A note of thanks to reviewers

The publication of a peer-reviewed journal such as Diagnostic and Interventional Imaging requires a substantial amount of time and continuous efforts by devoted reviewers. The quality of the journal depends on the quality and the validity of the reviews, a fair evaluation and a timely decision. During the year 2015, 110 individual reviewers who are acknowledged experts in their fields have scrutinized the manuscripts submitted for potential publication in Diagnostic and Interventional Imaging. Critical assessment of the scientific validity and educational value of submitted papers is paramount to building the high-quality journal that our colleagues are expecting. We take this opportunity to recognize these reviewers and to thank them for their skill, the endeavor, and the time they have given to the review process. Each person listed below served as a reviewer for Diagnostic and Interventional Imaging during the period starting from December 1, 2014, and ending on November 30, 2015.
