Fifth International Symposium on Multivariate Analysis

The Fifth International Symposium on Multivariate Analysis will be held at the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, during the period of June 19–24, 1978. It is expected that several distinguished workers in the field of multivariate analysis will present invited papers on a broad spectrum of topics on the theory and applications of multivariate analysis. There will be several sessions of contributed papers on the theory and applications of multivariate analysis. Persons interested in presenting contributed papers should submit abstracts of their papers for consideration to P. R. Krishnaiah not later than March 17, 1978. While considering papers for presentation, the field of multivariate analysis will be interpreted in a very broad sense, as has been done in the case of the Journal of Multivariate Analysis. Further details regarding the symposium may be obtained by contacting P. R. Krishnaiah, Department of Mathematics and Statistics, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15260.
