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>259.</td>
<td>The Impact of Learning Style on Language Learning Strategies of L2 learners</td>
<td>Fauziyah and Rusli Yangfiati</td>
<td>1050</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>260.</td>
<td>Classroom Management Talk: From Theory to Practice</td>
<td>Muamidah Mahayunting and Muhamad Amin Rasid</td>
<td>1055</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>261.</td>
<td>Framing In-class Debate: Reflection of Academic Debate Practices to the Principles of Language Pedagogy</td>
<td>Guki Suab</td>
<td>1059</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>262.</td>
<td>The Application of Students Centered Learning through Presentation in Public Speaking Class of English Department Student</td>
<td>Gusi Nur Hafifah</td>
<td>1064</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>263.</td>
<td>Bringing Additional Values into Translation Class for English Department Students: A Teacher's Idea</td>
<td>I Gusti Agung Sri Raja Jayaani and Desak Putu Eka Pratiwi</td>
<td>1068</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>264.</td>
<td>Student Talk Encountered in Intensive Course Classes of an English Department in a University in Surabaya</td>
<td>Welly Adi Nata and Johannes Leonard Taloko</td>
<td>1072</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>265.</td>
<td>Fostering Students’ Good Character Values through Peer Teaching</td>
<td>Listyani Sumardiyani</td>
<td>1076</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>267.</td>
<td>The Use of Web-Based Resources Technique to Improve Students' Reading Skill of Expository Text (A Classroom Action Research of the Second Semester Students of IKIP PGRI Bojonegoro, in the Academic Year 2012/2013)</td>
<td>Meiga Ratih</td>
<td>1083</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>268.</td>
<td>The Students’ Experience on Group Work in the Conversational English Class</td>
<td>Muhammadroh</td>
<td>1088</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>269.</td>
<td>The Implementation of Curriculum 2013 in English Class: Integrating Competencies in English Class (A Case Study Conducted at Class 9A of SMP IT Ibu Abbas Klaten in the Academic Year of 2013/2014)</td>
<td>Nur Eka Yulita Ngestia</td>
<td>1092</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>270.</td>
<td>The Poster Presentation: An Exercise for High School Students in Emerging Creativity, Leadership and Teamwork in English and Arts Class</td>
<td>Saffa Inaiati and Nur Arifi Drajati</td>
<td>1096</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>271.</td>
<td>Politeness Inclination of Teacher and Students in an EFL Classrooms Interaction</td>
<td>Seniorswisto</td>
<td>1100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>272.</td>
<td>Students’ Perceptions on ORSA (Orderly Rows Seating Arrangement) in EFL Classroom</td>
<td>Slamet Wahyudi Yulianto</td>
<td>1105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>273.</td>
<td>Regulative and Instructional registers of an EFL Lecture in Indonesian University Context</td>
<td>Sunardi</td>
<td>1109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>274.</td>
<td>Maximum English in Minimum Classes: Teaching English with Limited Facilities in Remote Area</td>
<td>Titis Sulistyawati</td>
<td>1114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>275.</td>
<td>Communication Strategies Used by Indonesian Teachers in Teaching English for Libyan Kids</td>
<td>Zururiat Nyindia Rahmawati and Nastiti Primadnyastuti</td>
<td>1118</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VIII. Language Testing and Assessment

276. The Impacts of National Testing on English Teachers’ Pedagogy and Professionalism | Abdul Kamaruddin                                                    | 1123  |
| 277. | Teacher’s Corrective Feedback on Students’ Spoken Errors in an EFL Classroom | Anit Pranita Devi                                                      | 1127  |
| 278. | Gender Identity of Male and Female Indonesian EFL College Students’ Academic Essays: A Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA) | Cintya Oktaviani and Dedan Jauhara                                       | 1131  |
279. Higher Education Students’ Perception about Peer Assessment Practice
Didik Rinan Sunekto
1137
280. Implementing Authentic Assessment on Students’ English Writing (A Case Study in One of Senior High Schools in Tasikmalaya)
Erwin Rahavi Saputra and Rahmat
1142
281. Students’ Oral Presentation as Multimodal and Formative Assessment
Fauzul Afza
1146
282. The Challenges in Implementing Authentic Assessment in Curriculum 2013
Firriani...
1151
283. Authentic Assessment and the Implication to Students’ Self-Esteem in Teaching English at Senior High School
Hunfatiul Hijriati...
1155
284. Language Assessment for Deaf and or Hard of Hearing (D/HH) Students in Inclusive Class
Ika Pasipitasari and Iswahyani...
1159
285. A Preliminary Research to Develop a Customized Set of Vocabulary Size Test
Laurentia Sumarni...
1162
286. Corrective Feedback in Writing Class
Ni Luh Nyoman Seri Malin and Ni Luh Ketut Mas Indrawati
1166
287. The Use of Paper-based TOEFL as a Gate Keeper for Graduation: A Case Study at English Department Universitas Mataram
Ni Wayan Afira Susanti...
1169
288. English Teacher’s Perspective on Authentic Assessment Implementation of Curriculum 2013
Novia Trisanti...
1173
289. The Effects of Time Constraints on Students’ Writing Performance
Nur Ainani Fitria, Fery Martinia, and Sadiatul Khairiyani...
1176
290. Translation Techniques Applied by Students in Translating Explanation Text
Rahmantni Asmarani and Dyah Nugraha...
1179
291. Redefining Criteria and Standards for Composition Classes
Richard Manuputy...
1183
292. Anxiety on the Presentation or Oral Examination in Learning ESL
Sri Widodo Limantoro...
1187
293. Some Effective Ways to Give Feedback to the Students in Their Writing
Sri Sujiyati...
1192
294. A Measure of Attitude toward Peer Assessment: Reliability and Validity
Venny Karolina...
1195
295. Leveled-integrated English Learning at LTC UMY
Noor Qomaria Agustina...
1200

IV. Language Program Evaluation
296. Implementation of Policy of SMA School-based Curriculum of Public Senior High Schools in Banyu Asin District of South Sumatra Province
Bambang I. Loeneto and Mardianto...
1205
297. Internally Driven Program Evaluation Research in Enhancing Curriculum Development in Teaching Grammar
Indah Winarti...
1208
298. Evaluation of English Foundation Course in the Output Character Building Program
Isa Maharsi...
1212
299. The Implementation of Character Education in English Language Teaching (ELT) in Indonesia
Muhalim...
1216
300. Evaluation and Development in English Language Teaching Programs (A Survey Study)
Muhamad Ahsanu and Agus Saptro Nugroho...
1220

X. Teacher Professional Development
301. Reformation in Teachers’ Recruitment in the Effort of Developing Teachers’ Professionalism
Abdul Muth’i...
1226
302. Teacher Empowerment through MGMP
Agustin Harati...
1231
303. Strategies of Learning Listening Skill Employed by Indonesian EFL Learners in Relation with Gender and Proficiency
Alfan Zulhairi and Ika Hidiyana...
1236
301. English Literacy Education in Primary Schools: Opportunities and Challenges in Global Competitiveness
Chuzainah Dhatul Diem.............................................................................................................. 1241
305. TEFL Students' Language Learning Strategies: A Study at State Islamic College of Kocrinc, Indonesia
Daisari Kamil, Suhaimi, Rodi Hartono, and Ariden Vintoni............................................................................... 1245
306. Students' Perceptions of English Teachers' Performances in English Language Courses in Indonesia
Dini Kusyuyarzi.............................................................................................................................. 1250
307. Models of EFL Teachers' Professional Development
Dini Kurnia Irnawati.......................................................................................................................... 1254
308. Translation Accuracy, Acceptability, and Readability of Harry Potter Novel Series into Indonesian
(Appropriate Example for Teaching Translation Subject)
Dwi Harjanti........................................................................................................................................... 1258
309. The Interactive Relationship between Pedagogical Practices and Professional Development of EFL Teachers in Written Cycle
Dwi Winarsih.......................................................................................................................................... 1261
310. The Implementation of Curriculum 2013: What The Teachers-educators Voice
Dwiyantri Pratiwi .................................................................................................................................. 1265
311. Pre-service Teachers' Perception on Teaching Features: A Case Study at Mulawarman University
Dyah Sunggingwati .................................................................................................................................... 1268
312. The Profile of Students' Critical Thinking through Their Argumentative Essay Writing
Esti Kurniasih............................................................................................................................................. 1273
313. Challenge(s) Encountered by Novice English Teachers to Develop Their Professionalism;
A Preliminary Research Report for Further Research in Lampung Province
Feni Munifatullah...................................................................................................................................... 1278
314. Analysis of PPG Students' Peer Teaching in Applying Their Lesson Plans based on Kurikulum 2013
Frimadhonna Syafri and Galih Kirana Dwi Aresi ...................................................................................... 1282
315. Optimizing the Use of EDMODO Based Questioning Technique to Improve Students' Creativity and Writing Achievement
Giyanto....................................................................................................................................................... 1286
316. Integrating Technology in EFL Curriculum: Determining EFL Teachers' Level of Technology Literacy
Karmila Machmud....................................................................................................................................... 1290
317. Boosters and Hedges in Abstract Research Paper
Lilia Indriani............................................................................................................................................ 1294
318. Learning Figurative Expressions Collaboratively to Support UNS BIPPA Program in the Natural Setting
M. Sri Saniati Tarjana.................................................................................................................................. 1298
319. Experimenting Hermiadic Approach as an Alternative for TEFL in Meeting the Demand of the 2013 Curriculum
Mister Gidion Maru.................................................................................................................................... 1301
320. EFL Pre-Service Teachers: A Study on Student Teachers' Teaching Competence
Muhammad Handi Gunawan and Retno Wiyati ......................................................................................... 1305
321. How are Non Native Teachers of English!
Nining Ismiyani.......................................................................................................................................... 1309
322. Targeting Learning Focus Under the Trees
Nisa Arlia Azan and Riza Wegenofoa...................................................................................................... 1312
323. Teachers' Professional Empowerment Through Team Teaching
Nur Endah Sulistyowini.......................................................................................................................... 1315
324. Equipping English Education Graduates with the Core Competency of English Teachers for Young Learners through an Optional Package of Courses
Nury Suryianti............................................................................................................................................. 1319
325. A Case Study of English Articles Acquisition of Two Indonesian English Teachers
Parawati Siti Sondari................................................................................................................................... 1322
326. English Teachers' Professional Development at Hulu Sungai Selatan, South Kalimantan
Pupi Sri Rahaya and Nani Hizriani............................................................................................................ 1328
Native-like Accent: A Myth or a Goal? A Study on Learner Preferences for English Accents

Monica Ella Harendita
Universitas Sanata Dharma
monica.harendita@gmail.com

ABSTRACT
The issue of English as an International Language (EIL) has been a long debate in contemporary English language teaching (Holliday, 2005). As an international language, a wide variety of Englishes is developed in different parts of the world. This concept challenges the widely-accepted view on Native-speakerism and offers learners with alternative models in their English language practices (Lippi-Green, 2003; Golombek & Jordan, 2005). Thus, this study intends to take a closer look at learners’ view on English accents that often become a site of struggle for adult learners of English. Open-ended questionnaires were distributed to students of Pronunciation classes in Universitas Sanata Dharma to dig out their perspectives and opinions about their preferred accents. The data suggest that while the participants disclosed their awareness of some varieties of accents, they were still in favour of the so-called British and American accents, which are widely considered as native English accents. Their preference was mostly based on their familiarity of both accents. Furthermore, the difficulties they faced in getting those accents suggest that getting a native-like accent is actually problematic yet desirable at the same time.

Keywords: World Englishes, Accent, Learner preference

1. INTRODUCTION
In Indonesia, where English is a foreign language, learners of English often struggle with both English sounds, such as consonants and diphthongs, and English suprasegmental features, such as intonation, stress, and accents. While dealing with sounds is indeed problematic for Indonesian learners as some sounds in English do not exist in their mother tongues, e.g. /v/ and /θ/, coping with the suprasegmental features might make English pronunciation more challenging.

Of suprasegmental features, accent –defined as one’s way of speaking– may be one of the most complex issues. In the case of Indonesia, English language learners may have developed their accents as they have acquired their mother tongue. Their accents, of course, influence their English language learning. Therefore, speaking a native-like accent seems impractical. Although changing one’s way of speaking might seem unrealistic for some people, getting a particular English accent might be a goal for some English language learners.

In regard to the trend in English language learning, the issue of English as an International Language has been a long debate (Holliday, 2005). As an international language, a wide variety of Englishes is developed in different parts of the world. This concept challenges the widely-accepted view on Native-speakerism and offers learners with alternative models in their English language practices (Lippi-Green, 2003; Golombek & Jordan, 2005).
The next question is then: which accent should students learn? This question may get intricate answers especially due to the vast development of World Englishes. This question, however, may be answered if teachers understand which accents are preferred by the students. Thus, this study aims at answering these two questions: 1) what varieties of English accents are preferred by students?, 2) what difficulties do they find in getting their preferred accents?

2. REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

Accents in an English as a Foreign Language (EFL) class, particularly a Pronunciation class, may be a problematic issue raised by English teachers. Dauer (2005) addresses a significant issue within this matter. She states that English consists of many varieties and Standard English taught in schools is basically a written language, not an accent. Thus, “the first question any pronunciation teacher must address is, what accent should I teach?” (Dauer, 2005, p. 543).

While Dauer (2005) underlines the issue of which accent to teach, Golombek and Jordan (2005) assert that today’s Pronunciation class should aim for intelligibility instead of native English accents. They maintain that “pronunciation pedagogy has made strides toward creating a more realistic definition of intelligibility--one that reflects the belief that sounding like a native speaker is neither possible nor desirable” (Golombek & Jordan, 2005, p. 513). Thus, one – particularly an EFL learner - should not aim for having a native-like accent.

Yet, other studies have shown how accents and opportunities have an intricate interplay. In this case, one who does not speak a native-like accent might find it more difficult to get opportunities in a country in which English is the first language, e.g. the United States. Looking at accent-reduction among some immigrants in the United States, Newman (2002) contends that despite correct English grammar, unintelligible accents equal to fewer opportunities. He further states that “the distinction between accent and unintelligibility creates a zone of anxiety for foreigners, not just for poor immigrants but for techies, doctors, and college teachers who want nothing to hinder their chances here. The way they speak English- even grammatically perfect English - can shape the course of their lives”. Newman (2002) also underlines how accent can be a strong identity marker. It can show which race a person belongs to, as well as his national and regional origin, class, and education. Therefore, a stereotype may arise (Lippi-Green, 1997, as cited in Golombek & Jordan, 2005). Newman (2002, p. 62) also contends that an accent is “a conventional tool for quick judgment”. Thus, having an intelligible accent, a person may be considered speaking bad English.

The studies of EFL learners’ perceptions of accents can shed a light on how certain accents are perceived. A study by Scales, Wennerstrom, Richard, and Wu (2006) about English language learners’ perceptions of accents found that more than half of the participants’ goal was to sound like an English native speaker although the participants did not identify some English accents correctly. The study showed that this inconsistency was due to “an idealized conception of what the native accent aspired to actually sounds like” (Scales et al., 2006, p. 715). In short, the study suggests that English language students have some sort of preference for native English accents and have certain idea of how the native accents should sound.

Although accents may not interfere with comprehension, accents tend to be closely related to attitudes. In her study of the effects of Korean elementary school teachers' accents on their students' listening comprehension, Butler (2007) finds that the teachers’ accents do not result in the differences in comprehension. Yet, the study also finds significant difference in students’ attitudes towards teachers with American-accented English and Korean-accented English. Students tend to prefer a teacher with an American accent because they think that she has better pronunciation. She also tends to be more confident in speaking English, focuses more on fluency than on accuracy, and speaks less Korean in English language classes.

In line with the study by Butler (2007), Castro and Roh (2013) find that students might not prefer having teachers with non-native English accents. In their study on the exploration of Korean students’ perceptions of variations from a standard variety of English, Castro and Roh (2013) have suggested that Korean students gave negative responses towards the idea of having teachers with a Philippine accent. However, despite the negative responses, “the number of Koreans coming to study in the Philippines continues to increase each year” (Castro & Roh, 2013).

The discussion around native and non-native accents cannot be separated from the Three Circles model proposed by Kachru (1985 as cited in Park and Wee, 2009). For years, Kachru’s model on Englishes has been referred by English language practitioners. Kachru (1985) as cited in Park and Wee (2009) formed three circles in regard to the use of English across countries. The first circle is the Inner Circle countries consisting of the USA, the UK, New Zealand, Australia, and Canada. These countries are where “the traditional monolingual native speakers of English are located” (Kachru, 1985, as cited in Park and Wee, 2009, p. 389). The next circle, the Outer Circle, consists of countries that were colonized by English-speaking countries, such as Singapore, Malaysia, and India. In the post-colonial era, English maintains its official status in those countries. In addition, English has become the mother tongue of people born in those countries. Yes, varieties of English are spoken as a result of the contact of English with local languages (Kachru, 1986, as cited in Park & Wee, 2009). The last circle, the Expanding Circle countries, is where English does not retain official status and is used a medium of international communication. A number of countries in the world belong to this circle, such as Indonesia, South Korea, Japan, and China.

However, Kachru’s model has been criticized for some underlying reasons. It does not adequately explain the “the heterogeneity and dynamics of English-using communities: it cannot accommodate hard-to-classify cases such as Egypt and South Africa; it does not allow for the possibility of countries moving from one classificatory circle to another; it is too oriented towards the nation-state; and (ironically) it perpetuates the very inequalities and dichotomies that it otherwise aims to combat, such as the distinction between native and non-native speakers” (Park & Wee, 2009, p. 390). In short, the use of the term ‘native’ and ‘non-native’ speakers might be political and cannot be seen as clear cut definition.

3. RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

To solve the research problems, a survey was conducted. Generally, survey research is done to collect information from participants by examining their responses to certain questions. The participants were 32 students in Pronunciation classes at the English Department and the English Extension Course of Universitas Sanata Dharma, Yogyakarta. In this study, open-ended questionnaires were distributed to the participants to collect the data. Afterwards, the data obtained were decoded. To code open questions involves “reading and rereading transcripts of respondents’ replies and formulating distinct themes in their replies” (Bryman, 2012, p. 248).
Therefore, some significant themes that appear from the data are presented in the subsequent section.

4. FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

From the questionnaires, it can be seen that there were a number of varieties of English accents that the participants were familiar with. American accent was the most mentioned (33.0%), followed by British accent (27.7%). In the third place was Australian accent (19.1%), followed by Indonesian (5.3%), Singaporean (3.2%) and Indian accents (3.2%). Other accents mentioned were African American, Japanese, Philippine, Javanese, Chinese, Northern American, Southern American, and Middle Eastern. Each of them was mentioned once (1.1%).

Although the participants disclosed their familiarity with the previously mentioned accents, when asked about the accent(s) that the participants preferred, there were limited answers. The most preferable accent to learn was American accent (54.76%), followed by British English accent (42.86%) and Australian (2.38%).

Their preference for the three accents undoubtedly was influenced by some factors. The biggest factor was their being familiar with the accents because they are commonly used in conversations and also in English movies (47.22%). The participants also claimed that their preference for certain accents was because those accents were easy to learn (33.33%) and those accents were the ‘original accents’ used as a standard (11.11%). Other responses include the opinions that those accents sounded more educated (2.78%) and suited ‘the Indonesian’s tongue’ (2.78%). Although one of the common reasons to prefer for certain accents was because they were easy to learn, one participant uncovered a quite distinctive reason. She said that because her preferred accent (British accent) was difficult for her to get, she wanted to gain that accent.

Regarding the difficulties the participants may face in getting their preferred accents, the participants provided diverse responses. The major cause was the influence of their mother tongue (21.05%). Differentiating sounds (15.79%), limited resource and exposure (15.79%), and wrong pronunciation (15.79%) became the next difficulties. Some other participants stated that to get the accent was challenging rather than difficult (10.53%) and they mismatched American and British accents (10.53%). Other responses include their being afraid to make mistakes (5.26%) and their being new to British accent because they used to learn American accent (5.26%).

On the whole, in line with Scales et al. (2004), the data imply that the participants still opted for native-like accents, such as American, British, and Australian accents. However, the participants also realized that their mother tongue has somehow hindered them in getting their preferred accents. The difficulties they faced in getting those accents further suggest that getting a native-like accent is actually problematic yet desirable at the same time. Another implication from the data is that the participants may not be fully aware of the complexity of the dichotomy of native and non-native speakers. The words ‘standard’ and ‘original’ attached to their preferred accents revealed that they had not had a profound understanding of the EIL paradigm although they were aware that a wide variety of Englishes has been arising. In addition, the response from the participant stating that certain accents sounded more educated also reflects how people are sometimes judged from the accents they have (Newman, 2002).

5. CONCLUDING REMARKS
To sum up, this small scale study has shown that getting a native-like accent is still a goal for some EFL learners despite the growth of World Englishes. The data also suggest that the so-called native English accents are the most widely used models when they are learning English. Thus, it increases their familiarity with those accents and, as a result, those accents become the models in speaking English. It seems that the participants have not got enough exposure to other varieties of English than the ones coming from the Inner Circle countries. Thus, based on the findings of this study, further research may discuss how EFL learners can get wider exposure on different varieties of English, particularly in a Pronunciation or Speaking class. The findings of this study can also be a stepping stone to embark on a study in the field of EIL, e.g. to what extent the awareness of EIL paradigm affects learner preferences for certain English accents.

REFERENCES

