

President-Emeritus HENRY LOEB JACOBS, Ed.D. 1875 - 1963

An oil portrait of Dr. Jacobs hangs in the College Library, a gift of the Bryant College National Alumni Council in 1958.

President Jacobs will be remembered fondly by many Bryant alumni who came under his tutelage at Rhode Island Commercial School and at Bryant and Stratton Business College.

CAMPUS AND COMMUNITY MARK PRESIDENT EMERITUS JACOBS' PASSING JAN. 26

The death of President-emeritus Jacobs on January 26 brought a mood of sorrow to the opening activities marking the hundredth-year anniversary of the College.

He was considered to be a pioneer in the field of business education and until his retirement in 1961 was actively involved in the direction of our college.

The story of the rise of Bryant and Stratton Business College; the merger with Rhode Island Commercial School; and the eventual incorporation of it as an eleemosynary or non-profit institution has been told many times.

He is survived by his son, E. Gardner Jacobs '21 and his daughter, Dorothy Jacobs Lederer '18, as well as two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

State representative James H. Kiernan of Providence was the sponsor of a resolution of sympathy that was passed by the State Legislature giving note to President Jacobs' passing.

HOMECOMING -- MAY 18th

Reservations are already coming into the Alumni Office for this year's Homecoming activities.

Space limitations in this issue make it impossible to include a reservation form; however, you will want to know that costs have been kept to a minimum—$1.50 for Lunch and $5.50 per person for the Banquet-Dance. The evening activities will be held at The Old Grist Mill in Seekonk and your Homecoming Committee requests that you send for your tickets right away. We are limited to the number we may reserve. Concentration on reunions of the classes of 1913, 1918, 1923, 1928, 1933, 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953, and 1958 is now in progress and it is hoped that many representatives of these classes will be present. Your copy of the 1963 Alumni Directory will recall to your minds the names of your classmates.

A special Centennial exhibit of early textbooks, office machines, and costumes is being gathered for display.

More details will be sent to you as YOUR Homecoming reservations are received. See how many of your classmates you can invite to come with you!

FRENCH CONSUL EXPLAINS HIS NATION'S POSITION

Ray Melillo, '64

French President Charles DeGaulle plans that within the next 10 to 20 years France will become a powerful political entity in its own right and an atomic power as strong as the United States or the Soviet Union.

So declared Jean Savelli, French consul general of Boston, in a speech March 5, at the college auditorium.

"I don't think the United States should be afraid of this strong Europe," he said, "because it will be democratic, it will be a friendly power, and the United States should accept it as an equal partner."

Speaking under the auspices of the World Affairs Council in a program that was part of Bryant's centennial celebration, the consul said that this dream has been pursued by General DeGaulle since the close of World War II when all (Continued on Page 3)

Class Day and Commencement Activities Dates Moved To New Dates for Class of '63

An announcement in the April 5 issue of the Archway has notified students graduating this year that new dates for commencement activities have been set.

It has often been difficult for some student's parents to attend these activities because they were held on a Thursday and a Friday. This year the Class Day exercises will be held Friday, July 26, at 2 p.m., which should allow travel time for parents coming from nearby states.

The Commencement Ball activities will be held at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel Friday evening.

Commencement Day exercises have been scheduled for Saturday, July 27, at 10 a.m. in the Meehan Auditorium.

The European Tour, announced in a previous issue of the Bulletin, will depart on schedule under the direction of Wallace Camper for a forty-one day tour.

Seniors who graduated in January, as well as those completing degree requirements in May and July, will receive complete and full instructions late in June.

French Consul

Central Europe was recovering from the destruction caused by the war.

Mr. Savelli said that an important step was taken when the European Economic Community was formed, in which France was a "driving force."

France wants Britain as a part of "this new Europe," Mr. Savelli declared.

He stated that negotiations for Britain's entry into the Common Market were not terminated at the command of General DeGaulle but because "Britain after six months of parley had made no progress toward agreement." This is the reason for General DeGaulle's recommendation for postponement.

"The door was not shut on Britain," declared the consul general. "It is still open."

Mr. Savelli went on to say that the reason for Britain's failure to obtain admittance was inability to accommodate herself to the European "rules of the club" which General DeGaulle, in his pursuit of a strong Europe, was unwilling to change. Declaring that there was no "crisis," and charging that the press in Great Britain and the United States had glamorized the Brussels breakdown beyond the facts, Mr. Savelli told the audience, many of them students:

"Britain refused three times to enter the Common Market in the early days when she had the opportunity. She subsequently formed the European Free Trade Association, a combine of seven countries outside the Common Market in the hope to capsize the EEC.

"The Common Market did not capsize. Instead it became strong. Now Britain wants to become a member, but public opinion in Great Britain has not yet reached the point where it is willing to forego long-standing and close relationships with the Commonwealth in order to adopt the common policies of Europe.

"Britain is divided," he continued. The principal obstacle to Britain's entry was and still is accommodation of her agricultural relationships with the Commonwealth with the European community brand of farm policy.

"It is true," Mr. Savelli continued, "that Britain accepted many concessions. But when Prime Minister Macmillan told President DeGaulle that it would be impossible to negotiate within the time limit, the French President recommended postponement."

Mr. Savelli put down as "pure absurdity" accusations that France, by her termination of Brussels negotiations, is striving to "wreck the Atlantic Alliance." He also said that General DeGaulle is "trying not to dominate Europe," even

Advice from Henry Lee

As Interpreted By JERRY FORMAN

If in class you're dull and slow, Study. If exams are causing woe, Study. For if here your marks are low, When you die, the place you'll go Will be very warm, I know, So Study.

If your life is sad and blue, Study. If your uncle gets the "Flu" Study. If you cannot find your shoe, Or your sweetheart isn't true, There's but one thing you can do,— Study.

If it's bright you wish to look, Study. If you want to learn to cook, Study. If you're in a lonely nook When assaulted by a crook, Nonchalantly take a book, And study.

When you've sins you should atone, Study. When the bill collectors phone, Study. When you're with your girl alone, On the sofa in her home,— Take a text book that you own, And study (?)

When you're weak and need repose, Study. When your creditors foreclose, Study. When you're ambushed by your foes, And they shower you with blows, Just politely thumb your nose, And Study.

Now take heed to what I tell,— Study! If you're keen on staying well,— Study! And unless you wish to dwell In a hot and fiendish cell Down the fiery haunts of Hell!— Study!!

We came across this poem in the December 20, 1933 copy of the Bryant-Stratton News and thought you might be interested in seeing it again . . . or for many of you, the first time.

Jerry Forman is presently associated with the United States Internal Revenue Department and resides in Pawtucket. Professor Lee has given up his farm, but continues his teaching and professional activities.

though he described the French President's plans as an "alliance of peoples" with France pushing for this end.

"It is the hope of France," he concluded, "that as Europe emerges as an economic, political and atomic power it can stand side by side with the United States in a united front against the U.S.S.R."

BRYANT HOST TO RHODE ISLAND BUSINESS TEACHERS ASSOCIATION ALUMNI INVITED

The Fourteenth Annual Convention for Teachers of Business Education will be held on campus in conjunction with the Centennial Year activities on May 4. The conference theme is to be "New Horizons in Business Education".

Featured speakers at this centennial associated affair will be Rhode Island Governor John H. Chafee; Rhode Island Commissioner of Education William P. Robinson, Jr.; President of the RIBTA Robert Scanlan; Bryant College President E. G. Jacobs; and Rev. Msgr. Arthur T. Geoghegan, Superintendent of Diocesan Schools of Providence.

Dr. William Selden, Business Education Consultant for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's Department of Public Instruction, will chair a panel concerning business education as seen by a state supervisor.

A panel concerning new horizons for secretarial training will be chaired by Dr. Elizabeth T. Van Derveer of Montclair State College in Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

Panelists will also include Dr. Vern Frisch, Dr. Cletus Clow, and Dr. Edwin Bowman of New Rochelle, N. Y., High School, and Miss Jeanne Skawinski of the Plainville High School in Connecticut.

"Perspectives in Business Education" will be the topic of Dr. William M. Polishook, Assistant Dean, Temple University in Philadelphia, when he speaks at the noonday luncheon.

There is to be a display of books, supplies, equipment, and materials for Business Education Departments that should be of great interest to conferees.

Natale Candelmo '51, vice president of the RIBTA, is reservations chairman and all graduates of the Teacher-Education program are especially invited to attend. You may drop a note to Nat, in care of the College, for more information. Reservations must be received by April 29.

PLACEMENT DIRECTOR SHUMAN OFFERS SERVICES TO ALUMNI

The continuing increase of campus recruiters visitations may be epitomized in a recent statement by a senior student who remarked, "I'm so busy taking interviews that I haven't had a chance to accept a job!"

Campus interviews for seniors got into high gear early in March and will continue for another four to six weeks. National firms and agencies new to the Bryant campus this year include: The Bureau of Public Roads

The Bureau of Public Roads Hartford Electric Light Company Jordan Marsh Company The Torrington Company H. J. Heinz U. S. Internal Revenue Central Intelligence Agency Army Audit Agency Aetna Casualty Company

The January issue of the alumni newsletter invited alumni who were interested in advanced placement to contact Stanley Shuman, Placement Director.

The response was excellent.

At the Homecoming activities on May 18, Mr. Shuman has offered his services for informal conversations related to job placements and job openings. If you wish to drop him a note in the meantime, you are encouraged to do so.

GENGA '48 ACQUIRES AUTO AGENCY WHERE HE HELD HIS FIRST JOB

February 1 was a joyous occasion for Armand J. Genga '48 of Stratford, Connecticut, as he became the owner of the Keating Bros., Inc., Ford agency.

Armand was a junior in high school in 1939 when he took on the responsibilities of part-time bookkeeper at Keating Bros., Inc., a job placement provided by the Stratford High School. This provided him with employment until his graduation and enlistment in 1943 in the USAF, where he served in the South Pacific until 1946.

Separated from the USAF with the rank of lieutenant, Armed joined the multitude of veterans enrolled at Bryant in the accounting program and graduated in 1948.

He married Dorothy Bagon of Milford and resumed his association with Keating Bros, as head of the accounting department. Mr. Keating named him assistant treasurer and in 1958 appointed him sales manager.

The new owner of Keating Bros. Inc., will continue a local business begun 43 years ago that is the oldest auto dealer agency in the area and has a staff of 45 people.

Armand and Dorothy have two sons, Gary and David. They reside at 54 Queens Avenue, Stratford.
